A PROSE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

or

THE MAHABHARATA.

TRANSLATED LITERALLY FROM THE ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT).

ANUSHASANA PARVA.

EDITED & PURISHED BY

MANMATHA NATH DUTT, (Shaitri) M.A., MR AS.

RECTOR, KESHUB ACADEMY;

Author of the English Translations of the Ramayana, Vishnu Puranam, Srimad-Bhagaratam, Kamandakiya Nitisara, Bhagavad-Gita, and many other works

40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street, Calcutta.

CALCUTTA:

PRINTED BY II C. DASS, ELESSEEN PRESS, 40, Napar Chard Duffs Steet.

1005

ANTISHASANA PARVA.

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER 1 .- Vadhishthica's despondency at the death of his relatives. The story of Mrityu, Goutami, Kala, the lowler, the serpent. Bhistima describes that the soul is not the cause of our deeds-p. t.

Gnarren II .- The story of Sudarshana and Oghavati. How death was conquered by a householder-p. 4.

CHAPTER III .- The story of Viswamitra as being promoted from a Kshatriya to a Brahmana-p. 7.

Charten IV .- The descendants of Vishwamitra-p. 8. Chartes V .- The merits of mercy and the marks of devout men. The story of Vasava and the great Suks-p. to.

Charten VI.-Exertion and destinywhich is more powerful. Conversation between Brahman and Vashistha-p. 11.

CHAPTER VII -The fruits of good deeds -p. 13. CHIPTER VIII .- Persons worthy of ador-

#1100-p. 15. CHAPTER IN -The end of persons who fail to make gifts to the Brahmanas after having promised them. The story of the jackal and ane-p. 16. Charten N.-Whetler any sin is com- came a Brahmana-p. 52. moted if a person give instructions to a freecaste person. The story of a Brahmana and a Shudra-p. 17.

CHAPTER XVII.-Yogs and the names of the great God-n. 47,

CHAPTER XVIII .- The Hymn of Makesha wara-p. 59. CHAPTERS XIX-XXI -The declaration about foint duties on the occasion of a person's marriage. The discourse between Arthavakra and Disha-p. 62

CHAPTER XXII .- The proper object of 1 g:fts-p. 67.

CHAPTER XXIII -The rates for the 1 deities and departed manes on the occasion of the Shraddhas-p. 72. CHAPTER XXIV .- The circumstances under which a person becomes guller of Brahminicide without actually killing him-p 77. CHAPTER XXV .- The ments of ablution

in sacred water-p 77. CHIPTER XXVI -- Countries, provinces, mountains and rivers most sanctified-p Bo. CHAPTER XXVII -- How can a man of any other caste acquire the dignity of a Brahmana-p. 85. CHAPTERS XXVIII-XXIX.-The story of Indra and Matanga on the subjectp. 87.

CHAPTER XXX -- How Vitahavya be-

CHIPTER XXXI .- Mrn worthy of homage. The discourse between Narada and Vasudeva-p 91.

XXXVIII-XXXIX.-The CHIEFFERS disposition of women -p. 101. CHAPTERS XL-XLIII - The creation of

17

woman and the object thereof, The story of Vinula and Devasharman-p. 103

CHAPTER XLIV -The rites of marriage and all the particulars thereof-p 110.

CHAPTER XLV.-How a maiden after she is left off by a man after promise, should be treated. The inheritance of a person's property, who has daughters-p. 113

CHAPTER XLVI .- The duties of men lowards women-p. 114

CHAPTER XLVII - the rules of marriage and the law of mheritance-p. 115 CHAPTER XLVIII - the duties of persons born in mixed castes-p 118, CHAPTER XLIX .- The position of sonsp. 121.

CHAPTERS L-LI -The nature of compassion and pity. The discourse between Nahusha and Chyavana-p. 123

CHAPTERS LII-LVII -The history of Jamadagn:-p 126.

CHAPTER LVIII .- The rewards of the planting of trees and the digging of tanksp. 136. CHAPTER LIX -A description of the gifts which follows the giver to the next world-p. 138 CHAPTER LX -The preference of gift

o one who solicits and to one who does not -D. 140. CHAPTER LX1 -The rewards of gilts in his world and in the next-p 14t. CHAPTER LXII -A description of the best of all guits-p 112 CHAPTER LXIII -The fruits of guits to Brahmana and others. the replies of

Narada-147. CHAPTER LXIV -The ordinances of the gift of food-p 149 CHAPTER LXV -The gold of gold-p 150.

CHAPTER LXVI - The merits of the gift of a pair of sandals to a Brahmana gifts of sesame, land, kine, gold, &c .p. 151.

CHIPTER LYVII -The ments of the guits of drunk-p 151

CHAPTER LXVIII,-The gifts of sesame and lamps-p 155. CHAPTER LXIX -The gifts of earth. Vedic injunctions on the objects of gift-

p. 156. Chapter I XX .- The history of king Negra-p. 157.

CHAPTER LXXI -The merits of the gift The discourse between Rishi kine Uddalaki and Nachiketa-p. 159 CHAPTERS LXXII-LXXIV -The end of persons who make gifts of kine-p. 162.

CHAPTER LXXV -- the merits of Vedic studies vows, teachingthe Vedas, gifts of knowledge, of the satisfact on of one's duties, of serving the parents-p 1165. CHAPTER LXXVI -Ordinances about the sifts of kine-p 168 CHAPTER LXXVII-LXXX -The mys-

terms of the gift of hine-p, 160 CHAPTER LXXXI - Description of sacred things-p. 175 CHAPTER LAXXII -The merits of cow-

The conversation between kine and the goddess of prosperity-p. 177. CHAPTER LXXXIII .- The glory of kine

-- p 178 CHAPTER LXXXIV -An account of gold and its gifts-p 180. CHAPTER LXXXV -The coloquies of the dieties on the subject-p 183 CHAPTER LXXXVI -The history of the destruction of laraka-p 103. CHAPTER LXXXVII-The ordinances

about Shraddha-p 191. CHAPTER LXXXVIII - Eternal gilts to 3 the departed manes-102.

CHAPTER LXXXIX -- Optional Shraddhas-p 193 CHAPTER XC -- A description of Brahmanas to whom offers should be made at the time of Shraddhas-p .191 CHAPTERS XCI-XCII - The history and particular rites of a Shraddha-p 106 CHAPTER NCIII -Whether a mana eating Havya at the invitation of a Brahmana, while fasting, commits sin-D. 100

CHAPTER XCIV -The Instory of oaths -- p 200

CHAPTER XCV .- The introduction of umbrellas and sandals as gifts of Shraddhas-

CHAPTER XCVI -Jamadagni's attempt to destroy the Sun-p 210

CHAPTER XCVII - Duties of the Domestic Mode of Life-p 211.

CHAPTER XCVIII -The history of the gift of light-p 212.

CHAPTER XCIX-C -The merits of the gifts of light, incense, &c. The discourse between Nahusha and Agastya on the subject-p. 216.

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER CL.-The end of a person stealing a Brahmana's goods. The conversation between a Chandala and a low-caste Kshatriya on the subject-p. 218.

CHAPTER CIL-lie various ends of righteous persons alter death. The discourse between Grutama and Vasayap. 210.

CHAPTER CIII -The highest penance described. The discourse between Bhagtratha and Brahma-p. 223.

CHAPTER CIV .- Why a man becomes long., or short., lived-p. 225. CHAPTER CV .- Fraternal duties -- p. 232.

CHAPTER CVI .- The law of fast-p. 233 CHAPTER CVII .- Ordinances equivalent to sacrifices for poor men-p 236.

CHAPTER CVIII.-The foremost and purest of all I'irthas described-p. 241.

CHAPTER CIX-The most beneficial fruit of all fasts-p. 212.

CHAPTER CX -The means for acquiring beauty, prosperity, good temper and happi-

CHAPTER CXI .- The deeds by which one goes to heaven or hell-p. 243.

CHAPTER CXII .- The end of virtuep. 218.

CHAPTER CXIII - Non-injury, observance of Vedic rituals, meditation, controlling senses, penances, and obedience to the preceptors,-which of them is preferable p. 250

CHAPTER CXIV .- The purification of one who has injured others-p 250.

CHAPTER CNV-Ordinances about meatealing-p. 251.

ness-p. 213.

CHAPTER CXVI .- The merits of abstention from meat-eating-p 254.

CHAPTERS CXVII-CXIX. - The end of ersons dring in baitle-field. The discourse between Dwaipayana and a worm-p 255. CHAPTER CXX-CXXII -Knowledge, penances and gilts, which of them is supe-

#10r-p. 251. CHAPTER CXXIII -The conduct of good and chaste women-p. 262. CHAPTER CXXIV .- The efficacy of con-

Eduction and gilts-161. CHAPTER CXXV .- The mystery of duties and citis-p. 2'S CHAPTER CXXVI .- Deeds pleasing to Victory-p. 243. CRIPTER CNNVIII-The 'won' 'p of tacred Fre-p. 270.

CHAPTER CXXVIII -The observance of dates which produces happiness-p. 271.

CHAPTER CXXIX .- The condition men who know others' wives-p 272. CRAPTER CXXX .- The mysteries of duty and religion-p 273.

CHAPTER CXXXI .- The power of the Pramathas-p. 275.

CHAPTER CXXXII -The mysteries of duty described by the elephants-p. 275.

CHAPTERS CXXXIII - CXXXIV - Dulies as described by Maheshwata and Skanda-

p. 276. CHAPTER CXXXV .- The law of diet-the position of various castes about that-277.

CHAPTER CXXXVI .- The' expiation of a Brahmana disregarding the law-p. 278. CHAPTER CXXXVII -The superiority of charity and devotion-279 CHAPTER CXXXVIII .- The merits of gifts-p. 230.

CHAPTERS CXXXIX-CXLVIII - Religion and Profit, which bring on happiness in the next world. The history of Rudra and Uma-p. 281.

CHAPTER CXLIX,-An account of the One God-p. 309.

CHAPTER CL -The Mantras for success in journey, entry into new buildings, and for proputating malevolent spirits-p. 321.

CHAPTER CLI.-Persons worthy of adoration-p. 324.

CHAPTER CLII -The fruit of the adoration of Brahmanas-p. 325. CHAPTERS CLIII-CLVII.-Superiority of the Brahmanas over the Elements p. 326. CHAPTERS CLVIII-CLIN-The prosperity following the worship of the Bralimanas-p. 333

CHAPTER CLX -Shata-Rudrya Mantra-p 338.

CHAPTER CLNI .- The Same cont. p 339. CHAPTER CLXII -- The authority of direct perception, inference, the science of the scriptures -p 341.

CHAPTER CLXIII .- Time for acquisition of Wealth-p. 314.

CHAPTER CLXIV .- The influence of Time

CHAPTER CLXY .- The means of happi-

ners. The source of well-being-p. 345. CHAPTER CLTYL-The Instructions of B' istima - p. 317.

Curren curren-Yedfühlbira comes to Blichma-p. 345.

CHAPTER CLEVIIL-Death of Ethinap. 354

THE MAHABHARATA

(IN ENGLISH.)

ANUSHASANA PARVA.

--->4<+==

CHAPTER I.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of male beings as also Saraswati, the goddess of learning let us cry success.

Yudhishthira said :--

- O grandfather, peace of mind has been described to be subtile and of various forms. I have heard all your discourses, but have not still been able to acquire tranquility of mind.
- 2. Various means of quieting the mind have been described by you. I see, but how can peace of mind be sequired from only a knowledge of the different sorts of tranquility, when I myself have been the means of bringing all this about?
- 3 Seeing your body covered with arrows and bad sores, I cannot get, O hero, any peace of mind, thinking of the evils I have done.
- 4 Seeing your body, O bravest of the brave, covered with blood, like a hill covered with water from its springs, I am perishing with grief as the lotus in the ramy season.
- 5 What can be more painful than this, that, for me, you, O grandfather have been reduced to this condition by my people fighting against their enemies on the battle-field.
- Other princes also, with their sons and kinsmen, have been killed on my account. Alas, what can be more painful than this?
- 7. Tell us, O prince, what will befall us and the sons of Diritarashtra, who, impelled by fate and anger, have done this hateful act.
- 8 O king, I think the son of Dhritarashtra is fortunate because he does not see you in this condition.
- 9 But I, who am the cause of your death as well as of that of our friends, am dented all peace of mind by seeing you on the naked earth in this miserable pliebt.

- to. The wicked Duryodhana, the most infamous of his family, has, with all his soldiers and his brothers, died in battle, nerforming Kshatriya duties.
- 11. That wicked man does not see you lying on the ground! Verily, for this teason, I would prefer death to life.
- 12-13. O hero who never forsook virtue, had I with my brothers met with death before this at the hands of our enemies on the battle-field, I would not have seen you make patiol exaction, as perced with arrows! Sulely, O prince, the Maker had created us to commit evil deeds.
- 14. O king, if you wish to do me good, do you then instruct me in such a way that I may be purged of this ain in even another world.

Bhishma said 🕳

- 15 'Why, O lortunate one, do you regard your soul, which is dependent, to be the cause of your deeds? Its inaction is subtle and imperceptible to the senses.
 - 16-19 Regarding it is cited the old story of the conversation between Mrityu and Gautami with Kala and the Fowler and the serpent. There was, O son of Kunit, an old lady named Gautami, who was endued with great patience and peace of mind. One day sile found her son dead on account of having been bitten by a serpent.
 - 20. An angry lowler, named Arjunaks, bound the serpent with a string and brought the force Gautam. He then said to her.—This weetched serpent has been the cause of your son's death. O blessed lady 1 felt net quickly how that wretch is to be killed! Shall I throw it into the fire or fishall I cut it into preces? This indemous killer of a child should not live longer!

Gantami replied .-

21. Do 103. O Arjunaka of little understanding, set free this serpent! It should not be killed by you. Who is so ! foolish as not to care for the inevitable destiny that awaits him and make himself heavy for sinking into sin ? 22. Those who have made themselves light by performing virtuous deeds, manage to cross the sea of the world as a ship crosses the ocean. But those who have loaded themselves with sin sink into the bottom, as an arrow thrown into the water.

23. By killing this serpent, this my boy will not revive, and by letting it live, no harm will be caused to you. Who would go to the endless regions of Death by killing this living creature?

The fowler said :-

24 I know, O lady who know the dilference between right and wrong that great persons are pained at the miseries of all creatures. But these words which you have uttered carry instruction for only a self-contained person. I herefore, I must kill this serpent.

25. Those who value peace of mind attribute everything to the course of Time as the cause but practical men soon pacifs their grief. People, through perpetual error, fear loss of beautide Therefore, O lady, remove your grief by having this serpent killed (by me)

Gautami replied:-

People like us are never pained Good men have their souls always bent on The death of the boy was predestined therefore I cannot approve of the destruction of this serpent.

27. Brahmanas do not cherish resentment, because resentment leads to pain Do you, O goodman forgive and set free this serpent out of mercy.

The fowler replied :-

Let us acquire great and inexhaus table ment in the next world by destroying (this creature), as a man gains great merit, and confers it on his victim as well by sacrifice upon the altar! Merit is won by killing an enemy t by killing this despicable creature, you will acquire great and true merit in the next world.

Gautamı replied -

What good is there in torturing and destroying an enemy, and what good is acquired by not setting free an enemy in our power? Therefore O you of kind face, why should we not forgive this serpent and try to acq ure merit by setting it free.

The fowler replied :-30. A great number (of creatites should be safeguarded against this one, instead of this single creature being protected Virtuous men quit the vicious do you, therefore, destroy the wicked crea-

Gautami replied .-

31. By killing this serpent, my son, O fawler, will not regain his life, nor do I see that any other end will be attrined by its death therefore, do you. O fowler, set this living serpent free.

The fowler said :-

Byldestroying Vritra, Indra got the best portion (of sacrificial offerings), and by destroying a sacrifice Mahadeva secured his share of sacrificial offerings do you, therefore, kill this serpent forthwith without any misgivings whatsoever.

Bhishma said:

Although repeatedly urged on by the fowler for the destruction of the serpent, the great Gautami did nor bend her mind to that sinful deed.

34 Painfully fettered with the cord, sigling a little and keeping up its composure with great difficulty, the serpent then uttered these words slowly, in a human soice.

The serpent said -

35 O foolish Arjunaka, what is my fault? I have no will of my own, and am not independent! Death sent me on this work

36 By his order have I bitten this child, and not out of any anger or option an my part Therefore lif there be any sin in this, O fowler, the sin is his

The fowler said —

If you have committed this evil. urged thereto by another, the sin is your also as you are an instrument in the act.

38. As in the making of an earthen pot tle potter's wheel and red and other things are all considered as causes, so are you, O serpent. He who is guilty should be killed by me, You, O serpent, are guilty ' Indeed you confess it.

The serpent said ~

39 As all these, vis , the porter's wheel, rod, and other things, are not independent causes, so am not an independent cause! Therefore, this is no fault of mine, you should admit it.

- 41. If you hold otherwise, then these ere to be considered as causes working with one another. For thus working with one other, a doubt springs up about their relation as cause and effect.
- 42. Such being the case, it is no fault of mine, nor should I be killed on this account, nor am I guilty of any sin! Or, if you think that there is sin, the sin lies in the aggregate of causes,

The fowler said -

- 43. If you are neither the principal cause nor the agent in this matter you are still the cause of the death. Therefore, I think you should be killed.
- 44 If, O serpent, you think that when an evil deed is done the doer is not implicated therein, then there can be no cause in this matter but having done this, you should surely be killed. What more do you think?

The servent said .-

- 45. Whether any prime cause exists or rot, no effect is done without an (intermediate) act. Therefore causation being of no importance in either case, my act as the cause should be considered in full.
- 46 II, O fowler, you consider me truly, to be the cause then the sin of this act of killing a living being rests on the shoulders of another who led me to do this.

The fowler said :-

47. [You don't deserve life, O foolish one, why do you then exchange so many words, O weetched serpent? You should be killed by me. You have done a henous crime by killing this infant,

The serpent said :--

48 O fowler, as the priests officiating at a sacrifice do not gain the merit of the act by offering oblations of clarified butter to the fire, so should I be considered in this matter.

Bhishma continued :-

49 The serpent directed by Death having said this, Death himself appeared there and addressing the serpent said.

Mrityn said :-

- 50. Guided by Kala, I, O serpent, sent 300 on this mission, and neither are you nor am I the cause of this child's death.
- 51. As the clouds are driven hither and thinker by the wind, I am, O serpent, moved by Kata.

- 52. All influences of Sattwa, or Rajas, or famas, originate from Kala as they work in all creatures,
- 53 All creatures, mobile and immobile, in heaven, or earth, are pervaded by the influence of Kala. The whole universe, O serpent, is permeated by this same influence of Kala.
- 54. All acts in this world and all abstentions, as also all their changes, are owing to be influenced by Kala.
- 55 The Sun, Soma, Vishnu, Water, Wind, the god of a hundred sacrifices, Fire, Sky, Earth, Mitra land Parjanaya, Aditi, and the Vasus, Rivers and Oceans, all existent and non-existent objects, are created and destroyed by Kala.
- 56-57. Knowing this, why do you, O serpent, consider me blameable? It i am to be blamed for this, you are also blameable.

The serpent said:—

58. I do not, O Mrityu, blame you, not do I set you iree from all blame. I only say that I am directed and influenced by you.

59. If Kala is to be blamed, or, it is not for me to find the fault. We have no right to do so.

60 As it is my duty to absolve myself from this blame, so it is my duty to see that Mrityu is not blamed.

Bhishma continued :-

Arjunaka said, 'You have heard what Meitsu has said. Therefore, it is not proper for you to torment me, who am innocent, by fettering me with this rope.

addressing

Then the serpent,

The fowler said -

the cause which is not truly so.

- 62 I have heard, you, O serpent, as well as the words of Mrityu, but these, IO serpent, do not set you free from all blame.
- pent, do not 'et you lree from all blame.

 63. Mrityu and you are the causes of tlus chid's death. I regard both of you to be the cause and I do not call that to be
- 64. Accursed be the wicked and vengeful Death that causes misery to the good! I shall also kill you who are sinful and engaged in sinful deeds.

Mrityn said -

66 We both are not free, but are dependent on Kala, and are ordained to do our appointed work. You will not blame us if you do consider this matter thoroughly. MANABINAATA.

The fowler said .

depend on Kala, I am curious to know how Mritvu said:-67-68. Everything is done under the influence of Kala. I have said it before.

pleasure and anger are caused.

66 If you both, O serpent and Mrityu.

O fowler, that Kala is the cause of all and therefore we both, acting under the influence of Kala, do our appointed work and, therefore, O fowler, we two should not be blamed by you.

Bhishma said :-

60 "Then Kala arrived there where ethics were being discussed, and spoke thus to the serpent and Mritsu and the fowler Arjunaka assembled together.

Kala said :-

nor I, O fowler, am guilty of the death of any creature. We are merely the immediate causes of the event () Atjunaka. the Karma of this child was the exciting cause of our action in this matter. 71. There was no other cause by which

70. 'Neither Mrityu, nor this serpent, this child met its death. It was killed by the result of its own Karma 72. It has met 'with death as the result of its pristine Karma. Its Karma has been the root of its destruction. We all are subject to our respective Karma

73. Karma is a help to salvation as sons are and Karma also expresses virtue and vice in man We impell one another even acts urge one another,

71 As men make from a lump of clay whatever they wish to make, so do men come by various results out of Karma. 75 As light and shadow are connected with each other, so are men related to Karma, through their own deeds. 76. Therefore, neither are you, nor am

I, nor Mritvu, nor the serpent, nor this old Brahmana lady, is the cause of this child's death.

77. He himself is the cause here. Upon Kaia, O king, explaining the matter thus, Gautami, convinced in her mind that men suffer according to their actions, spoke thus to Arjunaka, Gautami said -78 Neither Kala, nor Mrityu, nor the serpent, is the cause here this child has met with death as the result of its own Karma.

Let now Kala and Mrityu retire from there, and do you too, O Ariunaka, set this serpent free. Bhishma continued:-

I too have so acted that my son has

So. Then Kala and Mestvu and the serpent returned to their respective places, and Gautami became consoled in mind as also the fowler

81. Having heard all this Oking, do you forego all grief, and acquire peace of mind! Men attain to heaven or hell as the result of their own Karma.

82. This evil has theither been of your own creation, nor of Duryodhana's! That these king's of Earth have all been folled, is the work of Kala.

Vaishampayana said —

Having heard all this, the powerful and pious Yudhisthira became consoled in mind, and again enquired as follows

CHAPTER II.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhisthira said — 1. O grandfather, O wisest of men O you who are learned in all the scriptures, I have heard, this great story, O foremost of intelligent men! I am desirous of again listening to the recital of some history full of religious instruction, and you should satisfy me Oking, tell me if any householder has ever succeeded in conquering Death by the practice of virtue! Do you recite this to me in full. Bhishma said :-

4 This ancient history is narrated describing the subject of the conquest, by a householder, of Death, by the practice of virtue.

The Prajapati Manu had a son, O king, named Ikshwaku. That king, illustrious as the Sun, begat a hundred sons. 6. His tenth son, O Bharata was named /

Dashashwa, and this virtuous prince of infallible prowess became the king of Mahismati.

7 Dashashwa's son, O king, was a pious prince whose mind was continually devoted to the practice of truth and charity and devotion.

- 8. He was known by the name of Madirashwa and ruled the Earth as her master He was continually given to the study of the Vedas as also of the science of arms.
 9. Madirashwa's son was the king named
- Dyutimat who was ended with great good fortune and power and strength and energy to. Dyutimat's son was the highly devout and prous king who was celebrated
- devout and prous king who was celebrated in all the worlds by the name of Suvira. His soul was intent on religion and he possessed riches like another Indra the king of the gods.
- 11. Suvira too had a son who was invincible in battle, and who was the best of all warriors and known by the name of Sudurjaya.
- 12 And Durjaya 100, endued with a body like that of Indra, had a son who was radiant with the effulgence of fire. He was the great king marged Duryardhana who was one of the foremost of royal sages.
- in the kingdom of this king, who never fled from the battlefield and was gifted with valour like unto Indra limself.

Indra used to pour rain profusely

- 14 The cities and the kingdom of this king were filled with wealth and gems and cattle and various sorts of grain.
- 15 There was no miser in his kingdom nor any person afflicted with distress or suffering from poverty. Nor was there in his kingdom any person who was weak in body or afflictef with disease.
- 16. This king was very intelligent, mild in speech, without envy, a master of his passions, of a righteous soul, full of mercy, gifted with prowess, and not given to boasting.
- 17. He celebrated sacrifices, and was sell-controlled and unelligent, devoted to Brahmanas and Iruth, He never humilated others, and was charitable, and well-read in the Vedas and the Vedanta.
- 18. Auspicious and sacred and of cool waters, the celestial stream Narmada, in her own nature, O Bharata, courted him,
- 19 He begot upon that river, a fotus eyed daughter, named Sudarshana, who was, O king, gifted with great beauty.
- 20. No woman, O Yudhisthira, had been born before, who was so very beautiful as that excellent lady the daughter of Durvodhana.
- 21. The god Agns himself courted the beautiful princess Sudarshina, and assuming the shape of a Brahmana, O king, sough the hand from the king.

- 22. The king was reluctant to give his daughter in marriage to the Brahmana who was poor and not of equal rank with himself.

 23 Thereupon Agni disappeared from
- his great sacrifice. The king, grieved at heart, then addressed the Brahmanas, saying,
- 24. What sin have I, ye excellent Brahmanas, or you, have committed, that Agni should disappear from this sacrifice, as good done to wicked men vanishes from their estimation.
- 25 Indeed, we have committed a great iniquity for which Agni has thus disappeared | Either you have committed in sin, or I. Do you fully enquire into the matter.
- 26. Then hearing the king's words, O foremost prince of Bharata's race, the Brahmanas, controlling speech, sought with concentrated laculates the help of the god of fire.
- 27. The divine carrier of oblations, effingent as the autumnal Sun, appeared before them, covering his self in glorious refulgence.
- 28. The great Agns then addressed those excellent Brahmanas, saying, -1 seek the daughter of Duryodhana for my own self.
- 29. At this, all those Brahmanas were struck with surprise and rising on the morrow, they told the king what had been said by the fire-god.
- 30 Hearing the words of those Brahmavadins, the wise king was delighted at heart, and said,—Be it so!—I he king sought a boon of the illustrious fire-god as the marriage dower.—Do you, O Agni, be pleased to remain always with us here!
 - 31-32 Be it so !-said the divine Agni to that king For this reason Agni has always been present in the kingdom of Mahishiati to this day, and was seen by Sahadeva in his conquering expedition to the south.
 - 33-36 Then the king gave lus daughter, dressed in new raments and decked with yearls, to the great god, and Agn't too accepted, according to Vedic market general sederation of the process Sudarsham as his bridge more supported to the process of the sederation of the process of the sederation of the

- 37. Sudarshann, also, was, as beautiful as the full moon, and even in his childhood he acquired a knowledge of the supreme and eternal Brahma. 38. There was also a king named Oghavat, who was the grandfather of
- Ninga. He had a daughter named Oghavati, and a son too, of the name of Ogharatha born to him. 39 King Oghavat gave his daughter
 - Oghavati, beautiful as a goddess, to the learned Sudarshana, for wife.
- 40. Sudarshana, O king, leading the domestic mode of life with Oghavati, used to live in Kurukshetra with her. This intelligent prince of fiery
- energy took the vow, O lord, of conquering Death by leading the life of a householder. 42. The son of Agni, O king, said to Oghavati,-Do you never act against (the - wishes of) those who seek our hospitality. You should ungrudgingly welcome the guests, even if you have to offer your own body.
- .44 O beautiful one, I always remember this you, since for house-holders, there is no higher virtue than hospitality to guests.
- Do you always remember without ever doubting it, if my words be any authority with you.
- 46. O sinless and blessed one, if you have any faith in me, do you never disregard a guest, whether I be at your side or at a distance from you.
- 47. Oghavatı placing her clasped hands on her forehead, replied, saying,-I shall leave nothing undone of what you order
- 48. Then, O king 'desiring to over-reach Sudarshana, Mrityu began to watch him for finding out his short comings.
- 40. Once on a time, when the son of Agns went out fetch fuel from the forest; a graceful Brahmana sought the hospitality of Oghavatı with these words
- O beautiful lady, if you have any aith in the virtue of hospitality as laid down for householders, then I would request you to extend the rites of lospitality to ine to day.
- 51. Thus addressed by that Brahmana. O'king, the illustrious princess welcomed him according to the rites laid down in the Vedas.
- Having offered him a seat, and water to wash his feet, she enquired, saying -What is your business? What can 1 offer you?

- 53 The Brahmana said to her,- No business is with your body, O blessed one Do you act accordingly without any hesitation whatever.
- 54. If the duties prescribed for householders be acceptable to you, do you, O princess, satisfy me by offering up your body to me.
- Though tempted by the princess with offers of various, other things, the Brahmana, however, did not seek any thing else than the offer of her own person.
- Finding him determined, that lady, recollecting the directions given to her by her husband, but filled with shame, said to that excellent Brahmana,-Be it so.
- 57. Recollecting the words of her husband who was desirous of acquiring the virtue of house-holders, she cheerfully approached the twice-born Rishi.
- Meanwhile, the son of Agni, having collected fuel, returned to his home. Mrityu, with his dreadful and mexorable nature, was always by his side, as one attends upon his devoted friend.
- When the son of Pavaka returned his own asylum, he called out for Oghavati by name, and repeatedly exclaimed .- Where are you gone?
- 60. But the chaste lady, devoted to her husband, being then in the arms of that Brahmana, gave no reply to her husband.
- fit. Indeed, considering herself suffied. that chaste woman became speechless. overcome with shame.
- 62. Sudarshana, addressing her again, exclaimed,-Where can my chaste wife be? Where has she gone? Nothing can be so very important to me than this.
- Why does not that simple and truthful lady, devoted to her husband, alas reply as she used to do before with swee smdes.
- 64-66 Then that Brahmana, who was within the hut thus replied to Sudarshana,-Know, O son of fire, that a Brahmana guest has arrived, and though tempted by your wife with various other offers of welcome, I have. O best of Brahmanas, desired only her body and Ithis fair lady is engaged in welcoming me with due rites! You can do whatever you think proper on this occasion.
- 67. Armed with the Iron-club, death pursued the Rishi at that moment, desirous of bringing about the destruction of one who would, he thought, deviate from his promise.
- 68-60 Sudarshana was struck with wonder, but renouncing all, jealousy and anger by look, word, deed, ot thought, said, —Do you enjoy yourself, O Brahmana ! It is a great pleasure to me! A house-holder acquires the highest ment by honouring a guest.

70 The learned say that to the householder, there is no ligher merit than what comes from a guest leaving his house after having been duly honoured by him

71. My life, my wife and all my earthly belongings, are all dedicated to the use of my guests? This is the vow that I have taken.

72. As I have truly made this statement, by that truth, O Brahmana, I shall acquire the knowledge of Self.

73-74 O foremost of the virtuous, the five elements, vist, fire, air, earth, water, and sky, and the mind, the intellect and the Soul, and time and space fand the ten organs of sense, are all in the bodies of men, and always witness the good and evil deeds of men.

75 This truth I have spoken to day, and let the gods bless me for it or destroy me if I have spoken an untruth.

76 At this O Bharata, there arose from all sides, in repeated echoes, a voice, crung.—This is true, this is not false.

77-78. Then that Brahmana came out of the hovel, and like the wind rising and covering both Earth and sky, and making the three worlds echo with Vedic recitations, and calling that virtuous man by name, and congratulating him, said—

79 O sinless one, I am Dharma! All glory to you! I came here O truth-loving one, to try you, and I am well-pleased with you by knowing you to be virtuous

So You have controlled and conquered Death who always has pursued you, seeking your shortcomings.

81. O best of men, no one in the three worlds has the power to insult, even with looks this chaste lady devoted to her husband, far leas to touch her body,

82. She has been saved from contamination by your striue and by her own chastity. There can be nothing against what this proud lady will say.

83. This Brahmavadin, gifted with austere penances, shall, for it e salvation of the world, be changed into a powerful river.

84. And you will acquire all the worlds in this your body, and because the science of Yoga is within her control this highly blessed lady will follow you with only half her body, and with the other half will she be celebrated as the river Oghanati,

85 And you will acquire with her all the worlds that are acquired by penances. 86 You will acquire even in this material body those eternal and everlasting worlds from which none return.

87 You have conquered Death, and acquired the highest happiness and by your own power (of mind), attaining to the speed of thought, you have transcended the five elements

88 By thus following the duties of a house holder, you have conquered your passions, desires, and anger, and this princess, O best of virtuous men, has, by serving you, conquered affliction, desire, illuson, emitty and lassitude of mind;

Bhishma said -

89 Then, riding in a fine chariot drawn by a thousand white steeds, the glorious Vasava approached that Brahmana

90 Death and Soul, all the worlds, all the elements, intellect, mind, time, and ether [as also desire and anger, were all conquered

91 Therefore, O best of men, do you remember that a to householder there is no greater god than the guest.

22 The learned say that the blessings of an honoured guest are more fruitful than the merit of a hundred sacrifices.

92 Whenever a deserving guest seeks the hospitality of a house holder and 19 not respected by him, he takes away all the virtues of the latter giving | 1 n his sins.

of I have now recited to you my son, this excellent story as to how Death was conquered in days of yore by a householder.

95 The recital of this excellent story gives glory, fame and longevity. In man who seeks worldly prosperity should consider it as powerful in removing all evil.

96 And, O Bharata, the learned man who daily recites this story of the life of Sudarshana acquires blessed regions.

CHAPTER III.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yndhishthira said:-

1. If. O prince, it is so very d fficult for the other three castes to acquire Brahmanahood, how then did the great Vishwamitra, O king, though a hall atriya, acquire the status of a Brahmana? I desire to know this, O sire! Therefore, do you truly describe this matter to me.

- 3 O sire by virtue of his austerities that powerful man destroyed in a moment the hundred sons of the great Vasishtha.
- 4. While under the influence of tre he created numberless evil spirits and Rakshasas of great vigour and resembling the great destroyer Kala himself.
- 5 The great and learned family of Kushika, containing hundreds of twice born sages in it and highly spoken of by the Brahmanas, was founded in this world of men by him.
- 6 Having been sought to be killed as an animal in the great sacrifice of Amvarisha, Shunashepha of austere penances, the son of Richika acquired his deliverance through Vishwamitra.
- Having pleased the gods at a sacrifice Harishchandra became a son of the wise Vishwamitra.
- 8 For not having honoured their eld est brother Devarat, the other fifty brothers of his were imprecated, and all of them became Chandalas.
- hanging with his head downwards in the lower regions, Trisanku, the son of Itshaku was translated to heaven at the pleasure of Vishwamitra.

 10. Vishwamitra had a large river,

When abandoned by his friends, and

- named Kaushiki, that was frequented by celestial Rishis. This sacred and auspicious river was frequented by the celestials and twice-born Rishis.
- 11. For disturbing his devotions, the famous celestial nymph Rambha, having fine bracelets, was cursed and changed into a rock.
- t2.* From fear of Vishwamitra the glorious Vasishtha, in days of yore, binding himself with creepers, threw himself down into a river and again rose released from his fetters.
- 13 On account of this, that large and sacred river became thenceforth famous by the name of Vipasha.
- 14-15 He prayed to the plottous and powerful Indra who was pleased with him and freed him from a curse Remaining on the northern side of the sky, he sheds his lustre from a position in the midst of the seven twice born Rishis, and Dhrua the son of Uttanpada.
- to These and many others are his feats. O descendant of Kuru, my curiosity has been kindled in this respect, because they were performed by a Kshatriya.

- 17. Therefore, O foremost one of Bharata's race do you refate this matter to me truly! How without renouncing his body and taking another body of flesh could he become a Brahmana?
- 18 Do you, O sire, truly describe this matter to me as you have described to me the story of Matanga.
- 19 Matanga was born as a Chandala, and could not acquire Brahmanahood, but how could this man acquire the status of a Brahmana?

CHAPTER IV.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) --

Bhishma said :-

- I. "Listen truly in full, O son of Pritha, how, in days of yore, Vishwamitra acquired the status of a Brahmana, as also of a Brahmana Rish!
- 2 There was, O foremost of Bharata's descendants, in the family of Bharata, a king named Ajamida, who celebrated many sacrifices and was the best of all virtuous men.
- 3 His son was the great king named Jahnu Ganga was the daughter of this - great prince.

 4 The far-famed and equally virtuous
 Sindhudwipa was the son of this prince.
 From Sindhudwipa sprang the great royal sage Valakashwa.
- 5 His son was named Vallabha who was like a second Dharmal incarnate. His son was Kushika who was illustrious like the thousand-eyed Indra.
- Kushika's son was the illustrious king Gadhi who, being childless and wishing to have a son born to him, went to the forest.
- 7. While living there, a daughter was born to him. She was called Satyavati, and she was peerless in beauty on Earth
- 8 The illustrious son of Chyavana, known by the name of Richika, of the family of Bhrigu gifted with auster penances, sought the hand of this lady.
- 9 Thinking him to be poor, Gad! the destroyer of his enemies, d d not bestow her in marriage upon the great Richika.
- to But when the latter, thus dismissed, was going away, the excellent king addressing him, said,—II you can give me a marriage dower you will have my daughter as your wife!

Richika said :-

t(-12. What dower, O king, shall I offer you for the hand of your dawgher? Tell me truly, without any hesitation whatsoever?—Gadhi said,—O descendant of Bhrigh, give me a thousand horse quick-coursing as the wind, and possessing the color of moon beams, and each having one ear black.

Bhishma said -

13-14 Then that powerful son of Chyavana who was the foremost of Buriqu's family, besought the god Varuna, the son of Adits, who was the ford of all the waters. O best of gods, I pray to yout give me a thousand horses, all fleet like the wind and having complexion as effulgent as the moon's, but each having one ear black.

15-16 The god Varuna the son of Adit, said to that scion of Bhrqu's race,—Be it so! Whenever you will seek, the horses shall come As soon as Richika thought of them, there came from the waters of Ganga a thousand high-born horses, as effugent as the moon

17 Not far from Kanyakuvja, the sacred bank of Gango 18 still famous among men as Ashwatetha on account of the appearance of those borses, 18 Then Richika, that best of ascetics, pleased in mind, gave those thousand excellent horses to Gadhi as the marriage gift.

to King Gadhi, stricken with wonder and fearing to be cursed, gave his daughter, adorned with jewels, to that son of Bhrigu.

20. That foremost of twice-born Rishis accepted her hand in marriage according to due rites. The princes too was [well-pleased at seeing herself the wife of that Brahmana,

21. That foremost of twice-born Rishis, O Bharata was well pleased with her conduct and expressed a desire to grant her a boon

22 The princes, O excellent king, communicated the to her mother. The mother and to the daughter that stood before her with down cast eyes,—You should, O my daughter, secure a favour for me also from your lustshand. That sage of autsere penancers is competent to grant a boan to me—the boon, over, of the birth of a son to me.

24 Then, O king, returning speedily to her husband Richika, the princess described to him all that had been wished for by her mother,

Richika said :--

25 By my favour, O blessed one, she will soon give birth to a son gifted with every virtue! May your request be fulfilled!

26 Of you too shall be born a powerful and glorious son who, gifted with virtue, shall perpetuate my race. Truly do 1 say this to you

27 When you two shall bathe in your season, she shall embrace a pepul tree, and you O excellent lady, shall embrace a fig tree, and by so doing you shall have the fruition of your desires.

28 O sweetly-smiling lady, both she and you shall have to partake of these two sacrificial offerings (charu) consecrated with hymns, and then you shall get sons

29 Thereat, Satyavati, pleased at heart, told her mother all that had been said by Richika as also of the two balls of charu.

30. Then the mother, addressing her daughter Satyavati, said -O daughter, as I deserve greater respect from you than your husband, do you obey my words.

37 Do you give me the charu, duly consecrated with hymns which your luss band has given you, and yourself take the one that has been intended for me.

32 O sweetly-smiling one of pure character, if you have any reverence for my word let us change the trees respectively intended for us.

33. Every one wishes to possess an excellent and pure son. The illustrious Richika too must have acted from the same mouve in this matter as will appear in the long run.

34 Therefore, O beautiful girl, my heart is bent upon your charu and tree, and you too should also try to secure an excellent brother for yourself.

33 The mother and the daughter Satyavats having acted thus, they both, O Yudhistinia, became big with child.

36 Finding his wife quick with child, that great Rishi, the descendant of Bhrigu, became pleased at heart, and addressing her, said —

37 O excellent lady, you have not done well in exchanging the charu as will soon be seen. It is also clear that you have changed the trees

38 I had put the entire accumulated energy of Brahms in your charn and Kshariya energy in the charu of your mother. MAHABHARATA.

I had so settled that you would give birth to a Brahmana whose virtues would be famous throughout the three worlds, and that she would give birth to an excellent Kshatriya.

40-41 But now, O excellent lady, as you have changed the order (of the charu so), your mother give birth to an excellent Brahmana and you too. O excellent lady. will give birth to a Kshatriya of dreadful deeds You have not done well, O lady, by doing this out of affection for your mother.

42. Hearing this Oking, the excellent lady Satyavati, filled with sorrow, dropped upon the ground like a beautiful creeper cut in two parts.

43-44 Regaining her senses and bowing to her lord with head (bent), the daughter of Gadhi said to her husband that foremost one of Bhrigu's race .- O twice-born Rishi, O you who are foremost amongst those versed in Brahma, have mercy on me, your wife, who is thus ap-peasing you and so order that a Kshatriya son may not be born to me.

45. Let my grandson be such a one as will be famous for his dreadful feats if it be your desire, but not my son, O Brahmana! Do you grant me this favour.

Be it so,-said tlat Rishi of austere penances to his wife and then, O king, she gave birth to a blessed son named Jama-dagni The famous wife of Gadhitoo gave birth to the twice-born Rishi Vishwamitra versed in the knowledge of Brahma, by favour of that Rish.

48 The highly pious Vishwamitra, though a Kshatriya, gained the dignity of a Brahmana and became the founder of a race of Brahmanas.

His sons became great progenitors of many races of Brahmanas who were given to austere penances, learned in the Vedas, and founders of many clans.

The worshipful Madbuchchhanda and the powerful Devrat, Akshina, Shakunta, Vabhru, Kalapatha, the celebrated Yamavalkya, Sthuna of great vows, Uluka, Mudsala, and the sage Saindha-vayana the illustrious Valsujangha and the great Rishi Galava, Ruchi, the celebrated Vajra, as also Salankayana, I dadhya and Narada, the one known as Kurchamukha, and Vahuli Mushala as also Vakslingriva.

54-61. Anghrika, Naikadrik, Stilavupa, Sluta, Sucht, Chakraka, Marutantavya, Vataghna, Ashwalayana, and parret which had lived in a hollow of its

Shyamayana, Gargya, and Javali, as also Sushruta, Karishi Sangehrutya and Para Paurava, and Fantu, the great sage Kapila, Iarakayana Upagahana Asura. yanı, Margama, Hıranyaksha, Jangharı, Bhavravayani, and Suti Bibliuti, Suta, Surakrit, Arani, Nachika, Champeya, Ujjayana, Navatantu, Vakanakha Sayana, Yatı, Ambhorulia, Amatsyashın, Shirishin, Gardhavi Urjiayoni, Udapekshin, and the great Rishi Naradin -these asceties were all sons of Vishwamitra and were versed in the knowledge of Brahma, O king Yudhishthira, the greatly austere and pious Vishwamitra, although a Kshatriya. became a Brahmana for Richika having placed the energy of supreme Brahma (in the charu), O foremost prince of Bharata's family! I have now described to you, in full, the story of the birth of Vishwamitra who was gifted with the energy of the sun, the moon, and the fire god

62. O best of kings, if you have any doubt about any other subject, please let me know it, so that I may remove it."

CHAPTER V.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) — -Continued.

Yudhishthira said .-

1. "O you who know the truths of religion, I wish to hear of the merits of religion. I wish to hear of the merits of mercy, and of the marks of devout me i! Do you, O sire, describe them to me.'

Bhishma said —

Regarding it, this ancient legend. the story of Vasava and the great Shuka, is cited as an illustration.

In the dominion of the king of Kashi, a fowler, having poisoned arrows with him, went out of his village on a hunting expedition in seasch of antelopes.

Desirous of getting meat, when in a big forest in pursuit of the chase, he saw a drove of antelopes near at hand, and shot his arrow at one of them.

The arrow of that fowler of irrestable arms, shot for the destruction of the antelope, missing its aim, pierced a powerful forest-tree away, shedding its leaves and fru is 7. The tree having thus withered, a runk all his life, did not leave his nest out of affection for that fordly tree.

The tree, pierced with that arrow covered with dreadful poison withered

- 8 Motionless starving, silent and sorrowful, that gratefil and virtuous parrot also withered away with the tree
- g The conqueror of Paka (Indra) was filted with wonder upon seeing that great and generous bird thus uninfluenced by misery or happiness and possessing extraordinary resolution
- to then Sakra thought—How could this bird come to pussess such humane and generous feelings which cannot be seen in one of the lower animal creation?
- 11 There is nothing wonderful in the matter, for all creatures are seen to show lundly and generous feelings towards others.
- 12. Assuming then the shape of a Brahmana, Shakra went on the Earth and addressing the bird, said —

 13. O Cuka. O best of birds, the grand
- daughter of Daksha has become blessed (by having you as fer offspring)? I ask you, why do you not feave this withered tree?
- 14 Thus accosted, the Shuka bowed to him and thus replied -- Welcome to you O king of the gods, I have recognised you by the nierit of my austere penances.
- 15 Well done, well done l-said the thousand eyed god I hen the latter lauded tum in his mind, saying, O, how wonderful is the knowledge which he possesses
- 16 Although the destroyer of Vala knew that parrot to be of a greatly virtuous character and mentorious in action, he still enquired of him about the reason of his love for the tree.
- 17—18 This tree is withered and it is without leaves and fruits and is unfit to be the refuge of birds. Why do you then ching to it? I his forest too is vast and in this wilderness there are numberless other goad-texes whom bollows are converde which leaves and which you can choose freely and to you heart's content.
- 10 O patient one, displaying proper discrimination in your wisdom do you leave this pild tree that is dead and useless and shorn of all its leaves and no longer capable of any good.

Bhishma said :-

20-21. Hearing these words of Shakra, the virtuous Shuka, heaved a deep sight, and sorrowfully replied to him, saying,—U trushand of Sachi, and chief of the gods the ordinances of the gods should always.

- be obeyed Do you hear of the reason of the thing about which you have asked me. 22 Here, within this tree, was I born?
- and liere in this tree have all the good traits of my character been developed, and here in this tree was I protected in my infancy from the attacks of my enemies
- 23 O sinless one, why are you in your kindness, interfering with the principle of my conduct in life? I am merciful and devoutly intent on virtue, and firm in conduct
- 24 Kindliness of feeling is the highest test of virtue amongst the good, and this same merciful and humane feeling is the source of eternal happiness to the virtuous
- 25 All the gods ask you to remove their doubts in religion and for this reason, O ford, you have been elected their king
- 25-27 You should not, O thousand-eyed ne, advise me now to leave this tree for good. When it was capable of good, it supported my life. How can I leave it now? Pleased with these well meant words of the parcot, the virtuous destrojer of Paka, thus said to him —I am pleased with your humane and merciful disposition.
- 28 Do you ask a boon of me -At this, the exerciful parrot craved this boon of him, saying, -Let this tree revive.
- 29 Knowing the great attachment of the parrot to that tree and great high character, Indra, well pleased, caused the tree to be quickly sprinkled over with nectar.
- 30-31. Then that tree became revived and grand through the penarcs of the parrot, and the latter, too O great king, at the end of his life acquired the companionship of Shakra by virtue of that act of merc).
- 32 Thus, O king by communion and companionship with the pious, people acquire all the objects of their desire even as the tree did through its companionship with the parrot."

CHAPTER VI

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yndhisthira said :--

r. "Of Exertion and Destiny, tell me O learned sire "who are verted in all the scriptures, which is the more potent? 12

Bhishma said '--This ancient story of the conversation of Vasishtha and Brahman. O Yu-dhisthira, explain this matter.

In days of yore the worshipful Vasishtha enquired of Brahman as to which among these two, vis , the Karma of a creature acquired in this life or that ac quired in pristine lives (and called Destiny), is the more powerful in shaping his life.

4. Then, O king, the great god Brahman, who had originated from the primeval lotus, answered him in these sweet and well-reasoned pregnant words.

Brahmana said --

- 5. Nothing springs into existence without seed. Without seed, fruits do not grow. From seeds originate other seeds. Hence are fruits known to be sprung from seeds.
- 6. According to the good or bad seed that the husbandman sows in his field, he reaps good or bad fruits.
- unsown with seed, the soil, though titled, becomes fruitless, so, without personal Exertion, Destiny is of no use.
- 8. One's own deeds are like the soil, and Destiny is compared to the seed. The harvest grows from the union of the soil and seed.
- q-10. It is seen every day in the world that the doer reaps the fruit of his good and evil acts, that happiness results from good deeds, and pain is the outcome of evil ones, that acts, when done, always fructify. and that, if not done, no fruit arises.
- 11. A man of (good) acts gains merits with good fortune, while an idler loses his estate, and reaps evil like the infusion of alkaline matter injected into a wound.
- By firm application, one acquires beauty, fortune, and all sorts of riches Everything can be obtained by Exertion but nothing can be gained through Destiny only, by a man who lacks personal Exertion
- 13. One attains to heaven, and all the objects of enjoyment, as also the fulfillment of his heart's desires, by well-applied personal Exertion.
- All the luminaries in the sky, all the gods, the Nagas, and the Hakshasas, as atso the Sun and the Moon and the Winds, have acquired their high status by evolution from man's status, by dint of their own action.
- Riches, friends, prosperity coming down from generation to generation, as also the sweets of life, are d ficult of attainment by those who want Exertion.

- The Brahmana acquires prosperity by holy living, the Kshairiya by provess, the Vaishia by manly exertion, and the Shudra by service.
- 17. The stingy, the impotent, or the idler do not acquire riches and other objects of enjoyment. Nor are these ever acquired by the man who is not active or manly or devoted to the exercise of reli-Lions austerities.
- Even he, the worshipful Vishnu, who created the three worlds with the Daityas and all the gods, even He is engaged in austere penances in the heart of the deep.
- If one's Karma bore no fruit, then all actions would become fruitless, and depending on Destiny men would become idlers. 20. He who, without following the human
- modes of action, follows Destiny only, acts in vain, like the woman who has an impotent husband. 21. The apprehension of good or evil
- in this world is not so great if Destiny be unfavorable as his apprehension of the same in the other world if Exertion be wanting while here.
- Man's powers, if properly applied only follow his Destiny, but Destiny alone cannot produce any good where Evertion is wanting. When it is seen that even in the
- celestial regions, the position of the gods themselves is unstable, I ow would the gods maintain their own position or that of others without proper Karma.
- The gods do not always approve of the good actions of others in this world, for, fearing their own deleat, they try to thwart the acts of others.
- There is a constant rivalry between the rods and the Rishis, and it they all have to go through their Karma, still it can never be said that there is no such thing as Destiny, for it is the latter that introduces all Karma.
- How does Karma originate, if Destiny is the principal motive power of human action? By this means, many virtues are accumulated in the celestral regions.
- 27. One's own self is his friend and his enemy too, as also the witness of one's good and evil deeds.
- 28 Good and exil appear through Karma. Good and evil acts do not produce sufficient results.
- Virtue is the refuge of the gods, and by virtue everything is acquired. Destiny .

thwarts not the man who has acquired service and righteousness.

30. In days of yore, Vayati, falling from his high position in heaven, descended on it e Earth but was again restored to the celestial regions by the good deeds of his pious grandsons.

31 The royal sage Pururavas, well known as the descendant of Ha, attained to heaven through the intercession of the Brahmanas.

32. Saudasa, the king of Koshala, though dignified by the performance of Ashwimedha and other sacrifices, came by the status of a man-eating Rakshasa, through the course of a great Rishi.

33 Ashwatthaman and Rams, though both warriors and sons of Ascetics, failed to acquire heaven by virtue of their own actions in this world.

34. Vasu, though he celebrated a hundred sacrifices, like a second Vasava, was sent to the nethermost regions, for making a single false statement.

35. Vali, the son of Virochana, virtuous bound by his promise, was sent to the regions under the Earth, by the prowess of Vishnu.

35. Was not Janamejaya, who followed the foot-prints of Shakra, for slaying a Britmana woman, checked and put down by the gods?

27. Was not the twice-born Rishi Varishampsyana too, who killed a Brahman in ignorance, and was polluted by the slaughter of a child, put down by the reds?

33. In days of yore the royal sage Nriga became changed into a lizard. He had made juits of kine into the Brahmanus at his great sacrifice, but this did not help

39. The royal sage Dhundhumara was possessed by decrepitude even while enjuged in celebrating his sacrifices, and free ong all the ments thereof he fell atleep at Girivraja,

40. The Pandavas too regained their lost kindom, of which they had been deprived by the powerful sons of Dhritasalitz, not through the influence of the Pates, but by recourse of their own beroam.

41. Do the ascetter of rigid yows, and given to the practice of autters penances, denounce their curses by the help of any supernatural power or only in the extreme of their own power attained by individual acts?

42. If possessed by the wicked, all the world, is soon lost to them. Destiny does not help the man that is full of spiritual ignorance and avarice.

43 Even as small fire, when fanned by the wind, becomes highly powerful, so does Desting, when helped by individual Exertion, becomes greatly potent.

44 As by the diminution of oil in the lamp its light is put out, so does the influence of Destiny, by the abatement of one's acts.

45: Hawing obtained riches, and woman and all the enjoyments of this world, the man who is not hard working is unable to enjoy them long, but the great man, diligant in Exertion, can find tiches buried deep in the Earth and watched over by the Fates.

46 The good man who is prodigal is sought by the gods for his good condoct, the celesulal world being better than the world of men, but the house of the miser though full of riches is looked upon by the gods as the house of the dead

42. The man who does not exert finned! is never contented in this world, nor can Desiuny change the course of a man who has gone wrong. There is no power inherence of the property of the pro

48 O best of ascetics, I have thus described all the merits of personal Exertion, having always known in their true significance.

49 By the influence of Destiny, and by showing personal Exertion, do men attain to heaven. The combined help of Destiny and Exertion, becomes fruitful."

CHAPTER VII.

(A'NUSHASANIKA PARVA) .--

Yndhisihira said ;-

T. "O bett of Bharata's family and the foremost of great men, I wish to know what the fruits are of good deeds! Do you enlighten me."

Bhishma said:-

acts?

42. If possessed by the wicked, all the Do rou O Yudi isthma, i sten to this which fred which is gaired with difficulty in this learns the secret knowledge of the Rishs.

Listen to me as I explain what the long coveted ends are which befall men after death The fruits of whatever actions are performed by creatures in whatever hodies or forms of existence, are reaped by the doers while endued with similar bodies In whatever states creatures perform good or evil acts, they reap the fruits thereof in similar states of succeeding fives. No act done with the help of the five organs of sensual perception is ever lost.

4-7. The five sensual organs and the immortal soul which is the sixth, are its witnesses One should devote his eye (to the service of others) one should devote his heart (to the same), one should utter sweet words, one should also follow and worship (one's guest) This is the sacrifice He who offers good food to with five gifts the unknown, and tired traveller, fatigued by a long journey, acquires great merit.

Those who use the sacrificial platform as their only bed, obtain palatial mansions and beds (in subsequent births) He who wears only rags and barks of trees for dress, gets good apparel and ornaments One possessed of penances and having his soul on Yoga, gets vehicles and riding animals The king who lies down by the side of the sacrificial fire, acq ires vigor and valour.

The man who casts off the enjoyment of all delicacies, acquires prosperity and he who abstains from animal food, obtains children and cattle.

II. He who lies down with his head downwards, or who lives in water, or who lives secluded and alone in the practice of Brahmacharya, acquires all the desired ends

He who gives shelter to a guest and welcomes him with water to wash his feet as also with food light and bed, acquires the merits of the sacrifice with the five gifts

He who on the battle-field, lays lumself down as a warrior on a warrior's bed goes to those eternal regions where all the objects of desire are fulfilled.

A man O king, acquires riches who makes charitable gifts. One gets obedi ence to one's command by the vow of silence all the enjoyments of life by practice of austernies, long life by Brahmacharva. and beauty, prosperity and immunity from disease by abstaining from injury to others Those who live on fruits and roots only, acquire Sovereignty, those who live on only leaves of trees acquire Residence in heaven

A man, O king, is said to acquire happiness, by abstention from food. By eating herbs alone, one gets cows living on grass, one acquires the celestrate regions

17. By avoiding all intercourse with his wife and making ablutions three times a day and by inhaling the air only for purposes of maintenance one acquires the ment of a sacrifice. Heaven is gained by the practice of truth, and nobility of birth by sacrifices.

The Brahmana of pure practices who lives on water only, and performs the Agnihotra continually, and recites the Gayatri, acq ures a kingdom By abstaining from food or by restricting it, one acq ures residence in heaven

O king, by avoiding all but the prescribed diet while celebrating sacrifices, and by making pilgrimage for twelve years, one acquires a place better than the angles reserved for heroes

By reading all the Vedas one is immediately freed from misery, and by practising virtue in thought, one acquires the heavenly regions

21. That man who shakes off the longing for happiness and material comfortsa thirst that is difficult of conquest by the foolish and which does not abate with the decline of physical vigour and which clings to him like a dreadful disease,—is able to secure happiness

As the young calf is able to recognise its dam from among a, thousand cows, so do the pristine deeds of a man follow hım.

As the flowers and fruits of a tree, , unmoved by apparent influences never miss i their proper season so does Karma done in a pristing existence bring about its fruits in proper time

With age, man's hair grows gray , his teeth become loose, his eves and ears too become dim in action, but the only thing that does not decline is his desire for enjoyments

25-26 Prajapati is pleased with those deeds which please one's father, and the Earth is pleased with those acts which please one's mother, and Brahma is pleased with those acts which please one's mother, and Brahma is adored with those acts that please one's preceptor. Virtue is lionored by him who honors these three. The acts of those who despise these three do not ! help them.

Vaishampayana said '---

The princes of the line of Kuru became filled with surprise upon listening te this speech of Bhishma. All of them became pleased in mind and overpowered with joy.

28. As Mantras applied for gaming victory, or the performance of the Shoma sacrifice made without proper elifs, or oblations poured on the fire without proper hymns, become frutless and produce evil results, so san and evil results originate from falsehood. 29 O prince, I have thus described to you this doctrine of the fruition of good and evil deeds, as recounted by the Rishis of old. What else do you wish to hear," t, "Who are deserving of adoration? Who are they to whom one may bow? Who are they, O Bharata, to whom you would lower your head? Who, again, are they whom you like? Tell me all this, O prince.

CHAPTER VIII.'

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued,

Yndhishthura said -

2. What is that upon which your mind turn when affliction overwhelms you Do you describe to me what is beneficial here, that is, in this region of human beings, as also bereafter.

Bhishma said --

- 3 I like those twice born persons whose highest wealth is Brahma, whose heaven is their knowledge of the soul, and whose penances are formed by their diligent study of the Vedas.
- 4 My heart longs for those in whose family persons young and old disgently bear the ancestral burthers without languishing under them.
- 5—7. Brahmanas well-trained in several branches of knowledge, self controlled, mild-speeched, conversant with the scriptures, well-behaved, possessed of the knowledge of Brahma, and righteous in conduct, discourse in respectable assembles like flights of swans. I hey in a voice deep as the mutering of clouds give vent to auspicious, sweet, excellent, and well-pronounced words, O Yudhishifura. In the court of monarchs, they spoke these and appraisal, themselves being received with honor and attention and extract with temporal protect by those kings.
- 8. Indeed, my heart longs after them who endued with knowledge and all dear-able attributes, and honoured by others, listen to such words when uttered in assemblies or the courts of kings.

9 My heart, O king, always yearns to the court of the courter of

- after them who, for the satisfaction of Brahmanas, O Yudhishthira, give to them, with devotion, food that is well-cooked and clean and wholesome.

 10. It is easy to fight in battle. but not
- so to make a gift without pride or vanity.

 In this world, O Yudhisthira, there
- are fundreds of brave men and heroes.
 While counting them, he who is a hero in gifts should be considered as superior.
- 12. O amiable one, if I had been even a vulgar Brahmana I would have considered myself as very great, not to speak of one born in a good family, gilted with righteousness of conduct, and given to penances and learning.
- 13 There is no one, O son of Pandu, to this world, who is dearer to me than you, O chief of Bharala's frace, but Brahmana's are dearer to me than you.
- 14. And since, O best of the Kurus, the Brahmanas are very much dearer to me than you, it is by that truth that I expect to go to all those regions of happiness which have been gained by my father Shantsmu.
- Neither my father, nor my grandfather, nor any one else connected with me by blood, is dearer to me than the Brahmanas.
- 16 I do not expect any fruit, small or great, from my adoration of the Brahmanas
- 17. On account of what I have done to the Brahmanas in thought, word, and deed, I do not feel any pain now.
- 18. People used to call me as one devoted to the Brahmanas. This address always pleased me highly. To do good to the Brahmanas is the most sacred of all sacred duties.
- 19 I see many regions of beatitude waiting for me who have respectfully followed the Brahmanas. Very soon shall I go to those regions for good, O son
- In this world, O Yudhis thira, the duties of women depend upon their his-bands. To a woman, verily, the husband is the god and he is the lighest end for which she should try. As the I sub and the wife, so are the Brahmanas to Kshattyas.
- 21. If there be a Kshatrija hundred jears old and a good Brahmana child of only ten years, the latter should be considered as a father and the former as a lord, so the Earth, not having obtained Brahmana, made the Kahatriya her king The Brahmanas should be protected like sons and adored like fathers or preceptors Indeed O best of ile Kurus, they served reverentially as people wait with respect upon their sacrificial or Homa fires.

16

simplicity and righteousness They are given to truth. They are always engaged in the behalf of all creatures. Yet when angry they are like snakes of dreadful venom They should, for these reasons, be always waited upon and served with respect and humility.

The Brahmanas are gifted with

One should, O Yudhishthira. always fear these two, vis Energy and Penances. Both these should be shirked or kept at a distance.

26 The effects of both are quick There is this superiority, however of Penances vis , that Brahmanas gifted with Penances O king, can, if angry, kill the object of their anger. 27 Even greatest Energy and Penances. become neutralised if applied against a the two,-that is, Energy and Penancesbe set against each other, then both of them would be destroyed Again when Energy, is set against Penances, it is sure to be destroyed without leaving a remnant Penances applied against Energy cannot be destroyed completely As the herdsman stick in hand

Brahmana who has conquered anger protects the herd so should the Kshatriva always protect the Vedas and the Brahmanas

The Kshatriya should protect all pious Brahmanas as a father protects his sons He should always look after the houses of the Brahmanas for finding out that the means of subsistence may not be wanting '

CHAPTER IX (ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Continued.

Yudhisthira said -"O grandfather, O you of great splendour, wi at do those men become who through stupefaction of intellect, do not become an ape - --- make gifts to Brahmanas after having promised to make those gifts? A woman, in the absence of her

O foremost of all righteous persons. do tell me what the duties are in this matter Indeed, what becomes the end of those wicked men who do not give alter having promised to give "

Bhishma'said '-

' The person who after having promised does not give be it I tile or much. lies the motrofication to witness his hopes frustracted like the hopes of a enunch about children.

4-5 Whatever good acts such a person does between the day of his birth and that of his death, O Bharata whatever libations he pours on the sacrificial fire, whatever gifts he makes. O chief of Bharata's race. and whatever penances he performs, all becomes useless.

They who are conversant with the scriptures hold this as their opinion, artiving at it. O chief of the Bharatas, with the help of a well ordered understanding.

7. Persons conversant with the scriptures also opine that such a man may be purified by giving away a thousand horses with dark ears

Regarding it is cited the old discourse between a jackal and an ape While both were human beings. O scorcher of enemies they were intimate friends "After death one of them became a jackal and the other an ape. Seeing the tackal one day eating an animal carcase in the midst of a cremato. rium the ape, remembering his own and his friend's pristine birth as human beings. addressed him, saving -

Verily what dreadful sin did you commit in your pristine birth on account of which you are obliged in this birth to feed in a crematorium upon such repulsive food as the putrid carcase of an animal?

Thus addressed the jackal replied to the ape, saying -Having promised to give to a Brahmana I did not make him the gift

13 It is for that sin O ape that I have fallen into this wretched state of existence It is for that reason that when hungry, I am obliged to eat such food

Bhishma said —

The jackal then, O best of men, addressed the monkey and said -- What sin did you commit for which you have

The are said :-

15 In my former life I used to eat the fruits belonging to Brahmanas. Hence have I become an ape. Hence it is clear that one endued with intelligence and learning should never take what belongs to Brahmanas. As one should about from this, one should avoid also all quarrels with Brahmanas. Having promised, one should certainly make the promised gift to them.

Bhishma said :-

- 16 I heard this, O king, from my preceptor while he was discoursing upon the subject of Brahmanas I heard this from that pious person when he recounted the old and sacred declarations on this topic.
- 17. I heard this from Krishna also, O king, while he was discoursing, O son of Pandu, upon Brahmanas.
- 18. The property of a Brahmana should never be taken. They should always be let alone Poor, or miserly, or young in years, they should never be dishonoured.
- 19 The Brahmanas have always taught me this Having promised to make them a gilt, the gilt should be made A superrior Brahmana should never be disappointed in his expectations.
- 20. A Brahmana, O king, in whom an expectation has been raised, has, O king, been said to be like a burning fire.
- 21. That man upon whom a Brahmana with raised expectations looks, is sure, O king, to be reduced to astes as a heap of straw is capable of being consumed by a burning fire.
- 22 When the Brahmana, gratified by the king, addresses the king in delightful and affectionate words, he becomes, O Bharata, a source of great good to the king, for he continues to live in the kingdom like a physician lighting against various ills of the body.
- as Surh a Bahmane Saute a maintain peacefully the sons and grandsons and animals and relatives and ministers and other officers and the city and the provinces of the king.
- 24. Such is the energy of the Brahmana, like to that of the thousand-rayed bun himself, on the Earth.
- 25 Therefore, O Vudhishthira, if one wishes to come by a respectable or happy order of being in his next birth, he should, having made the promise to a Brahmana, certainly satisfy it by actually making the glit to him.

- 26 By making gifts to a Brahmana one is sure to acquire the highest heaven. Verily, the making of gifts is the highest of deeds that one can perform.
- 27 The gods and the departed manes are supported by the gifts one makes to a Brahmana. Hence one endued with knowledge should ever make gifts to the Brahmanas.
- 28 O chief of the Bharatas, the Brahmana is considered as the highest object to whom gits should be made. At no time should a Brahmana be received without due adoration."

CHAPTER X.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said :-

- I "I wish to know, O royal sage, whether any sin is committed by one who from interested or disinterested friendship delivers instructions to a person of a low order of birth.
- O grandfather, I wish to hear this explained to me in full. The course of duty is highly subtile. Men are often seen to be supplied about that course.

Bhishma said :-

- 3 About it, O king, I shall recite to you, in due order, what I heard certain Rishis say in days of yore.
- 4 Instruction should not be given to one who belongs to a low or degraded casts. It is said that the preceptor who delivers instruction to such a person commits great sin.
- 5 Listen to me, O chief of Bharates, as I recite to you, O Yudhishthra, this incident which took place in days of yore, O king, of the evil consequences of impacting all institutions to a low-hinen person fallen into distress.
- 6 The incident which I shall describe, took place in the hermitage of certain twiceborn sages which stood on the auspicious breast of thimavat. There, on the breast of that king of mountains, was a sacred asylum adorned with trees of various kinds.
- 7. Overgrown also with various epecies of creepers and plants, it was the cesort of many animals and birds. Inhabited by Siddhas and Charanes also, it was highly delightful on account of the woods that flowered there at every season.

12

- 8 Many Brahmacharins lived there, and many hermits Many Brahmanas lived there, who were highly blessed and who resemt led the sun or the fire in energy and effuger ce
- 9 Ascetics of various kinds, observant of various restraints and vows, as also others, O king of the Bharatas who had gone through initiatory rites and were frugal in lare and possessed of purified souls, lived there.
- To Large numbers of Vahkhilyas and many who observed the vow of Sanyasa also, used to live thera. On account of all this, the hermitage resounded with the recitation of the Vedas and the sacred Mantha utterd by its dwellers.
- 11. Once upon a time a Shudra endued with mercy for all creatures, ventured to come into that hermitage. Arrived at that retreat, he was duly honored, by all the ascetics
 - that resembled the gods, and who weier observing diverte kinds of initiation, O Bharata, the Shudra became highly pleased at heart.

 13-14 Seeing everything, O chief of Bharata's race, the Shudra felt inclined to devote himself to the practice of penances. Touching the feet of the head of the order. O Bharata, he said to him -

Through your favour, O foremost of twice-classes who were endued with great energy,

Seeing those ascetics of diverse born persons, I wash to learn the durses of erlagion. You should, O illustrations one, describe to me those duties and introduce me into a life of Renounciation, 15 I am certainly inferior in colour, O illustration one, for I am by caste a Shudra, O best of men! I wish to wait upon and arrey you here Be pleased with me who tumbly seek your shelter. The Kulapati said :-

and, serve us

w' ich lead to ment.

- to It is impossible that a Shudra should live here following the life of Renunciation. If it pleases you, you may stay here
- 17 Forsooth, by such service you shall acquire many regions of great happiness.
- Bhishma said.—

 18 Thus addressed by the ascetic, the Shuira began to think in his mind, O hing,—llow should I now act? I have great reverence for those religious duties
 - 19 Let this, however, be settled, that I shall do what would be for my behoof.

- that hermitage, he made a hot of the lwigs and leaves of trees

 20 Erecting also a sacrificial platform, and making a little room for his sleep, and some platforms for the use of the gods, he
 - some plitforms for the use of the gods, he began, O chief of the Bharatas, to lead a life governed by rigid observances and yows and to practise penances, abstanning entirely from speech.

 21 He began to perform ablutions
 - thrice a day, observe other yows, make sacrifices to the gods, pour libations on the sacrificial fire, and adore and worship the gods in this way.

 22-23. Governing all carnal desires,
 - 22-23. Governing all carnal desires, living sparingly upon fruits and roots, governing all his senses, he daily welcomed and entertained all that came to his hermitage as guests, offering them herbs and fruits which grew in abundance around. In this way he passed a very fong time in that hermitage of his.

One day an ascetic came to that

- Shudra's asylum for making its aquantance The Sudra welcomed and adored the Rishi with due rites, and pleased him highly. 25 Possessed of great energy, and a righteous soul that Rishi of rigid yows
- conversed with his host on many agreeable subjects and informed him of the place whence he had come 26 In this way, O chief of the Bharatas,
- 26 In this way, O chief of the Bharatas, that Rishi, O best of men, came into the hermitage of the Shudra in numerable times for seeing him.
- 27 On one of these occasions the Shudra, O king, addressing the Rish, said,—I wish to perform the rites that are ordained for the Pitris. Do you show me kindness in this matter.
- 28 Very well -the Brahmana said in reply to him, O king.
- 29. Then, purifying himself by a bath, the Studra brought water for the Rishi to wash his feet, and he also brought some Rushia grass, and wild herbs and fruit, as d a ascred best, and the seat called Visibi.

37-31 The Visih however, was placed by the Shudra Iownzids the south, with its head turned to the west. Seeing thin and knowing that it was against the ordinance, the Rishi addressed the Shudra, saying.— Place the Visihn with its head printed yourself, do you have the printed yourself, do you have the turned to the work of the shudra did terrythouse the Rish directly.

- 32-35 Endued with great intelligence, and practising righteousness, the Shudra received every direction, about the Staddha. as laid down in the ordinance, from that Rishi gifted with penances, marking the manner of spreading the Kusha grass, and placing the Arghyas, and as regards the rites to be observed in the matter of the libations to be poured and the food to be offered. After the rites in honor of the Pitris had been finished, the Rishi, was sent away by the Shudra, whereupon he returned to his own abode. After a long time, the whole of which he passed practising such penances and vows, the Shudra ascetic died in those woods. On account of the ment he acquired by those practices the Shudra in his hext life, was born in the family of a great king, and in time became possessed of great splendour. The twice-born Rishi also, when the time came, paid his debt to Nature,
 - 36 In his next life, O chief of Bharata's race, he was born in the family of a priest Fhus those two, see; that Shudra who had passed a life of penances and that twice-born Rishi who had out of kind dees given the former some instructions in the matter of the rites performed in honour of the Pitris, became re-born, the one as the son of a royal race and the other as the member of a pressible family.
 - 37. Both of them began to grow and both gained great knowledge in the usual branches of study. The Brahmana became well versed in the Vedas as also in the Atharvans.
 - 38. The re-born Rishs gained great perfection in all sacrifices ordained in the Suitras, of the Vedanga which deals with religious rites and observances, astrology and astronomy. He took great pleasure in the Sankhay philosophy too
 - 39 Meanwhile, there born Shudra who had become a prince, when his father the king "died, performed his last rites, and after he had purified himself by performing all the obsequial rites, he was installed by the subjects of his father as their king on his paternal throne.
 - 40 But soon after his own installation as king he installed the re born Rishi as his priest. Having made the Brahmana his priest, the king began to pass his days happily.
 - 41-42. He ruled his kingdom piously lects. Fvery day, however, the king, seeing his priest on the occasion of receiving benedictions from him as also of the performance of religious and other sacred rites, scriled or laughed fouldy. In this way, O king, the re-born Shudra who had become a king, laughed at seeing his priest on numberless occasions.

43 The priest, marking that the king always amiled or laughed whenever he happened to look at him, became angry, 44. On one occasion he met the king in a place where there was nobody present.

- 44 On one occasion he met the king in a place where there was nobody present. He pleased the king by agreeable conversation,
- 45 Taking advantage of that moment, O chief of Bharata's race the priest addressed the king, saying,—O you of great shendour, I pray you to grant me a single boon.

The king said :--

46 OI boons, O best of twice-horn persons, I am ready to grant you a hundred, what do you say then of one only? From the affection I have for you and the reverence in which I bold you, there is nothing that I cannot give you

The priest said -

47 I wish to have only one boon, if, O king, you have been pleased with me. Promise that you world tell me the truth, instead of any untruth.

Bhishma said:—

48 Thus addressed by the priest, O Yudhisthra, the king said to him—So be it! If I know what you would ask me, I shall certainly tell you truly. If on the other hand, I do not know it, I shall not say anything.

The priest said .-

- 49 Every day, on occasions of receiving benedictions from me, when, again, I am engaged in the performance of religious rices, on your behalf, on occasions also of the Homa and other rices of propitation, why do you laugh upon seeing me?
- 59 Seeing you lough at me on all occasions, my mind shrinks with shame, I have made you promise, O lung, that you would answer me truly. You should not tell an untruth.
- 51 There must be some grave reason for your conduct. Your laughter cannot be Causeless. I have great curiosity to know the reason. Do, you speak truly to me.

The king said:-

52 While you have thus accosted me, O twice born one I am bound to enlighten you even if the matter be one that should not be given out to you! I must tell you the

- truth. Do you listen to me with rapt a attention. O twice-born one. 53. Listen, O foremost of twice-born persons, to me as I give out to you what took place (to us) in our pristing births. I remember that birth. Do you listen to me
- 54. In my former life I was a Shudra engaged in the practice of severe penances. You. O best of twice-born persons, were a Rishi of austere penances.

with concentrated mind.

tructed me.

- O sinless one, pleased with me, and moved by the desire of doing me good, you, O Brahmana, were pleased to give me certain instructions about the rites I per-
- formed in honor of my departed manes. 56. You Instructed me about the manner of spreading the Vrishi and the Kusha blades and of offering libations and meat and other food. O foremost of ascetics. On account of this transgression of yours you
- are born as a priest. 57. I have taken birth as a king, O foremost of Brahmanas. See the changes that Time encompasses. You have reaped this fruit on account of your having ins-
- It is for this reason; O Brahmana, that I smile at seeing you O foremost of twice-born persons. I do not certainly laugh at you from desire of disregarding You are my preceptor.
- 1 59 I am really very sorry at this change of condition. My heart burns at the thought I remember our former births, hence do I laugh at seeing you. Your austere penances were all
- destroyed by the instructions you gave me Removing your present office of priest, do you try to regain a superior birth. 61. Do you exert so that you may not obtain in your next life a birth meaner than your present one Take as much riches as you wish. O learned Brahmana, and
- purify your soul, O best of men,
- Bhishma continued -62. Dismissed by the king, the Brah-
- mana made many gifts, to persons of his own own order, of riches and land and villages. 63. He observed many rigid and severe
- yows as laid down by the foremost of Brahmanas. He sojourned to many sacred waters and made many gifts to Brahmanas in those places.
- Making gifts of kine to persons of the twice born order, his soul became purified and he succeeded in gaining a knowledge of it. Going to that very

65. As the result of all this. O foremost of kings, that Brahmana gained the highest success. He became an object of respect with all the ascetics who lived in that asvlum. In this way, O best of kings, that twice-born Rishi fell into great distress.

The Brahmana should, therefore, never give instructions to Shudras.

asylum where he had lived in his former birth, he practised very severe penances.

- 67. Hence, O king, the Brahmana should avoid delivering instructions to such as are low-born) for it was by giving instructions to a low-born person a Brahmana came to grief. O best of kings, the Brahmana
- should never desire to acquire instruction from or impart instruction to, a person who belongs to the lowest order. Brahmanas and Kshatriyas and Vaishyas, these three orders, are considered
- as twice-born. By delivering instruction to these, a Brahmana does not commit any sın. They, therefore, who are good, should never discourse on any subject, for giving any instruction, before persons of the inferior caste. The course of morality is
- highly subtile and incapable of being understood by persons of uncleansed soul. 71. It is for this reason that ascetics adopt the vow of silence, and, honored by all, pass through initiation without speaking a single word. For fear of saving what is
- incorrect or what may offend, ascetics never utter a single word. 72. Even men who are righteous and endued with every accomplishment, and truth and simplicity of conduct, have been known to commit great sin on account of words spoken improperly.
- 73. Instruction should never be given on anything to any person. If on account of the instructions given, the instructed with observation in that are attaches to the Brahmana who gave the instruction.

- 71 The wise man, therefore, who wishes to acquire ment, should always act with That instruction which is given wisdom in exchange for money always sullies the instructor.
- Requested by others, one should say only what is correct after determining it with the help of reflection. One should give instruction in such a way that one may, by giving it, acquire merit.
- 77. I have thus told you everything about instructions. Very often persons become plunged into great afflictions on account of giving instruction. Hence it is proper that one should abstain from giving instruction to others."

CHAPTER XI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ~

Yndhisthira gaid '--

s. "Fell me O grandfather, in what kind of man or woman, O chief of the Bharatas, does the goddess of Prosperity always five"

Bhishma said :--

- 2. "About it, I shall describe to you what took place and what I have heard Once on a time the princess Rukmini put this question in the presence of Devaki's agon.
- 3 Seeing the goddess of Prosperity, shining with heavity and gifted with the hue of the lotus, the mother of Pradyulma I wing the emblem of Makara on his banner, filled with curiosity, said these words
- 4. Who are those beings whom you help and whom you serve? Who, again, are it ow whom you do not serve? O you who are dear to I im who is the lard of all creatines, tell sine this truly, O you who are equal to a great Rishi in penances and power.
- 5. Thus addressed by the princess, the goldess of Prosperity, with a face beautiful fixe the moon, and, actuated by grace in the presence of the deity having the emblem of Grands on 11s banner, said tress words in tepty which were sweet and clarming.

Shree said -

6 O tlessed lady, I always live with I'm who is ekq tent, active, attentive to I uturners, free liam anger, given to the adoration of it e gods en fued with gratitude, has its passions under complete restrant, and is I gh minded in everything.

- honor, who are distressed at every trifle, and who always indulge in anger. Nor do I ever live with those who think in one way and act in a different way.
- 9 I never live also with him who never wishes for any acquisition for himself, or him who is so blinded as to rest satisfied with the lot in which he finds himself without any exertion, or with those who are contented with small gains.
- TO Live with those who perform the duties of their own order, or those who are conversant with the duties of write, or those who are given to the service of the aged, or those who have their passions under restraint, or those that are gitted with purifical soils, or those who observe the virtue of forgiveness, or those who are able and prompt in action, or with such women as are forgiving and self-centrolled.
- 11. I live with those women also who are between to truth and suncerty and who adore the gods. I do not live with those women also who do not look after household furniture and provisions scattered all around the house, and who always utility words against the wishes of their husbands.
- 12 I always avoid those women who are fond of the houses of other people and who have no modesty. On the other hand, I live with those women who are devoted to their husbands, who are blessed in conduct, and who are always adorned with ornaments and well clad.
- I always live with those women who are trutt ful in words, who are handsome and lavely in appearance, who are blessed and who are gifted with all accomplishments. I always avoid such women who are sinful and unclean or impure, who always lick the corners of their mouths, who have no patience or fortitude, and who are fond of dispute and quarreling, who are indolent and sleepy and always inclined to be down. I always live in conveyances and the animale that drag them, in maidens, in grnaments and good dresses in sattifices in clouds charged with rain in full blown latures and in those stars that covers the autumnalisky I live in elephanis, in the cowpen in good seats and in takes adorned wat fu'l blown fotuses.

planging into them for bathing or satisfying their thirst. I live also in angry clephants, in bulls, in kings, on the throne, and in good men

- 18 I alway live in that house in which the immate pours libations on the arcrification and address with the immans, and the gods. I live in that house where at the proper time offerings are made, to the gods, of flowers in course of worship.
- 19. I always live in such Brahmanas as are given to the study of the Vedas, in Ishatriyas devoted to the observance of virtue, in Vaishyas devoted to cultivation, and in Shudras devoted to the service of the three upper castes.
- 20 I live, with a heart firm and unshaken, in Narayana, in my embodied self. In Him exists virtue, full and perfect, devotion to the Brabmanas, and the quality of goodness
- 21. Can I not say, Olady, that I do not live in my embodied form I That person in whom I live in spirit increases in virtue and fame and wealth and objects of desire."

CHAPTER XIL

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said'-

t "You should, O king, tell me truly which of the two, viz, man or woman, gets the greater pleasure from an act of muon with each other. Kindly remove my doubt about it."

Blashma said '-- .

- 2. To illustrate this question, the old discourse between Bhangaswana and Shakra is cited in this connexion.
- 3 In days of old there lived a king name Bhangaswana He was very pious and was known as a royal sage. He was, however, childless. O king, and, there fore, made a sacrifice from desire of getting a son
- 4. The sacrifice which that powerful king celebrated was the Agustatuta, when a count of the 20 do fin being alone working to the sacrifice that was disliked by compared to the sacrifice that telested by one when for the object of getting believes to purify themselves of
- 5 Learning that the king was desirous of performing the Agnishtuta, the highly

- blessed king of the golls ves, Indrá, began from that moment to look for the shortcomings of that royal sage of well controlled soul.
- 6 Despite all his careful watch Indra, howaver, O king, could not find any short-cennings on the part of the great king. Sometime after, one day, the king went on a hunting expedition.
 7. Saying to himself,—This, indeed, is
- 7. Saying to nimen, this, indeed, is an opportunity,—India stupefied the king. The king went alone on his horse confounded, because of the king of the gods having stupefied his senses.
- 8 Stricken with lininger and thirst, the king a confusion was so great that he could not see the cardinal points. Indeed, stricken with thirst, he began to rove about.
- 9 He then saw a like that was highly beautiful and was full of transparent water. Descending from his horse, and plunging into the like, he made its animal to drink.
 In Tring his horse then, whose thirst
- in lying his horse then, whose thirst had been satisfied, to a tree, the king planged into the take again for doing his abbitions. To his surprise he found that he was metamorphosed by virtue of the waters, into a woman
- 11. Seeing lumself thus changed in respect of sex itself the king became filled with shame. With his senses and mind completely agrated he began to think thus with his whole heart.
- 12-13 Alas, how shall I ride my horse? How return to my capital? On account of the Agnishuta scriffice I have got a hundred sons all gifted with great strength and all children of my own loan! Alas, those changed what shall I say to them? What shall I say to my with a shall I say to them? What shall I say to my wives my relatives and well-wishers, and my subjects of the city and the provinces?
- 14 Rithis versed in the truths of duty and religion and other matters say that mildress and soliness and susceptibility to extreme againton are the claracteristics of women, and that activity, hardness and energy are the characteristics of men Alax, my manhiness in gone! For why has famining possessed me? On account of this change of sex, how shall I succeed merding my thorse again?
- 16 Having thought thus the king, with great exertion, mounted his borse and returned to his capital changed though he had been into a woman.
- Feturated to his capital changed though he had been into a woman.

 17 Seeing that extraordinary change his sons and wives and servants, and his subjects of the city and the provinces.

were extremely amazed.

- 18. Then addressing them all, that royal sage, that foremost of orators, said,— I had gone out on a hunting expedition, and gone out on a hunting expedition. Losing all knowledge of the cardinal points I entered a thick and dreadful forest, moved by the lates.
- to In what terrible forest, I became very much thristy and lost my senses. I then saw a beautiful lake abounding with fowl of all sorts.
- 20-21. Plunging into that lake for preforming my ablutions, I was changed into a woman !—Summoning then his wives and counsellors, and all his sons by their names, that best of kings changed into a woman said to them these words:—Do ye enjoy this kingdom happdy. About myself, I shall go to the forest, ye sons.
- Having said thus to his children, the king went to the lorest. Arrived there, she arrived at a hermitage inhabited by an ascetic.
- 23-24. By that ascetic the changed monatch gave butth to a hundred same shall be went to where her former children we went to where her former children we, and addressing the latter, said, Ye are the children of my loins while I was a tinat These are my children given but the by me in this state of change, Sons, do you all enjoy my kingdom together, like brothers boin of the same pacents.
- a5-16 Thus commanded by their parent, all the brothers, in a body, began to enjoy the kingdom as their joint property. Seeing those children of the king all jointly enjoying the kingdom as brothers born of the same parents, the king of the gody, filled with anger, began to reflect,—By transforming this royal sage into a woman, I have, it suppears, done him good instead of an miyor,
- 27 Saying this, the king of the gods, vis. Index of a hundred sacrifices, assuming the lorin of a Brahmana, went to the capital of the king and meeting all the children succeeded in creating dissensions amongst them.
- 28. He said to them,—Brothers never remain at peace even when hiesy are the children of the same failer. The same of the sage Kashyapa, res, the gods and the Asuras, lell out with each other on account of the sovereignty of if e three worlds.
- 29 As regards you princes, you are the children of the royal sage Bhangaswanz Il hese others are the children of an ascette like gods and the Asuras are children of teen one common father.

- 30. This kingdom, your paternal property is being enjoyed by these children of an ascete,—with these words, Indra succeeded in creating disunion amongst them, so that they very soon engaged in battle and killed each other.
- 31. Hearing this, king Bhangaswang, who was living as an ascelic woman, burning with grief and began to bewail. The king of the gods, rus, Indra, assuming the form of a Brahmana, came where the ascetic lady was living, and meeting her, said,—O you having a beautiful face, with what grief do you burn so that you are thus bewain? Seeing the Brahmana, the lady told him in a pitcous found.
- 33 Two hundred sons of mine, O twiceborn one, have been killed by Iime. I was formerly a king. O learned Brahmana and in that state had a hundred sons.
- 34 These were begolten by me after my own form, O best of twice-born persons? On one occasion! went on a hunting expedition. Stupefied, I travelled amidst a thick forest.
- 35 Seeing at last a lake, I plunged into it. Rising, O foremost of Brahmanas, I found that I had become a woman. Returning to my capital I installed my sona in the kingdom, and then left for the forest.
- 36 Changed into a woman, I bore a hundred sons to my husband who is a great ascetic. All of them were born in the ascetic's retreat. I took them to the capital.
- 37. My children, through the influence of lime, fell out with each other, O twiceborn one! Thus afflicted by Destiny, I am bewailing.
- 38. Index addressed him in these harsh words,—In former days, O lady, you gave me great pain, for you did perform a sactrfice that is disliked by Index.
 - 39 Indeed, though I was present, you did not invoke me with honors. I am that Indra, O you of wicked understanding! It is I with whom you sought hostilities.
 - 40. Seeing Indra, the royal singe fell at his feet, touching them with 1 is head, and said,—Be pleased with me, O foremost of gods. The sacrifice of which you speak was performed from a desire of offspring.
 - 41. You should, therefore, pardon me. Seeing the transformed king prostrate I imself thus to him, Indra became pleased with him and and wished to give him a boon
- 42. Which of your sons, O king, do you wash, should revise, these whom you gave birth to as a woman, or those who were begotten by you as a man.

view?

Joining her hands, the ascetic lady, answered Hudra, saying,-O Vasava, let those sons of mine revive who were borne by me as a woman.

44. Filled with wonder at this reply, Indra once more asked the lady .-- Why do you cherish less affection for those children of thme who were be otten by you as a

Why is it that you love more those children that were borne by you in your changed state? I wish to hear the reason of this difference in your love. You should tell me everything.

The lady said :-

24

The affection that is cherished by a woman is much greater than that which is cherished by a man Therefore, O Shakra, I wish those children to revive that were borne by me as a woman.

Bhishma said .-

47. Ihus addressed, Indra became highly pleased and said to her,-O truthful lady, let all your children come back into life. Do you take another boon, O foremost of kings,-whatever you like, O you of excellent vows Do you take from me whatever dignity you choose, that of woman or of man.

The lady said -

40-51. I wish to remain a woman, O In fact, I do not wish to become a man, O Vasava - Hearing this answer, Indra once more asked her, saying,— Why is it, O powerful one, that leaving aside the dignity of manhood you seek for that of womanhood? I hus accosted that foremost of kings transformed into a wo man, answered,-In sexual intercourse, the pleasure that women enjoy is always much greater than what is enjoyed by men Therefore, O Sakra, I wish to continue a woman.

- O foremost of the gods, truly do I say to you that I derive greater pleasure in my present state of womanhood. I am quite content with this state of womanhood that I now have Do you leave me now, O king of heaven.
- 53 Hearing these words of hers, the lord of the gods answered -So be it and bidding her farewell, went to heaven. Thus O king it is known that woman derives much greater pleasure than men under the circumstances you have asked."

CHAPTER XIII.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) -

Continued Yudhishthira said :-

"What should a man do in order to pass happily through this and the other world How, indeed, should one act? What practices should one follow with this :

Bhishma said :-

- "One should avoid the three deeds which are done with the body, the four which are done with words, like three which are done with the mind, and the ten roads of action.
- The three deeds which are done with the body and should be wholly avoided are the destruction of the lives of other creatures, theft or misappropriation of others' properties and the enjoyment of of other people's wives.
- The four acts which are done with ! words, O king and which should never be done or even thought of, are evil [conversation, harsh words, giving other people's faults and falsehood
- Coveting the possessions of others doing harm to others, and disbelief in the Vedas, are the three deeds done with the mind which should always be avoided
- Hence, one should never do any evil deed in speech, body, or mind By doing good and evil deeds, one is sure to enjoy or freap the just consequences thereof. Nothing can be more certain than this."

CHAPTER XIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--Continued.

Yudhisthira said :-

- I "O son of the River Ganga, you have heard all the names of the ourd of the uni-Tell us, O grandfather, all the names that are applied, O powerful one, to Him who is called Islia and Shambhu
 - Tell us all those names which are applied to Him who is called Vabhru or vast, Him who has the universe for his form, Him who is the illustrious Lord of all the gods and the Asuras, who is called Shankara and who has an origin that is unmanifest. Tell us also of the power of Mahadeva,"

Rhishma said '-

- 3 I am quite incompetent to recite the tirtues of the highly intelligent Mahadeva, II. prevades a lithings in the universe and yet is not seen anywhere
- 4 If e is the creator of Brahman, Visinu, and Indra, and he is their lord. All the gods, from Brahman to the Pishathas, adore him.
- 5. He is above both Praktitl and Purusha It is of Him that Rishis, conversant with Yoga and presessing a knowledge of all subjects think and reflect
- 6 He is indestructible and Supreme Brahma. He is both existent and non-existent. Agusting bath Nature and South y His energy, He created therefrom the
- universal lord of creatures, vie., Brahman.

 ? Who is there, who is competent to recount the virtues of that god of gods, who is gifted with supreme Intelligence? Man is suffer to conception, birth, decreptioned, and death
- 8 Being such, what man like me can understand Bhava? Only Narayana, O san, that holder of the conch the discus, and the mace can comprehend Mahadeva O He gifted with knowledge. He is
- the foremost of all beings in qualities. He ls Vish in hecause he prevades the universe. He is irresissible. Gifted with soiritual vision. He is possessed of supreme I vergy. He kees all things with the eye of Vot a.
- to On account of his devotion to the illustrious Rudea whon I e pleased, O BI arata, in the hermitage of Vadari by penances, that the great Krishna has succeeded in overwhelming the entire universe.
- 11 O king of kings, it is through Maheshwara of celestial vision that Vasudeva has got the quality of universal agreeableness—an agreeableness which is much greater than riches
 - 12. For a full thousand years this haddray practised the austreet penances and at last succeeded in pleaving the illustrious and thour giving. Shive that lord of all the mobile and the immobile universe.
 - 13 In every new cycle has Krishna pleased Mahadeva In every cycle has Mahadeva been pleased with the great devotion of the great Krishna
 - t4 Hari who limself is above all decay, saw the power of the great Mahadeva—that original cause of the univese, on the occasion of his penances in the retreat of Vadari undergone for getting a son 15 I do not, O Bharata see any one

- who is superior to Mahadeva Only Kiishna is competent to explain the names of that god of gods fully and without creating the desire of hearing more
- 16 This mighty-armed one of Yadu's race is alone competent to tell the qualities of the illustrious Si iva Verily, Oling, only he is able to describe fully the power of the Supreme god.

Vaishampayana said —

17. Having said these words, the illustrious Bhishma, the grandfather of the Kurus, a ldressing Vasudeva, said it following words describing the greatness of Bhava, O king.

Bhishma said :-

- 18. You are the Lord of all the gods and ite. Asuras. You are illustrious. You are visit to the entire timerse. You should describe those subjects connected with Shiva of inviversal form about which Yudhisthira has asled me.
- 19 In days of yore the Rishi Tandin, originated from Brahiman recited in Brahiman recited in Brahiman region and before Brahiman himself the thousand names of Mahadeva
- tg. Do you seems those names before this assemblage of Rishis baving asceticism for their wealth observant of high vows, possessed of self control, and numbering the Island born Krishna among them, may hear you
- 21 Do you discourse the high blessedness of Him who is immutable, who is always cheeful and happy, who is Hoter, who is the universal Protector, who is Creator of the universe, and who is called Mundin and Kaparddin.

Vasudeva said:-

- 22 The very gods with Indea, and the Grandfatter Brahman numbering among them, and the great Rishis also, cannot understand the course of Mahadeva's deeds truly and full.
- 23 Even He is the end which all righteous people gain. The very Adityas who are rifted with subtile sight, are imable 10 see his abode. How then can one who is merely a man succeed in comprehending Him?
- 24 I shall, therefore, truly recount to you some only of the qualities of that illustrious killer of Asuras, who is considered as the Lord of all sacrifices and yows.

Vaishəmpayana said:--

25 Having said these words, the illustrous Vasudeva began his discourse on the qualities of the great Mahadeva gitted with the highest intelligence, after having purified limiself by touching water.

Vasudeva said .-

26 Hear, ye foremost of Brahmanas, and you Yudhisthira also, O sire, and hear you too, O River's son the names which are applied to Kaparddin.

27. Hear, ye, how in days of yore. If gained a sight, so difficult to get, for the sake of Shamua. Verily, in those days was the illustrious god seen by me on account of Yoga-abstraction.

28. After twelve years 1 ad passed from the time when Pradyumna, the son of Rukmini, who is gifted with great intelligence, killed the Asura Shamwara in days of yore, my wife Jamwayan addir sed me 29—30 Indeed, seeing Pradyumna and

Charudeshua and other sons born of Ruknum, Januvavatt, desirius of a son, said these words to me, O Yudhisthira,— 30 Grant me, O you of undecaying

30 Grant me, O you of undecaying glory, a licton, son, the foremost of powerful men, possessed of the most lovely featurer sinless and like your self. And O, let there be no delay on your part in granting this prayer of mine!

31. Here is nothing in the three worlds which you cannot acquire! O perpetuator of Yadu's race, you can create other worlds it only you wish! Oberung a vow for twelve years and purifying yourself, you hadat worshipped the Lord of all creatures (zizs., Mahadevi), and then begotten upon Rukmin the sons that she has got from you vizs. Charudeshna and Sucharu and Charushravas and Charushravas and Pradymna and Shamblus.

34 O killer of Madhu do you grant me a son like those of great prowess whom you have begotten upon Rukmini.

35 Thus addressed by the princess, I replied to her having slender waist —Let me have your permission, O queen! I shall certainly obey your command.

37-40 She answered me, saying,—Go, and acquire success and 'prosperity!' Let Rivers, those goods was all Reshapas, the Rivers, those goods was all Reshapas, the Rivers, those Goods with the sol, all decalous herbs, those Cheahandes who are considered as beares of the hibations poured in sacrifices, the Rishs, Earth, the Oceans, the sacrificial presents, those syllables which are uttered for completing the cadences of Sannas, the Rikshas, the Platis, the Planets, the wives of the gods, the celestati madous, the celestati midous, the celestati midous, the self-statistic mothers, the great cycles, kine, Claudranas, Savitr Agni, Savith, the knowledge of the Vedas, the seasons, the year, the Kshonea, the Lavas, the Mineshas, and the Yugas in sincession, protect you, O Vadava, and keep you in a papuness, wherever you may lively and let no daired overtake you on you way, and let no dairelessness be thine, O sinless one.

41-42. Thus blessed by her, I took her leave, bidding farewell to the daughter of the prince of monkeys. Repairing them to the presence of that foremost of men, vir, my tather, of my mother, of the king, and of Abuka. I informed them of what the daughter of the king of the Vidyadharas, in great innery, had said to me. Bidding them farewell with a sorrowful heart, I then went to Gada and to Rama of great power. 47 These two Ladh, addressed me, saying,—Let your penances multiply without any hinderance.

44. Having got the permission of all of them, I thought of Garuda. He forthwith came to me and took me to Himavat. Arrived at Himavat, I sent him away.

45 There, on that foremost of mountains, I saw many wonderful speciacles I saw an excellent, wonderful, and agreeable hermitage for the practice of penances.

46 That charming retreat was the property of the great Upamanya who was a descendant of Vyaghrapada. That retreat is spoken highly of and respected by the gods and the Gandharvas and seemed to be covered with Vedic beauty.

47—49. It was adorted with Disava and Kasubhis and Koshims as and coosawith Kutuwakas and Ketakus and Jamwa and Patalus, with barnas and Vatunakas and Patalus, with barnas and Kutuwakas and Koshims and Palmas and Kabisas and Shalathas and Falmyras, with Vadars and Ingudis and Fulmagas and Ashidas and Annas and Kowidaras and Chempakas and Paranas and With various other trees having in and with various other trees having in the decked with the straight stems of the Muss Septents.

50. Iruly, that asylum was adorted with various other sorts of trees and with various kinds of fruits forming the food of various kinds of birds. Heaps of ashes were thrown in proper places all around, which enhanced the beauty of the scene.

5t. It was full of Rurus and apes and tigers and hons and leopards, deer of various species and peacocks and cats and snakes,

- from Mahadeva the power belonging to all the gods and enjoyed it for ten millions of years.
- 73 He who was the foremost of all his sons, and who was known by the name of Mandara, succeeded, through the boon he had got from Mahadeva, in fighting Shakra for a million of years
- 74. The terrible discus lof Vishnu and the thunderbolt of Indra were both unable to make the least impression, O Keshava, in days of yore, upon the body of that great source of universal misery.
- 75 The discus which you carry, O sinless one, was given to you by Mahadeva after he had killed a Daitya who, proud of his strength, used to live within the waters
- 76 I hat discus, effulgent as fire, was created by the great god having the bull for his emblem. Wonderful and irresistible in energy, it was given to you by that illustrious god.
- 77. On account of its blazing energy it was incapable of being looked at by any person except the holder of Pinaka. It was, therefore, that Bhava named it Sudarshanam.
- 78 From that time it passed by the name of Sudarshanam in all the worlds Even that weapon, D. Keshava, failed to make the least impression on the body of Hiranjakashpu's son Mandara, who appeared like an evil planet in the three worlds.
- 79 Hundreds of Chakras like 300 and thinderbolts like that of Shakra, could not nilled a scratch on the body of that evil planet gifted with great might who had accurred a boon from Mahadeva
- So Afflicted by the mighty Mandara, the gods fought hard against him and his companions, all of whom had got boons from Mahadeva,
- St. Pleased with another Danava named Vidyutprabbia, Mahadeva granted to him the sovereignty of the three worlds. That Danava remained the king of the three worlds for a hundred thousand years
- S2 And Mahadeva said to him —You will become one of my attendants —Indeed the powerful Lord further conferred upon him the boon of a hundred millions of children. The Unborn Lord of all creatures further give the Danava the region known as Kushadanja for his kingdom.
- 53 Another great Asura, named Shata-mukha, was created by Brahman. For a but fired years he poured on the sacrifical fire the flesh of his own body.

- 84. Pleased with such penances Shankara said to him,—What can I do for you,—Si atamukha replied, saying,—O you the most wonderful, let me have the power of creating new creatures and animals
- 85 Give also to me, O foremost of all gods everlasting power Thus addressed by him, the powerful lord said to lim,—So be it.
- 86 Concentrating his mind in Yoga, the Self create Brahman, in days of yore, made a sacrifice for three hundred years, with the object of getting children.
- 87. Mahadeva granted him a thousand sons having qualifications proportionate to the merits of the sac fice. Forsooth, you know O Krishna, the Lord of Yoga, him who is, who is sound by the gods.
- 88 The Rishi known by the name of Vajnavalkya is exceedingly virtuous. By worshipping Mahadeva he has gained great fame.
- 80 The great ascetic who is Parashara's son, vis, Vyasa bent on Yoga has become famous by worst ipping Shankara
- 90 The Valikhilyas were on a former occasion dishonored by Makhavat Filled with anger at this, if ey pleased the illustrious Rudra
- 91. That lord of the universe, that foremost one of all the gods, thus pleased by the Valithilyas, said to them —Ye shall succeed by your penances in creating a bird which will rob Indra of the Ambrosia.
- 92. All the waters disappeared through the anger of Mahadewa on a former crosssion. The Lods pleased I in by celebrating a sacrifice called "Spitakepala, and cauchthrough his faw ur oil er waters to flow into the worlds. Verily, when the it ree yed Lod, became pleased, water once more appeared in the world.
- 93 The wife of Atri, who was well read in the Vedas forsook her husband in anger and said -1 shall no longer his under that ascetic
- 94 Having said these words, she sought the protection of Mahadeva Through fear of her husband Atr, she passed three hundred years, abstaining from all food
- 95. And all this time she slept on wooden clubs for pleasing Bhava. The great god then appeared before her and then smilingly addressed her, saying, -- You will have a son.
- 96 And you will have that son without the help of a husbant, a mply through the favour of Rudea. For south that son, born in the family of his father, shall become rivers or in caves or on mountain-breasts, or in shrines and other places of the kind, we pass our time in the practice of penantices and the recitation of sacred Mantias, Shiva being our highest refuge. Without pleasing the boon giving Sthami of unde caying ylory,—him who is, who has three gives—whence, O child, can one get food prepared with milk and good desses and other objects of engojiment in the world? Do you devote yourself whole-inmedelly, O dars on, to Shaukara.

125-126 Fitrough his favour, O child, on are sure to obtain all such objects of wishes—Hearing those words of my mother, O destroyer of enemies, that day, I joined my hands in respect and bowing to her, said—O mother, who is this Mahadeva? How can one please him?

127 Where does that god live? How may he be seen? With what does he become pleased? What also is the form of Sharva? How may one succeed in knowing him? If pleased, will he, O mother, appear before me?

128. After I had said these words, O Krishna, to my mother, she, filled with par, rental affection, smelt my head, O Govinda, her eyes bathed in tears.

129 Gently patting my body, O destroyer of Madhu, my mother, adopting a tone of great humility, addressed me in the following words, O best of the gods.

My mother said :-

130. It is difficult for persons of impure souls to know Mahadeva I liese men are incapable of beating limi in their hearts or understanding him at all. I hey cannot retain him in their minds. They cannot seize him nor can they see him.

manifold Many are the places in which he lives. Many are the forms of his Grace.

132 Who is there who can understand in full all the excellent deeds of Isla, or of all the forms that he has assumed in days of vore?

133 Who can describe how Sharva sports and how he becomes pleased? Maheshwara of universal form lives in the hearts of all creatures.

134 While ascetics discoursed on the auspicious and excellent deeds of Ishana, I have heard from them I low, moved by mercy towards his worshippers, he grants them a sight of his body

135 For showing a favour to the Brahmaias, the dwellers of heaven have recited for their information the various forms which were assumed by Mahadeva in days of yore. You have asked me about these, I shall recite them to you. O son.

My mother said :-

136 Bhava assumes the forms of Brahman and Vishing and the king of the gods of the Rudras the Adityas, and the Astiwins, and of those gods called Vishwedevas.

is j. He assumes the forms also of met and women, of Pretas and Pishachas of Kira'as and Shavaras, and of all aquatic animals. That illustrious god assumes the forms of also those Shavaras who live in the woods and forests 138 He assumes the forms of tortoises and fishes and couchs He assumes the forms of those corals which are used as ornaments by men.

139 He assumes the forms of also

Yakshas and Rakshasas and Snakes, of Daityas and Danavas The illustrious god assumes the forms of all creatures too which live in holes

140. He assumes the forms of tigers

140. He assumes the forms of tigers and lions and deer, of wolves and bears and birds of owls and of jackals as well.

141 He assumes the forms of swans and crows and peacocks of chameleums and lizards and storks. He assumes the forms of cranes and vultures and Chakravakas.

142 He assumes the forms of Chasas and of mountains also O son, Mal adeva assumes the forms of kine and elephants and horses and camels and asses

143 He assumes the forms of also goats and pards and various other ammals Bhava assumes the forms of various kinds of birds of beautiful plumage.

144 It is Mahadeva who assumes the form of the Sanyasin bearing the Danda (emblem of mendeancy), and also of the king with the Chlatra and the Brahman with the Calabash. He sometimes becomes come of the company of th

145 And he sometimes assumes forms having many millions of legs and forms having numberless stomachs and faces, and forms gifted with numberless arms and numberless sides. He sometimes appears surrounded by numberless spirits and ghosts.

146 He assumes the forms of Rishes and Gandharvas, and of Siddhas and Charanas. He assumes a form which is

147. Adored with various hymns uttered oth various kinds of voice and adored oth various Manticas fraught with encounts, he who is sometimes called Stare, the Destroyer of all creatures in the niverse, and it is upon him, again, that ill creatures rest as on their common basis.

148. Mahadeva is the soul of all creatures. He pervades all things. He is the speaker of all subjects. He lives every where and should be known as living in the hearts of all creatures in the universe.

149 He knows the desire of every worshipper of his. He becomes acquainted with the object with which one pays him advantions. Do you, then, seek the protection of that king of the gods.

15. He sometimes reprices, and sometimes becomes it its, and sometimes the syllable fluor with a very load noise He sometimes arms himself with the drive its contenues with the trident, sometimes with the trident, sometimes with sometimes with the scientist, and sometimes with the hattle axe.

15.1 He assumes the form of Sheshia with the same the form of the hattle and the same the form of the hattle decked with earrings made of snakes form also the sacced thread he wears. An deplant seem is his upper wears. An deplant seem is his upper the mace, a metimes with the heavy mullers, garment.

152 He sometimes laughs and sometimes sings and sometimes dances must beautifully. Surrounded by numberless spirits and ghosts, he sometimes plays on musical instruments. Various are the instruments upon which he plays, and sweet the sounds they yield.

153 He sometimes wanders, sometimes yawns, sometimes cries, and sometimes causes others to cry He sometimes causes others to cry He sometimes assumes the gaine of a mad man, and sometimes of a mad man, and trues utters sweet words.

151 Pudued with deadful fierceness,

154. Findued with dreadful fierceness, he sometimes laught loudly, frightening all creatures with his eyes. He sometimes sleeps and sometimes remains awake, and sometimes yawns as he pleases.

155 He sometimes recites sacred Mantres and sometimes bosomes the god of those Mantras which are recited. He sometimes practives manners and sometimes becomes the god for whose adoration those pensures are practised. He sometimes makes gifts and sometimes secures those gifts; sometimes disposes himself in Yoga and sometimes becomes the object of the Yoga of others.

156 He may be seen on the sacrificial platform or in the sacrificial stake, in the 156 He may be seen on the sacrifical platform or in the sacrificial stake, in the midst of the cowpen or in the fire. He may not again be seen there. He may be seen as a boy or as an old man.

157. He sports with the daughters and the wives of the Rishis His hair is long and erect He is perfectly nude for he has the horizon for his dress. He has has the horizon for his dress. He has terrible eyes. 158 He is fair, he is darkish, he is dark, he is pale, he is of the color of dark, he is pale, he is of the color of smoke, and he is red. He has eyes large and terrible. He has empty space for his covering and he covers all things.

150 Who is there that can truly understand the limits of Mahadeva who is form-less, who is made up of illusion, who is of the form of all actions in the universe, who assumes the form of Hranyagharbha, and who is without beginning and end, and

16) He lives in the heart (of every greature) He is the vital air, he is the initial and he is the individual soul. He is the soul of Yoga, and he is the Yoga meditation into which Yogas enter. He is the Yoga meditation into boul, indeed, Maheshwirt as capable of being apprehended not by the senses but through only the Soul sezione, his existince.

161 He plays on various musical instruments. He is a vocalist. He has a hundred thousand eyes He has one mouth, he has two mouths, he has three

162 Devoting yourself to him, fixing your heart upon him, depending upon him, and accepting him as your one reinge, do you, O son, worship Mahadeva and then all your wishes will bear fruits!

163 Hearing those words of my mother, t O destroyer of enemies from that day my devotion was directed in Mahadeva, liaving nothing else for its object.

164 I, then, began the practice of the ansterest penances for pleasing Shankara, for one thousand years I stood on my left.

105. After that I passed one thousand years, hiring only upon fruits. The next one thousand years I passed, hiring upon the fallen leaves of trees. The next thousand years I passed, hiring upon water.

166 After that I passed seven hundred years, living on air only. In this way I

3 Z

167-163. After this, the powerful Mishadeve the Lord of all the universe became promittated with me. Desirous of determining whether I was solely devoted to him only, he appeared belo e me in the form of Shakra surrounded by all the go is celebrated Shakra he had a thousand eves on his body and was armed with the thunderholt. 162 And he rode on an elephant which was entirely white, with eyes red, ears folded, the temporal juice trickling down his cheeks, with trank contracted, dreadful to look at, and having four tusks. Indeed riding on such in elephant, the illustrious king of the gods seemed to shine with his energy. With a bentuful crown on his bead and advened with garlands round his neck and bracelets round his arms, he

171. A white umbrella was held over his head. And he was served by many Apsaras, and many Gandharvas sang his ntaise.

came where I was

172. Addressing me he said -O faremost of twice borns, I have been pleased with you Beg of me whatever boon you wish 173-174 Hearing these words of

Shakra I was not glad lened O Krishna,

I answered the king of the gids in these words .- I do not wish any bom from you, or from any other god O amiable deity, I tell you truly that it is Mahadeva only from whom I may ask for boons. True it is O Shaara true are those words that I say to you No other words are at all agreeable to me except those about Maheshwara

176 Commanded by that Lord of all creatures I am ready to become a worm or a tree with many branches If not acquired through the favour of Mahadeva's boons I would not accept the very sovereignty of the three worlds.

177. I may be born among the very Shwapakas but I will still be devoted to the feet of Hara! Without, again, being devoted to that Lord of all creatures, I would not like to be born in the palace of Indra himself.

If a person has no devotion to that Lord of the universe,-that Master of the gods and the Asuras -his misery will not terminate even if from want of food he has to live upon only air and water.

Those persons who do not like to live even a moment without thinking of Mahadeva's feet, have no necessity of other worshipped Mahadeva for a full thousand i subjects fraught with other kinds of morality and cighteousness.

> Wien the unrighteous or sinful cycle comes, one should never pass a moment without devoting his heart upon Mahadeva One who has drunk the ambrossa of the devotion to Hara, comes freed from the fear of the world.

> tSt. One, who has not acquired the fayour of Mahadeva can never succeed to devote himself to Mahadeva for a single day or for half a day or for a moment or for a Kahana or for a Lava.

Ordered by Mahadeya I shall 182 cheerfully become a worm or an insect, but I do not desire for even the sovereignty of the three worlds if bestowed by you, O Sakra.

183. At the word of Hara I would become even a dog. In fact, that is my highest wish. If not given by Malieshwar s I would not have the sovereignty of the very gods.

I do not wish to have this celestral dominion I do not desire to have the so vereignty of the gods I do not wish to have the region of Brahman, Indeed 1 do not wish to have that extinction of individual existence which is called Liberation and which is a complete oneness, with Brahma. But I want to become the slave of Hara.

185. As long as that Lord of all creatures, the illustrious Mahesha with crown on his head and body white like the lunar disc, does not become pleased with me, so long shall I cheerfulty bear all those miseries consequent upon a hundred repentions of decrepitude, death and birth, which embodied beings come by.

What persons in the universe can acquire tranquillity without pleasing Rudra who is freed from decrepitude and death, who is effulgent like the Sun, the Moon, or the Fire, who is the root or original cause of everything real and unreal in the three worlds, and who exists as the one indivisible?

187. If on account of any faults, I come by re-boths I shall, in those new births, devote myself solely to Bhava.

Indra said:-

188 What are your grounds for the existence of a Supreme Being or for His being the cause of all causes ?

Upamanyu said —

189 I beg boons from Him whom Brahmavadins have described as existent and non-existent, manifest andu nmanifest, eternal or immutable, One and many.

- 190 I heg boons from Him who is without beginning and inidide and end, who is Kinwledge and Power, who is inconceivable and who is the Supreme Soul.
- 191. I pray for boons from Han whence is all Power who has not been produced by any one, who is immutable, and who, though himself not spring from any seed, is the seed of all things in the universe.
- 102. I pray for boons from Huu who is above the quality of Darkness who is blazing Effidigence, who is the essence of all penances, who is above all our faculties and which we may devote for the purpose of comprehending hum, and by knowing whom every one becomes liberated from giref or sorrow.
- 193 I adore him, O Purandara, who is conversant with the creation of all elements and the thoughts of all living creatures, and who is the original cause of the existence or creation of all creatures, who is omnipresent, and who has the power to give everything.
- 101-105 I pray for boons from Him who cannot be comprehended by argument, who is the object of the Sandhya and the Voga systems of philosophy, and who is above all things, and whost all persons conversant with the topics of enquiry, addre, I pray for boons from Him, O Maghavat, who is the soul of Maghavat who is the soul of Maghavat who is the Soul of all creatures and who is the Master of all creatures.
- 196. I pray for boons from Him who it was that first created Brahman, that creatur of all the worlds, having filled. Ether (with His energy) and called into being the primeval egg.
- 107. Who else than that Supreme Lord could have created Fire, Water, Wind, Earth, Space, Mind, and the principle of Greatness.
- 198 Telline, O Shakra, who else than Shiva could create Mind, Understanding, Fey, the subide elements and, the surres? Who is there higher than Shiva?
- 199 The wise say that the Grandfather Bishiman is the creator of this universe. Brahiman however, got his great power and prosperity by wishipping and gratifying Mahadeva, that G d of gods.
- 200. That great power, which is in that illustrous Brind, who created Brahman, Vishini, and Riidra, was derived from Mahadeva. I tell me who is there who is superior to the Supreme Loud?
- 211. Who else than that God of gods rean bestow upon the sons of Din lordship and power judging by the sourceguly

- and the power of oppressing given to the foremost of the Dastyas and the Dassyas?
- 102 The cardinal points, Time, the Sun, all luminous bodies, planets, wind, water, and the stars and constellations, are all from Mahadeva. Tiell us who is the higher than the Supreme Lord?
- 203 Who else is there, than Mahadeva, in the creation of Sacrifice and the destruction of Fripura? Who else than Mahadeva has grinded the enemies, comma into contact with the Daityas and the Danavas?
- 204. What oncessing, O Purandara, is there of giving, vent to tall talks full of so-phistry when I see you of a thousand eyes, O best of the gods.
- 205. You who are adored by Siddhas and Gandharvas and the dettes and the Rishis? O best of the Kushikas, all this is due to the favour of that God of gods, vis, Mahadeva.
- 200 Know, O Keshava, that this all, consisting of animate and nammate creation with heaven and other unseen creation, which are in these woulds, and which has the all pervading Lord for its 500l, has emanated from Maheshawar and has been created for enjoyment of the individual soul.
- 207. In the worlds that are known but the names of Blu. Bluva, Swal, and Maha, in the modat of the incounsins of Love-Joke, m the stands, in the mountains of Mera, in all things which produce happiness, and in the hearts of all creature. O illustrious Maghavat, lives Mahadeva, as held by persons conversant with all the topics of enquiry.
- 208 If, O Shakra, the gods and the Asuras could see any other preeful Being than Bhava, would not both of them, especially, the former when opposed and expressed by the latter, have sought the projection of that Being?
- 209 In all battles of the gods, the Yakshas, the Uragas, and the Rakshasas, which end in mutual destruction, it is Bhaya who gives to those who meet with destruction power befitting their position and acis.
 - 270. Tell me, who clee than Mahesiwaras is there for tendering boons upon, and once more taking them away from Andlaka and Shukra and Dunduhis and Mahisha and mary foremost of Yakahasa and Vala and Rakshasas and the Nesta-kayachas?
- 211. Was not the seminal fluid of Maladera, that Matter of both the gods and the Asuras, poured as a libation upon the fire? From that seed originated a mountain of gold. Who else is there whose seed can be said to be possessed of such power.

212. Who else in this world is described as having the torizon only for his dress? Who else can be said to be a celibate with vital seed drawn up? Who else is there who has half his body occupied by his dear wife. Who else is there who that have the who has been able to subugate Cupid?

213 lell me, O Indra, what other Being possesses that high region of supreme happiness which is highly spoken of by all the dettes? Who else has the crematorium as its play ground? Who else is there who is so lauded for his dancing?

214 Whose worship and power remains unchangeable? Who else is there who plays with spirits and ghoits. Tell me, O god, who else has companions who are possessed of strength like is own and who are therefore, proud of that strength or power?

215 Who else is there whose place is described as unchangeable and adored with reverence by the three worlds? Who else is there who pours rain, gives heat, and blazes forth in Energy?

216 From whom else do we get our precious herbs? Who else upholds all kinds of riches Who else sports as much as he likes in the three worlds of mobile and immobile things?

217 O Indra, know Maheshwara to be the original Cause. He is worst ipped by Yogins by Rishis, by the Gandharvas, and by the Siddhas, with the lelp of k owledge, of success, and of the rites laid down in the scriptures.

218 He is worshipped by both the gods and the Asuras with the help of sacrifices by acts and the ritual ladd down in the scriptures. The fruits of action can never touch hin for he is above them all. Being such, I call him the original cause of everything.

219 He is both gross and subtile. He is perfess. He ca mot be comprehended by the senses. He is endured with qualities and he is shorn of them. He is the lord of qualities for they are under his control Even such is Mahesliwara's place.

220 He is the cause of the continuance and the creation (of the universe). He is therease if the universe and the cause also of its destruction. He is the Past, the Present, and the Cause. He is the parent of all things. He is the cause of every

221 He is mutable, he is the inmanilest he is Knowledge, he is Ignorance, he is every deed, he is every omission, he is virtue, and he is sin O Shakra, do I call Him the cause of everything

222 See, O Indra, in the image of Mahadeva the marks of both the sexes that god of gods ors. Ru Ira, that cause of both creation and destruction shows in his form the marks of both the sexes as the one cause of the creation of the injurerse.

223 My mother formerly told me that he is the cause of the universe and the one cause of everything. There is no one who is higher than Isha. O Shakra. If it pleases you, do you throw yourself on his kindness and protection.

22. You have evidence, O king of the gods, of the fact that the inverse has originated from the union of the sexes. The universe has originated from the union of the sexes. The universe you know, is the sum of what has upualities and what has not them and has qualities and what has not them and the rist summediate cause the sexel of Brahman and others. Brahman and Indra and Hursha and Vistinu and all the other gods along with the Daityas and the Asuras, having the fruitism of a thousand desi es, always say that there is none who is higher than Maliadeva.

225 Moved by desire, I solicit, with controlled mind that god known to all the mobile and immobile universe—him, will is, who has been described as the best and highest of all the celestials and who is auspiciousness sitelf—for getting forth with talt tightest of all and sustainen, see, I thera-

226 What necessity is there of other reasons? The great Mahadeva is the cause of all causes. We have never leard that the celestrals have at any time worst upped the emblem of any other god than Mahadeva.

227 If Maheswara be not accepted tell me, if you have ever heard of it who else is there whose emblem has been adored or is being adored by all the celestials?

228 That god is indeed, the most worshipful of all celestials whose emblem Brahma, Vishnu you, O Indra, with all the other gods, always adore

229 Brahman has for his emtlem the lotus Vishou has for his the discus Indica has for his the thinder-both. But the creatures of the world do not fevr and of the signs which mark these celestials. On the other loand all creatures bear the users which mark Mahadeaa and his conset.

Hence, all creatures must be considered as belonging to Maheshwara,

- 230. All female creatures, have originated from Uma, and hence at stipplaye the mark of femenumy which characteristse Uma, while all masculne creatures, who have originated from Shiva hear the masculne mark that marks Shiva, out. That person who holds that there is, in the three worlds with their mobile and numobile creatures, any other cause than the Supreme Lord, and that which is not marked with the mark of either Mahadewa or his wife, should be considered as very wretched and should not be numbered with the creatures of the universe.
- 231. Every being liaving the mark of the masculine sex should be known to be of Ishana, while every being with themark of the feminine sex should be known as belonging to Uma. This universe of mobile and immobile creatures is pervaded by two forms (vin., male and lemale).
- 232. It is from Mahadeva that I wish to get boons. Not getting this, O Kaushika, I would rather prefer dissolution itself. Go or remain, O Shakra, as you like, O slayer of Vala.
- 233. I wish to have boons or curses from Mahadeva. No. I shall not acknowledge any other god. Nor would I have my desires fulfilled from any other detty.
- '234. Having said these words to the king of the celestrals, I became stricken with greet thinking that Mahadeva had not been propitiated despite my severe austeetites.
- 235—236 Within the twinkling of an eye, however, i saw the celestial elephant I that seen before me changed into a bull as white as a swan, or the Jasminum pubocoms, or a stelle of the lotus, or silver, or the test sail was the sail of the lotus, or silver, or the test sail was black and the color of its eyes was twany like that of honey.

 217 Its horns were hard as adamant
- and took but of gold. With their very sharp ends, whose fue was a initd red, the bull appeared to tear the Earth. 238 Hie animal was bedecked all over
- with ornaments made of the purest gold lis face and hoofs and nose and ears were beautiful and its waist too well-formed.
- 230 Its flanks were beautiful, and its neck was very tluck its whole form was beautiful to look at. Its hump was charming and seemed to occupy the whole of its shoulder-joint,
- 240 And it looked like the summit of a snow-clad mountain or like a cliff of white

- clouds in the sky. Upon the back of that animal I saw seated the illustrious Mahadeva with his wife Uma.
- 241—242. Mahadeva shone like the fullmoon. The fire born of his energy shone in effugience like lightning that flashes amid clouds. It seemed as if a thousand sura rase there, filling every quarter with a dazzling splendour. It hat energy of the Supreme Lord looked like the Samvartaka fire which destroys all creatures at the end of the Yuga.
- * 243 Pilled to the fill with that energy, the horizon became such that I could not see anything on any side. Filled with anxiety I once more thought that it could mean.
- 244. That energy, however, did not pervade every side for a long time, for soon, through the illusion of that god of gods, the horizon became clear.
- 245 I then saw the illustrious Sthanu or Maheshwara, seated on the back of his buil, of blessed and sweet appearance and looking like a smokeless fire.
- 246 And the great god was accompanied by Parvati of perfect features. Indeed, I saw the blue throated and great Sthanu unattached to everything, that receptacle of all sorts of energy or force, having eighteen arms, and bedecked with all sorts of ornaments.
- 249. Clad in white robes, he wore white garlands, and had white unquents smeared upon his person. His banner, irresistible in the universe, was white The thread round his body was also white.
- 2.18 He was encircled by companions all endued with prowess equal to his own, who were singing or dancing or playing on various musical instruments.
- 249 A crescent moon, of pale color, formed his crown, and put on his forchead it looked like the moon which rises in the autumnal sky. He seemed to dazzle with splendour on account of his three eyes y which booked like three suns.
 - 250. The garland, of the purest white, that was on his body, should like a wreath of foluses, of the purest white, adorned with tewels and gems
 - 251. I also saw, O Govinda, the weapons, in their embodied forms and fraught with every sort of energy, that belong to Bhave of peerless provess.
- 252 The great god field a rainbowcolored bow. That bow known as Pinaka as is in reality a powerful snake.
 - 253 Indeed, that snake of seven heads and huge body, of sharp fails and virulent venom, of large neck and the masculine sex, was twined round with the cord that served as its bowstring.

551-255. And there was an arrow which shane like that of the sum or of the fire that appears at the end of the cycle. Verily, that arrow was the excellent Pashupata, that mighty and dreadful weapon, which is without a second, indescribable for its power, and capable of terrorising every creature. Of huge proportions, it seemed to constantly emit sparks of fice.

256 Having one foot, large teeth, and a thousand heads and thousand stomachs, it had a thousand arms, a thousand tongues, and a thousand eyes Indeed, it seemed to continually emit fire.

- 257 O you of great arms, that weapon is superior to the Brahma, the Narayana, the Aindra, the Agneya, and the Varina weapons Indeed, it is capable of neutralising every other weapon in the univise.
- 258 It was with that weapon that the great Mahadeva had, formerly burnt and consumed in a moment the triple city of the Asuras. With the greatest ease, O Govinda, M shadeva, using that single arrow, performed that leat.
- 259 That weapon, discharged by Mahadeva's arms, can, forsooth, consume in half the time taken up by a twinching of the eye the entire universe with all its mobile and immobile creatures.
- 263. In the universe there is no one including, even Brahman and Vishnu and the celestrals, who cannot be killed by that weapon. O sire, I saw that excellent, wonderful and peerless weapon in the hand of Mahadeva,
- 261. There is another mysterious and very strong weapon which is eqial or, perhaps, superior to the Pashupata. I saw that also It is known in all the worlds as the Shula of the Shula-armed Mahadeva.
- 262. Hurled by the illustrous god, that weapon can rive the entire Earth or dry up the waters of the ocean or annihilate the entire universe.
- 263 Formerly Yuvanashwa's son, king Mandhatri, that conqueror of the three worlds, having imperial sway and gifted with profuse in rgx, was, with all his armies, killed by means of that weapon.
- 264 Gifted with great might and great energy and resembling Shakra himself in growess, that king. O Greinda, was killed by the Rakshasa Lavana with the help of Its Shula which he had got from Shiya.

265. That Shula is keen-pointed Highly terrible, it is capable of causing everybody's hair stand erect. I beheld it in the hand of Mahadeva, as if ruaring with anger, having contracted its forehead into three windles.

266. It resembled, O Krishna, a smokeless fire or the sun that rises at the end of the cycle. The handle of that Shula was made of a great snake. It is really indescribable. It loked like the universal Destreyer armed with his noose, 267—263 I saw this weapon, O Govinda, in the hand of Mahadeva I saw also another weapon, 11s, that sharp-edged battle-axe which, was given formely unto Rama by Mahadeva for enabling lum to root out the Kshatriyas. It was with this weapon that Rama killed in dreadful battle the great Karttavityya who was the king of the entire world.

- 269 It was with that weapon that Jamadagni's son, O Govinda, was able to root out the Kshatriyas for twenty-one times.
- 270 Of blazing edge and highly terrible, that axe was hanging on the shoulder, adorned with a snake of Mahadeya, Indeed, it appeared on Mahadeya's body like the flame of a burning fire
- 271. I saw with the highly intelligent Maliadeva numberles other celestial weapons. I have, however, named only a few principal ones, O stolless one.
- 272 On the left side of the great god stood the Grandfather Brahman seated on an excellent car to which were joked swans fi et-coursing like the mind.
- 273 On the same side was Narayana also, seated on Garuda and bearing the couch, the discus, and the mace.
- 274 Near the goddes Uma was Skanda seated on his peacock, bearing his dreadful arrow and bells, and looking like another Fire-God
- 275 Before Mahadeva I saw Namh standing armed with his Shula and looking like a second Shankara.
- 276 The Munis headed by the Selfcreate Manu, and the Rishis having Bhrigu for their first, and the gods with Shakra at their head, all cume there.
- 277 All the clans of spirits and ghosts, and the celestial Mothers, stood surrounding Mahadeva and saluting him with respect.
- 278 The gods were engaged in singing the praises of Milhadeva in various hymns. The Grandfather Brahman, uttering a Rathantara, landed Mahadeva.

279 Uttering the Jyeshtha Saman Narayana also sang the praises of Bhava, Shakra also did the same with the help of those foremost of Vedic Mantras, bis, the Shata-Rudriyam.

280 Verily, Brahman and Narayana and Shakra,—those three great gods shone there like three sacrificial fires.

28t. In their midst was the illustrious god like the sun in the midst of his corona, come from autumnal clouds.

282. I saw countless suns and moons also in the sky, O Keshava. I then lauded the illustrious Lord of everything, the Great Master of the universe.

Upamanyu said :—

283. I said, —Salutations to you, O illustrious one, O you who are the refuge of all things, O you who are called Mahadeva I Salutations to you who assume the form of Shakra, who are Shakra and who disguise yourself in the form of Shakra.

284 Salutations to you who are armed with the thunder, to you who are twany, and you who are red Salutations to you who are always armed with the Pinaka, to you who always bear the conch and the Shula,

285 Salutations to you who are clad in black to you who are of dark and curly hair, to you who have dark deer-skin for your upper garment, to you who preside over the eighth lunation of the dark fortnight,

286 Salutations to you who are of white flue, to you who are called white, to you who are clad in white dress, to you who have hints smeared with white ashes, you who are ever engaged in white deeds

287 Salutations to you who are red in color, to you who are clad in red dress, to you who lave a red banner with red flags, to you who wear red garlands and use red ting cents.

283. Salutations to you who are brown culvered, to you who we clead we brown dead to brown beauting to you who leave a brown banner will brown flegs to you who wear brown garlands will brown inguents. Salutations to you who have the unbrella of royalty held; you your leand, to you who wear the foremost of crowns.

289 Salutations to you who are adorned with half a garland and half an armlet, to you who are decked with one ring for one ear, to you who are endued with the spred of the mind, to you who are highly efful-tent

290 Salutations to you who are the foremost of gods, to you who are the foremost of Munis to you who are the foremost of celevitals? Salutations to you who wear half a wreath of lotuses, to you who have many lotuses on your body.

291. Salutations to you who have half your body smeared with sandal paste, to you who have half your body decked with garlands of flowers and smeared with fragment unguents.

292. I bow to you who are bright hued hike the Sun, to you who are like the Sun, to you whose face is like the Sun, to you who have eyes each of which is like the Sun.

293 I how to you who are Soma, to you who are as mild as Soma, to you who bear the funar disc, to you who are of funar aspect, to you who are the foremost of all creatures to you who are adorned with most beautiful teeth.

294 I how to you who are of a dark complexion, to you who have a form half of which is yellow and half white, to you who have a body half of which is male and half female, to you who are both male and female.

205-66 I how to you who have built for your welned, to you who proceed riding on the foremost of elephants, to you who are capable of going to places unapproachable by others I how to you who are saing by the Ganas, to you who are devoted to the various Ganas, to you who follow the who are all ways devoted to the Ganas at you who follow the who are allways devoted to the Ganas at so a yow.

297. I bow to you who are of the complexion of white clouds, to you who lave the splendour of the evening clouds to you who are incapable of being described by names, to you who are of your own forth.

298 I bow to you having a garland of red color, to you who are clad in robes of red.

299 I have to you whose crown is see with gents, to you who are adorned with a crescent, to you who wear many beautiful gents in your disdem, to you who have eight flowers on your head.

300. I bow to you who have a fiery mouth and fiery eyes, to you who have eyes effulgent like a thousand moons, to you who are of the form of fire, to you who are beautiful and agreeable, to you who are inconcervable and injusterious.

301 I bow to you who range in the sky, to you who delight in living in pasture-grounds, to you who walk on the Earth, to you who are the Earth, to you who are infinite, to you who are highly auspicious.

302 I bow to you who are nude, to you who make a happy home of every place where you may happen to be for the time being I bow to you who have the universe for your home, to you who have both Knowledge and Felicity for your Soul

303, I bow to you who always wear a diadem, to you who wear a large armlet, to you who have a snake for the garland round your neck, to you who wear many beautiful ornaments on your body.

3n4 I bow to you who have the Sun, the Moon, and Agni for your three eyes to you who have a thousand eyes, to you who are both male and female, to you who are divested of sex, to you who are a Sankhya, to you who are a Yogin.

305 I bow to you who are the grace of those gods who are adored in sacrifices, to you who are the Atharvans, to you who remove all sorts of disease and pain, to you who remove every sorrow.

3 6 I bow to you who roar as deep as the clouds, to you who display diverse kinds of illusions, to you who lord over the soil and over the seed that is sown in it, to you who are the Creator of everything.

I bow to you who are the Lord of

- all the deities, to you who are the Master of the universe, to you who are fleet like the wind, to you who are of the form of the wind,

 303 I bow to you who wear a garland of jold, to you who play on hills and moun-
- of 1,01d, to you who play on hills and mountains, to you who are adored by all who are enemies of the gods, to you who are endued with fierce speed and energy.
- 309 I bow to yo t who cut off one of the heads of the Grandfather Brahman to you who have kiled the Asura named Mahisha, to you who have three forms, to you who liave every form
- 310 I how to you who are the destroyer of the triple city of the Asuras, to you who are the destroyer of (Dasha's) sacrifice, to you who are the destroyer of the person of Kama (the god of love) to you who hold the rod of destruction.
- 311. I how to you who are Skinda, to you who are Visakha, to you who are the rod of the Brahmana to you who are Bhava, to you who are Sarva, to you who are of universal form.
- 312 I bow to you who are Ishana, to you who are the destroyer of Bhaga, to you who are the slayer of Antitaka to you who are the universe, to you who are possessed of illusion, to you who are both conceivable and inconceivable

313. You are the one end of all creatures, you are the foremost, you are the heart of everything You are the Brahman of all the gods, you are the Red and Blue of the Rudeas.

314. You are the Soul of all creatures, you are the called Purusha in the Sankhya philosophy, you are the Rishava among all sacred things, you are the auspicious of the Yogins which, according to them, is indivisible.

315 Amongst those who follow the different modes of life, you are the House-holder, you are the great Lord amongst the patriarctis. You are Kuyera among all the Yakshas, and you are Vishnu amongst all the sacrifices.

316 You are Meru amongst mountains, you are the Moon among all fuminaries of the sky, you are Vashishtha amongst Rishis, yor are the Sun among the planets.

317. You are the lion among all the beasts, and the bull adored of all among all destination animals.

318 Among the Addyas you are Vishnu (Upendra) among the Vasus, you are Pavaka, among birds you are Garuda, and among snakes you are Ananta. 319 Among the Vedas you are the Samans, among the Vajushes you are the Shata-Rudryam, among Yogins you are Sanatkumara, and among Sankhyas you are Kapila.

320 Among the Maruts you are Shakra, among the Pitris you are Devarat, among all the regions you are the region of Brah man, and you are emancipation amongst all the ends of creatures.

321. Of all occans you are the Occan of Milk, among all mountains you are the Himavat, among all the castes you are the Brahmanas, and among all fearned Brahmanas you are the who has undergone the

321. You are the Sun among all things in the world, you are the destroyer called Kala. You are whatever clse gifted with superior energy or eminence existing in the minverse.

unitiation.

323. You are endued with supreme power. His is my certain conclusion I how to you. O powerful and illustrious over. O you who are kind to all your worshippers.

324 I how to you, O ford of Yogins I how to you O original Cause of the universe. Be you pleased with me that are your worshipper, that am very miserable and helpless

- 325 O Eternal Lord, "do you become the reluge of this adorer of yours who is very weak and miserable! O Supreme Lord, you should pardon me for all the sins I have committed taking mercy on me for my being your devoted worshipper.
- 326. I am stupefied by you O Lord of all the gods, on account of the disguise in which you appeared before me O Maheshwara, I did not give you the Arghya or water to wash your feet
- 327. Having sung thus the praises of Ishana, I offered him, with great devotion, water to wash his feet and the articles of the Arghya, and then, with joined hands I resigned myself to him, ready to carry out his command
- 328 Then, O sire, an auspicious shower of flowers dropped upon my head, carrying celestial tragrance and bedewed with cold water.
- 329 The divine musicians began to play on their kettle drums A delicious breeze fragrant and sweet, began to blow and fill me with pleasure.
- 330—331 Then Mahadeva accompanaed by his wife, and having the builf for his emblem, having been pleased with me, addressed the detites assembled there in these words, filling me with great joy,—Debild ye gods the devotion of the great Upamanyu Indeed, sleady and great is that devotion, and entirely fixed, for it remains unaltered
- 332-333 Thus addressed by the great Of God armed with the Shula, the gods Of Krishna, I swing bowed down to him and opined their hands in respect, said these words—O illustrious one, O God of the gods O Lord of the universe, O Lord of all, let this best of twice born persons obtain term you the fruition of all his desires!
- 334 Thus addressed by all the gods with the Grandfather Brahman among them Sharva, otherwise called Isha and Shankara, said these words, as if smiling, to me

The illustrious Shankara said -

- 335 O'dear Upamanyu' I am pleased with you. See me, O foremost of ascetics! O learned Rishs, you are firmly devoted to me and you have been well tested by me.
- 336 I have been very highly pleased with you on account of this your devotion to Shiva I shall, therefore give you to-day the fruition of your desires.

- 337 Thus addressed by the highly wise Mahadeva, tears of joy came into my eyes and my hair stood erect
- 338 Kneeling down to him and bowing to him repeatedly, I then with a voice that was suppressed with joy, said to him.
- 339 O illustrious god, it appears to me that I was hitherto dead and that it is only to day that I have taken my birth, and that my birth has to-day borne fruit, since I am standing row in the presence of Him who is the Master of both the gods and the Asuras I
- 340 Who else is more praiseworthy than I, since I am seeing with these eyes of mine Him of immeasurable prowess whom the very gods are inable to see without first paying hearty worship?
- 347—342. The learned and the wise consider that as the highest of all topics, which is Eternal which is distinguished from all else, which is simborn which is Knowledge, which is indestructible, at one with you, of powerful and illustrous one, you who are the beginning of all the topics, you who are distinguished the property of the property of the property of the property of the foremost of Purushas, you who are the highest of the high.
- 313 You who had created from your tight side the Grandfather Brahman, the Creator of all things, you are he who had created from your left-side Vishnu for protecting the Granton.
- 343—345. Von are that powerful Lord, the cold create Rudra when the end of the cycle came and when the Creation was once more to be destroyed. I had had a more made from you destroyed by the Creation was a compared from you destroyed the Creation and the Creation of the
- 346 You are that Mahadeva who is the original Creator of the interess with all its mobile and immobile creatures. You are he who at the end of the zion, stands, withdrawing all things into yourself.
- 347 You are he who pervades all things, you are the Soul of all things, you are the Creator of it per uples Incapable of being beheld by even any of the gods, you are he who exists, pervading all principles
- 348 II, O Lord, you have been pleased with me and if you would grant me boons let this be the boon, O Lord of all the gods changed.

349 O best of the gods, let me through your grace, have knowledge of the Present, the Past, and the Future.

350 I shall also, with all my kinsmen and friends, always eat food mixed with milk And let your illustrious self be for ever present at our gifted hermitage. 351. Thus addressed by me, the illus-

351. This addressed by me, the illustrous Maheshwara gifted with supreme energy, that Master of all mobile and immobile creations, vis., Sliva, adored of all the universe, then said to me these words.

The Illustrious God said :-

352 Be free from every misery and pain and be above decreptude and death. Be gifted with fame, be endued with great energy, and spiritual knowledge.

353 You shall through my grace, be always sought by the Rishis. Be your behaviour good and righteous. May you possess all attibutes and universal knowledge. Be you of agreeable appearance.

354—355 May you possess everlasting youth, and let your energy be like that of fire Whenever, again, you may wish for the presence, which is so agreeable to you of the ocean of milk, there shall that ocean appear before you. Do you, with your friends, always obtain lood prepared with milk, with the celestial nectar being mixed with it.

356. After the expiration of an 200 you will enjoy my company. Unending shall be your family and race and kinsmen.

357. O foremost of twice-born ones your devotion to me shall be eternal. And, O best of Brahmanas I Shall always be present at your hermitage.

358 Live, O son, wherever you like shorn of anxiety. I hought of by you I shall, O learned Brahmana, appear before you again.

355 Having said these words, and granted me these boons, the illustrious Ishana, effulgent like millions of Suns, disappeared there and then

360. It was even, O Krishna, that I saw, with the help of austere penances, that God of gods. I also got all that was said by the great God endued with supreme nitellinence

301. See, O Krishna, before your eyes, these Siddhas fiving here and these Rishis and Vidyadharas and Yakshas and Gandharvas and Apsaras.

362. See these trees and creepers and plants yielding all sorts of flowers and fents. See them bearing the flowers of every season, with beautiful leaves, and spreading a sweet smell all around.

. 363 O you of mighty arms, all these are gifted with a celestial nature through the lavour of that god of gods, that supreme Lord, that great Detty.

Vasudeva continued:

301—365. Hearing these words of his and seeing, as it were, with my own eyes all that the had described to me. I became filled with wonder I then addressed the Hig Jy prasseworthy as you are, O foremost of learned Brahmanas, for what righteous man is there except you whose retreat enjoys the distinction of being honored with the presence of that God of gods.

366 Will the powerful Shiva, will the great Shankara, O chief of ascetics, grant me also a sight of his body and show me favour?

Upamanyu said :---

367. Forsooth, O you having eyes lik lotus petals, you will very soon see Maha deva as, O sinless one, I succeeded in seeing him.

363 O you of immeasurable provess I see with my spiritual eyes that you what the sixth month from this, succeed it getting a sight of Mahadeva, O best of all persons.

369. You, O foremost of the Yadut will obtain from Maheshwara and his wife twenty-four boons. I tell you what is true.

370. Through the favour of that Detty guted with supreme wisdom, I know the Past, the Future, and the Present.

371—372 The great Hara has favoured these thousands of Rishus and others Why will not the powerful Detty show favour to you, O Madnava 1 Talways like the unetage of bigging as diseased as done not like you, why devoted to the Brahmanas, who had you certain Maintan Recite them could not the standard of the standard of occupied with talk on Mahadeva.

The blessed Vishnu said :-

373? I then said to him,—O twice-horn one, through your layour, O great ascetic, I shall see the lord of the deties, that gimder of Duty numbers some of Diti's numberless sons.

374. Eight days, O Bharata, passed there like an hour, all of us being thus

*335. On the ciplul day, I underwent it minimum according to due rites, at the hands of that Brahmana I received the staff from his lands I went throm his lands I went throm his lands I went throm to fix his base I took up a quantity of Kusha blades in my hand I were rare or my raiments I rubbed my person with lartified butter. I put a cord of Munja grass round my lonns.

376 For one month I lived on fruits. The second month I lived upon water. I he third, the fourth, and the fifth months I passed, living upon air only.

377. I stond all the while, upon one foot, and with my arms also raised upwards, and giving up sleep for all the time. I then saw, O Bharata in the sky a light that seemed to be as dazzling as that of a thousand Sons.

378 Towards the centre of that effulgence, O son of Pandu I saw a cloud looking like a mass of blue hills, adorned with rows of cranes, decorated with many a grand rainbow, with flashes of lightning and the fire looking like eyes set on it.

379 Within that cloud was the powerful Mahadeva, himself of dazzling splendour, accompanied by his consort Uma. Indeed, the great God appeared to sline with his penances, energy, beauty, effulgence, and Its beloved consort by his side.

330 The powerful Maheshwara, with his wife by list aide, shone in the midst of that cloud. The appearance seemed to be like that of the Sun in the midst of clouds with the Moon by his side.

391 The hair on my body, O son of Kinti stood erect, and my eyes expanded with wonder upon seeing Hara, the refuge of all the gods and the remover of all their griefs.

332 Mahadesa was adorned with a diadem on his lead. He was armed with his bluid. He was clad in a tiger-skin, had marted locks on 11s head, and hore the staff in one of 1st hands. He was armed, fessifes, with fits Planka and the thunder-holt. His teeth were shrep pointed He was adorned with an excellent bracelet for the upper arm. His sacred thread was formed by a suggest.

353 He were an excellent garland of various colors on his bosom that hung down to his local to higher I fadeed, I saw him like the highly bright moon of an autumnal exening.

384 Surrounded by sarious claus of spitits and ghosts, he appeared like the surumnal sun difficult of being looked at for its dazzling brightness.

395 A thousand and hundred Rudras stood around that God of controlled soul and white deeds, seated upon his bull. All of them were employed in singing his praises.

386 The Adityas, the Vasus, the Sadhyas, the Vishwedesas, and the twin Ashwins praised that Lord of the universe, by singing the hymns.

337. The powerful Indra and his brother Upendra, the two sons of Adia, and the Grandfather Brahman, all sang in the presence of Bhava the Rathantara Saman.

388-300. Numberless masters of York, all the twee-born Resists with their chiddren, all the celestial Rishis, the goddess Earth, the Sky, the Constellations, the Planets, the Months, the Fortoghts, the Seasons, Night, the Years, the Kylanes, the Muhurta Romeilas, the Yugas one after another, knowledge, and all beings conversant with Iruth, were seen bowing down that Suprem Preceptor, that great Tather, that giver of Yogs.

391-303 Sanatkumara, the Vedas, the Histories Marichi, Angiras Atri, Pulastya, Pulaha, Kratu, the "even Manus, Soma, the Atharvans, and Vribaspati, Blingu, the Cichehardes, Diksha the Sacrifices, Dakshia, Rashyapa, Vadushita, Rashya, the Cichehardes, Diksha the Sacrifices, Dakshina, the Sacrifices, and all the articles of the sacrifices, were seen by me, O Yudhish-thra, standing there in their embodied forms.

All the presiding deities of 394-397 the worlds, all the Rivers, all the snakes, the mountains, the celestial Mothers, all the wives and daughters of the celestials, thousands upon thousands and millions of ascetics, were seen to bow down to that powerful I ord who is the soul of tranquility. The Mountains, the Oceans, and the Prints of the compass also did the same, the Gindharvas and the Apsaras liighly proficient in music, in celestial songs, same and hymned the praises of Bhava who is full of wonder. Danayas, the Gubyakas, the Rakshasas, and all created beings mobile and immobile were worshipping, in thought, word, and deed, that powerful Lord | That Lord of all tie gods, ris, harvs, appeared before me, seated in all his glory, 398 Seeing that Ishana had showed himself to me by being seated in glory tefore my eyes, the whole universe, with the Grandfather and Shakra, looked at me.

199 I, however, had not the power to look at Mahadeva. He great god then addressed me, saying,—see, O Krishna, and speak to me!

MAHABHARATA,

400. You have worshipped me hundreds and thousands of times There is no one in the three worlds who is dearer to me than you! 401. After I had bowed to him, his wife, 115, the goddess Uma, became pleased with me. I then addressed in these words the great God whose praises are hymned

by all the gods headed by the Grandfather

The blessed Vishnu said: 402 'I saluted Mahadeva, saying,are the master of the Vedas

42

Brahman.

I bow to you, O you who are the origin of all things The Rishis declare that you The pious hold that you are Penance, you are Sattwa, you are Rajas, you are lamas, and you are Iruth.

You are Brahman, you are Rudra, you're Varuna, you are Agni, you are Manu, you are Bhava, you are Dhatri, you are Iashtri, you are Vidhatri, you are the powerful Lord of all things, you are every-

All beings, mobile and immobile, 404 have originated from year You have oreated this world with all its mobile and ammobile creations.

The Riship say that you are superior to the senses, the mind, the vital air, the seven fires, everything else which rests upon the all-pervading Soul, and all the celestrals who are worshipped.

You, O illustrious one, are the Vedas, the Sacrifices, Soma, Dakshina, Payaka, Havi, and all other ingredients of sacrifice.

The ment of sacrifices, gifts, the study of the Vedas, vows, practices of restraint, Modesty, Fame, Prosperity, Glory, Contentment, and Success, are all for acquiring you

403. Desire, Anger, Pear, Cupidity, Pride, Stupefaction, and Malice, Pains and Diseases, are, O illustrious one, all your oftspring.

You are the acts of creatures, you are the joy and sorrow of those acts, you are the absence of joy and sorrow, you are that Nescience which is the eternal seeds of Desire, you are the great origin of Mind, you are Power, and you are I termity.

410. You are the Unmanifest, you are Pavana, you are inconcersable, you are the thousand rayed Son, you are the shining - mtelligence, you are the first of all the subjects, and you are the support of I fe.

411-412 By the words Greatness, Soul, Understanding, Brahman, Universe, Shambhu, and Self-create, as well as other !

words seen (in the Vedas), your nature is comprehended as being at one with Greatness and Soul Knowing you as all this, the learned Brahmana conquers that I norance which is the root of the world,

You are the heart of all creatures,

Soul. Your arms and feet extend to every place, and your eyes, head, and face are everywhere You hear everywhere in the universe, and you exist permeating everything. You are the fruit of all acts which are performed in the Nimeshas and and you are worshipped by the Rishis as other divisions of time which originate from the Sun. 415 You are the original lustre. You are Male Being living in the hearts of all things. You are the successful fruits of Yoga. 416 Understanding and Intelligence and all the worlds depend upon you I hose who are given to meditation, who are always busy with Yoga, who are devoted to or firm in Truth and who have conquered their passions, seek you and depend on you. 417. They who know you as the one unchangeable, or one who lives in all hearts, or one who is endowed with supreme power, or one who is the ancient Male Being, or one who is pure

Knowledge, or one that is the effulgent understanding, or one that is the highest refuge of all persons gifted with intelligence, are, indeed, highly intelligent men-Indeed, such persons reign supreme over intelligence. By understanding the seven subtile principles, by compretending your six attributes, and by mastering the true Yorki

the man of knowledge succeeds in entering Into your great self. 419 After I had said these words, O Partha, to Bhava, that remover of sriet and pain, the universe, both mobile and ımmobile, roared like a hon, The numberless Brahmans present there, the gods and the Asuras, the Nacas, the Pishachas the Pitris, the birds, vario ! Rakshasas, various classes of ghosts and spirits, and all the great Rishs, then bowed down to that great Deity.

421. There then, dropped upon my bead showers of logily fragrant celestral flowers and sweet winds blew on the spot.

422. The powerful Shankara t' en, giren to the behoof of the universe looked at the goddess Ume, and the king of the celestrals and myself also, and thus speke

122 We know, O Krishna, that you. O slaver of foes, are greatly devoted to us! On what is for your good. My love and affection for you is very great.

Do you ask for eight boons. I shall grant them O Krishna, O best of all persons lell me what they are, O chief of the Vadavas. Say what you wish You will have them, however difficult of attainment they may be.

CHAPTER XV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued

Trichna agid ...

Bending low my head with a controlled soul to that mass of energy and effulgence, I said to the great god, with a tovous heart, these words -I ask for these boons from you, namely, firmness to virtue, the destruction of enemies in bande the lighest plory, the greatest power, devotion . 10 Your, your nearness, and bundreds upon hundreds of children.

3-4 Whereto Shankara said, so be it. repeating the words I had said After this. the mother of the universe, the unholdress of all things, she who purifies all things. vis , the wife of Sarva that hinge fecentacle of Benances, said with controlled soul these words to me - the powerful Mahadeva has granted you, O sinless one, a son who shall be named Shamva.

5-6 Do you take from me also eight boons which you choise I shall indeed. grant them to you Browing her with my head bended, I said to her, O son of Pandu -I pray from you uniform affection for the Brahmanas the layour of my father, a hundred sons the highest entoyments. love for my fam ly, the favour of my mother, the attainment of tranquility and peace, and cleverness in every deed.

Uma said .-

7. You will have them, O you who are endued with proxess equal to that of a celestial I never say what is untrue You will have sixteen thousand wives, Your love for them and theirs also for you shall be limitless

8. I com all your kinsmen also, you will get the highest affection. You will have a m at beautiful person. Seven thousand guests will daily feed at your palace.

Vasudeva continued -

the god and the goddess. O Bharata, disappeared there and then with their associates. O elder brother of Rhima to All those wonderful deeds I described fully. O best of kings to that highly enervetic Brahmana Hoamaniu down to the great God. Upamantu said these words to me

Unamanyu said :--

tt. There is no god like Sarva There is no end or refuge like Sarva (here is none who can grant so many or so high There is none who is his equal in boons fattle

CHAPIER AVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued.

Upamanyu said ·--

1-2 There was in the golden cycle, O sire, a Rishi named Landi With devoted heart he worshipped with the help of Yogameditation the great God for ten the isand Hear me as I tell you the fruit or reward he reaped of such wonderful devo-He succeeded in seeing Mahadeva and lauded him by uttering some hymns.

3-6 Thinking, with the lelp of his penances of Ilim who is the supreme Soul and who is eternal and undecaying, Tandi became stricken with wonder and said these words, -1 seek His refinge whom the Sankhyas describe and the Yogins think of as the great the foremost, the Male Being the pervader of all things, and the Lord of all existent objects who, is the cause of both the creation and the destruction of the universe, who is superior to all the gods the Asuras and the Muns who has nothing higher who is increate, who is the Lord of all things who has neither beginning nor end, and who is gilled with supreme power, who is possessed of the lughest happiness, and who is effulgent and sinless

7-10 After he had said these words, Tandi, saw before him that ocean of penances, that great God who is eternal and undecaying who is peerless who is inconceival le, who is eternal, and who is will out any change who is indivisible who is whole, who is Bral ma, who is above all attributes, and who is gifted with attributer, who is the highest delight of Yogins who is without decrease, who is called I iberation, who is the refuse of the mind of Indra, of Agni. 9. Having thus granted me boons, both of the Wind God, of the entire universe, and of the Grandfather Brahman, who cannot be comprehended by the mind, who is without change of any kind, who is pure, who is capable of being apprehended by the understanding only, and who is immaterial as the mind, who cannot be comprehended, who cannot be measured, who is difficult of being attained, by persons of impure souls, who is the origin of the universe, and who is above both the universe and the quality of darkness; who is ancent, who is Purusha, who is gifted with effugence, and who is higher than the highest.

11. Desirous of seeing Him who investing himself with vital arts, lives in the individual soil, in the form of that effalgence which is called the hind, the Rish I and in passed many years practising the severest austienties, and having succeeded in seeing the reward of those penancis, lie that the reward of those penancis, lie time.

Tandi said :-

- 12 You are the purifier of all purifiers and the refuge of all, O foremost of all beings gifted with intelligence! You are the most dreadful energy of all kinds of energy. You are the austerest penance of all penances.
 - 13 You, O powerful one, are the liberal giver of blessings. You are the supreme fruth. I bow to you.
 - 14 I bow to you O you of a thousand rays, and, O refuge of all happiness! You are the bestower of that emancipation for which, O powerful one, Yatis, standing in fear, of bith and death, strive so hard
 - 15. The Grandlather Brahman, Indra of a hundred sacrifices, Vishmu, the Vishwedevas, the great Rishs cannot comprehend your real nature. How then can persons like ourselves expect to comprehend you.
 - 16. Everything originates from you upon you depends everything You are called Kala, you are called Purusha, you are called Brahma Celestial Rishis well-read in the Puranas, say that you are trune
 - 17. You are Adhi-Purusha, Adhyatma, Adhibhuta, Adhi-Daivata, Adhi Loka, Adhi-Vijnanam, and Adhi-Vajna.
 - 18 Wise men, when they succeed in knowing you that lives in themselves and that can be known by the very gods, become freed from all fetters and enter into a state of existence that is above all sorrow.
- to. They who do not wish to know you, are constrained to pass through number ess builts and deatls. You are the door

- of heaven and of Liberation. You are le who bring all beings into existence and withdraw them again into yourself. You are the great giver.
- 20 You are heaven, you are liberation, you are desire. You are the anger which inspires creatures. You are Sattwa, you are Rajas, you are Lamas, you are the nether regions, and you are the upper regions.
- 21. You are the Grandfather Brahman, you are Bhava, you are Vishno, you are Skanda von are Indra, you are Savitti, you are Yama you are Varuna you are Soma, you are Dhatri, you are Manu, you are Vidhatri, and you are Kuvera the Lord of riches
- 22 You are Earth, you are Wind, you are Water, you are Agn, you are Ether, you are Speech, you are the Understanding, you are Steadiness, you are Intelligence, you are the Acts, you are Iruth, you are Outruth, you are existent, you are Mind are existent, you are Mind are existent.
- 23 You are the senses, you are what is above Nature, you are immutable. You are superior to existent objects, you are superior to non-existent objects, you are capable of being conceived, you are incapable of being conceived.
- 24 You are at one with what is Supreme Brahma, with what is the highest entity, with what is the end of both the Sankhyas and the Yogins
- 25 Indeed, I have been greatly rewarded by you to day on account of your granting me a sight of your form. I have attained the end of the righteous I have been rewarded with that end which is prayed for by persons whose understandings have been purified by Knowkedy.
- 26 Alas, so long I was steeped in Ignorance, for this long time I was an insensate fool, since I had no knowledge of you who are the only Eternal Entity as known by all persons.
 - 27 In course of numberless lives have I at last succeeded in acq nring that Devotion towards you for which you have shown yourself to me. O you who are ever inclined to layour those who are devoted to you! He who knows you enjoys immortality.
- 23 You are always a mystery with the gods the Asiras, and the ascetics Brahma is concealed in a cave. The very ascetics cannot see or know tim.
- 29 You are that powerful god who is the Creator of everything and whose face is turned towards all directions. You are the Soul of all things, you see all things, you pervade all things, and you know all things.

30 You make a body for yourself. You bear that body. You are an embodied Being. You have a body, and you are the religeof all embodied creatures. You are the creator of the vital aris, you prosess the vital aris, you are endued with and you are the creator of the vital aris, and you are the religeof all beings endued with vital aris.

31. You are that Adhyatma, which is the refuge of all pions persons who are given to Yoga meditation and conversant with the Soul and who seek to avoid rebirth. Indeed, you are that Supreme Lord who is at one with that refuge.

32 You distribute all ends, happy or miserable, to all creatures. You ordain the birth and death for all created beings.

33 You are the powerful Lord who grants success to Rishis crowned who success regarding the fruition of their wishes Having created all the worlds beginning with Bhu, together with all the dwelfers of heaven, you uphold and cherish them all, dividing yourself not your well known eight formsus-

34 Everything originates from you. All things depend upon you. All things, again, disappear in you. You are the sole Eternal object.

35 You are that region of Truth which is sought by the righteous and considered by them as the highest. You are that stores of colonial stores count by stoppage of individual existence sought by the Vogins. You are that Liberation which is sought by persons conversant with the Soul.

36. Beings crowned with success and laying Brahman amounts them have con-

30. Beings crowned with success and having Brahman amongst them have concealed you in a cave for preventing the dettes and Asuras and human beings from seeing you

37 Although you have in the heart, yet are you concealed. Hence, stupefied by you the detites and Asuras and men cannot understand you, O Bhava, truly and in all your details.

38 O you living in all heart you appear before those persons who succeed in att-ining to you after having purified themselves by devotion.

39 By knowing you one can avoid both death and re birth. You are the highest object of knowledge. By knowing you no higher object remains for one to know.

40 You are the greatest object of acquirement. The person that is truly wise, who by acquiring you, thinks that there is no higher object of acquisition. By attaining to you who are greatly subtile and who are the highest object of acquisition, the wise man becomes immortal. 41. The followers of the Sankhya $150-tem, well read in their own system of philosophy and possessing a knowledge of the qualities and of all the topics of enquiry, those learned men who reign over the destructible by attaining to a knowledge of the subble or indestructible,—succeed by knowing you in freeing themselves from all feiters.

42. Persons well read in the Vedas consider you as the one object of knowled, e which has been explained in the Vedanta. Hiese men, given to the suppression of vital airs, always mediate on you and at last enter into you as their highest end.

43 Riding on the car of OM, those men enter inter into Maheshwara. You are the solar door of the celestial road.

44 You are the lunar door, of that which is called the road of the Pitris. You are Kashtha, You are the points of the horizon, you are the year, and you are the cycles.

45. You are the sovereignty of the heavens, you are the sovereignty of the Earth, you are the Northern and the Earth, you are the Northern and the Grandfather Brahman sang your prases. O you who are called blue and red, by rectiting various hymns and urged you to create living creatures.

46 Brahmanas conversant with Relbs praise you by uttering Richs, considering you as unattached to all things and as shori of all forms. In sacrifices, Adityaryus, pour libations, uttering Yajushes in honor of you who are the sole object of knowledge, according to the three well known ways.

47 Persons of purified understanding you with the help of Samans 1 hose twice-born, again, who are conversant with beth Atharyans, hymn you as Rita, as I ruth as the Highest, and as Brahma You are the highest cause of the Sacrifice. You are the Lord, and you are Supreme.

48 The night and day are your organs of hearing and organ of sight. The fortnights and months for your head and arms. The seasons are your energy, penances are are your patience, and the year is your anus, and thighs, and feet.

49 You are Death, you are Vama, you are Hutasha, you are Kala, you are gifted with speed of destruction, you are the prime cause of Time and you are eternal

- 50. You are the Moon and the Sun, with all the stars and planets and the atmosphere that fills space. You are the polestar, you are the constellation called the seven Rishis, you are the seven regions beginning with Bhu.
- 5t. You are Pradhana and Mahat, you re Unmaniest, and you are this world. You are the universe beginning with Prahma and ending with the lowest vegatable creation. You are the beginning of all creatures. You are identical with the existent and the non existent.
- 52. You are the eight Prakritis. You are, again, above the eight Prakritis Fvery thing that exists, represents a portion of your divine Self.
- 53 You are the Supreme Eternal Happiness You are the end of all things You are the highest existence of the Righteous.

 51 You are that state which is freed
- from every anxiety. You are Eternal Brahma. You are that highest state which forms the meditation of persons well-read in the auxiliary branches of the Vedas,
- 55 You are the highest Kashtha, you are the highest Kala You are the highest Success, and you are the highest Refuge.
- 56 You are the highest Irai quility You are the highest stoppage of Existence By attaining to you, Yogins think that they have acquired the highest success
- 57. You are Contentment, you are Success you are Strutt, and you are the Smritt You are that Refuge of the Sout which Yogins seek and you are that indestructible Prapti which men of knowledge seek.
- 53 You are, forsooth, that End which is sought by persons given to sacrifices and those who pour sacrificial libations, moved by particular desires, and who make large presents on such occasions
- 59 You are that high End which those persons seek who consume and c rich their bodies with austere penances with continued recitations with those rigid vows and fasts which belong to their peaceful lives, and with other means of self affection
- 60 O Eternal One, you are the End of those who are unattached to all things and who have given up all acts
- 61 You O Eternal One, are that End of those who seek Liberation from re birth, who give up all enjoyments, and who desire the annihilation of the elements.

62. You are that high End, O illustrious one, which cannot be described, which is pure, which is the immutable one, and which is theirs who are given to knowledge and science.

These are the five Ends described

- in the Vedas and the Scriptures and the Puranas. It is through your favour that persons ago prec those Ends, or, if they fail to attain to them, it is through your favour being denied to them.

 15. It was thus that Tand, who was a
- 64 It was thus that Tandi, who was a heap of penances, lauded Ishana And he sang also that high Brahma which in days of yore was sung by the Creator himself.

Upamanyu said:-

65 Thus lauded by that utterer of Brahma, 225. Land, Mahadeva, that illustrious and powerful god who was accompanied by his wife Uma, said these words.

Tandı said .-

66 Neither Brahman, nor Indra, nor Vislimu, nor the Vislimu, nor the Vislimedevas, nor the great Rishis know you. Pleased at this, Shiva said the following words.

The Holy One said ·--

- 67 You shall be indestructible and eternal You shall be freed from all sorrow You will have great fame You will be gifted with energy. You will get Spiritual Knowledge.
- 68 All the Rishis shall seek you, and your son, through my favour, shall become the author of Sutras, O foremost of twice-born ones
- 69 What wishes of yours shall I grant to-day? Iell me O son what do you seek.

 At this, I and; joined his hands and said,

 O Lord, let my devotion to you be steady.

Upamanyu said '—

- 70. Having given to Tandin these booms and received the adorations of both the gods and the Rishis, the great Deity disappeared there and then
- 71 When the illustrious Deity, O lord of the Yadavas thus disappeared with all his followers, the Rishi came to my lermitage and said to me all that had taken place.
- 72 Do you hear, O foremost of men, for your success, all those celebrated names that Fandi said to me,
- 73 The Grandfather had at one time recited ten thousand names of Mahadeva-In the scriptures, a thousand names of the god occur.

73. These names are not known to all to you who is above destruction, in days of yore, the Grandfatter Brahman utiered these names for worshipping the great Deity Having acquired them through the favour offite Grandfather, Landt communicated them to me.

CHAPTER XVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued.

Vasudeva said '-

t Concentrating his mind, O Yudhishthira, the twice-born Rishi Upamanyu, with hands Joined together in respect, uttered this abstract of names beginning from the very commencement.

Upamanyu said:-

- 2. I shall worship that great Deity who is worthy of the adorations of all creatures, by utering those names which are celebrated by the CreanGahren the control of the court in the Vedas, and the auxiliary sciences.
- 3 Those names have been used by entment persons I hey are, again, time and fraught with success and are capable of accomplishing all the objects of the ulterer. I hey have been given to Maladeva by 'landi whose soul was purifiel by Vedic learning and who invented those names with the help of his devotion.
- 4 With those names that have been uttered by many well known pious persons and by ascetics conversant with all the autifects I shall worship him who is the greatest, who is the first, who takes to heaven, who is ready to give benefits upon all creatures, and who is auspicious!
 - 5 I hose names have been heard in the universe, having spread from the region of Brahman. All of them are fraught with fruit. With too enames I shall worship him who is Supreme Brahma, who has been described by the Vedas, and who is Trernal.
 - 6. I shall now tell you O chief of Yadu's race, those names. Hear them with rapt attention. You are a devout worshipper of the Supreme Lord. Addre the illustrious Bhava, knowing him above all the detties.
- 7. And because you are devoted to him, I shall, therefore, regite those names before - you Mahadeva is Eiernal Brahma. No one even one endued with Yoga is able to describe, in even a hundred years, it e glory and power of that great Detty in full. The beginning, middle, or end of Mahadeva cannot be apprehended by the very gods.

- 9 Such being the fact, who is there, O Mahadewa, that can recte the q adults of Mahadewa to full? I shall, innever, at through the favour of that illustrous supreme and perfectly wise Deity, extended to me for my devotion to him—recte his attributes in an abstract of few words and letters.
- to. The Supreme Lord is incapable of being worshipped by any one if he does not grant his peranssion to the worshipper. As for myself, it is only when I become fortunate enough to receive his permission that I succeed in worshipping him.
- tt. I shall mention only a few names of that great God who is without birth and without destruction, who is the original cause of the universe, who is gifted with i the highest Soul, and whose origin is un-3 manifest.
- 12 Hear, O Krishna, a few names, that were uttered by Brahman himself, of that giver of boons, that worshipful god, that powerful one who has the universe for his form, and who is gifted with supreme wisdom.
- 13 These names that I shall recute are taken from the ten thousand mames that the great Grandfather had uttered in days of yore, as clarified butter is extracted from curds.
- 14 As gold as the easence of rocky in mountains, as honey is the essence of flowers, as Munda is the extract from clarified butter, so have these names been exitacted from and represent the cream of those ten thousand names that were uttered by the Grandlather Brahman
- 15 I his abstract of names can remove? every sin however hemous. It possesses, the merit of the four Vedas. It should be understood with care, and be kept in the temotry with concentrated soul.
- 16 It is fraught with auspiciousness, it brings on advancement it destroys Rakshasas It is a great purifier. It should be given only to him who is devicted to the great Lord, to him who ray Faith, to him who believes It should never be community to the should be a because it is been an early an unbeliever, him who has not conquered his soul.
- 17 That creature, O Krishna, who entertain malice towards the illustrious Mahadeya who is the original cause of everything, who is the Supreme Soul, and who is the great Lord, has surely to go to hell with all his ancestors before and all his children after him.

- 18. This abstract of names that I shall recite to you is regarded as Voga-meditation. This is regarded as Voga. This is regarded as the highest object of mediation. This is what one should constantly recite. This is knowledge. This is the highest Mystery.
- 19. If one, even on the eve of death, recites it or hears it recited to him, he succeeds in attaining to the highest end. This is holy. This is auspicious, this is fraught with every sort of benefit. This is the best of all things.
- 20 Brahman the Grandfather of all the universe, having in days of yore, composed it, gave to it the foremost place among all excellent hymns.
- 21. Since then, this hymn of the greatness and glory of the great Mahadeva, which is held in the highest reverence by all the gods, is known as the king of all hymns.
- 22. This king of all hymns was first taken from the region of Brahman to heaven, the region of the gods lands then got it from heaven. Hence it is known as the hymn composed by Fands.
- 23 From heaven Tands brought at down on Earth. It is the most sacred of all sacred things, and is capable of removing all sins however hemous.
- 24. O you of powerful arms, I shall recite to you that best of all hymns hymn belongs to him who is the Veda of the Vedas, and the most ancient of all ancient objects.
- 25 To him who is the energy of all energies, and the penance of all penances, to him who is the most tranquil of all creatures guited with tranquility, and who is the splendour of all splendours.
- 26 To him who is regarded as the most restrained of all creatures who are restrained, and him who is the intelligence of all creatures gifted with intelligence, to him who is regarded as the god of all gods, and the Rish of all Rishis.
- 27. To him who is regarded as the sacrifice of all sacrifices and the most auspicious of all auspicious things, to him who is the Rudra of all the Rudras, and the effulgence of all effulgent things.
- 28 To him who is the Yogin of all Yogins, and the cause of all causes, to him from whom all the worlds come into

- being, and to whom all the worlds return when they cease to exist
- 29 To him who is the Soul of all creatures, and who is called Hara of great energy. Hear me recute those thousand and eight names of the great Sharva.
- 30. Hearing those names, O foremost of all men, you will get the fruition of all your desires—Ost you are Immobile, you are Fixed, you are Powerful, you are Ierrible, you are Foremost, you are Boongwing, and you are Superior.
- 31 You are the Soul of all creatures, you are celebrated over all creatures, you are all things, you are the Creator of all, and you are Bhava. You carry matted locks on your head You put on anmaskins for your dress. You have a crest of matted hair on your head his the peacock. You are he who has the whole universe for your limbs You are the Creator of all things. You are Hara because you destroy all things.
- 32. You are he who has eyes of the gazelle. You are the destroyer of all creatures You are the supreme enjoyer of all things.
- 33 You are that Pravritt whence all actions originate. You are that Nivirtit of abstention from acts, you are observant of fasts and vows you are Biernal, you are Juchangeable. You live in crematoria, you powers and the sex well-known best of your powers and the sex well-known best of the sex of
- 14. Vou are he who is worthy of salutations of all, you are of great feats, you are he who has asceticism for lus riches, you create all the elements at your will, you conceal your real nature by putting on the dress of a limatic. You are the Lord of all the worlds and of all living creatures. You are of immessurable form you are high body, you are of the form of like of great Soil, you are the Lord of all the salutation.
- 36. You are the protector of all the works, you allow your Soul to disapped are gladness. You are he whose car is borne by mules. You'are he whose car with the work of the wo

- 17. You are the Divine Architect who secures and with every art. You are self-create. You are the beginning of all creatures and things. You are Hranya-farbha, the Creator of all things. You are andless power and happiness. You have a hundred eyes, you have expansive eyer. You are bonts. You are he who makes powerful all righteous creatures to assume glorious forms for shining in the
- 38. You are the Moon, you are the Sun you are the planet Saturn, you are the descending node (of the Moon), you are the ascending node, you are Mangal (Mars), and you are Vrihaspati (Jupiter-aury), you are the worshipper of Atri's wife-cury), you are the worshipper of Atri's wife when Sacrifice fled from this anger in the form of a deer. You are shales
- 39 You possess penances by which you can create the impress. You possess penances by which you can destroy the inverses. You are high-imited. You satisfy the wishes of all who dedicate themselves to you. You are the incher of the authority for all acts. You are the highest Penance.
- 40. You are given to Yoga. You are the who merges I miself in Brahman You are the great seed. You display what is unmanifest as this manifest form in which the universe exists. You have infinite rimith You are he whose seed is gold You are omnoscient. You are the cause of all things. You are he who has the seed of action for the means of going from this world to the other and thus."
- 41. You have ten arms. You have winkless eyes You have a blue throat. You are it eliusband of Uma. You are the corigin of all the infinite loring that are in the universe. You are he whose superiority is due to yourself. You are a hero in power You are inert matter. You are all the topics of equity.
- 42 You are the ordance and governor of the topics. You are the cluef of those heings who serve you and are called Gauax. You cover minute space. You are Kama the god of love. You are conversant with Mantras You are the lightest Mantra You are the cause of the universe. You are the cause of the universe.
- 43 You carry in one of your hands the calabadi. In another you hold it e how, if affolder you tare arrows in another you carry a stull. You carry the thinders of You arramed with the Shata, hin You are armed with the sword. You hold the battle-are. You are armed with the Shula (trident). You are worshipf il.

- 41. You have the secufical I. de in one of your hands. You have beathful form. You are gifted with abundant energy. You give most layisly sil that tends to adorn those who are devoted to you. You gut on a turban on your head. You have a beautiful face. You are he who is full of splendour and power. You are he who is further and modest.
- 45. You are exceedingly tall. You are the who has the senses for your rays. You are the greatest of preceptors. You are Supreme Brahma. You are the who took the shape of a lacked for consoling a Brahmana who, maulted by a richt Vatshya, had determined to commit suicide. You are he whose objects all become fruitful of themselves. You are one who has a bald head. You are one who does good to all.
- 46. You are unborn. You have numberless forms. You have all sorts of fragrance on your body. The matted locks on your head had sucked up the River Ginga when it first dropped from heaven. You are in given of sovereignty. You are given of your harmon of the property of t
- 47. You have three matted focks on your lead. You are he who is clad in rage, You are Rudra. You are the celestial commander in cluef, and you are all-pervading. You are he who moves about in the night. You are no dreading the day. You are he who moves about in the night. You are night deading the Cay. You are in dreading anger. You are endued with still elegance,
- 48. You are the destroyer of the power-ful Astra who had come in the form of an infuniate elephant for destroying the sacred city of Varanasi. You are the destroyer of Datysa oppressing the universe. You are toger. You are the upressing of the universe. You are often universe. You are often universe. You are a mine of qualifications. You are of the form of the lon and the tiger. You are he who is clad in an elephant skin.
- 49. You are the Yogin who deceives frime by esting over its creasible influence. You are the original sound, You are the future of all desires. You are the who is worshipped in four ways. You are a night ranger. You are it will owalks in the company of spirits. You are it will owake in the company of spirits. You are it estimated in the company of spirits. You are it estimated in the company of glistly beings. You are it estimated in the other of the company of the spirits which is not a spirit with the company of glistly beings.

- Volume to the who has multiplied hime to and infinitely ut the form of all existent and non existent ti mae. Von ace the unbolder of Mahat and all other compounds of the five primal elements You are the primeval Ignorance or that is known by the the supreme Fnd of the liberated Von are fond of dancing. You are he who makes others dance. You are the friend of the
 - 51 Voit are he whose aspect is calm and mild. You are endued with pengures which can create and destroy the universe You are he who fetters all creatures with your illusion. You are he who is above You are above all bonds and Mountain are unattached to all things, like Space You have a thousand arms You are victory You are that perseverance which brings on success or victory You are without idleness or procrastination which interleres with persevering activity.
 - Von are brave You are fear, You are he who put a stop to Vali's sacrifice You gratify the desires of all your devotees You are the destroyer of Daksha's sacrifice You are amable, You are slightly ami-- abic.
 - You are exceedingly fierce and rob all creatures of their energy. You are the destroyer of the Asura Vala You are always cheerful You are of the form of riches which is coveted by all You liave never been defeated | There is none more worshipful than you You are he who emus deep toars. You are that which is so deep that no one can measure it. You are he whose power and the might of whose companions and bull have never been vanced by anybody.
 - You are the tree of the world. You are the banan You are be who sleeps on a bantan leaf when the universe, after dissolution becomes one infinite sheet of water. You are he who shows mercy to all worshippers assuming as you like, the form of Hart or Hara or Ganesha or Arka or Agnt or Wind etc. You have exceedingly sharp teeth. You are of huge proportions You have a mouth vast enough to swallow the universe at once.
 - Yet ale he whose followers are worshipped everywhere. You are he who re-Prince of elephants had to be captured. You are the seed of the universe. You are he who has the same bull for your carriers that forms again the emblem on his

- of the individual soul. You are he who is conversant with the proper time for the perfermance of all religious rites
- You are he to whom Vishou had paid his adorations. You are Vishnit. Von are the ocean Von are the Mares head that ram es within the ocean. ceaselessly emitting fire and drinking the salme Waters as if they were sacrificial butter. You are Wind, the friend of Agni. You are of tranguel soul like the ocean which temains at rest and unmoved by the mildest You are Agm that drinks the libations of clarified butter poured ut sacrifices with the help of Mantras.
- 57 You are he whom it is difficult to spreads over the infinite universe You are expert in battle. You are well conversant with the time when one should engage in battle so that victory may be won. You are that science which deals with the inutions of heavenly bodies. You are of the form of success or victory. You have a body for all time.
- You are a house holder for you have a toft of hair on your head . you are a Sannyasin for your head is bald, you have matted locks on your head , you are known for your fiery rays, you are he who appears in the sky of the heart encased us the body of every creature : you are be who enters into the brain of every creature . you bear the wrinkles of age, you carry the bamboo flute; you have also the ment called I ali . you have the wooden mortar used for busking grain , you are he who covers that illusion which covers Yama.
- You are an astrologer because your understanding is always directed towards the motion of the wheel of Time which is made up of the luminaries in the sky ; you are the individual soul whose understand. ing is directed to things that are the outcome of the qualities of Sattwa Rajas, and l'amas , you are that in which all things merge when dissolutions sets in ; you are stable and fixed, there being nothing in you which is subject to change or mutation of any sort, you are the Lord of all creatures, your arms extend all over the great universe, you appear in numberless forms which are but portions of yourself . you pervade all things, you have no mouth.
- You are he who frees creatures from 64 the fetters of the world, you are easily attainable; sou are he who appeared with a golden mail, you are he who appears in the phallic emblem; you are he who beauting and the second of the enimals; you are he who roams over the entire Earth, you are omnipresent.

61. You are the blare of all the trumpets blown in the three worlds, you have all creatures for your relatives! you are of the form of a snake; you five in mountain caves, you are at one with the commander in-cluef of the celestials, you ware parlands of flowers, you are he who enjoys the happiness which originates from the possession of earthly objects.

61. You are be from whom all creatures have got then three states of brth, existence and destruction, you aphold all things which exist or occur in the three stages of Linn, our, the Past, the Present, and the Future, you yourself free creatures from the effects of all pristing deeds bonds of Linnerse and Detection of the Control of t

63. You are attainable by knowledge alone, you are Durvasas, you are he who is served and worshipped by all the righteous, you are he who brings about the fall of even Brahman and the others, you are he who gives to all creatures the one share of joy and sorrow that each detects according to some deeds by your deep to the control of t

64 You live everywhere, you wander everywhere, you have wretched clothes, you are Vasava, you are unwortal, you are at one with the Huma-tet mountains, you are the maker of pure gold, you are, without acts, you uphold in yourself the fruits of all acts, you are the foremost of all upl older.

65 You have bloody eyes, you have eyes whose vision extends over the infinite universe, you have a car whose we els are ever victorious, you are greatly learned, you are he who accepts your devotees for gour servants, you are the who reatrains who acts, you put on cluther whose warp and woof are made of snakes,

66" You are Supreme, you are lie who is the lowest of the celestriak, you are the who is well-grown, you have the musical instrument called Kahala, you are the giver of every wish, you are the grace personified in all the tirve stages of 1 ime, als, the Past, the Present, and the Tuture, you are chought of with power which is always well spent; you are though with power which is always well spent; you are the who had assumed the form of Valarama.

67. You are the foremost of all coveted things, being Liberation or the highest of all ends of creatures; you are the giver of all thungs, you are su turned towards all directions, you are he from whom various creatures have originated even as all forms have originated from typics or are modifications of that primal eliment, you are he wo falls into the pit called body, you are he who is helpless, you live in the sky of the heart.

68 You are of terrife form, you are the Deny called Aushu, you are the companion of the com

69 You live in every body, you live with Prosperty as your companion, you are he who imparts knowledge and instruction, you are he who delivers instruction aliently, you are he who observes the vow of silence, you are he who passes out of the body for looking at the soul, you are he that is well worshipped, you are alte giver of thousands

70 You are the king of birds, you are the friend who gives aid, you are possed of great elfolgence, you are five bord of all created beings, you are he who excites the appetities, you are he god of lave, you are of the form of lovely women who are covered by all, you are the tree of the world, you are the king or riches, you are the giver of fame.

71. You are got who distributes to all creatures the fruits of their deeds, you are sourced! those fruits which you distribute, you are the usoit ancient, you are competent to cover with a single-Toolstep of yours all the "three will 3s", you are the dwarf who deceived the Asara king Valit, you are the Youn crowded the Asara king Valit, you are the Youn crowded to the whose objects become always successful; you are a Szamyson.

72 You are he who is adorned with the marks of the mendicant order, you are he who is without's soch inarks, you are to who is above the usages of the mendicant order, you are to who assures all creatures from every soit of four you commander to clearly the commander of the commander of the commander of the commander of the clearly a range you are 1132. Vishakha who sprang from the person of the celestial commander inchief when Indea hurled first flunder hot altum, you are the who enjoys the striy subjects or heads of objects in the universe; you are the Master of the strips.

- 73. Vin are he who is armed with the thunder-halt, you are infinite. You are the stupefile of Daity a times on the battle field; you are he who moves his car in tircles among his own soldiers and who makes similar circles among the foes and devastating them returns safe and sound, you are he who knows the lowest depth of the world's occan, you are Madhu, you have eyes whose culor resembles that of hones.
 - 74. You are he who has taken birth after Vrihaspati, you are he who does the acts which priests have to do in secrifices, you are he who is always worshipped by persons of various modes of hie, you are devoted to Brahma; you roam in the labitations of men in the world, you pervade all beings, you are lee who knows truth.
 - 75. You know and guide every heart; you are he who overspreads the entire universe; you are he who collects or stores the good and had deed for all treatures m order to distribute the fruits thereof; you are the holder of the bow called Pinaka, you live in even the Daityas whome are the marks of your arrows; you are the powerful or to make you have to the powerful or the powerful or the powerful or the powerful or the powerful make you are the powerful monkey who held Vishuu in the measuratness of a man in his expedition aeanist Rayara.
 - 76. You are the master of those Ganas who are your associates, you are each member of those various Ganas, you are he who gladdens all creatures; you are the enhancer of the pays of all, you take may the sovereignity and prosperity of every much high beings as lindra and others, which was the sound of Death, you are he who lives in the sixty-four Kelas; you are very great; you are the grandfather.
 - 77. You are the supreme phallic emblem which is workingped by both goods and Asuras, you are of speeable and beauty, you are of the suprementation makes all beings comprehend the various makes all beings comprehend the various suprementation of all dead of the suprementation of the sup
 - 78 You are the Lord of seeds, you are the original cause of such seeds, you are the original cause of such seeds, you are in the ways that liave been punted out in the scriptures beginning with those which deal with the Soul, you are he in whom live power and the other qualities, you are the Midabhasata and other histo-

- tical works; you are the treatises called Minimus, you are Gautama, you are the author of the great work on Grammar named after the Moon.
- 79 You are he who punishes hit enters; you are he who is sincere in all his religious arcis and observances; you are he who is sincere in all his religious arcis and observances; you are he who fare devoted to you, you are he who fained squarely among the gods and the Asuras, you are he who has created the fourteen worlds; you are the protector and cherisher of all Beings beginning from Brahman and ending with the Iwest form of vegetable life, you are the Creator of even the five principal eliments; you are he who never enjigs anything.
- 80 You are free from decay; you are the highest form of hoppiness; you are a desty proud of los power, you are habitata; you are the punishment described in treatises on Politics and inflicted on offenders, you are the tyranny which prevails over the world, you are of pute. Soul, you are standless, you are worthy of adoration, you are the world that appears and disappear escalessly.
- S1. You are he whose favour so I the largest measure; you are he who has good dreams, you are a mirror in which the universe is inflicted, you are he will has subjugated of all internal and external seems). you are the unaker of the Veda you are the unaker of the sayings contained in the Journa and the Paranas and view and the Journal and view and purpose of the property for th
- 83. You are he who lives in the deadful alouds that appear at the time of the universal dissolution, you are most territhe, you are he who succeeds in subjugating all persons and all things, you are the great 'Destroper, you are he whose fire for his energy, you are he whose energy is more powerful than fire. You are the Yaga fire that consumes all things'd by means of accretical thattons, you are water and others hopeds that are pouted in secrificas with the neigh of Martras.
 - 83. You are to the form of the god of Righteousness, the scatterer of the frust of acts good and bad, you are the giver of happiness, you are always gifted with effulgence, you are of the form of fire, you are temerald hued, you are always present in the phallic emblem, you are start of your of between you you can the your of blessedness, you can are the source of blessedness, you can never be defeated in the pursuit of your objects

81 You are the giver of blessings, you are of the fain of thesedness, you are he to whom is given a share of sacrifical efferings. You are the distributer of sacrificial offerings, you are fixed with great speed, you are he who is possessed of the most pixerful limb; you are he who is possessed of the most pixerful limb; you are he who is employed in the act of generation.

85 You are of a dark hue, you are of a white complexion, you are the senses of all embodied creatines, you have higher, you have luge feet, you have luge hands, you are of huge body, you have wide extending fame.

86 You have a huge head, you are of huge proportion, you are of vast vision; you are the home of the darkness of ignorance, you are the Destroyer, you are possessed of huge ears, you have huge lips, you are he who has vast cheeks.

87. You have a huge nose; you are of a vast throat, you have a vast neck, you are he who tears the bond of society, you have a vast clest, you lave a vast boom; you are the inner soul which lives mall creatures, you have a deer on your lap

88 You are he from whom numberless worlds hang down her frusts hanging down he frusts hanging down from a tree, you are he who stretches his his his at the time of the universal fix solution for decouring the universal down his hour in for decouring the universal, you make the cream of milk, you have have tempt you have the properties of the properties

9) You have big nails, you have large first, you fine very long hairs, you lave a big stomach, you lave matted locks of great length, you are ever cheerall, you are of the form of grace, you are of the form of thelef, you are he who has mountains for his bow.

9). You are he who is full of affection of affection terms for a private cowards his children," you see he who has no affection, you are his many children, you are lighty devoted to (Vo.4) meditation, you are he who is marked out by the tree of the world, you are he who is marked out by the tree of the world, you are never assisted with early, you are five wis has the Wind early, you are five who has the Wind cally go, you are five who has the Wind cally go, you are five who has the Wind cally go, you are five who has the Wind cally go, you are five who has the Wind cally go, you are five who has a few markets.

of You are he who ranges over hille and hillocks. You are he who have on the mountains of Meia. You are the king of the celestrate, you have the Atl areans for your lead, you have the Samans for your mouth , you have the thousand Richs for your immeasu able cy is 92 You layer! Vapsies four feel and hards, you are il Upar its, you are il extensis, you are in eries ite, you are he wow all date are never unfulfilled, you are he who is not beautiful form.

93 You are of the form of the good that on that one does to monther, you are that which is dear, you are he who always advances towards your devoters, you are sold and other precous metals held dear to all your effidence is hide that of burnished gold, you are the nevel, you are he who makes the fruits of sacrifices grow, you are if the form of that faith and devotion which the pous lave for sacrifices, you are the maker the universe, you are the maker the universe, you are the immobile.

95. You are the twelve states through which a preson passes, you are he who causes fear; you are the beginning of all things, you are the who unters Individual Soul with Supreme Brahma through Yoga, you are at one with that Yoga which brings about such a union between the Individual Soul and Supreme Brahma, you are in maifest, you are the presiding god of the fourth age.

95 You are elernal Time, you are of the form of the Lortoise, you are adored by the Destroyer himself.

95 You live in the midst company; you admit your overses as members of your Gena, you have Blahman limself for the direct of your care, you sleep on sales, you protect the universe with asl es, you are he whose bodysts made of aslices, you are the tree that greates the finist not all wishes, you are of the form of those who make up your Gana.

97. Yet are the protector of the fourteen requires, you are above all the regions, 3 in are full, you are worshipped by afferentiers, 3 on aire write, 3 ou are he who has perfectly pure body, speech and min!, 3 ou are he who hes atteured to that puriety of existence which is called the puriety of existence which is called the puriety of the property of any you are 1e who has been attained to by the great preceptors of old.

95. You live in the form of Rightenutness or duty in the four mindes of life, you are that High tenumens which in of the form of sites and sacrifices, you are of the form of that skill which the Disme Architect processes, you are he who is worshipped as the primeral form of the universe; you have Truge arms, your lips are of a coppery color, you are of the form of the vast waters that are contained in the Ocean, you are highly stable and fixed

99 You are Kapila; you are brown. you are all the hues whose mixture produces white, you are the period of life, you are ancient, you are recent, you are a Gandharva, you are the mother of the celestrals in the form of Aditi, you are Garuda, the king of birds, born of Vinata by Kashyapa otherwise called larkshya, you are capable of being comprehended easily, you are of excellent and agreeable speech.

too You are he who is armed with the battle axe, you are he that is desirous of victory , you are he who assists others in the accomplishment of their objects, you are an excellent triend, you are he who carries a lute made of two hollow gourds, you are of terrible anger, you have for your children beings higher than men and gods, you are of the form of that Vishnu who floats on the waters after the universal dissolution, you devour all things with great ferocity, you are he who procreates offspring, you are family and tace, continuing from generation to generation; you are the blare that a bamboo flute emits, you are faultless, you are he whose limbs are all very beautiful, you are full of illusion, you do good to others without expecting any return, you are Wind, you are Fire.

- You are the fetters of the world tot. which bind Individual Soul, you are the creator of those fetters , you are the tearer of such fetters, you are he who lives with even the Daityas, you live with those who are the enemies of all acts, you have huge teeth and powerful weapons
- You are he who has been greatly censured, you are he who stopefied the Rishis living in the Daruka forest, you are he who did good to even your detractors, vis , those Rishis living in the Daruka forest, you are he who removes all fears and who removing all the fears of those Rishis gave them Liberation, you are he who has no wealth, you are the king of the celestrals, you are the greatest of the gods, you are an object of adoration with even Vishnu, you are the destroyer of those who are the en-mies of the gods.
 - 103 You are he who lives in the is enjoyed by him who enjoys it; you are the Ajaikapat aming the eleven Rudras you are the king of the entire universe, you are of the form of all souls in the universe, you are he who is not subject to those three qualities, you are he who is above all attributes and is a state of pure existence which is incapable of being described with the help of any adjective of a language.

You are the king of physicians called Dhanwantari, you are a commet, you are the celestral commander in chief called Skanda, you are the king of the Yakshas, called Kuvera, who is your inseparable companion and who is the king of all riches in the world , you are Dhatri , you are Shakra, you are Vishnu, you are Mitra, you are tashtri, you are the Pole Star , you are the upholder all things. You are the Prabhava amongst the Vasus.

You are the wind which can go everywhere, you are Aryyaman, you are Savitre; you are Rave, you are that ancient king of great celebrity known by the name of Ushangu, you are he who protects all creatures in various ways, you are Mandhairs, you are he from whom all creatures originate

106. You are he who exists in various forms, you are he who makes the various colours exist in the universe, you are he who upholds all desires and all attributes, you are he who has the latus on your navel, you are he within whose womb are numberless mighty creatures, you lave a face beautiful as the moon, you are wind, you are fire.

107. You are possessed of great power, you are gifted with tranquillity of soul, you are old, you are he who is known with the help of Righteousness; you are Lakshmi, you are the maker of the field of action, you are he who resides in the field of action , you are the soul of the field of action, you are the medicine of the attributes of sovereignty and the others.

All things he in you, you are the master of all creatures having life breatlis, you are the god of the gods, you are he who is attached to happiness, you are existent, you are non existent, you are he who possesses the best of all things.

You are he who lives on the and the maker of Posiskara and other large of all things; you are the who most can be comprehended, even as the wind to the mountains of Himavat, you carry half to be the mountains of Himavat, you carry have a finding by you like a poperful countries of the mountains of Himavat, you carry thing and who know the inner nature of the maker of Posiskara and other large of all things; you are the whole the maker of Posiskara and other large of all things; you are the whole you have not make the maker of Posiskara and other large of t you are possessed of infinite knowledge; pover the god of love who is irresistable; you are the giver of infinite blessings.

You are a merchant ; you are a tarpenter; you are the tree; you are the tree talled Vakula (Himutops Elengi, Linn); you are the sandal-world tree (Santalum album, Linn); you are the tree called Chichada (Alstonia Scholaris, sin. Echitis Scholaris, Rozbii von are he whose neck is very strong ; you are he whose shoulder-rount is huge 1 you are not restless ; you are the principal herbs and plants with their produce.

- 111. You are he who grants success upon others regarding the objects noon which they bestow their heart, you are the correct conclusions of both the Vedas and Grammar; you are he who sends out leanine roars; you are endued with leanine fangs; you ride on the back of a tion for performing your journess; you have a car drawn by a lion.
- 112 You are the truth of truth ; you are he whose dish or plate is formed by the Destroyer of the universe; you are always engaged in seeking the well-being of the worlds ; you are he who saves all creatures from distress, you are the bird called Saranga; you are a new swan; sou are he who is shown in beauty on account of the crest on your head, you are he who protects the place where assemblies of the wise sit for dispensing justice.
- 113. You are the abode of all creatures ; you are the cherisher of all creatures; you are Day and Night; you are he who is without fault and, therefore, never censured , you are the upholder of all crea-tures; you arefthe refuge of all creatures; you are without birth , you are existent,
- You are ever fruitful; you are endued with concentration and meditation . you are the horse Uclichaishrayas : you are the giver of food; you are he who upholds the vital airs of living creatures; you are Lifted with patience; you are possessed of intelligence ; you are endued with exertion and eleverness | you are respected by all , you are the giver of the fruis of virtue and sin , you are the cherisher of the senses; you are the lord of all the luminaries; you are all collections of objects, you are he whose dresses are made of cow-hides, you are he who re-
- 115. You have a golden arm, you are he who protects the bodies of Yogins who seek to enter their own selves / you are he who has reduced all his fees to nothingness, you are he the measure of whose gladness is very great; you are he who won victory you are he who has controlled his senses.

116. You are the note called Gandhara In the musical octave; you are he who has an excellent and beautiful home; you are he who is ever Liven to penances , you are of the form of cheerfulness and contentment 1 You are be called wast or infinite; you are he in whose bonor the foremost of hymns has been composed; you are he whose dancing is characterised by big strides and large leaps: you are lie who is worshipped reverentially by the various clans of Ansaras.

117. You are he who owns a vast standatd 1 you are the mountain of Meru. you are he who roves among all the summits of that great mountain, you are so mobile that it is very difficult to catch you; you are capable of being explained by preceptors to disciples although you are meanable of being described in words; you are of the form of that instruction which preceptors give to disciples; you are he who can perceive all agreeable scents simultaneously.

113 You are of the form of the porched gates of cities and palaces, you are of the form of the mosts and duches that surround fortified towns and give the victory to the besieged garrison; sou are the Wind; you are of the form of fortified cities and towns begin by walls and mosts ; you are the prince of all winged creatures ; you are of the form of Garuda: you are he who causes the creation by union of the opposite sexes; you are the foremest of all in virtues and knowledge; you are superior to even him who is the foremost of all in virtues and knowledge; you are above all the virtues and knowledge.

119 You are eternal and immutable as also dependent on yourself; you are the lord and protector of the gods and Asuras; you are the master and protector of all creatures, you are he who puts on a coat of mail, you are he whose arms are competent to grind all enemies; you are an object of worship with even him who is called Suparvan in he iven.

120. You are he who gives the power of bearing or opholding all things; you are yourself competent to bear all things; you are fixed and steady; you are white or pure . You carry the trident that can destroy (all things), you give bodies to those that constantly revolve in the universe of birth and death, you are more valuable than riches; you are the conduct of the righteous.

121. You are he who had torn the head of Brahman after due thought;. you are he who is endued with all those auspicious marks which are described in the sciences of painnists, pad dogs, phreuology and other branches of kn owledge-treating of physically in the partial partial

122. You are the Veda; you are the Struss, the Euranas, and other scriptures; you are the illustrious god of every sacred shrine; you are the illustrious god of every sacred shrine; you are the who has the Earth for his car, you are the inert elements that form every cere sture; you are he who gives hid into every combastion of those mert elements; you are the Pranava and other sacred Mantras that put life into dead matter, you are he was peaceful looks, you are severely harsh.

123. You are he in whom evist numberless precious Attributes and possessions, you have a body if at its red, you are he who has all the wast oceans for so many ponds filled for your drunking; you are he root of the tree of the world; you are equisitely beautiful and shines with superior grandeur; you are of the form of ambrosia or nectar, you are both cause and effect; you are an ocean of penances

124. You are he who is desirous of getting to the lightest state of existence, getting to the lightest state of existence, and a state, you are he who are quirted that after, you are he who is possessed of great fame, you are the ornament of airries, you are he who is bedecked with celestial urnaments, you are Yopa, you are he from whom originates eternal time are he from whom originates eternal time the whom the properties of the propertie

25. You are of the form of Righteousness and sin and their compounds, you are great and without form, you are he who killed the powerful Asira that had approached against the sacred city of Varapposched against the sacred city of Varapposched against the sacred city of varapposched against a second of the proposched against a second of the proposched against the second of their ments, you are approachables, you know all things beyond the ken of the senses, you know the essense, it is now the essense the sense of the senses, you know the essenses, you know the essenses.

126 You are he who continually shines in beauty, you put on gral ands from neck to the feet, you are Hara having the Moon for his beattful eye, you are the salt ocean of unineasurable extent; you are the first three Yugas; you are let whose appearance is always full of advantage to others.

127. You are he who has three eyes; you are he whose forms are greatly subsite; you are he whose forms are greatly subsite; you are he whose ears are bored for putting on levelled dear-rungs; you are the bearer of matted locks; you are the point which midcates the masal sound; you are the two dots (in the alphabet) which indicate the sound of the-apprated H; you have an excellent face; you are the arrow that is shot by the warrior for bringing about shot by the warrior for bringing about the destruction of his enemy; you are all the destruction of his enemy; you are all the destruction of the care by warriors, you are gifted with patience capable of bearing all things.

125. You are he whose knowledge has originated from the stopping of all physical and mental functions; you are ne who appears as fruith on account of the session of all other faculties; you are that more which, originating from the region called Gandhara, is greatly sweet with the ear; you are he who is arried with the powerful bow (called Punkaka) on the who is the understrainting and the state of the sent is under the who is the understrainting and the desires which exist in all creatures, header being the supreme upholder of all brings; you are he from whom all acts originate.

129 You are that wind which originates at the time of the universal dissolution and which is capable of chirming the entire universe as it is staff in the hands of it dairy-maid churrs the milk in the milk, port you are lee who is full, you are lee who seef you are leed to be seef from stapping are the sound which arrives from stapping are the sound which arrives from stapping or the staff of the product of the staff of the staff

130. You are of the shape an umbrells ; you are he who has an excllent umbrells at you are he he hown to be at one with all creatures in the same and the same an

131 You are he who is at one with the green eyed king of beasts, you are of the form of all the points of the compass, you are he who is armed with the flunder, you are he who las a lundred tongues, you are he who las a shougand feet and you are he who las a shougand feet and housand heads, you are the lord and king of the celestrals; you are he who is made up of all the gods, you are the great lord or preceptor.

- 132 You are he who has a thousand arms, you are he who is competent to get the fru tion of every wish, you are he whose practicum is sought by every one; you are he whose practicum is sought by every one; you are he who is the treator of all the first of all one of the form of a firm of a firm of every sin, in the form of a firm and sacred waters, you are the you great (son of Adult and Kashyapa); you are the holds the first of th
- 133. You are the maker of the Brahmina's rod, you are armed with the Satashii the noose, and the dart; you are he who was born within the primal lotus, you are he who has a huge womb, you are he who has the Vedas in his warn's, you are he who takes his rue fron that infinite spin of waters which appears after the disolution of the universe.
- 134 You are he who has the effuleent tays; you are the creator of the Vedas; you are the who knows the meaning of the Vedas, you are the who knows the meaning of the Vedas, you are devited to Brahma; you are the you are the company of the Vedas, you are the company of the Vedas, you have the whole of the your are of the your are the company of the your are the property of the young the your are the your a
- 135 Your nature transcends the three universal tendencies (of Sativas, Rapas and Lamas), you are the ford of all settencies you are feel ford of all settencies you are feel with the mond, you are always succeed with a small plaste, you are the end of the stock of the primaral latus, you are he who brought the celestial cow Surabhi down from a superior station to an inferior one by imprecating a curse upon her, you are that Brahman who was unable to see your end
- 130 You are adorned with a large garleud of Kariykar flawers, you are adorned with a diadem of blue gems, you are the wielder of the bow called Pinaks, you are the master of the science of Brahma, you are his who lase controlled his senses by the left of your knowledge of Brahma; you are his who bearest Gange or your lead, you are the hisband of Uma the dualities of Himawati.
- 137 You are powerful; you are he who protects the universe by assuming various incarnations, you are worthy of adoration, you are that primeval Being with the equine head who recuted the Vedas with a thundering youce, you are he whose favour is very great; you are the great subjugator, you are he who has killed all his enemies, you are both white and twany.

- 138 You have a gold hurd body, you are old a controlled soul, you are the who is of the form of pure 190, you are old a controlled soul, you are the bans of Ignorance which is called Pradhana and which, consisting of the three qualities of Sattwa, Rajas and Tamas is the cause whence the universe has originated, you are it whose faces are turned to every direction, you are he who is superior to all creatures, are he who is superior to all creatures.
- 130 You are the soul of all mobile and immobile beings; you are the giver of immoration and immobile beings; you are the giver of immorativity in the form of Liberation as the first of all acts of virtue achieved by creatures without the desire of firsts, you are the preceptor of even those who are the gods of the gods, you are Vasu the son of Adut; you are he who has innumerable rays of the gods to the gods of the form of that Soma which is dittak in sacrifices
- 140 You are Vyasa, the author of the puranas and other sacred fistories, you are the creations of Vyasa's brain both abringed and unabringed, you are the sum-total of sentiencies, you are the Season, you are the Year, you are the those sacred Days that end or conclude these periods.
- 141. You are the Kalor, you are the Kashthan, you are the Livors, you are the Livors, you are the Muhurta and Aha and Kisapa, you are the Kishanas, you are the said upon which the tree of the universe stands, you are the seed of all creatures, you are the speed of a tenery, you are the sprent of sentency, you are the sprent of sentency.
- 142 You are existent, you are nonexistent, you are Menifect, you are Unmanifest, you are the Eather, you are the Mother; you are the Grandfaster, you are the door of Heyern, you are the are the door of Liveration, you are those are the door of Liveration, you are those acts of writes which lead to the felicity of leaven.
- res. You are extinction, you are the gladdener, you are the region of fruth, you are superior to even that region of Truth which is attainable by the piest, you are he who is the creator of both the gods and the Assirts, you are the refuge of both the gods and the Assirts.

- 141. You are the preceptor of both the gods and the Asuras, you are ever victorious, you are ever worshipped by the gods and the Asuras, you guide the dettes and the Asuras even as the Mahamatra guides the elephant, you are the refure of all the gods and the Asuras refure of all the gods and the Asuras.
- 145 You are the king of bith the deutes and the Asiras, you are the leader in battle of both the gods and the Asiras, you are he who transcends the senses and shines by himself, you are of the form of the celestial Rishis, you grant boons to the detties and the Asiras.
 - 146 You are he who rules the hearts of the gods and the Asturas, you are he into whom the universe enters, you are the refuge of even him who is the ruler of the hearts of both the gods and the Asuras, you are he who has no all the gods, you are he who has no Being super; it you to whom to think, being super; it you to whom to think pods; you are he who has or soul of the gods; you are he who has originated from his own self.
 - 1.17. Votate of the form of immubile things, you are he who cover, the things the state of his owner, the things of the state of great learning on the state of t
 - 148 You are profoundly was, you are he whis first takes a share of the offennes in sarcifices, you are imperceptible you are the collection of all the celestids. You are he in whom penances prevail, you are head with the thindershaps in excellent Youga, you are a separate you are are made and the whole you are a separate you are a separate you are a separate with the thindershap you are a separate you are a separate you are a separate you are a separate which the whole you are a separate you are a separate you are a separate you are to separate you are a separate you are to separ
 - 1.19 You are Guba (the celested communder-inchange), you are the supreme limit of happiness you are the supreme limit of happiness you are he who rescues your creations you are the who rescues your creations from the suprementation of the Yikshas, you are consummate faulties, you are consummate faulties, and the Yikshas, you are consummate faulties, mens,

- 15%. You are he who gives gladness; you are all the celestains in a body, you are the cessation of all things; you are all the dutes that belong to all the modes of life, you are he who has an eye on his forehead, you are he who sports with the inviverse as his marble ball; you are of the inviverse as his marble ball; you are of the firm of deer; you are grited with the energy that is of the form of knowledge and pe nance.
- 151. You are the master of all immobile things, you are lew ho has restrained his senses by various regulations and vows, you are he whose of jets have all been fulfilled you are at one with Liberation, you are different from him whom we edore, you have truth for your penances, you are of a pure heart.
- 152 You are he who lards over over all yows and fasts, you are the lighest, you are Brahma, you are the lighest refuge of your devotees; you are above all letters, you are freed from the corpored bdy, you are endued with every kind of prosperity, you multiply the prosperity of your devitees, you are what is continually undergoing changes.
- 153 I have thus O Krishna, sang the praises of the illustrious god by recting his names 11 the order of their importance. Who is there who can sing the praises of the lord of the universe, that great Lird of all who is worthy of our adorations, worship, and reverence, whom the very gods headed by Brahman are inable to praise and whom the Rishis also fall to sing.
- 154 Helped, however, by my devotion to him and having received his permission. I have lau led that Lord of sacrifices, that Deity of supreme power, that foremost of all creatures gifted with intelligence
- 135 By praising with these names which increase one's auspiciousness the great brid of blessedness a worshipper of devoted soul and pure heart gains his own
- 156 These names form a hymn which supplies the best means of attriumg to Brah na. With the help of this hymn one is sure to acquire. Liberation. The Rishis and the gods all plause the highest deity by uttering this hymn.
- 157 Hymned by persons of controlled soul, Mahadeva becomes pleased with those who sing his praises thus. The illustrous god is always full of mercy fowards his devotees. Gited with omispotence, he it is who gives Liberation to those who adore him.
- 158 Those foremost of men who are endued with faith and devotion, hear and recite for others and utter with respect the praises of that highest and eternal I ord, ver, I shana, in all their successive lives and worship him in thought, word, and dend and worshipping him thus at all times, eer, when they are lying or seated or walking or awake or opening the eyclids or shutting them and thinking of him again and again, become objects of respect with all their fellow men and derive freat pleasure and exceeding joy.

162. When a creature becomes purged of all his sins in course of millions of births in various orders of Being, it is then that devotion originates in his heart for Mahadeya.

163 It is by good luck only that undivided devotion to Bhava who is the original cause (of the universe) fully originates in the heart of one who is conversant with every mode of adoring that great Deity.

164 Such stainless and pure devotion to Rudra, which has singleness of purpose and which is simply irresistible in its course, is seldom to be found among even the gods, but never among men

165 It is through the favour of Rudra that such devotion originates in the hearts of human beings On account of such devotion, men identifying themselves wholly with Mahadeva, succeeds in acquiring the highest success

166 The illustrious Derty, who is always bent upon showing favour to them who seek him with humidity rescues them from the world who throw themselves whole minded-ty upon him.

105 Save the great god who frees creatures from re-birth all other gods continually nullify the Penances of men, for men have no other source of power that it is as great as these.

168. It was thus that Tandt of trang il soul, resembling Indra himself in glory, lauded the illustrious Master of all existent and non-existent things, that great Deny clad in animal skins.

169. This hymn was borne by Brahmana himself Indeed, Brahman had sung it before Shankara. You are a Brahmina. You will, therefore, comprehend it well.

170 This is cleaning, and washes away all sins. This confers Yoga, Liberation, heaven and contentment.

171. He who recites this hymn with rapt devotion to Shankara, succeeds in acquiring that high end which is theirs who are devoted to the doctrines of the Sankhya philosophy. 172 That worshipper who recites this nymin daily for one year with singleness of devotion succeeds in acquiring the end that he desires.

173 This fiymn is a great mystery. It formerly hved in the breast of Brahman the Creator. Brahman gave it to Shakra, Shakra gave it to Death.

174 Death gave it to the Rudras. From the Rudras lands got it. Indeed, tands got it in the region of Brahman as the reward of his austere penances.

175. Tandi communicated it to 'Shukra' and Shukra of Bhrigu's race communicated it to Gautama Gautama, again, O descendant of Madhu, communicated it to Vaivaswata-Manu.

176 Manu communicated it to the highly intelligent Narayana, numbere among the Sadiyas and held highly dear by him the illustrous Narayana, numbered among the Sadhyas and endued with undecaying glory, communicated it to Yama

177. Vaivaswat-Yama communicated at to Nachiketa. Nachiketa, O you of Vrishini's race, communicated it to Markandeya.

178 From Markandeya, O Janarddana I got at as the reward of my vows and fasts, to you O slayer of enemies, I communicate that hymn unheard by others.

178 This hymn leads to heaven. It removes disease and bestows long life. This is worthy of the highest praise, and is consistent with the Vedas.

Krishna said :--

179—50 That person, O Partha, who creates this him with a pure heart observing the vow of celebacy, and with his senses under restraint, regularly for one whole year, succeeds in acquiring the fruits and Rakshases and Pashachas and Vatudhanas and Gulyakas and snakes can do Jobarn to him.

CHAPTER XVIII. '

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).—
Continued,

Vaishampayana said ·-

1. After Vasudeva had stopped, the great Yogin vis., Keishna-Dwaipayana, addressed Yudhishthira, saying,—O son, recite this hymn consisting of the thousand and eight names of Mahadeva, and let Maheshwar a be pleased with you.

- Formerly, O son, I was engaged in the practice of penances on the breast of the mountains of Metu for getting a son. It is this very hymn that was recited by me.
- g. As the reward of this, I acquired the fruition of all my wishes, O son of Panda. You will also, by recting this same hymn, get from Sharva the fruition of all your wishes.
 - 4. After this, Kapila, the Rishi who preached the doctrines of Sanklaya, and who is honoured by the gods themselves, said,—I adorded Bhava with great devotion for many lives. The illustrious god at last became pleased with me and gave me knowledge which can help one in avoiding re-birth.
 - After this, the Rish named 5-7 Charushirsha, that dear friend of Shakra and known also as Alamvana's son and who is filled with mercy, said,-1 in former days went to the mountains of Gakarna and sat mysell to practise hard austerities for a hundred years. As the reward of those penances I got from Sharva, O son of king Pandu, a hundred sons, all of whom were born without the agency of evoman, of well controlled soul, conversant with righteouscess, gifted with great splendour, free from disease and sorrow, and endued with lives extending for a hundred thousand years.
 - 8. Then the illustrious Valmiki addressing Vudhishthira, said—Once upon a time, to course of a disputation, certain ascetics who possessed the Homa-fire condemitted me as one guilty of Brahmanicide
 - As soon as they had condemned me as such the sin of Brahmanicide O Bharata, possessed me I then, for purifying myself, sought the protection of the sinless Ishana who is irresistable in energy.
 - To 4 became purged of all my sins. That remover of all sorrows, vir, the destroyer of the triple city of the Asuras, said to me You will acquire great fame in the world.
 - At. Then Jamadagm's son that foremost of all prous persons effulgent like the Sun 40 the midst of that assembly of Rishis said to the son of Kunti.
 - 12 I was possessed by the sin, O eldest son of Pandu, of Brahmanicide for having skilled my brothers who were all learned Brahmanas. Purifying myself, I sought the protection, O king, of Mahadeva.

- 13. I sang the praises of the great God by rectting his names. At this, Bhava became pleased with me, and gave me battle-axe and many other celestral weapons.
- 14. And he said to me,—you will be 'freed from sin and you will be invuncible to battle. Death himself shall not succeed in overcoming you, for you, will be freed from disease.
- 15. Thus did the illustrious and crested god of auspicious form said this to me. I brough the favour of that god of great intelligence I got all that He had said.
- 16. Then Vishwamitra sud,—I was formerly a Kshatriya I paid my worship to Bhava with the deare of becoming a Brahmana. I brough the favour of that great god I succeeded my getting the high status, that is so difficult to acquire, of a Brahmana.
- 17—18 Then addressing the royal son of Pandu, the Rishi Anita-Devala said,—Formerly O son of Kunit, through the curse of Shakra, all the merit of my pious deeds was destroyed. The power, Mahadeva kindly gave me back that merit together with great fame and a long life.
- 19 The illustrious Rishi Gritsamida, the dear friend of Shakra who resembled the celestial preceptor Vrihaspati himself, addressing Yudhishthira of Ajamidha's race said,—
- 20—21 The inconceivable Shakra had formely celebrated a sacrifice extending for a thousand years. While that sacrifice we see that the sacrifice was count on. I was see gazed by Shakra in of that Man. I was see gazed by Shakra in of that Man. I was seen that was considered to the sacrifice and addressing me, said,—J forenot of twace-born ones, the Rathantara is not being recited properly by you.
- 22 O best of Brahmanas, cease to acquire demerit by reading [so faultily, and with the help of your understanding do you read the Samana correctly O you of wicked understanding, why do you perpetrate such sin destructive of Sicrifice
- 23—24 Having said these words, the Rahu Varishtha, who was very wrail ful, yielded to that passion and addressing me once more, said,—Be thou an animal short work and the said,—Be thou an animal short with the said of the said of the said of the forests destinated in a said of the said of the forests destinated by other animals. Do you thus pass ten thousand years with ten and eight fundered years in addition.

- 25. That forest in which you will have to pars this time will be shorn of all holy trees and will, besides, be the haunt of Ruru deer and hons Verily, you shall have to become a cruel deer plunged in excess of grief.
- 20-27. As soon as he had said these words, O son of Pertha, I immediately became changed into a deer. I then shought the protection of Maheshwara. The great god said to me,—You will be freed from disease of every sort, and besides immerally shall be yours. You will never suffer from gred. Your Irrendship with Indra shall remain unchanged, and let the sacrifices of both Indra and yourself multiply.
- 28. The illustrious and puissant Mahadeva lavors all creatures in this way. He is always the great dispenser and ordainer of the happiness and sorrow of all hving creatures.
- 29 That illustrious god is incapable of being comprehended in thought, word, or deed. O son, O you who are the best of warriors, there is none who is equal to me in featuring
- go. After this, Vasudeva, that foremost of all intelligent men, once more said,— Mahadeva of golden eyes was pleased by me with my penances.
- 31. Pleased with me, O Yudlushihura, the diastrious god said to me, -- You will, O listishua, through my favour, become dearer to all persons than riches which is covered by all
- 32 You will be invincible in battle Your energy slaff be equal to that of fire Mahadeva gave me Housands of other boons at that time.
- 33 In a former mearnation I worshipped Mahadeva on the Mahamantha mountain for millions of years.
- 3 34 Pleased with me, the illustrious god said to me those words —Blessed be you, do you solicit boons you wish for.
 - 35-36 Blowing him I said there words, -11 the powerful Mahadeva has been pleased with me, then let devotion to him be unchanged, O lahana! This is the boon that I solve — he great God said me — Be it so '—and disappeared there and then.

Jaicishavya said .-

37 O Yudhishthira, formerly in the city of Varanzai, the powerful Mahadeva, finding me out, conferred upon me the eight attributes of sovereignty.

Garga said :-

25. O son of Panda, pleased with me,

- on account of a mental sacrifice which I had performed, the great God bestowed upon me, on the banks of the sacred river Sacrawati, that wonderful science, vis, the knowledge of lime, with its sixty-four branches
- 39 He also conferred upon me a thousand sons, all possessed of equal merit and fully conversant with the Vedas Through his favour their periods of life as also mine have become extended to ten millions of years.

Parashara said:-

- 41-12 Formetly I pleased Sarva, O king, I hien chershed hie desure of getting a son who would be endued with great ascetic ment, and superior energy, and addressed to high Yoga, that would acquire world-wide lame, arrange the Yedas and become the home of prosperity, that would be devoted to the Yedas and the Brahmanas, and be famous for mercy. Such a son was desired by me from Malieshwara.
- 42 Knowing that this was the wish of my heart, that foremost of gods said to me,—I brough the fruition of that object of yours which you wish to get from me, you will have a son named Krishna.
- 43 In that creation which shall be known after the name of Savarin-Manu, that son of yours shall be recknied among the seven Rishis. He shall arrange the Vedas, and be the propagator of Kuru's race.
- 44 He shall, besides, be the author of the ancient histories and do behoof to the world Gifted with severe penances he shall, again, be the dear friend of Shakra
- 45 Freed from all sorts diseases, that somely journs, OP areashers, shall, benied to be immortal. —Having said these words, the treat god disappeared there and then. Such is the good, O Yudinshi ira, that it have got from that indestructible and immutable God, sifted with the highest penances and supreme energy.

Mandavya said —

- 46-47 Farmerly, suspected wronkly of thett. I was impaled. I then worth pped the illustrious Maliadeva who said to me,—You shall soon be freed and live for millions of yours. The pangs due to imprisonment shall not be yours.
- 45-49 You will also be freed from all sorts of affliction and disease. And since, O ascetic, this body of yous has originated from the fourth foot of Dharma, (rea-Truit), you will be periless on Fasth Do you make your I'le fruitful, You will, without any obstruction be able to bathe ! Vasudeva said :in all the sacred waters of the Earth

And after the dissolution of 50-51 your body, I shall O learned Brahmana, ordain that you will enj y it e pure felicity of heaven eternally Having said these words to me, the worshipful god having the bull for his carriage, vis , Malieshwara of peerless splendour and clad in animal skin, O king, disappeared there and then with all his companions.

Galava said:

52-53 Formerly I studied from my pre-Getting his permis ceptor Vishwamitra sion I started for home with the object of seeing, my father My widowed mother stricken with sorrow and, weeping bitterly, said to me,-Alas your father will never ree his son who, endued with Vedic knowledge, has been allowed by his preceptor to come home and who having all the graces of youth, is endued with self-con trol.

Hearing these words of my 54-55 mother, I became stricken with despair about seeing again my father paid my adorations with a rapt soul to Maheshwara who, pleased with me, ap peared before me and said -Your father your mother and yourself, O so 1, shall all be freed from death, Go quickly and enter your abode, you shall see your father there

56 Having got the permission of the illustrious god, I then went home, O Yudhishthira, and saw my father, O son, coming out after having finished his daily sacrifice

57. And he came out, having his hands a quantity of sacrificial fuel and Kusha grass ann some fallen fruits. And he ap peared to have already taken his daily food for he had washed himself properly flirowing down those things from his hand my father, with eyes bathed in tears, raised me, for I had prostrated myself at his feet, and embracing me smelt my head, O son of Pandu and said -By good luck, O son, are you seen by me You have returned having acquired knowledge from your preceptor.

Vaishampayana said:--

Hearing these marvellous and most wonderful deeds of the great Mahadeya sung by the ascetics, the son of Pandu became amazed

Then Krishna that foremost of all intelligent persons, then spoke once more to Yudhishthira, that sea of virtue, like Vishnu speaking to Puruliuta.

Upamanyu, who appeared to 61-62 shine like the Sun said to me - Those sinful men who are sillied with impious deeds, do not succeed in attaining to Isliana Having their nature sullied by the qualities of Darkness and Ignorance they can never approach the Supreme Deity It is only ti ose twice-born persons who are of purtfied souls that succeed in attaining to the Supreme Deity. 11

Even if a person enjoys every pleasure and luxury, yet if he be devoted to the Supreme Deity he is considered equal to hermits of purified souls

If Rudra be pleased with a person he can confer upon him the dignity of either Brahma or of Keshava or of Shakra with all the gods under him, or the sovereigniv of the three worlds

Those men O sire, who adore Bhava even mentally, succeed in freeing themselves from all sins and live in the celestial region with all the gods

A person who raises houses to their fou idatio is and destroys tanks and lakes, indeed who lays waste the entire universe, does not become stained with sin if he adores and worships the illustrious threeeyed god

A person who is shorn of every auspicious mark and who is stained by every sin destroys all his sins by meditating upon Sluva

Even worms insects and birds, O Keshava, that devote themselves to Mahadeva, are enabled to move about fearlessly.

Il is is my belief that those men who dry te themselves to Mahadeva become I rsooth, freed from re birth

After this Krishna again addressed Yudinsti ira the son of Dharma in the folfowing vords

Vishnu said -

the Sun the Moon, Wind Tire, 71-78 Earth, the Vasus the Vishwedevas, Dhatri Aryyaman, Shukra, Vrihas-pati the Rudras, the Saddhyas, Varuna, Gopa, Brahman, Shakra, Maruts, the Upanishats that teach a knowledge of Brahma Truth the Vedas, the Sacrifices, Sacrificial Presents, Brahmanas reciting the Vedas, Soma, Sacrificer, the shares of the gods in sacrificial offerings, clarified butter poured in sacrifices, Raksha, Diksha, all kinds of restraints in the form of yows and fasts and rigid observances, Swaha, Vashat, the Brahmanas the celestial cow, the foremost acts of prety, the wheel of Time, Strength, Pame, Self control, the Steadiness of all intelligent persons, all acts of goodness and otherwise, the seven Rishis, Understanding of the foremost order, all kinds of excellent touch, the success of all deeds, the various tribes of the celestrals, those beings that drink heat, those that are drinkers of Som 4/ Likhas, Suyamas, Iushita, all creatures having Mantras for their bodies, Abhasuras, those brings that live upon scents only, those that live upon vision only, those that control their speech, those that restrain their minds the pure, they who are capable of assuming diverse forms through Yoga power, those celestrals who live on touch, those celestrals who live on vision and those who live upon the butter poured to Sacri fices, those beings who can create by their will the objects they require they who are regarded as the foremost ones among the celestials, and all the other celestials, O Ajamida the Suparnas, the Gandharvas, the Pishachas, the Danavas the Yakshas, the Charanas, the snakes, all that is gross and all that is subtile, all that is soft and all that is not subtile, all sorrows and all toys, all sorrow that comes efter joy and all joy that comes after sorrow, the Sankhya philosophy, Yoga, and that which is above all objects regarded as foremost and very superior,-all adorable things, all the celestials, and all the protectors of the universe who entering into the physical forces systam and uphold this ancient creation of that illustrious Deity,-have originated from that Creator of all creatures.

79 All that I have mentioned is grosser than what the wise think of with the help of Pranaces Indeed, that subtile Brahma is the cause of life I how respectfully to it. Let that immutable and indestructible Lord, always worshipped by us, grant us desirable hoons.

So. That person who, governing his senses and purifying hims-li, recutes this hymn, continually for his wow for one month, succeeds in acquaing the merit of a Moraes-warning

8t. By recting this hymn the Brahman succeeds in acquiring all the Vedas; the Kishatriya becomes crowned with victory. O son of Pritha; the Vasishya mi acquiring riches and eleveriess, and the Shudra, in acquiring happiness here and a good end hereafter.

82. By reciting the best of hymns that can cleanse every sin and that is highly sacred and purifying, highly illustrious persons set their hearts on Rudra.

83 A man by reciting this best of hymns succeeds in living in the celestial region for as many years as there are pores in his body.

CHAPTER XIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Continued

Yudhishthira said:-

t. I ask, O foremost of Bharata's race, what is the origin of the declaration, about satisfying all ditties jointly, which is made on the occasion of a person's marriage

2 Is that declaration about satisfying all duties together, due only to what is laid down by the great Rishis in days of yore, or does it refer to the duty of procreating children from religious motives, or has it reference to only the carnal pleasure that is expected from such an intercourse of the sexes?

3 Great is the doubt that fills my mind about. Indeed, I think that the declaration to which I refer is contray to the natural impulses which lead to a union of the sexes, the union in this world for performing duties together cases with death and is not to be seen 10 exist I realier.

4. This union for doing all duties together leads to heaven. But heaven, O grandfather, is attained to by persons that are dead. It is seen of a married couple that only one dies at a time. Where does the other then remain. Do tell me this.

 Men obtain various kinds of fruits by performing various kinds of duties. The occupations, again, to which menfollow are of various kinds. Various, again, are the hells to which they go on account of such diversity of duties and acts.

6 The Rishis have said that women, in particular are false in behaviour. When himan beings are such, and when women in particular are described in the Shastras to be false, how, O sire, can there be a union between the sexes for purposes of performing all duries together.

7. In the very Vedax one may read that women are false. The word 'Outy' as used in the Vedas, appears to liave been comed first for general application. Therefore the application of that word to the rites of marriage is, instead of being correct, poly is form_o[_speech | Inrubbly applied where it has no applications.

8-9 The subject appears to me to be mexplicable although I think of it always. O grandfather, O you of great wisdom, you should explain this to me fully, clearly and according to the Shrutt. In fact, do y iii explain to me what it is, what its characteristics are, and the way in which it las come to pass.

Bhishma said .-

- Regarding it is cited the old discourse between Ashtavakra and the lady known by the name of Disha.
- Formerly Ashtavakra of austere penances, desirous of marriage, begged the great Rishi Vadanya of his daughter.
- The name by which the lady was known was Suprablia. In beauty she was peerless on Earth In virtues, dignity, conduct, and manners, she was superior to all girls
- By a look only that girl of beautiful eyes had robbed him of his heart even as a delightful grove in spring, decked with flowers, robs the spectator of his heart.
- 14. The Rishi addressed Ashtavakra and said .- Yes, I shall give my daughter to you Listen, however, to me Make a journey to the sacred North. You will see many things there.

Ashtavakra said :-

You should tell me what I shall see in that region Indeed, I am ready to carry out whatever command may be laid laid upon me by you.

Vadanya said :--

- Passing over the dominions of the Lord of Ireasures you will cross the Himayat mountains, You will then see the plateau on which Rudra lives inhabited by Siddhas and Charanas.
- 17-18. It is full of the companions of Mahadeva, frolicsome and fond of dance and pursessed of various faces. It is peopled with also many Pishachas, O ford, of various forms and all daubed with fragrant powders of various colors and dancing with joyous hearts in accompaniment brazen matruments of different hinds. circled by these who dance with electric sapidity or refrain at times altogether from freward or backward or transverse motion of every sort Mahadeva lives there.
 - 19 That chaiming spot on the mountams, we have heard, is the favourite abode of the great god, It is said that that great god as also his companions are always present there
 - . 20. It was there that the goddess Uma had practised the severest austerities for

- it is said, that spot is much liked by both Mahadeva and Uma,
- 21-22. Formerly there, on the summit of the Mahaparshwa mountains, which are situate to the north of the mountains sacred to Mahadeva, the Seasons, and the last Night, and many gods, and many human beings also, in their embodied forms, had worshipped Mahadeva. You will cross that region also in thy northward journey.
- You will then see a beautiful and charming forest blue of color and resembling a mass of clouds There, in that forest, you will see a beautiful female ascetic looking like the goddess of prosperity herself.
- Venerable for age and highly blessed, she is going through the initiatory rite. Seeing her there you should duly adore her with reverence.
- Returning to this place after having seen her, you will take the hand of my daughter in marriage. Il you can make this agreement, proceed then on your journey and do what I order you.

Ashtavakra said —

26 So be it! I shall do your bidding. Verily, I shall proceed to that region of which you mention, O you of righteous soul! On your side, you should make your words truthful

Bhishma said:-

- 27. The illustrious Ashtavakra started on his journey. He proceeded more and more towards the north and at last reached the Himavat mountains inhabited by Siddhas and Charanas.
- Arrived at the Himavat mountains that foremost of Brahmanas then reached the sacred river Vahuda whose waters produce great merit.
- He bathed in one of the charming Tirthas of that river, which was free from mud, and pleased the gods with oblations of water. His ablutions being over, he spread a quantity of Kusha grass and laid himself down upon it for taking rest for some time.
- 30. Passing the night in this way the Brahmana rose with the day. He once more performed his ablutions in the sacred waters of the Vahoda and then lighted his homa fire and adored it with the help of many foremost of Vedic mantras.
- 31. He then adored with the due riter both Rudra and his wife Uma, and rested had practised the severest austerities for for some more time by the side of that lake the sake of the three-eyed god. Hence, in the course of the Vahuda whose shores

- he had reached. Refreshed by such rest, he started from that region and then proceeds ed towards Kaifasa.
- 32 He then saw a golden gate that seemed to blaze with beauty. He saw also the Mandakini and the Nahini of the great Kuyera the Lord of Riches.
- 33 "Seeing the Risht arrived there, all the Rakshasas headed by Manthhala who were engaged in protecting that take full of beautiful lotuses came out in a body for welcoming and honouring the illustrious traveller.
- 34. The Rishl adored in return those Rakshasas of terrible profess and asked them to report, forthwith, his arrival to the Lord of Riches.
- 35. Requisted by him to do this, those Rakshasas, O king, said to him,—king Vaishrayana, without waiting for the news, is coming of his own accord to your presence.
- 36. The illustrious Lord of Riches is well acquainted with the object of this your journey. See him,—that blessed Master, who blazes with his own energy.
- 37. Then ting, Vaishravana, approaching the innocent Ashtavakra, dily enquired about his welfare. The instal politic enquires being ever, the Lord of Riches then addressed the twice born Rishi, saying. You are welcone. Do tell me what do you want from me. Inform me of irt, I shall, O twice-born one do whatever you may order me to accomplish.
- 1 39 Do you enter my house as pleases you. O foremost of Brahmanas Duly entertained by me, and after your business is done you may go without any obstacles being placed in your way.
 - 40. Having sail these words, Knivera took the han I of that furemost of Brahma, nas and conducted him into his palace. He iffered him his own seat as also water to wash his feet and the present of the usual Ingredients.
 - 41 After the two had been seated the Yakshas of Kuvera headed by Mambhadra, and many Gandharvas and Hinnaras, also sat down before them
 - 42. After all of them had taken their seats, the I and of Ricker and "Understanding what your pleas we to the various tribes of Apsaras will begin their dance.
 - 43 It is proper that I should entertain you with Tospitality and that you should be served with propriety—I has addressed the ascence Ashiavakra Said, in a sweet voke,—Let the dance go on.

- 44. Then Urvara, Mishrakeshi, Rambia, Urvasin, Alimovisha, Girtatchi, Chitra, Chitrangada, Ruci i Maoshara, Sukeshi, Sumokin, Hasim, Prashia, Vidynta, Prashami, Danta, Vidyota and fiku—dhese and many other beaufidi Apparas began to dance. The G ndharvas played on vatious kinds of missical instruments.
- 41. After such excellent music and dance had begun, the fishi Ashtavakra of austere penances unconsciously passed a full celestial year there in the house of king Vaishravana.
- 48 Then king Valshravann said to the Rishi,—O learned Brahmana, see a little more than a year has passed away since your arrival here.
- 49 this music and dance, especially known by the name of Guntharva, is a stealer of the heart (and of time). Act as you live, or let this go on if that be your pleasure.
- 50 You are my grest and, therefore, worthy of worship lins is your lines. Uo you set your commands. We are all bound to you.
- 51. Ihus addressed by king Vaishravana, the illustrious Ashtavakra, replied to him, with a pleased heart, saying,—I have been duly to orred by you! I desire now, O I ord of Riches, to go hence.
- 52-53 Indeed, I am highly pleased, All this befits you, O Lind of Riches, Ihrough your grace, O illustrous one, and according to the command of the great Rish Vadanya, I shish now proceed to my jurney's east May you enjly prospertly, Illustrate of the Command of the great Rish to the Command of the great Rish to the Command of the Com
- 51 He crossed the Railasa and the Mandara as also the g lider mountains. Beyond those high and great mountains is situate that excellent region where M thadeva dressed as an humble ascetic was bring.
- 55 He went round the spot, with a composed mind bending his head in respect the winds. Descending then or the Earth, he regarded himself purified for having seen that hely spot which is the residence of Mahades
- 55 Haring gone round that mountain thrice the Rishi with face turned towards the north went on with a fayous heart.
- 57 Then he saw another forest that was very delightful. It was ad rised with the fruits and roots of every sesson, and it was filled with the music of bards,

58 There were many charming proves ! in the forest the illustrious Rish then san a beautiful asylum. lulis decked with geins and possessed of

The Rishi saw also many golden

- various forms. There he saw many lakes and tanks also And he saw various other highly beautiful objects. Seeing these things the - mind of that Rishi of purified soul became filled with rov. 61. He then saw a beautiful palace
 - made of gold and a forned with all soits of gems. Of wonderful structure, that palace surpassed the palace of huvera himself in every respect.
 - 62. Around at there were many hills and mounts of rewels and geins. Many beautiful cars and heaps of jewels also were seen there.
 - 63 The Rish saw there the river Mandaking whose waters were covered with numberless Mandara flowers were seen many self lummous gems, and the soil all around was decked with diamonds of various species
 - The palace which the Bishi saw contained many chambers whose arches were set with various kinds of stones those chambers were adorned also with nets of pearls interspersed with jewels and Cems of Valious Species
 - Various sorts of beautiful objects, capable of stealing the heart and the eye surrounded that palace that charming tetreat was inhabited by numberless Rishes
 - Seeing these beautiful sights all around the Rishi began to think of where he would take shelter Proceeding then to the gate of the palace, he ottered these words -.
 - 67. Let those that he here know that a guest has come - Hearing the voice of the Rists, a number of maidens came out in a body from that palace.
 - 68. They were seven m number, O king, Of different sorts of beauty, all of them were tightly charming Livery one of those maidens the Rish saw stele his heart.
 - The sage could not, with even his utmost structles control his mand. In fee 1, seeing those mantens of very great beauty, his heart last its balance. Seeing hi neelf to Live way to such it fliences, the Rich made a suporous effort, and greatly wise as he was be at last succeeded in controlling I misell.
 - 70. Those ladies then addressed the Rest s, saying -I et the ill estrious one enter. -Sinchen with curious about those his life

- beautiful ladies, as also of that palace, the twice-born Rish entered as he was commanded Estering the palace he saw an old lady, with marks of decrepitude, dressed in white robes and adorned with every The Rish blessed her, kind of ornament saying,-Good be to you - the old lady returned his good wishes in due forms Rising up, she offered a seat to the Rishl.
- Having taken his seat, Ashtavakra said.-Let all the ladies go to their respective quarters Only let one stay here Let that one remain here who is endued with wisdom and who has tranquility of heart. Indeed, let all the others go away as they
- Thus addressed, all those damsels went round the Rish and then left the chamber, only that aged lady remaining there
- The day quickly passed and night 75 The Rishi, seated on a splendid ca ne bed addressed the old lady, saying,-O blessed lady, the night is growing deeper. Do you go to sleep
- Their conversation being thus put a stop to by the Rishr, the old lady laid herself down on an excellent bed of great beauty.
- 77. Soon after, she rose from her bed and pretending to tremble with cold, left it for the bed of the Rishi.
- The great Ashtavakra welcomed her courteonsly. The lady, however, stretchme her arms, tenderly embraced the Rishi, O foremost of men.
- 79 Seeing the Rishi quite unmoved and as manimate as a piece of wood, she became very sorry and began to convese with him.
- There is no pleasure, except that from desire, which women can derive from a person of the other sex ! I am now un ler the influence of hist I seek you for that reason. Do you seek me in return.
- 81. Be cheerful, O learned Rishi, and unite yourself with me! Do you embrace me, O learned one, for I desire you greatly.
- 87. O you of rightenes soul this unit with me is the best and desirable reward of those severe penances which you had practised. At the first sight I have become dispused to seek you. Do you also seek
- 83 All this riches and every other precious article that you see here, are mine Dayon, mileell, become the master of all this with my person and beart-
- I shall satisfy every wish of yours ! Do you sport with me, therefore, in these delightful forests, O Brahmana, which can

- 85 I shall obey you implicity in every thing, and you will sport with me according to your pleasure! All objects of desire that are human or that belong to heaven shall be enjoyed by us.
- 86 There is no other pleasure more agreeable to women. Indeed, muon with a person of the apposite sex is the most desirable object of toy that we can get.
- 87. When moved by the god of love women become very whimsical Then they do not feel any pain even if they walk over a desert of burning sand.

Ashtavakra said .-

- 88 O blessed lady, I never approach another's side. One's moon with another man's wife is condemned by persons conversant with the scriptures on maintailty.
- So, I am an utter stranger to enjoyments of every kind. O blessed lady, know that I have become desions of meringe for getting children. I swear by truth mell.
- 90. Through the help of offspring ratheously got, I shall proceed to those returns of happiness which cannot be estained without such help. O good lady, know what is consistent with morality, and knowing it, desist from your efforts.

The lady said :-

- 91. The very gods of wind and fire and water, or the other celestials. O twice horn one, are not so agreeable to women as the god of live Indeed, women are greatly toud of sexual union.
- 92 Among a thousand women, or priliaps, among hundreds of th usands, sometimes only one may be found who is devoted to her husband.
- 03 Under the influence of desire, they care not for family or father or mother or frother or husband or sons or husband's brother.
- 91. Seeking what they consider happiness, it cy destroy it e family even as many livers wash away the banks that content it em. the Creator I invelt had said this, marking the faults of women.

Bhishma said .-

95 The Rish, bent upon finding out the faults of wo nen, addressed that fady, saying —Cease to speak to me thus? Seating organices from liking. It'll me what I am to do.

- 96 That lady then soil in return -O illustrious one, you will all see according to time and place. Do you only live here flor sometime! O highly thessed one, and I shall consider myself sufficiently rewarded!
- 97—93. Thus addressed by her, the twice is in Risht, O'Vulnishtura, expressed its securious to satisfy her request, saying —I shall her with you in this place as long as I can venture to do 2; —I be Itish then seeing that I dy powersed by deceptin legan to think security on the matter. He appeared to be even pained by his thoughts.
- 99 The eyes of that foremost of Brahmanas could not get any delicht from those parts of that lady's person whereupon they were fixed. On the other hand, his looks appeared to be dispetfed by the ugliness of those particular funds.
- to. This lady is, forsoidh, the mistess of this palace. Has she been made uply it rough some curse? I it is not proper that I should quickly determine the course of this.
- tot. Hunking thus in his heart, and curious to know the reason, the Itishi passed the cest of that day in anxiety.
- 102 I'te l-dy then addressed him, saving --O illustrious one, look at the Sun reddened by the evening clouds! What services half I do to you - to: The Rish addressed her, saying, 'Fetch water for my ablanton' Having hatled, I shall recue my evening prayers, controlling my tongue and the senses.'

CHAPTER AX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--

Bhishma said -

- It us ordered, the farly said,—Be it so !—She then brought oil and a piece of cloth for his wear during the ablutions.
- 2. With the ascetic's permission the rubbed every part of his body with the fragrant oil she had brought for him.
- 3 The Rish was rubbed and when the process of rubbing was over, he went to the room set apart for the performance of ablutions. There he sat upon a new and excellent seat.
- 4 After the Rishi liad taken his seat upon it, the 6'd lady began to wash 113 body, with her own soft hands whose touch has highly agreeable

68

- 5-6 One after another in due course, the lady helped the Rishi in his abbituous Between the lukewarm water with which he was washed, and the soft hands which were engaged in washing him, the Rishi of rgid yows could not understand that the whole might had passed away in the work. Rising Irom the bath, the Rishi became highly surprised.
- 7. He saw the Sun risen above the horizon on the East. He was surprised at this and asked himself,—Was it really so or was it a mistake of the understanding
- 8. The Rishi then duly adored the god of a thousand rays. This done, he asked the lady as to what he should do. The old lady prepared some food for the Rishi sweet to the taste like subgrouss uself.
- 9 On account of the sweetness of that food the Rist; could not take much. In taking that little however, the day passed away and evening set in.
- to The old Lady then asked the Rishi to go to bed and sleep. An excellent bed was given to the Rishi and another was taken by herself.
- 11. The Rish and the old lady occupied different beds at first, but when it was inidinglif, the lady left her own bed for that of the Rish.

Ashtavakra said:—

12 O blessed lady, I am not inclined for sexual union with one who is the wife of another. Leave my bed, O good lady, Blessed be you do, you desist from this of your own accord.

Bhishma said :-

13 Thus dissuaded by the Brahmana with the help of his self control, the lady moswered tim, saying —I am my own mistress! In accepting me you will commit no sin,

Ashtavakra said -

14 Women can never be their own mistresses. This is the opinion of the Creator lumself, vis, that a woman should never be indepent.

The lady said :-

15. O learned Brahmana I am pained by desire. Mark int devotion to you. You commit sin by refusing to accept me lovingly.

Ashtavakra said :--

16. Various shortcomings drag away the man who acts as he likes. As for myself, I am able to govern my inclinations by self control. O good lady, return to your own hed.

The lady said:-

17 I bow to you You should show me your favour O sinless one, I prostrate myself before you, do you become my refuse.

18 If you see sin in knowing one who is not your wife, I yield myself to you Do you, O twice-born one, accept my liand in marriage

19 You will incur no sin. I tell you truly. Know that I am my own mistress. If there be any sin in this, let it visit me only. My heart is devoted to you. I am?

Ashtavakra said :--

ao. How is it, O good lady, that you are your own inneress? Lell me the reason of this There is not a single woman in the three woil is who can be considered as the inneress of her own self.

my own mistress. Do you accept me.

21 The father protects her while she is a maiden. The liusband protects her while she is young. Sons protect her when she is aged Woman can never be independent as long as they live.

The lady said. -

22 I have, since my maidenhood adopted the vow of celibacy. Do not doubt it. I am still a maid. Do you make me your wife. O Brahmana, do not kill this devotion of mine to you.

Ashtavakra said -

23. As you are inclined to me so an I inclined to you. There is this question, however, that should be settled. It is true that by giving way to my inclinations I stall not be considered as acting contrary to what if e Rishi (Vadan) a) wishes

24. This is very wonderful Will this lead to what is good? Here is a maiden adorned with good ornaments and robes!

- 25 She is highly beautiful. Why did decreptude in le her beauty so long? At present she looks like a beautiful maident I do not know what form she may assume hereafter.
- 26. I shall never swerve from that control which I have over desire and the other passions or from contentinent with what I have already got. Such swerving is not good. I shall keep myself united with truth-

CHAPTER XXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said :-

I Tell me why had that lady no fear of Ashtavakra's curse although Ashtavakra was gifted with great energy? How also did Ashtavakra succeed in returning from that palace?"

Bhishma said :-

2. Ashtavakra asked her, saying,—How do you change your form so? You should not say anything false I wish to know this. Do you speak truly before a Biahmata.

The lady said :-

- 3 O best of Brahmanas, wherever you may live, in the celestial region or on Earth this desire of union between the sexes is to be observed. O you of infallible prowess, hear with rapt attention, what it all is.
- 4. This trial was converted by me, O sinless one, for examining you aright, O you of infallible prowess, you have conquered all the worlds by the strength of mind.
- S Know me as the embodiment of the Northern point of the compass. You have seen the lightness of the female character. Even old women are tortured by the desirs of sexual umon.
- of the grandfather himself and aff the gods with Indra have been pleased with you I know the object for which your illustrious self has come here.
- 7. O foremost of twice born persons you have been sent here by the Rishi Vadanya—the father of your bride—in order that I may instruct you. According to the wishes of that Rishi I have already instructed you.
 - 8 You will return home safely. Your journey back will not be toilsome. You will get for whe the girl you have chosen She will bear you a son.
- 9 Through desire I had solicited you You gave me the very best answer People of the three worlds cannot get over the desire for sexual union.
- to Return to your quarters, having achieved such merit. What else is there which you wish to hear (from me)? I shall truly describe it to you, O Ashtavakra.
- 11. I was gratified by the Rishi Vadanya in the first instance for your sake, O (wice-horn accetic). For the sake of honoring him. I have said all this to you.

Bhishma said ·--

- 12 Hearing these words of hers, the twice-born Ashtavakra juned his hands respectfully He then begged the lady for her permission to return Getting the permission he sought, he returned to his own hermitage.
- 13. Resting himself for sometime at home and getting the permission of his kinsmen and friends, he then, in a proper way, went, O delighter of the Kurus, to the Brahmana Vadanya.
- 14 Welcomed with the usual enquiries by Vadanya the Right Ashtavakra, with a well pleased heart, described all that he had seen.
- 15 He said,—ordered by you I proceeded to the mountains of Gandhamadana, in the quarter lying to the north of those mountains I saw a very superior goddess.
- 16 I was received by her with courtesy. She named you before me, and also instructed me in various matters. Having listened to her I have returned, O lord
- 17 The learned Vadanya said to him,—take my daughter's hand according to due tites and under the proper constellations. You are the fittest bride-groom I can select for the girl.

Bhishma said '—

- 18 Ashtavakra said,—So be it!—and espoused the girl Indeed, having married the girl, the highly pious Rishi, became filled with joy
- 19 Having taken as his wife that beautiful lady, the Rishi continued to live in his own herimage. Ireed from every sort of mental trouble.

CHAPTER XXII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthıra saıd:—

t. Whom have the eternal Brahmanas selected a proper object of gifts? Is a Brahmana who bears the marks of the order of life he follows to be considered as such, or is one divested of such marks to be so regarded

Bhishma said :--

2 O king it has been said that gifts should be made a Brahmana who follows the duties of his own order, whether he bears the marks of Brahmachary, a or not, for both are faultiess, vis., he who hears such marks and he who is divested of them

Yudhishthira said:-

3 What sin does an impure person commit if he makes gifts of sacrificial butter or food or with great devotion, to persons of the twice-born order?

Bhishma said .-

4 He who has no self-control becomes, forsooth, cleansed by devotion Such a man, becomes purified in respect of every set.

Yudhishthira said:—

5 It has been said that a Brahmana who is sought for the performance of a religious rite should never be examined. The learned, however, hold that white performorming rites for the Pitris, the Brahmana who is sought to be engaged, should be examined.

Bhishma said -

As regards the religious rate for the drives, these do not yield fruit on account the drives, these do not yield fruit on account them but through the grace of the destres themselves. Forsooth, those persons who perform seaffices acquire the ment of those acts, through the favour of the dettes.

7. The Brahmanas, O chief of the Bharatas, are always utterers of Brahma The intelligent Rishi Markandeya, gave vent to these words in days of yore.

Yndhishthira said :-

8 Why, O grandfather, are these five trs, he who is a stranger, he who is gifted with learning, he who is connected by marriage, he that is endued with persances, and he who is devoted to it e-priorimance of sacrifices, considered as proper persons?

Bhishma said :-

9 the first three war, strangers, relatives, and ascetties when endued suit likes attributes, rar, pumy of brith, devotion to relation to relation to the location, and trust futures, are considered as representation. The other two, rar, are personnelled to the relation to the relation of the relati to Listen now to me, O son of Pritha, as I recite to you the opinions of these four persons of great energy, vis., the goddes, Earth, the Rishi Kashyapa, the god of fire, and the ascetic Markandeya.

The Earth said:--

II As a clod of earth, when thrown into the great ocean, quickly dissolves away, so every soit of sin disappears by the three high qualifications of officiation at sacufices, teaching, and receiving of gifts.

Kashyapa said:-

12 The Vedas with their six auxiliaries, the Sankhva phisosophy, the Puranas, and high birth, these cannot rescue a twice-born person if he falls away from good conduct.

Agni said .--

13. The Brahmana who, engaged in study and considering hunsell learned, seeks with the help of his learning to destroy the reputation of others, falls away from virtue and comes to be regarded as divorced from truth. Dust persons of happiness hereafter.

Markandeya said :--

14 If a thousand Hores sacrifices and Irith were weighed in the balance, I do not know whether the former would equal even half of the latter in weight.

Rhishma said -

15 Having spoken these words, those four persons, each of whom is gifted with immeasurable energy, vis, the giddess Earth, Kashyapa, Agin, an I Bhrigo's son armed with weapons, quickly went away.

Yudhishthira said -

16 It Brahmanas observing the yow of ceibacy in this wind eat, begging the same the offerings one makes during functial ries, I ask, can the Shraddha be considered will performed if the performer actually makes over those offerings to such Brahmanas.

Bhishma said -

17. If, having practised the vow of Bratimacharya for the presentable period (of twelve years) and acquired profitiency in the Vedas and three transitions. A Bratimana homself asks for the offerings in-deceding the standard of the same, he is convenient to the standard of the same, he is convenient to the same of the

Yudhishthira said:-

18. The wise hold that duty or virtue has many ends and numerous doors. Tell i me, O grandfather, what, however, are the decisions in this matter,

Rhighma said -

19. Abstention from injury to others' truthfulness, the absence of singer, mercy-self control, and sincerity or candour, Oking, are the marks of virtue.

20. There are persons who wander over the Earth, landing viitue but without practising what they preach and engaged all the while in sin, O king.

21—22. He who gives such pressons gold or gens or kim or horses has to smild in bell and there live for ten years, on the laces of such persons as he upon the flexh of dead kine and buffalos of upon the cultaking of cutes and villages, and of men who give out under the influence of anger and folly, the acts and omissions of others.

23 Those foolish men who do not give a Brahmana observant of the vow of Brahmana rays the offerings made in Shraddhas (unto one's deceased aucestors), have to proceed, O king, into regions of great misery.

Yudhishthira said:-

24. Ieli me, O grand father, what is superior to Brahmacharyya? What is the highest mark of virtue? What is the highest kind of purity?

Bhishma said:-

25. I tell you, O son, that abstention from honey and meat is even superior to Brahmacharyya. Virtue lies within boundaries. The best mark of virtue is Renunciation.

Yudhishthira said :-

26 In what time should one practise virtue? In what time should wealth be amount ? In what time should pleasure be enjoyed? O grandfather, do tell me this.

Bhishma said .--

- 27 One should acquire riches the first part of 11s life. Then should one acquire virtue, and then early pleasure. One should not, however, be addicted to any of these.
- 28 One should respect the Brahmanas, worship his preceptor and seniors, show mercy to all creatures, be of mild disposition and sweet speech.
- 29 To utter untruth in a court of justice to behave deteitfully towards the king, to act falsely towards preceptors and elders, f are considered as equivalent to Brahmantcide.

- 30. One should never do an act of violence to the king's body. Nor should one ever strike a cow. Bull these offences are equal to the sm of feeticide.
- 31. One should never quit his (homa) fire. One should also renounce the study of the Vedas. One should never attack a Brahmana by words or deeds. All these offences are equal to Brahmanude.

Yudhishthıra said:—

32. What kind of Brahmanas should be considered as good? Who are those Brahmanas by making presents to whom one may win great merit? What kind of Brahmanas are they whom one should feed? Lell me all this, O grandfather.

Bhishma said :-

33 Those Brahmanas who are freed from anger, who are devoted to acts of vittue, who are firm in Iruth, and who practise self-control, are considered as gold. By making gifts to them one acquires great ment.

34 One acquires great merit by making presents to such Brahmanas as are free from pride, capable of bearing everything, firm in the pursont of their objects, gifter with mastery over their senses, devoted to the behoaf of all creatures, and dispused to be friendly towards all.

35 One acquires great ment by making gits to such drahmanas as are free from awartee, as are pire of heart and conduct, gifted with learning and modesty, truthful in speech, and observant of their own duties as sanctioned in the scriptures.

36. The Rishis have declared that Brahmana to be a deserving object of gifts who studies the four Ved-s with all their auxiliaries and is devoted to the six well-knowled ditte. One acquires great ment by making gifts to Brahmanas endued with such qualifications.

37. The man who makes gifts to a wortly Strahman multiplies has meret a thousand fold. A single noise Brahman gifted with wisdom and Veduc lore, observant of the duties land down in the scriptures, and marked out by printy of conduct is capable to resoue a whole family.

38. One should make gifts of kine and horses and riches and food and other kinds of articles to a Brahmana who is gifted with such qualifications. By making such gifts to such persons one acquires great happi-

- 39 As I have already told you even one such Brahmana can save the entire family to which the giver belongs. What need I say, therefore, O dear son, of the inertiof making glists many Brahmanas of such qualifications? I making gitt therefore, one should always select the object to whom the glis is to be made.
- 40. Hearing of a Brahmana gifted with proper qualifications and respected by all good people, one should livite him even if he lives at a distance and welcoming him when he arrives, one should adore him by all means in his power.

CRAPTER XXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA). Continued.

Yudhishthira said :--

 I wish you, O grandfather, to tell me what the ordinances about the rites for the dettes and the departed manes on occasions of Shraddhas.

Bhishma said --

- 2 Having purified oneself and then performed the well known auspicious rites, one should carefully perform all acts relating to the Pitris in the afternoon,
- 3 What is given to men should be given in the midday with love and regard. That gift which is made untimely is taken by Rakshaaas.
- 4. Gifts of articles that have been leapt over by any one, or been licked or sucked, or are not given pracefully, or have been seen by women who are impure for being in their season do not produce any merit Such gifts are considered as the portions of Rakshasas
- 5. Gifts of articles that have been announced before many people or from which a part has been eaten by a Shudra, or that have been seen or licked by a dog form portions of Rakshasas
- 6 Food which is mixed with hair or in which there are worms or which has been spoiled with spittle or saliva or which has been looked at by a dog or into which lear-drops have fallen or which has been trodden upon, should be known as forming the part of Rakshasas,
 - 7. Food that has been eaten by a person incompetent to utter the syllable OM, or

- that line been eaten by a person bearing arms, O Bharata, or that has been eaten by a wicked person, should be known as due to Rakshasas.
- 8. The food that is eaten by a person from which a part has already been eaten by another, or which is eaten without a part thereof having been effered to gods and guests and children, is appropriated by Rakshisans Such impure loud, if offered in the deties and Pitrs is never accepted by them but is appropriated by Rak-
- 9 I he food that is offered by the three twice-born classes in Shraddhas in which Mantas are either not uttered or uttered incorrectly and in which the ordinances land down in the scriptures are not duly performed, if given to guests and other people, is appropriated by Rakshasas.
- to The food that is given to guests without having been previously dedicate to the denies or the Pitris with the help of libations on the sacced fire, or which has been stilled on account of a part thereof having been eaten by a person who is wicked or of irreligious conduct, should be known as being due to Raskibazas.
- 11 I have described to you the dues of the Rakshasas Listen now to me as I put down the rules for determining the Brahmana who is worthy of gifts.
- 12 All Brahmanas that have been outcasted, as also Brahmanas who are idiots and usane, do not deserve to be invited to Shraddhas in which offerings are imade to either the detites or the departed manes.
- 13 That Brahmanas who is afflicted with feucoderma, or he who is shirm of generative power, or he who has got leprosy, or he who has got phthisis, or he who suffers from epilepsy, or he who is blind, should not, O king, be invited.
- 14 Those Brahmanas who practise as physicians, those who get regular pay for adoring the images of gods established by the rich, or live upon the service of the gods, those who observe yows from pride or other false motives, and those who self Soma wine, do not deserve to be invited.
- 15 Those Brahmanas who are, by profession, vocalists, or dancers or players of instrumental musicians, or reciters of sacred bloks, or warriors, and athletes, should not, O king, be invited
- 16 I hose Brahmanas who pour libations on the sacred fire for Shudras, or who are preceptors of Shudras, or who are servant of Shudra masters, should not be invited.

- 17. That Brahmana who is paid for his services as a preceptor, or who attends as upual upon the lectures of some preceptor for an aflowance paid to him, does not deserve to be invited, for both of them are considered as sellers of Vedic learning.
- 18 That Brahmana who has been once induced to accept the gift of food in a Shraddha at the very beginning, as also he who has married a Shindra wife, even if gifted with every sort of knowledge, should not be invited.
- 19 Those Brahrsanas who have no domestic fire, and they who attend upon corpses, they who are threves, and they who have otherwise degraded themselves, do not O king, deserve to be invited.
- Those Brahmanas whose antecedents are not known or are vile, and they who are Pittika putras, should not, O king, be invited on occasions of Shraddhas.
- 21. That Brahmana who gives loans of money, or he who lives upon the interest of the forms given by hun, or he who lives by the sale of living creatures, should not, O king, be invited
- 22. Persons who are henpecked or they who live by becoming the paramours of us chaste women, or they who do not perform their morning and evining prayers, should not, O king, be invited to Shraddhas.
- 23 Listen now to me as I say who the Brahmana is who has been ordained for acts done in honor of the gods and the departed maines. Indeed, I shall tell you what those ments are on account of which one may become a giver or a recipient of gifts in blanddhas.
- 21. Those Brahmanas who perform the tries and ceremones had down in the scriptures, or they who are possessed of men, or they who know well the Gayatti, or they who know well the Gayatti, or they who perform the ordinary duties of Brahmanas, even if they suppers to take to agriculture for a living, wie capable, O kong, it being worder to "Monadifinas."
- 25. If a Brahmana happens to be well-born, he should be invited to Straddhas normithatanding his taking up arms for fighting the battles of uters, that Brahmana, however, O son, who happens to drive a trade for a trying should be discarded.
- 26. Hat Brahman's who pours libations every day on the sacred fire, or who lives in a fixed babitation, who is not a their and who performs the duties of hospitality to guests assived at his losse, should, O king, be myted to Shraddhas,

- 27. That Brahmana, O clud of Bharrata's race, who recties the Savits morning, 1,000, and night, or who lives upon charties, begging as much as is necessary, who is observant of the rites and cremonies land down in the extipities for persons of the order, should, O king, be invited to Shraddhas.
- 28. That Brahmana who having acquired riches in the mortung becomes poor in the afternoon, or who poor in the morning becomes rich in the evening, or who is short of malice, or is strined by a miner fault, should, O king, be invited to Shraddhas.
- 29. That Brahmana who is shorn of pride or sin, who is not given to dry disputation, or who lives upon alma got in his rounds of mendicancy from house to house, 'should, O king, be invited to socrifices.
- 30. One who does not observe vows, to who is given to untruth, who is a thief, or who lives by the sale of living creatures or by trade in general, should be invited to Shraddhas, O king, if he happen to subsequently drink Soma in a sacrifice,
- 3t. That man who having acquired riches by food or cruel means subsequently spends it in worshipping the gods and performing the duties of hospitality, becomes worthy, O king, of being invited to Shraddhes.
- 32. The riches that one has acquired by the sale of Vedic learning, or which has been acquired by a woman, or which has been gained by meaniess, should never be given to Brahmanas or spent in making offerings to the departed manes.
- 33. That Brahmana O chief of Bharata's rate, who upon the completion of a Shraddia that is performed with his help, refuses to utter the words yukts, commisthe sin of swearing falsely in a suit for land.
 - 34. The time for celebrating the Shraddha, O Yudhushira, is that when one gets a good brahmana and curds and clarified butter and the sacred day of the new moon and the meat of wild animals such as deer and others.
 - 35. Upon the termination of a Shraddha performed by a Brahimann the word Shandha should be uttered. "If performed by a TSharrya the words that should be uttered are—Let your departed manes be pleased.
- 36-38. Upon the completion of a Steaddna performed by a Varshya, O Bharata, the words that should be uncreated are.—Let everything become endless!—

- Likewise upon the completion of a Shraddin performed by a Shudra, the word that should be uttered is $\footnote{\text{Month of the North of the $\text{Month of the North of the North of the $\text{Month of the North of the North of the $\text{Month of the North of
- 39 All the rites consequent upon birth, O Bharata, are necessary in the case of all the three castes. All these rites O Yudhishihira in the case of both Bra Imaias and Kshatriyas as also in that of Vaisliyas are to be performed with the help of Manitras.
- 40 The girdle of Brahmana should be made of Munja grass That of a Kst atriya should be a bowsting The Vaisha a girdle should be made of the Valwaji grass This has been laid down in the scriptures
- 41 Listen now to me as I explain to you what forms the merits and demerits of both givers and recipients of gifts.
- 42 A Brahmana violates his duty by uttering an untruth Such an act on his part is simful. A Kshatriya perpetrates four fold and a Vatshya eight-fold the sin untruth
- 43 A Brahmana should not eat elsevice, having been previously invited by Brahmana B, eating at the house of the person by whom he has been invited dietwards, he becomes inferior and even neurs the sin of the slaughter of an ar imal no occasions other than those of sacrifices
- 44- So also, if he eats elsewhere after availing been invited by a Kishattija or a Vasilya, he falls away from 1 is position and incurs half the sin of the slaughter of an ar imal on occasions other than those of sacrifices.
- 45. That Brahmana, O king, who eats no occasions of succle acts as are performed in more of the took or the departed manes by Brahmanas and Kshatinas and Vashijas with out having performed his bluttons, commits the sin of uttering an unitual for a cow
- 46 That Brahmana, O king, who eats on occasions of similar acts performed by Jersons belonging to three higher castes, at a time when he is impure on account of tither a birth or a death among his cog-

- nates, and knowing that he is impure or
- 47 He who lives upon riches acquired under false pretences like that of sayarins to sacred places or who begs the giver for riches pretending that he would spend it in religious acts commits, O king, the sin of uttering an untruth.
- 48 Hat person, belonging to any of the flirce higher castes, O Yudhishhirz, who at Shraddhas and on other occasions distributes food with the help of Murch to such Brahmans as do not study the Yedas or who do not observe yows or who have not purified their conduct, forsooth, commits suit.

Yudhishthıra said —

49 I wish, O grandfather, to know who those persons are by giving to who in the things dedicated to the gods and the departed, amanes, one may acquire sufficient tewards.

Bhishma said :--

- 50 Do you O Yudi ishthira, feed those Brahmanas whose wives respectfully want for the residue of the dishes of their lusbands like tillers of the soil waiting respectfully for timely-showers of rain
- 51 By making gifts to those Brahmans who are blayed of the conduct, O king, who are historical processing of from all buxures and even full meals, who are given to the observance of such tows as lead to the emaciation of the body, and who approach givers with the object of getting gifts, one acquires great merit.
- getting gitts, one acquires great merit.

 52 By making gifts to Brahmanas who considers conduct in the light of food, who considers conduct in the light of wrest and children, who considers conduct in the light of strength who considers conduct
 light of strength who considers conduct would not of their reluge for crossing that would not of their reluge for crossing that would not of the reluge for crossing that would not only the relugion of the relugion would not be relugion to the relugion
 would not be relugion to the relugion would not be relugion.
- 53 By making gifts to those persons, O Yudinshthira who having fost everything through theives or oppressors, approach the giver, one gains great merit.
- 54 By making sifts to such Brahmanas as beg food from the hands of even a poor person of itheir caste who has just got something from others, on, acquires great merit.
- 55 By making gifts to such Brahmanas as have lost everything in times of universal distress and as have been deprived of thele wives on such occasions, and as come to givers with solicitations for alms, one acquires great ment.

75

ANUSHASANA PAR

- 56 By mixing gifts to such Brahmanas as ubserve vous, and as place themselves voluntarily under painful rules and regulations, according to the Vedic injunctions, and as come to a heat riches for spending it upon the rites necessary to complete their vows and other observances, one acquires great merit.
- 57 By making gifts to such Brahmanas a slive at a great distance from the practices followed by the sinful and the wicked, as are shorn of strength for want of adequate support, and as are very poor in earthly possessions, one acquires great ment.
 - 58. By making gifts to such Brahmanas as have been deprived of all their possessions by powerful men but as are perfectly innocent, and as desire to fill their stomachs with any and every sort of food, one accourse great nerts.
 - f. 50. By making gifts to such Brahmanas as beg on behalf of oil ers performing penances and devoted to them, and as are satisfied with even small gifts, one acquires great merit.
 - Go, You have now, O foremost of Bharata's race, heard what the scriptural declarations are about the acquisition of great merit by the making of gits. Hear from the now of those acts that lead to hell or heaven.
 - 61. They, O Yudhishthira, that speak an untruth on occasions other than those when such untruth is encessary for serving the purpose of the preceptor or for giving the assurance of safety to a person in lear of his bife, sole in bif.
 - 62. They who 'ravish other people's wives, or have sexual intercourse with them, or gestst at such similal acts, sink in hell,
 - 63. They who tob others of their riches or destroy the riches and properties a dother people, or transpet the shortcomings of other people, sink in hell
 - 64 They who spoil tanks used by cattle for satisfying thirst, who impurbuildings used for public meetings, who break down bridges and causeways, and who pull down ducling-louses, have to sink in hell.
 - 65. They who lead astray and cheat heldless women, or guls, or aged dames, or such women as have been frightened, have to sink in hell.
 - 66 They who destroy the means of other people's subsistence, they who root out the lightfulns of other people, they

- who tob others of their wives, they who sow dissensions among friends, and they who destroy the hopes of other people, sink in hell.
- 67. They who trumpet forth the faults of others, they who break down bridges or causeways, they who live by following other people's calling and they who are ungrateful to breads for services received, have to suck in hell
- 68 They who have no faith in the Vedas and show no respect for them, they who break the vows made by themselves or make offices to break them, and they who fall away from their status through sin, sink in tell.
- 69 They who follow improper conduct they who take exorbitant rates of interest, and they who make unduly large profits on sales, have to sink in hell.
- 70. They who are given to gambling, they who unhesitatingly perform wicked acts, and they who are given to killing living creatures, have to sink in hell.
- 71. They who make the masters dismiss the servants that are hoping for rewards or are in the enjoyment of wages or salaries or waiting for returns in respect of valuable services already done, have to sink in hell.
- 72 Hey who themselves eat without offering portions thereof to their wives or their sacred fires or their servants or their guests, and they who do not perform the sites list down in the scriptures for honouring the departed manes and detires, have to shik in hell
- 73 They who sell the Vedas, they who find full with the Vedas, and they who reduce the Vedas into writing, have all to sink in helf.
- 74 They who are out of the limit of the four well-known modes of life, they who follow to practices interdicted by the Shrutis and the scriptures, and they who perform weeked or small deeds or wio do not belong to their order of birth, have to sink in hell.
- 75 If ry who live by selling hair, they who live by selling pasons, and they who live by selling mile, have to sink it hell.
- 76. They who put impediments in the path of Brai manas and kine and maidens, U Yudhishthura, have to suce in hell.
- 77 They who sell weapons, they who forge weapons, they who make arrows, and they who make hows, have to sink in hell.
- 73 They who obstruct paths and roads with stones and thorns and holes have to

- 79. They who renounce preceptors and servants and loyal followers without any offence, O foremost of Bharata's race, have to sink in hell.
- So. They who set bullocks to work when the animals have not come of age, they who hore the noses of bullocks and other animals for controlling them the better while engaged in work, and they who keep animals always tethered, have to sink in hell.
- St. Those kings who do not protect their subjects while forcibly collect from them a sixth share of the produce of their fields, and they who, though able and possessed of resources, abstain from making gifts, have to sink in hell.
- 82 They who renounce persons gifted with forgiveness, self control and wisdom, or those with whom they have associated for many years when these are no longer of secuce to them, have to such in hell.
- 83 Those men who themselves eat without giving parts of the food to children, aged men and servants, have to sink in hell
- 84. All these men numbered above have to go to hell Listen now to me, O foremost of Bharata's race, as I tell you who those men are who ascend to heaven.
- 85 The man who transgresses against a Brahmana by obstructing the adoration of gods, suffer from the loss of all his children and animals.
- 86 Those men, O Yudhishthira, who perform the duties laid down in the scriptures for them, practising the virtues of charity, self control and truthfulness, go to the celestial region.
- S7 Those men who having acquired knowledge by making obedient services to their preceptors and performing austere penances are inwilling to accept lifts, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 88 Those men who save people from fear and sin and who remove the obstacles bying in the wish its accomplish and poverty and the sufferings of disease, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 89 Hose men who are gifted with a forfiving disposition, who are endued with patience, who are ready to perform all righteous rites and who are of pure conduct, succeed in ascending to heaven
- go. Those men who astam from honey and meat, who abstruct form sexual inter-course with the wives of other people, and who abstam from wines and spiritous liquors, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- gr. Those men who help in the establishrient of asylumns for ascetics, who be-

- come founders of families, O. Bharata, who open up new countries for purposes of dwelling and implant towns and cities, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 92. Those men who distribute cloths and ornaments as also food and drink, and who help in marrying offers, succeed in ascending to beaven.
- 93 Those men who have abstanted from all sorts of injury or barm to all creatures, who can endure everything, and who have made themselves the refuge of all creatures succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 94 Those men who wait humbly upon their parents, who have controlled their senses, and who are affectionate towards their brothers, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 95 Those men who master their senses though they are rich in worldly possessions, endued with robust constitution and gived with youthful vigour, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 06 Those men who are kind even towards the offenders who are of rild dsposition, who have an affection for all who are of mild behaviour, and who contribute to the happiness of others by rendering them every kind of service in humitity, succeed in accending to heaven.
- o7. Those men who protect thousands of people, who make gits to thousands of people, and who rescue thousands of people from distress, succeed in ascending to heaven.
- 98 Those men who make gifts of gold and of kine, O foremost of Bharata's race, as also of conveyances and animals, succeed in accending to heaven
- gg Those men who give away such articles as are necessary in mairiages, as also servante and mande and cloths and robes succeed in ascending to heaven
- 100. Those men who make public pleasure-houses, and suidous for public meetings, and tanks for enabling cattle and men to satisfy their thirst, and fields for cultivation, O Bharata, succeed in ascending to heaven.
 - tol. Those men who give houses and fields and populated villages to persons that want them, succeed in ascending to lieaven
 - to? Those men who having themselves manufactured drinks of sweet taste and seeds and paddy or rice, give them to others, succeed in ascending to heaven
 - 103 Those men who having been born to families high or low beget hundreds of el ildren and live long lives, practising mercy and keeping anger under complete control, succeed in ascending to heaven.

104. I have thus explained to you, O Blinatata, what the rites are in bolour of the detites and the departed manes which are performed by people for the sake of the other world, what the ordinances are about making gifts, and what the views are of the Rishus of former times about both the articles of gift and the manner of groung them.

CHAPTER XXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).~

Yndhishthura said :--

1. O dessendant of Bharata's race, you should answer this question of mine truly and in detail. What are those circumstances under which a person may become guilty of Brahmanucide without actually killing a Brahmanu.

Bhishma said :-

- 2 Formerly, O king, I had one day requested Vyasa to explain to me this very subject. I shall now describe to you what Vyasa told me on that occasion. Do you listen to it with rapt attention.
- 3 Going to Vyasa, I addressed him saying,—You, O great ascette, are the fourth in descent from Varchishtha! Do you explain to me this What are those circumstances under which one becomes guify of Brahmaneide without actually killing a Brahmana?
- 4. Thus addressed by me, the ownhegotten son of Parashara, O king, an adept in the science of morality, gave me the following answer at once excellent and fraught with certainty.
- 5 You should know that man as guilty of Brahmanicide who having of his own accord invited a Brahmana of pious conduct to his house for giving him. Jims, then refuses to give anything on the pretence of there being nothing in the house.
- 6 You should O Bharata, know that man as mity of Brahmanicide who destroys is means of though of a Brahmani well read in the Vedas, and all their branches, and who is shorn of attachments to worldly creatures and goods.
- 7. You should, O king, know that man to be guilty of Brahmanicide who puts im-

- pediments in the way of thirsty kine while engaged in satisfying that thirst.
- 8 You should take that man as guilty of Brahmanicide who, without studying them, finds fault with the Shruus that have come down from preceptor to pupil for ages and ages together, or with those scriptures that have been composed by the Rishts
- 9 You should know that man as guilty of Brahmanicide who does not confer upon a suntable bridegroom his daughter endued with beauty and other excellent qualities.
- to You should know that foolish and sinful wightenish to be guilty of Brahmanicide who pains the Brahmanas to the very core of their hearts,
- 11. You should know that man to be guilty of Brahmanicide who robs the blind, the lame, and idiots.
- 12 You should know that man to be guilty of Brahmanicide who sets fire to the hermitages of ascetics or to forests er to a village or a town.

CHAPTER XXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) .--Continued.

Yudhishthira said:--

1. It has been and that sojourns to sacred waters is full of merit, that ablutions in such waters is mentorious, and that Intenmy to the excellence of such waters is also mentorious. I wish to lear you expand on this subject, O grandfather

2 You should, O chief of Bharata's race, mention to me the sacred waters existing on this Earth. I wish, O you of great power, to hear you describe to me this subject.

Bhishma said :--

- 2. O you of great splendour, Angiras thus enumerated the sacred waters on the Earth. Blessed be you, you should listen to it, for you will then acquire great merit.
- 4—5 Once on a time approaching the great and learned Rish Angreas gitted with transquility of sout, while he was living in a forest, Gautama of rigid yows questioned him, saying,—O illustrious one, I have some doubts regarding the ments of sacred describe that subject. Do you, therefore, O ascette, describe it is an order to be some doubts.

6 What ments are acquired by a person regarding the next world, by bathering in the sacred waters on the larth, O you of great wasdom? Do you explain to me this truly and according to the ordinance.

Angiras said :-

- 7. A person by bathing for seven days successively in the Chandrabhaga or the Vitasta whose waters are always seen to dance in waves, fasting all the while, is sure to become purged of all his sims and endued with the ment of an ascetic.
- 8. There are many rivers in the country called Kashmirk. All these fall into the great river called Sindhu (Indus). By bathing in these rivers one is sure to become gifted with good character and to ascend to heaven after leaving this world.
- 9. By bathing in Pushkara, Prabhasa, and Naimisha, and the ocean, and Devika, and Indramarga, and Swarnaumidi, one is sure to ascend where, seated on a celestial car, one is sure be filled with joy on being worshipped by the Apsaras.
 - 10 By bathing in the waters of Hiranyawindu with a concentrated mind and respecting that sacred river, and bathing next at Kusheshaya and Devanta, one becomes purged of all one's sins.
 - 11. Going to Indratoya near the Mouncains of Gradhamadana and next to Karatoya-in the country called Kuranga, one should fast for three days and then bein in those sacred waters with a concentrated heart and pure body. By doing this, one is sure to acquire the ment of a Horsesacrifice.
 - 12 Bathing in Gangadwara and Kushayarta and Vilwaka in the Blue mountains, as also in Kanakhala, one is sure to become purged of all one's suis and then ascend to heaven.
 - 13 If one becomes a Brahmacharin and control his anger, devotes one self to truth and practises merey towards all creatures, and then bathes in the Lake of Waters one is sure to acquire the merit of a Horse-sacrifice.
 - 14 That part where Bhagirathi Ganga flows northwards is known as the union of heaven, Earth, and the neither regions Fasting for one month and bathing in that sacred Firtha which is acceptable to Maheshwara, one can see the detites
 - 15 One who gives oblations of water to his departed manes at Saptaganga and Iriganga and Indramarga, obtains am-

- bross for food if one has still to go through re-birth.
- 16. The man who in a pure state of body and mind performs his daily Agnihora and fasts for one month and then bathes in Mahashrama, is sure to acquire success in one month.
- 17 By bathing, after a fast of three days and purifying the mind of all evil propensities, in the frige lake situate in Biriguinga, one becomes purged of even the sin of Brahminicide.
- 18 By bathing in Kanyakupa and performing one's ablutions in Valaka, one wins great fame among even the celestials and shines in glory.
- 19 Bathing in Devika and the lake known by the name of Sundarika as also in the Firtha called Ashwini, 'one acquires, in next life, great personal beauty,
- By fasting for a fortnight and bathing in Mithaganga and Krittikangaraka, one becomes purged of all his sins and ascends to heaven.
- 21. Balling in Vaimanika and Kinkinika, one acquires the power of going everywhere at will and becomes an object of great respect in the celestial region of the Apsaras.
- 22 If a person, controlling his anger, and observing the vow of Brahmacharyya for three days, bathes in the river Vipasa at the hermitinge called Kalika, he is sure to get over re-birth.
- 23 Bathing in the asylum that is sacred to the Krittikas and offering oblations of water to the departed manes, and then pleasing Mahadeva, one becomes pure in body and mind and ascends to heaven.
- 24. If one, fasting for three days with a purified body and mind, buthes in Mahapura one becomes freed from the fear of all mobile animals as also of all two feeted animals.
- 25 By bathing in the Devadaru forest and offering oblishions of wirer to the departed manes and living there for seven nights with a pure body and mind, one acquires the region of the celestials on departing from this world
- 26 Bathing in the waterfalls at Sharastaniva and Kushastaniva and Dronasl armapada, one is sure to acquire the region of the Apsaras where one is duitfully served by those super-human beings
- 27 If one, fasting bathes at Chitrakuta and Janasthana and the waters of Manda-kim, one is sure to be gifted with regal prosperity.

- 28 By going to the retreat of Shyama and hinting there for a fortinglit and hathing in the sacred water that hes there, one acquires the power of disappearing at will
- 29 Going to the tirtha Kaushiki and living there with a pure heart and abstaning from all food and drink for three days, one acquires the power of living in the happy region of the Gandharvas
- 30 Bathing in the charming tirtha Gandhataraka and living there for one month, abstaning all the-while from food and drink, one acquires the power of disappearing at pleasure and, then in twenty-one days of ascending to heaven.
- 31-32. He who bathes in the lake Manual is success in one ingit. He who bathes in Analainva or the eternal, Andhaka, or in Naimisha, or the tirtha called Swarga, and offers oblations of water to the departed inanes, controlling his senses all the white, acquires the merit of a bunnal sacrifice.
- 33. Bathing in Gangahrada and the tirtha Utplavana and dady offering oblations of water there for a full mouth to the departed manes, one acquires the merit of a Horse-sacisfice.
- 34 Bathing in the conflience of the Ganga and the Yamuna as also at the tirtha in the Kalaujara mountains and offering every day obtations of water to the departed manes for a full month, one ac quires the ment of ten Horse-sacrifices.
- 32-90 Bathing in the Shashish lake one acquires merit much greater than what appertains to the gift of food. I en thousand trethas and thetry millions of other tirthus come to Prayage, O chief of Bharata's race, in the month of Magha. He who bathes in Prayage, with a controlled mind and observing rigid cows all the while and the prayage of all the same of the prayage of the pray
- 37. Bailing in the tirtha that is sacred to the Marinis, as also in that which is situate in the retreat of the departed manes, in and also in that which is known by if ename of Vaivaswatas, one becomes purged of all one's sins and as pure and sanctified as a tirtha.
- 38 Going to Brahmasaras as to the Bhagirathi and bathing there and offering oblations to the departed manes every day for a full month, abstaning from food all the while, one is sure to go to the region of Soma.
- 39 Bathing in Utpataka and then in Ashtanakra and offering oblations of water to the departed manes every day for taging days successively, abstaining all the while from food, one acquires the ments of a literse-sacrifice.

- 40. Bathing in Ashmaprishtha and Krawnda in unitanis and Kraunchapadi,—aff three in Baya—ine becomes purged of the sin of Bathinaunche. A bath in the first place purifies one of a single Brahmanche, a bath in the second cleaness one of two similar offences, and a bath in the third cleaness one of three such offences.
- 41. Bathing in Kalavinga, one gets a large quantity of water. A man, by bathing in the city of Agin, acquires such ment as entitles him to live at his next birth in the city of Agin's daughter.
- 42 Bathing in Vishala in Karavirapura and offering oblations of waters to his departed manes and performing his ablutions in Devaluada too, one becomes at one with Brahma and shines in glory as such, 43 Bathing in Punaravarta-Nanda as
- also Mahananda, a man of controlled senses and universal mercy goes to the celestral garden of Nandana and served there by the various tribes of Apsaras.
- 44 Bathing with concentrated soul inthe titch of Bryashi which is situate in the river Lohitja, on the day of full moore of the month of Kartika, one acquires the ments of Pundarika sacrifice.
- 45. Bathing in Ramahrada and offering oblations of water to the departed manes in the river Vipasha (Beas), and fasting for twelve days, one becomes purged of all sins
- 46 Bathing in the tirtha called Mahahrada withla purified heart and after fasting for one month, one is sure to acquire the status of the sage Jamadagur.
- 47 By exposing oneself to beat in the tritia called Vinditya, a person given to truth and endued with compassion for all creatures should then practise anister penances, actuated by humility. By so dwg, he as some to a guite assertic success in course of a single month
- 48 Bething in the Narmada as also the title a named Surparaka, fasting flor a full fortinght, one is sure to become in one's mext birth a prince of royal blood.

 49 If one proceeds with controlled senses.
- and a concentrated soul to the tirtha known as Jamkontarga, one is sure to acquire success in the course of a single day and night.
- 50. By going to Chandalikashrama and bathing in the turba called Kokamukla, having fixed for sometime on potherbs alone, and worn rags for raiments one is

- 51. One who lives by the side of the tutha known by the name of Kanyahrada has never to visit the regions of Yama Such a person is sure to ascend to the regions of happiness belonging to the celestials.
- 52 One who bathes with controlled senses on the day of the new moon in the titha known by the name of Prabhasa, is sure, O you of mighty arms, of acquiring success and immortality simultaneously.
 - 52. Bathing in the tirtha known by the name of Ujjanaka which is situate in the retreat of Arshtisena's sin, and next in the tirtha which is situate in the retreat of Pines, one is sure to be purged of all Jus sins
- Pasting for three days and bathing in the tirtha known as Kulya and reciting the sacred Mantras of Aghamarshana, one acquires the merit of a Horse-sacrifice.
- Fasting for one night and bathing in Pindaraka, one becomes purified on the next day and acquires the merit of an Agnishtoma sacrifice.
 - One who goes to Brahmasara which is cadorned by the woods called Diarmaranya one becomes purged of all one's sins and acoustes the ment of the Pundanka saculice
 - 57 Bathing in the waters of the Mainaka mountain and reciting morning and evening prayers there and living at the spot for a morth controlling desire, one acquires the ment of all the sacrifices,
 - Starting for Kalodaka and Nandikunda and Uttara manasa, and reaching a apot that is a lundred Yojanas remote from any of them, one becomes purged of the sm of fæncide
 - so. One who succeeds in seeing the image of Naudishwara, becomes purged of all sins Batting in the tirtha called Swargamarga one is sure to proceed to the regions of Brahman
 - The celebrated Himagat is sacred That king of mountains is the father in law of Shankara He is a mine of all jewels and gems and is the resort of the Siddhas and Charanas.
 - 61-62 That twee born person who is as master of the Vedas and who, considering this life to be exceedingly unstable, renounces his hody on those mountains, abstaining from all food and drink according to it e rites laid down in the scriptures, after having worst ipped the gods and best lis head in worship of the assetics, is sure

- sure to get ten beautiful maidens as his to acquire success and proceed to the eternal regions of Brahman.
 - There is nothing which one cannot get who lives in a tirtlis, restraining first and controlling anger on account of such residence.
 - 61 I'm the purpose of going to all the tirthas in the world one should mentally think of those amonest them which are almost inaccessible or solourns to which are attended with great difficulties,
 - Sojourns to tirthas yields the merits of secrefices. They are competent to purify everybody of sin. I raught with great good, they are capable of leading in heaven. The subject is truly a great mystery The very gods should bathe in tirthas, to them also they are sm-purifying.
 - this discourse on tirthan should be 66 delivered to Brahmanas, and to such honest or pious persons as are bent upon gaining what is for their own behoof It should also be recited in the hearing of one's well-wishers and friends and of one's obedient and devoted disciples.
 - 67. Angiras endued with great ascend ment, had delivered this discourse to Gautama Angir is himself had got it from the the highly intelligent Kashyapa.
 - The great Rishis consider this discourse as deserving of constant repetitions It is the foremost of all purifying things If one recites it regularly every day, he is sure to become purged of every sin and alter this life to proceed to heaven.
 - One who listens to this discourse recited in his hearing,-this discourse, ris , of Angiras, which is regarded as A mystery -is sure to attain in one's next life to birth in a good family and, what is more one would have the memory of the pristing existence.

CBAPTER XXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PÁRVA). Continued.

Vaishampayana said:--

Loual to Vribaspati in intelligence and Brahman hin self in fergiveness, resembling Shakra in process and the Sun in energy, Blushma the son of Ganga, of infinite might had been defeated in baitle by Arguna Accompanied by his brothers and many other people king Yudiushthua asked him these questions

- 3. The old hero was lying on a bed tiveted by heroes, in expectation of that sacred moment when he could take leave Many great Rishis had come of his body there for seeing that foremost one of Bharata's race
- Amongst them 4-6 were Ato Vashishtha Bhrigu, Pulastya Pulaha, and There were also Auguras Gatama. Agastya, Sumati of well-restrained soul. Vishwamitra, Sthulashiras Samvarta, Praman and Dama. There were also Vribaspati Ushanas, Vyasa Chyayana, Kashyapa, Duruya, Duryasas, Jamadagui, Markandeva Galava Bharadwara, Raibhya Yavakrits and Irita.
- 7. There were Sthulaksha, Shavalaksha, Kanwa Medhahibi Krisha Narada, Parvata, Sudhanwan, Ekata and Dwita,
- I here were also Nitambhu, Bhuyana, Dhauma, Shatananda, Akutaye na, Rama the son of Jamadagm and Kacha,
- 0-10 All these great Rishis came there for seeing Bhishma hing on his bed of arrows. Yudhishthira with his brothers duly adored those great Rishis who had come there one after another in proper Receiving that adoration, those foremost of Ristis sat themselves down and began to converse with one another.
- their conversation related Bhishma, and was highly sweet and agree-Hearn w that talk of theirs about bluself. Blushma became filled with joy and considered himself to be already in heaven
- Having obtained the feave of Bhishma and of the Pandava princes, those Rishis then disappeared before the very raight of all the beholders
- The Pandavas bowed again and again and offered their adorations to those highly blessed Rishis even after they had made themselves invisible
- 14. They thrus cheerfully waited upon the son of Ganga even as Bratmanas versed in Mantras wait with respect upon j the rising Sun.
- the Pandavas saw that the points of the compass shining on account of the energy of their penances, and became filled with wonder at the spectacle.
- Hunking of the high blessedness and power of those Rishis, the Pandaya princes began to discourse on the subject with their grandlather Blushina.

Vaishampayana said — After that conversation was over, the pious Yudhishthira, the son of Pandu. touched Bushma's feet with his head and then resumed his questions about morality and virtue.

Yudhishthira saıd .—

Which countries, which provinces, which hermitages, which mountains and which rivers. O grandfather, are the force most in sanctity.

Rhighma gaid :-

- Regarding it is cited the old conversation between a Brahmana in the observance of the Shifa and the Uncerta your O Yudhishthira, and a Risht crowned with ascetic meitis.
- 20-21. Once on a time, a foremost person, having travelled over this entire Farily adorned with mountains, arrived at last in the house of a foremost person living like a householder in accdrdance with the Shila vow. The latter welcomed his guest with due rites. Received with such hospitality. the happy Rish passed the night happily in the house of his host.
- The next morning the Brahmana in the observance of the Shila vow, having finished all his morning acts and rites and purified hunself duly, gladly approached his guest crowned with ascetic success.
- Meeting with each other and seated at their ease, the two began to take on agreeable subjects of the Vedas and the Upanishada
- l'owards the conclusion of the discourse, the Brahmana in the observance of the Shila vow respectfully addressed the Rishi crowned with success. Gifted with intelligence, he p it this very question which you, O Yudhishthira have put to me.

The poor Brahmana said :-

What are those countries, what are those provinces, what those hermitages, what those mountains, and what those myers, that should be considered as the foremost in sanctity? Do you describe this to me.

The Rishi said:-

- those countries, those provinces, retreats and those mountains, those should be considered a the livemost in sanctity through which or by the side of which that foremost of all rivers, vis . Bhagicathi, flows.
- 27 The end which a treature can attam by penances, by Bratmacharyva, by sacrifices or by practising Renunciation. one is sure to attain by only hving by the side of the Bhagirathi and bathing in its | side of Ganga is superior in merit to one sacred waters.

- 28 Those creatures whose bodies have been sprinked with the sacred waters of Bhagaratha or whose bones have been laid in that sacred stream, have not to fall away from heaven at any time
 - Those men, O learned Brahmana, who use the waters of Bhagurathi in all their acts surely go to heaven after death.
- 30. Even those men who, having commuted various sinful deeds in the first part of their lives, live in after years by the side of Ganga, succeed in attaining to a very superior end.
- 31. Hundreds of sacrifices cannot yield that ment which men of controlled souls are capable of acquiring by bathing in the sacred waters of Ganga.
- 32. A person is respected and adored in the celestial region for as long a period as his bones lie in the channel of Ganga
- Even as the Sun, when he rises at the dawn of day, slines, having removed the darkness of night, likewise the person who has bathed in the waters of Ganga is seen to shine, purged of all his sins
- The countries and the points of the compass which are destitute of the sacred waters of Ganga are like nights without the moon or trees without flawers.
- Indeed, a world without Ganga is like the different castes and modes of life when they are shorn of virtue of like sacri fices without Soma.
- Forsooth, countries and points of the compass which are without Ganga are like the sky without the Sun, or the Earth without mountains, or the etherial region without air.
- 37. All the creatures in the three worlds if served with the sacred waters of Ganga, derive a pleasure the like of which they cannot derive from any other source.
- He who drinks Ganga water which has been heated by the Sun's rays, derives merit much greater than that which belongs to the vow of living upon the wheat or grains of other corn picked up from cowdung,
- 30 It cannot be said whether, he who performs a thousand Chandrayana rites for purifying his body and he who drinks the water of Ganga, are equal
- It cannot be said whether one who stands for a thousand years on one foot and one who lives for only a month by the side of Ganga are equal.
- 41. One who lives permanently by the

- who lives for ten thousand cycles with head hanging downwards.
- 42. As cotton, when it comes into contact with fire, is burnt off without a residue, so the sins of the person that has bathed in Ganga become perfectly consumed
- There is no end superior to Ganga for those creatures who, with hearts afficied by sorrow, seek to attain to ends which may remove that sorrow of theirs.
- As snakes become shorn of their poison as soon as they see Garuda, so one becomes purged of all his sins as soon as he sees the sacred river Ganga. They who do not enjoy same for
- virtue and they who are addicted to deeds of sinfulness, have Ganga for their fame, their protection, their means of safety, their refuge or cover.
- 46. Many wretched men who commit various sins of a heinous nature, when the are about to sink into hell, are rescued by Gang a in the next world.
- They, O foremost of intelligent men, who plunge every day in the sacred waters of Ganga, become the equals of great Munis and the very deities headed by Indra.
- 48 Those wretched men who are dest? tute of humility or modesty of behavior and who are greatly sinful, become righte ous and good, O Brahmana, by living by the side of Ganga.
- 40 As ambrosia is to the deities, a Swadha is to the Pitris, as Sudha is to the Nagas, so is Ganga-water to humar beings.
- 50. As children stricken with hunger solicit their mothers for food, similarly do people desirous of their highest good seek Ganga.
- 51. As the region of the self-create Brahman is said to be the foremost of all places, so is Ganga said to be foremost of all rivers for those who desire to bathe.
- As the Earth and the cow are said to be the chief sustenance of the celestrals so is Ganga the chief sustenance of al living creatures
- As the celestrals support themselves upon the ambrosia that is in the Sun and the Moon and that is offered in various sacrifices, so do human beings support
- themselves upon Ganga-water. One besmeared with the sand taken from the shores of Ganga considers oneself as an inhabitant of heaven, adorned with celestial unguents.

- 55. He who bears on his head the mudtaken from the banks of Ganga looks off ligent like the Sun himself bent on removing the surrounding/darkness
- 56 When the wind which is moistened with the particles of Ganga-water touches one's body, it cleanses him immediately of every sin.
- 57 A person afflicted by calamities and about to sink under their pressures, finds all his calamities removed by the joy which originates in his heart on seeing that sacred tiver.
- 58 By the sweet notes of the swans and Rokas and other squarte low that play on her breast, Ganga challenges, the very Gandharvas and by ler high banks the very mountains on the Earth.
- 59 Seeing her surface teeming with swans and various other aquatic fowl, and laving banks adorned with pasture lands with kine grazing on them, the celestial
- region herself loses her pride

 6) The high happiness which one enjoys by living on the banks of Ganga, can never be his who is living even in the
- celestial region.

 61. I have no doubt in this that the person who is afflicted with sims perpetrated in words and thought and act, becomes cleansed on seeing Ganga.
- 62 By seeing that sacred river, touching it, and bailing in its waters, one rescues his ancestors to the seventh degree, and his descendants to the seventh degree, as also other ancestors and descendants.
- 63 By hearing of Ganga, by wishing to go to that river, by drinking its waters, by touching those waters, and by bathing in them, a person rescurs both his paternal and maternal families
- 64 By seeing, touching, and drinking the waters of Gauga, or by praising them, hundreds and thousands of sinful men become purged of all their sins
- 65 They who wish to make their birth, life, and learning, successful, should go to Ganga and please the departed manes and the celestrals by offering them oblations of water.
- 66 The ment that one acquires by bathing in Ganga is such that the like of it is incapable of being acquired through the acquisition of sons or riches or the performance of mentions acts.
- 67. Those who although physically able do not seek to see the sacred Ganga are, lorsooth, comparable to persons suffering from congenital blindness or those who - are dead or those who are benumbed through palsy or lameness.

- 63 What man is there who would not respect this sacred river that is adored by great Rishis knowing the Present, the Past, and the Future, as also by the very gods headed by India 7
- 69 What man is there who would not seek the protection of Ganga whose protection is sought by hermits and householders, by Yatis and Brahmacharius alike?
- 70 The virtuous man with controlled mind, thinks of Ganga at the time when his vital airs are about to leave his body, succeeds in acquiring the highest end
- 71. That man who lives by the side of Ganga up to the time of his death, worshipping her reverentially, becomes freed from all fear of sin and of kings.
- 72. When that highly sacred river dropped from the sky, Maheshwara held it on his head. It is that very river which is worshipped in heaven.
- 73 The three regions, are beautiful by the three courses of this sacred river. The man who uses the waters of that river becomes certainly successful.
- 74 As the solar ray is to the gods in the celestial region, as the moon is to the departed manes as the king is to human beings, so is Ganga to all rivers
- 75 One who becomes bereaved of mother or father or sons or wives or riches does not feel that grief which one feels when he becomes bereaved of Ganga

 26 One does not get that toy through
- acts that lead to the region of Brahman, or through such sacrifices an I rites that lead to leaven, or through children or riches, which one get from seeing Ganga
- 77 The pleasure that men derive from seeing Ganga is tantamount to what they derive from seeing the full moon.
 78° Filst man decomes ober to Ganga
- who worship her with deep devotion, with mind wholly fixed upon her, with a respect that refuses to take in any other object within its sphere with a feeling that there is nothing else in the universe worthy of similar adoration and with a steadness that knows no decrease.
- 79 Creatures who live on Farth in the sky or in the celestial region indeed, even beings who are very superior—should always bather) Granga Indeed this is the foremost of all duties of the righteous
- 85 The fame of Ganga for sanctity has spread over the entire universe, since she parried all the sons of Sagara, who had been reduced to ashes, from here to the celestial region.

- St. Men who are washed by the bright, beautiful, high, and rapidly moving waves, raped by the wind, of Ganga, become purged of all their sins and resemble in splendour the Sun with his thousand rays.
- 82 Those men of tranqual souls who have renounced their bothes in the water sol Ganga whose sanctity is as great as that of the butter and other liquids pured in sactifices and which are capable of giving merits equal to those of the greatest of sacrifices, have certainly attained to a station equal to that of the very goods
- 83 Indeed, Ganga, having fame and vast extent and at one with the entire invised and respected by the detites headed by Indra, the Munis, and human beings to competent to grant the fruition of all their wisles to them who are blind, to them who are blind, to them who are blind, to all things.
- S4. They who seek refuge with Ganga, that protectress of all the universe, that flows in three currents, that is filled with water at once highly sacred and sweet as honey and productive of every sort of good, have succeeded in acquiring the beautude of Heasen.
- 85 That mortal who live by the side of Ganga and sees her every day, becomes purified by her sight and touch. To him the gods give every sort of happiness here and a high end hereafter.
- 86 Ganga is regarded as competent to rescue every creature from sin and lead him to the happiness of Heaven. She is held to be at one with Prishwith the mother of Vishim. She is identical with the Word or Speech. She is very remote and can not be easily attained. She is the embodiment of auspichousness, and property. She is displayed to the she will be a she with the she will be the she will be she
- 87 The fame of Ganga has spread all over the sky and Heaven, and Earth, and all the points cardinal and subsidiary, of the compass. By using the waters of that foremost of rivers mortal creatures always become crowned with high success.
- SS. That person who, himself seeing Ganga, points her out to others finds that Ganga rescues him from re birth and confers I iberation on I m. Ganga held Guhan the tominander in chief of the cleanage.

Jarmy in her womb. She bears the most precious of all metals, use, gild, also it that womb of hers. They who bathe in her waters every day in the moring sinceed in obtaining the three-foll of-jects ris. Virtue and Worldy Profit and Pleasure. Howe waters are, again equal in point of sancity to the butter there. Capable of purging of the best formulation of the service of the program of the celestial region and her current is held in high regard by every one.

- 89 Ganga is the daughter of Himarat, the wife of Hara, and the ornament of both Heaven and Larth She is the bedoor of everything ampicious and is competent to give the six well-known attributes beginning with lordship or power. Indeed, of king, Ginga is the one object of great sancity in the three worlds and confers merit upon all.
- 95 Iraly, O king, Ganga a Wittin in liquefied form. See a reregy in a lique liquefied form See a reregy in a lique liquefied form See a se
- 91. She is the highest cause of all things, she is perfectly pure. She is a subtile as Brahma. She is it is heat be for the dying. She takes creatures aprelled to the dying. She takes creatures aprelled to the certain region. She carries large volume of water. She makes the monter of the universe. She is at one with receive the universe. She is at one with a contraction of the dwift success. Indeed, Ginga is the public of with success. Indeed, Ginga is the public of the dwift success. Indeed, Ginga is the public of the dwift success. Indeed, Ginga is the public of the dwift success.
- 92. The Brahman's consider Ganga 29 being equal to the Earth in forgivers), and in the protection and upholding fitness who they be for further as equaling fire and the Sun in energy and Splendent and, lastly, as always equaling Guba min-self in the inatter of shawing favours to the true-born class.
- 93 Those men who, in this life, even in their minds seek that sacred river which is haided by the Rishis, which has come out of the feet of Vishau, which is very ancient and which is highly sacred, succeed in go- 1 Bhighma gaid :tue to the regions of Brahman,

- Fully convinced that children and other belongings, as also regions possessed of every kind of happiness, are transitory or Irail, men of subdued souls, who are desirous of acquiring that everlasting station which is at one with Brahma, always pay their adorations to Ganga with that respect and love which are due from a son to a mother.
- 95 The man of purified soul who is desirous of acquiring success should seek the protection of Ganga who is like a conthat gives ambrosia instead of ordinary milk, who is prosperity's self, who is endued with omniscience, who exists for all creatures, who is the source of all sorts of food, who is the mother of all mountains. who is the refuse of all pions persons, who is immeasinable in power and energy, and who charms the heart of Brahman hunself.
- Having, with austere penances, pleased all the gods with the Supreme Lord (Vishing) Bhagaratha brought Ganga down on the Earth Going to her, men always succeed in freemy themselves from every sort of fear both here and hereafter.
- 97 Observing with the help of intelfigence I have inentioned to you only a small portion of the merits of Ginga My power, however, is madequate to speak of all the merits of the sacred river, or, indeed, to measure her power and sancing
- One may, displaying his best powers, count the stones of the mountain Meru or measure the waters of the ocean. But one cannot count all the merits of the waters of Ganga
- Hence, having listened to these particular merits of Ganga which I have uttered with great devotion, one should, in thought, word, and deed, respect them with faith and devotion.
- 100. On account of your having listened to those merits which I have recounted, you are sure to fill all the three regions with fame and acquire a measure of success that is very large and that is difficult of being won by any other person deed, you will, soon after that, sport in joy in many a region of great happiness creat-ed by Ganga herself for those that respect her.
- 101. Ganga always extends her fayour to those who are devoted to her in humbleness of heart. She unites those who are so devoted to her with every kind of happiness I pray that the highly-blessed Ganga may always inspire your heart and mine with the attributes of virtue,

The learned ascetic guited with high soul and great slending, and crowned with success, having in this manner described to that onor Brahmana observing the Shila vaw, on the subject of the infinite merits of Ganga, then ascended the sky.

- the poor Brahmana observing the Shila yow, awakened by the words of that ascetic prowned with success, duly sought relage with Ganga and acquired prest sucress.
- Do thou also, O son of Kunti, seek Ganga with great devotion, for you will then, as the reward thereof, acquire great and excellent success.

Vaishampayana said:--

- 105 Hearing this discourse from Bhishma of the praise of Ganga. Yudhishthira with his brothers became filled with great joy.
- That person who recites or hears 106 recited this sacred topic of the praise of Ganga, becomes purged of every sin,

CHAPTER XXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--Continued.

Yudhishthira said :--

- You. O grandfather, are endued with wisdom and knowledge of the scriptures, with conduct and behaviour, with various kinds of excellent attributes, and also with years.
 - 2. You are superior to others in intelligence, wisdom and penances [shall, therefore, O you the foremost of all righteous men, wish to ask you questions about virtue.
 - There is not another man, O king, in all the world's, who is worther of denig accosted on such topics. O best of kings, how may one, if he happens to be a Kshaling or a Vaishya or a Shidra, succeed in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana? You should tell me the means. Is it by the most austere penances or by religious acts, or by knowledge of the scriptures, that a person belonging to any of the three interior castes succeeds in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana? Do tell me this, O grandfather,

Bhishma said -

The dignity of a Brahmana, O Yudinshithira, cannot be acquired by a person belonging to any of the three other castes That dignity is the highest with respect to ali creatures

- Passing through numberless orders of existence by undergoing repeated births, one at last, in some birth, becomes born as
- a Brahmana. Regarding it is cited an old history. O Windhishihira, of a conversation between Matanga and a she-ass.
- Once on a time a Brahmana obtained a son who, though procerated by a person belonging to a different caste, had, however, the rites of infancy and youth performed according to the ordinances laid down for Brahmanas. The child passed by the name of Matanga and was endued with every accomplishment.
- His father, wishing to celebrate a sacrifice, ordered him. O destroyer of enemies, to collect the articles required for the act Having received the command of his father, he started for the purpose, riding on a quick-coursing car, drawn by an ass.
- It so happened that the ass yoked to that car was very young Instead, therefore of being remed, the animal bore away the car near its dam, viz the she-ass that had brought it forth. Matanga, dissalisfied with this, began to strike the animal with his goad on its nose.
- Seeing those marks of violence on her child's nose, the she-ass, full of affection for him said,-Do not grieve, O child, for this treatment! A Chandala is driving
- 12. There is no harshness in a Brah-The Brahmana is said to be the friend of all creatures. He is the teacher also of all creatures and their ruler. Can he punish any creature so cruelly.
- It is fellow, however, is of sinful deeds. He has no mercy to show to even such a young creature. He is simply proving the order of his birth by behaving The nature which he has derived from his father forbids the grouth of the sentiments of pity and kindness which are natural to the Brahmana,
- 14. Hearing these harsh words of the she-uss, Matanga speedily came down from the car and addressing the ste ass, said,-Tell me, O blessed daine, by what fault is my mother stained?
- 15. How do you know that I am a Chandala? Do you answer me forthwith.
 - How indeed, do you know that I am a Chandala? How have I lost the digmay of a Brahman? O you of great wisdom tell me all this fully, from beginning to end.

The she-ass said :-

You were begotten upon a Brahmana woman worked up with desire, by a Slundra following the calling of a barber. You are, therefore, a Chandala by birth. You have not the dignity of a Brahmana.

Bhishma said :--

18-10 Thus addressed by the she ass Seeing him Matanga returned home. return, his father said .- I had engaged you in the difficult task of gathering the requisites of my intended sacrifice! Why have you returned without having accomplished your charge? Is it that you are not all right?

Matanga said :-

- How can be who belongs to no definite order of birth, or to low caste be regarded as all right and happy? How, O father, can that person be happy whose mother is impure.
- 21. O father, this she-ass, who seems to be more than a human being, tells me that I have been begotten upon a Brahman woman by a Shudra. I shall, for this reason, practise the severest penances.
- Having said these words to his father, and firmly resolved upon what he had said, he went to the great forest and began to practise the austerest of penances.
- Beginning those penances for the purpose of happily acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana, Matanga began to scorch the very gods by the severity of his asce-
- The king of the celestrals, vis , Indra, appeared to him thus practising penances and said,-Why, O Matanga, do you pass your time in such grief, abstaining from all sorts of human enjoyments
- I shall give you boons Do you name the boons Do not delay, but tell me what is in your mind Even if it be unattamable, I shall yet bestow it on you.

Matanga said:-

26 Desirous of acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana I have begun to practise these penances. After having obtained it, I shall go home. Even this is the boon I prey for.

acquire, cannot be won by you.

Bhishma said :-27. Hearing these words of his, Purandara said to him - The dignity of a Brahmana, O Matanga, which you wish to

- 28. It is true, you wish to acquire if, but then it cannot be won by persons of impure souls O you of foolish understanding, you are sure to meet with destruction if you persoit in this pursoit. Dessit, therefore, from this your attempt forthwill,
- 20. This object of your desire, vis., the dignity of a Brahmana, which is the formost of everything, cannot be even acquired by penances. Therefore, by covering that foremost dignity, you will surely meet with destruction.
- 30. One born as a Chandala can never acquire that dignity which is considered as the most sacred among the celestrals and Asuras and human beings.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Bhishma said :-

- I. Thus addressed by Indra, Matanga of restrained yows and well-controlled soul, stood for a century of years on one loot. O you of unfading glory,
- Highly illustrous Shakra once more appeared before him and addressing him, said,—The dignity of a Brahimana, O child, is unactionable. Although you covet it, it is impossible for you to obtain it.
 - O Matanga, by coveting that very great dignity you are sure to meet with destruction. Ho not, O son, betray such rashness. This is not a righteous path for you to follow.
 - 4. O you of foolish understanding, it is impossible for you to obtain it in this world, Verily, by covering that which is unattainable, you are sure to meet with destruction forthwith.
 - 5. I am repertedly forbidding you. By trying, towever, to attain that high digity by the lelp of your penances, despite my repeated admonstrates, you are sure to meet with destruction.

- Passing a period of one thousand sears in that order, one is next born as a Shudra. In the Shudra order, again, one has to wander for a long time.
- 9 After thirty thousand years one is born as a Vaishiya. There, in that order, one has to pass a very long time.
- 10. After a time that is sixty times longer than what has been stated as the period of Shudra birth, one becomes a Kshatriya in the Kshatriya order one has to pass a very long time.
- tt. After a time that Is measured by multiplying the period last referred to by sixty, one is born as a fallen Brahmana, in this order one has to wander for a long period.
- 12. After a time measured by multiplying the period last named by two hundred, one is born in the race of such a Brihmana as lives by the profession of arms There, in that order, one has to wander for a long period.
- 13 After a time measured by multiplying the period last named by three hundred, one is born in the race of a Brahmana that is given to the recitation of the Gayatri and other sacred Mantras.
- 11. There, in that order, one has to wander for a long period. After a time measured by multiplying the period last manned by four hundred, one is born in the race of such a Brahmana who knows the entire Vedas and the scriptures. There, in that order, one has to wander for a very long period.
- t5. While wandering in that existence, joy and grief, desire and hatred, vanny and evil speech, seek to enter into him and make a wretch of him.
- 16 If he succeeds in sulf-igating those foes, he then acquires a light end. It, on the other hand, those enemies succeed in subjugating him, he falls down from that high post toon like a person falling down on the ground from the high top of a palmyra tree.
- 17. Knowing this for certain, O Matangs, that I say to you, do you rame some other boon, for the status of a Brashmana is incapable of being acquired by you.

CHAPTER XXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhishma said :-

- Ihus addressed by Indra, Matanga refused to hear what he was commanded. On the other hand, with regulared vows and purified sonl, he practised austerer penances by standing on one foot for a thousand years, being deeply engaged in Voga meditation.
- 2 After a thousand years had passed away, Shakra once more came to see him Indeed, the destroyer of Vala and Vritra said to him the same words.

Matanga said :-

3 I have passed these thousand years, standing on one foot, with soul engaged in meditation, and in the observance of the vow of celibacy. Why is it that I have not yet succeeded in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana?

Shakra said :--

- 4-5 One born as a Chandala cannot, yy any means, acquire the dignity of a Jrahimana Do you, therefore, name some after boon so that all this labour of yours nay not prove futile! This addressed by he king of the celestials Matanga became illed with grief He went to Gaya and assessed there a century of years, standing all the while on one foot.
- 6 On account of the observance of such Yoga which was extremely difficult to bear, le became very much emacated and its atteres and veins became swollen and visible. He was reduced to only skim and bones. We have heard that that righteous person, while practising those austerities at Gaya, dropped down on the ground from theer exhaustion.
- 7. Seeing him falling down, the lord and giver of booms engaged in the behoof of all creatures tis, Vasava speedily came to that spot and held him fast.

Shakra said -

- 8 It seems O Matanga, that the dignity of a Brahmana which you seek is ill suited to you. If at dignity is incapable of being acquired by you. Indeed, in your case, it is beset with many dancers.
- 9 A person by adoring a Brahmana acquires happiness, while, by abstanning from such worship, he gets grief and instery. The Brahmana is as regards all cleatures, the giver of what they prize or covet and the protector of what they already have.

to. It is through the Brahmanas that the departed manes and the denies become pleased. The Brahmana, O Managa, is said to be the foremost of all created Beings. The Brahmana grants all objects which are desired and in the way they are desired.

11. Passing through numberless orders of Being and undergoing repeated re-births, one succeeds in some subsequent birth in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmaria.

12 hat dignity is really incapable of being obtained by persons of impure souls Do you, therefore, relinquish the idea' Do you name some other boon. The particular boon which you seek is incapable of being granted to you.

Matanga said:—

- 13 Stricken as I am with grief, why, O Shakra, do you afflict me further 7. You are striking one that is already dead, by this conduct. I do not pity you who having acquired the dignity of a Brahmana fail to retain it.
- 14 If, O you of a hundred sacrifices, the dignity of a Brahmana be really unannable by any of the three other cases, alas men do not adhere to it who lave succeeded in acquiring that high status?
- 15 Those who having won the dignity of a Brahmana that, like wealth, is so difficult to acquire, do not seek to keep it up, must be considered as the most wretched in this world. Indeed, they are the most similal of all creatures
- 16 Forsooth, the dignity of a Brahmania is highly difficult to attain, and being attained, is difficult to maintain It is capable of removing every sort of prief Alas, having got it, men do not always seek to keep it up.
- 17. When even such persons are considered as Brainmans why is it that I, who am pleased with may speri to all pairs of opposits who am speri to all pairs of opposits who am speri to all pairs of opposits who am observant of the duty of mercy towards an observant of the duty of mercy towards should arrive and of self-control of conduct, should arrive and of self-control of conduct, aloud from the considered worthy of that
- 18 How unfortunate I am, O Purandara, that through the sin of my mother I have been reduced to this plight, although I am not unrighteous in my conduct?
- 19 Forsooth Destiny is incapable of being warded off or conquered by individual exertion, since, O lord, I am unable to acquire, despite these persistent attempts of mine, the object for the acquisition of which I am trying 20 When such is the case, O righteous one, you should grant me some other boon if indeed, I have become worthy of your favour or if I have a little of merit !

Bhishma said -

21. The destroyer of Vala and Vritra then said to him,—Do you name the boom? Thus urged by the great Indra, Matanga said the following words—

Matanga said -

22. Gifted with the power of assuming any form at will, let me be able to journey through the skies and let me enjoy whatever pleasures I may wish for And let me also have the willing worship of both Brahmanas and isshatriyas

23 I bow to you by bending my head, O god ' You should do that also by which my fame, O Purandra, may live eternally in the world !

Shakra said -

- 24. You will be celebrated as the dety of a particular measure of verse and you will get the worship of all women. Your fame, O son, shall become peerless in the three worlds.
- 25 Having granted him these boons, Vasava disappeared there and them Matanga alto, renouncing his life-breaths, acquired a high place
- 26 You may thus see, O Bharata, that the dignity of a Brahmana is very high That dignity is incapable of being acquired here as said by the great Indra himself.

CHAPTER XXX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) —

Yudhishthira said' ---

- I have heard this great description, O perpetualir of Kurus race You, O foremost of eloquent men have said that the dignity of a Brahmana is greatly difficult of acquisition.
- 2 It is heard liowever, that in former times the dignity of a Brahmana had been acquired by Vishwamitra. You, however, O best of men, tell us that that dignity is licapable of being won.
- 3. I have also heard that formerly king Virahavya had succeeded in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana O powerful one, I wish to hear, O son of Ganga, the story of king Vitahavya's promotion.

4 By what acts did that best of kings succeed in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana? Was it through some boon or was it through the virtue of penances? You should tell me everything.

Bhishma said -

5 Hear, O king, how the highly illustrious royal sage Vitahavya succeeded formerly in acquiring the dignity of a Brahmana that is so difficult to attain and that is held in such high esteem by all the world.

- 6 While the great Manu in days yore was employed in ruling righteously his subjects, he obtained a son of righteous soul who become celebrated under the name of Sharvan
- 7 In Sharyati's family, O monarch, two kings were born, vis., Haihaya and Fala-jangha Both of them were sons of Vaisa, O foremost of victorious kings
- 8 Haihaya, O monarch, had ten wives. Upon them he begat, O Bharata, hundred sons all of whom were heroes who never returned from the battle field.
- 9 All of them resembled one another in features and prowess All of them were gifted with great strength and all of them were possessed of great skill in battle. They all studied the Vedas and the science of weapons thoroughly.
- to In Kashi also, O monarch, there was a king who was the grandiather of Divodasa. The foremost of victorious men, he passed by the name [of Haryya-shwa.
- 11 The sons of king Haihaya, O chief of men, invaded the kingdom of Kashi, and advancing to the country that lies between the rivers Ganga and Yamuna, fought a battle with king Haryyashwa and killed him in it.
- 12 Having killed king Haryyashwa thus, the sons of Haihaya, those great carwarnors, fearlessly returned to their own charming city in the country of the Vatsas.
- 13 Meanwhile Haryyashwa's son Sudeva, who looked like a celestial in splendour and who was a second god of virtue was installed on the throne of Kashi as its king.
- 14 The delighter of Kashi, the righteous souled prince ruled his kingdom for same time when the handred sons of Vitihavya once more attacked his territories and defeated him hattle.

- 15 Having defeated king Sudeva thus, the victors returned to their own city After this, Divodasa, the son of Sudeva, became installed on the throne of Kashi as its king.
- 16 Understanding the prowess of those great princes, vis, the sons of Vitihavya king Divodasa, gifted with great energy, rebuilt and fotified the city of Baranasi at the command of Indra.
- 17—18 The territories of Divodata vere full of Brahmanas Kshatriyas, Varshyas and Shudras And liety teemed with all sorts of articles and provisions, and were adorned with prosperous shops and matts Those territories, east of kings extended northwards from the banks of Ginga to the southern Banks of Gomati and resembled a second Amaravan (the city of Indra)
- 19 The Haihayas once again, O Bharata attacked that foremost of kings as he ruled his kingdom
- 20 The powerful king Divodasa gifted with great splendour, issuing out of his capital, gave them battle. The engagement between the two parties terrible like the encounter in days of old between the celestials and the Asuras.
- 21 King Divodasa fought the enemy for a thousand days at the end of which having lost a large number of followers and animals, he became greatly distressed.

 22 King Divodasa O have to
- 22 King Divodasa, O king having lost his army and seeing his treasury exhausted, left his capital and fled away.
- 23 Going to the charming hermitage of the wise Bharadwaja, the king, O chastiser of foes, journing his hands in respect, sought the Rishi's protection
- 24-25 Seeing king Divodasa before him, the eldest son of Vrihaspatt, vir, Bhardwale of excellent conduct who was the monacil's priest, said to him.—What is the reason J our coming here? Tell verything, O king I shall do that which is agreeable to you, without any scruple.

The king said -

- 26 O loly one, the sons of Vitahavya lawe killed all the clildren and men of my house I only have escaped with life, totally discomfited by the enemy I seek refuge with you.
- 27 You should, O holy one, protect ne with such affection as you have for a d cylet linese princes of sinful deeds i see killed my whole family, leaving myself of y alive.

- Bhishma said:—
- 28 Bharadwaja of great energy said to him who pleaded so piteously—Do not fear I Do not fear O son of Sudeva, let your fears be gone
 - 29 I shall perform a sacrifice, O monarch in order that you may have a son through whom you will be able to smite thousands upon thousands of Vitahavya s narty.
 - 33 After this, the Rishi performed a sacrifice with the object of bestowing a son on Divodasa As the result thereof, to Divodasa was born a son named Pratarddana
 - 31. As soon as he was born he grew into a child of full three and ten years and quickly mastered the entire Vedas and the whole science of arms.
 - 32 Helped by his Yoga powers, the highly intelligent Bharadwaja had entered into the prince Indeed, collecting all the energy of the objects of the universe, Bharadwaja caused it to enter the body of prince Pratarddana
 - 33 Casing his person in shining mail and armed with the bow, Pratarddana, 1 is praises lauded by bards and the celestial Rishis, shone resplendent like the Sun
 - 34 Mounted on his car and with the scinitar tied to his belt, he shone like a burning fire. With scinitar and sheld and whirling his shield, as he went, he proceeded to the presence of his father.
 - 35 Seeing the prince, the son of Sudeva, vis, king Divadasa, become filled with joy-Indeed, the old king thought the sons of his enemy Vitahavya as already killed
- 36 Divodasa then installed his son Pratarddana as the heir-apparent, and considering himself crowned with success became highly happy.
- 37 After this the old king commanded that chastiser of foes, wis prince Pradard-dana to march against the sons of Vitahavya and kill them in battle
- 38 Gifted with great prowess, Pratarddana, that subjugator of hostile cities, speedily crossed Ganga on his car aid proceeded against the city of the Vitahavyas.
- 39 Hearing the clatter of the wheels of his car, the sons of Vitahavya, riding on their own cars that looked ik- fortified chadels and that were capable of destroying hostile vehicles, issued out of their city.
- 40 Coming out of their capital, those foremost of men, vis the sons of Vita-havya, who were all skilful warriors cased

- It was thus, O foremost of monarchs, that king Kshatriya by the order of his birth, acquired the dignity of a Brahmana, O chief of Kshatriyas, through the grace of Bhrigu,
- 67 I have also told you the genealogy of the race that originated from his son Grit-What else would you ask?

CHAPTER XXXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said:-

1. What men, O chief of Bharata's race, are worthy of homage in the three worlds? Tell me tlus in detail. I am never satiated with hearing you describe these topics.

Bhishma said :-

- 2. Regarding it is cited the old discourse between Narada and Vasudeva.
- 3-4 Seeing Narada on one occasion adoring many foremost of Brahmanas with somed hands. Keshava addressed him. saying,-Whom do you worship? Whom amongst these Brahmanas, O holy one, do you worship with so great respect? If it is capable of being heard by me, I wish then to hear it Do, O foremost of righteous men, tell me this.

Narada said ---

- 5. Hear, O Govinda, as to who those are whom I am adoring, O grinder of enemies What other person is there in the world who is worthier than you to hear this?
- 6 I adore them, O powerful one, who constantly worship Varuna and Vayu and Aditya, and Prajanya and the deity of Fire and Sthanu and Skanda and Lakshmi and Vishnu, and the Brahmanas, and the lord of speech and the Moon, and the Waters, and the Earth, and the goddess Saraswatt
- O foremost of Vrishni's race, I always adore those Brahmanas who are endued with penances, who are conversant with the Vedas, who are always given to Vedic study, and who are possessed of great worth
- O powerful one, I bow down my head to those persons who are freed from boastfulness who perform with an empty of truth, who are self contro atomach, the rites in honor of the deutes, are peaceful in their conduct

- who are always contended with what they have, and who are gifted with forgiveness
- I adore them, O Yadava, who are performers of sacrifices, who are forgiving in nature, and self-controlled who are masters of their own senses, who worship truth and virtue, and who give away land and kine to good Brahmanas
- I bow to them, O Yadava, who are devoted to the observance of penances, who live in forests, who live upon fruits and roots who never store anything for the morrow, and who perform all the acts and rites laid down in the scriptures.
- I bow to them. O Yadava, who feed and cherish their servants who are always hospitable to guests, and who eat only the residue of what is offered to the deities
- I worship them who have become irresistible by studying the Vedas, who are eloquent in discoursing on the scriptures, who are observant of the vow of Brahmacharyya, and who are always devoted to the duties of officiating at the sacrifices of others and of teaching disciples
- I adore them that ars endued with mercy towards all creatures and who study the Vedas till their backs are heated by the Sno
- I bow to them, O Yadava, who try to acquire the grace of their preceptors, who labour in the acquisition of their Vedas who are firm in the observance of your who wait, with dutiful obedience, upon their preceptors and seniors, and who are free from malice and envy.
- I bow to them, O Vadava, who are observant of excellent vows, who practise silence, who have knowledge of Brahma who are firm in truth, who are givers of libations of clarified butter and oblations of meat
- 17. I how to them, O Yadava, who live upon eleemosynary alms who are emaciated for want of adequate food and drink, who have lived in the houses of their preceptors, who are averse to and destitute of all enjoyments, and who are poor in Earthly Possessions
- I bow to them, O Yadava, who have no affection for things of this Earth, who do not quarrel with others, who do not clothe themselves, who have no wants, who have become resistible through the acquisition of the Vedas, eloquent in the exposition of virtue, and that are utterers of Brahms
- I bow to them who are given to the practice of the duty of mercy towards all creatures, who are firm in the observance of truth, who are sell controlled, and who

- 20 I how to them, O Yadava, who are devoted to the worship of gods and guests, who are observant of the domestic mode of life, and that follow the practice of inceans about collecting their food.
- 21. I always how to those persons, who while doing all their works have an eye on the three-fold objects of life, and who are observant of truth and righteous behaviour.
- 22. I how to them, O Keshava, who are conversant with Brahma, who are gifted with knowledge of the Vedas, who are attentive to the three-fold objects of life, who are free from cupdity, and who are righteous in their behaviour.
- 23. I bow to them, O Madhava, who live upon water only, or upon air alone, or upon the residue of the food that is offered to detites and guests, and who practise all sorts of excellent vows.
- 24 I always adore them ho have no wives, who have wives and it domestic fire, who are the reluge of the Vellas, and who are the reluge of all creatures in the universe.
- 25 I always bow to those Rishis, O Krishna, who are the creators of the universe, who are the elders of the universe, who are the eldest members of the race or the family, who are dispellers of the darknes of Ignorance, and who are the best of all persons in the universe.
- 26 For these reasons, do you also, O scion of Vrishni's race, adore every day those twice-born persons of whom I speak Worthy as they are of reverent worship, they will, when addred, confer happiness on you. O sinless one.
- 27. Those persons of whom I speak are always givers of happiness in this world as well as in the next Respected by all, they move about in this world, and, if adored by you, are sure to grant you happiness.
- 28. They who are hospitable to all persons who come to them as givens, and who are always devoted to Brahmanas and kine as also to truth, succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments.
- 29 They who are always devoted to peacefulness of conduct, as also they who are shorn of malice and envy, and they who are always attentive to the study of the Vedas, succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments.
- 30 They who bow to all the dettes, they who follow one Veda as their refuge, they who are possessed of faith and are self controlled, succeed it crossing all calamities and impediments.

- 31. They who adore the foremost of Brahmanas with reverence and are firm in the observance of excellent vows and practise the virtue of charity, succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments
- 32 They who are engaged in the practice of penances, they who are always observant of the vow of celibacy, and they whose souls have been purified by penances, succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments.
 - 33 The who are devoted to the worship of the gods and guests and dependants as also of the departed manes, and they who eat the residue of the food that is offered to detice, departed manes, guests and dependants succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments.
 - 34. They who, having lighted the domestic fire, duly keep it burning and adore it with revenence, and they who have duly poured libations in Soma-sacrifices, succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments.
- 35 They who behave properly towards their mothers and fathers and preceptors and other elders even as you, O foremost of the Vrishnis, do behave, (succeed in crossing all calamities and impediments !)—Having said these words, the celestial Rishi ceased apeaking.

Bhishma continued —

36 For these reasons, do you also, O son of Kunti, always adore with reverence the detices, the departed manes, the Brahmanas, and guests arrived at your palace, and as the outcome of such conduct you are sure to acquire a desirable end?

CHAPTER XXXII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said:--

- r O grandlather, O you of great wisdom, O you who are conversant with all branches of knowledge, I wish to hear you discourse on topics connected with duty and Virtue.
- z Tell me truly, O chief of Bharata's race, what the merits are of those persons who grant protection to living creatures, of the four castes when these pray for protection.

Bhishma said -

3 O Dharma's son of great wisdom and wide spread fame, listen to this old history regarding the great merit of granting protection to others when protection is humbly sought.

- 4 Once on a time, a beautiful pigeon, pursued by a hawk, dropped down from the skies and sought the protection of the highly-blessed king Vrishadarbha.
- S The pure-souled, king beholding the pigeon take refuge in his lap from fear, comforted him, saying,—Be comforted, O bird! You have no fear!
- 6 Whence have you taken such great fright? What and where have you done it in consequence of which you have lost your senses in fear and are more dead than alive?
 - 7 Your color, O beautiful bird resembles that of a fresh-blown blue lotus Your eyes are of the hue of the pomegranate or the Ashoka flower! Do not fear, I command you, be comforted!
 - 8 When you have sought my protection, know that no one will have the courage to even think of catching you, who have such a protector to take care of your body.

 9 I shall, for your sake, give in to-day.
- 9 I shall, for your sake, give up to-day the very kingdom of the Kashis and, if necessary my life too! Be comforted, therefore, do no fear, O pigeon.

The hawk said -

- 10 This bird has been ordained to be my food You should not, O king, protect him from me! I have pursued this bird and have got him Indeed, with great exertion have I got at him at last.
- 11. His flesh and blood and marrow and fat will be of great good to me I his bird will be the means of pleasing me greatly Do not, O king, place yourself between him and me in this way.
- 12 I have been possessed by a terrible thirst, and hunger is knawing my bowels Release the bird and cast him off I am unable to bear the pains of hunger any longer.
- 13 I pursued him as my prey. See, his body is bruised and torn by me with my wings and talons. Look, his breath has become very weak. You should not, O king, protect him from me!
- 14. In the exercise of that power which properly belongs to you you are, indeed, competent to interfere in protecting human beings when sought to be destroyed by human beings But you have no power a sky ranging bird stricken with thirst.

- 15 Your power may extend over your enemies, your servants, your relatives the disputes that take place between your subjects. Indeed, it may extend over every part of your dominions and over also your own senses. Your power, however, does not extend over the sky.
- 16 Deplaying your provess over such chemies as against your wisles, you may establish our rule over them. Your rule, however, we will not say, ranging birds and caquiring merit (by protecting this pigeon), it is your duty to look at me also!

Bhishma said --

17 Hearing these words of the hawk, the royal sage became strucken with wonder. Without disregarding these words of his, the king, desirous of attending to his comforts, replied to him, saying the following, at des.

The klya said -

- 18. Let a bovine bull or boar or deer or bufflao be dressed to day for your sake! Do you satisfy your hunger on such food to day
- 19 Never to leave one who has sought my protection is my firm vow. See, O bird, this bird does not leave my lap!

The hawk said :-

) 20-21. I do not, O king, eat the flesh of the boar or the ox or of any of the various kinds of fowl. What need have I of food of this or that kind? My business is with that food which has been eternally ordained for beings of my order? Hawks feed on pigeons,—this is the eternal ordinance.

22 O sinless Ushinara, if you feel such affection for this pigeon, do you then give me flesh from your own body, of weight equal to that of this pigeon.

The king said -

- 23—25 Great is the favor you show me to day by speaking to me thus Yes, I shall do what you bid —Having said this, that best of kings, began to cut and weigh it in a balance speak of the pigeor. Meanwhile in the "inner apartments of the palace, the queen, adorned with right speak of the piece of the pie
- 26 On account of those cries of the ladies as also of the ministers and servants, a noise deep as the muttering of the clouds arose in, the palace The sky that had been very clear became covered with thick clouds on all sides

22-28 The Earth began to tremble, as the consequence of that act of truth which the monarch did. The king began to cut off the flesh from his sades, from his arms, and from his thighs, and quickly fill one of the scales for weighing it against the pigeon For all that, the pigeon continued to weigh heavier.

- 29 When at last the king became a skeleton of bones, without any flesh, and covered with blood, he wished to give up his whole body and, therefore, ascended the scale in which he had placed the flesh that he had previously cut off.
- 30. At that time, the three worlds, headed by Indra, came to that spot for seeing him. Celestial kettle-drums and various other drums were struck and played upon by invisible beings belonging to the
- 31. King Vrishadarbha was bathed in a shower of nectar that was poured upon him Garlands of celestial flowers, of sweet fragrance and touch, were also showered upon him coprously again and again.
- 32 The deities and Gandharvas and Apsaras in large bands began to sing and dance around him even as they sing and dance around the Grandfather Brahman
- 33 The king then ascended a celestral car that excelled a mansion made entirely of gold, that had arches made of gold and gems, and that was adorned with columns made of laus lazulis.
- 34. Through the merit of his act, the royal sage Shivi proceeded to eternal Heaven. Do you also, O Yndhishthira, act thus towards those who seek your protection.
- 35 He who protects those who are devoted to him, those who are attached to him from love and affection, and those who depend upon him, and who has mercy for all creatures succeeds in acquiring great happiness hereafter.
- 36 That king who is of righteous conduct and who is observant of honesty and integrity, succeeds by his acts of sincerity in acquiring every valuable reward,
- 37. The royal sage Shivi, of pure soul and gilted with great wisdom and unbaffled prowess that king of the Kashis, became celebrated over the three worlds for his virtuous deeds.
- 38. Anybody who would protect in the same way a seeker for protection, would certainly acquire the same happy end, O best of the Bharatas.

39 He who recites this history of the royal sage Vrishadarbha is sure to become purged of every sin, and the person who hears this history recited by another is sure to acquire the same result.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said.-

t. Which act, O grandfather, is the foremost of all those that have been faid down for a king? What is that act by doing which a king succeeds in enjoying both this world and the next.

Bhishma said -

- 2 Even this, vie, the worship of the Brahmanas, is the foremost of all those deeds, O Bharata, which have been laid down for a king duly installed on the throne, if, indeed, he is desirous of acquiring great happiness?
- 3 Even this is what the foremost of all kings should do Know this well, O cline of Bharata's race The king should always adore with reverence all righteous Brahmanas possessed of Vedic learning.
- 4 The king should, with bows, sweet speeches and gifts of all articles of enjoyment, adore all Brahmanas endued with great learning who may live in his city or provinces.
- 5 This is the foremost of all acts laid down for the king. Indeed, the king should always keep his eyes fixed on this. He should protect and cherish these even as he protects his own self or his own children.
- 6 The king should adore with greater reverence those amongst the Brahmanan who may be worthy of it. When such men are freed from all anxiety, the whole kingdom shines in beauty.
- 7 Such individuals are worthy of adoration. The king should bow his head to such individuals indeed, they should be honored, even as one honors his father and grandfather. The course of conduct followed by men, depends upon them as the existence of all creatures depends upon Vasava.
- 8 Having prowess incapable of being baffled and gifted with great energy, such men, if euraged are capable of reducing the entire kingdom to ashes by only their will, or by acts of incantation, or by other means.

- 9 1 do not see anything that can destroy them Their power seems to be uncontrolled, being capable of reaching to the last end of the universe. When angry, their looks fall upon men and things like a burning flame of fire upon a forest.
- 10 The most courageous men are struck with fear at their name her virtues and powers are extraordinary and immeasurable. Some amongst them are like wells and pits with mouths covered by grass and creepers, while others resemble the sky shorn of clouds and darkness.
- 11. Some amongst them are of dreadful dispositions. Some are as mild and soft in disposition as cotton. Some amongst them are very cunning Some amongst them are given to the practice of penances.
- 12 Some amongst them are employed in agricultural pursuits. Some amongst them are engaged in the keep of kine Some amongst them from a some amongst them are even theires Some amongst them are even theires Some amongst them are fond of creating quarrels and disputes Some, and the some some amongst them are actors and disputes.
- 13 Some amongst them are competent to perform all feats ordinary and extraordinary. The Brahmanas, O chief of Bharata's race, are of various aspects and conduct.
- 14. One should always sing the praises of the Brahmanas who are conversant with all duties, who are righteous of conduct, who are given to various kinds of acts, and who are seen to derive their sustenance from various callings.
- 15 The Brahmanas, O king, who are highly blessed, are older in respect of their origin than the departed manes, the deities, human beings, the Snakes, and the Rakshasas
- 16 These twice born persons are incapable of being defeated by the deties or the departed manes, or the Gandharvas or the Rakshasas or the Asuras or the Pishachas.
- i7 The Brahmanas are competent to make him a god, that is not a god. They can, again, divest one who is a deity of his status as such. He becomes a king, whom they wish to make a king. He, on the other hand, is crushed whom they do not love or like.
- 18 I tell you truly, O king, that those foolish persons forsooth, meet with destruction who calumniate the Brahmanas and utter their dispraise.

- 19 Expert in praise and dispraise, and themselves the origin or cause of other people's fame and ignominy, the Brahmanas, O king, always become angry with those who seek to injure others.
- 20. That man whom the Brahmanas praise succeeds in becoming prosperous That man who is censured and renounced by the Brahmanas soon meets with discomfiture.
- 21. It is on account of the absence of Brahmanas from among them that the Shakas, the Yavanas, the Kamvojas and other Kshatriya tribes have become fallen and degraded into Shudras.
- 22—23 The Dravidas, the Kalingas, the Palindas, the Ushnaras the Kolsarpas, the Mahshakas, and other Kulens, have no account of the absendate become degraded into Shudras. Defeat from them is preferable to victory, O foremost of victorious persons.
- 24 One killing all other living creatures in this world does not commit a sin 30 hemous as that of killing a single Bráhmana. The great Rishis have said that Brahmanicide is a hemous sin.
- 25 One should never utter the dispraise or calumny of the Brahmanas Where the dispraise of Brahmanas is uttered, one should sit with face hanging down or leave that place.
- a6 That man has not as yet been born in this world or will not take birth here who has been or will be able to pass his life happily after quarreling with the Brahmanas.
- 27 One cannot seize the wind with his hands One cannot touch the moon with his hand. One cannot support the Earlit on his arms Similarly, O king, one is not able to defeat the Brahmanas in the world.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) -Continued.

Bhishma said:—

 One should always offer the most respectful adoration to the Brahmanas-, They have Soma for their king, and they it is who confer happiness and misery upon others.

- 2 They, O king should always be certisted and protected as one chershes and protects his own father and grandater, and should be adored with bows and ults of food and ornaments and other incles of enpoyment as also with such hings as they may wish for The peace and happiness of the kingdom originate from such respect shown to the Brahmanas even as the peace and happiness of all living creatures come from Vasava the king of the gods.
- 3 Let Brahmanas of pure conduct and Brahma effulgence be born in a kingdom. Ksiatriyas also who are splended carwarriors and that are capable of defeating all enemies, should be desired
- 4 This was said to me by Narada-There is nothing higher, O king, than they have seen that the same seen that they will be seen to making a Brahmana of good both, having a knowledge of morally and sighteousness and stradfast in the observance of excellent vows live in his mansion. Such an act yields every soit of blessine.
- 5 The sacrificial offerings given to Brahmanar reach the very gods who accept them Brahmanas are the fathers of all creatures. There is nothing higher than a Brahmana.
- 6 The Sun, the Moon, the Wind, the Water, the Earth, the Sky, and the pourts of the compass all enter the body of the Brahmana and take what the Brahmana can be supposed to the Brahmana can
 - 7 In that house where Brahmanas do not eat, the departed manes refuse to eat
- B He gods also never eat in the house of the wretch who hates the Brahmanas are pleased, the departed may es are also pleased.
- g the desties also become pleased when the Brai mans are pleased there is no doubt in this they who give away the accrificial thaw to the Brahmanas beform themselves pleased
- 10-11 Such men never meet with destruction Indeed, they's succeed in and uring great ends. If one particular effectings in ascrifices with which one pleases the Bisal menas, go to please both the departed manes and it e denies. The Bral mana is the cause of that Sacrifice whence all recased things have originated
 - 12. The B alamana is acquanted with that from which this universe has originated and to which, when apparently distreyed in returns indeed, the Brainana hours the gast of at leads to the catestalance of an other path which leads to the State of the Sta

- 13 The Brahmana is conversant with hat which has taken place and that which will take place. The Brahmana is the fore most of all two legged beings the Brahmana, O chief of the Bharatas, is fully conversant with those duties which have been laid down for his order.
- 14 Those persons who follow the Brahmanas are never defeated. They never meet with destruction even after death. Indeed, victory is always theirs.
- 15 Those great persons,—indeed, those persons who have subdued their souls,—who accept the words that fall from the lips of the Brahmanas, are never defeated. Victory always becomes theirs
- 16 The energy and power of those Kshatriyas who scorch everything with their energy and might, when they encounter the Brahmanas, become neutralised
- 17 The Bhrigus conquered the Tala-1 langhas I he sons of Angiras conquered the Nipas Bharadwaya conquered the Vitahavyas as also the Ailas, O chief of Bharata's race.
- 18 Although all these Kahatryas were capable of using various arms, yet the Brahmanas named owning only black deerskine for their emblems, succeeded in conquering them effectually. Bestowing the Earth upon the Brahmans and illumnating both it is worlds by the brilliance of such an act, one should accomplish acts through which one may succed in acquiring the end of all things.
- 19 Like fire concealed with in wood, everything that is said or heard or read in this world, lies in the Brahmana
- 20 Regarding it is cited the old 1 istory of the conversation between Vasudeva and the Earth O chief of Bharata's race.

Vasudeya said -

21 O mother, of all creatures O auspicious goddess I wish to ask you for a solution of this d ubt of mire! By what act does a man livir g like a I ouse holder succeed in clear sine all 1s sins?

The Earth said .-

- 22 One should serve the Brahmanas, This condict is purifying and excellent, All the inpurities are destroyed of that man who serves the Brahmanas with respect
- 23 From this (conduct) arises prosperity.
 From this arises fame From this cright steel intelligence or knowledge of the soul. A Kislatrija, by this conduct, becomes a powerful car-warrior and a desironer of foes and succeeds in winning great fame. me, tis , that one should always respect a Brai mana that is well born, of rigid vows.

Even this is what Narada said to

- and conversant with the scriptures, if one wishes every kind of prosperity 25 That man really grows in prosperity who is praised by the Brahmanas who are higher than those who are regarded supe
 - rior to all men high or low. That man who speaks ill of the Brahmanas soon meets with discomfiture, even as a clod of unbaked earth, meets with destruction when thrown into the
- 27. Similarly, all acts that are hurtful to the Brahmanas are sure to bring about discomfiture and rum I ook at the dark spots on the Moon and the salt waters of the ocean.
- The great Indra had at one time been marked all over with a thousand sex marks It was through the power of the Brahmanas that those marks were metamorphosed into as many eyes
- 29 See, O Madhava how all these things took place Designs form Desiring fame and prosperity and various regions of beautifude in the next world, a person of pure conduct and soul should, O destroyer of Madhu, live in obedience to the dictates of the Brahmanas,

Bhishma said .-

30. Hearing those words of the goddess Earth, the destroyer of Madhu, O you of Kuru's race said,—Excellent, Excellent! and honoured the goddess in due form,

31. Having heard this discourse between the goddess Earth and Madhava do you O son of Pritha, always, with rapt soul adore all superior Brahmanas Doing this, you will surely obtain what is highly bene-ficial for you.

CHAPTER XXXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) .-Continued.

Bhishma said :-

- 1. O blessed king, a Brahmana, by birth alone, becomes an object of worship with all creatures and entitled, as guests, to eat the first portion of all cooked food.
- 2. From them come all the great objects of life. They are the friends of all creatures in the universe. They are again the

- mouths of all the gods (for food poured into their mouths is eaten by the denses) Adored with respect, they wish us prosperty by uttering words fraught with auspici-DÚSBAR
- 3. Disregarded by our enemies let then! be engaged with these, and let them wish evil to those detractors of theirs, imprecating them with severe curses
- 4. About it, persons conversant with ancient history repeat the following verses sung of old respecting how in ancient times Brahmanas, laid down their duties.
- A Brahmana should never do any thing else than what has been laid down for him. Protected, they should protect others. By acting thus, they are sure to acquire what is for their behoof
- 6 By doing those acts that are laid down for them they are sure to scquie Brahma prosperity. Ye shall become the exemplars of all creatures, and rems for controlling them.
- A Brahmana endued with learning should never do that which is laid down for the Shudras By doing such acts, a Brah mana loses his merit.
- By Vedic study he is sure to acquire prosperity, intelligence energy and power competent to scorch all things, as alsoghed of the most superior kind.
- By offering oblations of clarified butter to the deities, the Brahmanas ac q ure high blessedness, become worth y of taking the precedence of even children in the matter of all kinds of cooked food, and gifted with Brahma prosperity.
- Endued with faith that is fraught with mercy towards all creatures, and devoted to self control and the study of the Vedas you shall acquire the fruition of all your desires.
- 11. Whatever things exist in the world of men, whatever things exist in the region of the celestials, can all be achieved and acquired with the help of penances and knowledge and the observance of yows and restraints.
- I have thus recited to you, O sinless one the verses that were sung by Brah. mana himself Gifted with supreme intellig gence and wisdom, the Creator himself ordained this, through mercy for the Brahe manas.

The power of those amongst them who are devoted to penances is eq ial to the power of kings They are indeed wresitte ble fierce fleet like lightning, and exceedingly quick in what they do.

- 14 There are amongst them those who are possessed of the might of hons and those who are possessed of the might of tigers. Some of them are gilted with the might of boars, some of the deer and some of crocodies.
- 15 Some there are amongst them whose touch resembles that of anskes of dreadful posson, and some whose bite resembles that of starks. Some amongst them are capable of bringing about by words only the destruction of those that are opposed to them; and some are competent to deatroy by a look only of their eyes.
- 16 Some amongst them, as already said, are like snakes of dreadful poison, and some that are gilled with very mild dispositions. The dispositions, O Yudhishti ira, of the Brahmaias, are of various kind.
- 17. The Mekalas, the Drawdas, the Lathas, the Poundras, the Rowswith the Rowswith state of the Rowswith the Rowswith the Chauras, the Shaundikas, the Daradas the Darvas, the Chauras, Shauvras, the Varvara, the Kiratas the Yawanas and numerous other Kiratas the Yawanas and numerous other these of Kishatiryas, have degenerated into the status of Shudras through the anger of the Brahmanas.
- 10 On account of their having disregarded the Brahmanas, the Asseas have been obliked to take refuge in the depths of the ocean. Through the favour of the Brahmanas, the celestials have become deutens of the happy regions of Heaven.
 - 20 The element for other [12] incapable f being touched. The limavat mountains ire incapable of being thored from their oot. The current of, Ganga is incapable if being resisted by a dam. The Brathanas are incapable of being governed.
 - 21. Rshatnyas are incapable of ruling he Earth without securing the good will of the Bratmanas. The Brahman's are great. They are the deutes of the very fettes.
- 22. Do you always adore them with gifts and obedient services, if, indeed, you desire to enjoy the sovereignty of the whole Earth entircled by seas.
- 23 The energy and power of Brahmanus, O sulless one, become abated by the acceptance of gifts. You should protect your family, O king, from those Brahmanas who do not desire to accept gifts.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA),-

Bhishma said:-

- r. Regarding it is cited the old history of the discourse between Shakra and Shamvara. Do you listen to it, O Yudhishthira.
- Once upon a time Shakra, assuming the guise of an ascetic with matted locks on his head and body covered with ashes all over, rode on an ugly car and went to the Asura Shamvara.

Shakra said:—

 Through what conduct, O Shamvara, you have been able to become the head of your family? Why do all people consider you as superior? Do you tell me this truly and fully.

Shamvara said:-

- 4 I never entertain any ill feelings towards the Brahmanas. Whatever instructions they give I accept with unqualified reverence. When the Brahmanas are engaged in explaining the scriptures, I listen to them with great happiness.
- 5 Having heard their interpretations I never disregard them. Nor do I ever offend against the Brahmans in any way, I always adore intelligent Brahmans; I - always seek information from them. I always adore their feet.
- 6 Approaching me with confidence, they always address me with affection and enquire aiter my well being II they ever happen to be careless, I am always careful. If they happen to sleep, I always remain awake.
- 7 Like bees/drenching the cells of the comb with honey, the Braimanas, who are my instructors and rulers, always drench me with the nectar of knowledge—who am always devoted to the path pointed out by the scriptures, who am devoted for the Braimanas, and who am perfectly shorn of malice or evil passion.
- 8. I always accept with cheerful hearts whatever they say. Helped by memory and understanding. I am always careful of my own faith in them and I always think of my own inferiority to them.
- 9. I always lick the nectar that is at the end of their tongue, and it is for this reason that I occupy a position far above that of all offers of my family like the Moon transcending all the stars.

- 10 The scriptural interpretations which fall from the lips of the Brahmana and listening to which every wise man atts in the world, form nectar on Earth and may, also be likened to most excellent.
- 11. Seeing the battle between the celestials and the Asuras in days of old, and understanding the power of the instructions that Iell from the Brahmanas, my father became filled with delight and wonder.
- 12 Seeing the power of great Brahmanas, my father asked the Moon the question,—How do the Brahmrnas acquire success?

Soma said:-

- 13 The Brahmanas become crowned with success by virtue of their penances. Their strength consists in speech. The power of Kishatiyas is in their arias. The Brahmanas, however, have words for their weapons.
- 14. Undergoing the discomforts of a residence in the house of his preceptor, the Brahmana should study the Vedas or at least the Pranava. Freeing himself of anger and renouncing earthly attachments, he should become a Yati, regarding all himse and all creatures with equal eyes
- 15 If remaining in the liouse of his father he masters all the Vedas and acquiring great knowledge acquires a position that should command respect, people still condemn him as untravelled or home keeping.
- 16 Like a snake swallowing mice, the Earth swallows up these two, vrs., a king that is unwilling to fight and a Brahmana who is reluctant to leave home for acquiring knowledge.
- 17. Pride destroys the prosperity of persons of little wit. A maiden, if she conceives, becomes stained A Brahmana incuts reproach by remaining at home.
- 15. If its is what my father heard from the revered Soma. My lather, on account of this, began to adore and respect the Brattinanas Like him, I also worship and adore all Brahmanas of high yows!

. Bhishma said :--

19 Hearing these words that fell from the mouth of that prince of Danavas, Shakra began to adore the Brahmanas, and as a result thereof he succeeded in acquiring the kingship of the celestials.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Vudhishthira said:-

t. Which amongst these three persons, O grandfather should be regarded as the best for making gifts, vis., one who is a through stranger, or one who is living ail and known to the giver for a long time, of one who comes to the giver, from a long distance?

Rhishma said :--

- 2 All these are equal. The fitness of some consists in their soluciting alms for celebrating sacrifices or for paying the preceptor's fee or for maintaining their wives and children. The fitness of some for receiving gits, consists in their following the wow of wandering over the Earth prever soluciting anything but receiving when given. We should also give to one what one seeks.
- 3 We should, however, make gifts without afflicting those who depend upon us I his is what we have heard. By afflicting one's dependants, one afflicts his own self-
- 4 The stranger—one, that is, who has come for the first time,—should be considered as a proper object of the stranger and well-known and has been living with the giver, should also be considered in the same light. I be learned know that he too who comes from a distant place should be considered in the same light, and expanding the should be considered in an equal light.

Yudhishthira said :-

S It is true that we should make gift to others without afficienting any one and without going against the ordinances of scriptures. One should, however, correctly determine who the person is that should be considered as a proper object for making gifts. He should be such that the gift should be such that

Bhishma said ·—

- 6 If the Ritwij, the Purohita, the preceptor, the Acharya, the disciple the relative (by marriage), and kinsmen happen to be endued with learning and free from malice, then should they be considered worthy of respect and adoration.
 - 7. Those persons who do not possess such qualifications cannot be considered as worthy of gits or hospitality. Hence, one should with deliberation examine persons whom one fracts.

Absence of anger, truthfulness of speech abstention from injury, sincersty, peacefulness of conduct, the absence of pride, modesty, renunciation, self-control, and tranquility or contentment of soul,-he in whom these are by nature, and in whom there are no wicked acts, should be considered as a proper object. Such a person descrees honors.

- Whether the person be one who is well known and familiar, or one who has come newly, whether he has or has not been seen before, if he happens to possess these qualifications, he should be considered as worthy of honors and hospitality.
- 11. He who denies the authority of the Vedas or tires to show that the scriptures should be disregarded, or approves of all treaches of control in society,-simply brings about his own ruin.
 - 12-14 That Brahmana who is proud of his learning, who speaks ill of the Vedas, or who is given to the science of useless disputation, or who is desirous of acquiring victory (in disputations) in assembles of good men by disproving the reasons that exist for morality and religion and attributing everything to clance, or who indulges in censuring and reproaching others or who reproves Brahmanas, or who is suspicious of all persons or who is foolish and bereft of I ligment, or who is buter of speech, should be known to be as hateful as a dog. 15 As a dog meets others, backing the
 - while and seeking to bite, such a person is even so, for he spends his breath in vain and tues to destroy the authority of all the scriptures. Those practices that support society,
 - the duties of virtue, and all those acts which yield benefit to one's own self, should be attended to. A person that lives, attending to these, becomes prosperous for Lood.
 - 17-18 By satisfying the debt one owes to the dettes by performing sacrifices, that to the Rishis by stu 3 ing the Vedas, that to il e departed manes by procreating children, that to the Brat manas by making presents to them, and that to guests by feeding them, in due order, and with purity of motive, and properly attending to the ordinances of the scriptures, a householder does not fall away from virtue.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--Continued,

Yudhishthira said -

1. O best of the Bharatas, I wish to hear you describe the disposition of women. Women are said to be the root of all evil. They are all considered as highly frail.

Bhishma said:-

- Regarding it is cited the old history of the discourse between it e celestial Rishi Narada and the (celestial) courtezen Panchachuda
- 3 Once in ancient times, the celestral Risht Narada, having roamed over all the world, met the Apsara Panchachuda of faultless beauty, having her residence in the region of Brahman.
- Seeing the Apsara every limb of whose body was highly beautiful, the ascelic addressed her, saying -O you of slender waist, I have a doubt in my mind. Do you explain it !-

Bhishma said —

Thus addressed by the Rish: the Apsara said to him -If the subject is one which is known to me and if you consider me competent to speak on it, I shall certain. ly say what is in my mind.

Narada said -

6. O amiable one, I shall not certainly ask you for any task that is beyond your power. O you of beautiful face I wish to hear from you of the disposition of women.

Bhishma said:—

- 7. Hearing these words of the celestial Rishi, that foremost of Apsaras replied to him, saying,-I am unable, being myself a woman, to speak ill of women.
- 8 You know what women are and with what nature they are gifted You should not, O celestral Rishi, set me to such a task.
- g. To her the celestral Rishi said -It is very true, O you of slender waist ! One commits sin by speaking what is unlitue. In saying, however, what is true, there can be no sin.
 - 10. Thus addressed by him, the Apsara Panchachuda of sweet smiles consented to answer Narada's question. She then addressed herself to mention what the true and eternal shortcomings are of women,

102

Panchachuda said -

- Even if high born and gifted with beauty and possessed of protectors, women wish to transgress the restraints assigned to them I his fault truly attaches them, O Narada.
- There is nothing else that is more sinful than women Verily, women are the root of all evils that is certainly known to you, O Narada.
- Women, even when having husbands of fame and wealth, of handsome features and completely obedient to them, are prepared to disregard them if they get
- the opportunity. this, O powerful one, is a sinful disposition with us women, casting off modesty, we seek the companionship of men of sinfut habits and intentions
- Women show a liking for those men who court them, who approach their presence, and who respectfully serve them to even a slight extent.
- 16. Through want of solicitation by persons of the other sex, or fear of relatives, women, who are naturally impatient of all control, do not transgress those that have been ordained for them, and remain by the side of their husbands.
- 17. There is none whom they cannot admit to their favours. They never consider about the age of the person they are prepared to favour. Ugly or handsome, if only the person happens to belong to the opposite sex, women are ready to enjoy his companionship
- That women remain faithful to their husbands is due not to their fear of sin. nor to mercy, nor to riches nor to the affection that originates in their hearts for kinsmen and cl ildren.
- Women living in the respectable families envy the condition of those members of ther sex who are young and welladorned with jewels and gems and that lead a free life.
- Even those nomen who are loved by their husbands and treated with great respect, are seen to confer their favours upon men who are hump backed who are blind, who are idiots, or who are dwarfs,
- Women may be seen to like the companionship of even those men who are mert or those men who are ugly to look at, O treat Rishi, there is no man in this world whom women may consider as unfit for companionship #
- 22-23 Through inability to obtain persons of the opposite sex, or fear of relatives, or fear of death and impresonment,

- of themselves. under women remain. control
- They are highly fickle, for they 24 always hanker after new companions. On account of their nature being unintelligible, they are incapable of being kept in obedience by laving treatment is such that they are incapable of being controlled when bent upon transgression Indeed, women are like the words uttered by the wise.
- 25 Fire is never satisfied with fue > Ocean can never be filled with the water that the rivers bring to him troyer is never satisted with killing ever all living creatures Likewise, women are never satiated with men
- This O celestial Rishi, is another mystery about women. As soon as they see a man of beautiful and charming features, unfailing signs of desire appear on their body.
- They never show sufficient regard for even such I usbands as satisfy all their wishes, as always do what is agreeable to them, and as protect them from want and danger
- Women never prize even profuse articles of enjoyment or ornaments or other delightful things, so much as they do the companionship of persons of the opposite
- 29. The destroyer, the god of wind, death, the nether regions, the equine mouth that roves through the ocean, vomiting ceaseless flames of fire, the sharpness of the razor, dreadful poison, the snake and Fire,-all these exist in a state of union in woman.
- 30 Indeed from that eternal Brahma whonce the five great elements have originated whence the Creator Brahman hath ordained the universe, and whence, indeed, men have sprung, have women sprung into At that time, again, O Narada, when women were created, these faults that I have described were planted in them.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said -

1. Overcome by the illusion of the divine Being, all men, O king in this world, are seen to attach themselves to women.

- 2 Likewise, women too, are seen to attach themselves to men All this is seen taking place everywhere in the world. I have a doubt on this subject
- Why, O delighter of the Kurus, do nen still attach themselves to women? Who again, are those men with whom are women highly pleased, and who are they with whom they are displeased;
- 4 You should, O chief of men, explain to me how men are capable of protecting women?
- 5 While men take pleasure in women and sport with them, women, it seems, are engaged in imposing upon men. Then, again, it a man once falls into then, thands, it selfficult for him to escape from them. Like kine ever I king pastures new, women like new men one after another.
- of The women have in them the sum total of that illusion which the Asura Shamvara possessed, Ithat illusion which the Asura Namuchi possessed, that illusion which Vali or Kumbhinasi had.
- 7. If man laughs, women laugh. If man weeps, they weep If the opportunity requires they receive the man who is disagreeable to them with sweet words

 8. That science of policy which the pre-
- ceptor of the Asuras knew that science of policy which the preceptor of the releastals viz, Vrhaspati, knew, is not deeper or more subtile than what woman's intelligence. Indeed, how can women, therefore, be restrained by men?
 - 9 They make a lie sppear as truth, and a truth appear as a lie They who tan do this -1 ask, O hero, -how can they be governed by persons of the opposite sex?
 - to. It appears to me that Vrihaspati and other great thinkers, O destroyer of enemies, evolved the science of Policy from observation of the understandings of
 - 11. Whether treated by men, with respect or with hatred, women are seen to turn the heads and agitate the hearts of men.
 - 12. Living creatures, O you of mighty arms, are victuous. Even it is is what we have heard I reated with love and respect or otherwise, women are seen to deserve censure for their conduct towards men.
 - 13 This great doubt fills my mind, eir, when their conduct is suen, what man is there that can restrain them within the limits of virtue? Do you explain this to me, O highly blessed scion of Kuru's race, 14 You should tell me, O class of Kuru's race, whether women are truly capable of being governed within the limits prescribed by the scriptures or whether any one before or time this results in so controlling them.

CHAPTER XL.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) → Continued.

Bhishma said .-

I lt is true what you say, O you of mighty arms There is nothing untrue in all this [that you say, O you of Kuru's race, on the subject of women, O monarch!

- 2 About it I shall recité to you the old history ef how in days of yore the great Vipula had succeeded in restraining women within the limits laid down for them.
- 3 I shall also tell you O king, how women were created by the Grandfather Brahman and the object for which they were created by Him.
- 4. There is no creature more sinful, O son, than woman Woman is a burning fire. She is the illusion, O king, that the Daitya Maya created. She is the sharp edge of the razor. She is poison She is a snake She is fire. She is, verily, all these in a body.
- 5 We have heard that all human beings are characterised by righteousness and that they, in course of natural progress and improvement, attain to the dignity of god. This circumstance alarmed the celestials.
- 6 They, therefore, O chastiser of foes, assembled together and went to the Grand-father Informing Him of what was in their minds they stood silent before him with downcast eyes
- Having learnt what was in the hearts of the celestials the powerful Grandfather created women with the help of an Atharvan rite
- 8 In a former creation, O son of Kunti, women were all virtuous 1 hore, however, that sprang from this creation (by Brahman with the help of an illusion, became similal. The Grandisther bestowed upon them the desire of enjoying all kinds of carnal pleasure.
- g Tempted by the desire of enjoyment, they began to pursue persons of the other sex. The powerful lord of the detties created Anger as the companion of Lust.

10. Persons of the male sex, yielding to the power of Lust and Anger, sought the companionship of women. Women have no especial acts laid down for them. I his is the ordnance that was laid down.

- The Shruti declares that women are gifted with the most powerful senses that they have no scriptures to follow, and that they are living lies. Beds, seats, ornaments, food and drink and the absence of respectable all that LS and righteous, indulgence in disagreeable words, and love of sexual companionship,these were bestowed by Brahman upon women. Men are quite unable to restrain them within limits
- 13 The Creator himself is incapable of keeping them within proper limits, what need then be said of men?
- 14 This, O chief of men, I heard in former days, vis, how Vipula had succeeded in protecting his preceptor's wile in ancient times.
- 15. There was in 4-ys of yore a highly blessed Rishi of the name of Devasharinan of great fame He lind a wife, of name Ruchi, who was peerlers on Earth in beauty.
- 16 Her loveliness intoxicated every one among the celestials and Gandhatvas and Danavas. The chastiser of Paka, vir, India the destroyer of Verita, O king, was in particular enamoured of her and coveted her body.
- 17. The great ascetic Devasharman fully knew the disposition of winen. He, therefore, to the best of his power and energy, protected her.
- 18 The Rish knew that Indra had no scruples in seeking the companionship of other people's wives It was, therefore, that he used to protect his wife, putting forth all his power,
- 19. Once on a time, O sun, t'e Rishin became destrous of celebrating a sacrifice He began to think of how (during his niwn absence from home) his wife could be protected.
- 20 Gifted with high ascetic merit he at last hit upon the course he should adopt. Summoning his favourite disciple whose name was Vipula and who was of Blirigu's family, he said as follows.

Devasharman said .--

. .

21. I shall leave home in order to celebrate a sacrifice. The king of the celestials always covets this Ruchi of mine. Do you, during my absence, protect her, displaying all your power.

22 You shall pass your time carefully

22 You shall pass your time carefully in view of Purandara. O foremost one of Bhrigu's race, that Indea assumes various forms.

Bhishma said:-

23-24 Ihus addressed by his preceptor, the ascetic Vipula, with senses restrained, always engaged in severe penances, possessed of the splendour, O king, of fire or the sun, conversant with all the duties of virtue, and ever truthful in speech, answered lim, saying, -50 be it 1-Once more, however, as his preceptor was about to start, Vipula asked him in these words.

Vipula said :-

25 Iell me, O Muni, what forms does Shakra assume when he comes. Of what kind is his body and what is his energy? You should tell me all this.

Bhishma said:-

26 The illustrious Rishi then truly described to the great Vipula all the illustring of Shakra, O Bharata.

Devasharman said —

27 The powerful chastiser of Paka, O regenerate Risia, is full of illusion. Every moment he assumes those forms that he chooses.

28. Sometimes he wears a diadem and holds the thunder-bolt. Sometimes, armough with the thunder-bolt and wearing a crown on his head, he adorns hinself with earnings. In a moment he changes himself into the shape and aspect of Chandala.

29 Sometimes he appears with coronal locks on his head; soon again, O son, he shows himself with matted locks, his person being clad in rags. Sometimes he assumest a goodly and huge frame. The mext moment he changes himself into one of emactated limbs, and clad in rags.

- 30 Sometimes he becomes lair, sometimes darkish, sometimes dark, of complexion. Sometimes he becomes ugly and sometimes beautiful. Sometimes he appears as young and sometimes as old.
- 31. Sometimes he appears as a Brahmana, sometimes as a Ksharinya, some times as a Vasibi,a, and sometimes as a Shudra Indeed, he of a hundred satisfices appears at times as a person born of impure caste, that is, as the son of a supertor father by a superior mother or of an inferior father by a superior mother.
- 32. Sometimes he appears as a parrot sometimes as a crow, sometimes as a swan

- and cometimes as a coel. He assumes the forms also of, a hon, a tiger, or an elephant.
- 33 Sometimes he appears as a god, sometimes as a Dati, and sometime sometimes are pagears as 18 at and plums of the sometimes like appears as 18 at and plums, sometimes as one whose limbs have been broken by the disordered wind in the system, sometimes as a brid, and sometimes as one of an exceedingly ugly form
- 34 Sometimes he appears as a quadruped. Capable of assuming any form he sometimes appears as an idiot shorn of all michigence. He assumes also the forms of thes and gnate.
- 35. O Vipula, no one can make him out, on account of these numberless disguises that he is capable of assuming. The very Creator of the universe is not equal to that feat.
- 36 He makes himself invisible when he likes. He is incapable of heing seen except with the eye of knowledge. The king of the celestials sometimes changes himself much the wind.
- 37 The I chastiser of Paka always assumes these disguises Do you, therefore, O Vipiula protect this slender-waisted wife of mind with great care.
- 38 O foremost one of Bhrigu's race do you take every care for seeing that the king of the icclestials may not defile this wife of imnellike a wretched dog licking the Havi kept if view of a sacrifice
- -39 Having said these words the highlyblessed ascelic vis, Devasharman, intent upon celebrating a sacrifice started from his abode. O chief of the Bharatas
- 40 Hearing these words of his preceptor, Vipula began to think —I shall certainly protect this lady in every respect from the powerful king of the celestials.
- Lat But what should be the means? What can I do for protecting the wife of my preceptor? The king of the celestials is endued with large powers of illustin Giffed with great energy, he is difficult of being resisted.
- 42 Indra cannot be kept out by enclosing this retreat of ours or fencing this yard, since he is Gryndig of assuming numberless successfully p
- chination of Indra is form of the wind, the 30. Of tranquil may assault the wise of more or his preceptor, y best course, therefore, fo him and stood before the body of this labeart.
- ata while and when tect the Jack for the

- herrd by me, is capable of assuming any form he likes.
- 45 I shall, therefore, protect this one from Indra by my Yoga-power. For satisfying my object I shall with my body enter the budy of this lady.
- 46 If my preceptor on return, sees his wife defiled, he will, forsooth, citise me through anger, for endued with great sectic merit, he is gifted with spiritual vision.
- 47 This lady is incapable of being protected in the way in which other women are protected by men since the king of the celestials is gifted with large powers of illusion. Alas, the situation is very critical
- 48 The command of my preceptor should certainly be obeyed by me. If, therefore I project her by my Yoga power, the feet will be considered by all as a wonderful one,
- 40 By my Yoga power, therefore, I shall enter it e bo ly of my preceptor's lady, I shall hew within her and yet not thinch her body like a drop of water on a lotus leaf which lies on it yet does not drench it at all
- 50-51 If I be free from the louch of passion, I crimet mean any sin by doing what I wish to do As a traveller, in course of his sojourn, takes up his quarters (for a while) in any empty house he fin b, I shall, similarly live, this day within the
- I shall, similarly live, this day within the body of my precenter slady. Indeed, with mind rapt up in Yoga, I shall live to day in this lady's body.
- 53-53 Giving his best consideration to these points of virtue, thinking of all the Vedas and their branches, and with eye directed to the penances which I is preceptor had and which he himself also were processed of, and howing settled in his owner had and which he himself also were to the himself also were directly and Bhriqus race took great care (for accomplishing his object. Listen now to me, O king as I recelte to jou what he did
- 54 Gifted with great penances. Vipida sat himself down by the side of his preceptor's wife as she of faultless features was sitting wrher courage. Vipida then began roof discourse to her for bringing her over to the cause of virtue and truth.
- 55 Directing his eyes then to lers and uring the rays of light that came out from her organs of vision with this et latisated from his Vipula entered the lady's body even as the element of wind enters that of ether or space.
 - 56 Penetrating her eyes with his eyes and her face with his face, V pula lived,

- without moving, within her invisibly, like her shadow.
- 57 Restraining every part of the lady's body, Vipula continued to live within her, meet on protecting her from Indra. The lady herself knew nothing of this.
- 58 It was in this way, O king, that Vipula continued to protect the lady till the time of his freat preceptor's return after accomplishing the sacrifice which he had gone out to perform.

CHAPTER XLL

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--

Bhishma said:—

- One day the king of the celestials assuming a form of divine beauty, came to the hermitage of the Rishi, thi iking that the opportunity he had been expecting had at last come
- 2. Indeed, O king, having assumed a form peerlers in beauty and highly tempting to women and highly agreeable to look at, Indra entered the ascetic's asylum.
- 3 He beheld the body of Vipula staying in a sitting posture, immovable as a stake, and with eyes shorn of vision, like a picture drawn on the canvas.
- 4. And he beheld also Ruchi, scated there, adorned with eyes whose andder highly beautiful possessed of full end cound hips, and liaving a deep and swelling bosone. Her eyes were large and expansive hike lottus petals and her face was as beautiful and sweet as the full moon.
- 5 Seeing Indra come in that guise, the lady wished to rise up and welcome him. Her wonder having been excited at the pearlers beauty of form which the person possessed, she very much wished to ask him as to who lie was.
- 6. Although, however, she wished to rise up and welcome him vet her limbs having been restrained by Vipula wi C was hiving within her, she failed, O king, to do what she wished. In fact she was unable to move from the place where she sait.
- 7 He king of the celestrals then addressed her in sweet words uttered with a sweet voice.
- 8 Indeed, he said,—O you of sweet smiles know that I am Indra, arrived here for your sake I Know, O sweet lady, that I am afficted by the god of love provized

- by your thoughts O you of beautiful brows, I have come to you. I me passes away.
- g These words that Indra spoke were heard by the ascetic Vapula Remaining within the body of his preceptor's wife, he saw everything that took place.
- to The lady of faultless beauty, thought she heard what Indra said, was, however, unable to rise up for welcoming or honoring the king of the celestials. Her senses restrained by Vipula, she could make no teply.
- 11. Judging from the marks afforded by the body of his preceptor's wife that side was not reloctant to receive Indra with wholess, that scon of Birrgu's race, of imply energy restrained her limbs and senses all the more effectually, O king, by his Yoga powers.
- 12—13 With Yoga-letters he bound up all her somes and line rates all her sense hashed and her sense and research and the sense and research and the sense an
- 14 The words, therefore, that actually dropped from her lips were.—What is the reason of your coming here?—Whese words adorned with grammatical refinements came out of her mouth that was as beautiful like the moon.
- 15. Subject to the influence of another, she gave vent to these words, but became rather ashamed for uttering them. Hearing her, Purandara became highly disciplinated
- 16 Observing that awkward result, the king of the celestrals, O monarch, having a thousand eyes, saw everything with his spiritual eye.
- 117 He then saw the ascetic living we then the body of the lady. Indeed, the as cretic remained within the body of its preceptor's wife like an image or reflection or appear.
- 18 Seeing the ascets sometimes as a terrible power of penar his ded sacribles, fearing the Rishi's person born of fear.
- to power, left the body for mother.
- wife and returned to hisears as a parrot lying near then he times as a swall flow times as a swall

Vipula said -

- 20. O wicked Purandara, O you of sinful mind, O wretch who have no control over your senses, neither the detities nor human beings will worship you for any fength of time.
- 21. Have you forgotten it, O Shakra,— does it not still dwell in jour remembrance,—that Gautama had cursed you on account of which your body became disfigured with a thousand sex-marks, which owing to the Rishi's mercy, were alterwords changed into so many eyes.
- 22 I know that you are of an exceedingly foolish understanding, that your soul is impure and that you are of an exceedingly fickle mind. O fool, know that this lady is being protected by me O sinful wretch, return whence you came.
- 23 U you of foolish soul, I do not reduce you to day into ashes with my energy Indeed, I am filled with mercy for you. It is for this that I do not, O Vasava, wish to burn you
- 24 My preceptor gifted with great intelligence, is possessed of terrible power. With eyes blazing with anger, he would, if he saw you, have burnt your sinful self to day.
- 25. You should not, O Shakra, do its like again. The Brahmanas should be respected by you. See that you do not, with your sons and counsellors, meet with destruction, afficted by the power of the Brahmanas.
 - 26 You think that you are an immortal and that, therefore, are at liberty to act thus. Do not, however, dishonor the Brahmanas. Know that there is nothing unattainable by penance.

Bhishma said -

- 27 Hearing these words of the great Vipula, Shakra without saying anything, and covered with shame, disappeared.
- 28 A moment after he had gone away Devasharman of great ascetic merit, having accomplished the sacrifice he had intended to perform, returned to his own herinitage
- 29 When his preceptor teturned, Vipula, who had done a good deed, gave to him his wife of faultiess beauty whom he had successfully protected against the machination of Indra.
- 30 Of tranquil soul and full of respect for his preceptor, Vipula respectfully saluted him and stood before him with a fearless heart
- 31 After his preceptor had rested awhile and when he was seated with his

- wife on the same seat, Vipula told him everything that Shakra had done.
- 52 Hearing these words of Vipula, that foremost of Munis, gifted with great proness, became highly pleased with him for his conduct and desposition, his penancis, and his observances.
- 33 Observing Vipula's conduct towards himself—his preceptor—and his devotion also, and marking his steadiness in virtue, the powerful Devasharman exclaimed,—Excellent, excellent,
- 34. The pious Devasharman receiving his virtuous disciple with a sincere welcome, honored him with a boon.
- 35 Indeed, Vipula, steady in virtue, obtained from his preceptor the boon that he would never swerve or fall away from virtue. Dismissed by his preceptor he left his house and practised the most severe austernies.
- 36 Devasharman also, of severe penances, with his wife, began from that day to live in those solitary woods, perfectly fearless of him who had killed Vala and Vritra.

CHAPTER XI.II.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Bhishma said -

- t Having satisfied his preceptor's command, Vipula practised the most severe penances. Critted with great energy, he at last regarded himself as endued with sufficient ascetic merst.
- 2 Priding himself upon the feat he had performed, I e wandered fearlessly and contentedly over the Earth, O monarch, honored by all as one possessed of great fame for what he had done.
- 3 The powerful Bhargava thought that he had conquered both the worlds by that feat of his as also by his severe penances
- 4 After sometime, O delighter of the Kurus, the time came for a ceremony of gifts to take place with respect to tile sister of Ruchi. Profuse wealth and corn were to be given away in it.
- 5 Meanwhile, a certain celestial damsel, gilted with great beauty, was passing through the skies.
- From her body, as she passed through the sky, some flowers dropped down on the - Earth Those flowers of celestial fragrance fell on a spot not far from the hermitage of Ruchi's husband

- Ruchi's husband
 7 As the flowers lay scattered on the ground, they were picked up by Ruchi of beautiful eyes. So in after an invitation came to Ruchi from the country of the
- Angas.

 8 The sister, referred to above, of Ruchi, named Prabhavati, was the wife of Chitraratha the king of the Angas
- o Ruchi, of treat beauty, having attached those flowers to her hair, went to the palace of the king of the Angas to answer the invitation she had received
- to Seeing those flowers on her hair, the queen of the Ahgas, having beautiful eyes, urged her sister to obtain some for her.
- 11. Ruchi, of beautiful face, speedsly informed her husband of that request of her sister. The Rishi accepted the prayer of his sister-in law.
- 12. Summoning Vipula into his presence, Devasharman of severe penances commanded his disciple to bring him some flowers of the same sort, saying —Go, go
- 13 Accepting unhesitatingly the order of his preceptor, the great ascetic Vipula O king answered,—So be it l—and then proceeded to that spot whence the lady Ruchi had picked up the flowers that were wanted by her sister.
- 14 Arrived at that place where the flowers had fallen from the sky, Vipula saw some others still lying scattered. They were all as fresh as if they had been newly plucked from the plants. None of them had faded away. 15 He took up those exquisitely beauti-
- 15 He took up those exquisitely beautiful celestial flowers Possessed of celestial fragrance O Bharata, Vipula got them there as the result of his severe penances
- 16. The accomplisher of its preceptor's command having obtained them he felt great delight and started quickly for the city of Champa adorned with lestoons of Champaka flowers
- 17 As he went on he saw on his way a human couple moving in a circle hand in hand.
- 18 One of them made a rapid step and thereby destroyed the cadence of the movement Therefore, Oking, a dispute arose between them
- 19 Indeed one of them charged the other, saying, You have taken a quicker step!—The other answered —No —Indeed, as each held his own opinion obstituately,

- each, O king, asserted what the 'other denied, and denied what the other asserted.

 20. While thus quarrelling with each
- other with great assurance, an oath was then heard among them. Indeed, each of them suddenly named Vipula in what they uttered.

 21. Their oath was this —That one
- 21. Their oath was this That one amongst us two who speaks falsely, shall, as the next world, meet with the end which will be the twice-born Vipula's.
- 22—23 Hearing these words of theirs, yipula's Isac became very sad. He began to commune with hirrielf,—I have practised severe penances. The dispute between this cupile is hot. To me, again, it is panful. What sin have I committed that both these persons should refer to my end not the next world as the most painful one among those reserved for all creatures?
- 24 Thinking thus, Vipila, O best of kings, hung down his head, and with a dispirited mind began to recollect what sin he had done.
 - 25-26. Proceeding a little way he saw sax other men piaying with dice made of cold and stiver. Eugaged in play, the cold and stiver. Eugaged in play, the distribution of the cold and that the hars on their bodies stood erectively also were heard by Vipula to take they also were heard by Vipula to take the same oath that he had already heard the first couple to take. Indeed, their words had reference in the same way to Vipula.
- 27 He amongst us who, led by cupidity, will act in an unfair way, shall meet with that end which is reserved for Vipula in the next world.
 - 28 Hearing these words, however, Vipula, although he tried earnestly to recollect, could not remember any sin of his from even his earliest years, O you of Kuru's race
 - 29 Indeed he began to burn like a fire placed in the midst of another fire Hearing that curse, his mind burnt with grief.
 - 30 In this state of anxiety a long time was passed. At last he recollected the manner in which he had acted in protecting his preceptor's wife from the machinations of Indra.
 - 31. I had entered the body of that lady, placing limb within limb face within face-Although I had acted in this way, I did not yet tell my preceptor the truth.
 - 32 This was the sin, O you of Kuru's race, which Vipula recollected in himself-lindeed, O blessed king, for sooth, that was the sin which he had actually committed 33 Coming to the city of Champa, he gave the flowers to his preceptor. Devoted to superiors and seniors, he adored his preceptor in due form."

CHAPIER XIIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) —

Bhishma said -

I Seeing his disciple returned from his mission, Devosharman of treat energy addressed him in words which I shall recite to you, O king

Devasharman said :--

2 What have you seen, O Vipula, in course of your journey O disciple, through the great forest? Then whom you have seen knew you, O Vipila. I, as also my wife Ruchi, know how you had acted in the matter of protecting Ruchi

Vipula said :-

3 O twice born Rishi who are those two whom I first saw? Who also are those other six whom I saw afterwards? All of them know me. Who indeed, are they to whom youprefer in your speech to me I—

Devasharman said —

- 4 The first couple, O twice born one, whim you saw are Day and Night I bey are ceaselessly moving like a circle Both of their know the sin you have committed
- 5 Hose other men (six in number) whom, O learned Brahmana, you saw playing cl erfully at dice, are the aix Seasons It ey also are acquainted with your sins
- 6 Having committed a sin secretly, no sinful man should cheroli the assuring thought that his sin is known only to 1 nuself and not to any one else.
- 7 When a man commits a sinful deed in secret, the beasons as also Day and Natt see it always
- 8 Hore regions if at are reserved for the su ful shall be yours. What you had done, you did to tell me. That your sin was not known to any one was your belief, and it is conviction had filled you with you.
- 9 You did not inform your preceptor of the whole truth choosing to I ide from him a substitutial portion. He Sens in and Day and Night whom you have heard speak thus, it dought it proper to remind you of your sin.

- to Day and Night and the Seasons, do know all the good and the bad deeds, that are in a man.
- 11 They spoke to you in that way, O twice born one, because they have full knowledge of what you had done but which you had not the courage to inform me of, fearing you had done wrong.
- 12 For this reason you will visit the regions that are reserved for the sinful. You did not tell me what you had done.
- 13 You were fully capable, O twiceborn one, of protecting my wife whose disposition, by nature, is sinful. In doing what you did, you did not commit any sin. I was, for this pleased with you
- 14 O best of Bralmanas if I had known you to have acted wickedly, I would, without hesitation, have cursed you entirely.
- 15 Women become united with men. Such union, is very destrable with inen You had, however, protected my wife in a different spirit. If you had acted otherwise, I would have cursed. Even this is what I think
- 16 You had, O son, protected my whe I have known the manner in which you had done it as if you had yourself informed me of it I have, O son, become pleased with you Relieved of all anxiety, you shall go to leaven.
- 17 Having said these words to Vipula, the great Rishi Devasliarman ascended to Heaven with his wife and his disciple and began to pass his time there in great bappiness.
- 18 In course of conversation, O king, on a former occasion, the great ascetic Markandeya had described to me this instory on the banks of Ganga.
- 19 I, therefore recite it to you Women should always be protected by you Amongst them both kinds are to be seen, that is those who are not so those who are not so
- 20 The victious women are highly blessed. They are the mothers of the universe. Flee, it is, O king that k-ep up the Earth with all her waters and forests.
- 21 Those women who are sinful, who are of wicked conduct, who are the destroyer of their race, and who are wedden sinful purposes, are capable of being ascertained by marks, expressive of the vital is in them, which appear, O king, on their persons
- 22 It is thus that great persons are cat able of protecting women. They cannot,

- O foremost of kings, protected in any other way

 23. Women, O king are fierce. They
- 23. Women, O king are fierce. They have are gifted with fierce prowess. I hey have none whom they love or like, so much as them that have sexual intercourse with
- 24. Women are like those (Atharvan) Mantrams which destroy life. Even after they have consented to live with one, they are prepared to leave him joining others. They are never satisfied with one person of the opposite sex, O son of Pandu.
- a5. Men should not love them. Nor should they cherish any jealousy on account of them, O king! Only for the sake of virtue, men should enjoy their society, not with enthuisasm and attachment but with unwillingness and absence of attachment.
- 26 By acting otherwise, a man is sure to meet with destruction, O delighter of the Kurus. O foremost of kings, reason is respected at all times and under all circumstances.
- 27. Only one man, vis., Vipula, had succeeded in protecting woman. There is none else, O king, in the three worlds who can protect women.

CHAPTER XLIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said :-

- t. Fell me of that, O grandfather, which is the root of all duties, which is the root of kinsmen, of home, of the departed manes and of guests.
- 2 I think this should be considered as the foremost of all duties I ell me, however, O king to what sort of a person sl ould one give his daughter.
- 3 Having enquired into the conduct and nature of the person, his learning and acquirements his birth, and his acts, good people should then confer their daughter upon accomplished bridegrooms

 4. All righteous Brahmanas, O Vudhi-
- 4. All righteous Brahmanas, O Yudhi-shthira, act thus I his is known as the Brahma marriage, O Yudhishthira
- 5 Selecting a befitting bridegroom, the fatter of the gul should make lum marry his daughter, having by various presents induced the bridegroom to that act. This

- protected in any form of marriage, forms the eternal practice of all good Kshatriyas.

 Te fierce. They 6 When the father of the gul, without
 - 6 When the father of the gul, without consulting his own wishes, confees his daughter upon a person whom the daughter likes and who reciprocates the gulds sentiments, the form of marriage, O Yudhishthira, is called Gandharva by those versed in the Vedas.
 - 7. The wise have declared, O king, to be the practice of the Asutas, vis., marrying a gut after buying her at a high cost and after gratifying the cupidity of her kinsmen.
 - 8. Killing and chopping off the heads of weeping kinsmen, the bridegroom sometimes forcibly takes away the girl he matries. Such marriage, O son, passes by the name of Rakshasa.
 - 9. Of these five, (vis, the Brahms, the Kshatra, the Gandharva, the Asura, and the Rakshasa), three are righteous, O Yudhishthira, and two are unrighteous. I he Paishacha and the Asura forms should, never be followed.
 - to The Brahma, Kshatra, and Gandharva forms are righteous, O prince of men! Pure or mixed, these forms should forsooth be followed.
 - 11. The Brahmana can take three wives. The Kshiatriya can take two wives. The Varshya should take a wife from only his own caste. The children born of these wives should all be considered as equal.
 - 12 Of the three wwee of a Brahmana, she taken from his own casts alloud be considered as the forement of the two weeps permitted to the Kchatray, she taken from his own easte should be considered as superior. Some say that persons belonging to the three higher castes may take, only for purposes of enjoyment, wwes from the lowest or the Shudra caste. Others, however, forboth the practices.
 - 13 The righteous condemn the practice of begetting children upon Shudra women. A Brahmana, by begetting children upon a Shudra women, becomes sul ject to the liability of performing an expiation.
 - 14 A person of thirty years of age should marry a girl of ten years of age wearing a single piece of cloth Or, a person of one and twenty years of age should marry a girl of seven years of age.
 - 15 That girl who has no brotler nor father should not be married, O citel of Bharata's race for she may be intended for giving birth to the heir of her lather.
 - 16. After puberty it in, the girl (if not married) should wait for three years.

On the fourth year, she should look for a husband herself.

- 17. The children of such a girl do not lose their respectability, not does ution with such a gull become dispractful If, instead of selecting a husband for herself, she acts otherwise she gets the reproach of Prajapati herself.
- 18 One should marry that girl who is not a Sapunda of his mother or of the same family with his father. It is is the usage which Manu has declared

Yudhishthira said:-

19 Desirous of marriage some onte actualty guess a dower to the gui's knosmen; some one, the gui's knosmen consenting, prori sets to gue a present it some one asys,—I shall carry away the gui'by force;—some one simply shows his riches, some one, again, actualty takes the hand of the gui'd that the some of the gui'd that the some one, again, actualty takes the hand of the gui'd that the some some of the guide of the gu

Bhishma said :--

- 21. The deeds of men approved by the wise, are seen to yield good False speech, however, is always sinful.
- 22. The girl herself who becomes wife, the sons borr of her, the Ritwijas and preceptors and disciples and Upadhyayas present at the marriage all become liable to expation if the girl gives her hand to a person other than 1e whom she 1 ad promised to marry Some are of opinion conduct, apparation is necessary for such conduct.
 - 23. Mahu does not speak highly of the practice of a girl living with a person whom she does not like Living as wife with a person whom she those not like, produces disgrace and sin. No one commits sin in any of the following cases.
 - 24 Inforcibly carrying away for martiage a glit that is bestewed upon the abductor by it e gulls relatives with due rites, as also a gull for whom dower has been paid and accepted, there is no great sin,
 - 25 Upon the gut's kinsmen having given their consent, Mantras and Hona should be ristored to, Such Mantras truly accomplish their purpose Mantras and Homa recited and performed in the case of a gird who has not been given away by her kinsmeh, do not accomplish their purpose
 - 26 The engagement made by the relatives of a gul is no doubt, binding and

- sacred. But the engagement that Is made by the bride and bride-groom, with the help of Mantras, Is very much more so
- 27. According to the injunctions of the scriptures, the husband should regard his wife as an acq institute due to his own pristing deeds or to what has been ordained by God. One, therefore, commits no sin by accepting for wife a girl who had been promised to another by her kunsmen or for whom dower had been accepted by them from abother.

Yudhishthira said -

- 28 When after the recept of dower for a gurl, the gurl's father sees a more elayable bride-groom—one, who is endued with the three-fold objects, does the gurl's father commit sin by rejecting the person from whom dower had been received in favor of him who is more elayable?
- 29 In such a case either alternative appears to be sitful, for to discard the person to whom the girl has been promised can itever be honorable, while to reject the person who is more eligible can never be good. I ask, how should the father act so good. I ask, how should the father act so the person who is not all duttes this seems to deserve unknown deliberations.
- 30 We are desirous of determining the truth. You, indeed, are our eyes. Do you explain this to us I am never satisfied with listening to you.

Bhishma said -

- 31 The gift of the dower does not make the gift wife I has is well known to the person paying it He pays it simply as the price of the gift I hen again the good never bestow their daughters induced by the dowers that others may offer.
- 33—31 When the person desirous of marrying happens to be gifted with such qualities as do not go down with the girl's kinstene, it is a do not go down with the girl's kinstene, it is an object to his work, who won over by another so a complishments, says —Do you marry it adoring her with proper ornaments of gold and gents—and that person who states this request, cannot be said to demand dower or give it, for such a transaction and of the state of the state
- 34 In matters of marriage, some fathers say—I shall bestow my daughter upon such and such a person, some say—I shall not bestow my daughter upon such a one—Some again, say forcibly—I must bestow my daughter upon such an individual and daughter upon such an individual or some again.

- 35 Hiese declarations are not tantamount to actualmarrage People are seen to solicit one another for the Bands of madeus. I'll the band is actually taken with due rites, marrage does not happen We have heard that even this was the boon granted to men formerly by the Maruts about madeus.
- 36 The Rishis have laid the command upon all men that maidens should never be bestowed upon persons unless the father are eligible. The daughter is the root of desire and of descendants of the collateral line. This is what I think,
- 37. The practice of sale and purchase of the daughter, has been known to human beings for a long time. On account of such familiarity with the practice, you may be able, upon careful examination, to find innumerable faults in the life of acceptance of dower alone could not be considered as treating the relation of hissband and wife. Listen to what I say on this head
- 38. Formerly, having defeated all the Magadhas, the Kashis, and the Koshalas 1 brought away by force two maidens for Vichitravirvya.
- 30 One of those two maidens was married with due rites. I he other thanden was not formally married on the ground that she was one for whom dower had been paid in the shape of chivalry My uncle of Kuru's race, ver, king Valinka, said that the maiden so brought away and not married with due rites should be liberated. That marden, therefore, was recommended to Vichitraerrys for being matried by him according to
- 404 Doubting my father's words I went to others for asking their opinion I thought that my father was exceedingly punctilious in matters of morality
- 41. I then went to thy father himself, O king, and addressed him these words from device of knowing something about the practices of private people in respect of marriage—I wish, O are, to know what manual the practices are of righteous people—I repeatedly expressed my wish. Such was my eagerness and curlosity, that I expressed my delite several times
- 43-43. After I bid uttered those words that forement of pouls men, viv. m) but er Valh ka, answered me, taying, if in your opinion the relation of husband and wile belongs to the gift and acceptance of dower and not to the actual sking of the maden's hand with due to the first hand to the did the words, the father of the maden's bed eved other hands to be the follower old a reced other.

- than that which comes from the ordinary scriptures. This is what the accepted scriptures say.
- 41. Persons confersant with morally and duty do not hold that their words are at all authoritative who say that the relation of husband and wife arises from the gift and acceptance of dover, and not from the actual taking of the hand with due rites.
- 45 The saying is well known that the relation of hivsband and wife is created by actual bestowal of the daughter by the father. The relation of wife is not formed through sale and purchase. They will consider such status to be due to sale and the gift of dower are persons who are certainly unacquainted with the scriptures.
- 46 No one should bestow his daughter upon such persons. In fact, they are not men with whom one may marry his daughter. A wife should never be purchased. Nor should a father sell his daughter.
- 47. Only those sinful persons who are possessed, besides, by cupidity, and who sell and purchase lemale slaves for making them servants, consider the relation of wife as capable of originating from the gift and acceptance of dower.
- 48—49 On this subject some people on one occasion had asked prince Satyavat the following question —11 the piver of a dower to the knishmen of a maiden happens to die before marriage, can another person take the hand of that maiden in marriage. We have doubts on this matter. Do you remove these doubts of ours for you are gifted with great wisdom and are honored by the wise.
- 50—51 Be soit the eyes to ourselves who are destrous of learning the truth—Prince Satyavat answered, saying—the kinsmen of the malden should bestow her upon him whom they consider proper. Here need be no scruples in this. He righteous act thus without caring for the giver of the dower even in the pallier while, about the giver who is dead, there is not the slightest doubt.
- some say that the virgin wife of wife words some say that the virgin wife of been consummation, marriage has not been consummation on account of its absence or death,—may be all weed to unte herself with her husband's younger brother or such other relation. If e husband the property of the property of

- 55 In the opinion of some, the younger brother of the bushand or such other reaction may thus use the urgin who or widely, though others hold that such practice, though it is frequent, originates from desire instead of being a scriptural ordinance. They who say so are Ceally of coming that the father of a maden has the right the top of the coming that the regarding the dower previously given by another and accepted by himself.
- 55 If siter the hand of a maiden has been promised all the initial rites before mere the beginning of the maiden may be performed, the maiden may all the given to a person other than the one to whom she had been promised. Only the curver commist the sim of fastehood, so far, however, as the relation of wife is concerned no migray can occur thereto.
 - 55 The Mantras of marriage accomplish their object of bringing about the indissoluble union of marriage at the secenth step. The maiden becomes the wife of him to whom the gift is actually made with water.
 - 56. The pit of madent should be made in the Islowing way. The wise know it foreons. A superior Brahmana should marry a maden who is not unwilling, who belongs to a family equal to his own in purity or dignity, and who is given away by her brother. Such a girl should be made to the property of the prop

CHAPTER XLV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) —

Continued.

Yudhishthira said :-

1. If a person, after having given dower for a maiden, goes away, how should the maiden's father or other kinsmen who can bestow her, act? Do tell me this, O grandfather?

Bhishma said .-

- 2 Such a maden, if she be the daughter of a sonlers and such fatter, should be maintained by the father. Indeed, it it le father does not return the down to the kinsmen of it e giver, the maiden should be considered as belonging to the giver of it edower.
- 3 She may even raise children for the giver by any of those means that are lad down in the scriptures. No person, however, can marry her according to due rites.

- 4 Commanded by her father, the princess Savitis had in days of old chosen a husband and united herself with him. This act of hers is praised by some, but others, conversant with the scriptures, condemn:
- 5 Others who are righteous have not acted thus. Others maintain that the conduct of the righteous should ever be considered as the foremost evidence of duty or morality.
- 6 Upon this subject, Sukratu, ile grand son of the great Janaka, the king of the Videhas, has declared the following opinion.
- 7. There is the well known injunction of the scriptures that women can enjoy freedom at any period of their life. If this were not the path of the irritous, how could this scriptural saying exist? As regards it e poors, therefore, how can there be any question or doubt about it? How can people condemn that saying, by choosing to conduct themselves otherwise?
- 8 The impious violation of eternal practice is considered as the practice of the Asuras. We never hear of such practice in the conduct of the ancients
- 9 The relationship of husband and wife is very subtile. It is different from the natural relationship of male and female which consists only in the desire for sexual intercourse. This also was said by the king of Janaka's race.

Yudhishthira said —

10. Under what authority is the property of men inherited (by others when they happen to have daughters)? As for her father the daughter should be considered the same as the son.

Bhishma said:-

- 11. The son is even as one's own self, and the daughter is like the son. How, therefore, can another take the riches when one lives in his ownself in the form of his daughter?
- 12. Whatever is the own property of the mother, is due to the maiden daughter. If the maternal grandlather happens to die without leaving sons, the daughter's son should inherit it.
- 13 The daughter's son offers funeral cakes to his own father and the father of its mother. Hence, for the ends of justice, it ere is no difference between the son and the daughter's son.
 - 14. When a person has got only a daughter and she has been invested by him with the position of a son, if he then haphens to have a son, such son shares the inheritance with the daughter. When again, a person has got a daughter and site has been invested by him with the position of a son, if he then happens to take a son 13 adoption or purchase, then the daughter is considered superior to such

- 15 In the following case I do mit see any reason why the daughter's on a sloud be considered as it is proper here. Her case is that of the daughter who has been sold by her father. He sons horn of a daughter who has been sold by her gate for actual price, belong exclusively to their father buch sons can never belong, even as daughter's sons, to their maternal grander and the common of the second of the same property of the property of the price and lost all his rights in or to her by that deed.
- 16 Such sons, again, become full of malice, improus in conduct, the misappropriators of other people's riches, and full of deceit and cunning. Having originated from that suful form of marriage called Asura, the offspring becomes wicked in conduct.
- 17 Persons acquainted with ancient history, conversant with duties, devoted to the scriptures and firm in maintaining the restrictions therein laid down, recite in this connection some verses sung in days of yore by Yama.
- 19 This is what Yama had sung. That man who acquives riches by selling his own son, or who bestows his daughter after accepting a dower for his own livelinood, has to sink in seven dreadful hells one after another, known by the name of Klass. There that wretch has to feed upon sweat and unner and stools during that period.
- 20 In that form of marriage which is called Arish the person who marries has to jive a bull and a cow and the father of the minden accepts the gift Some characterise this gift as a dower (or price), while some area of opinion that is should not be considered in that hight. He true opinion, however, is that a gift for such a purpose, be it of small value or large, should, O sing be considered as dower or price, and sing he considered as dower or price, and circumstances should be considered as a down and of the small of the daughter under such circumstances should be considered as a safe.
- 21. Desprie the fact of its having been practised by a few persons it can never be taken as the eternal practice. Other forms of marriage are seen, practised by men, such as marrying girls after carrying them, away by force from amounts their kinismen.
- 22 Those persons who have sexual intercourse with a maiden, by force are considered as perpetrators of sin. They have to sink in darkest hell.

23 Even a human being who is not a relation of blood should not be sold. What need then be said of one's own child? With the riches that is acquired by doing sinful deeds no mentorious deed can be performed.

CHAPTER XLVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhishma said :--

- I hey who know the ancient history recite the following verse of D'aksha the son of Prachetas, vis.—I hat madeh, for whom nothing is taken by her kinsmen in the form of dower, cannot be said to be sold.
- 2 Honor good treatment, and everything else which is agreeable, should all be given to the maiden whose hand is taken in marriage.
- 3 Her father and brothers and fatherin-law and husband's brothers should show her every respect and adorn her with ornaments, if they be desirous of reaping benefits, for such conduct on their part always produces considerable happiness and advantage,
- 4 If the wife does not like her husband or fails to please him, from such dislike and absence of joy, the husband can never have children for increasing his family.
 - 5 Women, O king, should always be adored and treated with love. There where women are treated with honor, the very gods are said to be propitated.
- 6 There where women are not adored, all acts become fruitless. If the women of a family, on account of the treatment they receive, indulge in grief and tears, that family soon becomes extinct.
- Those houses which are cursed by women meet with destruction and ruin as if scorched by some Atharvan rite. Such houses lose their splendour. Their growth and prosperity cease, O king.
- 8 Manu, on the eve of his departure from this world made over women to the care and protection of men, sajing that they are weak, that they fall an easy prey to the seduction of men, disposed to accept the love which is offered their, and devoted to truth.

- There are others among them who are full of malice, covetous of honors, fierce in nature, unlovable, and impervious to reason Women, however, deserve to be respected Do je men show them honor.
- to The virtue of men depends upon women All pleasures and enjoyments also entirely depend upon them. Do ye serve them and adore them. Do ye bend your wills before them
- 11. The begetting of children, the nursing of children siready born, and the accomplishment of all deeds necessary for the needs of society, see, all these have women for their cause.
- 12. By respecting women, ye are sure to acquire the fruition of all objects Regarding it a princess of the house of Janaka the king of the Videbas, sang a verse. It is this —
- 13 Women have no saurifices ordained for them. There are no Shraddhas which they are caused to one to perform. They are not to the saurification to be the saurification of the saurification of the saurification of that duty they succeed in conquering Heaven.
- 14 In childhood, the father protects her The husband protects her in youth When she becomes old, her sons protect her, At no period of her life is woman free.
- 15 Women are detues of prosperty The person that desires affluence afformer of them. By cherishing women, O Bharata, one chernishes Roddess of prospertity herself, and by afflicting her, one is said to pain the goddess of prosperty.

CHAPTER XLVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--

Yudhishthira said:-

- 1 You know fully well the ordinances of all the scriptures You are the foremost of those who are acquainted with the duties of kings. You are celebrated over the whole world as a great remover of doubts.
 - 2 I have a doubt, do you explain it to me, O grandfather As regards this doubt that has originated in my mind I shall not ask any other person for its solution
 - 3 You should, O you of mighty arms, expound as to how a man should act who

- is desirous of treading along the path of duty and virtue.
- 4 It has been laid down, O grand-father that a Brahmana can take one wives, ref., one who belongs to his own caste, one who is a Kishatrija, one who is a Vasibya, and one who is a Shudra, if the Brahmana wishes to satisfy the desire of sexual intercourse.
- 5 Iell me, O best of the Kurus, which amongst those sons should inherit the father's riches one after another.
- 6 Who amongst them O grandfather shall take what share of the paternal wealth? I wish to hear this, vis, how the distribution has been ordained amongst them of the paternal property.

Bhishma said :-

- 7. The Brahmana, the Kshatriya, and the Vaishya are considered the three twiceborn castes I on marry in these three castes has been ordained to be the duty of the Brahmana, O Yudhishithira
- 8 Through erroneous julgment or cupidity or lust. O destroyer of enemies, a Brahmana takes a Shudra wife He is not competent to take, according to the scriptures, such wife.
- 9 A Brahmana, by knowing a Shudra woman comes by a low end in the next world He should, having done such an act, perform expiation according to the rites laid down in the scriptures
- 10 That explation must be twice heavier or severer if on account of such an act, O Yudhishthira, the 'Brahmana gets children I shall now tell you, O Bharata, how the (paternal) wealthis to be distributed.
- 11 The son born of the Brahman wife shall in the first place, appropriate from his father's wealth a bull of good marks, and the best car or vehicle.
- 12 What remains of the Brahmana's property O Yudhushthira, after this, should be divided into ten eq ial parts. The son by the Brahmani wife shall take four of such parts of the piternal property.
- 13 The son that is born of the Ksha. triy4 wife is, forsooth, possessed of the status of a Brahman. On account, however, of the distinction attaching to his mother, he shall take three of the ten shares into which the property has been divided.
- 14 The son who has been born of the wife belonging to the third caste, vis. the woman of the Vashya caste, by the Brainmana father, shall take, O Yudhishthira, two of the three remaining shares of the father's property.

- 15 It has been said that the son who has been begotten by the Brahmana father upon the Shudra wife should not take any portion of the lather's property, for he is not to be considered an heir. A little, however, of the paternal property should be given to the son of the Shudra wife, hence the one remaining share should be given to hum out of compassion.
- 16. Even this should be the order of the ten shares into which the Brahmana's wealth is to be distributed. All the sons that are born of the same mother or of mothers of the same caste, shall share equally the portion that is theirs.
 - 17. The son born of the Shudra wife should not be considered as invested with the dignity of a Brahmana on account of this being unskilled (in the scriptures and the duties ordained for the Brahmana Only those children who are born of wives belonging to the three higher extres should of Brahmanas.
 - 18. It has been said that there are only four castes and there is no fifth. The son by the Shudra wife shall take the tenth part of his father's wealth.
 - 19 That share, however, he is to take only when his father has given it to him lie shall not take it it his father does not give it to him. Some portion of the father's riches should, forsooth, be given, O Bharata, to the son of the Shudra wife.
 - 20. Compassion is one of the greatest virtues. It is through compassion that something is given to the son of the Shufra wife. Whatever be the object about which compassion arises, as a cardinal virtue it is always productive of merit.
 - 21. Whether the lather happens to have children (by 1s wives belonging to the other castes) or to have no children, to the son by the Shudra wife, O Bhacata, nothing more than a tenth part of the father's scalth should be given.
 - 22. If a Brahmana happens to have more riches than what is necessary for maintaining himself and his family for three years, he should with that riches celebrate sacrifices A Brahmana should never acquire riches for nothing.
 - 23. The lighest sum that the husband should give the wife is three thousand come. This wealth that the husband gives to the wife the latter may spend or dispose of as she likes.
 - 24 Upon the death of the childless husband the wife shall empty all his riches. The wife should never take any portion of terlustand's riches,

25 Whatever riches O Yudhishthira, the Brahmani wife may acq use by gift front her father, should be taken by her daughter, for the daughter is like the son

26 The daughter, O king, has been ordained in the scriptures to be equal to the son, O delighter of the Kurus thus the son, O delighter of the Kurus thus, O foremost of Binarata's lamily. Remembering these ordinances about the distribution and disposal of wealth, one should never acquire riches uselessly.

Yudhishthira said:—

- 27 If the son born of a Shudra woman by a Brahmana father has been made it the scriptures to be disentified to any property, by what exception of the rule then is a tenth part of the paternal property to be given to him?
- 2S A son born of a Brahmani wife by a Brahmana is unquestionably a Brahmana. One born of a Kshatriya wife or of a Vaishya wife, by a Brahmana husband, is likewise a Brahmana.
- 29 Why then, O best of kings are such sons to share the paternal properly unequally? All of them, you have sail, are Brahmanas, having been born of mothers that belong to the three higher castes equally entitled to the name of the twee-born.

Bhishma said.-

- 30. O destroyer of enemies, all wives a this world are called by the name of Dara Although that name is applied to all yet there is this great difference to bobserved.
- 31. If having married three wives be longing to the three other castes, a Brah mana takes a Brahmani wife the very lav of all, yet shall she be considered at thirst in rank among all the wives and a being worthy of the greatest respect, in deed, among all the co wives, ahe shall b the foremost.
- 32. In her apartments should be kep all meessays atticles for the husbind baths, personal decorations, washing e testli, and application of colligram to the ess. In her apartments should be kept the lawys and the Kavys and all else that the tuband may need for the performance of his religious acts.
- 33. If the Brahman wife is in the house, no other wife is entitled to attend to these needs of the husband. Only the Brahman wife, O Yudhishthira, should help the hisband in these acts.

- 34 The husband's food and drink and ga lands and dresses and ornaments—all these should be given by the Brahmani wife to the husband, for she is the foremost in rank among all the wives of the husband.
- 35 These are the ordinances of the scriptures as laid down by Manu, O delighter of the Kurus! This, O king, is seen to be the course of eternal practice.
- 36 If a Brahmana, O Yudhishthira, actuated by lust, acts in a different way, he shall come to be considered as a Chandala among Brahmanas.
- 37. The son born of the Kshatrya wife has been said to be equal in dignity to the son born of the Brahmani wife For all ti at, a distinction attaches to the son of the Brahmani wife on account of the superiority of the Brahmani wife to the Kshatriya wife in respect of the order of caste.
- 38 The Kshatiiya wife cannot be considered as equal to the Brahmana wife in point of birth. Hence, O best of kings, it e son born of the Brahmani wife must be considered as the first in rank and superior to the son born of the Kshatiiya
- 39 Because, again, the Kshatriya wife, is not equal in point of birth to the Brahmani wife takes one after another, all the best things, O Yudhisthira, among his father's property
- 40 Likewise, the Vaishya wife cannot be considered as the equal of the Kshatriya wife in point of birth Prosperity, kingdom and treasury, O Yudhisthira, belong to the Kshatriyas
- 41. All these have been ordained for the Kshatriya The whole Earth O king, encircled by seas, is seen to belong to him. By I llowing the duties of his own caste, the Kshatriya acquires immens tiches
- 42. The sceptre of royalty is held by him Without the Kshatriya, O king, there can be no protection. I he Brahmanas are highly blessed, for they are the gods of the very detites.
- 43 Following the ordinances laid down by the Rishis the Kshatriyas should adore the Brahmanas according to due riter This is the eternal usage.
- 44. Coveted by theeves and others, the properties of all men are protected by isstatryas following the duties of their order. Indeed, riches and wives and every other possession owned by people would have been forcibly taken away bit for this protection that the Kishatryas gives.

45 The Kshatirya, as the king, becomes the protector or rescuer of all the castes. Hence the son of the Kshatirya wife shaft, forsoult, be held to be appear to the midst as born of the Vassiya wife. The son of Kshatirya wife I he son of Kshatirya wife I he son of the Vassiya share of the paternal property than the son of the Vassiya matter.

Yudhishthira said -

46 You have duly said what the rules are that apply to Brahmanas What, however, are the rules that apply to the others?

Bhishma said -

- 47 The Kshatriya, O delighter of the Kurus can take two wives. The Kshatriya may take a third wife from the Shudra caste. Such practice prevails, it is true, but it is not sanctioned by the scriptures.
- 48 I his should be the order, O Yudhishihira, of the wives of a Kshatriya. The property of a Kshatriya should, O king, be divided into eight shares
- 49 The son of the Kshatriya wife shall take four of such shares of the paternal property. The son of the Vaishya wife shall take three of such shares.
- 50 The remaining one or the eighth share shall be taken by the son of the Shudra wife The son of the Shudra wife, however, shall take only when the father gives but not otherwise
- 51. The Vaishya can take only one wife, He can take a second wife from the Shudra caste Such is the practice, no doubt, but it is not sanctioned by the scriptures.
- 52 If a Vaishya has two wives one of whom is a Vaishya and the other a Shudra, there is a difference between them in respect of position.
- 53 The riches of a Vasibya, O chief of Bharata's race, should be divided into five portions. I shall now special the sons of a Vasibya by a wife of he meterate and by one belonging to the infertious charge, its remainer in which, O kong, his property is to be distributed among those children.
- 51 The son born of the Vaishya wife shall take four of such shares of his paternal property. The fifth share O Bharata, has been said to belong to the son born of the Shudra wife
- 55 Such son, however, shall take when the father gives He should not take anything unless the father gives it to him. The son who is beguten on a Shudra wide by persons of the three Ligher castes should always be considered as disentitled to any share of the father s weather.

- 56 The Shudra should take only one wife from his own caste He can, under no circumstances, take any other wife Even if he happens to have a hundred sons by this wife all of them share eq tally the property that he may leave behind
- 57 As for all the castes, the children born of the wife taken from the husband's own caste shall, it has been laid down, share equally the father's wealth.
- 58 The eldest son's share shall be greater than that of every other son, for he shall take one share more than each of his brothers, (comprising the best things of this Tather. This is the law of inheritance. O son of Pritha, as declared by the Self-create himself.
- 50. Amongst children all born of the wife taken from the husband's own caster there is another difference. O king! In marrying, the elder ones should always precede the younger ones
- 60 The wives being all equal in respect of their order of birth, and the children also leng all eq all in respect of the posture of their mothers, the son that is first-born shall take one share more than each of his other brothers. The son who is next in point of age shall take a share that is next in value, while the son who is youngest shall take the share which belongs to the youngest.
- 61. Thus among wives of all castes, they who belong to the same casts with the husband are considered as the first. This is what was declared by the great Rishi Kashyapa the son of Marichi.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said .--

- I. The intermixture of castes is brought about through inducements offered by riches, or through mere lust, or through ignorance of the true order of birth
- 2 What, O grandfather, are the duties of persons who are born in the mixed classes and what are the acts laid down for them? Do you describe them to me.

Bhishma said —

3 In the beginning, the Lord of all creatures created the four castes and laid down their respective duties, for the sake of sacrifice.

- 4. The Brahmana may take four wives, one from each of the four castes. In two of thinh she takes birth himself. Hose sont of the house of the she takes birth himself. Hose sont however, each of the house of the takes of the ta
- 5 The son begotten by a Brahman upon a Shudra wife is called Parshava, meaning one born of a dead body for the Shudra woman's body is as mauspicious as a dead body. He should serve the persons of his '(father's)' (race, Indeed, it is not proper for him to renounce the duty of service that has been laid down for him.
- 6 With all means in his power, he should maintain his family. Even if he happens to be elder in age, he should still dutifully serve the other children of his father, who in age may be younger to him, are quiring age them whatever he may succeed in acquiring
- 7 A Kshatriya may take three wives In two of them, he takes birth himself. His third wife being of the Shudra caste, is considered as very inferior. The son that he begets upon her is called an Ugra.
- B The Vaishya may take two wives In both of them, he takes birth himself. The Shudra can take only one wife, from his own caste. The son begotten by him upon her becomes a Shudra.
- 9 A son who takes birth under circumstances other than those mentioned above, is considered as a very inferior one. If a persan of a lower caste begets a son upon a woman of a superior caste, such son is regarded as outside the pale of the four pure castes. Indeed, such son becomes an outside the he four principal castes, of ensuino with the four principal castes, in the four principal castes are castes as a caste caste caste caste castes and the caste caste
- 10 If a Kelnatrya begets a son upon a Brahman woman, aseit son, without being included in any of the four pure castes comes to be considered as a Suta. The duties of a Suta consist in recting enlogies and encommums of kings and other great men. The son begotten by a Vashy's known and of the Brahman, orders a known and the Brahman, orders a known and the Brahman of the Grahman of the Brahman of
- If a Shudra knows a woman belonging to the foremost of the four castes, the non that is begotten is called a Chandala. Hindued with a dreadful dispositionhe must live in the outskirts of crites and towns and his duit is that of the public

- txecutioner Such sons are always considered as wretches of their race. These, O foremast of intelligent persons, are the offspring of intermixed castes.
- 12. The son begotten by a Valshya upon a Kshittiya woman becomes a Vandi or Magadhin. His duties are eloquent recitations of praise. He son begotten through transgressim, by a Shudya upon a Kshattiya woman, becomes a Nishada and his duties consist in the catching of fish.
- 13. If a Shudra happens to know a Vanlsya woman, the son begotten upon lier comes to be called Ayogava the duties of such a person are those of a carpenter. The Brahmana should never accept gdis from such a person. Ihey are not entitled to possess any kind of recless.
- 14. Persons belonging to the mixed castes beget upon wives taken from the castes beget upon wives taken from the position. When they procreate chaldren in women taken from other interior castes, such children become inferior to the fathers, for they become invested with the position of their mothers.
- 15. Thus as regards the four pure castes, persons beget children invested with their own position upon wives taken from their own castes as also upon them that are taken from the castes immediately belsw their own, When, however, offspring begotten upon owher wives, they are regarded an invested with a position that is, principally, ouiside the pale of the four pure castes.
- 16. When such children beget sons in women, taken from their own classes, those sons take the position of their lathers. It is only when they take wives from castes ofter than their own, that the children they beget, become invested with inferior positivity.
- 17. As an example of this it may be said that a Shudra begies upon a woman belonging to the most superior caste a sen that is outside the pale of the four castes. The son that is outside the pale of the four the four parts of the four that is outside the pale of the four castes are the four parts of the four parts of the four parts of the four flat of the four parts of
- 13 From those outside the pale of the fur caster and those again that are further cuttide that limit, thildren multiply on account of the union of persons with somen of classes supersy to there own. Thus, from resions of indicare post time classes apring in alegative fifteen in sumber, that are equally law or it allower in group.

- 19. It is only from sexual unon with women of persons who should not have such unon with them that mixed caster originate. Among the classes that are rise outside the limit of the four principal or pure castes, children are beginten upon woman belonging to the class called Magadha.
- 20. The occupati nof auch chifdren is the adacement of the bodies of kings and others. They are well acquainted with the preparation of unguents, the making of garlands and the manufacture of articles used for the decoration of the theories of them by both, they should live like sevents From the union of Magadhao of a [certain class with women of the caste called Saurendint, another caste originates, called Ayogava. Their business consists in the making of nets. Vadelian, by knowing Saurendint women, beget children manufacture of wines and sporties.
- 21. From the Nishadas originate a caste called Madgura and another known by the name of Dasas whose business is plying boats. From the Chandalas originates a race called Shwapaka whose business lies in keeping guird over the dead
- 22 The women of the Magadhi caste, by union with these flour castes of wicked nature, produce four others who hive by decentful means. These are Mangas, Swadukara, Kihaudra, and Sougandha.
- 23 From the Vaideha originates cruel and sinful caste that lives by practising deception. From the Nishadas again originates the Madranabha caste whose members are seen to ride on cars drawn by asses
- 24. From the Chandalas originates the caste called Prikkass whose members are seen to cat the flesh of asses, horses and elephants. These are clad in clothes, procured by stripping human corpes. They are again seen to eat off broken earthenware.
- 25 These three castes of very low origin, are born of women on the Ayrogava caste (by Jaibers taken from different caster). The caste called for the different caster from the Vadehaka. The casted Andrea which lives in the outskets of towns and catter, also originates (from the Vadehaka also orig
- 26 Tlen, again, the Charmakara, knowing woman of the Nishada caste, begets the class called Karayara From the Chardala, again, originates the caste known by the name of Pandusaupaka whose business is to make baskets and other things with cleft bamboos.

- 27. From the union of the Nishada with a woman of the Vaidehi caste, originates one who is celled by the name of Althidaka. The Chandala begets upon a Saupaka women a son who does not differ from the Chandala in position or occupation.
- 28 A Nishadi woman, by union with a Chiandala, produces a son who lives in the outskirts of villages and towns. Indeed, the members of such a caste live in creatoria and are considered by the very lowest orders as incapable of being classed among them.
- 29 Thus do these mixed castes originate from improper and suiful union of fathers and mothers belonging to different castes. Whether they live hidden or openly, they should be known by their occupations.
- 30 The duties have been laid down in the scriptures of only the four principal castes. About others, the scriptures are entirely silent. Among all the castes, the members of those castes that have no duties assigned to them by the scriptures, need entertain no fears as to what they do.
- 31. Persons unaccustamed to the performance of searchiese or for whom sacrifices have not been laid down, and who are deprived of the company and the instructions of the pous, whether classed among the four principal casts or out of their limit, by uniting themselves with women of other castes, led not by considerations of virtue but by uncontrolled last, cause numerous mixed castes to originate whose occupations and houses depend on the circumstances connected with the irregular unions from which they spring.
- 32. Having recourse to such places where four roads meet, or crematoria, or hills and mountains, or forests and trees, they build their houses I he ornaments they wear are made of iron.
- 33 Living in such places, openly, following their own occupations for acquiring livelihood. They may be seen to live thus, adorning their persons with ornaments and engaged if the work of manufacturing various domestic and other utensities.
- 34 Forsooth, by assisting kine and Frahmana and practising the virtues of abstention from cruelty, compassion, truth-inless of speech, and forgiveness, and if it is necessary, protecting others by sacrificing a necessary, protecting others by sacrificing may acquire persons of the mixed castes, may acquire to blave no doubt. O king that these virtues become the causes of their success.

- 36. He who is gifted with intelligence, should, taking everything into consideration, beget children according to the scriptural injunctions, upon women that have been declared as proper or fit for him. A son begotten upon a woman belonging to a fegraded caste, instead of rescoing the father, brings him to giref even as a heavy burden brings to great a swimmer desirous of crossing a pool of water.
- 37. Wheller a man is learned or otherwise, lust and anger are natural tendencies of humanity in this world. Women, therefore, may always be seen to drag men into the wrong path.
- 38 The disposition of women is such that man's contact with her produces misery. Hence, wise men do not allow themselves to be excessively attached to women.

Yudhishthira said -

39. Hiere are men who belong to the mixed castes, and who are of very impure birth. Putting respectable appearance, they are, in sooth, discepectable Oa account of those external signs we may not be able to know the truth about their birth Are there any signs, O grandfather. by origin of such men?

Bhishm a said -

- to. A person who is born of an irregular union shows various features of disposition. One's purity of borth, again, is to be determined from one's acts which must resemble the acts of those who are admittedly good and pious.
- 41. A disrespectable conduct, acts opposed to those laid down in the scriptures, crookedness and cruelty, and abstention from sacrifices and other scriptural acthat lead to merit, show one's impurity in birth.
- 42 A son inherits the disposition either the father or the mother. Sometimes he inherits the dispositions of both A person of impure birth can never succee in concealing his true nature.
- 43. As the cub of a tiger resembles if father and dam in form and in stripes of spots, so a person cannot but show the circumstande of his origin.
- 44. However secret may one's birth be if that birth happens to be impure, it character or nature is sure to show itselfshilly or largely.
- 45. A person may for purposes of hi own, choose to follow an instrucere path, practising such conduct as seems to be pious. His own nature, however, in the these kinds of sons equal? Whose, again, is the son to be? Do you tell me this, O grandlather.

Bhishma said :-

13 His is the son from whose seed he has apring II, however, the owner of the seed discards the son born of it, such son then becomes his upon whose wife he has been begotten. The same rule applies to the son called Adhyu Ia He belongs to the person from whose seed he has apring II however, the owner of the seed firstakes him, he becomes the son of the husband of defarer. Know this is what the law defarer.

Yudhishthira said :-

1.4 We know that the son becomes his from whose seed he has talio Birth Whence does the husband of the woman who gives birth to the son derive, his right to the latter? Likewise the son called Adhyuda should be known to be the son of him from whose seed he has sprung. How can't ley be the sons of others on account of the engagement about owning and rearing them having beet brotten?

Bhishma said:-

- 15 He who, having begotten a son of his own loins forsakes him for some reason or other, cannot be considered as the father of such son, for vital seed only cannot create sonship Such son must be held to belong to the person who is the master of the soil
- 16. When a man, desiring to have a son, marries a gul quick with child, the son born of his wife must belong to him, for it is the fruit of his own soil. The person from whose vital seed the son has sprung, can have no right to such son,
- 17 The son who is born in one's soil but not begotten by the owner, O chief of Bharata's race bears all the marks of the lather that has actually begotten him. The son this born is incepable of concealing the evidences of pl siognomy. He is at once known by eyesight.
- 18 As regards the son made, he is sometimes considered as the child of the person who has made him a son and who brings him up in his case neither the vital seed of which he has been born nor the soil in which he has been born, becomes the cause of sonsi p.

Yudhishthira said -

19 What kill of son is that who is said to be a made son and whose sonship originates from the fact of his being taken and reared, and in whose case figither the vital seed nor the soil of birth, O Bharata, is caused as the cause of sonship.

Bhishma said : 4

20. When one takes up and cears a soft who has been cast off on the road by has father and mother, and when the person thus taking and rearing hun cannot if the becomes the father of such so and the latter becomes what is called his made son.

11. Not having anybody to own him he becomes this who frears him. Such som, again, comes to be considered as belonging to that eastes to which his owner or rearer belongs.

Yudhishithra said:-

22. How should the purifactory rites of such a person be performed? In whose case what sort of rites are to be performed? With what girl should be be married? I ell me all this, O grandfather.

Bhishma said :-

23. The rites of purification for such a son should be performed according to the usage of the person himself who rears him, for, renounced by his parents, such son gets the caste of the person who takes him and rear's him.

- 24 Indeed, Oyou of infading glory, the rearer should perform all the purificatory rites for such son according to the practices of his own family and kinsmen. Aregards the girl also, O. Yudinshlurra, that should be bestowed in marriage upon a son, she should be long to the caste of the rearer limited.
- 25 All this is to be done only when the caste of the won's true mother cannot be learnt Among soins, he who is born of a maiden and he who is born of a mother who had conceived before her marriage but brought him forth subsequent to that act, are considered as very disgraceful and degraded.

17 other questions. What else do you wish to liear? I have thus told you everything of !

CHAPTER L.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said:—

1. What is the nature of the compassion or pity that is felt at seeing the misery of another? What is the nature of that compassion or sympathy that one feels for another on account of his living in the comnature of the supreme blessedness of kine? You should, O grandlather explain all this to me.

Bhishma said -

- I shall, O you of great effulgence, recite to you to this connection an anciert narrative of a conversation between Nahu sha and the Rishi Chyavana.
- Formerly, O chief of Bharata's race, the great Rishi Chiavana of Blangn's race always practising high your became desir ous of leading for sometime the male of life called Ulavasa, and sed himself to commence it
- Renouncing pride, anger, 10y and grief, the ascenc, pledging himself to obtwelve years, according to the rules of Udurasa,
- The Rish inspired all creatures with trust. And he tospired similar confidence in all creatives living in water powerful ascene resembled the Moon himsell in his conduct to all.
- Bowing to all the deities and having muser' danced of all any de engree of the water at the conflience of Ganga and Vanuma, and stood there like an manusate post of wood
- Placing I is head against it, he bore the fierce and roaring current of the two rivers united t Lether,-the current whose speed resembled that of the wind itself
- Ganga and Yamuna, however, and the other rivers and lakes, whose waters unite together at the coi fluence at Preyaga, instead of afflicting the Rish, went beyond lum.
- down in the water and slept at case. And fishes caught in the net died.

- sometim , O clief of Bliarata's race, the intelligent sage stood erect. He became quite agreeable to all
- creatures hving in water Without the least fear, all these used to smell the Rishi's
- 11. In this way, the Rishi passed a long time at that grand confidence of waters. One day, some fishermen came there.
- With nets in their hands, O you of great effulgence, those men came where the Rishi was They were many in number and all of them were bent upon catching
- 13 Well formed and broad chested, gifted with great strength and conrage, and never returning in fear from water, those men who lived upon the earning by their nets, came there, resolved to catch
- 14. Arrived at that water which contained many fish, those fishermen, O chief of the Bharatas, tied all their nets together.
- Desirous of fish, those manmerable Kaivartas, united together and surrounded a pation of the waters of Ganga and Yamuna with their nets
- Indeed, they threw upon the water their net which was made of new strings, capable of covering a large space, and having sufficient length and breadth
- Getting down into the water, all of them began to drag with great force that net which was very large and had been well spread over a large space.
- All of them were free from fear, cheerful and fully determined to do one an aber's bidding They had succeeded in catching a large number of fish and other nquatic annuals.
- And as they dragged their net, O king, they easily draggad up Chyavana the son of Bhrigu, along with a large number or distr
- 20. His body was overgrown with the river moss. His beard and mittel locks had become green And all over his body could be seen conchs and other mollusca attached with their heads.
- Seeing that Rish who was a master of the Vedas dragged up by them from the water, all the fishermen stood with pined hands and then laid themselves low on the ground and repeatedly bent their fields
- Through feat and pain caused by 22 Assuming the attitude of a wooden the dragging of the net, and on account of Post, the great Muni sometimes laid timself, their being brought upon the Land, the 23 Seeing that great onslaught of fishes, the ascetic became filled with compassion and sighed repeatedly.

The fishermen said:-

24 We have perpetrated this sin unwillingly. Be pleased with us t What wish of yours shall we fulfill? Command us, O great ascelic.

, Bhishma said '—

- 25 Thus addressed by them, Chia vana, Irom among that mass of fines around him, said,—Do ye with rapt attention hear what my most cherished wish is ? 26. I shall either idie with these fishes
- or do ye self me with them. I have lived with them for a long time within the water. I do not wish to leave them at such a time!
- 27 When he said these words to them, the fishermen became greatly terrified Wall pale faces they went to king Nahusha and informed him of all that had occurred

CHAPTER LI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Continued.

Bhishma said .- 1. Hearing the strait into which Chya-

- vana was reduced, King Nahusha speedily went there, accompanied by his ministers and priest.
- 2. Having purified himself duly, the king, with pined hands and rap! attention introduced himself to the great Olyawana
 3. The king's priest then adored with
- 3. The king's preet then address with due ceremonies that linkin, O king, who was observant of the vow of truth and gifted with a great soul, and who resembled a god himself.

Nahusha said:-

4 left me; O best of twice-born ones what act shall we do that may be pleasing to you? However difficult that deed may be, there is, not me, O noly one, that I shall not be able to do at your command.

Chyavana said :-

5 These men who live by catching fish, have all been exhausted with fatigue. Do you pay them the price that may be fixed upon me along with the value of these fish.

Nahusha said —

6. Let my priest give to these Nishadas also will be satisfied.

a thousand coins as price for huying the sacred one as he lumself has ordered. ata,

Chyavana said:

7. A thousand come is not my price. The question depends up in your discretion Give them a fair price, settling with your discretion. Give them a fair price, settling with your own intelligence what it should be.

Nahusha said:--

8 Let, O learned Brahmana, a hundred thousand come be given to these Nishadasshall this be your price, O holy one, or do you think otherwise.

Chyavana said :---

9 I should not be bought with a hindered thousand coins, O best of kings? Let a proper price be given to these! Do you consult with your ministers.

Nahusha said .-

ac. Let my priest give to these Nishadas a crore of coins. It even this does not cover your value, let more be paid to them-

Chyavana said:---

11 O king, I am not with a grice of coms or even more. Let that price be given to these men which would be fair of proper. Do you consult with the Brahmanis.

Nahusha said :--

t2 Let half my kingdom or even be whole be given away to these Nishadas I think that would be your price Whathowever, do you think O twice-born one?

Chyavana said —

13. I do not deserve to be purchased with balt your kingdom or even the whole of it. O king? Let that price which is proper be given to these men. Do you consult with the Riskis!

Bhishma continued ·--

14 Hearing these words of the great Rishi, Nahusha became stricken with great sorrow. With his muisters and priest he began to think on the matter.

15 There then came to king Nahisha an ascetic hing in the forest and subsisting upon fruit and roots and born of a cow.

16 That best of twice born persons, addressing the king, O monarch, said fless words—I shall soon satisfy you. The Robin

17. I shall never speak a falsehood, --no, not even in jest what then need I say of other occasions? You should unhesstating-ly do what I bit you.

Nahusha said :-

the value is of that great Rishs of Bhrigh's race. O, save me from this terrible difficulty, save my kingdom, and save my farr 'y.

O 1 you. O illustrious one, say what lan y, file the holy Chyavana become angry, destroy the three worlds, what say then of my poor self who is atte of penances and who depends a the power only of his arms?

20 O great Rishi, do you become the rait to us who have all fallen into a fathom-less deep with all our counsellors and our priest! Do you settle what the value should be of the Rishi!

Bhishma said -

21. Hearing these words of Nahusha, the ascenc born of a cow and gifted with great energy spike thus, gladdening the monarch with all his counsellers—22 Brahmanas, O king, belong to the Internost of the four castes. No value, however great, can be fixed upon them. Kine also are invaluable. Therefore, O king, (do you regard a cow, as the value of the Rishi.

23 Hearing these words of the great Ristin Nahinsha became, O king, filled with joy along with all his counsellers and purers.

24 Proceeding then to Bhrigu's son Chyavana of rigid vows, he addressed him thirs, (1) monarch, for satisfying him to the best of his power.

Nahusha said :-

25 Rise, rise, O'twice-born Risht, you have been purchased, O son of Bhrigo, with a cow as your price? O foremost of inghtenis persons, even this, I think, is your price?

Chyavana said :-

26 Yes, O king of kings, I do rise up, I have been properly purchased by you, O stillers one I do not, O you of unlading glary, see any riches that is equal to kine.

27 To speak of kine to hear others speak of them, to make guiss of kine, and to see kine. O king, are acts, that are all praired, O hero, and that are highly aus picious a id punifying

28 Kine are always the root of pross) perity. There is no fault in kine. Kine always give the best food, in the form of Havi, to the detites

29 The secred Mantras, Swahn and Vashat, are always established upon kine. Kine are the chief conductresses of Sacrifices. They form the mouth of Sacrifice.

30. They bear and yield excellent and strength-group ambrosta. They receive the adoration of all the worlds and are considered as the source of nectar.

31. On Earth, have retemble fire in energy and form, Indeed, kine represent high energy, and are conferrers of great happiness upon all creatures.

32. That country where kins placed by their owners, breathe fearlessby, shines in beauty. The sins also of that country are all removed.

33. Kine form the stars leading to Heaven Kine are worshipped in Heaven uself. Kine are goldesses that can give everything and grant every wish. There is nothing else in the world that is so high or so supersor.

Bhishma said:-

34 lins is what I say to you on the subject of the glory and superiority of kine. O chief of Blarata's race I am competent to describe a part only of the merits of the kine. I have not the ability to exhaust I she subject.

The Nishadas said :--

35. O ascette, you have seen us and have also spoken with us, It has been said that frendship, with the good, depends apon only seven words. Do you then, O lord, show us your favour.

36. The blazing sacrificial fire eats all the oblations of clarified butter powed upon it. Of pour soul, and gifted with great energy, you are among men, a blazing fire is energy.

37. We propitiate jou O you of great learning. We surrender ourselves to join. Do you, for showing us favor, take back from us falls row.

Chyavana said :-

33. The eye of a poor or distressed person, the eye of an ascetic, or the eye of a snake of dreadial puison, consume a man with his very roits even as a fire, that burning with the aid of the wind and consumes a stack of dry grass or straw.

39 I shall accept the cow that you wish to present me -- Ye fishermen, freed from every sin, go ye to heaven forthwith, with these fishes also that ye have caught with Bishma said:-

- 40 After this, on account of the energy of that great Rishi of purified souf those fishermen along with all those fish, through virtue of those words that he had uttered, went to heaven
- 41. Seeing the fishermen ascending to heaven with those fishes in their company, became filled with wonder, Q chief of Bharata's race.
- 42. After this, the two Rishis, vis, the one born of a cow and the other who was Chyavana of Bhign's race, pleased king Nahusha by granting him many boons.
- 43 Then the highly energetic king Nahusha that ford of all the Earth, filled with joy, O best of the Bharatas, said,—Sufficient.
- 41. Like a second/Indra the king of the celestials, he accepted the boon about his own steadness in virtue. The Rishs having granted him the boon, the delighted king adored them both with great respect.
- 45. As regards Chyavana, his vow having been completed, he returned to his own hermitage. The Rishi who had taken his birth from the cow, and who was gifted with great energy, also proceeded to his own hermitage.
- 46 He Nishadas all ascended to heaven as also the fishes they had caught, O king, king Nahusha too, having got those valuable boons, entered his own city.
- 47-43 I have thur, O son, fold you everything about what you had asked me the affection that is caught by the sight all oct of there as a like high feat of living with them, O Yudinshihira and the light ment of the ment of the control of the cont

CHAPIPE LIL

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said -

t. O you of great wis form, It have a dimbt which is very used, and which is as wast as the ocean itself. I sten to it. O mighty-armed one, and lawig learnt what it is, you should explain it to it.

- 2 I have a great curiosity about Jama-dagni's son, O lord, viz., Rama that foremost of all pious persons. You should satisfy that curiosity.
- 3 How was Rama born who was gifted with prowess incapable of being baffled? He belonged by birth to a family of tweeborn Rishis How did he become a follower of Kshatriya practices?
- 4 Do you then O king, recite to me in full the circumstances of Rama's birth How also did a son of the race of Rushika who was Kshatriya become a Pralim na ?
- 5 Great, indeed, was the power of the high souled Rama, O chief of men, as also of Vishwamitra.
- 6 Why did the grandson of Richles Instead of his son become a Richter and the son become a Richter and the son become a Richter and the son become a Brailman Why did such untoward incidents held the grandsons of both, instead of ther sons? You should explain the truth of these circumstances.

Bhishma said —

- 7. Regarding it is cited an old history of the discourse between Chyavana and Kushika, O Bharata!
- 8 Gifted with great intelligence,— Chyavaoa of Blingu's race, that best of ascences, saw (with its spinior) eye) the stain that would affect his own race-
- 9 Reflecting upon the merits and faults of that incident, as also its strength and weakness, Chyavana having ascetters to his wealth, became destrous of consuming the race of the Kushikas
 - 10.; Going their to the presence of king Rushika, Chyavana said to him -O sinless one, the desire has arisen in my heart of living with you for sometime.

Kushika said :-

- 11. O holy one, to five together is a deed which the learned ordain for guls when these are given away. The size always speak of the practice in such connection only.
 - 12 O Rishi living asceticism for you wealth, the residence which you seek with me is not sanctioned by the ordinance. Yet, however opposed to the dictates of duty and virtur, I shall do what you may be pleased to order.

Bhishma said -

13 Ordering a seat to be placed for the great ascetic "Chiyasana, keing found has accompanied by his wile, stood before him.

- 14 Bringing a little jar of water, the king offered him water for washing his feet. He then, through his servants, caused all the rites to be duly performed in honor of his illustrious guest.
- 15 The illustrious Rushika, who was observant of restraints and vows, then therefully presented, in due forms the ingredients consisting of honey and the other things, to the great Rishi and asked him to accept the same.
- 16. Having welcomed and honored the learned Brahmana thus, the king once more addressed him and suid,—We two await your orders! Command us what we are to do for you, O holy one.
- 17. If it is our kingdom or riches or kine, O you of rigid vows, or all articles that are given away in sacrifices, which you want, tell us the word and we shall bestow all upon you
- 18. This palace, this kingdom, this seat of justice, are at your disposal. You are the master of all these! Do you rule the Earth! As regards myself, I depend entirely upon you.
- 19. Addressed in these words by the king, Chyavana of Bhrigu's race, filled with great pay, said to Kushika these words in reply.

Chyavana said:-

- 20 I do not, O king, cover your kingdim, nor your riches nor the damsels you have nor your kine, nor your provinces nor articles needed for sacrifice! Do you listen o me.
- 21 If it pleases you and your wife, I stall begin to observe a certain yow I wish you and your consoit to serve me during that period unbesitalingly
- 22 Thus addressed by the Rishi, the king and the queen became filled with delight, O Bharata, and answered him, saying,—Be it so, O Rishi.
- 23 Pleased with the Rish's words, the king led tim to an apartment of the palace. It was an excellent one, agreeable to see. The king showed him everything in that room

The king said :-

- 24 this, O holy one is your bed Do you live here as you please! O you having asceticism for your wealth, myself and my queen shall try our best to give you every comfort and every pleasure
- 25. Wi de it ey were thus conversing with each other, the sun was over it e meridan. The Rish ordered the king to bring him food and drink.

- 26 Bowing to the Rishi, King Kushika asked him, saying —What kind of food is liked by you? What food, indeed, shall be brought for you.
- 27. Filled with joy, the Rishi answered that king, O Bharata, saying, -Let food that is proper be given to me.
- 28 Receiving these words with respect, the king said,—So be it —and then offered to the Rishi food of the proper kind.
- 29 Having finished his meals, the holv Chyavana, knowing every duty, addressed the king and the fueen, saying,—I wish to sleep, O powerful one, sleep hinders me now.
- 30. Proceeding thence to a room that had been got ready for him that best of Rishis then laid himself down upon a bed. The lang and the queen sat down.
- 31. The Rish told them -Do not, while I sleep, awake me! Do ye keep yourself awake and continually press my feet as long as I sleep.
- 32-33 Kushika, conversant with every duty, unheastantlyly, sad -So be it Indeed, the king land the queen kept themselves awake all mght, duly engaged in tending and serving the Rishi in the maner directed. The royal pair, O king, accomplished the Rishi's order with earnestness and attention.
- 34 Meanwhile the holy Brahmana, having thus commanded the king, slept soundly, without changing his posture or turning even once, for one and twenty days.
- 35 The king, O delighter of the Kurus, abstaning from food, along with his wife, sat loyfully the whole time, engaged in tending and serving the Rishi
- 36 On the expiration of one and twenty days, the son of Blirigu rose of his own accord. The great ascetic then went out of the room, without speaking to them at all
 - 37 Famished and toll worn, the king and the queen followed him but that foremost of itishis dud nit please to cast a single look upon any of them.
 - 38 Proceeding a little way the son of Birriga disappeared in the very sight of the royal pair. At this, the king, struck with grief, dropped down on the Earth.
 - 39 Comforted, he rose up soon, and accompanied by his queen, the king possessed of great splendour, began to search everywhere for the Rishi.

CHAPTER LIII. (ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).— Continued.

Yndhishthira said .--

 After the Risht had disappeared, what did the kmg do and what also his highly-blessed wife? I ell me this, O grandfather.

Bhishma said:-

- 2 Not seeing the Riski, the king, stricken with shame, toil-worn, and losing lis senses, returned to his palace, accompained by his queen.
- Entering his mansion in a dejected spirit, the spoke not a word with any one. He thought only of that conduct of Chyavana.
- . 4. With a despairing heart he then went to his room. There he beheld the son of Bhrigu stretched as before on his bed.
- 5 Seeing the Risht there, they wondered much. Indeed, they began to think upon that very strange incident. The sight of the Risht removed their fatting.
- 6 Seated once more by his side, they again began to gently press his feet as before. Meanwhile the great ascetic continued to steep soundly as before. Only, he now lay on another side.
- Gifted with great energy, he thus passed another twenty-one days. Moved by fear, the royal pair showed to change in their attitude or sentiment towards the Rish.
- 8. Awaking then from his sleep the astence addressed the king and the queen, saying.—Do ye rub my body with oil, I wish to have a bath.
- 9. Famishing and tod-worn though they were, forthwith they volunieered their services and soon approached the Rishi with a rich oil that had been prepared by boling it a hundred times
 - to While the Rish was seated at his ease, the king and the queen, silently, continued to rub his Gitted with great ascetic merit the sen of Bhriga did not once utter the word Sufficient.
 - 11. Bhrigu's son however saw that the royal pair were totally unmoved Rising up all on a sudden, he entered the bath room.
 - 12-13 The various articles necessary for a bath and such as were fit for a king's use, were ready there. Without using, any oi those articles, the Rishi once more disappeared there and then by his Yoga-power, before king Rushika (and his wife). This, however, O chief of Bharatas, failed to disturb the equantity of the rojal pair.

- 14. The next time the powerful Rishi was seen scated, after a bath, on the throne. It was from that place that he then showed himself to the Ring and the queen, O delighter of the Kurus.
- 15. With a cheerful face, king Kushika, together with his wife then offered the Rishi cooked food with great respect. Gitted with wisdom, and with heart totally unmoved, Kushika made this offer.

The Ascetic said .-

- 16 Het the food be brought. Assisted by his wife, the king soon brought there the food.
- there were various kinds of meat and different preparations also thereof.
 There was a great variety of vegetables also and potherbs.
- 18 There were juncy cakes too among those dishes and several agreeable kinds of confectionery, and solid preparations of milk Indeed, the viands were different in kinds and taste. Among them there were also some food—forest produces—such as ascettes liked and took.
- ty Various sweet fruits fit to be eaten by kings, were also there. There were Vadaras and Ingudas and Kashmaryyas and Bhallatakas
- 20. The food that was offered contained such things as are taken by house holders as also such things as are taken by the friest-dwellers. Through fear of the Rishi's curse, the king had caused all kinds of food to be gathered and got ready for his guest.
- 21-22. All this food, brought from the kitchen, was placed before Chyavana. A seat was also placed for him and a bed too was spread. I he dishes were their cause to be covered with white clotts. Soon however, Chyavana of Bhrigu's race put fire to all the things and reduced them to ashes.
- 23 Gifted with great intelligence, the toyal pair showed no anger at this conduct of the Rish, who once more, after this disappeared before the very eyes, of the king and the queen.
- 24 The royal sage Rushika thereupon stood there in the same posture for the whole night, with his wife by his side, and without speaking a word Gifted with great prosperity, he did not yield to wrath.
- 25-26. Every day, good and pure food of various sorts, excellent beds, profuse

- atticles needed for bath, and cloths of various sorts, were collected and kept ready in the palace for the Rish. Indeed, Chyavana could not find any fault in the conduct of the king.
- 27. Then addressing king Kushika, the twee-born Rishi said to him .- Do you with your spouse, yoke yourself to a car and take me on it whereever I shall direct.
- 48. Unhestatingly, the king answered Chyavana having asceticism for wealth, saying -So be it !- And he further enquired of the Rishi, asking,-Which car shall I bring ? Shall it be my pleasure-car for making pleasure-journeys or, shall it be my war-chariot ?
- 29-31. Thus addressed by the delighted and contented king, the ascetic said to him,-Do you promptly get ready that thariot with which you attack hostile cities ! Indeed, that war-chariot of yours, with every weapon, with its standard and flags, its tiarts and javelus and golden columns and poles, should be made ready. Its rattle resembles the tinkling of bells. It is adorned with numberless arches made of pure gold. It is always furnished with hundreds of high and excellent weapons !- I he king said,-So be it -and soon made his great warchariot ready.
- 32. And he soked his wife thereto on the left and his own self on the right. And the ting placed on the cheriot, among its other articles, the goad which had three handles and which had a point hard as adamant and sharp as the needle.
- 33 Having placed every arricle upon the car, the king said to the Risty .- O holy one, where shall the chariot proceed? O, let the son of Bhrigu issue his order.
- 31-35. This your chariot shall proceed to the place which you may be pleased to direct l' thus addressed, the holy man replied to the king, saying, - Let the car go hence, dragged slowly, step by step Obeying my will, do ye two proceed in such a way that I may not feel any exhaustion,
- 36 1 should be borne away pleasantly, and let all your people see this murch that I make through their midst. No person that comes to me, as I proceed along the road, should be driven away. I shall distric bute exches among all.
- 37. To the Bratmanas who may approach me on the way, I shall grant there wishes and bestow upon all of them gems and skhes without stat.
- 33-40. Let all the be done, Oking, and do not entertain any scruples !- Heating there words of the lind t, the king called

- without any fear, give away whatever the ascetic will command -I hen profuse jewels and gems and beautiful women, and pairs of slicen, and coined and uncoined gold. and huge elephants resembling hills or mountain summits, and all the ministers of the king, began to follow the Rishi as he was carried on that chariot.
- At. Crees of Oh and Alas arose from every part of the city which was plunged in grief at that extraordinary spectacle. The Rishi struck the king and the queen suddenly with that good having a sharp point,
- 42. Though thus struck on the back and the cheeks, the royal pair still showed no sign of agitation. On the other hand' they continued to carry the Rishi on as before,
- Trembling from head to foot, for no food had passed their lips for fifty nights. and exceedingly weak, the hero c pair somehow succeeded in dragging that excellent chariot.
- 41. Repratedly and deeply cut by the goad, the royal pair became covered with blood. Indeed, O king, they then looked like a couple of Krishuka trees in the flowering season.
- 45 Seeing the plight to which their king and queen had been reduced, the citizens became afflicted with great grief. Filled with fear of the curse of the Right. they kept silent under their misery.
- 46. Collected in masses they said to each other,-See the might of penances! Although all of its are angry, we are still unable to look at the Rishi.
- 47. Great is the energy of the holy Rises of purified soul ! See also the endurance of the king and his royal spouse.
- 48. Though exhausted with fatigue and hunger, they are still carrying the carlcaused to Kushika and his q teen, could see no sign of dissatisfaction or agitation in them.

Bhishma said:-

- 49 The perpetuater of B'reign's race, seeing the king and the queen totally unmoved, began to distribute wealth very largely as if he were a second Lord of Irrasures.
- 50. At this deed also, king Rushika showed as mark of dissatisfaction. He did as the Rishl ordered. Seeing all this, that Plustrious and best of ascetics became pleased.
- 51. Descending from that excellent car. he unharmessed the royal pair. Having has servares and told it em,-Ye should freed them, be addressed them of t

- 52. Indeed, the son of Bhigo, in a soit, deep, and delighted voice, said,—I am ready to give an excellent boon to you both.
- 53 Delicate as they were, their bodies had been pierced with the goad! Moved by affection, that best of ascettes softly touched them with his hands whose healing virtues resembled those of ambrosia, itself, O chief of the Bharatas,
- 54. Then the king answered,—Myself and my wife have felt no exhaustion—Indeed, all their fatigue had been removed through the power of the Rishi, and hence it was that the king could say so to the Rishi.
- 55. Pleased with their conduct, the illustrous Chyavana said to them,—I have never before spoken falsehood. It must, therefore, be as I have said.
- 56. This spot on the banks of Ganga is very charming and auspicious. I shall, observing a vow, live for a little while here, O king.
- 57. Do you return to your city. You are exhausted! You shall come agam. To-morrow O king! you shall returning with your wife, see me here.
- 58. You should not give to anger or grief. The time is come when you shall reap a great reward! That which is covet ed by you and which is in your heart will indeed be done.
- 59 Thus addressed by the Rishi, king Kushika, with a pleased heart, replied to the Rishi in these pregnant words.
- 60. I have entertained no anger or grief, O highly blessed one! We have been cleansed and sanctified by you, O holy one! We have once more become youthful See our bodies have become greatly beautiful and possessed of great strength.
- 61. I do not any longer see those wounds that were caused by you on our bodies with your goad! Verily, with my wife, I am in good health.
- 62 I see my goddess become as beautiful in body as an Apsara. Indeed, she is endued with as much beauty and splendour as she had ever been before.
- 63 All this, O great ascetic, is due to your favour Indeed, there is nothing wonderful in all this, O holy Rishi of power ever unbaffled.
- 64 Thus addressed by the king, Chyavana said to him —You shall with your wife, return here to morrow, O king.
- 65 With these words, the royal sage Kusi ika was sent away Saluting the Rish, the king, endued with a handsome body,

- remmed to his capital like a second king of the celestrals.
- 66 The counsellers then, with the priest, came out to welcome lum His troops also and the drincing women and all his subjects, did the same.
- 67 Surrounded by them all, king Kue's sluka, sluining in heauty and splendour, entered his city, with a delighted heart, and his pruses were sung by bards and encomasts.
- 68. Having entered his city and performed all his morning rites, he are with his wife. Gifted with great splendour, the king then passed the night happily-
- 69 Each saw the other to be possessed of fresh youthfulness. All their sufferness and pams having cassed, they saw each other to resemble a celestial, Gitted with the splendour they had got as a boon from that forement of Brahmanas, and possessed exceedingly lovely features and beautild forms, both of them passed a happy night in their bed.
 - 70 In the interval spreader of the least of Bhrgu's race, ere, the Rish having penances for his wealth, converted by his Yoga power, that charming wood on the bank of Ganga into a retreat full of wealth of every kind and adorned with every variety of jewels and gens on account of which it excelled in heauty and splendom the very abode of the king of the celestials.

CHAPTER LIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Bhishma said:—

- When that night passed away, the great king Kushika awoke and performed his morning rites. Accompanid by his wife he then went towards that forest which the Rishi had selected for his residence.
- 2 Arrived there, the king saw a palatial mansion made entirely of gold. Having a thousand columns each of which was made of gems and precious stones, it looked like a mansion belonging to the Gandharvas.
- 3—4 Kushika saw in every part of that building signs of celestial design. And he saw hills with charming valleys, and lakes with lotuses on their bosom, and mansions full of rich and curious articles and gateways and arches, O Bharata And the king belield many open glades

- nd open spots carpeted with grass, and exembling fields of gold.
- 5 And he saw many Sahakaras adorned with blossoms, and Ketakas and Uddalakas, and Diavas, and Ashokas, and blossoming Rundas, and Atimuktas
- 6 And he saw there many Champakas and Tilakas and Bhavyas and Panasas and Vyanjulas and Karnikaras adorned with flowers.
- 7 And the king saw many Shyamas and Varanapushpas and the creepers called Astapadika, all clipt properly and beautifully.
- 8. And the king saw trees on which lotness of various species bloomed in all their beauty, and some of which bore flowers of every season. And he saw also many mansions that looked like celestial cars or like beautiful mountains.
 - p-to. And at some places, O Bharata there were tanks and likes full of cool water and at others were those that were full of wrom or hot water. And there were various kinds of excellent seats and costly beds and bedsteads made of gold and gems and overtice with beautiful cloths and carpets. There were profitse viaids and carbet, all will dressed and ready for use.
 - 11-12 And there were talking parrols, step-parrols Bhringarajas, Kokilas Shatapetras with Koyashtikas and Kukkubhas, and peacocks and cacks and Datyulias and Jivajivikas and Chakoras and monkeys and swans and Saraas and Chakravakas
 - 13 Here and there he saw bevies of rejoicing Aptaras and conclaves of happy Gandharvas, O monarch.
 - 14. And he saw other Gandharvas at other places rejucing with their dear wives. The king sometimes saw these sights and sometimes could not see them.
 - 15. The king heard also sweet notes of vocal music and the sweet voices of preceptors engaged in lect tring their disciples on the Vedas and the Scriptures. And the king also heard the harmonious notes of the greese sporting in the lakes
 - 16 Seeing such highly wonderful spectacles, the king began to reflect inwardly, saying,—Is this a dream? Or, is all this due to an alimation of my mind? Or is it all real?
 - 17. O, I have, without renouncing my body, attained to the beatsude of Heaven It is land is either the sacred country of the Utara-Kurus, or the abode called Amravau, of the king of the eclesticity.

- 18. O what are these wonderful spectacles that I see! - Reflecting it us, the king at last saw that foremost of Rishis.
- 19 In that golden palace having columns made of jewels and gems the son of Bhrigu lay stretched on a costly and excellent bed.
- 20. With his wife by his side, the king approached, with an exulting heart, the Risht as he lay on that bed. Chyavana, however, speedily disappeared at this, with the bed itself upon which he lay.
- 21 The king then saw the Rishi at another part of that forest, seated on a mat made of Kusha grass, and mentally engaged in the recital of some high Mantras
- 22 Through his Yoga-power, thus did that Brahmana stupely the king. In a moment that charming forest, those bevies of Apsaras, those bands of Gandharvas, those beautiful trees all disappeared.
- 23 The bank of Gauga became as silent as usual, and appeared as before covered with Kusha grass and antivilis.
- 24 Having seen that highly wonderful spectacle and its quek disappearance also, king ¡Cushika, with his wife, became filled with wonder.
- 25 With a delighted heart, the king addressed his wife saying, see, O amiable one, the various agreeable scenes and sights, occurring nowhere else, which we two have just seen.
- 26. All this is due to the favour of Bhirgu's son and the power of his penances. By penances one attains all which cherishes in his imagination.
- 27—28 Penances are superior to even the kingdom of the three worlds. Video the penances well-performed, Liberation Intell may be acquired, Mark, the power of the great and celestial Ribh Chyavana derived from his penances! He can, at his pleasure, create even other worlds.
- 29 Only Brahmanas are born in this world for uttering and understanding sacred deeds. Who else save Chyavana could do all this?
- 30. Sovereignty may be acquired easily. But the dignity of a Brahmana is not attainable it was through the power of a Brahmana that we were harnessed to a car like well-broken animals.
- 31. These thoughts that passed through the king's mind, became known to Chyaran Ascertaining the king's thoughts, the itisha addressed him and said,—Coma here quickly.
- 32. Thus addressed, the king and the 33 Uttering a benediction upon the king, the Rishi, gifted with great intelligence, O king, comforted the king and said, —Sit down on that seat.

132

31-35 After this, O monarch, the son of Bhrigu, without guile or insincerity of any sort, pleased the king with many soft words, and then said.—O king, you have completely subjugated the five organs of action and the five organs of lenowledge with the mind as their sixth. For this you have come out unbut from the fiery ordeal I had prepared for you.

36. I have been properly honored and addred, O son, by jou, O foremost of all persons gifted with speech. You have no sin, not even a minute one, in you.

37 Give me leave, O king, for I shall now proceed to the place I came from. I have been highly pleased with you, O king. Pray accept the boon I am ready to give!

Kushika said -

38. Before you, O holy one, I have staid like one staying in the midst of a fire, that I have not yet, O chief of Bhrigu's race, been reduced to ashes is sufficient.

39 Even the 1s the highest boon that I have got, O delighter of Bhrigu! I hat you have been pleased by me, O Bahmana, and that I have succeeded in rescuing my race from destruction, O sinless one, are in my case the best boons.

40 This I consider, O learned Brahmana, as a distinct mark of your favour the object of my life has been accomplished Even this is what I consider the very object of my sovereignty. This is the highest fruit of my penances 41 If, O learned Brahmana, you have been pleased with me, O delighter of Bhrigo, then do you remove some doubts which are in my mind.

CHAPTER LV.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) --

Chyavana said .--

T. Do you accept a boon from me Do you also O king, tell me what the doubt is that is in your mind. I shall certainly accomplish all your purposes,

Kushika said .-

2 If you have been pleased with me, O holy one, do you then, O son of Bhrigh, tell me your object in living in my paire for sometime, for I wish to hear it. What was your object in sleeping on the bed I assigned you for, one and twenty days continuously, without changing sides.

3 O foremost of ascetics, what also was your object, again in going out of the room without speaking a single word.

4. Why did you, again, without any reason, disappear and once more become visible? Why, O learned Bralimana, did you again lay yourself down on the bed, and sleep, as before, for one and twenty days.

5 Why did you go out after you were rubbed by us with oil for your bath? Why, also, after having made various kinds of food in my palice to be collected, did you consume them with fire?

6 What was the cause of your sudden journey through my city on the car? What was your object in giving away so much riches? What was your motive in showing us the wonders of the forest created by your Yoga'power.

7. What, indeed, was your motive in showing O great ascetic, so many palaces made of gold and so many bed-strads supported on posts of jewels and gems?

8 Why also did all these wonders disappear from our sight? I wish to hear the cause of all this I hinking of all these acts of yours, O perpetuater of Bhrigu's race, I became stup-fied

9 I cannot comprehend your motive O you having penances for wealth, I wish to hear the truth about all those acts of yours in full.

Chyavana said :--

to Listen to me as I tell you fully the reasons which had moved me in all these acts of mine. Asked by you, O king, I cannot refuse to e lighten you.

tt. In days of yore, on one occasion when the desties had assembled together, the Grandfather Brahman said some words. I heard them O king and shall now repeat them to you.

12 On account of a quarrel between Brahmana and Kshatriya energy, there will occur an intermixture in my race—Your graudson, O king, will become endued with great energy and power.

13 Hearing this I came here resolved to exterminate your race. Indeed, I came,

- O Rushika, seeking the utter extermination of your family, in fact, for reducing to ashes all your descendants.
- 14 Moved by this motive I came to your palace, O monarch, and said to you,— I shall observe some vow. Do you attend upon me and serve me dutfully.
- 15 While living, however, in your house I could not see any shortcomings in you it is for that reason, O royal sage, that you are still alive, for otherwise you would have by this been dead.
- 16 It was with this resolution that I slept for twenty-ene days in the hope that somebody would awake me before I arose out of my own accord.
- 17. You, however, with your wife, did not awake me. Even then, O best of kings, I became delighted with you.
- 18, Rising from my bed I went out of the chamber without speaking to any of you I did this, O king, in the hope that you would ask me and thus I would have an opportunity of cursing you.
- 10 I then disappeared, and again showed myself in the room of your palace, and once more following Yoga slept for one and twenty days.
 - 20. My motive was this. Exhausted with toil and hunger you two would be angry with me and do what would be unpleasant to me It was from this motive that I caused yourself and your wife to be afflicted with hunger.
 - 21. In your heart, however, O king, the shightest feeling of anger or vexation did not rise. For this, O king, I became high pleased with you.
- 22. When I caused various kinds of food to be brought and then set fire to them. I hoped that yourself with your wife would yield to anger at the sight. Even that act, however, of mine was tolerated by you.
- 23-24 I then ascended the car, O king, and addressed you, saying,—Do you will your wife bear mel—You did what I ordered, without the feast scruple, O king I became delighted at this. The gilts of riches I made could not excite your anger.
- 25. Pleased with you, O king, I created with the help of my Yoga-power that forest which jourself with your wife did see here. Listen, O king, to the object I had.
- 26. For pleasing you and your queen I made you to have a glimpse of Heaven, All those things which you have seen in these woods, O king, are a foretaste of Heaven.
 - 27. O best of kings, for a little while I - made you and your wife behold, in even your earthly bodies, some sights of fleaven.

 - 28 All this' was done for showing the power of penances and the reward that is in store for virtue. The desire that arose in your heart, O monarch, at sight of those delightful objects, is known to me.
 - 29 You became desirous of obtaining the dignity of a Brahmana and the ment of penances, O king, disregarding the sovereignty of the Earth, nay, the sovereignty of very Heaven.
 - 30 You thought this O king The status of a Brahmana is highly difficult to get, having become a Brahmana, it is highly difficult to obtain the status of a Rishi, having become a Rishi it is difficult to become an ascetic.
 - 31 I tell you that your desire will be fulfilled From you O Kushka, will originate a Brahmana who shall be called after your name. The person that will be the third in descent from you shall obtain the status of a Brahmana.
 - 32. Through the energy of the Bhrigus, your grandson, O king, will be an ascetic gifted with the splendour of fire.
 - 33 He shall always strike all men, indeed, the inhabitants of the three worlds, with fear, I tell you the truth.
 - 34. O royal sage, do you accept the boon that is now in your mind I shall soon start for a sojourn to all the sacred waters. Time is expring.

Kushika said -

- 35 Inis, O great ascetic, is a high boon in my case, for you have been pleased with me! Let that take plate which you have said! Let my grandson become a Brahmana, O sinless one
 - 36 Indeed, let the dignity of Brahmanahood attach to my family, O foly one! This is the boon I pray for 1 I wish to once more ask you in full, O holy one,
- 37 In what way O delighter of Bhrigu, will the dignity of Brahmanahood attach to my family? Who will be my frend? Who will have my affection and respect?

CHAPTER LVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued.

Chyayana said -

t. I should certainly, O king, tell you everything about the execumstance for minating your race.

- 2. This is well-known, O king, that the Kshatriyas should always have the help of the sons of Bhrigu in the matter of sacri fices I brough an irresistible decree of destiny, the Kshatriyas and the Bhargavas will quarrel.
- The Kshatriyas, O king, will kill all the descendants of Bhrigu By an ordinaice of fate, they will root out the race of Bhrigu, not sparing even infants in their mothers' wombs.
- There will then be born in Bhrigu's race a Rishi of the name of Urva ed with great energy, he will in splendour certainly resemble fire or the sun
- He will cherish such anger as will be sufficient to consume the three worlds. He will be competent to reduce the whole Earth with all her mountains and forests into ashes.
- 6. For a little while he will put out the flames of that fiery rage, throwing it into the Mare's mouth that wanders through the ocean.
- 7-9 He will have a son of the name of Richika. The whole science of arms. O sinless one, in its embodied form, will come to him, for the extermination of the entire Kshatriya caste, through a decree of Des-tiny Recelving that science by inward hight, he will, by Voga power, communicate t to his son the highly blessed Jamadagni of purified soul That foremost of Bhrigu s race will bear that science in his mind
 - 10 O you of righteous soul Jamadagni will marry a gul, taking her from your race, for spreading its glory, O chief of the Bharatas
 - It Having obtained for wife the daughter of Gadhi and your grand daughter. O king, that great ascetic will beget a twiceborn son gifted with Kshatriga accomplishments.
 - In your race will be born a son, a Kshatriya gifted with the virtues of a Brah Possessed of great virtue, le will be the son of Gadla Isnown by the name of Vishwamitra, I e will in energy come to be considered as the equal of Vrihaspati lumself, the preceptor of the celestials,
 - The illustrious Richika will grant this son to your race, this Kshatriya who will be endued with high penances. I wo women will be the cause in the matter of this exchange of sons.
 - 14 All this will take place at the command of the Grandfather It will never be otherwise. The status of Brah which, O moharch, I came hither for exter- a manahood will attach to one who is third relative of the Bhargavas !

Bhishnia said .-

Hearing these words of the great ascelic Chyavana, king Kushika became filled with joy, and answered as follow -

16-17 Indeed, O best of the Bharatas, he said -So he it I-Gifted with high energy, Chyavana once more addressed the king, and urged him to accept a boon from himself. The king replied,-Very From you, O great ascetic, I shall obtain the fruition of my wish.

18-19-20 Let my family become invested with the dignity of Brahmanahood, and let it always set its heart upon virtue !-The ascetic Chyavana, thus solicited, granted the king's prayer, and bidding tarewell to the king, started on h s intended solourn to the sacred waters. I have now told you everything, O Bharata, relating to your questions, vis , how the Bhrigus and the Kushikas became connected with each other by marriage Indeed, O king everything took place as the Rishi Chya-varia had said. The birth of Rama (of Bhrigu's race) and of Vishwami c1 (of Kuslika's race) happened in the way that Chyayana had said

CHAPTER LVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said - 1

is no doubt of this,

I am stupefied, O grandfather, to hear your words! Thinking that the Earth is now destitute of a very large number of kings all of whom were gifted with great prosperity, my heart becomes filled with grief.

Having conquered the Earth and acquired hundreds of kingdoms, O Bharata, I turn with grief, O grandfather, at the thought of the millions of men I have killed

- 3. Alas, what will the condition be of those foremost ladies who have been deprived by us of husbands and sons and maternal uncles and brothers?
- 4 Having killed those Kurus -our kuismen, that is and our friends and wellwishers -we shall have to sink in hell with heads hanging downwards. There with severe penances With that end in view, O king, I wish to receive instructions from you.

Vaishampıyana sııdı—

The great Bhishma, hearing these words of Yndhishthira, reflected upon them acutely with the help of his understanding, and addressed Yudinshthira in reply.

Bhishma said :-

- 7. Hear what I say to you It is highly wonderful and is a great mystery 1 he sul ject is the ends that creatures acquire after death as the rewards of pasticular acts or courses of conduct they follow.
- 8. One goes to Heaven by penances. By penances one acquires faine penances, O mighty king, one lives long and gets all articles of enjoyment. ;
- 9. By penances one acquires knowledge, science health and freedom from disease, feauty of person, prosperity, and blessedness, O chief of Bharata's race.
- By penances one acquires riches. By observing the yow of silence one succeeds in bringing the whole world under his sway. By making gits one gets all kinds of enjoyable acticles. By observing the rite of Diksha one acquires birth in a good and high family.
- 11. Those who spend their lives living upon only fruits and roots succeed in acq ilving kingdom and sovereignty. Those who live upon the leaves of plants and trees as their lood succeed in going to Heaven.
 - 13. One who live upon water only attains to Heaven. By making gifts one a imply increases his wealth. By serving with reverence his preceptor, one acquires learning. By performing Shrad has every day in honor of his Departed Manes, one acquires a large I umber of children.
 - 13. By observing Diksha upon potherba and vegetables, one acquires a large tismber of kine. Those who live upon grass and straw succeed at going to Heaven By batting there every day with the recessary tites, one acquires a large number of waves. By drinking the ar alone, one arquires residence in the regions of Prajapati
 - 14. The Brahmana who bathes every ray and recites sacred. Mantras in the tan taughts becomes possessed of the gas tion at Daksta I miell By addring ite de tes in a ferest er desert, ene ac-

I wish, O Bharata, to afflict my bidge, observing the vow of relinquishing the body by a long fast, one goes to the celestral region.

- One having penances for wealth and , always passing his days in Yoga obtains good beds and seats and velicles. Renouncing the body by entering a burning fire, one becomes an object of respect in the region of Brahman
- Those who lie on the hard and hare ground acquire houses and beds who clothe themselves in rags and barks get good dresses and ornaments.
- 17 By avoiding the several agreeable tastes one succeeds in winning great prosperity. By abstaining from meat and fish, one gets long-lived childen.
- One who passes sometime in Udavasa, mode of life, becomes the very lord of the celestial region. The man who speaks the truth, O best of men, succeeds in sporting happily with the celestials themselves.
- By making gifts one acquires great fame on account of his high achievements. By abstention from cruelty, one acquires health and freedom from disease By serve ing the Brahmanas with respect, one acquires kingdom and sovereignty, and the high position of a Brahmana
- 20. By making gifts of water and other drinks, one acquires eternal fame on ac-) count of high achievements. By making gifts of food, one acquires various articles of enjoyment.
- 21. One who gives peace to all creatures, (by refraining to do them any injury), becomes frued from every region. By serve ing the gods, one obtains a kingdom and celestial beauty.
 - By presenting I ghts at places which are dark and frequented by men, one acquires a good eye-sight. By giving away good and beautiful objects, one acquires a good memory and understanding.
 - By distributing scents and garlands. one acquires lar-reaching lame who abstain from sliaving off their hair and beards, get excellent children,
 - 24 By observing fasts and mitiation and baths, O B sarata, for twelve years one acquires a region which is superior to that attainable by unreturning heroes
 - By conferring one's daughter on an eligble bridegroom according to the Brahmaform, one gets, O best of men male and female slaves and ornam ents and fields and houses.
- 25 By celebrating sacrifices and chsails a legion or savetege 't, and by region, O Biarata. He man wio gives hway fruits and flowers succeeds in gaming sacred knowledge.

- ,27. The man who gives away a thousand kine with horns bedecked with gold, succeeds in acquiring Heaven. This has been declard by the very delties in a celestial assemblage.
- 28 One who gives away a Hapila disk with her call, with a brazen pot for milking, with horse bedecked with gold, and possessed of various other accomplishments, obtains the fruition of all his desires from that cow.
- 29 'Such a person, on account of that act of gift, hives in the telestial region for as many years as there are listes on the body of the bow and rescues in the next world his sons and grandsons and all his family to the seventh decree.
- 33 That man gets to the regions of the Vasus who gives away a cow with horns beautifully decorated with gold, accompanied with a brazen jar for miking, along with a piece of cloth embrodered with gold, a measure of assame and a sum of money as gift.
- 31. A gift of kine rescues the giver in the next world when he finds timeelf falling into the deep darkness of hell and fettered by his own deeds in this world, like a boat with sails that have caught the air rescuing a person drowning in the ocean.
- -32. He 'who confers a daughter according to the Brahma form upon an eligible person, or who makes a gilt of land to a Brahmana, or who gives food according to due rites, succeeds in attaining to the region of Indra.
- 33. That man who presents a house, furnished with every sort of furniture to a Brail mana given to Vedic studies and endued with every accomplishment and good behaviour, lives in the country of the Uttara-Kurus.
 - 34. By making gifts of draft bullocks, a person acquires the region of the Vasus Gift of gold secures Heaven Gift of pure gold yields greater merit still.
 - 35 By making self of an umbrella, one acquires a palatial residence By making git of a pair of sandals or shoes, one acquires good care. The reward of cloths, is personal beauty, and by making gifts of scenis, one gets a fragrant body in next life.
 - 36 One who gives flowers and fruits and plants and trees to a Brahmana, acquires, without any toil, a palatial residence containing beautiful women and plenty of

- 47. The giver of food and drink of different tastes and other articles of enjoyment succeeds in acquiring profuse supply of such articles. The giver, again, of houses and cloths get articles of a similar naturalities there is no doubt in this.
- 38. That person who makes gits of garlands and meedse and seents and the gents and the articles needed by met after a bath, and garlands to Brahmanas, becomes freed from every disease and, possessed of personal beauty, sports in joy in the region reserved for great kings.
- 39 That man, O king, who presents to a Brahmana a house that is stored with grain, furnished with beds, full of riches, auspicious, and delightful, acquires a palatial residence,
- 40 He who gives to a Brahmana a good bed perfumed with Iragrant scents, covered with an excellent sheet, and pillows, gets without any effort on his part a beautiful wife, belonging to a respectable family and of agreeable manners.
- 41. The man who takes to a hero's bed on the field of battle becomes the equal of the Grandfather Brahman himself. There is no end that is higher than this. Even this is what the great Rishis have said.

Vaishampayana said :-

- 42. Hearing these words of his grandfather, Yudhishthira, the delighter of the Kurus, became anxious to get the end reserved for heroes and no longer expressed any disgust for leading a domestic mode of life.
- 43. Then, O foremost of men, Yudhishthira, addressing all the other sons of Pandu, said to them—Let the words which our grandfather has said, command your faith.
- 44. At 'tim, with 'time Trandares with 'time famous Draupadi amongst them, highly spoke of the words of Yudhishthira and said 'yes.'

CHAPTER LVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said :-

r. I wish, O Bharata, chief to hear from you what the rewards are, O best of the Kurus, of the planting of trees and the digging of tanks,

Bhishma said —

- 2. A piece of land on a best sight, fertile, situate in the midst of charming adorned with various kinds of metals and inhabited by all sorts of creatives, is considered as the foremost of spots.
- 3 A particular portion of such land should be chosen for digging a tank. I shall tell you, in due order, the different kinds of tanks 1 shall also tell you what the merits also are of the digging of tanks
- 4 The man who causes a tank to be dug becomes entitled to the respect and adoration of the three worlds.
 - 5. A tank full of water is as agreeable and beneficial as the house of a friend It is gratifying to the Sun himself. It also highly the growth of the celestials. It is the foremost of all things that lead to fame.
 - 6—7 The wise have said that the excavation of a tank brings on Virtue, Profit and Pleasure A tank is said to be properly excavated, if it is made on a price of land that is inhibited by respectable persons A tank is said to be necessary for all the four purposes of living creatures. I anks again, are considered as forming the excellent beauty of a country of
 - 8 The celestials, human beings, Gandharvas, Departed Manes Uragas, Rakshasas, and even immobile beings, all refort to a tank full of water as their refuge.
 - 9 I shall, therefore, recite to you the merits attached to tanks as described by great Rishis, and the rewards in store for persons who cause them to be excavated.
 - To The wise have said that that man acquires the merit of an Aguihotra sacrifice in whose tank water is field in the season of rains
 - It. The high reward in the world that is reaped by the person who makes a gift of a thousand kine is acquired by that man in whose tank water is held in the season of autumn.
 - 13. That person in whose tank water lies in the cold season acquires the ment of the wight who performs a sacrifice with profuse gifts of gold

 13. That person in whose tank water
 - lies in the season of dew, acquires the wise have said, the merits of an Agnishtoma sacrifice 14. That man in whose well-made tank
 - water lies in the season of spring acquires the ment of the Atiratra sacrifice.
 - t5 That man in whose tank water her in the season of summer wins, the Rishl say, the mesits of a horse scrifice.

- 16 That man rescues his whole race in whose tank kine are seen to satisfy their thirst and from which pious men draw their water.
- 17 That man in whose tank kine satisfy their thirst as also other animals and birds, and human beings, gains the merits of a horse sacrifice.
- 18 Whatever quantity of water is drunk from one's tank and whatever quantity is taken therefrom by others for purposes of bathing all become stored for the benefit of the excavater of the tank and he enjoys the same eternally in the next world
- 19 Water, especially in the other world, is difficult to get, O son. A gift of drink yields eternal happiness
- 20. Make gifts of sesame here Make gifts of water Do you also give lamps. Wile alive and awake, do you sport happily with kinsmen. These are acts which you shall not be able to achieve in the other world.
- 21. The gift of drink, O chief of men, is superior to every other gift. In point of ment, it is superior to all other gifts. Therefore, do you make gifts of water.
- 22 Thus have the Rishis described the high merits of the excavation of tanks. I shall now describe to you the planting of trees.
- 23. Of immobile objects, six classes have been spoken They are Vrikshas, Gulmas, Latas, Vallis, I waksaras, and Irinas of diverse kinds.
- 24 These are the several kinds of vegetables. Listen now to the merit of their planting By planting trees one acquires fame in the world of men and auspicious rewards in the next world.
- 25 Such a man is applauded and respected in the world of the Departed Manes, Such a man's name does not die even when he goes to live in the world of celestials.
- 26. The man who plants trees rescues the ancestors and descendants of both his paternal and maternal lines Do you, therefore, plant trees, O Yudhishthira.
 - 27. The trees that a man plants become the planter's children There is no doubt in this Departing from this world, such a man goes to the celestial region. Indeed, he enjoys many eternal regions of bliss.
 - 28. Trees please the deties by their flowers, the Departed Manes by their fruits; and all guests and strangers by the shadow they afford,

- 29. Kinnaras, Uragas, Rakshasas, deities Gandharvas, and human beings, as also Rishis, all resort to trees as their refuge.
- 30 Frees that bear flowers and fruits please all men. The planter of trees is saved in the next world by the trees he plants like children saving their own father.
- 31. Therefore, the man who is desirous of achieving his own good, should plant trees by the side of tanks and rear them like his own children. The trees which a man plants are, according to both reason and the scriptures, the children of the planter.
- 33 That Brahmana who excavates a tank, and he who plants trees, and he who performs sacrifices, are all adored in the celestial region as men who are devoted to truthfulness of speech
- 33 Hence, one should cause tanks to be excavated and trees to be planted, adore the dettes in diverse sacrifices, and speak the truth.

CHAPTER LIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) .-

Yudhishthira said :-

- 1. Amongst all those gilts mentioned in the work other than the Vedas, which gilt, O chief of Kuru's race, is the most supported, in your opinion?
- 2. O powerful one, great is my curiosity in this matter. Do you describe to me that gift which follows the giver to the next world?

Bhishma said :-

- 3—4. An assurance to all creatures for love and affection and abstention from every sort of impry, acts of kindness and favor done to a person in distress, gifts of articles made to one who solicits with thirst and agreeable to the solicitor's wishes, and whatever gifts are made without the giver's ever thinking of them as gifts made by him, form, O chief of Bharata's race, the highest and best of gifts
- 5. Gift of gold, gift of kine, and gift of earth,—these are considered as sin-cleansing 1) ey rescue the giver from his evil deeds.
- 6. O king, do you always make such gifts to the righteous Forsooth, gifts rescue the giver from all his sins.

- 7. That person who wishes to make his gifts eternal, should always give to persons gifted with necessary qualifications whatever articles are desired by all and whatever things are the best in his house.
- S The man who makes gifts of agreeable things and who does to others what is agreeable to others always succeeds in getting things that are agreeable to himself Such a person certainly becomes agreeable to all, both here and hereafter.
- 9 That man, O Yudhishthira, is a cruel wight who through vanity, does not, to the extent of his means, attend to the wishes of the poor and helpless who solicit assistance.
- 10. He is, indeed the foremast of men who shows favour to even an helpless enemy faller into distress when such enemy comes and prays for help.
- 11 No man is equal to him who satisfies the hunger of a person who is emactated, possessed of learning, destitute of the means of support, and weakened by miser).
- 12 One should always, O son of Kuni, remove by ever means in his power, the distress of the pious observant of vows and acts, who, though having no sons and wives and plunged into misery, do not yet solicit others for any kind of help
- 13—14 Those persons who do not utler blessings upon the detites and men, who are worthy of respect and always contented, and who have upon such almas as they great without begging, are considered as verificable snakes of virulent possion. Do you, O Bharata always protect yourself from them by making gifts to them. I have not always the protection of th
- 13. You should honor those men by gilts of good houses furnished with every necessary article, with slaves and servants, with good dresses and vestments, O son of Kurtu, and with all articles bringing on pleasure and happiness.
- 16 Regitizous men of righteous deeds should trake such gifts, moved by the desire that it is their duty to act in this way and not from desire of reaping any rewards therefrom Indeed good men should act in this way so that the virtuous men described above might not, O Yudinshirts, feel any disinclination to accept those gifts sanctified by devetion and faith.
- 17. There are persons bathed in learning and bathed in vows Without depending upon anybody they get their means of living. These Brahmanas of rigid vows are given to Vedic study and prinners

- without proclaiming their practices to any
- 18 Whatever gifts you may make to those persons of pure conduct, of thorough mastery over their senses, and always contented with their own married wives, are sure to acquire for you a merit that will accompany you in all the worlds into which you may go.
- 19 One resps the same merit by making gifts to twice-born persons of controlled souls which one acquires by properly pouring libations to the sacred fire morning and evening.
- 20. This is the sacrifice spread out for you,—a sacrifice that is sancufied by devotion and faith and that is accompanied with Dakshina! It is superior to all other sacrifices. Let that sacrifice ceaselessly flow from you as you give away.
- 21. Performed in view of such men, O Yudhishihira, a sacrifice in which the water that is sprinkled for dedicating gifts forms the oblations 'in honor of the Departed Manes, and devotion and worship rendered to such superior men, serves to free one of the debts he owes to the detites
- 22 Those persons who do not give way to anger and who never desire to take even a blade of grass belonging to others, as also they who are of sweet speech, deserve to receive from us the most respectful adorations.
- 23 Such persons and others never pay their regards to the giver. Nor do they try for obtaining gifts. They should, however, be maintained by givers as they maintain their own sons. I bend my head to them. From them also proceeds learlessness.
- 24 Ritwijas, Priests and Preceptors, when well-read in the Vedas and when behaving mildly towards disciples, become such Forsooth, Kshatriya energy loses its force upon a Brahmana when it meets him.
- as Thinking that you are a king, that you are gilted with great power, and that you have riches do, not, O Yudhishthira, enjoy your affuence without giving anything to the Brahmanas.
- 26. Observing the duties of your own caste, do you adore the Brahmans with whatever riches you have, O sinless one, for purposes of adornment or sustaining your hower.
- 27. Let the Brahmana's live in whatever way they like You should always bend your head to them with respect. Let them always rejoice in you as your children, living happily and according to their wishes.
- 28. Who else save you, O best of the Kurus, can provide the means of livelihood

- for such Brahmanas as are gifted with eternal contentment, as are your wellwishers, and as are pleased with only a little?
- 2g As women have one eternal duty, in this world, vis, dependence upon, and the obedient service of, their liusbands, and as such duty forms their only end, so is the service of Brahmanas our eternal duty and end
- 33-31. If an seeing cruelites and other studied ends in Kahariyas, the Brahmanas, Sudied ends in Kahariyas, the Brahmanas, Sudied ends in Kahariyas, the State of what use would life he to say, in the absence of all contact with the Brahmanas, sepecially as we shall then have to carry on our existence without being able to study the Vedas, to celebrate sacrifices, to hope for worlds of bliss hereafter, and to perform great deeds?
- 32. I shall, about it, tell you what the eternal practice is. Formerly, O king, the Kshatriyas used to serve the Brahmanas.
- 33. The Vaishya likewise used in those days to adore the Kshatriya, and the Shudra to adore the Vaishya. This is what is heard. The Brahmana was like a burning fire. Without being able to touch him or approach his presence, the Shudra used to serve the Brahmana from a distance.
- 34 It was only the Kshatriya and the Vasishya who could serve the Brai mana by touching his body or approaching his presence. The Brailmanas are gifted with a mild disposition. They are truthful in conduct. They are followers of the true religion.
- 35 When angry, they are like snakes of dreadful poison. Such being their nature, do you, O Yudhishihira, serve and attend them with obedience and respect. The Brahmanas are superior to those who are higher than the high and the low.
- 36. The energy and penances of those Kshatriyas who blaze forth with energy and power, become powerless and neutralised when they from an contact with the Brah-manas.
- 37. My father himself is not dearer to me than the Brahmanas. My mother is not dearer to me than they. My grandfather, O king, is not dearer, my own life is not dearer, O king, to me than the Brahmanas,
- 3S. On Earth there is nothing, O Yu-dhisthra, that is dearer to me than you. But, O chief of Bharata's race, the Brahmanas are dearer to me than even you.
- 39. I tell you truly, O son of Pandu' I swear by this truth, by which I hope to acquire all those blassful regions that have been Shantanu's.

40. I see those sacred regions with Brahma shining conspicuously before them I shall go there, O son, and live in them eternally.

41. Seeing these regions O best of the Bharatas, I am filled with joy at the thought of all these acts which I have done in aid and honor of the Brahmanas, O king.

CHAPTER LX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said :--

t. Io which of two Brahmanas, when both happen to be equally pure in conduct, equally gifted with learning and purity, of birth and blood, but differing from each other in only this, sirs, it e one solucits and the other does not,—I ask, O grandfather, would a gift be more mentiorious?

Bhishma said -

- 2 It has been said, O son of Pritha, that a gift made to an unsoliciting person yields greater merit than one made to a person who begs One enduded with continuous is certainly more deserving. Unit of the certainly more deserving. Unit of the certainly more deserving than its, therefore, helpless amidst the storms and buffets of the world.
- 3 The firmness of a Kshatrija consists in the protection he gives to others. The firmness of a Brahimana consists in his refusal to beg. The Brahimana endued with steadness and learning and contentient claddens the celestials.
- 4. The wise have said that an act of begging on the part of a poor man is a great reproach. Hose persons who solicit others are said to annoy the world like flueves and robbers.
- 5. The person who solicits is said to meet with death. The giver, however, is said not to meet with death. The giver is said to give life to him who solicits. By an act of gift, O Yudhishishira, the giver is said to rescue his own self also.
- 6 Mercy is a very high virtue. I ed by mercy people make gifts to those who sol cit. Those, however, who do not beg but are sunk into poverty and distress, slould be respectfully invited for receiving lelo.
- 7. If such Brahmanas, who must be considered as the foremost of their order, live in your kingdom, you should consider item as fire covered with ashes.

- S Burning with penances, they are capable of consuming the whole, Earth. Such persons O son of Kuru's race though not generally adored, should still he considered as worthy of adoration in every way.
- g Gifted with knowledge and spiritual vision and penances and Yoga, such persons always deserve our adoration. O scorcher of enemies, do you always offer adoration to such Brahmanas.
- 10. One should go of his own accord to hose foremost of Brahmans who do not solicit any body and make gifts to them of various kinds of wealth in abundance i he ment that comes from properly pouring thistians on the sacred fire every morning, and evening, is acquired by the person who makes gifts to a Brahmana, endowed with learning, with the Vedas, and with high and excellent wors.
- 11727 You should, O son of Kuntin mive those foremost of Brahmanas, who are cleansed by learning and the Veda and vows, who live in independence, whose Vedic studies and penances are concealed without being announced from the house top, and who observe excellent yous, and benor them with gits of well-built, and robes and furniture, and all other articles of pleasure and enjoyment.
- 13 Knowing all duties and possessed of minute vision those foremost of Brahmanas O Yudhishithira, may accept the gifts offered to them with devotion and respect thinking that they should not refuse and disappoint the giver.
- 14. You should invite those Brahmanas whose wives wit for their return like tillers in expectation of rain. Hawing fed bilders well, you should present additional food to them so that upon their return home their expectant wives might be able to distribute that food among their children who had clamoured for food but who had been consoled with promises.
- 15 Brahmacharins of controlled senses, or son, by eating at one's house in the forenoon cause the tree sersificial fires to be pleased with the householder at whose house they eat,
- 16 I et the sacrifice of gift proceed in Jones at mi Iday, O son, and do you also distribute kine and gold and dessert By acting thus, you are sure to please the king of the celestials himself.
- 17. That would constitute your third sacrifice, O Yudhishthira, in which offerings are made to the detties, the Departed

- Manes and the Brahmanas By such sacrifice you are sure to please the Vishwedevas.
- 18 Let mercy to all creatures, giving to all creatures what is due to them controling the senses, renunciation, firm tess, and truth, form the final bath of that sacrifice which is formed by gift.
- to This is the sacrifice that is spread out for you—a sacrifice which is sanctified by devotion and faith, and who has a large sacrificial git attached to it. This sacrifice which is lormed by git is superify to all other sacrifices. O son, let this sacrifice be slaway scelebrated by you.

CHAPTER LXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Vudhishthira said .-

- 1—2 I wish to know fully, O Bharata, where one gets the high rewards of gits and sacrifices. Are those rewards acquired here or hereafter? Which amongst these two (urr, Gill and Sacrifice) yields superior meri? I owhom should gifts be made? In what manner are gifts and sacrifices to be made? When also are they to be made? I sak you this, O learned size! Do you discourse to me on the duty of gifts!
- 3 Do you tell me, O grandlather, what brings on the highest reward, vis, gifts made from the satrificial platform or those made out of that place?

Bhishma said -

- 4. O son, a Kshairiya is generally engaged in deeds of fierceness. In his case, sacrifices and gifts, are considered as cleansing or sanctifying him.
- 5 The good and righteous, do not accept it e gitts of persons of the royal order, who prepertate sinful deeds. Therefore, the king should celebrate sacrifices with profuse gitts in the form of Dakshina.
- 6 If the good and righteous would accept the gifts made to them, the Kahatriya, O king should continually make gifts with devotion and faith to them Gifts yield great ment, and are ingify cleansing.
- 7 Observing vows, one should celebrate racifices and please with wealth, such lisalimans as are freeds of all creatures, endued with righteousness, conversant of the Vedas, and pre-teminent for acts, conduct and penances.

- 8 If such Brahmanas do not accept your gifts, no merit will become yours. Do you celebrate sacrifices with profuse Dasshi ia, and make gifts of good and acreeable food to the righteous.
- g By making an act of gift you should consider yourself as performing a sacrifice. You should, with gifts, worship those Brahmanas who perform sacrifices By dung this you will acquire a share in the merits of those sacrifices of theirs.
- 10. You should support such Brahmanas as have children and as are capable of sending people to heaven. By acting time, you are sure to get a large progeny,—in fact, as large a progeny as the Parjapati himself.
- tt. The righteous support and advance the cause of virtue One should by giving up his all, support such men as also those who do good to all creatures
- 12 Yourself being rich, a you, O Yudhishibura, make guis to Brahmanas of kine and bullocks and food and umbrellas and robes and sandles or shoe
- t3 Do you give to sacrificing Brahmanas clarified butter as also food and cars and vehicles with horses harnessed it ereto, and dwelling houses and mansions and beds.
- 14 Such gilts yield prosperity and affluence to the giver, and are considered as pure, O Bharata Phose Brahmanas who are not censurable for anything they do and who have no means of support assigned to them, should be found out
- 15 Coverily or publicly, do you maintain such Brahmanas by giving to them the means of support. Such conduct always gives I igher benefit to Kshatriyas than the Rajasuya and the Horse Sactifices.
- 16 Purged off of sin, you are sure of attaining to Heaven Filling your treasury, you should do good to your kingdom,
- 17. By such conduct you are sure to acquire in nenseruches, and become a Brahman (in your next life) Do you, O Bharata, protect your own means as also the means of other people's livelihood.
- 18 Do you support your servants as your own clildren Do you, O Bharata, protect the Brahmanas in the enjoyment of what they have and make gifts to them of such articles as they have not
 - 19 Let your life be devoted to the Brahmanas. Let it never be said that you do not grant protection to the Brahmanas. Much wealth, when possessed by a Bral mana, becomes a source of evil to [bum

- Constant association with riches and prosperity is sure to fill him with pride and cause him to be stupefied If the Brahmanas become stupefied and steeped in folly virtue and duties are sure to siffer destruction Forsooth if virtue and duty come to an end, it will lead to the destruction of all creatures
- That king who having amassed riches makes it over to his treasury officers and guards, and then begins to again plunder his kingdom, saying to his officers, -Do ye bring me as much riches as you can extort from the kingdom.
 - And who spends the riches that is thus collected at his behest under circumstances of lear and cruelty, in the periormance of sacrifices, should know that those sacrifices of his, are never highly spoken of by the pious.
 - The king should celebrate sacrifices with suc girroney as is willingly paid to his treasur prosperous and unpersecuted subjects Sacrifices should never be celebrated with money got with severity and extertion
 - The king should then celebrate great sacrifices with large presents in the shape of Dakshina when on account of his being devoted to the behoof of his subjects the latter bathe him with copious showers of riches brought willingly by them for the purpose.
 - The king should protect the riches of those that are old, of those that and minors, of those that are blind, and of partial under his protection. those that are otherwise disqualified king should never take any money from his people, if they, in a season of drought, succeed in growing any corn with the help of water obtained from wells. Nor should le take any wealth from weeping women.
 - Ti e riches taken from the poor and the helpless is sure to destroy the kingdom and the prosperity of the king the king should always present to the righteous all enjoyable articles in abundance should certainly remove the lear of famishing which those men may have
 - There are no men more sinful than those upon whose food children look wistfully without being able to eat them duly.
 - 28. If with in your kingdom any learned Braimana dies with liunger like any of those children, you shall then incur the sin of feeticide for having allowed such an act.

- vis .- Fie on that king in whose kingdom a Brahmana or even any other man starves
- that kingdom in which a Brahmana of the Snataka class starves, becomes over-Such a kingdom wil elmed with adversity with its king also incurs reproach.)
- 31. That king is more dead than alive in whose kingdom women are easily abducted from their husbands and sons uttering cries and groans of indignation and grief.
- The subjects should arm themselves for killing that king who does not protect them, who simply plunders their riches, who confounds all distinctions, who is incapable of taking their lead who is without mercy, and who is considered as the most sinful of kings.
- That king who tells his people that he is their protector but who does not or is unable to protect them, should be killed by his subjects in a body like a dog that is affected with the rabies and has become mad.
- A fourth part of whatever sins are committed by the subjects visits that king who does not protect, O Bharata.
- Some authorities say that the whole of ti ose sins visits such a king Otlers are of opinion that a half thereof visits him-Bearing in mind however, the saving of Manu, it is our opinion that a fourth part of such sins visits the unprotecting king
- That king, O Bharata, who affords protection to his subjects gets fourth part al whatever ments his subjects win by
- Do you, O Yudhishthira, act in such a way that all your subjects may seek refuge with you as long as you are alive as all creatures seek the refuge of the god of rain or as the birds seek the refuge of a large tree.
- Let all your kinsmen and all your friends and well wishers, O scorcher of enemies seek reluge with you as the Rakshasas seek Kuvera or the gods seek Indra as theirs.

CHAPTER LXII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said :-

1. People accept with respect the 523. ings of the Shrutis which say - This is to be given -This other thing is to be given !-

× 22 King Shive himself had said this, al various things to various men. What, however, O grandfather, is the best or foremost of all gifts?

Bhishma said :--

- 2. Of all kinds of gifts the gift of earth is said to be the first Earth is immovable and indestructible It is capable of giving to him who possesses it all it e best things from which he may like to have
- upon which he may like to have

 3. It gives dresses and vestments, jewels and gems, animals, paddy, and batley
 Amongst all creatures, the giver of earth
- grows rich for ever and ever.

 4 As long as the earth lasts, so long does the giver thereof grow rich There is no gift that is higher, O Yudhishthira, than the gift of earth.
- 5 We have heard that all men have given a little quantity of earth. All men have made gives of earth, hence all men enjoy a little of earth

- 6 Whether in this or in the next world, all creatures live subject to their own deeds Earth is Prosperity's self. She is a power-ful goddess. She makes him her lord who makes gilts of her in this life to other people.
- 7 That person, O best of kings who gives away earth, which is indestructible as gift is born in next life as a man and becomes also a lord of Rarib
- 8 The quantity of one's enjoyment in this life is equal to one's gifts in a pristine life. This is the conclusion pointed out by the scriptures. For a Kshatriya should either give away the Each in gift or renounce his life in battle.
- 9 This is the highest source of prosperity to Kshatriyas We have heard that earth when given away, cleanses and sanctifies the giver.
- 10 The man who is of smful conduct who is guilty of Brahmanici to and of falsehood, is purified by a gift of earth Indeed such a gift rescues even such a sinner from all his suns
- 11 The virtuous accept gifts of earth only and no other thing from suiful kings Like one's mother, earth when given away, purifies the giver and the taker.
- t2 This is an eternal and secret name of earth, vis., Priyadatta Given away or accepted in gift, the name that is dear to her is Priyadatta.
- 13 The gift of earth is desirable That king who makes a gift of earth to a learned Brahmana, gets from that gift a kingdom,

- 14 Upon being born again in this world, such a man, forsooth, attains to a position equal to that of a king. Hence, a king, as soon as he gets earth, should make gifts of earth to the Brahmanas.
- 15 None but a lord of Earth can make gills of earth. Nor should one who is not a worthy person accept a gift of earth
- 16 They who desire earth should act thus That person who takes away earth belonging to a pious person never gets any earth
- 17 By making gifts of earth to the righteous one gets gold earth. Of virtuous soul, such a giver acquires great fame both in this world and in the next.
- 18 That pious king about whom the Brahmanas say "We live on earth given to us by him," is such that his very enemies cannot utter the least reproach about his kingdom.
- 19 Whatever sins a man commits from want of the means of livelihood are all washed off by gift of only so much earth as is covered by a cow hide
- 20 Those kings who are mean in their acts or are of fierce deeds should be tanglit that gift of earth is highly purifying and is at the same time the highest gift.
- 21 The ancients thought that there is always very little difference between the man who celebrates a Horse Sacrifice and him who makes a gift of earth to one who is righteous.
- 22 The learned doubt the acquision of ment which all other prous acts yield. The only act about which they are dead certain, is the gift of earth which, indeed is the foremost of all gifts.
 - 23 The wise man who makes gifts of earth, gives away all these wis gold, silver cloth, gems and pearls and precious stones
- 24 Penances sacrifice, Vedic learning, good conduct, absence of cupidity, firmness in truth, advancion of elders preceptors, and the detires, all these live in him who makes a gif of earth.
 - 25 They who ascend to the region of Brahman by renouncing their lives in battle after having fought without any consideration for themselves for securing the behoof of their maiters,—even tiley are unable to go above the merit of those who make gifts of earth
 - 26 As the mother always nourishes ler own child with milk from her breast, so does earth please with all the tastes the person that makes a gift of earth
 - 27 Mrityu, Vaikinkara, Danda, Tama, Fire, who is highly fierce, and all heinous that man of tranquil soul who makes a gift of earth pleases (by that act) the Departed Manes living in their region and the detties also hailing from the region that is theirs

144

The man who makes a gift of earth to one who is weak and cheerless and destitute of the means of life and famishing with weakness, and who thereby supplies one with the means of sustenance, deserves the honor and ment of celebrating a sacrifice. As an affectionate cow runs towards her half, with full udders dropping milk similarly the Lights blessed Earth, runs towards the person who makes a gift of earth

That man who makes to a Brahmana a gift of earth which I as been tilled, or sown with seeds or which contains standing crons, or a palace well furnished with every necessary article, succeeds in becoming the accomplisher of the wishes of every body. The man who makes a Brahmana having the means of life, possessing a domestic fire and of pure vows and practices, accept a gift of earth, never falls into any danger or distress.

33 As the moon increases day by day, so the merit of a gift of earth increases every time such earth produces crops

Those persons conversant with ancient history sing this verse regarding the gift of earth Hearing that verse Jamadagni's son (Rama) gave away the whole Earth to Kashyana

The verse to which I refer is this -Receive me in gift Give me away giving me away you (O Liver) will obtain me again! I hat which is given away in this life is re-acquired in the next

36 That Brahmana who recites this great saying of the Vedas at the time of a Shraddha get the highest reward

A gift of earth is a great expiation for the sin of those powerful men who perform Atharvan rites for injuring others Indeed by making a gift of earth one rescues ten generations of his paternal and maternal families

That person who knows this Vedic saying about the merits of a gift of earth succeeds in rescuing len generations of both his paternal and maternal families Earth is the original source of all creatures. It has been said that the god of fire is the presiding genius of earth.

After the coronation ceremony has been performed of a king, this Vedic saying should be recited to built, so that he may make gifts of earth and may never take away earth from a prous person.

Porsooth, the entire wealth owned by if e king belongs to the Brahmanas A king knowledg well the science of duty and morality is the first requisite of the kingdom's prosperity.

4t. Those people whose king is tine righteous and atheistic in conduct and behef, can never be happy Such people can never sleep or wake in peace.

42-41 On account of his deeds of wickedness his subjects become always filled with anxiety. Protection of what the subsects already have and new acquisitions by fair means are events that are not seen in the kingdom of such a king people again, who have a wise and righte ous king, sleen happily and wake up t happiness.

By the Blessed and righteous act of such a king his subjects become short of anxiety The subjects, restrained from wicked deeds grow in prosperity through their own conduct. Capable of keepth what they have, they go on making ne acquisitions

That king who makes gifts of earth is considered as well born. He is con sidered as a man. He is a friend righteous in his acts He is a giver, H is considered as possessing prowess,

Those men who make guits of ampl and fertile earth to Brahmanas knowt the Vedas, always sline in the world, o account of their energy, like so many suns

As seeds scattered on the sail grow and yield a goodly crop, so all one's wishe become successful on account of his making gifts of earth

48 The Sun, Varuna, Vishnu, Brahmar the Moon the Pre-God and the illustrion and trident-bearning Mahadeva all prais the man who makes a gift of earth.

Living creatures originate from Earl and it is to the Earth that they retur when they disappear, Living creature which are divided into four classes hav Earth for their primordial essence

The Earth is both the mother an father of the universe of creatures O king there is no element, O king, that can com pare with Earth.

51 About it is cited the old discour-between the celestial preceptor Vrihaspa and Indra the king of Heaven, O Yudhish thira.

Having worshipped Vishnu in hundred sacrifices each of which w famous for plentiful guits, Maghavat put this question to Vrihaspati, that foremost of all orators.

Maghavat said -

53 O illustrous one, by what gift does one succeed in coming to the relestial region and acquiring beatitude? O foremost of speakers, do you tell me of that gift which yields high and eternal inerti.

Bhishma said .-

54 Thus addressed by the king of the telestrals, the preceptor of the gods, wis. Virhaspatiof great energy, said these words in reply to him of a hundred sacrifices.

Vrihaspati said :--

- 55 Gift of gold, gift of kine, and gift of earth,—by these, O destroyer of Vestra, one becomes cleansed, O you of great wisdom, of all sins
- 56 There is no gift, O king of the celestials higher than the gift of earth, O powerful one. I consider this gift as the most superior, according to what has been declared by the wise.
- 57 Those heroes who, fearless of battle, give their lives in battles with enemies come to Heaven. How high sover their end, none of them can get over the giver oil earth.
- 58. Those men who, disregarding their bodies, give their lives in battle while working for the behoof of their masters, ascend to the region of Brahman himself. But even they are unable to get over the giver of earth.
- 59 By making a gift of earth one rescues these eleven, ris, five generations of ancestors and six generations of descendants.
- 6). That person, O Furandara who makes a gult of earth rich with Jewels and gems becomes purged off of all his sins and is highly respected in the celestral region.
- 61. If a person, O king makes a gift of rich and fertile earth that is capable of granting every such he succeeds in attaining to the position of a king of kings (in his next life). A gift of earth, therefore, is the foremost of all gifts,
- G: That person, O Vasava, who makes n gift of earth capable of satisfying every wish with fruition is considered as making a gift of every of ject in the world
- 61. That men who gives away a cow endured with every accomplishment and graming the limition of every desire, sucdieds, O you of a thomand eyes, in attaining the celestial region.

- 64 The giver of earth, O king of the celestials, is pleased when he comes to Heaven, by hundreds of rivers which run honey and ghee and mik and curds
- 65 A king, by making gifts of earth, is purged off of all his sins. There is no gift therefore, which is superior to the gift of earth.
- 66 That king who gives away the Earth bounded by the ocean, after having conquered it with the help of his weapons, is taked of by all men and his memory lasts as long as the mountains last on the surface of Earth.
- 67. Gilted as he is with the merits that belong to the gift of earth, the region of happiness reserved for the person who makes gift of such earth as is auspicious and rich with every taste, never become exhausted.
- 68 That king, O Shakea, who wishes to have prosperity and who wishes to acq ire happiness for himself, should always make gifts of earth, with due sites, to worthy persons.
- 69 If after committing numerous sins a person makes gitts of earth to the twice-born class, he leaves off all those sins like a snake casting off its slough
- 70 The person who makes a gift of earth is said to make gifts of everything, that is, of seas and tivers and mountains and lorests.
- 71. By making a gift of earth, the person is said to give away lakes and tanks and nells and rivers On account of the moisture of earth, one is said to give away articles of various tastes by making a gift of earth.
- 72 The man who makes a gift of earth is considered as giving away herbs and plants possessed of high and efficacious virtues, trees adorned with flowers and fruit, charming forests, and hillocks,
- 73 The ment which a person acquires by making a gift of earth is incapable of being acquired by the performance of even such great sacrifices as the Aguishtonia and others with profuse gifts in the shape of Dakshina.
- 71 The giver of earth, it last been affected was festivesten spectrations of both his paternal and material families. I skewate, by taking many earth that was given away, one sinks I mittell into hill and casts in generations of both one's paternal and maternal lines into the same place of misery.
- 75. That man who having promised to make a gift of earth does not solve by nake it, or who having made a gift resumes it, has to pass a long time, in great misery on account of being tied with the noose of Varuna at the command of Death.

- 76 Those men have never to go to Vama who thome and adore those foremost of Bahrmara who pour libations every day on their dimestic fire, who are always to the performance of sacrifices, the performance of sacrifices, the performance of sacrifices and who receive with hospitality every guest seeking shelter in their houses
- 77. The king, O Purandara, should free himself from the debt he owes to the Brahmanas and protect the helpless and the weak of the other castes.
- 78. The king should never resume, O chief of the gods, earth that has been given away by another to a Brahmana, O king, of the celestials, who is destitute of the means of life.
 - 79. The tears that would drop from the eyes of such cheerless and destitute Brahmanas on account of their lands being resumed, are capable of destroying the ancestors and descendants to the third generation of the resumer.
 - 80. I hat man who re-instates a king driven away from his kingdom, gets residence in Heaven and is much honored by
 - the denzens thereof.

 31—32 That king who succeeds in making gifts of earth with such crops standing freen a sugarcane or barley of the control of the control of the control cattle —earth that has been acquired with the might of the giver's arms,—that has mineral in its bowels and that is covered with every kind of wealth on the surface, acquires unending regions of happiness it lie next world, and such a king it is that is said to elebrate the earth-sacrifice!
 - 83 That king who makes a gult of earth is purged off of every sin and, and therefore, is pure and liked by the righteous. In this world have highly honored, and, ground has all righteous men.
 - St. The merit of a gift of earth increases every time the earth given away bears crops for the benefit of the owner, as a drop of oil, falling upon water, is seen to extend on every side, and cover the watery surface.
 - 85 Those heroic kings and ornaments of assemblies who give their lives in battle with faces towards the foe, attain, O Shakra, to the region of Brahman.
 - 86 Beautiful Isdies skilled in music and dancing and adorned with garlands of flowers, approach, O king of the

- deities, the giver of earth as he comes to
- 57 That king who makes gifts of earth with due rites to persons of the twice-born order, sports in bliss in the celestial regions, worshipped all the while by the celestials and Gandharyas.
- 8S One hundred Apsaras, adorned with celestal garlands, approach, O king of the detites, the giver of earth as he ascends to the region of Brahman.
- So Sweet-scented flowers, an excellent conch and excellent seat, an umbrella and excellent horses with good velucles, are always ready for the person who makes gifts of earth.
- go By making gifts of earth a king can always command fragrant flowers and heaps of gold. Having all kinds of wealth the commands of such a king can never be disobeyed anywhere, and cries of victory welcome him whereever he may go.
- gt. The rewards of the grits of earth consist of residence in the celestial region, O Purandara, and gold and flowers, and kusha and herbs of medicinal virtue, and kusha and mineral wealth and verdant grass. A person by making a gift of earth wins in his next life nectar-giving eatth.
- 92 There is no gift equal to a gift of earth. There is none worthy of greater respect than the mother. There is no duty higher than truth. There is no riches more valuable than that which is given away.

Bhishma said —

- 93 Hearing these words from the son of Angiras, Vasava made a gift to him of the whole Earth with all her jewels and gems and all her riches,
- 94 If these verses describing the merit of the gifts of earth be recited on the occasion of a Shraddha, neither Rakshasas nor Asuras can succeed in getting any shore the Witerings made in it.
- 95. Forsooth, the offerings one makes to the departed manes at such a Shraddha become unending. Hence, on occasions of Shraddhas, the learned man should recive these verses on the subject of the ments of the gifts of earth, in the presence and hearing of the invited Brahmanas when engaged in eating.
- g6. I have thus, O chief of the Bharatas, described to you that gift which is the foremost of all gifts. What else do you wish to hear?

CHAPTER LXIII.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) — Continued.

Yndhishthira said --

t. When a king wishes to make gits in this world, what, indeed, are it lose gits which he should make, O best of the Bharatas, to such Brahmanas as are endued with superior accomplishments? What git is that by which the Brahmanas become readyly pleased? What Iruits do they give in retiren? O you of powerful arms, tell me what is the high reward which can be won through the merit of gits.

3 What gifts, O king, yield rewards both in this world and in the next? I wish to hear all this from you. Do you describe to me all this in detail.

Bhishma said '-

4. These very questions were formerly put by me to Narada. Hear me as I techte to you what that celestial sage had told me in reply.

Narada said :-

- 5. The celestials and all the Rishis speak highly of food. The course of the world and the intellectual faculties have all been fixed on food.
- 6. There has never been, nor will be, any gift equal to the gift of food. Hence, men always wish particularly to make gifts of food.
- 7. In this world, food is the root of energy and strength. The vivil are are established on food. It is food that keeps up the wide universe. O powerful one
- 8 All classes of men, house holders and mendicants and ascettes, live upon food. The vital airs depend upon food. There is no doubt in this.
- g Afflicting one's relatives, one, if desirous of his own prosperity, should make girls of food or a great Bradmana or a person of the mendicant order.
- gues of tour or a great fraitmans or a person of the mendicant order.

 10. That man who makes a gift of food to an accomplished Brahmana who begs the same, secures for himself in the next
- 11. The house-holder who seeks his own prosperity should receive with respect a deserving old man who is worn fout with toil while proceeding on his way far from home when such a man comes to the house-holder's house world wealth of great value.

12. That man who, shorn of irrepres. sweetmeats and all food that is sweet neats and if the deliver is a fact of all the deliver and other denizers, of food, is sure to acquire happiness, O king, both in this world-and in the next.

13 The house-holder should never disregard the man who comes to his place, no should he insult him by sending him away. A gift of food made to even a Chandala or a dog is never fost.

14 I hat man who makes a gift of clean food to a person on the way who is fatigued and unknown to the giver, is sure to win great merit.

- 15 The man who pleases with gifts a food the departed manes, the detties, the Brahmanas, and guests arrived at his house, wins great merit.
- 16 That person who having committeeven a hemois crime makes a xilt of food to one who solicits, or to a Brahmana in special, is never stupefied by that hemois since.
- 17. A gift of food made to a Britimina becomes eternal. One made to a Shindra yields great merit. This is the diff rence between the merits of the gifts of food made to Brahmanas and Shudras.
- 18. Solicited by a Brahmana, one should not enquire about his family or conduct or Vedic learning. Asked for food, one should give food to him who asks.
- 19 There is no doubt in this, O king, that he who makes gifts of food gets both in this world and in the next many trees giving food and every other object of desire.
- 20 Like cultivators expecting auspicions showers of rain, the departed in ties always expect that their sons and grandsons would present food to them.
- at. The Brahmana is a great being. When he comes into one's house and solicits, saying,—Give me!—the owner of the house, whether actuated or not by the desire of gaining merit, is sure to win great merit by listening to that prayer
- 22-23. The Brahmana is the guest of all creatures in the universe if is servited to the first part of every food. That house increases in prosperity to which the Brahmanas go from desire of getting almost and from which they return honored on account of their desires being sixified. The owner of such a house is born 1 his next life in a family. O Bharata, that has all the comforts and flayings of life.
- 24. A man, by making gifts of food in this world, is sure to acquire an excellent place hereafter. He who makes gifts of sweetmeats and all food that is sweet, gains a residence in heaven where he is honored of all the delives and other denizers.

- 25. Food forms the life-breaths of men Everything rests upon food. He who makes gifts of food gets many animals, many children, profuse niches (in other shape), and all articles of coinfort and luxury in profusion.
- 26 The giver of food is said to be the giver of life Indeed he is said to be the giver of everything Hence, O king, such a man acquires both strength and personal grace in this world.
- 27. If food be given duly to a Brahmana come to one's house as a guest, the giver acquires great happiness, and is adored by the very celestials.
 - 28 Tle Brahmana, O Yudhishthira, is a great Being. He is also a fertile field Whatever seed is sown on that field yields an abundant crop of merit
 - 29 A gift of food readily yields the happiness of both the giver and the receiver. All other gifts produce unseen fruits,
 - 30 From food originate creatures From food springs happiness and joy, O Bharata, Know that virtue and worldly profit both spring from food. The cure of disease or health also comes from food.
 - 31. In a former Æon, the Lord of all creatures said that lood is ambrosia or the source of immortality. Food is Earth, Food is Heaven, Food is the Sky, Everything rests on Food.
 - 32. In the absence of food, the five elements that form the body cease to exist in a state of unision. From want of food the strength of even the strongest man is seen to fail.
 - 33 Invitation and marriages and sacrifices all cease for want of food. The very Vedas disappear when there is no food.
 - 34. All the mobile and immobile creatures of the universe depend on food. Virtue and worldly profit, in the three worlds defend on food. Hence the wise should make gifts of food.
 - 35 The strength, energy, fame and athievements of the min who makes gifts of food, always multiply themselves in the three worlds, O king.
 - 46. The deity of wind, places above the clouds (the water drawn by the Sun) I he water thus taken to the clouds is caused by Shakka to be poured upon the Earth, O Bharata.
 - 37. The Sun, by means of lis rays draws up the moisture of the Larth. The god of wind cruses the moisture to fall down from the Sun.

- 38 When the water comes down from the clouds upon the Earth, the goddess Earth become moist, O Bharata.
- 39 Then do people sow various kinds of crops upon whose outturn the naverse of creatures depends It is from the food thus produced that the flesh, f4t, bones and vital seed of all beings originate.
- 40 From the vital seed thus made, O king, spring various kinds of living creatures Agni and Soma, living within the body, create and maintain the vital seed
- 41. Thus from food, the Sun and the god of wind and the vital seed spring and act. All these are said to form one element or quantity, and it is from these that all creatures originate.
- 42 That man who gives unto one who comes to his house and begs it, is said, O chief of the Bharatas, to contribute both life and energy to living creatures.

Bhishma said:-

- 43 Thus addressed by Narada, O king, I have always made gifts of food. Do you also, therefore, freed from malice and with a cheeful heart, make gifts of food.
- 41 By making gifts of food, O king, worthy Brahmanas with due rites, you may be sure, O powerful one, of attaining to Heaven.
- 45 Hear me, O king, as I tell you what the regions are reserved for those who make gits of food. The mansions of those great persons shine with resplandence in the regions of Heaven.
- 46 Bright as the stars in the sky, and supported upon many columns, white as the disc of the moon, and adorned with many tinkling bells, and rosy like the newly irsen sun, those palaces are either fixed or movable.
- 47. Phose manisons are filled with 1 undereds and hundreds of things and animals that live on land and as many things and animals living in water. Some of them are effolgent like laps lasuls and some are resplendent like the sun. Some of their are made of silver and some of gold.
- 48 Within those mansions are many trees capable of satisfying every desire of the immates. Many tanks and roals and halls and wells and lakes are all there.
- 49 Thousands of vehicles with horses and other animals harnessed (hereto and with wheels whose caller is always loud, are all there. Mountains of food and all enjoyable articles and heaps of closts and ornaments are also there.

- 50 Numerous rivers that run milk, and hills of rice and other edibles, [are also there. Indeed, many palatial residences looking like white clouds, with many beds of solden splendour, are in those regions.
- 51 All these are won by those men who wake gitts of food in this world. Do you therefore, become a giver of food. Indeed, these are the regions reserved for these reasons who make gifts of food in this world. For these reasons, men should always make gifts of food on this world.

CHAPTER LXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ---

Yndhishthira said -

t I have lieard your discourse about the ordinances for the gift of food Do you describe to me now about the conjunctions of the planets and the stars in relation to the subject of making gifts.

Bhishma said .-

2 Regarding it is recited this ancient discourse between Devaki and Narada, that foremost of Rishis ***

- 3 Once on a time when Narada of god-like features and knowing every duty arrived at Dwaraka, Devaki asked him this question.
- 4 The celestral Rishi Narada replied to her question in the following words. Do you hear as I recite them.

Narada said :—

- Brahmanas with pudding mixed with ghee, under the constellation Kritika, one acquires regions of great happiness
 - 6 Under the constellation Rohini, one should, for freeing himself from the debt he owes to the Brahmanas, make gifts to them of many handfuls of vension along with rice and clarified butter and milk, and other kinds of edibles and drinks
 - 7 One giving away a cow with a calf under the constellation called Sommadavata (or Mingashiras), proceeds from this human region to a region in Heaven of great felicity.
 - One undergoing a fast and giving away Krishara mixed with sesame, gets over all difficulties in the next world, including those mountains with tocks sharp as tazors,

- 9 By making gifts, O beautiful lads, of cakes and other food under the constellation Punaryasu, one gets personal beauty and great fame and takes birth in his next life in a family in which there is profuse a food.
- to Making a gift of wrought or unwrought gold, under the constellation Pushya, one shines like the Moon himself in regions of succounding darkness
- 11. He who makes a gift, under the constellation Ashlesha, of silver or a bull, becomes freed from every fear and acquires riches and prosperity.
 - 12 By making a gift, under the constellation Megha, of earthen dishes filled with sesame, one gets children and animals in this world and acquires happingss in the next.
 - 13 By making gifts, while fasting, to Bral manas, under the constellation called Purva-Phalgun, of food mixed with Phanita, the reward is great prosperity both here and hereafter.
 - 14 By making a gift, under the constellation called Uttara-Phalguni, of clarified butter and mik with rice called Shashthika, one wins great honors in Heaven.
 - 15 Whatever gifts are made by men under the constellation of Uttara Phalgant yield great ment, which, again, becomes unending. This is very certain.
 - 16 Observing a fast, the person who makes, under the constellation Hasta, a a gift of a car with four elephants, acquires regions of great happiness that are capable of greating the funition of every wish.
 - 17 By making a gift, under the constellation Chittra, of a bull and of good perfumes, one sports in bliss in regions of Apsaras like the deities sporting in the garden of Nandana.
 - 18 By making gifts of riches under the constellation Swati, one acquires such excellent regions as one desires and wins, besides great fame.
 - 10-20. By making gifts, under the constellation Vishakha, of a bull, and a cow giving profuse milk, a cart full of paddy, with a Frasanga for covering the same, and also cloths for wear, a person pleases the departed manes and the detites and acdifferent profuse of the constance of the control of the conbuch a person never meets with any calamits and certailly reaches Heaven.
 - 21. By making gifts the Brahmanas of whatever articles it ey want, one acquires such means of subsistence as he wishes, and becomes rescued from Hell and every calamity that befall sinners after death.

This is the certain conclusion of the

By making gifts, under the constel-

- lation Anuradha, of embroidered cloth and other dresses and of food, observing a fast all the while, one becomes honored in Heaven for a hundred cycles

 23 By making a gift under the cons-
- 23 By making a gift under the constellation Jyeshtha, of the potherb called Kalashaka with the roots, one acquires great prosperity as also such an end as is desirable.
- 24 By making to Brahmanas a gift under the constellation Mula, of fruits and roots, with a controlled soul, one pleases the departed manes and attains to a desirable end.
- 25—26 By making, under the constellation Purvashada a gift, to a Brahman knowing the Vedas' and of good family and conduct, of cups filled with curds, while observing a fast, one is born in his next if ein a lamily having abundant kine. One secures the fruition of every little of the conduction of t
- 27. By making a gift, under the conjunction called Abhijit, of milk with honey and ghee unto men of wisdom, a righteous person attains to Heaven and becomes an object of adoration and honor there.
- 28 By making, under the conjunction Sheavana a gift of blankets or other cloth of thick texture, one passes freely through every region of happiness, riding on a white car of pure resplendence.
- 29 By making with a controlled soul under the constellation Dhanishtha a gift of a car with bulls joked thereto, or masses of clotl's and riches, one at once acquires Heaven in his next life.
- 30 By making gifts, under the constellation Shatabhisha, of perfumes with Aquilania Agallocha and sandal wood, one acquires in the next world the companionship of Apsaras as also eternal perfumes of Arious soris
- 31. By making gifts, under the constellation Purva Bhadrapada, of Rajamasha, one acquires great happiness in next I fe and comes by a profuse supply of every kind of food and fruits
- 32 One who makes, under the constellation Ultars, a gift of mutton, pleases the departed manes by such an act and acquires unending ment in the next world.,
- 33 If one makes a gift, under the constellation Revail, of a cow with a vessel of white copper for milking her, the cow so given away approaches him in the next world, ready to grant the fruition of every desire.

- 34 By making a gift, under the constellation Ashwin, of a car with horses yoked thereto, one is born in his next le in a family possessing abundant elephants and horses and cars and becomes gifted with great energy.
- 35 By making, under the constellation Bliarani, a gift to the Brahmanas of kine and sesame, one attains in his next life great fame and abundant kine.

Bhishma said .-

36 Ihus did Narada describe to Devaki the subject of what gifts should be made under what constellations Devali herself, having heard this account related it in her turn to live daurhters in law.

CHAPTER LXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Bhishma said -

- 1. The illustrious Atri, the son of the Grandfather Brahman, said,—They who make gifts of gold are said to make gifts of every thing in the world.
- 2 King Harishchandra said that the gift of gold washes off sms, leads to long life, and yields inexhaustible ment to the departed manes
- 3 Manu has said that a gift of drink is the best of all gifts therefore should a man cause wells and tanks and lakes to be excavated
 - 4 A well full of water and from which various creatures draw water, is said to take off half the sinful deeds of the person who has excavated it.
 - 5 The entire family of a person is rescued from hell and sin in whose well or tank or lake kine and Brahmanas and pious people constantly satisfy their thirst.
 - 6 That man gets over every sort of calamity from whose well or tank every one draws water without restraint during the summer season.
 - 7. Clarified butter is said to please the illustrious Vrihaspats, Pushan Bhaga, il e twin Ashains, and the god of fire.
 - 8 Clarified butter is possessed of high medicinal virtues. It is a high requisite of Sacrifice. It is the best of all figuids.

The merit a gift of clarified butter yields is very superior.

9 That man who wishes for the reward of happiness in the next world, who wishes for fame and prosperity, should, with a purified heart and having purified himself, make gifts of clarified butter to the Brahmanas.

- 10. The twin Ashwins, pleased, confer personal beauty upon that man who makes hits of clarified butter to the Brahmanas in the month of Ashwin.
- 11. Rakshasas never invade the house of that man who makes gifts to the Brahmanas of pudding mixed with clarified butter.
- 12. That man never dies of thirst who makes gifts to the Brahmanas of jars filled with water. Such a person gets every necessary of life in profusion, and has never to suffer from any calamity or distress.
- 13. That man, who with great devotion and controlled senses makes gifts to the foremost of Brahmanas, is said to take a sixth part of the merits acquired by the Brahmanas by their perances.
- 14-15. That man who makes presents, to Brahmanas having the means of life, of fire-wood for purposes of cooking as also for enabling them to drive cold, finds all his purposes and all his acts successful. Such a one is seen to shine over all his enemies.
- 16. The illustrious god of fire becomes pleased with such a man. As another reward, he never becomes divested of catile, and he is sure to win victory in battle.
- , 17. The man who makes a gift of an umbrella gets children and great prosperity. Such a person never suffers from any eye-disease. The ments also that originate from the performance of a sacrifice become his.
- 18. That man who makes a gift of an dumbralle and the season of summer or mone, has never to suffer from any heart-burning on any account.
- 19-20 Such a man quickly succeeds in treing himself from every difficulty and obstacle. The highly blessed and illustricus. Rishi. Shandilya has said that of all gifts, the gift of a car, O king, is the greatest.

CHAPTER LXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said :--

t. I wish to hear, O grandfather what the merits are of that person who makes the gift of a pair of sandals to a Brahmana whose feet are burning or being scorched by hot sands while walking.

Bhishma said:

- 2 The man who gives to the Brahmanas sandals for the protection of their feet, succeeds in crushing all thorns and gets over every port of difficulty.
- 3-4. Such a man, O Yudhishthira, stands over the heads of all his enemies, care of pure splendour, with mules yoked thereto and made of gold and silver, O monarch, approach him He who makes a gift of sandals is said to acquire the merit of making the gift of a car with well-broken horses yoked thereto.

Yudhishithra said:~

5. Fell me fully once more, O grandfather, of the ments of gifts of sesame and land, and of kine and food.

Bhishma said :-

- Hear, O son of Kunts, what the merits are of the gift sesame. Hearing me, do you then, O best of the Kurus, make gifts of sesame according to the rites.
- Sesame seeds were created by the Self create Brahman as the best food for the departed manes. Hence, gits of sesame seeds always please the departed manes greatly.
- 8. The man who makes gifts of sesame seeds in the month of Magha, to the Brahmanas, has never to see Hell which is full of all dreadful creatures.
- . He who warship the departed manes with offerings of sesame seeds is considered as worshipping the detires in all the sacrifices. One should never make a Shraddha with offerings of sesame seeds without entertaining some purpose.
- 10. Sesame seeds sprang from the limbs of the great Rishi Kashyapa Hence, in matter of gifts, they have come to be considered as possessed of great efficacy,
- 11. Sesame seeds confer both prosperity and personal beauty cleanse the giver of all his sins. It is for this reason, that the gift of sesame seeds is superior to the gift of every other actuals.

- 12 The highly intelligent Apastamva, Shankha and Likhita, and the great Rishi Gautama, have all gone to the belestial region by having made gifts of sesame seeds
- 13 Those Brahmanas who make Homa with offerings of sesame abstain from sexual intercourse, and are observant of the tellipion of Acts, are considered as equal to vaccine Havi
- 14 The gift of sesame seeds is superior to all gifts. Amongst all gifts, the gift of sesame is considered as yielding unending merit
- 15 Formerly when Havi (clarified butter) on one occasion could not be procured, the Rishi Kinshika O scorcher of eremies made offerings of sesame seeds to his three sacrificial fires and succeeded in acquiring an excellent end
- 16 I have thus said to you, O chief of the Kurus what the regulations are about the excellent gift of sesame seeds It is on account of these regulations that the gift of sesame seeds has come to be considered as fraught with very superior metit.
- 17. After this, listen to what I would say Once on a time the gods, desirous of making a Sacrifice, went, O king, to the presence of the Self create Brahman.

 18 Having met Brahman, desirous as
- 18 Having met Brahman, desirous as they were of celebrating a sacrifice on the Earth, they begged him for a piece of sacred earth, saying,—We want it for our sacrifice.

The destres said -

- of all the Earth as also of all the gods 1 With your permission, O highly blessed one, we wish to perform a sacrifice.
- 20 The person who has not got by lawful means the earth whereon to make the sacrificial altar, acquires not the merit of the sacrifice he performs
- 21 You are the Lord of all the universe consisting of its mobile and immobile objects. Therefore, you should grant fus a piece of earth for the sacrifice we wish to make

Brahman said -

22 Ye foremost of gods, I shall give you a piece of earth whereon, ye sons of hashiyapa you shall celebrate your intended sacrifice

The gods said :-

23 Our wishes O haly one, I ave become successful. We stall celebrate our sacrifice even I ere with Lirge gifts. Let,

- however the ascetics always worship the piece of Earth

 24 Then there came to that place
- Agastya Kanwa Bhrigu Atrl, and Vilshakapi, Asita and Devala 25 The great deities then O yor of unlading glory, celebrated their sacrifice.
- 25 The great detites then O yol of unfading glory, cefebrated their sacrifice. I hose foremost of gods finished it in dud time

 26 Having completed that sacrifice of
- theirs on the breast of that foremost of mountains vis, Himavat, the celestrals attached to the gift of earth a sixth part of the ment originating from their sacrifice.
- 27 The man who makes a gift of even a span of earth with reverence and faith has never to meet with any difficulty and has never to meet with any calamity
- 28 By making a guit of a house that prevents cold, wind and sun, and that stands upon a piece of clean land, the giver attains to the region of the celestials and does not fall down even when his ment becomes exhausted.
- 29 By making a gift of a house to his in, the giver, endued with wisdom, lives, O king, happily in the company of Shakra's Such a person receives great honors 11 the celestial region
- do That person in whose house a Brahmana of controlled senses, well read in the Vedas, and belonging by birth to a family of preceptors, lives in contentment, succeeds in attaining to and enjoying a region of great happiness.
- 31 Likewise, O best of the Bharatas, b) giving away a shed for the shelter of kine that can prevent cold and rain and that is substantial in structure the giver rescues seven generations of his race.
- 32 By giving away a piece of earth fit for cultivation, the giver acquires great prosperity. By giving a piece of earth containing mineral riches, the giver advances his family.
 - 33 One should never give away earth that is barren or that is burnt, nor slould one give away any earth that is near a crematorium, or that has been possessed and enjoyed by a sinful person before such gift.
 - 34 When a man performs a Si raddle in monor of the departed manes on earth belonging to another person, the departed manes render both the gift of that earth and the Shraddha itself fruitless
 - 35 Hence, a wase man should buy even a small pece of earth and make a gift of it. The funeral cake that is effected to

- one's ancestors on earth that has been duly durchased, becomes endless
- 36 Forests, mountains, rivers, and Tirthas, are considered as having no owners. No earth need be bought here for performing Shraddhas. 37. This has been said, O king, on the - subject of the merits of making gifts of earth. After this, O sinless one, I shall describe to you the subject of the gift of kine.
 - 38 Kine are considered as superior to all the ascetics. And therefore the divine Mahadeva practised penances in their company.
 - 39 Rine, O Bharata, live in the region of Brahman, in the company of Soma. Forming as it does, the highest end, the twice born Rishis, crowned with success, try to attain to that very region.
 - 49. Kine benefit human beings with milk clarified butter, curd, dung, skin, bones, horns, and hair, O Bharata
 - 4t. Kine do not feel cold or heat. They adways work Even the rainy season cannot afflict them at all
 - 42 And since kine attain to the highest end, in the company of Brahmanas therefore do the wise say that kine and Brahmanas are ed tal.
 - 43 Formerly king Rantideva celebrated a grand sacrifice in which an immense number of kine were offered up and killed From the jice that was secreted by the skins of the slain animals, a river was formed that passed by the name of Charmanwait.
 - 44-45 Kine no longer are animals fit for sacrifice. They now are animals fit for gift. That king who presents kine to faremost of Bratinanas O king; is sure get over every danger even if he falls into it. The man who presents a thousand kine has not to go to helf.
 - 46 Such a person O king wins victory everywhere. The very king of the celestials flad said that the mile of time is nector.
 - 47. Therefore, one who presents a cow is considered as making a gift of nectar. Persons, well read in the Vedas, have declared that the clarified butter, manufactured from cow's milk, is the very best of all libations poured upon the sacrificial fire.
 - 48-49 Therefore, the man, who presents a cow, is considered as making a gift of a hibation for sacrifice A buil is the embodiment of Heaven. He who makes the gift of a buil to a qualified Brahmana, receives great honors in the celestial

- region. Kine, O chief of Bharata's race, are said to be the vital airs of living creatures.
- 50. Therefore, the man, who makes the git of a cow, is said to make the gift of vital airs. Persons conversant with the Ved'ss, have said that kine are the great refuge of hiving creatures.
- 51. The man, who makes the gift of cow it considered as making the gift of what is the high refuge of all creatures. The cow should never be given away for shaughter; nor should the cow be given to a tilter of the soil, nor should the cow be given to a nathest. The cow should not also, O chief of the Bharatas, be given to one whose occupation is the keep of kine.
- 52 The wise have said that the person, who gives away the cow to any of such similal persons, has to sink in eternal ifell.
- 53 One should never give to a Brahmana a cow that is lean, or that produces dead calves, or that is barren, or that is diseased, or that is defective of limb, or that is worn out with toil.
- 54 The man, who gives away ten thousend kine, attains to Heaven and sports in bliss in the company of Indra. The man, who makes gifts of kine by hundred thousands, wins many regions of eternal happiness.
- 55 Thus have I recited to you the merits of the gift of kine and of sesume, as also of the gift of earth Listen now to me as I describe to you the gift of food, O Bhacata.
- 56 The gift of food, O son of Kuntt, is considered as a very superior gift. Formerly king Rantideva ascended to the celestial region by having made gifts of food.
- 57 That king, who makes a gift of food to one who is toil-worn and hungry, acquires the region of supreme happiness belonging to the Self create.
- 58 Men cannot, by gifts of gold and dresses and of other things win that happiness which givers of food succeed in winning O you of great power.
- 50 Food is, indeed, the first article, Food is considered as the highest prosperity. It is from food that life originates as also energy and prowess and strength.
- 62. He, who always makes gifts of food, with attention to the righteous, never suffers any distress. This has been said by Parashara.
- 61. Having adored the deities duly, food should be first dedicated to them. It - has been said, O king, that the kind of food that is taken by particular men is taken also by the gods those men worship.

- 62. That man, who makes gifts of food in the light half of the month of Kartika, succeeds in getting over every difficulty here and acquires endless happiness hereafter.
- 63 That man, who makes a gift of food to a hungry guest arrived at his house, acquires all those regions, O chief of Bharata's race, that are reserved for persons accuranted with Brahman.
- 64. The man, who makes gifts of food, is sure to get over every difficulty and distress Such a person gets over every sin and purges himself of every evil act.
 - 65 I have thus described to you the ments of making gifts of food, of sesame, of earth, and of kine.

CHAPTER LXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said -

- 1. I have heard, O sire, of the merits of the different kinds of gift which you have described to me I understand, O Bharata, that the gift of food is especially praiseworthy and superior.
- 2 What, however, are the great ments of making gifts of drink. I wish to hear of this in full, O grandfather.

Bhishma said:

- 3 I shall, O chief of Bharata's race, relate to you this subject. Listen to me, O you of unbaffled prowess, as I speak to
- 4—5 I shall O sindess one, describe to you gifts beginning with that of drink the ment that a man wins by making gifts of food and of drink is such that the like of it. I think the meapable of being accurred to the superior to that of either food or drink it is from food that all living creatures are able to exist.
- 6. Hierefore, food is considered as a very superior object in all the worlds. From food the strength and energy of living creatures continually increase.
- 7. Hence, the master of all creatures has himself said that the gift of food is a very superior gift. You have heard, O son of Kunti what the auspicious words are of Savitt herself.

- 8 You know why those words were said, what those words were, and how they were said in course of the sacred Mantras O you of great intelligence A man, by making a gift of food, really makes a gift of hie itself.
- 9 There is no gift in this world which is superior to the gift of life. You are not unacquainted with this saying of Lomasha, O you of mighty arms.
- 10 The end that was attained to formerly by king Shivi on account of his having granted life to the pigeon is acquired by him, O king, who makes a gift of food to a Brahmana.
- II. Hence, we have heard that they who give his attain to very superior regi my of happiness in after life Pood, O best of the Kurus, may or may not be superior to drink.
- 12 Nothing can exist without the help of what comes from water. The very lord of all the planets, vis. the illustrious Soma, has originated from water.
- 13 Ambrosia and Suddha and Swadha and milk, as also every sort of food, the deciduous herbs O king, and creepers originate from water.
- 14 From these, O king, the vital airs of all living creatures flow. The detices have nectar for their food. The Nagas have Sudha
- 15 The departed manes have Swadha for theirs. The animals have herbs and plants for their food. The wise have said that rice, &c., form the food of human beings.
- 16 All these, O king, originate from water Hence, there is nothing superior to the gift of water or drink
- 17 If a person wishes to get prosperity for himself, he should always make gits of drink. The gift of water is considered a very laudable. It brings on great fame and bestows long life on the giver.
- 18. The giver of water, O son of Kunti, always stands over the heads of his enemies. Such a person obtains the fruition of all his desires and acquires everlasting fame.
- 19 The giver, O king, becomes purged of every sm and obtains unending happiness hereafter as he proceeds to the celevist region. O you of kreat splendour. Manu himself has said that such a person acquires regions of endless blass in the other world.

CHAPTER LXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said :-

1. Dr you describe to me once again, O grandlather, the ments of the grits of sesame and of lamps for lighting darkness, as also of food and clothes.

Bhishma said :-

- 2 Regarding it, O Vidhishthira, is recited the discourse that took place formerly between a Brahmana and Yama
- 3. In the region lying between the rivers Ganga and Yamuna, at the foot of the lails called Yamuna, there was a large town peopled by Bralimanas.
- 4 The town was known by the name of Parinashala and was very charming, O king. A large number of learned Brahmanas byed in it.
- 5-6. One day, Yama, the king of the dead, commanded a messenger of his, who was clad in black, having blood-red eyes and hair standing erect, and possessed of feet, eyes, and noise all of which resembled those of a crow, saying.—Go you to the town inhabited by Brahmanas and bring itere the person known by the name of Sharman and born in the race of Agastya.

 7. He is intent on mental tranquality
- and gifted with learning. He teaches the Vedas and his practices are well-known. Do not bring me another person belonging to the same race and living in the same neighbourhood.
- 8. This other man I want is equal to him in virtues, study, and birth. As for children and conduct, this other resembles the intelligent Sharmin.
- . 9 Do you bring the individual I want He should be adored with respect—The messenger, going there, did the very resense of when he had done and and he do.
- to. Attacking that person, he brought him who had been forbidden by Yama to he brought. Endued with great energy, Yama rose up on seeing the Brahmana and adored him duly.
- 11-12. The king of the dead then ordered his messenger, asymp—Let his one be taken bark, and let the other one be brought to me.—When the great judge of the dead land these words, that Brahman addressed hum and saud,—I have finished my study of the Vedas and am no longer attached to the world. Whisterer period may jet remain of my ble, I wish to pass, lungl tere, O you cludied, my jet.

Yama said :-

- 13. I cannot determine the exact period, ordained by Time, of one's life, and hence, unurged by Time, I cannot allow one to live here. I take note of the acts of write (or otherwise) that one does in the world.
- 14. Do 301, O learned Brahmana of great splendour, return forthwith to your house I cll me what also is in Jour mind and what I can do for 301, O you of unfading elory.

Brahmana said :-

15 Do you tell me what those acts are by doing which one may acquire great merit. O best of all beings, you are the foremost of authorities in the three worlds.

Yama said :-

- 16. Do you hear, O twice-born Rishi, the excellent ordinances about gifts. The gift of sesame seeds is a very superior gift, it yields everlasting ment.
- O foremost of twice-horn ones, one should make gifts of as much sesame as one can. By making gifts of sesame every day, one is sure to acquire the fruition of his desires.
- 18. The gift of sesame at Shraddhas is highly spoken of the gift of sesame is a very superior gift. Du you make gifts of sesame to the Brihmanas according to the rites laid down in the scriptures.
- 19 One should, on the day of the full moon of the month of Vasishakin, make gates of sesame to the Brahmanas. They should also be made to eat and to touch sessime on every occasion that one can afford.
- 20. They, who are desirous of seeing their well-being, should, with their whole minds do this in their houses. Forsooth, then should likewise make gifts of water and set up resting places for the distribution of drinking water.
- 21. One should make tanks and lakes and wells to be excavated. Such acts are rare in the world. O best of twice-born persons.
- 22. Do you always make gifts of water, This act is full of great merit. O best of twice-born persons, for making fsuch gifts you should put up resting places along the roads for the distribution of water.
- 23. After one has eaten, the gift to one should especially be made of water for drink.

Bhishma said.—

- 24. After Yama had said these words to him, the messenger who had borne him from his house conveyed him back to n. The Brahmana, on his return, obeyed the instructions he had received.
- 25. Having thus conveyed him back to his abode, the messenger of Yama fetched Sharmin who had really been sought by Yama. Taking Sharmin to him, he informed his master.
- 26. Endued with great energy, the judge of the dead adored that pious Brahmana, and having conversed with him for some time dismissed him for being taken back to his house.
- 27. To him also Yama gave the same instructions Sharmin too, returning to the world of men, did all that Yama had said
- 28. Like the gift of water, Yama, from desire of doing good to the departed manes, applauds the gift of lamps to hight dark places, for it is considered as benefiting the departed manes.

 20. Hence, O best of the Bharatas, one
- should always give lamps for lighting dark places. The giving of lamps increases the power of vision, of the detties, the Pitris, and one's own self.

 30. It has been said, O king, that the gift of gems is a very great gift. The
- Brahmana, who having accepted a gift of gems sells the same for celebrating a sacrifice, commits no sin.

 31. The Brahmana, who having accepted a gift of gems, makes a gift of them to Brahmanas, wins endless ment hymell and
- confers endless merit upon him from whom he had originally received them.

 32. Knowing every duty, Manu himself has said that he who, observant of proper control makes a gift of gems to a Brahmana observant of proper restraints, winn
- mexhaustible ment himself and confers mexhaustible ment upon the recipient. 33 The man, who is content with his own married who and who makes a gift of dressess, acquires an excellent complexion and excellent dresses for himself.
- 34 I have told you, O foremost of men, what the ments are of guits of kine, of gol I and of seame, according to various precepts of the Vedas and the scriptures.
- 35 One should marry and processe ellipting upon one's matried wives. Of all acquistions, O son of Kuru's race, that of sons is considered the foremost.

CHAPTER LXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARYA) → Continued.

Yudhishthira said — 1. Do you, O foremost one of Kuru's family, describe to me once again the excel-

- lent ordinances about gifts, with especial reference, O you of great wisdom, to the gift of earth.

 2 A Kshatriya should make gifts of
- earth to a pious Brahmana, such a Brahmana should accept the gift with due rites. None else, however, save a Kshatrija can make gifts of Larth.
- 3 You should now tell me what those objects are that persons of all classes can feely give in actuated by the desire of acquiring ment. You should also tell me what has been said in the Vedas on this subject.

Bhishma said:-

- 4. Here are three gifts that pass by the same name and that yield equal ments. Indeed, these three confer the feution of every desire. The three objects whose gifts are of such a character are kine, earth, and knowledge.
- That person, who tells his disciple words of good menny drawn from the Vedas, acquires merit equal to that which is acquired by making bits of earth and kine.
- Likewise are kine praised; There is no object of gift higher than they. Kine are supposed to confer ment forthwith they are also, O Yudhishthira, such that a gift of them cannot but yeld great ment.
- 7. Kine are the mothers of all creatures. They grant every sort of happiness. The person, who seeks his own prosperity, should always make gifts of kine.
- 8 No one should kick at kine or passthrough the midst of kine. Kine are goddessess and homes of automiousness. Therefore they always deserve worship.
 - g. Formerly, the desires, while tilling the earth whereon they celebrated a sacrifice, need the good for striking the bullocks yoled to the plough. Hence, in cultivating earth for such a purpose, one may with good to bullocks. In other acts, however, bullocks should never be struck with the good of the whyp.
 - 10. When kine are grazing or ling down, no one should tease them in any way. When thirsty and they do not get uater, kine, by merely looking at such a person, can destroy him with all his relatives and friends

- 11. What creatures can be more sacred than kine when with the very dung of kine altars, whereon Shrad has are performed in honor of the departed manes, or those whereon the detites are adored, are cleansed and sanctified?
- 12 I hat man who, before eating himself, gives every day, for a year, only a handful of grass to a cow befonging to another, is considered as practising a vow or observance which bestows the fruition of every desire
- 13 Such a person acquires children and fame and wealth and prosperty, and removes all eyils and bad dreams.

Yudhishthira said:-

14. What should be the marks of those kine that deserve to be given away? I what are those kine that should be looked over in the matter of gifts? What should be the characters of those persons to whom should kine be given? Who, again, are those to whom kine should not be given?

Bhishma said:

- 15 'A cow should never be given to one who is not prous in conduct, or one that is sinful, or one that is covetous, or one who is a lar, or one who does not make offerings to the departed manes and celestials.
- 16 A person, by making a gift of ten kine to a Brahmana learned in the Vedas poor in earthly riches, possessed of many children and owning a domestic fire, attains numerous regions of great happiness
- 17. When a man performs any meritori ous act assisted by what he has got in gift from another, he acquires a portion of that merit.
- 18 He who procreates a person, he who rescues a person and he who assigns the means of livelihood to a person, are considered as the three failters.
 - 19 Services dutifully done to the preceptor destroys sin Pride destroys even great fame. I he possession of three chil dren removes the reproach of childlessness, and the possession of ten kine removes the reproach of poverty.
 - 20—21. To one who is devoted to the Vedanta, who is gifted with great learning, who has been for the great learning who has been for ever his senses, who observes who has a supported by the senses, who observes who has withdrawn himself from all worldly attachments, to him who says agreeable words to all creatures, to him who would never do an evil act even when who suit actuated by hunger, to one who is mild or possessed of a peaceful disposition, to one that is hospitable to all guests—to such a Brahmana, should a man, possessed of similar conduct and having children and wires, assign the means of livelihood.

22 The ment of the gift of kine to a worthy person is exactly equal to the sin of robbing a Brahmana of what belongs to him. Under all circumstances anything belonging to a Brahmana should be avoided and his wives kept at a distance.

CHAPTER LXX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Bhishma said -

- 1 Regarding it, O perpetuater of Kuru race, is recited by the righteous the narrative of the great calamity that befell king Nigra on account of his taking what had belonged to a Brahmana.
- 2 Sometime before certain youths of Yudu's race, while searching for water, came to a large well covered with grass and creepers
- 3 Desrous of drawing water from it, they worked hard for removing the creepers that covered its mouth. After the mouth had been cleaned, they saw authin the well a very large lizard living within it. Flie youths made strong and repeated efforts for rescuing the lizard from that phight.
- 5. Resembling a very hill in size, the lizard was sought to be freed by cords and leathern tongs. Not succeeding in their attempts, the youths then went to Janard-dana
- 6 Addressing him they said —Covering the entire space of a well, there is a very large lizard to be seen. Despite our best efforts we have not succeeded in rescuing it from that plight. This was what they said to Krishna.
- Vasudeva then went there and took out the lizard and questioned it as who it was the lizard said that it was the soul of king Nriga who had flourished in days of yore and who had celebrated many sacrifices.
 - 8 To the lizard that said those words, Madhava spoke —

You had done many pious deeds. You committed no sin. Why then, O king, have you come by such a distressful end? Do you explain what is this and why has it been caused?

- 9 We have neard that you did repeatedly make gifts to the Brahmanas numberable kme Why, therefore, have you come by this end
- 10. Nriga then replied to Krishna, saying,—On one occasion a cow belonging to a Brahmana who regularly adored his domestic fire, escaping from the owner's house while he was absent from home, entered my flock.
- 11. The keepers of my cattle included that cow in their list of a thousand. In time that cow was given away by me to a Brahmana, wishing for happiness in
- 12. The true owner, returning home, sought for his lost cow and at last found it in the house of mother Finding her, the owner said,—1 his cow is mine—
- 13. The other person contested I is claim, till both, growing wroth came to me. Addressing me, one of them said —You gave this cow—The other one said —You have robbed me of this cow because she is
- 14. I then begged the Brahman to whom I had given that cow, to return the halt in exclasing for hundreds and hundreds of other kine. Without yielding to my extrest solicitations, he addressed me asyng,—the cow I have got is well suited to time and place. She gives produse milk, hesides being very quiet and very fond of us. The milk she gives is very sweet. She is lauded in my house.
- 16 She is no irishing, besides, a weak child of mine that has jist been born I cannot, therefore, part with her— Having said these words, the Brahmana went away.
- 17 I then begged the other Brahmana offering him an exchange, and saying,—Do you take a hundred thousand kine for this one cox.
- 18. The Brahmana, however, replied to me saying,—I do not accept gilts from Kshatriyas. I am able to support myself without aid. Do you then, florithwith, give me that very cow shich was mine. I hus, O slayer of Madhu, did that Brahmana speak to me.
- 10 I then offered to make gifts to him of go'd and silver and horses and cars. That foremost of Brahmanas refused to accept any of these gifts and departed.
- 30 Meanwhile, urged by Time's irresistible power, I had to depart from this world Going to the ergone of the departed manned I was taken before Yama thek og el the dead,

- 21 Adoring me duly, Yama addressed me saying, I he end cannot be determined, O king, of your righteous deeds.
- 22 There is, however, a little sin which was unconsciously committed by you. Do you suffer the punishment for that sin now or afterwards as you like.
- 23 You had sworn that you would protect (all persons in the enjoyment of the own). His oath of yours was not rigidly kept by you. You took also what belonged to a Brahmana. This has been the twofold sin you have perpetrated.
- 24 I answered, saying —I shall first suffer the distress of punishment, and when that is over, I shall enjoy the happiness that is the store for me, O lord!—After I had said these words to the king of the dead, I dropped down on the Earth.
 - 25 Though fallen down I still could hear the words that Yama said to me very loudly. Hose words were,—Janarddana the son of Vasudeva, will save you
 - 26. Upon the completion of a full thousand years, when your sin will be dissipated you shall then attain to many regions of unending happiness that have been acquired by you through your own pous deeds.
 - 2/ Killing down I found myself, with head downwards, within this well, changed into a creature of the intermediate order. Memory, however, did not leave me.
- 28. By you I have been saved to day. What else can it testify than the power of your penances? I et me have your permission, O Krisi na. I wish to ascend to the celestial region.
- 29 Permitted then by Krishna, king Neiga bowed his head to him and then mounted a celestial car and went to licayen.
- 30. After Nriga had thus proceeded to the celestial region, O best of the Bharstas, Vasudeva [recited this Verse, O del ghter,of the Kurus.
- 31. No one should knowingly misappropriate anything belonging to a Brahmana. The property of a Brahmana, if taken, detroys the taker even as the Brahmana's cow destroyed king Niga!
- 32. I tell you, again, O Partha, that a meeting with the good never proves furtilebee, king Ninga was rescued from Hell through a meeting of his with one that is good.
- 33 As a gift yields ment, so an act of spoliation brings on to dement. Hence also, O Yuchishlina, one should avaid dong any injury to kine.

CHAPTER LXXL

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued.

Yudhishthira said :-

 O sinless one, do you describe to me more fully the ments of making gifts of kine O you of mighty arms, I am never satiated with your words.

Bhishma said -

Regarding it is cited the old discourse between the Rishi Uddalaki and Nachi-

- Once on a time the Rishi Uddalaki, gifted with great intelligence, approaching his son Nachiketa, said to him,-Da you wait upon and serve me --
- 4-5. Upon the completion of the vow he had observed, the great Rish once more said to his son,-Engaged in performing my ablutions and deeply busy with my Vedic study. I have forgotten to bring with me the fire-wood, the Kusha blades, the flowers, he water jar, and the potherbs I had colected Bring me those things from the iver bank.

The son went there but found all the itticles washed away by the current urning to his father, he said -"I do not ce the things "

- 7. Stricken as he then was by hunger, hirst, and fatigue, the Rishi Uddalaki of treat ascetic merit, in a sudden anger orsed his son, saying,-meet with Yama
- 8 "Thus struck by his father with the hunder of his speech, the son, with joined hands said -" Be pleased with me -Soon, nowever, he dropped down on the earth
- Seeing Nachiketa prostrated upon the earth, his father became senseless with grief He, too, exclaiming -Alas, what have I done !- dropped down on the earth,
- to. Filled with grief as he bewailed for his son, the rest of that day passed away and night came
- 11. Then Nachiketa, O son of Kuru's race, drenched by the tears of his father, showed signs of returning life as he lay on a mat of Kusha grass His regaining of life under the tears of his father resembled the sprouting forth of seeds when drenched with good showers.
- The son, just restored to life, was still weak. His body was smeared with scents and he looked like one just awaking from a deep sleep. The Rish asked him, saying -]

- Have you, O son, acquired auspicious regions by your own deeds? By good luck, you have been restored to me. body does not seem to be human.
- 14. Thus asked by his great father, Nachiketa who had seen every thing with his own eyes, answered thus in the midst of the Rishis --
- In obedience to your command I proceeded to the vast region of Yama which is possessed of a charming effulgence. There I saw a palatial mansion which extended for thousands of Yojanas and emitted a golden splendour on every part.
- As soon as Yama saw me approach. ing with face towards him, he ordered his attendants, saying,-Give him a good seat. -Indeed the king of the dead, for your sake, adored me will the Arghya and other ingredients.
- 17. Thus adored by Yama and seated in the midst of his counsellors, I then asked him mildly,-I have come to your house, O judge of the dead. Do you assign me those regions which I deserve for my
- 18 Yar's then arswered me, saying,-You are not dead, O amiable one, Gifted with penances, your father said to thee-Meet with Yama - The energy of your father is like that of a burning fire. I could not possibly falsify that speech of
- ig You have seen me. Do you go hence, O child The author of your body is bewailing for you You are my dear What wish of yours shall I fulfill ? Solicit the fruition of whatever desire you may have.
- Thus addressed by him, I replied to the king of the dead saying -I have arrived will in your territory from which no traveller ever returns If I am worthy of your attentions, I wish, O king of the dead. to see those regions of great prosperity and happiness that I are been reserved for doers of virtuous deeds
- Thus addressed by me, Yama made me mount a vehicle effulgent as the Sun and to which were yoked many excellent Taking me on that car, he showed me, O foremost of twice born ones, all those charming regions that are teserved for the pioss.
- I saw in those regions many effulgent palaces intended for great persons. Those mansions are of various forms and
- are adorned with every kind of gems Bright as the lunar disc, they are grammented with rows of tinkling bells,

Hundreds among them are many storied. Within them are charming groves and gardens and transparent pools of water.

- 24 Effulgent like laps lastili and the Sun, and made of silver and gold, their color resembles that of the morning Sun Some of them are fixed and some movable.
- 25 Within them are many hills of foods any enjoyable articles, and dresses and beds in abundance. Within them are many tress capable of granting the fruition of every desire.
- 26 There are also many rivers and roads and spacious halls and lakes and large tanks I housands of cars with rattling wheels may be seen there, having excellent horses oked to them
- 27 Many rivers of milk, many hills of clarified butter and large pieces of transparent water are there. Indeed, I saw many such regions, never seen by me before, of happiness and joy, approved by the kinr of the dead.
- 28 Seeing all those objects, I addressed the ancient and powerful judge of the dead, saying—For whose use and enjoyment have these rivers with eternal currents of milk and clarified butter been ordained?

Yama said -

- 29 These rivers of milk and clarified butter are for the enjoyment of those pious persons who make gitts in the world of men. Other eternal worlds there are which are filled with such palaces free from every sort of sorrow. These are reserved for those persons who make gitt of kine.
- 30. The mere gift of kine is not lau dable. There are considerations of finess or otherwise about the person to whom kine should be given the time for making those gifts the kind of kine and the rites that should be observed in making the gifts about the observed in making the gifts of kine should be made after knowing the qualifications of betti Pathwana and the qualifications of betti Pathwana and the given to one of when the given to one of when the given to one of when the given to suffer from fire or the sum.
- 31. That Brahmana, who is endued with Vedic learning, who is of austere penances, and who celebrates sucrifices is c nudered as worthy of receiving kine in gift. Those kine witch have been saved from distressful poor floutieholders from where the poor floutieholders from whether the poor floutieholders from the poor floutieholders from a for the first penancy counted as of great value.
- 32 Abstaining from all food and subsisting upon water alone for three nights and sleeping the while on the naked earth, one should, having properly led the kine

- intended to be given away, give them to Brahmanas after having pleased them also (with other gifts).
- 33 The lune, given away, should be econpanied by their calves. They should, again, be such as to bring forth good, calves at the proper seasons. They should be accomplised with other articles. Haveing completed the gift, the giver should live, for three days on only milk and abstanna,
- from food of every oiler kind.

 34 He, who gives a good cow that brings forth good calves at proper time, and that does not fly away from the owner's house, and accompanies such gifts with a vessel of white brass for miking here, enjoys the diwine happiness for as many years as are measured by the number of hard on the animal's body. He who gives a built on a Brahmann, that is well-broken after the properties of the state of the s

35-36 He is considered as a proper person for receiving a cow in gift who is known to be mild towards kine, who takes kine for his refuge, who is grateful and who has no means of livelihood assigned When an old man becomes ill or when a famine takes place or when a Brahmana intends to celebrate a sacrific", or when one wishes to till for agriculture, or when one gets a son through the efficacy of a Homa performed for the purpose, or for the use of one's preceptor, or for the sustenance of a child, one should give away a loved cow. These are the considerations that are spoken highly of about place and time. The kine worthy of being given away are those that give profuse milk, or those which are well-known, or those that have been purchased for a price, or those that have been acquired as honoraria for learning, or those that have been obtained in exchange by offering other living creatures, or those that have been got by prowers of arms, or those that have been got as marriage dower.

Nachiketa said :-

- 37. Herring these words of Vaivaswifathe Regent of the dead, I once more addressed him, saying,—What are those objects by giving which, when kine cannot be had, givers may yet go to regions reserved for men making gifts of kine.
- 13. Accosted by me, the wise Vama answered, explaining further what the end is which one wins by making gifts of kine. He said,—In the absence of kine, a person by making gifts of the substitute of kine, acquires the merit of making gifts of kine.

- 39 If m the absence of kine, one makes a git of a cow made of clanfied butter, observant of a vow the white, one gets for one's use these rivers of clarified butter all of which approach one like an affectionate mother approaching her loved child.
- 40. If, in the absence of even a cow, made of clarified butter, one makes a gift of a cow made of sesame seeds, observing a vow the while, one succeeds with the help of that cow to get over all calamittes in this would and to enjoy great happiness here after from these rivers of milk that you see
- 40. If a cow made of sesame seeds, is not available, one makes a gift of a cow made of water, he succeeds in coming to these happy regions and enjoying this river of cool and transparent water, that can grant the fruition of every desire
- 42 The king of the dead explained to the all this while I was his guest, and O you of unlading glory, areat was the joy that I felt on seeing all the wonders he showed me.
- 43. I shall now tell you what would certainly be agreeable to you. I have now got a great secribee whose performance does not require much rechies I hat sacrifice may be said to originate from me, O sire. Others will obtain it also. It is not quite of a piece with the ordinances of the Vedas.
- 44. The curse that you had imprecated on me was no curse but was in sooth a blessing, ance it enabled me to see the great king of the dead. There I have see what the rewards are of gifts. I shall binneforth, O you of great sool, pract the duty of gift without any doubt about its rewards.
- 45. And, O great Rish, the righteous Vama, filled with joy, repeatedly tol Line One who, by making repeated gifts has succeeded in acquiring purity of mind should then make gifts of kine in particular,
- 46 This aubject is fraught with sancity Do you never disregard the duties of gifts. Gifts, again, should be made to worthy persons, when time and place are suitable to you therefore, always make gifts of time. Never entertain any doubt about it.
- 47. Devoted to the path of gifts formerly many great persons used to make Lits of kine. Fearing to practise austere penances, they made gifts according to their power.
- 48 In time they shook off all sentiments of pride and vanity, and purified their souls. Buggged in performing Shraddhas in honor of the departed manes and in all rel gious

- acts of righteoniness, they used to make, according to their power, gifts of kine, and as the reward of those acts they have attained to the celestral region and are shinting in effigence for such virtue.
- 49 One should, on the eighth day of the moon that is known by the name of Kamyashtami, make gifts of kine, properly got, to the Brahmanas, after determining the fitness of the recipients. After making the gift, one should then live for ten days to either upon only the milk of kine, their dung and their urine.
- 50 The ment that one acquires by making a gift of a bull is equal to that of the divine cow. By making a gift of a couple of kine one gains, as the reward thereof, a mastery of the Vedas. By making a gift of cars and webnels with kine joked thereto, one wins the ment of baths in sacred waters. By making a gift of a cow of the Kapila kind, one becomes purities.
- 51. Indeed by giving away even a single cow of the Kapila kind that has been acquired by fair means, one becomes purged of all his sins. There is nollining higher than the misk which is given by kine. The gift of a cow is truly considered as a very superior gift.
- 52 Kine, by giving milk, rescue all the worl is from calamity. It is kine, agriu, that produce the food upon which creatures five. One who, knowing the extent of the service that kine do, does not entertain in his heart love for kine, is a sumer who is sure to sink in Hell.
- 53 If one gives a thousand or a hundred or ten or five kine, indeed, if one gives to a plo is. Bral mana even a single cow which brings, forth poof calves a proper seasons, let's sire to see that cow approach him in Heaven in the form of a river of sacred water expable of grinting the finition of every desire.
- 51. About prosperity and the growth that kine confier, in the matter also of the protection that kine grant to all treatures of the Larth, kine are equal to the very rays of the Sun that fail on the Barth. The word that segmines the cow means also the very large progeny inhabiting a targe part of the Earth. Hence, it wing rives a cow abuses like a second Sun in effulgence
- 55. The disciple should in the matter of making gifts of kine, select his preceptor. Such a disciple is sure to go to Heaven everytime. The selection of a preceptor is considered as a high duty by persons knowing the ordinances. This is, andeed, the initial ordinance. All other ordinances de-

- 56. Selecting, after examination, a fit person among the Brahmans, one should make to him the gift of a cow that has been acquired by fair means, and having made the gift make him accept it. Hie detters and ourselves 1400, in wishing good to others, say,—Let the merits of gifts be yours on account of your writte?
- 57. Thus did the judge of the dead speak to me, O twice born Rishi. I then bowed my head to the righteous Yama. Getting his permission I left his kingdom and have now come to the sole of your feet.

CHAPTER LXXII.

' (ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) — Continued,

Yudhishthira said :-

- t. You have, O grandfather, describe to me the topic of gilts of kine in speaking of the Risl i Nacluketa. You have also, related O powerful one, the efficacy and pre-eminence of that act.
- You have also told me, O grandlather, of great intelligence, the exceedingly painful character of the misfortune that befell the great king Nriga on account of a single transgression of his.
- 3 He had to live for a long time at Dwaravati (in the form of a mighty lizard) and how Krishna became the instrument of his rescue from that miserable condition.
- 4 I have, however, one doubt. About the regions of kine I wish to hear particularly about those regions which are reserved for the residence of persons who make gifts of kine.

Bhishma said -

5. Regarding it is cited the old discourse between Him who sprang from the primeval lotus and him who performed a hundred sacrifices.

Shakra said :--

- 6 I see, O grandfather, that those who here in the region of kine transcend by their effulgence the prosperity of the celestral dwellers and pass them by. This has created a doubt in my mind
- 7. Of what kind, O holy one, are the regions of kine? Tell me all about them, O sinless one. Indeed, what is the nature

- of those regions that are inhabited by givers of kine? I wish to know this.
- 8. Of what kind are those regions? What fruits do they yield? What is the highest object there which the inhab tants thereof succeed in acquiring? What are its virtues. How also do men, shorn of anxiety, succeed in going to those regions?
- 9 For what period does the giver of a cow enjoy the fruits of his gift? How may persons make gifts of many kine and how may they make gifts of a few kine?
- 10 What are the merits of the gifts of many kine and what those of the gifts of a few only. How also do persons become givers of kine without really giving any kine? Do you tell the all this.
- II. How does one making gifts of even many kine. O powerful lord, become the equal of one who has made gifts of only a few kine? How also does one who has made gifts of only a few kine equal one who has made gifts of many kine?
- 12 What kind of present is considered as distinguished for pre-eminence in the matter of gifts of kine? You should O holy one, describe to me all this according to truth.

CHAPTER LXXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

The grandfather said :--

 The questions you have put to me about kine, beginning with their gift, are such that there is none else in the three worlds. O you of a hundred sacrifices, who could put them.

- 2. There are many kinds of regions, O Shakra, which are invisible to even you Those regions are seen by me, O Indra, as also by those women who are chaste and who have been devoted to only one husband.
- 3 Rishin observe excellent yows, by means of their deeds of virtue and piety and Brahmanas of righteous souls, succeed in going there in even their human bodies.
- 4 Men who perform excellent worst see those regions which resemble the bright creations of dreams helped by their purified minds and by that (temporary) liberation which succeeds the loss of one's consciousness of body.

- 5. O you of a thousand eyes, their me as I tell you what the attributes are of those regions. There the very course of time is stopped. Decreptude is not there, for Fire which is compresent in the unverse. There is slightest transgression does not take place, nor disease, nor weakness of any sort.
- 6 The kine which live there, O Vasava, acquire the fruition of every desire which they cherish in their hearts. I have direct experience of what I say to you
- 7 Capable of going everywhere at will and actually going from place to place with ease, they enjoy the fruition of desire after desire as it arries in their minds. I alees, tanks, rivers, forcests of diverse kinds manssons, little and all kinds of delightful manssons, this and all kinds of control to a possible of these of with ch. I speak.
- 9 All those foremost of men, O Shakra, who are forewing to all creatures, who redure everything, who are full of love for all things who render dutful obedience to their preceptors, and who are freed from pride and vanity, go to those regions of
- supreme happiness. 10-11 He who abstains from every kind of flesh, who is possessed of a pure heart who is gifted with righteourness, who worships his parents with respect, who is endued with truthfulness of speech and conduct, who attends with obedience upon it e Brahmanas, who is faultless in conduct. who never behaves with anger towards kine and towards the Brahmanas, who performs every duty, who serves I is preceptors with reverence, who is devoted for his whole life to truth and to gilts, and who is always forgiving towards all transgressions against hunself, who is mild and self controlled, whois full of respect for the celestrals, who is hospitable to all guests who is gifted with mercy,---indeed, he who is adorned with il ese attributes,-succeeds in attaining to the eternal region of kine
- 13-11. He who is sullied with adultery, acre not such a region 1 nor he who is a destroyer of list preceptor, is r he who as a destroyer of list preceptor, is r he who as peaks falsely or indulyes in sile a runter, nor he who always disputes with others, nor he who acts with resting thorards ric Brail mannas. Indeed, that we cke I man who is sullied with such faults crunit even see these regions of hypomess, nor le who is godelad to the sullied with sort of the sullied with sort of his properties. In crunitary to the lines is godelad to the sullied with sort of hypomess, nor le who is a disease for indeed, nor le who is a disease of Brahm mass.

- the region of kine that is the abode of only the pious.
- 15 I have told you every thing particularly about the regions of kine, O king of the celestrals Hear now, O you of a hundred sacrifices, the ment of persons who are engaged in making glits of kine.
- 16 He who makes gifts of kine, after purchasing them with money obtained by inheritence or acquired by fair means, attains, as the fruit of such an act, to many regions of endless happiness
- 17 He who makes a gift of a cow, having acquired it with money, won at dice, enjoys happiness, O Shakra, for ten thousand celestial years
- 18 He who acquires a cow as his share of ancestral riches is said to acquire her legitimately. Such a cow may be given away, they who make gits of kine so acquired, obtain innumerable endless regions of eternal happiness.
- 19 That person who having arquired a cowing fit makes a gift of her with a pure heart, succeeds, forsonth, O lord of Sachi, in obtaining eternal regions of beatitude
- 20 That person who will controlled senses speaks the truth from his birth and who endures everything at the bands of his preceptor and of the Brabinanas and who practises forgiveness, gairs an end that is equal to that of kine.
- 21. Improper words O lord of Sachi, should never be addressed to a Brahmana. One again should not, in even life sining, do in injury to a cow. One, should in his conduct, initiate the cow, and show in-rey towards the cow.
- 22 Hear, O Shakra of the fruits which truthful persons enjoy. If such a person tites away a single cow, that one cow becomes a thousand-fold.
- 23 If a Kshattra endued with such qualifications, makes a gitt of a single cow, his ment equils that of a Brahmana's. Hist single cow, histon, O Shikea, which would be such a Kshattray a given away produces as much usern a rich say, le cow that a Brahman given sawy dies mude single crucianstances. This is the issue of the acriptores.
- 24 If a Vassiya, endued with sim lar accomplishments, were to make a git of a single cow that cow would equal five hundred kine. If a 31 uf ar endued with humbity were to make a git of a cow, such cow would be equal to a hundred and twenty-five kine.
- 25. Given to penances and truth, versed in acceptures through a datiful services done to his preceptor, gifted with forgiving nature, engaged in the adoration of the detiret, possepsed of a trat quil soul, pure, enligh tend, observant of all duties, and freed from every sort of egotism, that man who makes a gift of a cow to a Brahmuna, for-sooth, acquires great merit through that act of his, ws. the gift, according to proper rites, of a cow giving profuse milk. Hence, one, with singleness of devotion, observant of the control of the contro

- 27 Hear, O Shakra, what the merit is of that person who, duly studying the Vedas, shows respect for kine, who always becomes that on seeing kine and who since his birth always bows his head to kine,
- 28 The ment which one wins by celebrating the Rajisuya sarrifice the ment that one acquires by inaking gifts of heaps of geld, that high ment is acquired by a pers in who shows such respect for kine. Virtuous Rishis and great persons crowned with suctess have said so.
- 29 Given to truth, possessed of a tranqui soul, free from cupolity, alway a truthtul in speech, and behaving with tespect towards kine with the steadness of a vow, the min who for a whole year, before himself taking any food, regularly presents some food to kine, acquires the merit, by such an act, of the gift of a thousand kine.
- 30. That man who takes only one meal a day and who gives away the entire quantity of his other meal to kine,—that man, who thus respects kine with the steadmess of a vow and shows such mercy thward, them—enjips for ten years unlimited happiness.
- 31. That man who takes himself only one meal a day and with the other may have for some time purchases a cow and nakes a hit of it, acquirers, through that gift, O you of a hundred sacrifices, the eternal merit of the gift of as many kine as there are hairs on the body of that single cow so juven away.
- 32 There are sayings about the meris that Brahmans acquire by making gift of kire. Litten now to the meris that Kshatiyas may againer It have been said that it Kshatiyas may againer it for the about this making agift of it to a Brahmans are maning agift of it to a Brahmans are many agained in the about the saying a state of the parts. A Vanhya hay happines for five years A Vanhya how merit of a Kshatiya, by such conduct, wins half the ineut that a Vanhya does and gives them away to Brahmanas, enjoys happiness in Heaven for as long a period as kine are seen on Earth.
- "33 that man who sells I meelf and such re with the proceeds thereof purchases kine of gift.

- 33-35. It has been and, O highly bleased one, that a region of earnal higheress exists in every har of such kine as are purchased with the proceeds obtained by selling oneself. That man who having acquired kine by battle makes gifts of them, acquires as much mera as he who makes gifts of kine after having bought the same with the proceeds of selling oneself. That man who, it the absence of kine, makes a grant of the control of the contro
- 36 The mere gift of kine is not fruight with mert. The considerations of worthy recipients, of time, of the kind of kine and of the ritual to be observed should be seen. One should also fine the making a gift of kine. One should also the distinction of platfield time of the distinction of platfield time of the distinction of the platfield time themselves there should not be given time themselves ouse they are likely to suffer from fire of the sun.
- 37 One who is rich in Vedic Isaronic, who is of pure birth, who is gifted with a tranqui soul, who is given to the celebration of sacrifices, who fears the perpetration of sin who is gifted with varied knowledge, who is compassioniste towards kine who is considered as a profession of the state of the s
- 38. To a Brahmana who has no means of livelihood, to him while he is want of lost for purposes of agriculture, for a child born on account of Homa for the purposes of precept it, for the sustenained and anith born should a cut whe given before time and the group of the made at a proper time and ma
- 19 Tiote kine, O Shakra, whose dispositions are well known, which have been won as honoraria for kinedide, or which have been bought in oxiciance for other animals (such as gotta disposers of normal which have been pool but allowers of normal obtained as marriage of the control of the contr

- 40. Those kine which are strong of body, which have good dispositions, and which emit a sweet fragrance, are highly spoken of in the matter of gifts. As G4 ga is the foremost of all rivers, so is a Kapila the foremost of all kine.
- 41. Abstaining from all food and subsisting only upon water for three nights, and aleeping for the same time upon the naked earth, one should make gits of kine to Brahmanas after having pleased them with other presents. Such kine, freed from every vice should, at the same time, be accompanied by healthy calves. Having made the gift, the giver should live for the next three days successively fon food constitution of the products of the cow.
- 42 By giving away a good natured cow, that quietly allows herself to be milked, that always brings forth Irving and healthy calves and that does not fly away from the owner's louse, the giver enjoys happines in the next world for as many years as there are luars on her body
- 43 Islewise, by giving to a Brahman a bull that is capable of carrying heavy loads, that is young and strong and quiet, that quelly bears the yoke of the plong and that is possessed of such anergy as is sufficient to undergo even great fabour, on acquires such regions as are his who gives away ten kine.
- 44. That person who rescues kine and Brahmanas in the lorest, O Raushika, is himself rescued from every sort of danger. Hear what his ment is.
- 45 The merit such a man wins is equal to the eternal merit of a Horse-sacrifice Such a person acquires whatever end he desires at the hour of death.
- 46. For such an act a man acquires many a region of happiness,—in fact, whatever happiness he seeks in his heart.
- 47. Indeed, such a man permitted by kines, hees honoured in every region of every day in the forest with this intention, himself living the while on grass and cowdung and leaves of trees, his heat freed from exery improper object, and his mind from exery improper object, and his mind of the controlled secretics, lives happily freed from the controlled of the controlled secretics, lives happily freed from the control of dexire in my region or in any other region of happiness that he wishes, in the company of the celestials.

CHAPTER LXXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).—

Indra said :--

1 I desire to know, O Grandfather, what the end is of his who consciously steals a cow or who sells one from motives of cupidity

The Grandfather said -

- 2 Hear of the consequences that befall those persons who steal a cow for killing her for food or selling her for money, or making a gift of her to a Brahmana
- 3 He who, without being governed by the restraints of the Scriptures, sells a cow, or kills one, or eats the firsth of a cow, or they who, for the sake of money, allow a person to kill kine,—all these, even, he that kills, he that eats, and he that allows the destruction,—rot in helf for as many years as there are hairs on the body of the cow so killed.
- 5 O you of great power, those sins and those kinds of faults that have been said to attach to one which obstructs a Brahmana's sacrifice, are said to attach to the sale and the theft of kine.
- 6 That men who having stolen a cew makes a gift of her to a Brahmana, enjoys happiness in Heaven as the reward of the gift but suffers misery in Hell for the sim of their for the same period.
- 7. Gold has been said to form the present, O you of great splendour, in gifts of kine. Indeed, gold has been said to be ; the best present in all sacrifices.
- 8 By making a gift of kine one is said to rescue his ancestors to seventh degree as also his descendants to the seventh degree. By giving away kine with the presents of gold, one rescues his ancestors and descendants of double the number.
- of the gift of gold is the best of gifts. Gold is, again, the best present Gold is a great purifier, O Shakra and is, indeed, the best of all purifying objects.
- 10 O you of a hundred secrifices, gold has been said to be the purifier of it is entire family of him who gives it away. I have it is O you of great splendour, told you in brief of Dakhsina.

Bhishma said:—

11 If his was said by the Grandfather to India, O chief of Bhitata's race India delivered it to Disharatha, and Dasharatha in his turn to his 500 Rama.

- 12. Rama of Raghu's race gave it to his dear and illustrious brother Lakshmana. While living in the forest, Lakshmana imparted it to the Rishis.
- 13. It has then described from generation to generation, for the Rishis of rigid wows held it amongst themselves as also the pious kings of the Earth
 - 14. My preceptor, O Yudhishthra, communicated it to me. That Brahmana who recites it every day in the conclaves of Brahmanas in sucrifices, or at gits of kine, or when two persons meet together, acquires hereafter many regions of unequing happiness where he always lives with the celestials as his companions.
 - 16 The holy Brahman, the supreme Lord, had said so.

CHAPTER LXXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued,

Yudhishthira said -

- I have been greatly assured, O you of power, by you thus discoursing to me of duties. I shall, however, express the doubts I have. Explain them to me, O grandfather.
- 2 What are the fruits, described in the scriptures, of the vows that men observe Of what nature are the fruits. O you of great splendour, of observances of other kinds? What, again, are the fruits of one's Vedic studies.
- 3 What are the fruits of gifts, and what those of keeping the Vedas in memory? What are the fruits of teaching the Vedas? I wish to know all this.
- 4. What, O grandfatler, are the merits of the non-acceptance of gifts in this world. What fruits does one enjoy who makes gifts of knowledge?
- 5 What ments do persons enjoy who perform the duties of their order, as also do heroes who do not retreat from the battle field. What are the fruits of the observance of punity and of the practice of Brahmacharya?
- 6. What are the merits of serving the parents What also are the merits of serving preceptors and teachers, and what the merits of mercy and kindness?
- 7. I wish to know all this, O grandfather, in sooth and in particular, O you, who are conversant with all the scriptures Great is my curiosity.

- Bhishma said .-
- 8 He enjoys eternal regions of happiness, who, having properly commenced at Vrata (vow) completes its observance according to the scriptures
 - 9 The fruits of restraints, O king, are visible even in this world. These rewards that you have acquired are those of Niyamas and sacrifices.
 - to The fruits of the Vedic studies are seen both in this world and the next. The person who is given to the study of the Vedas is seen to sport happily both in this world and in the region of Brahma
 - tI Listen now to me, O king, as I tell you in detail what the fruits are of self-control like self-controlled are happy everywhere. The self-controlled always enjoy that happiness which results from the absence or subjugation of desire.
 - 12 The self-controlled can go everywhere at will The self-controlled can destroy every enemy Forsooth, the selfcontrolled succeed in getting everything they seek.
 - 13 The self controlled, O son of Pandu, obtain the fruition of every desire. The self-controlled and the forgrung share the happiness that men eth y in Heaven through penances and provess, (in arms), through guit, and through various sacrifices,
 - 14 Self-control is more mentorous than git A giver, after making a gift to the Brahmanas, may seld to the i-influence of anger A self controlled man, however, never sives way to anger Hence self control is superior to gift I hat man who makes gifts without yielding to anger, sue-ceds in acquiring eternal regions of happi-
 - 16 Anger destroys the ment of a gift. Hence self control is superior to gift
 - 17 There are ten thousand invisible places O monarch, in Heaven Frishing in all the regions of Heaven these places belong to the Rishis Persons, leaving this world attain to them and become changed into deities.
 - 18 O king, the great Rishis repair there, helped only by their sell control, and as the end of their efforts to attain to a region of superior happiness, Hence, selfcontrol is superior to gift.
 - 19 The person who becomes a preceptor, and who duly adores the fire taking leave of all his inseries in this world, enjoys endless happiness, O king, in the region of Brahma.

- 20. That man who, having himself read the Vedas imparts a knowledge thereof to righteous disciples and who praises the acts of his own preceptor, acquires great honors in Heaven
- 21 That Kshatriya whe is given to the studies of the Vedas to the celebration of sacrifices to the making of gitts, and who rescues the lives of others in barde, similar by acquires great honors in Heaten.
- 22. The Vaishya who, observes the duties of his caste, makes gifts, reaps as the front of those gifts, a crowning reward the Shudra who duly observes the duties of his order, acquires Heaven as the reward of such services
- 23 Various kinds of heroes have been spoken of Listen to me as I explain to you what the rewards are that they attain to. The rewards are fixed of a hero belonging to a heroic race
- 24 There are heroes of sacrifice, heroes of self-control, heroes of truth and others equally entitled to to the name of hero There are heroes of battle, and heroes of git or liberality among men.
- 25. There are many persons who may be called the heroes of the Sankhya fanh, there are many others that are called heroes of Yoga. There are others who are considered as heroes in the forest-life, of domesticity, and of renunciation.
- 26 Likewise, there are others who are called heroes of the intellect, and also beroes of forgiveness. There are other men who live in tranquility and who are considered as heroes of virtue.
- 27 There are various other kinds of heroes who practise various other kinds of vows and observances. There are heroes given to the study of the Vedas and heroes devoted to the teaching of the same.
- 28. There are, again, men who come to be regarded as heroes for the devotion with which they wan upon and serve their preceptors, as indeed, heroes in respect of the respect they show for their fathers. Heroes in obedience to mothers, and leroes in the life of mendicancy they lead
- 29 There are heroes in the matter of hospitality to suests, whether living as herinits or as house holders. All these lenes attain to very superior regions of happiness which are, of course, acquired by them as the rewards of their own deeds.
- "30 Reeping all the Vedas in memory or ablutions performed in all the sacred waters, may or may not be equal to telling the leuth every day in one's life.

- 31. A thousand Horse sacrifices and fruth were once weighed in the balance, It was seen that I ruth weighed heavier than a thousand Horse-sacrifices.
- 32 It is by I ruth that the Sun is giving heat, it is by I ruth that fire burns ing it is by I ruth that the winds blow, I ideed, everything rests upon I ruth.
- 33 It is fruth that pleases the deities, the departed manes, and the Brahmanas. fruth has been said to be the highest duty Therefore, no one should ever transgress Truth.
- 34 The Munis are all given to Truth, their prowess depends upon Truth. They also swear by Iruth. Hence Iruth is pre-eminent. All truthful men, O chief of Bharata's race, succeed by their truthfulness in acquiring Heaven and sporting there in happiness.
- 35 Self-control is the attainment of the reward that attaches to Fruth. I have described it with my whole heart. The man of humble heart who is endued with self-control, forsooth, acquires great finners in Heaven.
- 35-37. Listen now to me, O king as I explain to you the merits of Brahma-charyya. Fliat man who practises the you of Brahmacharyya from his Dirith to the time of his Death, know, O king, has nothing unattainable! Many millions of Risbus are living in the region of Brahmag,
- 38-49 All of them, while here, we're given to Iruth, and self control, and fad their vital seed drawn up. Ihe wow of Enhancalensya, O king, duly observed by a Brahmana, is sure to dissipate all his or a self-control of the control of the control
- 40 If a Brahmcharin gives way to anger on account of any slight, the chief of the desires himself irembles in fear. This is the visible fruit of the vow of Brahmacharyja that is observed by the Rishis.
- 41-42 Listen to me, O Yudinshthra, what the ment is of the worship of the failter and the mether. He who dutifully serves his faither without ever provoking him, in mything or similarly serves. In similarly of elderly brother or other sensor or preceptor, it is both be known, O king, acquires a residence in Heaven. The man of purified soul, on account of such service done to his seniors, has never to even see Hell.

MANABIARATA. .

168

CHAPTER I XXVI. (ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) — Continued.

Yndhishthira said :--

t. I wish, O king, to hear you discourse in detail upon those high ordinances which regulate gifts of kine, for it is by making gifts (of kine) according to those ordinances that one acquires innumerable regions of eternal liappiness

Bhishma said:—

- there is no glit, O king, that is tighter in point of merit than the gift of kine. A cow, lawfully acquired, if given tway, immediately rescues the entire family of the giver.
- 3. That ritual which sprang for the benefit of the poots, was subsequently declared for the sake of all creatures. I hat ritual has come dawn from primeral latter, it is usted even before it was declared. Inteleded, O king, listen to me as I rectile to you that ritual which affects the gift of king.
- 4. Formerly, when a number of kine was brought (before him), king Mandhatri, filled with doubt about the ritual he should observe, properly questioned Vrihaspati Tor my explanation of that doubt.

Vrihaspati said:--

- 5 Duly observing restraints all the while, the giver of kine should, on the previous day, properly boing the Brahmanas and appoint the time of gift. As for the kine to be given away, they should be of the class called Robins.
- 6. The kive also should be addressed with the words—Samange and Valule—Entering the fold where the kine are kept, the following Shrutis should be uttered—
- 7. The cow is my matter. The hull is my father. (Give me) Heaven and Earthly prosperity. The cow is my refuge—Entering the fold and acting thus, the giver should pass the night there. He should again utter the formula when actually giving away the kine.
- The giver, thus living with the kine in the fold without doing anything to cortrol their freedom, and I jing down on the naked earth, becomes readily cleansed of all lus sins on account of his bringing himself down to a condition of perfect similitude with the kine.
- 9 When the Sun rises in the morning, 3 ou should give away the cow, accompanied by ter call and a bull. As the reward of such a deed, you will surely attain to the celestial region. You will also enjoy the blessings shown by the Mantras

- to The Mantras contain these references to kine. Kine are gitted with strength and energetic exertion. Kine are also wise They are the root of that immortality which ascrifice yields. They are the root of all energy. They are the steps by which earliby prosperity is gained. They are the eternal course of the universe. They multiply one's race.
- 11. Let the kine dissipate my sins. They have in them the nature of both the Sun and the Moon. Let them help me in the attainment of the celestal region. Let them come to me, as a mother takes to let children. May I enjoy all other blessings which have not been named in the Mantra! I have uttered.
- 12 For allevating or curing phthase and other wasting diseases, and for achieving freedom from the body, if a person taket the help of the five products of the cow, keet confer blessings upon the person like the river Sarawati—We king, ye are always with me, do ye assign a desirable end for me.
- 13 I have to-day become what ye are. By giving you away, I really give my sell away.—Ye do not belong to him who gives you away. We have now become mine. Possessed of the nature of both the Sin and the Moon, do ye cause both the given and, the receiver to shine with all kinds of prosperity.
- 14. The giver should duly inter the words found in the first part of the above Verse. The twoe born recipient, conversant with the ritual regulating the gift of kine, should, when receiving the kine in gift, inter the words found in the latter half of the above Verse.
- 15 The man who, instead of a cow, guest away the usual value thereof or cloids or gold, is considered as the guer of a cow. The guer, when graing a way the usual value of a cow, should utter the words,—This cow with face upturned is being guent away. Do you accept ther—The man who knees ways cloids whould latter the words—the should be readed to the company of the
- 16. These are the words that should be uttered according to the kind of gift mentioned above. The reward that was reaped by making gifts of kine is residence in the celestial region for six and thirty thousand

- Years, eight thousand years, and twenty thousand years respectively.
- t7. These are the merits, respectively, of gits of things as substitutes of kine While, about him who gives an actual cow all the merits that attach to gitts of kine become lifs at only the eighth step of the recipient.
- 18. He who gives an actual cow between given with nightness conduct in this world. He who gives the value of a cow becomes fived from every sort of fear. He who gives a cow never suffices from sorrow All fite three, as also they who regularly perform their ablations and other acts at early dawn, and he who is well known that he Mahabharata, it is well known attain to the regions of Wahna and Soma.
- 10 Having given away a cow, the giver blould, for three nights, adopt the vaccine tow, and pass one night with line. Beginning again from that lunation, numbering the eighth named kamya, he should pass three nights, living exclusively on milk and the urine and dung of the cow
- 20. By gring away a bull, one acquires the ment of Brahmacharyya By gring away two kine, one acquires the mastery of the Vedas I hat man who celebrates a sacrifice and makes gifts of kine according to the ritual laid down, attains to many great regions. These, however, are not stamable by the person who does not know that ritual
- 21. That man who gives away even a single cow, which gives profuse milk, ac quest the merit of giving away all desirable objects on Barth collected together. What more should be said of the gift of many such sine as give Havya and Kavya on account of their full udders? I he merit which belongs to the gift of superior ozen is greater than that of the gift of line.
- 22 One should not, by giving a knowledge of it is ritual, benefit a person when not it is disciple or who does not observe sows or who is sheefe of fastio or who is possessed of a crooked understanding indeed this religion is a mystery, which many people do not know. One who knows it should not speak of it zerrywish.
- 23 There are, in the world, many men who have no faith. Here are among men many persons who are mean and who resemble Rakshasar lin teligion, if given to them would lead to evil it would produce equal evil it given to such simful men as are atherets.
- 24 Listen to me, O king, as I recite to to you the names of those pous kings who I ty, lave attained to regions of great happiness | Sha as the reward of those gilts of kine which I full.

- they made according to the instructions of Virhaspati.
- 25. Ushinara, Vishwagashwa, Niiga, Bhakyatha, the celebrated Maudhari ethe son of Yuvanashwa, king Michukunda, Bheridyuman, Nashadha ho naka Puru-ravas, emperor Bharata to whose race belongs aif the Bharatas the heroce Rama tha son of Dasharatha and evry other celebrated kings of great deeds, and also king Dhipa of widely-known deeds all, on account of their gifts of kine according to the ritual, attained to Heaven. King Mandharit, was always observant of sacrifices, gifts, penances royal duties, and gifts of kine.
- 18 Therefore, O son of Pritha, do you also keep in mind, those instructions of Vritiaspati which I have recited to you. With the standard of the Kurus, do you, with a cheerful heart, make gits of good kine to foremost of Brahmanas.

Vaishampayana said:--

29. Thus addressed by Bhistima on the subject of properly making gifts of kine, king Yudhishthira did all that Bhistima desired Indeed, king Yudhishthira bore in mind the whole of that religion which the preceptor of the gods imparted to the Royal Mandhatri

- 30. Yudhishhira from that time began to always make gitiso lkine and to main-tain himsell with grans of barley and cowding as both his food and drink. The kind day no the naked earth and possessed of controlled sout and resembling a bull in conduct, he became the foremost of monarchs
- 31 The Kuru king from that day became very attentive to kine and always adored them, singing their praises. From that day, the king gave up the practice of yoking kine to his cars. Wherever I e had occasion to go he proceeded on cars. drawn by horses of good breed.

CHAPTER LXXVII.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA) ~ Continued.

Valshampayana said --

1. King Yudhishth ra gifted with imlty, once again asked the royal son of Shantanu on the subject of gdis of kine; full.

The king said :-

2 Do you, O Bharata, once more describe to me in full the ments of giving away kine. Indeed, O hero, I have not been satured with hearing your nectar-like words

Vaishampayana said .-

3 Hius accosted by king Yudhishthira the just, Shantanu's son began to describe to him once again, in full, the merits of the gift of kine.

Bhishma said --

- 4 By giving to a Brahmana a cow having a calf, gifted with docility and other virtues, young in years and covered round with a piece of cloth, one is purged of all his sins.
 - 5. There are many regions which have no sun. One who makes the gift of a cow has not to go there
 - 6 I hat man, however, who gives to a Brahmana a cow that cannot drink or eat, that has her milk dried up, that has weakened senses and that is diseased and overcome with decreptude, and that may, therefore, be compared to a tank whose who gives such a cow to a Brahmana and thereby ind cls only pain and disappointment upon him, has certainly to enter mild dark Hell.
 - 7 13-it cow which is wrathful and vicinity of the construction of vicinetad, or weak, or which has been brought with out the price agreed upon lawing been paid, or which would only ifflict the twice born recipient with distress, and disappe intenent, should never be given. To erections such a man may acquire would not give him any happiness or energy.
 - 8 Only such kine as are strong, gifted with good behaviour, young in years, and possessed of od our, are highly spoken of by all ludeed, as Ganga is the foremost of all rivers so is a hapita cow the foremost of all lines.

Yudhishthura said :-

9 Why O grandfather, do the righter cust lighty speak of the gift of a Kepila cow when all good kine that are given away should be considered as equal? O you of text power, I wish to lear what the speriously of a Kapila cow. You are 'red competent to discourse to me on this subject.

Bhishma said :--

10. I have, O son, heard old men recite that latery about the circumstancess under which the Kapila cow was created. I shall recite that old history to you,

- 11. Formerly the Self create Brahman commanded the Rishi Dakshin, saying,—Do you create living creature,—For doing good to creatures, Daksha, first of all created food.
- 12. As the deities live upon nectar, 50 all living creatures, O powerful one, live up in the food assigned by Daksha.
- 13 Among all objects mobile and immobile, the mobile are superior. Among mobile creatures, Bral manas are su erior. The sacrifices are all set upon them.
- 14 It is by sacrifice that Soma is godsacrifice has been fixed upon kine. The gods become pleased through sacrifices. The means of livelihood were created first, creatures came next. 14 As soon as creatures were born.
- they began to cry aloud for food All of them then approached their creator who was to give them food, like children approaching their parents
- 16 Approved of the desire of all his creatures, the holy lord of all creatures, to holy lord of all creatures, himself drank a quantity of nectar.
- 17. He became pleased with the nectarhe drank and thereupon an erocation came out, spreading an excellent odour all around That erocation, Dassha saw gave birth to 2 cow which he named Surabhi. This Surabhi was thus a daughter of his, that had come out of his mouth.
- 18. That cow called Surabhi gave birth to a number of daughters who became the mothers of the world. They were gold-hued, and were all Kapilas. They were the meat 9 of twelthood for all creatures.
- 19 As those kine, whose complexion resembled that of inectar, began to pour milk, the forth of that milk arose and began to spread on all sides as when the waves of a running river dashing against one anothersufficient froth is produced that spreads of all sides.
- 20 Some of that froth fell, from the mouths of the calves that were sucking, upon the head of Mahadeva who was the string on the Earth. The powerfor Malaideva thereupon, stricken with anger, locked at those kine.
- 21. With that third eye of his which adorns his forehead, he seemed to burn those kine as he exped them. Like the Sor here of here of the seemed to burn those kines have been the seemed to burn the seemed to here of here of the seemed to here of here of hashadeva produced, O hing, various complexions in those kine. Those amongst them, however, which succeeded in example from the looks of Mahadeva by entering the region of Soma, remained directions the second directions the region of Soma, remained directions the second directions the region of Soma, remained directions the second directions the region of Soma, remained directions the region of Soma directions the region of Soma the same color with which they were born, for no change was produced in their color. Seeing that Mahadeva had become highly wroth, Daksha, the lord of all creatures, addressed him, saying -You have, O great deity, been drenched with nectar. The milk or the froth that escapes from the mouths of calves sucking their dams is never considered as impure. The Moon, after drinking the nectar, pours it once more. It is not, therefore, regarded as impure.

25. Likewise, the milk that these kine give, being born of nectar, should not be considered as impure. The wind can never become impure Fire can fiever become impure Gold can hever become impure The Ocean can never become Impure

The Nectar, even when drunk by the gods, can never become impure. I ike. wise, the milk of a cow, even when her udders are sucked by her calf, can never become impure "These kine will support all these worlds with the milk they will give and the clarified butter that will be made from it

27. All creatures wish to enjoy the sacred wealth, at one with nectar, that kine possess - Having said these words, the lord of creatures Daksha made a present to M dindeva of a bull with certain kine, Daksha pleased Rudra, O Bharatas with that present Mahadeva thus please i, made that bull his career. And it was alter the form of that bull that Mahadeva adopted the emblem on the standard fluating on his battle car. Therefore it is that Rudra came to be known as the bull-bannered deity.

29 It was on that occasion also that the celestials, in a body, made Mahadeva the lord of animals. Indeed, the great Rudra became the Master of kine and is named as the bull-emblemed deny.

Hence, O king, the gift of kine is considered as primarily desirable of Kapila kine which are endued with great energy and possessed of unchanged colour.

31. Thus are kine the foremost of all creatures in the world. It is from them that thelfood of all the worlds has emanated, They have Rudea for their lord yield (nectar) in the form of mile. They are austricious and sacred, and grantors of every wish and givers of life A person by making a gift of a cow is considered as making a gift of every article that is to be enjayed by men.

33. That man who, wishing to acquire 5 Kine, are always feagrant. The per-prosperity, reads into a pure herri and body these Verses on the citim of kine, be-of their bodies. Kine are the great refuge comes purged of all his surs and acquires prosperity and children and wealth and animals.

He who makes a gift of a cow, Q king, always succeeds in winning the merits of gifts of Havya and Kavva, of the offer of phlations of water to the departed Manes of religious acts whose performance brings . peace and happiness of the gift of vehicles and cloths, and of cherishing of children and the old

Vaishampayana said :—

Hearing these words of his grands, father, Pritha's son, zis the royal Yu lhish. thira of Ajamida's" race tiniting with his brothers, began to make gifts of both bulls and kine of different colors to foremost of Beahmanas.

Indeed, for petting regions of felicity in the next, and acquiring great fame king Yudhishthira celebrated many sacrifices and as sacrificial presents, gave away fumdreds of thousands of kine to such Brahmanas

CHAPTER LXXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued "

Bhishma said :-- "

1-2. Pormerly, king Saudasa born of lashaku's tace that foremost of eliquent men, on one occasion approached his family priest, vis . Vashishiha, that foremost of Rishis, crowned with ascetic success, capable of passing through every region, the, receptable of Brahma, and gifted with aucstion

Saudasa said:—

3 O holy one, O sinters one, what is that in the three worldswhich is sicre f an I by reciting which at all times a men may win high merit?

Bhishma said —

Having first bowed to kine and purified himself, the learned Vashishth's desenshed to king Studysa who stood before him with head bent in reverence, il e mystere about kine, a subject that is fraugit with results highly beneficial to all persons.

Vnshishtha said:--

Kine, are always (cagrant

- of all creatures. Kine form the greet source of blessings to all-
- 6 Kine are the Past and the Future Kine are the root of eternal growth Kine are the root of Prosperity. Anything given to kine is never lost.
- 7 Kine from the highest food. They are the best Havi for the celestials. The Mantras called Swaha and Vashat are forever established in kine.
- 8 Kine form the fruit of sacrifices Sacrifices are established in kine Kine are the Future and the Past, and the Sacrifices rest on them.
- o Morning and evening kine give to the Rishis, O foremost of men, Havi for use in Homa, O you of great effulgence.
- to They who make gifts of kine sucted in getting over all sins which they may have committed and all kinds of dangers into which they may fall, O you of great power.
- 11. The man possessing ten kine and making a gift of one cow, one possessing a hundred kine and making a gift of ten kine, and one possessing a thousand kine and making a gift of a hundred kine, all acquire the same measure of merit.
- 12 That man who, having hundred kine, does not establish a domestic fire for daily worship, that man who though possessed of a thousand kine does not celebrate sacrifices, and that man who though having riches acts as a miser, are all three considered as not worthy of any respect
- 13 Those men who make gifts of Kapila kine with their calves and with vessels of white brass for miking them—kine, which are not vicious and which while given away, are wrapped round with cloths,—conquer both this and the next world.
 - 114—15 Such persons as make gift of a poung buil, that has all it is senses, strong, and that may be considered as the foremost one among hundreds of herds, that has large horns adorned with ornaments, to a large horns adorned with ornaments, to a conder of sed with Verbe lore, succeed of accorder of other with the constant person and the constant the world.
 - 16. One should never go to bed without rectung the names of kine. Nor should one rise from bed in the morning without similarly rectung the names of and evening one should bend one's fread respectfully to kine. As the result of such dieds, one is sure to acquire great prosperity.

- 17 One should never feel any repuznance for the urine and the dung of the cow. One should never eat the meat of kine. As the result of this, one is sure to account great prosperity.
- 18. One should always recite the names of kine. One should never show any dissegard for kine in any way. If evil dreams are seen, men should recite the names of kine.
- 10. One should always bathe, using cowdung. One should sit on dried cowdung. One should never pass urine and exercia and other secretions on cowdung. One should never obstruct line in any way.
- 20 One should eat, sitting on a cowhide purified by dipping it in water, and then look towards the west Sitting with controlled speech, one should eat clanfied butter using the bare earth as his dish One reaps, on account of such deeds, that prospertity of which kine are the root.
- 21. One should pour libations on the fire, using clarified butter for purpose. One should make Brahmanas utter blessings upon one by presents of clarified butter. One should make gifts of clarified butter. One should also eat clarified butter, the reward of such deeds one is sure to acquire that prosperity which him grant.
- 22 That man who inspires a cow's form made of sesame seeds by uttering the Vedic Mantras named Gomati, and then adors that form with every sort of gens and makes a gift of it, has never to suffer any grief on account of all his deeds of omission and commission.
- 23 Let kine which give profuse mile and which have horns adorned with gold, kine riss, that are Surabhis or the daughters of Surabhis,—approach me even as rivers approach the ocean
- 24. I always look at Rine Let kine always look at me Kine are ours. We are there where kine are
- 25. I has, at night or day, in weal or wee,—at times of even great lear—should a man exclaim. By uttering such words, he is sure to become freed from every fear,."

CHAPTER LXXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued

Vashishtha said -

I he kine which had been created in a former age practised the hardest penamces for a hundred thousand years with the object of acquiring a position of great ! pre-eminence

Indeed, O scorcher of enemies, they said to themselves -- We shall, in this world, become the best of all kinds of presents in sacrifices and we shall not be hable to be sullied with any fault.

3-4 By bathing in water mixed with our dung, people shall become purified . I he celestrals and men shall use our dung for the purpose of purifying all creatures mobile and immobile. They also who will give us away shall acq are those regions of happiness which will be ours

Appearing to them at the termination of their austerities, the powerful Brahman gave them the boons they sought, saving .-your desire will be fulfilled. Do you rescue all the worlds

- 6 Crowned with fruition of their desires. they all rose up -those mothers of both tle Past and the Future Every morning, people should bow respectfully to kine. As the result of this, they are sure to acquire prosperity.
- At the termination of their penances, O king, kine became the refuge of the world it is therefore that kine are said to be highly blessed, sacred and the foremost of all things It is therefore that kine are said to stay at the very head of all creatures.
- By giving away a Kapila cow with a call resembling herself, giving profuse milk, free from every vicious liabit, and covered with a piece of cloth, the giver acquires great honors in the region of Brahma.
- By giving away a red cow with a call that resembles berself, giving milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of the Sun.
- By giving away a cow of variegated line, with a calf similar to herself, giving milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of Soma,
- 11. By giving away a white cow, with a call similar to berself, giving milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of Indra.
- By giving away a cow of dark hue. with a call similar to herself, giving milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of I are-God.
- 13 By giving away a smoke-colored tow with a call similar to bersell, giving milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of Yama.

- 14 By giving away a frothy-coloured cow, with a call and a vessel of white brass for milking her, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires the region of Varuna.
- By giving away a dust-coloured tow, with a calf and a vessel of white brass for milking her, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of the Wind God
- By giving away a gold heed cow, having eyes of a tawny color, with a call and a vessel of white brass for making her, and covered with a piece of cloth, one enjoys the happiness of the region of Kuvera.
- By giving away a cow of the hue of the smoke of straw, with call and a vessel of white brass for milking her, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires great honors in the region of the departed Manes.
- By giving away a fat cow with the flesh of its throat hanging down and accompanied by her calf, one acquires easily the high region of the Vishwedevas.
- By giving away a Gourt cow, with a calf similar to her, gwing milk, free from every vice, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquire the region of the Vasus
- 20. By giving away a cow of the line of a white blanket, with a call and a vessel of white brass, and covered with a piece of cloth, one acquires the region of the Saddhyas.
- 21. By giving away a bull with a huge hump and adorned with every jewel, the giver, O king, acquires the region of the Maruts.
- By giving away a blue-coloured bull, that is full-grown in years and adorned with every ornament, the giver acquires the regions of the celestral musicians and nymphs.
- 23. By giving away a cow with the flesh of her throat hanging down, and adorned with every ornament, the giver, shorn of grief, acquires the region of Prayapats houself.
- 24. That man, O king, who habitually makes gifts of kine, proceeds, passing a rough the clouds, on a sunny ear to the celestral region and shines splendour.
- 25. That man who habitually makes ilis of kin- is considered as the foremost of gills of kind is communicated as the colestial his kind. When thus proceeding to colestial region, he is received by a thousand celestial damsels of beautiful hips and adorned with handsome dresses and ornaments.

...

These guls serve him there and minister to his delight

26 He sleeps there in peace and is awakened by the musical langiter of those gazelle eyed maidens the sweet notes of their Vinas the soft strains of their lutes, and the sweet tinkle of their Nupuras

27 The man who makes gifts of kine lives in the cell-stail region and is honored there for as many years as it ere are lates on the bodies of the kine he gives away l'alling off from the celestial re, ion (upon the termination of his ment) such a man is born as a man and, i) fact, in a superior lamby among men.

CHAPTER LXXX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Vashishtha said - ' '

- I Kine give clarified; butter and milk I hey are the sources of clarified butter and they have originated from clarified butter. They are rivers of clarified tutter and eddies of clarified butter, Let kine ever be 11 mg house
- 2 Clarified butter is always in my heart.
 Clarified butter is even established in my navel Clarified butter is in every limb of mine Clarified butter lives in my mind. 5.
- 3 Kine are always at my front. Kine are always at my tear. Kine are on every side of my body. I live in the midst of kine
- 4 Having putified oneself by touching water, one slould, morning and evening recite these Mantras every day. By this, one is sure to be purged of all the sins one may commit in course of the day.
- 5 They who make grits of a thousand have, leasung the world, proteed to the regions of the Gandharvas and the celestial nymphs where there are many palatial buildings made of gold and where the celestial Ganga, called the current of Vasu, runs
- 6 Givers of a thousand kine go there where run many rivers laving milk for their water, cheese for their mire, and curds for their floating moss.
- ? That man who gives hundreds of thousands of kine away according to the ritual laid down in the scriptures acquires great prospertly (here) and great honors in it e celestial region.

- 8 Such a man causes both his paternal and maternal ancestors to the tenth degree acquire regions of great happiness, and sauctions his whole race.
- g Rine are sacred. They are the foremost of all things in the world. They are indeed the religion of the universe. It ey are the mothers of the very celestrals. They are indeed incomparable. They should be dedicated a sacrifices.

to Wien going on journeys, one should leave the kine to lis left. Determining the proper time, they should be given away to worthy persons

11. By giving away a Kapila ciw having large horns accompanied by a caland a vestel of white brass for milking her, and covered with a piece of cloth one freed from fear, enters the palace of Yama that is so difficult to enter.

12 One should always recue this sacred Mantra, e.s.,—Kine are of beautiful form Kine are of orange forms. They are of universal form They are the mothers of the universe O, let kine approach me

- 13 There is no gift more sacred than that of kine. There is no gift that yields more blessed merit. If ere has been nothing equal to the cow, nor will there be anything that will equal bec.
- 14. With her skin, her hair her horns' the hair of her tail her milk, and her fat—with all these together,—the cow maintains sacrifice. What thing is there that is more useful than the cow?
- 15 Bending my head to her with respect, I worship the cow who is the mother of both the Past and Future, and by whom the entire universe of mobile and immobile creatures is sustained
- 16.2 O best of men, I have thus recited to you only a portion of the great merits of kine. There 135, no, gift in this world that is superior to that of kine. There is also no reduge in this world that is higher than kine.

Bhishma said :-

17. Considering these words of the Rishi Vashishiha ash pil pi mportani, that great jever of land king Saudass, then made gifts of a very farge number of the tothe Bral manas co strolling his se sees all the while, and as the result of those gifts the king succeeded in acquiring many regions of happitess in the next world i

CHAPTER LXXXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).~ Continued

Yndhishthira said -

I lell the, O grandfather, what is that which is the most sacred of all sacred things in the world other than that which has been already mentioned, and which is the greatest of all purifying objects.

Bhishma said:-

- 2 Kine are the foremost of all objects. They are highly sacred and they save men With their milk and with the liavi manufactured therefrom, kine sustain all creatures in the universe.
- 3 O best of the Bharatas, there is nothing that is more sacred than kine. The lighest of all things in the three worlds, kine are themselves sacred and capable of purifying others.
- 4 Kine live in a region that is even greater than the region of the celestials When given away, they save their givers Wise men succeed in acq dring the celestial region by making gifts of kine.
- 5 Yuvanashwa s son Mandhatri Yayati, and Nahusha, used always to give away kine in thousands.
- 6. As the reward of those gifts, they have acquired such regions as are unattainable by the very celestials. There is, about it, O sinless one, a discourse delivered of yore. I shall recite it to you.
- 7-8 Once on a time having finished his morning rites, the intelligent Shibad approached with a controlled mind his father, that foremats of Reils rise, the Island born Krishna, who knows the district of the control of all sacrifices.
- 9 What is that act by doing which wise men succeed in acquiring the highest region? What is that sacred deed by which the celestials enjoy divine happiness?
- to What forms the character of sacrifice as sarrifice? What is that upon which sacrifice rests? What is that which is considered as the best by the desies? What is that sacrifice which is above the sacrifices of this world? Do you also tell me. O father, what is that which is the most sacred of all things.
- tt. Haying heard these words of his son O chief of Bharata's race, Vyasa, the foremost of all persons knowing duties, said as follows to him.

Vvasa said '-- -

v 12. Kine form the support of all creatures.

tures Kine are the reluge of all creatures.

Kine are the embodiment of virue Kine are sacred, and kine are purifiers of all 13 Formerly kine were hornless as we have heard. For getting horns they addred the eternal and powerful Brahman.

- 14 Seeing the kine paying their adorations to him and sitting without food, the powerful Brah nan granted to each of them what each desired.
- 15. Thereafter their horns grew and each got what each wished Of various colors, and gitted with horns, they began to shine beautifully, O son 1;
- 16 Favored by Brahman I moelf with hoons, kine are auspicious and givers of Hayaya and Kayas. They are the embodiments of virtue. They are sacred and highly blessed. They have excellent form and qualities.
 - 17-18. Kine form high and excellent energy. The gift of kine is finglify spoken of. Those good men who shorn of pride, make gifts of kine, are considered as doers of righteous deeds and as givers of all articles. Such men O sinless one, acquire the highly sacred region of kine.
 - 19 The trees there yield sweet fruits, Indeed, those trees are always bedecked with excellent flowers and fruits. Those flowers, O best of twice born persons, have celestial fragrance.
 - 20 The entire soil of that region is formed of gems. The sands there are all gold. The climate there possesses the excellencies of every season. There is no mure, no dust. It is, indeed, highly sacred.
 - 21. The rivers there shine in resplendence for the red lotuses blossoming upon their bosoms, and for the Jewels, gems and gold that are on their banks and which display the effulgence of the morning Sun
 - 22. There are many lakes also on whose breasts are many lowses, mused here and there with Nympl on stellars, and having their petals made of costly gems, and their filaments gold hued
 - 23 They are also bedecked with flowering forests of the Nerium odorum with thousands of beautiful creepers twin ng round them, as also with forests of Santanakas bearing flowers
- 24 There are rivers whose banks are variegated with many bright pearls and shining gems and gold.
- 25 Parts of those regions are covered with excellent trees that are decked with levels and rems of every sort. Some of them are made of gold and some of them are effulgent like fire. of gold, and many hills made of fewels and

There stand many mountains made

I here share in beauty on account of

- their tall summits made of all sorts of gems. 27. The trees that bedeck those regions always put forth flowers and fruits, and are
- always covered with dense foliage. flowers always yield a relestial fragrance and the fruits are greatly sweet. O chief of Bharata's race.
- The righteous persons, O Yudhishthirm always sport there happily. Freed from grief and anger, they spend their time there crowned with the fruition of every desires
- Pious and Illustrious persons sport 20 there happily, moving from place to place, O Bharata, on delightful and highly beautiful cars.
- 30. Bevies of celestial nymphs always amuse there, with music and dance Indeed, Yudhishthira, a person goes to such regions as the fruit of his making gifts of
- 31-32 Those regions which are owned by Pushan, and the Maruts of great power, are acquired by givers of kine. In riches the royal Varuna is considered as pre emittent The giver of kine acquires riches like that of Varuna himself. One should with the steadiness of a yow, daily recite these Mantras sung by Prajapati hunself vis ,---Yugandharah, Surupah, Vahurupah, Vi-shwarupah, and Matara.
- He who serves kine with respect and who follows them with humility, succeeds in getting many invaluable boons from kine who become pleased with him
- 34. One should never, even in his heart, mure kine One should, indeed, always confer happiness on them One should always respect kine and adore them, by bending low his head
- 35 He who does this controlling his senses all the while and filled with cheerfulness, succeeds in acquiring that happiness which is enjoyed by kine One should for three days drink the hot urine of the cow the next three days one should drink the hot milk of the cow.
- Having thus drunk for three days hot milk one should next drink hot clarified butter for three days Having thus drunk hot clarified butter for three days, one should live for the next three days on air only.
 - 37. That sacred thing by whose help the |

- celestials enjoy regions of happiness, that which is the most sacred of all sacred things ers , clarified butter, should then be carried on the head.
- With the help of clarified butter. one should pour libations on the sacred fire. By making gifts of clarified butter, one should make the Brahmanas utter benedictions on oneself. One should eat clarified butter and make gifts of clarified butter. As the reward of this conduct, one may then acquire that prosperity, which belongs to kine.
- That man who, for a month, lives 39. upon the gratel of barley picked up every day from cow-dung, becomes purged of sins as beinous as Brahmanleide.
- 40. After their defeat at the hands of the demons, the deities practised this explation. It was on account of this expiation that they succeeded in regaining their position as celestials. Indeed, it was through this that they regained their strength and became successful
- 41. Kine are sacred. They are embodiments of virtue They are high and most efficacious purifiers of all By making gifts of kine to the Brahmanas one acquires the celestial region.
- Living in a pure state, in the midst of kine one should mentally recite those sacred Mantras named Gomati, after touching pure water. By dontg this, one becomes purified.
- Brahmanas of righteous deeds 43-44 who have been purified by knowledge, study of the Vedas, and observance of vows, should, only in the midst of sacred fires or kine or conclaves of Brahmanas, impart to their disciples a knowledge of the Gomati Mantras which are in every way like a sacrifice One should ob erve a fast for three nights for tecelving the boon formed by a knowledge of the meaning of the Comati Mantras,
- The man who wishes to get a son may obtain it by worshipping these Mantras. He who wishes to acquire riches may have his desire fulfilled by worshipping these Mantras. The girl desirous of having a good husband may have lier wish fulfilled by the same means. In fact, one may acquire the fruition of every desire he may cherish, by worshipping these sacred Mantras
- 46 When kine are pleased with the service one renders them they are, forsooth, capable of granting the fruition of every desire Even so, kine are highly blessed. hey are the essential articles of sacrifices They are grantors of every wish. Know that there is nothing superior to kine.

Bhishma said :-

47 Thus addressed by his great father, Sluka, gifted with great energy, began from that time to adore kine every day Do you also, O son act thus,

CHAPTER LXXXII

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Continued

Yudhishithra said -

1. I have leard that the dung of the cow is gifted with prosperity I wish to hear 1 ow this has been occasioned I have doubts, O grand father which you should remove

Bhishma said:-

- 2 Regarding it is cited the old story, O king of the conversation between kine and goddess of prosperity O best of the Binaratas
- 3 Once on a time assuming a very beautiful form, the goddess Shree entered a herd of kine Seeing her beauty the kine became filled with wonder.

The kine said -

- 4 Who are you O goddess? Whence have you become nonparel on Earth for beauty? O highly blessed goddess, we have been filled with wonder at your beauty
- S We wish to know who you are Wio, indeed, are you? Where will you proceed? O you of very great beauty, do tell us in detail all we wish to know?—

Shree said -

- 6 Blessed be se I am dear to all creatures Indeed I am known by the name of Stree Forsaken by me, the demons have been lost for ever
- 7 The celestials vis. Indra, Vivaswat, Soma, Vishau Varuna and Agni, having of tailed inc, are sporting happily and will do so for ever.
- 8 Indeed, the Rishis and the 'telestrals' only when they are endued with me become successful. Ye kine, those beings meet with 'destruction into whom I do not enter,'
- by Virtue, Prospetity, and Pleasure only when endued with me, become sources of lappiness. Ye kine who are givers of lappiness know that I am gifted with such thereby.
- to I wish to always live in every one of you. Going to your presence, I solicit you. Be all of you a feed with Shree.

The kine said :-

- tt. You are fickle and restless. You allow yourself to be enjoyed by mahy persons. We do not wish to have you! Blessed be you go wherever you like,
- 12 As regards ourselves all of us have good forms. What need have we with you? Go wherever thou like. You have already pleased as greatly.

Shree said -

- 13 Is it proper with you ye kine that you do not welcome me? I am difficult of being attained. Why then do you not accept me?
- 14 It appears, ye creatures of excellent yows, that the popular proverb is true vis that it is certain that when one comes to another of his own accord and without being sought, he is not much respected
- 15 The gods, the Danavas II e Gandharvas, the Pishachas, the Uray's the Rakshasas, and human beings success it getting me only after practising the severest austectures.
- 16 Ye who have such energy do ye take me! Ye amiable ones 1 am never dishonored by any one in the three worlds by mobile and immobile creatures

The kine said:—

- 17 We do not disregard you O goddess! We do not slight you! You are fickle and of a very resiless heart. It is for this only that we take leave of you
- 18 What need of much talk? Go wherever you like All of ns have excellent forms What need have we with you. O shiless one?

Shree said -

- 19 Ye givers of honors renounced by you thus I shall certainly be an object of disregard with all the world! Do ye show me grace
- 20 Ye are all highly blessed. Ye are ever ready to grant protection to those who seek your protection. I have come to you solucting your refuge. I have no fault. Do you rescue me.
- 21. Know that I shall always be deword to you! I wish to live in any part of your bodies, however repulsive it may be Indeed I wish to live even in your rectum.
- 22 Ye'sinless ones I do not see that ye have any part in your bod es that may be considered as repulsive, for ye are sacred, and putrify i g and I ig ily blessed! Do Je, I owever, grant my prayer Do se tell me in which part of your bodies shall I live.

Bhishma said -

23 Thus addressed by Shree, the kine, always auspicious and bent on showing kindness to all who are devoted to them, parleyed with one another, and then addressing Shree, said to her, O king, these words

The kine said -

nne said —
O you of great fame, it is certainly desirable ti at we should honor you! Do you live in our urine and dung Both these are sacred, O goddess.

Shree said :--

25 By good luck, ye have shown me much favour Let it be even as you say! Blessed be you all, I have really been honored by you, ye givers of happiness

Rhishma said -

- 26 Having, O Bharata, made this contract with kine Shree, there and then, before those kine disappeared
- 27 I have thus told you, O son the glory of the dung of kine I shall once again describe to you the glory of kine Do you listen to me

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Bhishma said -

- I Fley who make gifts of kine and who I ve upon the remnants of things offer ed as libations on the sacred fire are considered. O Yudi shill rra, as always per forming sacrifices of kind.
- 2 No sacrifice c n be performed with out the lelp of curds and clarified butter. The very character as sacrifice which sacrifices have, depends upon clarified butter. Hence clarified butter is considered as the very root of sacrifice.
- 3 Of all kinds of gifts, the gift of kine is spoken highest of Kine are the foremost of all things. Themselves sacred, they are the best of purifier,
- 4 People should therish kine for getting prosperity and even peace. The milk, curds and clarified butter that kine yield are capable of purifying one from every kird of sin.
- 5 Kine are said to represent the highest energy both in this world and the next. There is nothing that is more sacred or

- purifying than kine, O chief of the Bharatas

 6 Regarding it is recited the ancient
- discourse between the Grandfather and chief of the celestials.
 - 7 After the demons had been defeated and Shakra had become the lord of the three worlds, all creatures grew prosperous and became devoted to the true relition
 - 8—10 Then, on one occasion, the Rishis, the Gandilarwas the Kinnaras the Uragas, the Rakshasas the Deittes, the Asuras the winged creatures, and the Prayapatis, O you of Kuru's race all assembled together and worshipped it Grandfather There were Narada and Pirvata and Vishwavasa and Haha Hul u, who sang celestial songs for worshipping that powerful ford of all creatures the god of wind bore there the Iragrai ce of celestial flowers
 - 11—13 The Seasons also, in ther embodied forms, hore the fragrance of flowers peculiar to each, to that assembling of celest als that gathering of all creatures of the universe, where celestial madens danced and sang in accompaniment with celestial music. In the midst of that assembly, Indra, saluting the Lord of all the celestists and bowing his head to him with respect, asked him, saying—I with, O Grandfather, to know why the region of kine is high er O holy one, than the region of the celestists themselves who are the lords of all the worlds.
 - 14 What austerities, what Brahmacharyya O lord, d d kine perform on account of which they are able to live happiin a region that is even above that of the celestials.
 - 15 Thus addressed by Indra Brahman said to the destroyer of Vala — You have always, O destroyer of Vala, disregarded kine
- 16 Hence you are not acquainted with glorious pre eminence of kine Listen now to me, O powerful one, as I explain to you the great energy and glorious pre-eminence of kine, O king of the celestals.
- 17. Kine have been said to be the limbs of sacrifice. They represent sacrifice itself. O Vasava! Without them there can be no sacrifice.
- 18 With their milk and the Havi produced therefrom, they sustain all creatures.
- 19 Their male children are engaged in helping the cultivation and thereby produce various kinds of paddy and other seeds

- 20. From them originate sacrifices and Hayga and Kayya, and milk and curds and clarified butter. Hence, O chief of the celesisals, kine are sacred. Stricken with hunger and thirst, they carry various burstees.
- 21. Kine support ascetics. They sustain all creatures by various acts. O Vasawa, kine are guidless in their conduct on account of such conduct and of many wellperformed acts, they are able to live always in regions that are even above ours.
- 22. I have this explained to you to-day, O you of a hundred sacrifices, the reason, O Shakra, of kine living in a place that is high above that of the celestials.
- 23 Kine got many excellent forms, O Vasava, and are themselves givers of boons. They are called Surabhis Of sacred deeds and gifted with many auspicious marks they are highly purifying.
- 24 I isten to me also, O destroyer of Vala, as I tell you in full the reason why kine,—the children of Surably,—have descended on the Earth, O best of the gelevials 4.7
- 25—26 Formerly, O son, when in the golden age the great Danayas breams lords of the three worlds. Adut performed the severest autstraties and got Vishina within live womb. Indeed, O clief of the cleatists, she had sto d upon one leg for many long years, destrous of having a son.
- 27-28 Seeing the great goddess Adits thus practising the severest autterties, the daughter of Daksha, viz., the illustrious Strabth herself jiven to virtue, blewise practised very severe austersities upon the breast of the charming mountains of Kaifasa that are resorted to by both the elestists and the Gandilarvas
- 29 Established on the highest Yoga, she also stood upon one leg for eleven thousand years.
- 30. The celestals with the Rishis and the great Nagas all became scorched with the severity of her penantes. Thing there with me, all of them began to worship that auspicious goddess.
- 31 I then addressed that goddess pilied with penances, and said,—Q god dess, O you of faultless conduct, for what purpose do you practise such severe austernies
- 32 O highly-blessed one, I am pleased with your penances, O beautiful or el Di you O goddess, beg what bo un you wish to have I shall grant you whatever you may ask '— these were my words to her, O l'urandarh.

- 33—35 Thus addressed by me, Surabhi answered me, asying,—I have no need. O grandfather, of boons. O suless one, that you have been pleased with me is a great boon to me. To the illu frious Surabhi, O chef of the celestals who said so to me, O lord of Sachi, I answered thus,—O goddess, I have been highly pleased with this your freedom from complety and desire, and with these penances of yours, O you of beautiful face. I therefore, grant you the boon of immortality.
- 36. You will live in a region that is ligher than the three worlds, through my favour. I hat region shall be known to all by the name of Goloka.
- 37. Your off-pring, ever engaged in doing good deeds, will live in the world of men. In fact, O highly blessed one, your date hers will live there
- 33-39 You will readily get all kinds of enjoyment celestial and lumin, that you may think of. You will get whatever happiness exists in the celestial req. im, O blessed one! The regions, O you of a hundred eyes that are Surabhi's are replete with means for the satisfaction of every desire, Neither Death, nor Decreptude, nor fire, can overcome its inhabitants
- 40 No ill luck, O Vassya, exists there. Many charming forests and delightful ornaments and objects of beauty may be seen there
- 41—42 There may be seen many beautiful care, all excellently entity and which move at the will be the rider, O Vasiva O you having eyes her lotin petals, it is only by celhase, by penances, by 1 ruth, by self control by it is by various kinds of righteous dee is, by so jurns to sacred waters, in fact, by severe anvieture, and righteous deeds well performed, that one can attain to Goloka
- 43 You had asked me O Shakta and I have answered you in full O destroyer of Asuras, you should never disregard kine!

Bhishma said :--

- 41 Hearing these words of the selfcreate Brahman O Vulhishthira, Shakra of a thousand eyes bryan from that time to adore knee every day and to show them the greatest respect.
- 45-47 I have thus told you everything about the purelying character of kine, O you of great splend air. I have expounded to you the secret and high pre eminarce and plory of lone that is crabble of purelying ore from every sit, O clien of men.

god?

That man who with senses withdrawn from i every other object will recite this account to Brahmanas, on occasions when Havya and · Kavya are offered, or at sacrifices, or on occasions of worshipping the departed manes succeeds in conferring upon his anthe fruiton of every desire.

The man who is devoted to kine succeeds in getting the fruition of every desire of his Indeed, even those women who are devoted to kine succeed in securing the fulfilment of every desire of theirs

49. He who wishes for sons obtains them He who desires daughters obtains them He who desires riches succeeds in acquiring wealth, and he who desires religious merit succeeds in winning it.

50. He who desires knowledge acquires it, and he who desires happiness succeeds in acquiring i appiness Indeed O Bharata. there is nothing which one devoted to kine cannot obtain-

CHAPTER EXXXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued.

Yudhishthura said -

- You have O grandfather, expounded to me the highly meritorious galt of kine In the case of kings performing their duties, that gift is most meritorious
- Sovereignty is always painful It is incapable of being borne by persons of impure souls Generally kings fail to ac-Quice auspicious ende
- By always making however gifts of earth, they succeed in purifying themselves You have, O prince of Kuru's race, describe to me many duties
- You have described to me the gifts of kine formerly made by king Nilga The Rist i Nachrketa in ancient times, had described the ments of this act
- The Vedas and the Upanishads also have laid down that in all sacrifices -- in fact, in all sorts of religious rites -the sacrificial present should be earth or kine or gold
- The Shrutis however, declare that of all presents gold is very superior and is indeed, the best, I wish, O gra idfatter, to I ear you describe truly this sir ject.
- 7 What is gold? How did it spring

What are its fruits considered as the foremost of all things? 8. Why do wise men applied the gift of gold? Why is gold considered as the best of presents in all sacrifices ?

Why is if

Why also is gold considered as a purifier superior to earth itself and kine? Why, indeed, is it considered so superior as a sacrificial present 7 Do you, O grandfather, describe to me all this.

Bhishma said -

to Listen, Oking, with eaptraitention to me as I recite to you in detail the circumstances connected with the origin of gold as understood by me II. When my highly energetic father Shantanu died, I proceeded to Gangadwars for performing his Shraddha. 12 Arrived there I began the Shraddha of my father My mother Janhavs coming there, gave me great assistance,

13. Inviting many asceties crowned with success and making them take item seats before me, I began the prilimmary rites consisting of gifts of water and of other things.

Having with a concentrated mind performed all preliminary rites as laid down in the scriptures, I began to duly offer the obsegual cake

15. I then saw, O king, that a beautiful arm, adorned with armiets and other orna ments, rose up, piercing the ground, through the blades of Kusha grass which I had spread

16 Seeing that arm rise from the eround, I became stricken with wonder. Indeed O chief of Bharata's race I thought that my father had come himself for accepting the cake I was about to offer. 17-20 Reflecting their by the I ght of the scriptures, I became convinced that te ordinance is in the Vedas that the cake should not be presented to the hand of him whose Shraddha is performed My conviction was that the obsequal cake should never be presented in this world by a man to the visible hand of the man whose obsequial rites are performed. The departed Manes do not come in their visible forms for taking the cake On the other hand, the ordinance lays down that it should be presented on the blades of Kusha grass spread on the earth for the purpose. I then disregarding that band which was the mark of my father's presence, and recollecting the true ordinance of the scriptures regarding up? When did it come into existence? It e mode of presenting the cake offered it c What is its exserve? Who is its presiding entire cake O chief of the Bhara iss, upon those blades of Kusha grass that were spread before me.

21 Know, O king, that what I did was perfectly consistent with the scriptural ordinance. After this, the arm of my father, O monarch, vanished in our very sight.

22-23. On that night as I slept, the departed Manes appeared to me m a dream Pleased with me they said. O chief of Binaria's race, these words — We have been pleased with you, for the mark you have she win to day of your adherence to the ordinance. It has pleased is to see that you have not deviated from the injunctions of the scriptures. The scriptural ordinance, followed by you, has become more authoritative, O king.

24-25. By such conduct you have benored and mantained the authority of yourself, the scriptures, the Vedas, the Pittis and the Rishis, the Grandfather Brahman himself, and those elders, vir., the Prajapatis. Adherence to the scriptures has been upheld. You have to day, O chief of the Bharatas, acted very property.

26—28. You have made gifts of earth and kine. Do you make gifts of gold is ery purifying. O you that are well-conversant with duties, how that are well-conversant with duties, how that yearch acts both ourselves and our sine Such gifts rescue both ancestors, and descendants to the tenth degree of the person who makes them — lives were the person who makes them — lives were the words that my ancestors, appearing to me it is dream, said to me. I then awoke, O king, and become filled with wonder.

29 Indeed, O chief of Bharata's race I determined upon making gifts of gold, Listen now, O king, to this old history.

30-32 It is highly prassworthy and it gives long-wity to a man who listens to it. It was first recited to Rama it e son of Janada, in. Formerly Jamada, in. Son Rams easisted with great anger, rooted out that the proposition of the first highly son to make preparations for celebrating a thouse Societie, O king that is lauded by all Brahmans and Kuharnyas and that deather the first highly son to be sone first highly sone first 73 That sacrifice purifies all creatures and increases the energy and splend ur of those who succeed in celebrating it. Gifted with great energy, Rana, by the celebration of that sacrific, became a illess.

34 Having however, refebrated that oreticat of sattifices the great Rama could not acquire perfect lightness of heart

35-37 Going to Rishis conversant with every branch of learning as also the celestrals, Rama of Biniquo's race questionate them. Filled with repentance and mercy, he addressed them saying.—O high blessed ones, do ye declare that which purifies men engaged in tertific deeds?—Thus addressed by him those great Rishis, fully read in the Vedas and the scriptices, answered him, saying—O Rama; guided by the authority of the Vedas, do you honor all learned Brahmanas Acting titus for sometime, do you once more ask the twice born Rishis as to what should be done by you for purifying yo resili.

33—39 Follow the advice which those highly wise persons would give! Going then to Vashishitha and Agastya and Kashyapa, that delighter of the Bhiggus, gilted with great energy, asked them the very question—Ye foremost ol Brahmanas, every control of the wish that has originated in the wish that has originated in the most of the wish that has originated in the state of the wish that has originated in the most of the wish that has originated in the state of the wish that has originated in the state of the wish that has originated in the state of the wish that has originated in the state of the wish that has one of th

40 By what acts and ries may this be engendered? Or, if by gifts what is that atticle by group away which this wish of mine may be satisfied, O foremot of right-coar persons, if you are bent upon doing no a favour, then do tell me, ye who have beceives no rewells, what is that by which I may succeed in purifying myself!—
I may succeed in purifying myself!—

The Rishis said :--

41 O delighter of the Bhrighs, the mortal that has committed sin becomes purified by insking gifts of kine, of earth, and of ricles. This is what we have heard 42 There is another gift that is considered as a great purifier. Listen to us, O truce born Rishi, as we discourse on it? that article is excellent and is wonderful to look at and is, besides, the offspring of fire.

43 Firmerly the god Agni burnt all the world. We have heard that from his seed spring gold to bright complexion. It passed by the name of the good complexioned. By making gifts of gold you are surre to have your with fulfilled.

31 Then the illistrious Vashishths in especial of tight vows, addressing him, said—Hear, O Rama, how gold which is off them his fire, first came into being

45. That gold will confer merit on you. In matters of Lifts gold is lighly spoken if I shall also tell you what is gold, whence it has come, and how it has come to be ends d with superior attributes.

- 46 Listen to me, O you of mighty arms, as I describe these subjects. Buow this as certain that gold is of the essence of Fire and Moon.
- 47-48 The goat is Fire, the sheep is Varuna, the horse is the Sun; elephiants are Nagas, buffalos are Asuras; cocks and boars are Rakshazas, O delighter of the Bhiggus, earth is sacrifice, kine, water, and Soma. These are the declarations of the Smritis.
- 49 Churning the entire universe, a mass of energy was found. That energy is gold. Hence, O twice born Rishi, compared to all these objects gold is surely superior. It is a valuable thing, high and excellent.
- 50 It is therefore that the celestral and Gandharvas and Uragas and Rakshasas and human beings and Pishachas hold it with care.
- 51. All these beings, O son of Bhrigu's race, sline in splendour, with the help of gold, after converting it into crowns and armlets and various ornaments.
- 52 It is also for this reason that gold is considered as the most purifying of all cleansing things such as earth and kine and all other kinds of riches O king
- 53 The kilt of gold O powerful king, is the highest gift. It is superior to the gift of earth, of kine, and of all other things.
- 54 O you who are effulgent like an immortal, gold is an eternal purifier Do you make gifts of it to the foremost of Brahmanas as it is the foremost of purifying tlings
- 55 Of all kinds of presents, gold is the best. They who make gifts of gold are said to be givers of all it ings,
- 56 Indeed, it ey who make gifts of gold are considered as givers of celestrals Agri is all the deities in one, and gold has Agri for its essence
- 57 Hence it is that the person who makes gift of gold gives away all the celestals. Hence, O king, there is no gift higher than the gift of gold.

Vashishtha said -

- 58. Hear once more, O twice Lorn Rishings I describe the superiority of bold, O foremost of all wielders of weapons
- 59 I heard this formerly in the Purana O son of Bhrisu's race. It represents the speech of Prajapati himself.
- 60-67 After the marriage was over of the illustrious and great Rudra arme i with he trident, O, son of El rigus race, with the goddess who became his consort, on the breast of that foremost of mountains, vis, Himavat, the illustrious and great deity wished to unite himself with the goddess hereupon all the celestials, stricken with anxiety, approached Rudra Bending their heads with respect and pleasing Mahadeva and his boon-giving consort Uma, both of whom were seated together, they addressed Rudra, O perpetuator of Bhrigu's race, saying, -- This union, O illustrious and sinless one, of you with the goddess, is a union of an ascetic with another. Indeed, it is the union. O lord, of one energetic person with another equally so You, O illustrious one, are of irresistible energy. The goddess Uma also is gifted with energy that is equally irresistible

- 64 The offspring that will result from a union like this, will, forsooth, O illustrous detty, be gifted with very great might. Indeed, O poweful lord, that offspring will consume all things in the three worlds without leaving a residue.
- 65 Do you then, O lord of all the universe, O you having large eyes, grant to these celestials prostrated before you aboon from desire of benefiting the three worlds
- 66 Do you, O powerful one, restraint this great energy of yours which may be come the seed of off-pring
- 67 Indeed, that energy is the essence of all forces in the three worlds. Ye two by an act of congress, are sure to scoroli the universe.
- 68-69 Your offsprig will certainly be able to afflict the celesials Neuhert le goddess Earth, nor it e Sky, nor Heaven, O powerful one, nor all of time together, will be able to bear yir energy, we firmly believe. The entire unverse is certain to be burnt through the force of your energy.
- 70 You should, O powerful one slow us favour O illustrious deity. That favor consists in your not begetting a son O foremost of the celestials, upon the goddess Uma,
- 71 Do you patiently govern your firsty and po veriful energy —To the dettes that said so, it eld) Mahadeva having the built for his sain, O twice born Risht answered saying —bo be it —Having said so, ite detty that has the built for his vehicle, drew up his visial seed
- 73 From that time I e passed by the name of Urddinertas (one that has drawn up the vital seed). At this attempt of the celestials to stop procreation, the consort of Rudra became high I wroth.

23.—56 On account of her being of the opposite sex, she used havin words —Since ye have apposed my lord in procreating an offspring when he was desirently of proceeding one upon me, as the result of this act, ye celestials, ye all shall become sonless Indeed, since ye have opposed the brith of an offspring from me, therefore, e shall have no offspring of your own —When this worse was imprecated, O perpetuator of Birigu's race, the detty of fire was not there

77. It is an account of this curse of the goddess that the detires have become childtess. Rudra, begged them, held in hunself his energy of incomparable power.

78. A small quantity, however, that came out of its body dropped on the Earth That s-ed, falling on the Earth, teaped into a burning fire and there began to grow most wonderfully.

20-82. The energy of Rudra, coming in contact with another energy of great power, became one with it in essence. Meanwhile, all the celestials headed by Indra were scorched by the Asura named Faraka. The Adityas, the Vasus, the Rudras, the Marets, the Ashwers and the Saddhyas all became greatly afflicted on account of the prowess of that son of Dits. All the regions of the celestrals, their beautiful cars, and their palaces, and the asylums of the Rishis, were snatched away by the Asuras. then the celestials and the Rishis, with depressed hearts, sought the protection of the illustrious and powerful Brahman of unfading glory.

CHAPTER LXXXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

The Deities said .-

3. The Asura named Taraka who has received boons from you, O powerful one, is assailing the celestials and the Rishts. Let his death be ordained by you.

2. O Grandfather, we fear him greatly O illustrious one, do you save us! We have no other refuge than you

Brahman said :-

 I treat all creatures equally, I cannot however, approve of sin, Let Israba, that enemy of the celestials and Rishis, he speedily destroyed.

4. The Vedas and the eternal duties shad not be rooted out, ye foremost of celestials. I have ordanied what is proper, in this matter. Let the anxiety of your hearts be removed.

The Celestials said:—

5 For your having granted him boons, that son of Dit has been proud of his power. He is incapable of being killed by the deities. How their will his death be engendered?

6 The boon which, O Granfather, he has obtained from you is that he should not be killed by celestials or Asuras or

 The celestrals have also been cursed by the wife of Rudia on account of their attempt to stop propagation. The curse imprecated by her has been. O lord of the universe this, vis., that they are not to have any offsping.

Brahman said :--

8—in Veforemotol celestuls, Agni was not three at the time the curse was given by the golders. He will beget a child for the destruction of the entering of the golds. Superior to all the destres, Danavax, Rasthasax, hin nan beings, Gandharvax, Nagas and feathery creatures, the son of Agni with list dart, which in his hands, will be a weapon incapable of being buffled if once hurled at the enemy, will destroy larks whom you fear. Indeed, all other enemest of yours will also be talked by him.

11. Will is eternal from Will is known by the name of Rama and is at one with Ridea's seed a portion of which fell into the burning form of Agni.

12. Unit energy, which is a powerful substance, and which resembles a second Agin, will be east by Agin into Ganga for producing a child upon her in order to bring about the destruction of the enemies of the gods.

13 Agai did not come within the range of Uma's curse. The eater of sacrificial libations was not present there when the curse was imprecated.

14. Let the god of fire, therefore, be searched out. Let him now be set to this task. Ye sinless ones, I have told you the means for the destruction of Taraka.

15 The curses of the energetic cannot produce any effect upon the energetic, Forces, when they come into contact with a stronger force, become weakened.

16. They who are endued with penances can destroy even the boon-giving deties who are indestructible. Will, or like, or 'Desire sprang in former times and is the most eternal of all creatures.

- 17. Agni is the Lord of the universe, their sincapable of being apprehended or described Capable of going everywhere and present in all things, he is the Creator of all beings. He lives to the lie-after of all creatures Gilted with great power, He is older than Rudra limself.
- 18—19 Let that eater of sacrificial libations, who is a mass of energy, be found out lihat illustrous deity will fulfill this desire of your hearts. Hearing these would of the Grandfather, the great gods then proceeded to find out the god of fire with theerful hearts on account of their purpose lawny been crowned with success.
- 20. The gods and the Rishls then searched every portion of the three worlds their hearts being busy with the thought of Agni and eagerly desiring to see him.
- 21. Gifted with penances, possessed of prosperity, celebrated over all the worlds, those great ones, all crowned with ascetic success, sojourned over every part of the universe, O foremost one of Bhrigu's race,
- 22—24 They could not find out the eater of sacrificial librations who had concealed himself by merging his self into self. At this time, a frog, living in water, got on the surface from the nethermost regions, with theerless heart on account of having been scorched by the energy of Agm. The little treature addressed the celestials who had become stricken with lear and who were all very eager to see the god of fire, saying,—Ve gods, Agm is now hiving in the hetlermost regions Scorched by the energy of that god and unable to bear it longer, I have come here.
- 25. The illustrious bearer of sacrificial offerings, ye gods, is now under the waters lie has created a mass of waters within which he is living. All of us have been scorched by his energy.
- 26 If, ye gods you wish to see him,if you have any business with him,-go to him there.
- 27. As regards ourselves, we shall fly from this place, O celestrals, from fear of Agni I-Having and this much, the frog dived into the water,
- 28 The eater of sacrificial libations came to know of the treachery of the frog Coming to that animal he cursed the whole race, saying —Ye will be deprived of the organ of taste.
- 29 Having made this curse on the frog be left the spot immediately for living else where Indeed the powerful celestial did so thow hinsely.
- 30. See ng the condition to which the frogs were reduced for having done them a service, the refestials, O best of the Birligis, showed favor to those creatures. I shall tell you everything about it. Do you hear me, O mighty-armed hero.

The Destres said :--

- 31. Ihough deprived of tongues through the curse of Agni and, therefore, of the sensation of taste, you will be able to utter various kinds of words.
- 32. Living within holes, deprived of food, shorn of consciousness, wasted and dried up, and more dead than alive, the Earth will yet hold you all.
- 33. Ve shall also be able to move about at night time when everything is covered with tinck darkness !—Having said this to the frogs, the celestials once more pointeyed over every part of the Earth for finding out the god of fire. Despite all their endeavours however, they could not find him out.
- 34' Then, O perpetuater of Bhrigu's race, an elephant, as large and powerful as the elephant of Shakra, addressed the gods, saying—Agni is now living within this Ashwattha tree?
- 35 Worked up with anger, Agni cursed all the elephants, O descendant of Bhrigus saying,—Your tongues will be bent back.
- 36 Having been pointed out by the blephants, the God of Fire cursed all elephants thus and then went away and entered the heart of the Shami tree for living within it for sometime.
- 37. Listen now, O poverful here what favor was shown to the elephants O foremost one of Blurgu's race, by the celestials of unbaffled proviess who were all pleased with the service one of their representatives had rendered them.

The Desties said :-

- 33 With the help of even your tongues bent inwards you shall be able to eat all it ings, and with even those tongues ye shall be able to utter cries which will only be indistinct.
- 39 Having blessed the elephants this, the inhabitants of the celestral region or ce more began to search Agin. Indeed, having come out of the Ashwaitha tree, the God of Fire had entered the heart of Shami
- 40 This new residence of Agni was made known by a parrot. The gods thereupon went there Enraced with the sond diet of the parrot, the God of Line cursed the whole parrot race, saying,—Ye shall from this day be deprived of the power of

- 41-12. Indeed, the ester of secrifical effection of turned up the tongues of all the parrots. Seeing Agin at the place pointed out by the parrot, and beholding the curse imprecated upon him, the gods, moved by mercy for the poor creature, blessed him, sying, on account of your being a parrot, you shall not be wholly deprived of the power of speech, though your tongue has been turned backwards, yet you will only be able to speak the letter K.
- 43-44 Like that of a child or an old man, your words shall be sweet and undstinct and wonderful—Having said these words to the parcot, and seeing the god of fire within the heart of the Sham, to the said of the words of the said of th
- 45. Men began to consider the Shami as a proper means for producing fite (in sacrifices). The waters that are in the nethermost regions had come into contact with the god of fire.
- 46. Those heated waters, G you of Bhrigu's race, are vomited forth by the mountain springs. On account, of Agin's having hived in them for sometime, they became hot through his power.
- 47. Meanwhile Agni, seeing the gods, became grieved. Addressing the celesitals, fee asked them,—Why have you come here?
- 48. To him the celestrals and the great Rishus said,—We wish to engage you in a particular work. You should perform it
- 49 When done, it will redound greatly to your credit.

Agni said .--

50. Iell me what your business is, I shall, O gods, accomplish it. I am always willing to do anything for you. Do not, besitate, therefore, to command me.

·The celestials said:—

- 51. There is an Asira of the name of Anaka who has been filled with pride on account of the boon he has obtained from Brahman. By his power he is able to oppose and discountinus. Do you bring about his destruction.
- 52 O sire, do you rescue these celestials, these Prajapatis, and these Rishis, O highly blessed Pavaka
- 53. O powerful one, do you beget a fero c sun possessed of your power, who will remove O bearer of sacrificial tibations, our fears from that Asura.

- 51 We have been cursed by the great goddess Uma There is nothing else than your power which can be our refuge now. Du you, therefore, O powerful detty, rescue us all,
- 55 Thus addressed, the illustrious and firesistible bearer of sperificial librations answered, saying —Be it so limited the then proceeded towards Ganga otherwise called Bhagirathi,
- 56 He knew her and caused her to conceive. Indeed, in the womb of Ganga the seed of Agri began to grow even as Agri himself grows.
- 57. With the energy of that god, Ganga became greatly moved at heart, Indeed, she suffered great distress and became unable to bear it.
- 53 When the deity of fire cast his seed gifted with great energy into the womb of Ganga, a certain Asura attered a terrific foat,
- 59 On account of that drendful roze uttered by the Asura for purposes of his own, Ganga became very much terrified and her eyes rolled in fear_and betrayed her agitation.
- 60. Shorn of consciousness, she could not hear her body and the seed within her womb. The daughter of Janhu, carrying the energy of the illustrious god, began to tremble.
- 61. Overwhelmed with the energy of the seed she held in her womb, O lexined Brahmana, she then addressed the god of fire, saying,—I cannot any longer, O illustrious one, hear your seed in my womb
- 52. Indeed, I am overcome with weakness by this seed of yours. The Ledih I had in days before, is no longer mine. I bave been greatly agitated, O illustrious one, and my heart is dead within me, O sinless one.
- 63 O foremost of all persons gifted with managers. I cations their pour send any longer. I shall throw it off induced by the distress that has befallen me, and not by caprice.
- 64. There has been no nettral contact of my body with your seed O illustrood detry of fire. Our muon, having for its cause the distress that has befallen the celestrals, has bern subtle and not of the flesh, O highly iffulgent one.
- 65 Whatever ment or otherwise trey may be in this deed, O exter of sacrifical officeings, must belong 12 yes. Indeed, I tunk, you will be visited by virtue or sin of this deed.

66. To her the god of fire said,—Do you carry the seed D >, indeed bear the focus endued with my power. It will produce great results

67-68 You are, indeed capable of bearing the entire Earth You will gain nothing by not holding this energy. That foremost of rivers though thus dissuaded by the detiy of fire as also by all the other celest als cast off the seed on the breast of Meru, that foremost of all mountains.

- 69 Capable of bearing that seed, yet oppressed by the power of Rudra, she could not hold that seed longer on account of its burning energy.
- 70—71. After she had cast it off through sheer distress that burning seed having the splendour of fire, O perpetuate of Bhrgu's race, Agin saw her, and saked that foremost of invers—1s it all right with the fectus you have cast off? Of what complexion has it been, O goddess? Of what form does it look? With what energy does it seem to be gifted? Do you tell me all about it.

Ganga said :-

- 72 The fœtus is of gold hue. In energy this like you, O sinless one! Of an excellent color, perfectly stainless, and burning with splendour, it has lighted the entire mountain.
- 73 O foremost of all persons gifted with penances, the fragrance of it resembles the cool perfume that is scattered by lakes adorned with louses
- 74. With the splendour of that focus everything around it seemed to be changed into gold as all things on mountain and low land seem to be changed into gold by the rays of the Sun
- 75 The splendour of that foctus, spreading far and wide, falls upon mountains and rivers and springs
- 76 It seems that the three worlds, with all their molile and immobile creatures, are being lighted up by it Such is your child O illustrious bearer of sacrificial offerings.
- 77. Like the Sun or your blazing self, in beauty it is like a second Soma!—Having said these words the goddess disappeared
- 78 The highly energetic god of fire also, having performed the business of the celesiale, proceeded to the place he liked, O delighter of the Blingus.
- 79 It was on account of the result of this act that the Rishis and the celesicals bestowed the name of Hiranyaretas upon the gods of free.

- 80—81 And because the Earth Hild that seed she also came to be called by the name of Vasurmati Meanwhile that foctus, which had originated from the god of fire and been held for a time by Ganga-having fallon on a forest of reeds began to grow and at last assumed a wonderful form 1 he presiding goddess of the constitution Kritika saw that form resembling the rising Sun.
- 82 She henceforth began to bring up that child as her son with the milk of her breast. For this reason that lighly effulgent child came to be called Kartikeya after her name.
- Sg And because he grew from seed that fell out of Rudra's body, he came to be called Skanda The incident also di his birth having taken place in the forest of reeds, concealed from every body's twew gave him the name of Guha I was thus that gold came into existence as the offspring of the god of fire
- 84 Hence it is that gold came to be regarded as the foremust of all things and the ornament of the very gods. It was from this incident that gold came to be called by the name of Jatarupam.
- 85 It is the foremost of all precourst things, and among ornaments also it is the foremost. The purifier among all purifying things, it is the most sacred of all sacred objects.
- 86 Gold is truly the illustrious Agnithe Lord of all things, and the foremost of all Prajapatis. The most sacred of all sacred things is gold. O foremost of twiceborn ones. Indeed, gold as said to have for its essence Agni and Soma.

Vashishtha said -

- 87 Formerly I also heard this history:
 O Rama, called Brahma-darshana, about the achievement of the Grandfather Brahman who is at one with the Supreme Soul.
- 88-80 To a sacrifice performed formerty by that forement of gods, ver, the Lord of Rudra, O you of great power, who on that occasion had assumed the form of Varuna, there came the ascetuse and all the celestials headed by Agn: Inter also came to that sacrifice all the sacrifical limbs (in their emboded forms), and if Mantra called Vashat in his emboded form.
 - 90 All the Samans also and all the Yajushes, in thousands and in their entbodied forms, came there. The Rig Veda also came there, adorned with the rules of orthoppy.

- gt. The Lakshams, the Suras, the Tomas, the Ninktis, the Notes arranged in rows, and the syllable OM, as also Nigraha and Pragraha, all came there and lived in the eye of Mahadeva.
- 92. The Vedas with the Upanishads, Vidya, and Savitr, as also, the Past, the Present, and the Future, all came there and were held by the illustrious Shiva.
- 93 The powerful Lord of All then poured I battons himself into his own self indeed, the holder of Pinaka cained that Sacrifice of multifarious form to look highly beautiful.
- 91. He is Heaven, Sky, Earth, and the Welkin He is called the Lord of the Larth He is the Lord whose rule is acknowledged by all obstacles. He is gifted with Shree and He is at one with the God of Tire
- 95 That illustrious god is called by various names. He is Brahman, Shiva Rudra, Varina, Agni and Prajipati. He is the au picious Lord of all creatures.
- 95-97 Sacrifice, Penance all the rates, the goddess Dhasha burning with rigid observances the everal Points with the presiding detices, the consorts of all the detaces their daughters and the celevalis mothers, all came to Pashupati O perpetuater of Bhrigu's race, together in a body
- 93 Seeing that sacrifice of the great Mahadeva who had assumed the form of Varuna, all of tem became highly pleased Seeing the celestial ladies of great be-inty, the seed of Brahinan came out and dropped upon the Barth
- 99 On account of the seed having fallen on the dist, the Sun took up that dust mixed with the particles of seed from the Earth with this hands and cast it into the sacrificial fire
- 100. Meanwhile, the sacrifice with the sacred fire of burning flaines was commenced and it went on Brahman was pouring libations on the fire. While thus engaged, the Grandfather became worked up with desire
- 101 As soon as the seed came out, he took it up with the sacrificul ladle and putted it as a libation of clarified butter, O delighter of the Bhergus, with the necessary Mantras, on the burning fire.
- 107 From that seed, Brahman of great power caused the four orders of creatures to come into being. That seed of the Grand-father was endued with the three qualities of Goodness, Darkness, and Ignorance From that element in it which represented the quality of Goodness, sprang all mobile creatures guided with the principle of action.

- 103 From the element of Ignoran et at, sprang all immobile creatures. The quality of Goodness, however, which lived in that seed, entered both kinds of existence. That quality of Goodness is of the nature of Light. It is eternal and of it is unending Space.
- to a In all the creatures the quality of Goodness is present and is at one with it at light which shows what is right and what is wrong. When the seed of Brahman was thus poured as a hibston on that sacrifical fire, there came from it, O powerful one, three beings into existence.
- ing They were three mile persons, splied with bother that part who of the nature of the circumstances from which they respectively originated. One arose first of the five (called Birch) and hence he passed by the name of Birtigu. A second came from the birring charcoils and hence he passed the name of Angres.
- 106 The third originated from a heap of extinguished charcoals and he passed by the name of Kavi It has been afready said that the first came out with flames issuing from his body and hence he was called Bling.
- tof From the rays of the sacrificial fire originated another called March. From Marchi (alterwards) sprang Kasliyapa, it has been already said that from the (burning) charchals originated Anguras, the dwarf lishshic abled Valikhilityas originated from the blades of Kusha grass spread out in that sacree.
- 103-109. From the same blades of fixels grass, O you of great power originated Atri. From the ashes of the fire pregnated the twice born Rishis, vis. the Validianashas endied with penances and given to Vedic learning and all of excellent qualities.
- 110 I om the eyes of Agni originated the twin Ashwins en lued with great beauty? At last, from his ears, originated the Praisonates.
- 111—112 The Rishis originated the price of Agins body. From his sweet originated Citivadas, and from his strength originated Mind. Interfere Agin has been said to be all the celestatism his individual self, by Rishis endued with Vede learning, go ded by the authority of the Vedes I his process of wood that keep alive the fill time process of wood that keep alive the fill must. The junces the lust yields form the Toric Lite junces the lust yields form the Toric rights.
- ti3 The liver of Aghi is called the Day and Night, and his fierce light is called the Muhurtas. The blood of Agni is considered as the source of the Rudras From his blood originated the gold-hued relestials called the Maitradevatas.

*114 From his smoke originated the Vasus. From his flames originated the Rudras as also the (twelve) Adityas of great effulgence

115-117 The Planets and Constellations and other stars that have been set in their respective orbits in the sky, are considered as the (burning) chargoals of Agni. The first Creator of the universe declared Agni to be Supreme Brahma, and Eternal, and the giver of all desires is, indeed, a mystery. "After all these biths had taken place, Mahadeva who had assumed the form of Varuna (for his sacrifice) and who had Payana for his soul, said,-I his excellent Sacrifice is mine I am the Grahapati in it The three beings that first originated from the sacrificial fire are mine! Forsooth, they should be considered as my children. Know this, ye gods who range through the skies! They are the fruits of this Sacrifice.

118 "—Agni said,—These children have originated from my limbs. They have all depended upon me as the cause of their being. They should, therefore, be considered as my children. Mahadeva in the form of Varuna has erred in this matter.

tig After this, the Master of all the worlds, the Grandfather of all creatures, wis., Brahman, then said,—These children are mine! I he seed which I poured upon the sacrificial fire was mine

120. I am the performer of this Sacrifice. I poured on the sacrificial fire, the seed that came out of myself. He who has planted the seed always enjoys the fruit. The principal cause of these births is my seed.

121-124. The celestial went to the Grandfather and kaying bowed their heads to him and joined their hands in respect, they said to him,-All of us, O illustrious one, and the entire universe of mobile and immobile creatures are your offspring O sire, let Agni of burring flames, and the illustrams and powerful Mahadeva and the misting and powerful arangular who has, for this secrifice, assumed the form of Varuna, have their wish. At these words, alticugh born of Brahman, the powerful Mat adeva in the form of Varuna. the king of all aquatic creatures received the fir t born one, vir . Bhrigu effulgent as the Sun, as his own child The Grandfather tl en inte ided that Angiras should become the son of Agni.

125 Known g the truth, the Grandlatter then took Kaxi as I is own son, Busy with procreating creatures for peopling the Earth, Blirigu who is considered as a Prajapati thence came to be called as Varuna's offspring.

126. Gifted with every prosperity, Angiras passed as the offpring of Agin, and the celebrated Kavir came to be known as the child of Brainman himself. Blingu and Angiras, who had originated from the free and theigharcoals of Agin respectively, became the procreators of ex ensive races and tribes in the world.

127 Indeed these three, vis, Birgu and Angiras and Kavi considered as Prajapati are the progenitors of inany rices and tribes. All are the cill fren of these three. Know this, O powerful hero

128—129. Bhrigii begat seven soos all of whom became equal to him in mentis and qualities. Their names are Chyavans, Vaprashirshan, Suchi, Urva, Shukra, that giver of boois, Vithius and Sawana. These are the seven, They are chidred of Bhrigiu and are hinner Bhrigius and are hinner Bhrigius and control of their ancestor Bhrigiu having been adopted by Mahadeva in the foin of Varuna. You belong to the race of Bhrigiu.

130-131. Angiras begot eight sons they also are known as Varinas their names are Vrihaspati, Urathya, Pajassa, Slauti, Dirar, Viriupa, Samyarta, and Sudhanwan the eighth tensidered also as the children of Agin Freed from every evil, they are devoted to knowledge only.

132 The sons of Kavi who was adopted by Brahman hinnself are also known as Varunas Eight in number all of them became progenitors of races and tribes. Auspicious by nature, they all knew Brahma.

133 The names of the eight sons of Kavi are Kavi, Kavya, Dinishing Ushanas endeed with great intelligence, Blirg is Viraja, Kashi, and Ugra knowing every dity.

131 These are the eight sons of Kavi-By them the whole would has been peopled. They are all called Propagate, and they have procreated many officing

135 I has, O chief of Bhrigu's race, has the whole world been peopled with the children of Angiras, and Kayi and Bhrigus

136 The powerful and supreme Lord Mahadeva in the form of Valuna which he had assumed for his stortifice find first O learned Brahm ma, adopted both Kavi and Angeras Hence, these two are considered as of Valuna

- 137. After that the eater of sacrificial libations, viz. the god of fire, adopted of Anguras Hence, all the children of Anguras are known as belonging to the race of Agus.
- 138 The Grandfather Brahman was, formerly proputated by all the dettes who said to him,—I et these lords of the universe save us all.
- 139 Let all of them become progenitors of offspring Let all of them become endued with penances. Through your favour, let all these rescue the world
- 140 Let them become procreators and extenders of races and tethers and let them merease your power. Let all of then become thorough masters of the Ved sand let them be performers of great deeds
- LII Let all of them be friends to the devine cause Indeed, let all of them become gifted with auspiciousness. Let them become founders of extensive rices and tribes and let them be great Rishis. Let all of them be gifted with _rest penances and let all of them be devoted to high celibary.
- 142. All of us, as also all these, are your offspring, O you of great power You, O Grandfather, are the Creator of both the celestials and the Brahmana.
- 143 Marichi is your first offspring. All these also that are called Bhargavas are your progeny. Looking at this fact, O Grandfather, we shall all help and support one another.
- 144—145 All these shall, thus, multiply their progeny and establish yourself at the beginning of each iron after the universal destruction. Thus addressed by them Brahman, the grandfather of all the worlds, so it to them,—So be at I am pleased celestals, he proceeded to the place had come from.
- 146 This is what took place in days of yore in that sacrifice of the preat Minardown, the faremose one of all the celestials in the beginning of creation when he for the purposes of his sacrifice had assumed the form of Varina
- 147 Agm is Brahman. He is Pashupati He is Sarva He is Rudra. He is Prajapati It is well-known that gold is the offspring of Agm.
- , 148. When fire is not to be had, gold is used as a substitute. Guided by the marks of the auditions of the Veda, one who is conversant with authorities and who knows the identity of gold with fire, acts thus.

- 149-150. Futung a piece of gold on some blazes of Kusha grass spread out on the ground, the satisfier pours libations upon it if libations are pinered upon also the porces of an anti-li, upon the right car of a great upon a piece of level earli, upon the waters of a Irrita, or on the man of a farmona, the or on the man of a farmona, the or of the man of the properties of the contract as a source of his own advancement, as also that, of the celestials through his.
- 151 Hence, it is that we have heard that all the celestrals consider Agma as their relage and are devoted to him. Agm originated from Beahman, and from Agmorginated gold.
- 152. Hence, we have heard that those virtuous persons who make gifts of gold are considered as giving away all the delites.
- 153. The man who makes gifts of goldacquires a very high end. Regions of burning effulgence are his. Indeed, O. Bh rgava, he becomes installed as the king of kings in the celestial region.
- t5.1 That person who, at sun-rise, makes a gift of gold according to the ordinatic and with proper Mantras, succeeds in warding off the evils foreshadowed by ominous dreams
- 155. The man who, as soon as the Sun has risen, makes a gift of gold becomes purged of all his sins. He who makes a gift of gold at mid-day destroys all his fuffire sins.
- 156 He who, with controlled soil, makes a git of gold at the second twilight succeeds in hving with Brahman and the god of wind and Agin and Soma in their respective regions
- 157. Such a man acquires fame in regions of great happiness that belong to Indra lumself. Acquiring great fame in this world also and purged of all his suis, he sports in 1y and happiness.
- 158 Such a man acquires many other regions of Landmess and becomes peerless for glory and lame. His course perfectly unobstructed, he succeeds in going everywhere at will.
- 159 He has never to fall down from the regions which the acquires, and the glory he attains to, becomes very great. Indeed, by making grits of gold one acquires numberless regions of happiness all of which he enjoys for good.
- 160 fliat man who, having lighted a fire at sunrise, makes gifts of gold in view of the observance of a particular vow, succeeds in acquiring the fruition of all his desires.

- 161. It has been said that gold is at one with Agni. The gift of gold, therefore, yields great happiness. The gift of gold leads to the possession of those merits and qualities that are desired, and purifies the heart.
- 162. I have thus told you, O sinless one, the origin of gold. O you of power, know how Kartikeya grew up, O delighter of Bhrigu's race.
- 163 Alter a long time Kartikeya grew up He was then, O perpetuator of Bhrigu's race, closen by all the celestrals with Indra at their head, as the commander-in-chief of the celestral forces.
- 164. He killed the Daitya Taraka as also many other Asuras, at the command of the king of the celestrals, O Brahmana, and moved also by the desire of benefiting all the worlds.
- 165 I have also, O you of great power, described to you the merits of making gifts of gold. Do you, therefore, O foremost of all speakers, make gifts of gold.

Bhishma said :--

- 166 Thus 'addressed by Vashishtha, Jamadagni's son of great power then made gifts of gold to the Brahmanas and became cleansed of his sins.
- 167. I have thus told you, O king, everything about the ments of the gifts of gold and about its origin also, O Yudhishthira.
- 168 Do you also, therefore, make profuse gift of gold to the Brahmanas Indeed O king, by making such Lifts of gold, you will surely be purged of all your suis.

CHAPTER LXXXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yndhishthira said:-

- t. You have, O grandfather described to me fully the ments of the gift of gold according to the ordinances laid down in the acriptures and the Veda.
- 2. You have also described the origin of gold. Do you tell me now how laraka met with destruction.
- You have, said. O king, that that Asura had become unslayable by the gods Do you tell me fully how his destruction was brought about.
- 4. O perpetuator of Kuru's race, I wish to hear this from you, I mean the details of Taraka's destruction. Great is my curio-

Bhishma said -

- 5 The gods and the Rishis, O king, reduced to great distress, urged the six Krittikas to rear that child.
- 6 Amongst the celestral ladies there were none, except these, who could by their power, bear the seed of Agm in their wombs.
- 7. The god of fire became highly pleased with those goddesses for their readiness to sustain the conception caused by the seed of Agin which was gifted with his own great power.
- 8 When the energy of Agni, O king, was divided into six parts and placed within the channels, the six Kriitikas began to nourish the portion that each held in her womb.
- 9 As the great Kumara, however, began to grow within their wombs, their bodies being possessed by his energy, they could not get peace anywhere.
- 10. Filled with energy as their bodies were, the time at last came for delivery. All of them, it so happened, O prince of men, delivered simultaneously.
- 11. Though held in six different wombs, yet when all the parts as they came out united into one. The goddess Earth left the child, taking it up from a mays of gold.
- 12 Indeed, the child, possessed of a beautiful form, shone like the god of Fire. Of beautiful features he began to grow in a charming forest of reeds.
- 13 The six Krittikas saw that child of theirs looking like the morning Sun Filled with affection for him,—indeed, loving him very much,—they began to rear him with their milk.
- 14. On account of his having been born the Krittikas and reared by them, he was known in the three worlds by the name of Karitikes. A Having originated from the seed which had fallen, off from Rudra le was named Skanda, and because of his birth in a solitary forest of reeds he was called Gulla.
- 15—17. The thruy-three gods, the points of the compass together with their presiding control of the compass together with their presiding control of the compass together with their presiding their present their p that wonderful child who was the son of the god of Fire

- 18. The Rishis sang hymns of praise and the Gandharvas sang in honor of that whild called Rumara of six heads, twelve eyes, and greatly devoted to the Brahmanas.
- 10—20. His shoulders were broad, and he had twelve arms, and the splendour of his body resembled that of fire and Aditya. As he lay stretched on a clump of health, the gods with the Rishis, seeing him became great Aura as already killed. The celestials then began to bring him various kinds of tops and arrices that could amuse him.
- 2t. As he played like a child, various sorts of toys and birds were given to him Garuda of excellent feathers gave to him a thild of his, vis, a peacock having plumes of variegated color.
- 22 The Rakshas gave to him a boar and a buffalo Aruna himself gave him a cock of fiery splendour.
- 23 The Moon gave him a sheep, and the Sun gave him some dazzling rays of his The mother of all kine, vis., Surabl 1, gave him kine by hundreds and thousands
- 24 Agni gave him a goat having many good qualities Ila gave him profuse flowers and fruits. Sudhanwan gave him a riding thariot and a car of the great Kuvara.
- 25-26 Varuna gave him many auspituous and good products of the Ocean whistome elephants he kung of the celestist gave him lons and tugers and pards and various kinds of the birds of the air, and wang terrible beasts of prey and many morellas also. Many Rakshasas and Asuras began to follow that powerful child
 - 27 Seeing the son of Agni grow up, Taraka sought, by various means, to bring about his destruction but could not do anything to that powerful deity.
 - as The goals in time invested Agmi's son born a solitary forest with the command of their army. And they also informed lum of the oppressions made upon them by the Asura Taraka.
 - 2g The commander in-clife of the celestial army grew up and became possessed of great energy and power. In time Guba killed laraka, with his irresistible dart.
 - 30. Indeed, Kumara killed the Asura as easily as if in sport. Having brought about the destruction of Taraka the re-established the king of the celestials in his sovereignty of the three worlds.

- 31. Gifted with mighty power, the celestial general shone in beauty and splendour. The powerful Skanda became the protector of the celestials and did what was agreeable to Shankara
 - 32 The illustrious son of Pavaka had a golden form. Indeed, Kumara is always the leader of the celestral arms.
 - 33 Gold is the powerful energy of the god of fire and was born with Kartikeya-Hence is gold highly sacred valuable, and excellent and has unending ment.
 - 34 Thus, O son of Kuru'a race, did Vashistha recte formerly this topic to Rama of Bhrigu s race Do you, therefore, O king of men, try to make gifts of gold.
 - 35 By making gifts of gold, Rama became purged of all his sins, and finally acquired a high place in Heaven that is unattainable by other men.

CHAPTER LXXXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthıra saıd 🚗

1 You have described to me, O you of righteous soul, the duties of the four castes Do you, similarly, O king, describe to me now all the ordinances regarding the Shraddha

Vaishampayana said :--

2 Thus addressed by Yudhisthira, the son of Shantanu began to recite to him the following ritual, consistent with the ordinances of the Shraddha.

Bhishma said -

- 3 Listen O king, with rapt attention, to me as I describe to you the ritual of the Shraddha I lat ritual is auspicious, laudable productive of fame and progeny, and is considered as a sacrifice, O scorcher of enemies, in bonor of the departed Manes.
 - 4 Gods or Asuras or human beings, Gandharvas or Uragas or Rakshasas, Pishachas or Kimaras, every one should always adore the departed Manes
- 5 It is seen that people adore the departed Manes first and please the celestials next by offering them their worship. Hence, one should always adore the departed Manes with every care.
- 6 It is said, O king, that the Shraddha performed in honor of the departed. Manes is performable atterwards. But this general rule has a special restraint.

- 7. The (deceased) grandfather become gratified with the Shraddha that may be performed on any day. I shall, however, tell you now what the merits and demerits are of the respective limar days.
- 8 I shall describe to you, O sinless one, what fruits are attained on what days by perferming it e Shraddha. Do you listen to me with rapt attention.
- 9 By worsh pping the departed Manes on the first day of the light forting h, one obtains in liss abode benutiful wives capable of producing many children all endued with desirable accomplishments.
- to By performing the Shraddha on the second day of the light forting hit, one gets many daughters. By performing it on the third day, one acquires many horses. By performing it on the fourth day, one gets a large heat of smaller animals in his house.
- ti. They, O king, who perform the Shraddha on the flith day, get many sons Those men who perform the Shraddha on the sixth day, acquire great splendour,
- 12 By performing it on the seventh day, O king, one wins great fame. By performing it on the eighth day one, secures great profits in commercial pursuits.
- 13 By performing it on the ninth day one acquires many animals of u icloven loofs. By performing it on the tenth day, one acquires many valuable kine.
- 14 By performing it on the eleventh day one gets valuable cloths and utensils Such a man also gets many sons all of whom become endued with Brahma splendour.
- 15 By performing the Shraddia on the twelfth day, one always sees if he de ires various sorts of beautiful silver and gold articles
- 16—17. By performing the Straddia on the litricent day over tegns supreme over his kinsmen. Forsooth, all the you'g mer in te family of him who performs the Straddia on the fourteenth day die. Such a man begin to have a suprementation of the suprementation of the
 - 18 In the dark fortnight all the days beginning with the tenth leaving only it e fourteenth day out are good days for the performance of the Shraddha. Other days of that fortnight are not so
 - 19 Then again, as the dark fortnight is better than the light one so the afternoon of the day is better than the forenoon for the bhraddha

CHAPTER LXXXVIII.

(ANUSITASANIKA , PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said -

1. O you of gréat power, tell me what that of ject 18 which if dedicated to the departed Manes, becomes mexhaustible! What Havi again (if offered) lasts for all time? What, indeed, is that which becomes eternal?

Bhishma said:-

- 2 Hear me, O Yudhishthira, what there havis are wil ch persons conversant with the situal of the Shraddha consider as sunable for the Shraddha and what the fruits are of each.
- 3 With sesame seeds, rice, barley, Masta water, root and fruits, if given at Shraddhas, the departed Manes, O king, remain pleased for a month
- 4 Manu has said that if a Shraddha is performed with profine sesame, such Shraddha becomes hiexhaustible. Of all sorts food, sesame seeds are considered as the best.
- 5 With fishes off-red at Shraddias, the departed Manes remain pleased for two mouths With mutton they remain pleased for three months and with the flesh of the hare for four.
- 6 With the flesh of the goat O king, they remain pleased for five months, with becon for six months, and with the flesh of birds for seven
- 7 With ventson got from those deer that are called Prist ata they remail pleased for eight months and with that obtained from the Ruru for nine months, and with the meat of the Gavaya for ten months
- 8 With the meat of the buffalo they remain pleased for eleven mostlis. With beef presented at the Shiaddha, they remain pleased for a full year.
- 9 Payasa mixed with clarified butter is as much as acceptable to the departed Manes as beef. With the meat of the Vadhrinasa the Pitris remained pleased for twelve years
- 10 The flesh of the Rhinoceros offeed to the departed Manes on the anniversaries of the lunar days on which they ded becomes endless. The potherb called Kalashaka, the petals of the Kanel and flower, and meat of the goat also, thus offerth, prove inekhaustible.

- 11. Regarding it, O Vudhishthira, there are some Verses, originally sung by the departed Manes, that are now sung (in the world). Sanathimmaa communicated them to me in former days.
- 12. He who has taken birth in our race, should give us Payasa Imixed livith clarified butter on the thirteenth day (of the dark lortnight), under the constellation Magha, during the Sun's southward course.
- t3 One born in our race, should under the constellation Magha, as if in the observance of a vow, offer the meat of goat or the petals of the Kanchana flower. One should also offer its, with due rites, Payasa motted with clarified butter, declaring it on a spot covered by the aliadow of an elephant.
- 14 Many sons should be coveled so that even one may go to Gay1, where stands the baman that is celebrated over all the worlds and that makes all offerings made under its branches endless,
- 15 Even a little of water, roots, fruits, meat, and rice mixed with honey, if offered on the anniversary of the day of death, becomes endless

CHAPTER LXXXIX. (ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ~ Continued.

Bhishma said:-

- Hear me, O Yudhishthira, as I tell you what thise optional Shraddhas are that should be performed under the different constellations and that were first spoken of by Yama to king Shashaynidu.
- 2 That man who always performs the Shraddh under the constellation Kritika is considered as performing a sacribee after establishing the sacred fire. Such a person, freed from lever, goes to Heaven with his children,
- 3. He who is desirous of children should betform the St raddha under the constellation. Robit: white he who is desirous of power should do it under the constellation. Migashiras. By performing the Shradhia under the constellation Ardra, a man becomes the does of terrific deeds.
- 4 A man , by performing the Shraddha under Punarvasu, makes much gam by agriculture. The man who is desirous of krowth and advancement should perform the Shraddha under Poshya.
- 5 By doing it under the constellation Ast lesha one begets heroic children. By

- doing it under the Maghas one gains supertority over kinsmen.
- 6 By doing it under the (prior) Phalguns, one gains good fortune. By doing the Shraddha under the later Phalgunas one gets many children, while by performing it under Hasta, one gets the fruition of his wishes.
- 7 By performing it under the constellation Chitra one gets beautiful children. By doing it under the constellation Swati, one makes much profit by trade.
- 8 The man who desires children, acquires the frution of his desire by performing the Shraddha under the constellation Vishakha, By doing it under Anuradha, one becomes an Emperor.
- 9 By making offerings in honor of the departed Manes under the constellation Jeshthya, with devotion and humility, one acquires sovereignly, O foremost one of four starce.
- to By doing the Shraddia under Mula, one gains health, and by doing it under the prior Ashada, one acquires excellent fame, By performing it under the later Ashada, one succeeds in travelling over the whole world, freed from every sorrow.
- 11. By doing it under the constellation Abhijit, one acquires great knowledge. By doing it under Shravana, one, after death, attams to a very high end
- 12 The man who performs the Shradha under the constellation Dhanistha becomes a king. By doing it under the constellation presided over by Vardaa (ris, Shatavisha), one becomes a successful physician
- 13 By performing the Shraddha under the constellation of the prior Bhadrapada, one acquires many goats and sheep while by doing it under the later Bhadrapada, one acquires thousands of kine.
- 1.4 By performing the Shraddha under the constellation Revait, one acq ires many ortensits of white brass and capper. By doing it under Ashwin, one acquires many horses, while under Bharani, one lives long.
- 15 Listening to these ordinances about the Shraddina, king Shrishavindu acted accordingly, and succeeded in easily conquering and ruling the whole Barth.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA).—

Yndhishthira said .-

t. You should, O foremost one of Kuru's race, tell me to what kind of Brahmanas, O grandfather, should the offers made at Shraddhas, be given away.

Bhishma said -

194

- 2 The Kshatrija who is conversint with the ordinances about gift should never examine Berdmanas. In all matters, however, relating to the worship of the detices and the departed Mines, an examination has been said to be proper.
- 3 The dettes are adored on Earth by men only when they are filled with devotion originating from the celestials themselves Hence, one should, approaching them, make pilts to all Brahmanas, respecting such grits as are made to the celestial themselves.
- 4 In Shraddhas, however, O king, the man of intelligence should examine the Brahmanas Such examination should be about their birth, conduct, age, appearance, and learning.
- 5. Amongst the Brahmanas there are some who pollute the line and some who purify it Listen to me, O king, as I tell you who those Brahmanas are that should be a substantial formula be an extended for making him.
 - be excluded from the line. He who is will, or he who is guilty of fœucide, or he who is ill of consumption, or he who keeps animals, or he who has no Vedic study, or is a common servant of a village, or lives up n usury, or he who is a singer, or he who sells all articles, or he who is girlly of arson, or he who is a poisoner, or he who is a pimp by profession, or he who sells Suma or he who teaches palmistry, or he who is in the employ of the king or he who is a seller of oil, or he who is a cheat and false sweater, or he who has a quarrel with his father, or he who tolerates a paramour of his wife, or he who has been cursed, or he who is a thief, or he who lives by some mechanical art, or he who puts on disturses or he who is decertful in his conduct, or he who is hostile to those he calls his friends, or he who is an adulterer, or he who is a preceptor of Shudras, or he who has taken up the projession of arms or he who wanders with dogs (for hunting), or he who has been bit by a dog, or he who has married before his elder prothers or he who seems to have undergone circumcision, he who violates the bed of his preseptor, he who is an actor or mone, he who lives by setting up an idol,

- and he who lives by calculating the conjunctions of stars and planets and asterisms, are considered as fit to be excluded from the line.
- 12 Persons knowing the Vedas say that the offerings made at Shraddhas, if eater by such Brahmanas, go to fill the stomachs of Rakshasas, O Yudhishthira
- 13 I hat person who having eaten at a sliraddhy does not abstant that day from Veduc studies, or who has known that day a Shindra woman, must know that his departed Manes on account of such deeds of his, have to lie for a month on his own translation.
- The offerings made at Shrad-11-15 dhas if presented to a Brahmana who sells wine, become converted into human excreta, if presented to a Brahmana who practises as a physician, they become converted into puss and blood, if presented to one who lives by setting up an idol, they fail to pro duce any fruit, if presented to one who who lives upon usury, they lead to infamy, if presented to one who is engaged in trade, they become productive of no fruits either in this world or in the next If presented to a Brahmana who is boin of a widowed mother, they become as fruitless as libations poured on ashes.
- 16. They who present the Havya and Kavya to such Brainmans who do not perform the dutes ordaned for them and who do not observe those rules of good conduct that persons of their order should observe find such presents productive of no merits butenfier.
- 17. That little witted man who makes gits of such articles to such men knowing their dispositions obliges, by such conduct, his departed Manes to eat human excreta in the next world.
 - 18 You should know that it ese wretched Brahmanas deserve to be excluded from the line. Those Brahmanas also of hitle energy who are engaged in instructing Shudras belong to the same class.
 - 19 A Brahmana who is blind status sixty individuals of the line, one who is destitute of manly powers status a hundred, while one who is afflicted with white leprosy status as many as he looks upon, O king
 - 20 Whatever offerings made at Shraddhas are caten by one with his head wrapped round with a cloth whatever is eaten by one with face southwards and whatever is eaten with shoes or sandals on, all goes to please the Asuras.
 - 21 Whatever, again is given with malice, and whatever is given without respect, have been ordered by Brahman himself as the portion of the king of Asiras (213., Val.)

- 22 Dogs and such Brahmmans as are politizers of lines, should not be suffered to look upon the offerings made at Miradilars therefore, Shradilars should be performed at a place that is properly hedged around or concealed from the view. That spot should also be covered with zessume seeds.
- 23. That Shraddha which is done without sesame seeds, or that which is done by a person in anger, has its Havi robbed by Rakshasas and Pishachas.
- 24. According to the number of Brahman is seen by one who deserves to be excluded from the line is the loss of merit he causes of the foolish performer of the Shrad file who myress him to the least.
- 25 I shall now, O chief of Bharata's race, tell you who are purifiers of the line. Do you find them out by examination.
- 26. All those Brahmanas who are purified by knowledge, Vedic study, yours and observances at d they who are of good and righteous conduct, should be known as purifiers of everything
- 27. I shall now tell you who deserve to sit in the line You should know them to be such whom I shall mark out presently. He who is conversant with the three Na-Chiketas, he who has set up the five sacrificial fires, he who knows the five Suparnas he wild knows the six branches testled Angas) of the Ved 1, he who is a descepdant of fathers who were engaged in teaching the Vedas and is himself engaged in teaching, he who is well conversing with He Prosody, he who is acquainted with the Jeshiliya Saman he who is obedient to his parents, he who is conversint with the Vedas, and whose ancestors have been so for ten generations he wis knows only his interted wives and this at their seasons, and he who has been purified by knowledge, by the Veda, and by viws and observinces,-even such a Brahmana,-punfies the line.
 - 30—22. He who reals the Atharvashiras, who is given to the observance of Brahmacharya practices, and who is stady in the abservance of rightenin your, who is rruthful and of pure conduct, and who duly satisfies the dutte laid down for his order, they also who have undergone fatigue and labour for bathing in the sacred waters, who have done the fluid bath after celebrating sacrifices with proper Materia, who are fried from ancer, who are interesting the sacrifices with of the foresting who are realized and are endued with forgreensy.

- who are self controlled mosters of their senses, and they who are devoted to the behood of all creatures,—these should be injusted to Shraddhas
- 33 Anything given to these, becomes endless. These, indeed, are purifiers of lines. There are others also, lugally blessed, who should be considered as purifiers of the line.
- 34. They are Vatis and those who are conversant with the religion of Em incipation, and they who are devoted to Voga and they who properly observe excellent vows, and they who, with collected mind, recute (sacred) histories to foremost of Brahmanas.
- 35—36 They who are conversant with commentatines, they also who are given to ground materal studies, they who study the Percanas and diety who study, the Dhardrashastras, and having studied them act up to the standard laid down in their, he who has lived in the house of his preceptor, he who is truthful in speech, he who is truthful in speech, he who is a giver of thousands, they that are foremost in Veda. Sore and in the houviedge of) the scriptural and lphilosophical aphorisms,—these parily the lines as far it by look at it by look at it.
- 33. And because they purify all who sit in the line, therefore are they called purifiers of lines. Utterers of Brahma say that even a stude pers in who happens to be the descendant of ancestors who were trachers of the Veda and who is humoil a Vedic teacher, purifies had seven unles around him.
- 39 If he who is not a Ruwik and that is not a Vedic teacher takes the foremost seat or a Shrad ha, with even the perintsion of the other Ruwiks there present, he is said to take the suis of all who may be sitting in the line.
 - 4). If, on the other hand, Ie happens to be conversant with the Vedax and freed from all those faults which are considered as captible of polluting the line he shall not, O king, be emisdered as fallen, Such a man would then be really a pu ther of the line.
 - 41 For these reasons, O king, you should proposly extinue the Balmanas before morting them to Shrad thas, You should invite only such among them as are devoted to the duties faid down for their order, and as are pitted with great learning.
 - 42 He who performs Shraddins for feeding only his friends and whose flavored does not please the celestials and the departed Manes, fails to ascend to Heaven.

- 43 He who collects his firends and relatives only on the occasion of the Straddha he performs, fails to proceed (after death) by the celestial path. He man who converts the Shraddha he performs, not an occasion for only collecting his friends, never succeeds in ascending to Ileaven The man who converts the Shraddha into an occasion for treating his friends, becomes alternated from Heaven even like a bird dissociated from the perchibent of the procession of the same time the case of the same time the perchibent of the process.
- 41 Therefore, he who performs a Shraddha should not home his friends He may make gifts of riches to them on other occasions by collecting them together. The Havi and the Kavi offered at Shraddhas should be served to them who are neither friends nor enemies but are only indifferent or neutral.
- 45 As seed sown on a barren soil does into sprout forth, or as one who has not sown does not get [a share of the produce, so that Shraddha the offerings in which are eaten by an unworthy person; yields no fruit either in this world or in the next.
 - 46 That Brahmana who is destitute of Vedic study is like a fire made by birring grass or straw, and becomes soon put out even like such a fire. The offerings made at bhraddhas should not be given to him even as libations should not be poured on the aslies of the sacrificial fire.
 - 47. When the offerings made at Shraddhas are exchanged by the performers with one another, they become Palsacha presents Such offerings please netter the gods nor the departed Manes Instead of reaching the other world, they wander about even here tike a cow which has lost her calf wandering about within the fold,
 - 48. As those libations of clarified butter that are pointed upon the extinguished ashes of a sacrificial fire never reach end er the gods or the departed Manes, similarly a gift that is made to a dancer or a singer or a Dakshina presented to a lying or deceitful person, yields no merit.
 - 49 The present that is given to a lying or decential person destroys both the giver and the receiver without benefung them in any way. Such a present is destructive and highly censurable. The Pitris of the person making it have to fall down from the celestial path.
 - 50 The gods know them to be Brah manas who always walk, O Yudhishthira, within the limits set up by the Rishis who know all duttes, and who have a firm faith in their effuacy.
 - 51. Those Brahmanas who are given great beauty of person

- to Vedic study, to knowledge, to penances, and to acts, O Bharata, should be known as Rishes.
- 52. The offerings made at Shraddhas, should be given to those who are devoted to knowledge. Indeed, they are to be considered as men who never speak all of the Brahmana.
- 53 Those men should never be fed on occasions of Shraddhas whi speak ill of Brahmanas in course of conversation in the midst of conclaves. If Brahmanas, O kingbe wified, they would destroy three generations of the calpiumiate.
- 54 This is the saying, O king, of the Valkhanasa Rishis Brahmanas knowing the Vedas should be examined from a distance.
- 55. Whether one likes them or not, one shuld give to such Brahmanas the offerings made at Shraddhas. I that man who cleeds thousands upon the thinsands of unworthy Brahmanas acquires ment that is attainable by feeding even one Brahmana if the latter happens to be endued with a knowledge of the Vedas, O Bharata!

CHAPTER XCI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said:-

1. By whom was the Shraddha first conceived and at what time? What also is its substance? In the time when the world was inhabited by only the descendants of Bhrigu and Ar giras, who was the Munn who established the Shraddha?

2 What deeds should not be done at Shraddha? What are those Shraddhas in which fruits and roots are to be iffered? What kinds also of paddy should be avoided in Shraddhas? Itll me all this, O grandfather

Bhishma said :--

- 3 Listen to me, O king, as I tell you how the Shraddha was introduced, the time of such introduction, the essence of the rite, and the ascetic who conceived it-
- 4 From the Self Create Brahman sprang Atri, O you of Kuru's race In Atris family was born a Muoi pamed Dattatreya
- family was born a Muni named Dattatreya
 5 Dattatreyà got a son named Nimi having asceticism for wealth. Nimi gua son named Shrimat who was gifted with

- 6 Upon the expiration of a full thouband years, Shrimat having practised the severest austerities, yielded to the influence of Lime and depated from this world
- 7. His father Num, having performed the purificator rites according to sanctioned rites, became stricken with great grief, thinking continually of the loss of his son
- 8 Thinking of that cause of sorrow, the great Nimi collected together various agreeable objects on the lourteenth day of the moon. The next morning he rose from bed.
- 9 Stricken as his heart was with grief, as he rose from sleep that day he succeeded in withdrawing it from the one object upon which it had been working. His mind became busy with other matters
- 10—11. With rapt attention he then conceived the idea of a Straddha Alf those articles of his own food, containing fruits and roots, and all those kinds of staple grains which he liked, were carefully thought of by that sage having penances for wealth:
- 12. On the day of the New Moon he lovned a number of worthy Brahmanas Gifted with great wisdom, Nimi made them ait on seats and honored them by going round them.
- 13. Approaching seven such Brahmanas whom he had brought to his house together, the powerful Nimi gave them food consisting of Shyamaka rice, unmixed with salt.
- 14 Towards the feet of those Brahmanns engaged in eating the food that was streed to them a number of Kusha blades was spread out, on the seats they occupied, with it e tops of the blades directed towards the south.
- 15 With a pure body and mud and with rapt attention, Nimi, having placed those blades of sacred grass in the way inducted, effered cakes of tice to his dead son, utering his name and family.
- 16 Having done this, that foremost of access became filled with regret at the like of laying done a deed that had not been led down in any of the scriptures leded. If it doed, the began to think of what he lad done.
- 17. Never done before by the ascetics alas, what have I done! How shall I avoid being cursed by the Brah names?
- 18. He then thought of the original founder of his face. As soon as he was thought of, Artificating penances for wealth came there.

 1) I coung him greatly stricken with great.

- consequent on the death of his son, the uninortal Atts comforted him with agreeable advice.
- 20 He said to him,—O Nimi, this rite that you have conceived, is a sacrifice in honor of the departed Manes. Do not fear, O you, having ascetticism for wealth. Formelly the Grandfather Brahman himself laid it down.
- 21. This rite that you have conceived, has been ordained by the Self Create himself. Who else save the Self-Create could ordain this ritual in Shraddhas ?
- 22 I shall now tell you, O son, the excellent ordinance laid down in the matter of Shraddhas Ordaned by the Self-Create himself, O son, follow it. Listen to me first.
- 23 Having first performed the Karana on the sacred fire with the help of Mantras, O you having penances for wealth, one should always pour libations next to the god of fire, and Soma, and Varuna.
- 24. The Self-Create next ordained a portion of the offerings to the Vishwedevas also, who are always the companions of the departed Manes.
- 25. The Earth also, as the goddess who sustains the offerings made at Shraddhas, should then be lauded under the names of Varshnavi, Kashyapi, and the mexhaustible.
- 26 When water is being fetched for the Straddha, the powerful god Varuna should be lauded After this, both Agin and Soma should be invoked with respect and pleased (with libations), O sinless one.
- 27. Those denies named Pitris were created by the Sell-Create. Others also, highly blessed, siz, the Ushinapas, were created by him. For all these, stares have been sanctioned of the offerings made at Shraddhas.
- 28 By worshipping all these gods at Shraddhas, the ancestors of the persons performing them become purged of all sins, the departed Maine referred to above as those created by the Self Create are seven in number.
- 29 The Vishwedevas, having Agni for their mouth, have been mentioned before. I shall now mention the names of those great delies who decree shares of the offerings made at Shraddhas
- 30-33 They are Vals, Dhin, Vipapma, Punyakin, Pavana, Parsi n, Kal eman, Samula, Disyasana Vivaswat Viryawar, Himat, Kutimat, Kita Jiatiman, Munasirya, Decoman Hasyaskera, Amakarman, Pratisa, Pradati, Angal mat,

Shailabha, Parama, Krodhi, D'uroshni, Bhupati, Srajas, Vajem, and Vati,—these are the eternal Vishwedevas, There are others also whose names are Vidyurarchas, Somavarchas, and Suryashir by 34—37. Others also are Sonnapa, Sittyasasutta, Dattatman, Pundarryaka, Uthunalbia, Nebboda, Vistwayat, Dyu, Chambia, Sabiboda, Vistwayat, Dyu, Chambiara, Sucesha, Yyoman, Shankan, Bhava, Ba, Kattikhti, Ganta, Pakakan, Kattikhti, Ganta, Pakakan, Maka, Rashmunat, Saptokar, Sonavarchas, Vishwakiri, Kaw, Anugoptr, Sunoaprika, Vishwakiri, Kaw, Anugoptr, Sugoptri, Napiri, and Ishwara,—these hughly blessed ones are called Vishwedess They are eternal, and they know all that occurs in time.

33-39 Kodrava, and Pulskt are the spectra of paddy which should not be offered at Shraddhas Assales lita also, among articles used it cooking, should not be offered, as also onions and garlies, the produce of the Mortinga, ptery gosperma, Bauhnia Varregata, the meat of animals killed with pursoned arrows, all varetices of Cucubita Pepo, Cucurbita lagenaria, and black salt.

- 40—41. The other articles that should not be offered at Shraddhas are the flesh of the domesticated log, the meat of all animals not killed at ascrifices, Nigella satura, salt of the variety called Vid, the potherbatis called Shitapaka, all sprouss and also the Irapa bispinosa. All kinds of salt should be excluded from the offerings made at Siraddhas, and also the fruits of the Eugenia Jambalana.
- 42 All atticles, again upon which any one has spat or upon which terrs have fallen should be avoided at Stradilhas Among offerings made to the departed Mines or with the Husya and Kayya offered to the clestials, the potherb called Sadarshana should not be included.
 - 43—14. Havi mwed with this r not acceptable to the departed Manes. From the place where the Straidilis is being performed, the Chandila and the Shwapacha should be excluded, as also all who wear performed, the suffering for a opposite wifering for a opposite wifering for a opposite wifering for a opposite wifering for a more who is guilty of Brahmanuade, or a Brahmana of mixed descent, or one who is the relative of an outcast man. Here all should be excluded by wire persons from the place where a Shraddina is being performed.
 - 45. Having said these words formerly to the Rishi Nimi of his own race, the illustrious Atri having penances for wealth

D'uroshni, then went back to the Grandlather's court

CHAPTER XCII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhishma said:-

- r. After Nimi had acted thus, all the great Rishis began to erlebrate the sacrifice in honor of the departed Manes (called the Shraddha) according to rites laid down in the ordinance
- Performing all duties, the Rishis, having performed Shraddhas, began to also offer oblations of sacred waters, with attention.
- 3 On account, however, of the offerings made by persons of all classes, the departed Manes began to digest that food.
- 4 Soon they, and the celestials alsh with them, became afflicted with indigestion Indeed, afflicted with the heaps of food that all persons began to give them, they went to Suma.
- 5--, Approaching Som the said-Max greats som musey on account of the food that is offered to us at Straddity. Do you ordan what is necessary for our comfort—Soma answered to them, saying— II, we gods, ye are destroined acquiring comfort do ye then gots the above of the Self-Create. Even he will do whit is for your beloof—At these words of Som, the celestrate and the departed Maries there were O Boards, in the Granddather where were O Boards, in the Granddather where sources of the museum of the museum

The gods said :-

- 8 O illustrious one, with the food that is offered in in satelfines and Straidhlasses are suffering very match. O lond, show us favour and do what would be furjour behoof.
- o Hearing these words of theirs the Selt Greate said to them in reply—If re, the god of fire is sitting beside me. Lyon he will do what is for your good.

Agni said :-

10. Ye sires, when a Shraddha comes, we shall in a body ent the offerings made to us. If ye eat those offerings with many eshall, forsooth, succeed in digesting them easily.

II Hearing these words of the God of Fire, the departed Manes became comforted It is for this reason also that in making afferings at Shraddhas a share is first effected in the God of Fire. O kin ...

12. If a portion of the efferings be first hade to the God of Fire at a Shraddha, U king, Rakshasas of twice-horn origin termot then do any injury to such a Shraddha.

13 Seeing the God of Fire at a Sheaddha, Rassasas, fly away from the little of the Shraddha is that the cake should first be offered to the (departed) father. Next, jone abould be offered to the grandfather.

14. Next should one be offered to the greate, total attent. This is the ordinance relatings to Shraddha. Over every cake that is offered, the offerer should, with rapic attention, inter the Savita Mantral.

15 Ilos other Manita also should be uttered, ers, to Soma who is fond of the departed Manes. A woman that has become impure on actount of her season, or one whose ears have been cut off, should not be allowed to remain where a bhraddha is being done. Nor should a woman be brought from a family other than that of the person who is performing the Shraddha;

16. While crossing a river, one should offer oblations if water to his Pitris, naming them all. Indeed, when one comes upon a river one should please his Paris with oblations of water.

17. Having offered oblations of water first to the ancestors of his race, one should next offer such oblations to his departed friends and relatives.

18. When one crosses a river on a car to which is yoked a couple of oxen of variegated color, or from them that cross a river on boats, the departed Manes expect oblations of water.

19. Those who know this always offer oblations of water with rapt attention to the departed Manes. Every forting ht, on the day of the New Moon one should make offerings to his departed ancester.

20-21. Growth, longewith, energy, and prosperity become all attainable through devotion to the departed Manes I he Grandfather Brahman, Platstya, Vashishitia, Pultha, Angeras, Kratu and the great Rish Kashyapa,—these, O prince of Kura's rate, are considered as great masters of Vol.a.

22. They are numbered among the departed Manes Leen this is the high ritual in the matter of Shraddha, O king. I firough Shraddhas performed on Earth, the deceased members of his race become freed from a poison of miser).

23 I have thus, O prince of Rurn's race, explained to you, according to the scripture, the ordinances relating to Straddiss, I shall once more discourse to you on with.

CHAPIER XCIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said .--

1. If Brahmanas who observe a vow {ors, fast) eat, at the invitation of a Brahamana, the Havi, can they be charged with the sin of violating their vow? Lell me this, O Grandfather.

Bhishma said:—

2. Let those Brahmantas eat, moved by desire, who observe such yows as are not laid down in the Vedas. About those Brahmanas, however, who observe such yows as are laid down in the Vedas, they are obtandered as guilty of a breach of their yow, O Yudhishthra, by eating the Hayl of a Shraddha at the request of him who performs the Shraddha.

Yudhishithra said:-

'3. Some people say that fast is a penance. Is penance really at one with fast or is it not so? Tell me this, 'O grandfather.

Bhishma said:—

4 Prople do consider a regular last for a month or a half month as alpenance. The truth, however, is that one who mortifies his own body is not to be considered, either as an ascetic or as one convergent with duty.

S Renunciation, however, is considered as the best of penances. A Brahmana should always abstain form food, and observe the row of celibacy.

5. A Brahmana should always practise self defual controlling even speech, and recite the Ved is. The Brahmana should marry and surround humself with children and relatives, from desire of acquiring virtue. He should never sleep.

7. He should rbstain from meat He should always read the Vedax and the scriptures He should always speak the truth, and practise self control He should east He residue (ms. of what remains after serving the detties and guests) Indeed, he should be hospitable towards all that come to his busic. He should always eat nectar, He should duly observe all rites and cele- 1 brate sacrifices.

Yudhishthıra said .—

8 How may one come to be considered as always observant of fasts? How may une become observant of vows? How, O king, may one come to be an eater of the resident? By doing what may one be said to be fond of guests

Bhishma said .-

200

- 9 He who takes food only morning and evening at line appointed hours and abstains from all food during the interval, is said to be an abstainer from food.
- 11. He who knows only his married wide and that only at her season, is said to be observant of the vow of celibacy. By always making gifts, one comes to be considered as truthful in speech,

 12. By abstanting from all meat obtain
 - ed from animals killed for nothing, one becomes an abstainer from meat. By making gifts one becomes purged of all sins, and by abstaining from sleep during day time, one comes to be considered always awake

 13 He who always eats what remains
 - alter serving the guests and servants, know, O Yudhishthira, is said to always eat nectar.

 14. He who abstains from eating till
- Brahmanas have eaten, is considered as conquering Heaven by such abstention.

 15. He who eats what remains after serving the celestials, the departed Manes,
- and relatives and dependants, is said to ent Vighasa or the residue.

 16 Such men acquire many regions of happiness in the abode of Brahman himsell. There, O king, they live in the cimpany of Apsaras and Gandharvas,
 - 17. Indeed, they sport and enjoy in these regions, with the celestrals and guests and the departed Manes in their company, and surrounded by their own children and grandchildren. Even such becomes their high end.

Yudhishthira said :--

18 People are seen to make various kinds of kitts to the Brahmanas. What, however, is the difference, O grandfather, batween the giver and the receiver?

Bhishma said:-

19. He Brahmana accepts gifts from him who is suchteous, and from him who is such the giver happens to be wittoou, the receiver commits hitle sin. If, on the other hand, the giver happens to be impious, the receiver sinks in hill.

20 Regarding it is cited an old history of the conversation between Vrishadarbhi and the seven Rishis. O Bharata

- 21—22. Kashyapa, Atrı, Vashıshtha, Bharadayaı, Gatama, Vishwamırr, Jamadayn, and the chaste Arımdhat üle wife of Vashıshtha), all had a common maid servant whose name was Ganda A Shudra named Pashusakha married Ganda and became her husband.
- 23 Kashyapa and others, formerly, observed the austerest penances and roved over the world, destrous of acquiring the eternal region of Brahman by the help of Yoga-meditation.
- 23. About that time, O delighter of the Kurus, there took place a severe drought-Stricken with hunger, the whole world of hving creatures become greatly weak.
- 25 At a sacrifice which had been performed formerly by Shivi's son, he had given away to the Ritwiks a son of his 23 the sacrificial present.
- 26 About this time, long lived as the prince was, he died of starvation. The Rishls named, afflicted with hunger, approached the dead prince and sat enurching him.
- 2? Indeed, those foremost of Richas, seeing the son of him at whose surffice they had officiated, O. Bharata, thus deal of starvation, began to cook the body in a vessel, actuated by the pangs of hunger.
- 23. All food having disappeared from the world of men, those ascetics, desirous of saving their lives, had recourse, for purposes of living, to such a miserable end.
- 20. While they were thus engaged, Visishadarbia's son, vie, king Shaivy, in course of his roying, came upon those Rishis. Indeed, he met them on his way, encaged in cooking the dead body, moved by the pangs of hunger.
- The son of Vrishadarbha said:
- 30. The acceptance of a Lift will immediately relieve you all. Do you, there fore, accept a gift for the maintenance of your bodies! Ye ascetics having penances for wealth listen to me as I declare what wealth I have.
- 31. That Bratmana who solicits me if ever dear to me. Indeed I shall give you a thousand kine of white hair, foremost in speed, each accompanied by a bull, and each having a well born calf, and, the fore, giving milk.

- 32. I shall also give you a thousand bulls of white color and of the best species and capable of carrying heavy loads I shall also give you a large number of kine, of good nature, the foremost of their kind, all fat, and each of which, having brought forth her first calf, is quick with her second,
- Tell me what else I shall give of foremost villages, of grain, of barley, and of even the rarer and more precious jewels. Do not seek to eat this food that is medible Tell me what should I give you lor the maintenance of your bodies.

The Rishis said:

- 34 O king, to accept gifts from a monarch is very sweet at first but it is poison in the end Knowing this well, why do you, O king, tempt us then with these offers ?
- The body of the Brahmana is the divine field By penance, it is purified , Then again, by pleasing the Brahmana, one pleases the celestrals,
- If a Brahmana accepts the gifts made to him by the king, he loses, by such acceptance, the merit that he would otherwise win by his penances that day. Indeed. such acceptance destroys that ment as a burning fire destroys a wilderness
- 37. May you be happy, O king, as the result of the gifts you make to those who solicit you -Saying these words to them, they left that place, proceeding by another
- 38. The flesh those great ones had intended to cook remained uncooked Indeed, abandoning that flesh, they went away, and entered the forest in search of
- 39. After this, urged by their master. the ministers of the king, entered those woods and plucking certain figs tried to give them away to those Rishis.
- 40. The officers of the king filled some of those figs with gold and mixing them with others tried to induce those ascetics to accept them.
- Atri took up some of those figs and finding them heavy refused to take them He said,-We are not shorn of knowledge. We are not fools.
- 42 We know that there is gold within these figs. We have our senses about us. Indeed, we are awake instead of being asleep II accepted in this world, those will yield bitter results hereafter. He who seeks happiness both in this world and ir/the next, should never accept these.

Vashishtha said :--

If we accept even one gold coin, it will be counted as a hundred or even a thousand. If, therefore, we accept many coins, we shall surely attain to an unhappy end in the next world.

Kashyapa said :—

44 All the paddy and barley on Carth, all the gold and animals and women that are in the world, are incapable of satisfying the desire of a single person. Hence, a wise man should, removing cupidity, adopt tranquillity. . 1

Bharadwaia said :--

45. The horns of a Ruru, when they first appear, begin to grow with the growth of the animal the cupidity of man is like this. ' It has no limit, -

Gautama said '— 46, All the objects which exist; in the world cannot satisfy even a single person, Man is like the ocean, for he can never be filled (s e , satisfied) Vishwamitra said:

47. When one desire cherished by a person becomes satisfied, there originates immediately another whose satisfaction sought and which pierces him like an arrow.

Jamadagni said:—

48 Abstention from accepting gifts supports penances as their root, ! Acceptance however, destroys that,

Arundhati said:-

Some people hold that things of the world may be stored for spending them upon the acquisition of virtue 1" think, however, that the acquisition of virtue is better than that of riches.

—: bisə səbaə When these my lords, who are gifted with great energy, are so very much alraid of this when seems to be a great tereor, weak as I am, I fear it the more.

Pashusakha said :--

gr. The value of virtue is very superior, There is nothing superior to it. That wealth is known to the Brahmanas, I wait upon them as their servant, only for learning to prize that wealth,

The Rishis said:--

52. May be be, as the result of the gifts he makes, who is the king of the people of this land Let his gift bear fruit who has sent these fruits to us, enclosing gold within them.

Bhishma said :-

53 Having said these words, those Rishis of steadfast vows abandoning the figs having gold within them left that place and proceeded where they liked

The ministers said:-

54 O king, coming to know of the existence of gold within the figs, the Rishis have departed. Let this be known to you.

Bhishma said :-

- 55. Thus addressed by his ministers, king Vrishadarbin became stricken with anger against all those Rishis Indeed, to take vengeance upon them, the king entered his own apartment.
- 56. Practising the austerest of penances, he poured on his sacred fire libations of clarified butter, accompanying each with
- Mantras uttered by him.

 57. From that fire there then originated, as the outcome of the incantation, a form capable of striking every one with fear. Vishadarbli named her as Yatudhani.
 - ¹ 58. That form which had originated from the incantations of the king, looking as dreadful as the Last Night, appeared with joined hands before the king. Addressing king Vishadarbhi, she said,—What shall I do?

Vrishadarbhi said :-

- 50 Go and follow the seven Rishis, as also Arundhati, and the husband of their maid-servant, and it e maid servant herself, and undestand what the meanings are of their names.
- of. Maying learnt their names, do you kill all of them After killing them you may go wherever you like.

Bhishma said ·-

- 61. Saying —So be it —The Rakshasi who had been named Yatudhani in her proper form went to that forest in which the great Rishis, travelled in search of food.
- 62. Indeed, O king, those great Rishis with Atri among them, roamed within the forest, living upon fruits and roots.
- 63 In course of their travel they saw a mend cant of broad shoulders and plainp arms and legs and well-grown face and abdomen. Of limbs that were all adipose, he was travelling with a dog in his tort-

64 Seeing that mendicant whose limbs were all well developed and beautiful Arusedhate exclaimed a idressing the Rishis — Nome of you will ever be able to show such yell grown features

Vashishtha said:-

65 The sacred fire of this peason is not like ours, for while he is able to pour libations on it, morning and evening, none of us can do the same. It is therefore that we see both him and his dog so well-formed.

Atri said:-

66 Ihis man does not like its, feel the sufferings of hunger. His energy has not suffered, like ours, any decrease. Acquired with the greatest difficulty, his Vedas have not, like ours disappeared. Hence it is that we see both him and his dog so well-grown.

Vishwamitra said:--

67. This man is not, like us, intable to observe the eternal duties laid down in the scriptures, I have become idle. I feel the sufferings of hunger, I have lost the knowledge I had acquired I his man is not like us in this matter. Hence I see both him and his dog so well grown,

Jamadagni said --

68 This man has not to think of storing his annual grain and fuel as we are to do. Hence I see both him and his dog so well-formed.

Kashyapa said:—

66 It is man has not, like us, four brothers of the same blood who are beging from I ouse to house, uttering the words—Give—Give—Give infence it is that I see him and his dog so well grown.

Bharadwaia said -

70. This man has no regret like ours for having condemned and cursed his wife. He has not acted so wickedly and foolishly. Hence I see both him and his dog so wellformed.

Gautama said .--

71. This man has not like us only three pieces of covering made of Kusha grass, and a single Ranku skin, each of which again, is three years old. Hence it rithat i see both him and his dog as well-formed.

Rhishma continued :-

72 Seeing those great Rishis the wanflering mend cant, approached them, and accosted them all by touching their hand, according to the practice.

73 Conversing then with each other about the difficulty of getting sustenance in that forest and the consequent necessity of undergoing the pangs of hunger, all of them left that place

74 Indeed they travelled through that forest, all bent upon a common object vis, the plucking of fruits and the extraction of roots for maintenance.

75 One day, as they were traveling, they saw a beautiful lake filled with lotuses its banks were covered with trees which stood thickly near one another. The waters of the lake were pure and travaparent.

76 Indeed the lotuses that adorned the lake were all of the color of the rising sur. The leaves that fluided on the water were of the color of laps laz in 77 Various kinds of acquatic fowls were sporting on its boson. There was but one path feading to it. The banks were not covered with mire and the access to the water was easy.

78 Urged by Vrishadsible the Rakshase of dreadful appearance who had originated from his incantations and who had been named Vitudham, guarded the like,

79 Those foremost Rishis, with Pashusakha in their company, went towards the like, which was thus guirled by Vatu dham, for the object of collecting some lotus-stalks.

80-83 Seeing Vatudhant of feaful aspect standing on the binks of the lack, times great Rishin addressed her, asying—Who are 1900 who thus stand-alone into solitary forest? For whom do you was been solitary forest? For whom do you was teed. What, indeed, is your purpose? What do you do here on the banks of this back; advanced work houses?

Yatudhani said:--

Bs It matters not who I am I deserve not to be accosted. You having ascence wealth, know that I am the guard set to watch this lake.

The Rishis said -

83 All of us are lungry. We have notting else to est. With 3 us permission we would collect some lotus stales.

Yatudhanı said —

81 According to agreement, do you take to lytus stales as you please he must, one by one give me your names. Yo may then, without delay, take the stalks !

Bhisma said :-

85 Ascertaining that her name was Valudhani and that she stood there for killing them. Atri, who was famishing will hunger, addressed ther, and said these words.

Atri said '-

86 I am called Ain' because I purily the world from sin For, again, three studying the Vedas every day, I have made days of my nights I hat again, is no night in which I have not studied the Vedas, I herefore also I am called Atri, O beautiful lady!

Yatudhanı saıd ·—

87 O you of great effulgence, the explanation you have given me of your name is incapable of their gunderstood by me. Do you therefore go and plunge into this tank filled with lotuses.

Vashishtha said :-

88 I am gifted with Yoga powers, I live again, as a householder, and am considered as the foremost of all persons that lead such a mode of life. On account of my being gifted with (such) powers, of my living as a householder, and of my being considered, as the foremost of all householders, I am caffed Vashinshita,

Yatudhani said -

89 The etymological signification of your name is simply incomprehensible to me maximuch as the inflections which the original roots have undergone are unitable. Go and plunge into this lake of lotuses.

Kashyapa said:—

90 I always protect my body, and on account of my penances I have become girled with en inference. For this protecting the body and for this effulgence that is due to my penances, I pass by the name of Razhyapa.

Yatudhani said —

91. O you of great efful, ence, the eight special signification you have given of your name is what I can of comprehen I Go and plunge into this lake filled with lotties.

Bharadwaja said :—

92 I always support my tons, my if so my wife. On account of my thus supporting all with ease, I pass by the name of Bharadwaia.

Yatudhani said .--

93 The etymological signification you have given me of your name is what I cannot fully understand, on account of the many inflections the root has undergone Go and plunge into this lake filled with lotuses

Gotama gard :-

I have conquered Heaven and Earth by the help of self-control For my considering all creatures and objects impartially, I am like a smokeless fire, Hence I am in capable of being subjugated by you When, again, I was born, the effulgence of my body removed the surrounding darkness For these reasons I am called Gotama.

Yatudhani said :-

95 The explanation you lave given me of your name, O great ascetic, is beyond the range of my comprehension Go and plunge into this lake of lotuses,

Vishwamitra said:

of The celestials of the universe are my friends. I am also the friend of the universe. Hence, O Yatudhani, I am universe. " called Vishwamitra.

Yatudhanı said —

97. The explanation you have given of your name is a puzzle to me, on acc unt of the inflections the root has undergone and plunge into this lake of lotuses.

Jamadagni said :--

98 I have originated from the sacri ficial fire of the celestrals. Hence am I called Jamadagns, Oryon of beautiful features.

Yatudhani said:-

The etymological signification you have given, O great ascetic, of your name, gasses the range of my comprehension Do you go and plunge into this lake of In uses too I always live by the side of my husband and hold the Earth jo nily with 1 im I always incline my husband's heart towards me. I am, therefore, called Arundhati

-. bres channal

Yatudhanı said -

tor The explanation you have given of account of the inflections the roots have undergone, Go and plunge into this lake of latuses.

Ganda said ---

The Ganda means a portion of As I have that portion a little the cheek elevated above the others I am, O you who have originated from the sacrificial fire of Sharvys, called by the name of Ganda

Yatudhani said:—

the explanation which you have given of your name is perfectly incomprehensible to me, on account of the inff-ctions which the root has undergone. Go and plunge into this lake of lotuses.

Pashusakha said :--

I protect and tend all animals I see, and I am always a friend to all animals Hence am I called Pashusakha, O you who have originated from the (sacrificial) fire (of king Vrishadarblii).

Yatudhanı said .-

the explanation you have given of your name is what I cannot understand on account of the inflections which the roots have undergone. Go and plunge into this lake of lotuses

Shunasakha said ---

I cannot explain the etymology of my name like these ascetics. But know, O Yatudhani that I am called by the name of Slumasakha.

Vatudhani said —

107 You have mentioned your name only once I have not been able to understand the explanation you have given, do you therefore, mention it again, O twiceborn one

Shunasakha said ---

108 Since you have not been able to catch my name on account of my laving mentioned it only once, I shall strike you with my triple stick! Struck with it, be you reduced forthwith into ashes.

Bhishma continued —

109 Struck then on the head by the Sannyasın, with his triple stick which resembled the punishment inflicted by a Brahmana the Rakshasi who had originated from the incaptations of king Vrishadarblis dropped down on the Earth and became reduced to ashes

Having thus killed the 'powerful adur name is beyond my understanding, on Rakshasi Shu iasakha thrust lie sif k into he earth and sat himself down on a grassy plot of land.

111. The Rishis then, having, as they liked, plucked a number of lotuses and taken up a number of lotus-stalks, came up from the lake, filled with joy

112. Throwing on the ground the mass of lotuses which they had collected with great labour they plunged once more into it for offering oblations of water to the denated Manes.

113 Coming up they went to that side of the bank where they had placed the latus stalks Reaching that place, those foremost of men found that the stalks were puwling to be seen.

The Rishis said -

t14 What sinful and truel men has stolen away the lotus stalks collected by our hungry selves from desire of eating --

Bhishma said .-

115 Those foremost of twice born persons, suspecting one another, U destroyer of enemies said,—We shall each have to swear to our innocence

116 All those ascetics then, exhausted with hunger and exertion, agreeing to the proposal, took these oaths.

Atrı said -

117 Let him who has stolen the fotusstalks touch kine with his foot, pass urine facing the sun, and study the Vedas on excluded days.

Vashishtha said:-

118—119 Let lim who had stolen the lot s-stalks subtain from reading the Vedas, or leash lounds or be a wandering mendi cant unrestriated by the ordinances laid down for that mode of life or be a Destroy-live time to the proceeds of the sale ul 1s dau, liter, or soluti tiches from those who are low and vide

Kashyapa said - 120-121 Let him who has stolen the lotus stalks give vent to all sorts of words in all, olaces, give laise evidence in a court of lat at the flesh of animals not killed it so make titles to unworthy persons (persons at unscasonable times, rual connection with women aja said -

23 Let him who has stolen the alks be cruel and sinful it his con (hwards women and ki isinen and kine

Let him humiliate Brahmands, in disputations, by showing his superior knowledge and skill. Let him study the Bichs and the Yajushes disregarding his preceptor. Let him pour libations upon fires made a with dry grass or straw

Jámadáeni kaid:-

123—125 Let him who has stolen the lolus stalks be guilty of throwing filth and dirt on water. Let him be filled with enmity lowards kine. Let him be guilty of thaving sexual union with women at times to the him had been seen to the hard of all persons. Let him more the hard of all persons let him gain the living from the earnings of his wife. Let him have no firends and let him lave many enemies. Let him be another's guest for getting in return those acts of hospitality which he has done to this other.

Gotama said:-

126-127 Let him who has stolen the lotus stake be guily of throwing away the Vedas after having read them. Let him renounce the three sacred fires. Let him be a seller of the Soma (plant or juice) Let him live with that Brahmana who lives in a village which has only one well from, which water is drawn by all classes and who has married. Shudra woman.

Vishwamitra said .-

ta8. Let him who has stolen the lotus; stalks be doomed to see his preceptors and seems seniors and his servants manifesting to others during his own life-ture. Let him not have a good end Let him be the father of many children.

129 Let him be always impure and a wretch among Brahmanas Let him be proud of his riches let him be a ulter of the soil and let him be filled with malice

13a. I et him wander in the rainy season. Let him be a paid servaht. Let him be the priest of the king. Let him assist at the sacrifices of such impure persons who are not worthy of being assisted at their sacrifices.

Arundhati said -

131 Let her who has stolen the lotusstalks always huminate her mother in law, Let her be always vexed with her husband. Let her eat whatever good things come to her house without giving a part to others.

132 Disregarding the kins-ten of her husband, let her live in her husband's house and eat, every evening, the flour of fried barley! Let her come to be considered as unenjoyable. Let her be the mother of a heroic son.

206

- Ganda said .-Let I er who has stolen the lotusstalks be always a speaker of untruth her always fall out with her kinsmen ! Let her give away her daughter in marriage for money.
- 131. Let her eat the food which she has has cooked alone and without giving a part it to of any body ! Let her pass her whole life as a slave Indeed, let her who has stolen the lotus-stalks be duck with child on account of sexual union under circumstances of guilt.

Pashusakha said:--

135 Let lum who has stolen the lotusstalks be born of a slave mother Let him who have many unworthy children. And let him never bow to the celestials.

Shunasakha said:-

Let him who has removed the lotus stalks acquire the merit of bestowing his daughter in marriage upon a Brahmana who has studied all the Samans and the Yajushes and who has carefully observed the yow of celibacy Let him perform the final ablutions after having read all the Atharvans !

All the Rishis said -

137. The oath you have taken is no oath at all, for all the deeds which you lave mentioned are very desirable for the Brahmanas! It is evident, Shunasakha, that you have appropriated our lotus stalks.

Shunasakha said:-

138 Not seeing the lotus stalks deposited by you what you say is indeed true, for it is I who have actually stolen them

- 139 Before you all I have made those stalks disappear. Ye sintess ones, the act was done by me for testing you
- That woman who lies killed there was called Yatudhani She was of a dreadful disposition Originated from the incantations of king Vrishadarbhi, she had come here from the desire of killing all of you
- 141 Ye ascetics having penances for wealth, begged on by that king, she had come but I have killed her, that wicked and sinful creature, originated from the sacrificial fire, would otherwise have taken your lives
- It was for killing her and saving 142 you that I came here, O ye learned Brahmanas Know that I am Vasava I you have entirely got rid of the influence of cupidity On account of this, you have required many eternal regions fraught with the fruition of every desire as soon as it eises in the heart ! Do you rise, forthwith from the place and go to those regions of beautule. U twice-born ones, that are reserved for

Bhishma said -

I'e great Rishis highly pleased at this replied to Purandara, saying,-So be it !- I hey then ascended to the celestial region the company of Indra himself

Thus, those great persons 144-145 though worn out with hunger and though tempted at such a time with the offer of various kinds of enjoyable articles, refrained from giving way to temptation As the outcome of such self denial they attained to the celestial region It appears, therefore, that one should, under all circumstances, renounce cupidity

Even this, O king is the 146-147 highest duty Cupidity should be renounced It e man who recites this account in assemblies of men, succeeds in acquiring riches, Such a man has never to come by a d stress. ful end The departed Manes the Rising and the celestrals become all pleased will Hereafter, again, he becomes gifted with fame and religions merit and riches

CHAPIER XCIV.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA)-

Continued.

Bhishma said -

Regarding it is dited the old history of the oaths on the occasion of a sojourn to the sacred waters.

- O best of the Bharatas, the act of theft had been committed by Indra, and the oaths were taken by many royal and t vice born Rishis.
- Once an a time, the Rishis, having assembled together, proceeded to the western Prabhasa They held a consultation there which resulted in a determination of their part to sojourn to all the sacred waters on Earth
- There were Shakra, Angiras, the highly learned Kavi, Agastya, Narada and Parvata, and Bhrigh and Vashishtha and Kashyapa and Gautama and Vishwamitra and Jamadagni, O king.
- 5 There were also the Risht Galava and Ashtaka and Bharadweja and Arun dhats and the Vahithilyas, and Shivi and Dilipa and Nahusha and Amyarisha and the royal Yayatı ard Dhundhumara Cad Puru

- 6. These foremost of men, headed the great performer of lundred sacrifices, the slaver of Venra, sommend to all the secred waters one after another, and at last reached the highly sacred Kaushiki on the day of the full moon in the month of Magha.
- Having purified themselves of all sins by ablutions performed in all the sacred waters, they at last proceeded to the very sacred Brahmasara. Bathing in that lake, those Rishis gifted with fiery energy began to gather and eat the stalks of the lotus.
- 8. Amongst those Brahmanas, some had extracted the stalks of the lotus and some the stalks of the Nymphoe s stellata. Soon they found that the stalks extracted by Agastya had been taken away by somebody.
- The foremost of Ruhis, Agastya, adthressing them all, said,-Who has taken away the good stalks which I had extracted and deposited here? I suspect some one amongst you must have taken them. Let him who has taken them away return them to me. You should not thus misappropriate my stalks.
- to. It is heard that Time attacks the energy of virtue. That Time has come upon us Hence, virtue is afflicted. It is proper that I should go to Heaven for good, before sin assails the world and establishes fiself fully here.
- 11. Before the time comes when Brahmanas, loudly uttering the Vedas, within the precincts of villages and inhabited places, cause the Shudras hear them, before the time comes when kings offered against the rules of virtue from motives of policy, I shall go to the celestral region for good.
- 12. Before men cease to regard the distinctions between the lower, the middle and the higher classes, I shall go to the celestial region for good Before Ignorance attacks the world and covers all things in darkness, I shall go to the celestial region for good.
- Before the time comes when the strong begin to oppress the weak and treat them as slaves, I shall go to the celestial region for ever. Indeed, I dare not remain on Barth for seeing these things, a
- The Rishis, much concerned at what he said, addressed that great ascetic and said -We have not stolen your stalks! You should not cherish these suspicions against us, O great Rishi, we shall take the most dreadful oaths.
 - Having said these words, conscious desirous of upholding the cause of virtue. those Rist is and royal sages then began to suear, one after another, the following paths.

Bhrigu said '--

Let hun who has stolen your stalks censure when consured, assaul when assauled, and eat the flesh that is attached to the back-bone of animals.

Vashishtha said:--

17. Let him who has stolen your stalks neglect his Vedic studies, leash hounds, and having taken himself to the mendicant order live in a city or town.

Kashyapa said:-

18 Let him who has stolen your stalks sell all things in all places misappropriate trusts, and give false evidence l

Gotama said ·--

Let him who has stolen your stalks live, showing pride in all things, with an understanding that does not see all creatures with an equal eye, and always giving way to the it flience of desire and anger. Let him be a cultivator of the soil, and let him be moved by malice.

Angiras saıd '—

20. Let him who has stylen your stalks be always impure! Let him be a censurable Brahmana Let him leash hounds him be guilty of Brahmanicide. Let him be averse to expiations after having com. mitted sin.

Dhundhumara said '-

Let him who has stolen your stalks be ungrateful to his friends! Let him take birth in a Shudra woman! Let him eat alone any good food.

Dilipa said -

I et him who has stolen your stalks attain to those regions of misery and infamy which are reserved for that Brahmana who lives in a village having but one well and who knows a Shudra woman. I

Puru said -

Let him who has stolen your stalks practise as a physician! Let him be supported by the earnings of his wife! Let him draw his maintenance from his father-inlaw!

Shukra said -

24 Let him who has stolen your stalks as they were of their own innocence, and eat the flesh of animals not killed in specifices! Let him have sexual union at day-time! Let him be a servant of the king.

Jamadagni said :-

25 Let him who has stolen your stalks study the Vedas on fordidden days or occasions. Let him feed friends at Shraddhas performed by him I Let him eat at the Shraddha of a Shudra.

Shivi said:-

26 Let him who has stolen your stalks die without having established a fire (for daily worship)! Let him be juilty of obstructing the celebration of sacrifices by others! Let him fall out with those who practise penances!

Yavati said :-

27. Let him who has stolen your stalks be guilty of having sexual union with his wife when she is not in her season and when he is himself in the observance of a yow and bears matted locks on his head? Let lim also disregard the Vedas!

Nahusha said:-

28. Let him who has stolen your stalks upon in domesticity after have in betaken himself to the vow of mendicancy. Let him act in whatever way he pleases, after having performed the initiatory rites in view of a sacrifice or some solemn observance! Let him take pecuniary satisfaction for teaching his disciples.

Amvarisha said:-

29 Let him who has stolen your stalks be cruel and sinful in his conduct towards women and kinsmen and kine! Let him be guilty also of Brahmanicide!

Narada said:--

30 Let him who has stolen your stalks be one who identifies the body with the soul! Let him study the scriptures with an urworthy presenter. Let him channt the Vedas, violating at each step the rules of orthopy! Let him disregard all his elders

.Nabhaga said -

31. Let hum who has stolen your stalks always speak untruth and quarrel with those who are pous Let hum bestow his daughter in marriage after accepting a pecunary satisfaction offered by his son-im law,

Kavi said -

32 Let him who has stolen your stalks be guilty of striking a cow with his foot Let him pass urine, facing the sun? Let him renounce the person who seeks shelter at his hands.

Vishwamitra said ~

33 Let him who has stolen your stalks become a servant who acts deceitfully to wards his master! Let him be the pin stof a king! I et him officiate as the sacrificial priest of one who should not be assisted at his sacrifices!

Parvata said:-

34 Let him who has atolen your stalks be the head of a village. Let him make journeys on asses Let him leash hounds for maintenance.

Bharadwaja said:--

35 Let him who has stolen if our stalks be guilty of all the transgressions of his who is cruel in conduct and untruthful is speech.

Ashtaka said .-

C6 Let him who has stolen your stalks be a king shorn of wisdom, captions and sinful in his conduct, and disposed to rule the Earth impiously.

Galava said .-

37 Let him who has stolen your stalks be more infamous than a smiul man. Let him be simul in his deeds towards his kinsemen and relatives. Let him proclaim the guits he makes to others.

Arundhati said -

38 I et her who has stolen your stalks speak ill of her mother in-law I et ler dislike her husband Let her eat alone and good food that comes to her house.

The Valakhilvas said —

39 Let him who has stolen your stalks stand on one foot at the entrance of a village. Let him, while knowing all duties, be guilty of every transgression.

Shunasakha said:--

40 Let him who has stolen your stalks be a Brahmana who sleeps happ by having neglected his daily Homa Let him, after becoming a religious mendicent, act is any way he likes, without observing any control

Surabhi said --

4t. Let her who has stolen your stalks be milked, with he, (hind) legs bound with a rope of human hair, and with the help of a calf not her own, and, while miked, let her milk be held in a vessel of white brass

Bhishma said 🗕

42 After the Rishis and the royal sages had taken various oaths, 7 Kuru hing the thousand eyed thief of the telestials, filled with joy, looked at the angry Rishi Agastya 43 Addressing the Rishi who was very angry at the disappearance of his fotus stalks, Indra thus declared what was passing in his mind Hear, O king, the words indra spoke in the midst of those twice-born and celestial Rishis and royal sages.

Shakra said -

44 Let him who has stolen your stalks require the mert of him who bestows his daughter in marriage upon a Brahmana who has duly observed the vow of Brahman chiaryya or who has duly studied the Samana and the Y-qubits Let him also hath after completing his study of the Atharva Veda.

45 I et him who has stolen your stalks acquire the merit of having studied all the Vedas. Let lum be observant of all dittes and righteous in his conduct Indeed, let lum go to the region of Brahman.

Agastva said -

46 You have, O destroyer of Vala, uttered a benediction instead of a curse Give them to me, for that is the elemnal duty

Indra said -

- 47 O holy one, I did not remove your staks, moved by cupidity. Indeed, I removed them from desire of hearing this assembly recite what the duties are that we should observe. You should not yield to langer.
- 43. Duties are the foremost of Shrutis, Duties form the eternal path I have littened to this discourse of the Rishis for duties) that is eternal and immutable, and that is above all change
- 49 Do you then, O foremost of learned Brahmanas, take back these stalks of yours O holy one, you should forgive my transgression, O you who are free from every fault

Bhishma said -

- 1'50 I hus addressed by the king of the celestrils, the ascelies ris, Agastya, who had been very angry, took back his stalks Gifted with intelligence, the Rishi became cheerful.
- 51. After this, those dwellers of the forest went to various other sacred waters Indeed, going to those sacred waters they performed their ablutions everywhere.
 - 52. ,Tie man who reads this discourse with rapt attention on every Parva day, will not begetfan ignorant and en ked son. He will never be shorn of learning.

- 53 No calamity will ever befall lum, He will besides, be free from every sort of socrow. He will never suffer from decreptude and decay. Freed from stains and evil of every sort, and gifted with merti, he is sure to acquire Heaven.
- 54 He who studies this Shastra observed by the Rishis, is sure, O king, to attain to the eternal region of Brahman that is full of happiness.

CHAPTER XCV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA). --

Yndhishthira said:-

-1-3 O'chief of Bharata's race by whom was the custom of giving umberlias and sandah at Shraddhas introduced 1 Why was it introduced and for what purpose are those gifts made? A they are given not only at Shraddhas, but also at other re-bigous rites. I hey are given on many occasions with the view of winning religious ment. I wish to know in full, O twice-born one, the true meaning of this practice.

Bhishma said :-

- 4. Do you, O prince, attentively listen to the details I shall recite about the custion of giving away umbrellas and shoes at religious rites, and as to how and by whom it was introduced.
- 5 I shall also tell you in full, O prince, liow it acquired the force of a permanent observance and how it came to be considered as a meritorious act.
- 6 I shall in this connection, recite the conversation between Jamadagni and the great Sun Formerly the illustrious Jamadagni, O powerful king, of Bhrigu's race, was engaged in practising with his bow.

7—10 laking his an, he shot acrow after rorws I list wile Rinnia und to pack up the acrows when he shot and expectedly bring them back to had executed with the burning energy of Bingus stace. Pleased with the whitzing noise of his acrows and the twang of his bow, he amused himself thus by expectedly shooting his acrows which I kenuka brought back to him the state of the shooting his acrows which I kenuka brought back to him the shooting his acrows which I kenuka brought hack to him all most list when the Sim and at most list when the Sim and a list acrows, as lot of Review, O large-eyed to a series, as lot of Review, O large-eyed on the shooting the same of the same of lady, go and fetch me the arrows I have shot from my bow.

11—11 O you of beautiful eye-brows!

I shall again shoot them with my bow!

The lively proceeded on her errand but was compelled to ast under the shade of a tree, on account of her head and fest being corcled by the hear of the Sun. Ihe blickeyed and graceful Renuka, having rested for only a moment, feared the curse of her husband and, therefore, began to collect and bring back the arrows. Taking them with her, the celebrated lady of beautiful features came back, distressed in mind and her feet smarting with pain. Trembling with fear, she approached her husband.

15 The Rishi, stricken with anger, repeatedly addressed his fair-faced wife, saying,—O Renules, why have you been so late in returning?

Rennka said :-

- t6. O you, having penances for wealth, my head and feet were scorched by the rays of the Sun! Oppressed by the heat, I took shelter under the shade of a tree!
- 17. This has been the cause of the delay! Informed of the cause, do you, O lord, cease to be angry with me.

Jamadagni said:-

18. O Rennka, this very day shall I destroy, with the fiery energy of my weapons, the star of the day with his burning rays, who has afflicted you thus.

3hishma continued:-

- 19 Drawing his celestial bow, and taking ip many arrows, Jamadagni stood, turning its face towards the Sun and watching him as he moved on.
- 20. Then O son of Kunti, seeing him ready for fight, the Sun approached him in the guise of a Brahmana, and said to him,—What has the Sun done to offend you?
- 21. Passing through the fisky, he draws up, the moisture from the Earth, and in the form of rams he pours it down once more on her.
- 22. It is through this, O twice-born ene, that the food of human beings springs up—food that is so agreeable to them? The Vedas say that it is food that forms the vital arts.
- 23. O Brahmana, hidden in the clouds and encompassed by his rays, the Sun drenches the seven insular continents with showers of rain.
- 24. O powerful one, the moisture, thus poured, spreading itself into the leaves and pray for your protection.

fruits of vegetables and herbs, is changed into food.

25-26 O son of Bhrigu, the rites consequent on birth, religious observances,

25-26 O son of Bhrigu, the rites consequent on birth, rehignous observances, investitute with the sacred thead, gifts of kine, marriage, all articles in view of sacrifices, the rules for the governance of men, gifts, all sorts of minon, and the acquired of richet, originate from food! You know this will?

27. All the good and sweet things in the universe, and all the efforts made by lwing creatures, originate from food I duly recite what is well known to you'l indeed, you fully know all that I have said.

28 Do you, therefore, O twice-born Rishi, appease your anger! What will you gam by annihilating the Sun?

CHAPTER XCVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said:—

t. What did that foremost of asceice, vis., Jamadagni gifted with great energy; do when thus besought by the Sun?

Bhishma said:-

- O descendant of Kuru, inspite of all the prayers of the Sun, the sage Jamadagni, effulgent like fire, continued to cherish his anger.
- 3-4. Then, O king, the Sun, in the guise of a Brahmana, bowed his head to him and addressed him, with clasped hands, in these sweet words,—O twice-born Right, the Sun is always moving! How shall you pierce the Lord of day who is continually moving forward?

-: hisz ingshamal.

5 With the eye of knowledge I know you to be both moving and motionless! I shall surely read you a lesson this day.

6 At mrdday you appear to stay m the firmament for a moment. It is then, O Sun, that I shall pierce you with my arrows I there is no awerving from this resolution of mine.

Surya said .-

7. O twice-born Rishi, forsooth, you know me, O best of archers! But, O holy one, though I have offended, see I pray for your protection.

Bhishma said :-

8 At this, the worshipful Jam dagul smilingly addressed the Sun, saying.—O Sun, when you have sought my protection, you have nothing to lear.

9—to He would get over the simplicity that exists in Brahmanas, the stability that the stable of the mildness existing the Month of the Head of the Head of the Waruna the effulence existing in Agm. the brightness of Meru, and the head of the Sun, who would kill a suppliant for protection.

- 11. The man who can kill a suppliant is capable of violating the bed of his preceptor, of killing a Brahmana and of drinking afcohol
- 12 Do you therefore, think of some remedy for this evil, by which people may be relieved when heated by your rays

Bhishma continued :--

13 So saying, that excellent descendant of Birrigu retrained silent for some time, and the Sun immediately gaye turn an timbrella and a pair of sandals.

Sarva said -

- 14 Do you O great Rishi take tims umbrella with which the head may be protected and my rays warded off. This pair of sandals is made of leather for the protection of the feet.
- 15 Front, this day the gift of these articles in all religious rites shall be established as a cust im,

Bhishma continuel --

- 16 This custom of giving umbrella and shoes was introduced by the 5 in O descendant of Bhardaa, these gifts are regarded meritorious in the three worlds.
- 17 Da you, therefore give away umbrellas and slaes to Brahmanas. I have no doubt that you will then acquire great rel gious ment by the deed
 - 18-19 O foremost one of Bharata's a white undustalia with a limited ribs to a Brahmana, acquires eternal happines after death and lives in the region of Indra, respected by Brahmanas Apsaras, and Devas.
- 20. O powerful one, he who gives shoes to Snataka Brahmana as also to Brahmana mas practiving the tites of religion whose feet have become sore with it eleat of the Sun, acquires regions coveted by the very celestials.
 - 21, Such a man, O Bharata, fives Agin, Soms, and Dhanwantara frappily in the liighest Heaven after his death.

22 O foremost one of Bharata's race, I have thus recited to you, in full, the ments of giving away shoes and umbrellas at religious excenomes.

CHAPLER XCVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Continued.

Yudhishthira said:-

t. O foremost one of Bharata's race, do you describe to me all the deties of the household mode and tell me all that a man should do in order to acquire prosperity in this world.

Bhishma said:—

- 2 O Bharata, I shall in this connection, recite to you the old story of Vasudeva and the goddess Earth
- 3 The powerful Vasudeva, O excellent prince of Bharata's race after singing the praises of the goddess Eirth, accosted her about this very subject that you have required about.

Vasudeva said :-

4. Having adopted the domestic mode of life, what acts should 1, or one like me, do and how are such acts to yield success?

The goddess Earth said :-

- 5 O Madhava, the Resi is, the celestrals, the departed Manes, and men abould be adored, and sacrifices should be performed by a louvels "Fix."
- G Do you also learn it is from me that the celestrals are always pleased with sacrafices and men are pleased with inspitality. I) erefore, it is householder should please them with such objects as they desire.
 - 7. By such sets O destroyer of Madliu, Ristis siso are pleased. He householder, abstaining from food, should daily attend to his sacred fire and to his sacreficial efferings.

S-10 The relestuals, O distroyer of Madiu are pleased with such deeds. The busis o'der should daily offer oblations of food and water, or of frust, rook and water, for the satisfaction of the diparted water of the present of the diparted frust, and oblations of clarified futter to Avin. Soms, and Dilations of clarified futter to Avin. Soms, and Dilations of the satisfaction of the sa

- 11-12. He should offer separate and distinct oblations to Prayipati He should make sacrificated offerings duly, to Yama in the South, to Varun in the West, to Soma in the North, to Prayapati within the homestead, to Dhanwantan in the North-East, and to Indra in the East.
- 13 He should offer food to men at the entrance of his house. These, O Madhava, are known as the Vali offerings. The Vali should be offered to the Marcus and the dettes in the interior of one's house.
- 14 To the Vishwedevas it should be offered in open air, and to the Rakshasas and evil spirits the offerings should be made at night.
- 15 After making these offerings, the householder should make offerings to Brahmanas, and if no Brahmana be present, the first portion of the food should be, thrown into the fire.
 - 16 When a man wishes to offer Shraddha to his ancestors, he should, when the Shraddha ceremony is done, please his ancestors and then make the Vali offerings duly.
 - 17 He should then make offerings to the Vaishwedevas He should next invite Brahmanas, and then properly entertain guests arrived at his house, with food.
 - 18 By this act, O prince, are guests pleased He who does not live in the house long, or, having come, goes away after a short time, is called a guest.
 - 19-20 To his preceptor, to his father, to his friend and to a guest, a householder should say, I have got this in my house to offer you to-day "-And he should offer it acordingly every day.
 - they would order him to do This is the established custom The Musesholder, O Krishna should take his food the last of all, after having offered food to all of them
 - 22 The householder should adore with offerings of honey, etc, his king, his priest, his preceptor, and his father in law, as also Shataka Brahmanas even if they were to live in his house for whole year.
 - 23. In the morning as well as in the evening, food should be offered on the ground to dogs, it e cooks for dogs and birds. This is called the Varshwedeva offerings.
 - 24 The householder, who performs these ceremonies with mind shorn of passion, obtains the blessings of the Rishis in this world, and after death acquires the heaven'h egions.

Bhishma said —

- 25 Having heard all this from the goddess Earth, the powerful Vasudeva acted accordingly. Do you also act in the same
- 26 By performing these duties of a householder, O king, you shall acquire fame in this world and Heaven after death?

CHAPTER XCVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said -

1. Of what kind is the gift of light, Of the for Bharata's race? How did this gift originate? What are the ments of it? Do you tell me all this

Bhishma said :-

- 2 Regarding it, O Bharata, is recited the old discourse between Manu that lord of creatures, and Suvarna.
- 3 There was formerly an ascetic O Bharata, named Suvaria. His competition was like that of hold and hence to was called Suvaria.
- 4 Gilted with good birth good condact and good qualities he had mas ered all the Vedas Indeed, by the accomplishments he possessed, he succeeded in excelling many persons of noble birth.
 - 5 One day that learned Brahmana bebeheld Manu, the lord of all creatures, and approached him Meeting each other, they made the usual polite enquires 6 Both of them were in the truth
 - Having met each other, they sat down on charming breast of the golden mount Meru

 7 Seated there they began to talk with
 - 7 Seated there they began to talk who each other on various subjects about the great derives and twice born Riems and Danyas of ancient times
 - S Then Suvarna addressing the Selfcreate Manu sand these words - You should answer one question of mine for the behoof of all creatures
 - 9 O lard of all creatures, the celestrals are seen to be adored with presents of flowers and other good scents What is this? How has this practice come into operation? What also are the merits of it? Do you describe this subject to me.

Manu said —

10 Regarding it is recited the qld dis-

- course between Shukra and the great (Daitya) Vali,
- 11. Once on a time, Shukra of Bhrigu's race approached Vali the son of Virochana while he was ruling the three worlds
- ta Having adored the descendant of Britiqu with the Arghya the hing of the Asuras, that profuse giver of sacrificial presents sat down after his guest had stated himself
- 13. This very subject which you have introduced regarding the merits of the gift of flowers and incense and famps came up on the occasion. Indeed, the king of the Dattyas put this high question to Shukra that most learned of all ascetics.

Vali said :-

14 O foremost of all persons conversant with Brahma, what indeed, is the ment of giving flowers and lamps? You should, O foremost of Brahmanas, describe this to me.

Shukra said :-

- 15 Penance first sprang into existence. Afterwards came religion. In the interval many creepers and herbs sprang up
- 16. Their species were numerable. All of them have the Moon for their lord boine of these creepers and herbs came to be considered as Ambrosia and some came to be considered as Poison. Others that were neither this nor that formed one class.
- 17. That is Ambrosia which gives immediate pleasure and joy to the mind That is Poison which tortures the mind treatly by its smill
- 18 Know again that Ambrosia is lighly nuspicious and that Poison is lighly inappropriate All the herbs are Ambrosia Poison is born of the energy of fire.
- 19 Howers please the mind and confer prospetity. Hence men of pious deeds bestowed the name Sumanas on them
- 20 That man who on a trace of portryoffers flowers to the celestials finds that the criestials become pleased with lim, and as the result of such satisfaction confer prospertly upon him.
- 21. O king of the the Dailyar those celestials to whom worshippers ofter flowers, O ford uttering it ere maines the while, become pleased with the efferers on account of their devotion.
- 27 The (lecidnous) herbs are of various kinds and possess different qualitie. They should be classed as herce, mild, and possent

- 23 Listen to me as I tell y in which trees are useful for purposes of sacrifice and which are not so flear also what garlands are acceptable to Asuras, and what are beneficial when offered to the celestials.
- 24 I shall also set forth in due order what garlands are liked by the Rakshasas, what by the Uragas, what by the Yakshas, what by fiuman beings, and what by the departed Manes, in proper order.
- 25 Flowers are of various lands. Some are wild, some are from trees with grown in the midst of human dwellings, some belong to trees which never grow unitspalanted on well-culivasted soil, some are from treets whome on mountains, some are from treet which are not prickly, and some from treets which are prickly. Fragrance, beauty of form and taste also make grounds of classification.
- 26 The scent of flowers is of two kinds, agreeable and dragreeable. Those flowers which have sweet smell should be offered to the celestials.
- 27 The flowers of trees which have no thorns are generally white in color. Such flowers are always acceptable to the celestable, O lord.
- 28 A wise man should offer garlands of aquatic flowers such as the lotus and the like, to the Gandharvas and Nagas and Yakshas.
- 29 Such plants and herbá as produce red flowers, as have keen scent, and as are prickly, have been had down in the Atharvans as fit for all acts of incantation for injuring enemies.
- 30 Such flowers as have keen energy, as are painful to the touch, as grow on trees and plants having thorus, and as are either bloody-red or black, should be offered to (evil) apirits and unearthly beings.
- 31. Such flowers as please the mind and heart, as are very agreeable when pressed, and as are of beautiful form, have been said, O lord, to be worthy of being offered to men.
- 32 Such finers as grow on cemeteries and cre natoria, or in places dedicated to the celestials, should not be brought and used for metriage and offer tites having growth and prosperity for their object, or for acts of pleasure in secrecy.
- 33 Such flawers as grow on mountains and in vales, and as are beautiful to look at and sweet scented should be offered to the celestials. Sprawking stem with sandal-paste, such sweet flowers should be day offered according to the scriptural ordi-

- 34. The celestials become pleased with the scent of flowers, the Yakshas and Rakshasas with their sight; the Nagas with their touch, and human beings with all three, vir. scent, sight, and touch.
- 35 Flowers, when offered to the celes trials please them immediately. In the reapable of accomplishing every object by merely wishing its accomplishment, as such, when pleased with devotees offering them flowers, they cause all the objects cheristed by their worshippers to be immediately achieved.
- 36 Pleased, they gratify their worshippers Honored they make their worshippers enjoy all honors Disregarded and insulted, they make those vilest of men to be runed and consumed.
- 37. I shall after this, speak to you of the merits of the ordinances about the gift of incense. Know, O king of Asuras, that incenses are of various sorts. Some of them are auspicious and some inausnicious.
- 58. Some incenses consists of exudations Some are made of fragrant wood set on fire And some are artificial, being made by the hand, of various articles mixed together Tile in scent is of two sorts, vis., agreeable and disagreeable. Listen to me as 1 des cribe the subject fully
- 39 All exudations except that of the Boswellia serrata are agreeable to the celestrals. It is, however, certain that the best of all exudations is that of the Balsamodendron Mukul.
- 40 Of all Dhupas of the Sari class, the Aquilana Agallocha is the best. It is very acceptable to the Yakshas, the Rakshassa and Nagas. The exudation of the Bos welha serratia, and others of the same class, are much acceptable to the Datavas.
- 41. Dhupas made of the exudation of the Shorea robusta and the Pinus deodara, mixed with various spirits of strong scent, are, O king, acceptable to human beings
- 42 Such Dhupas are said to immediately please the celestials, the Danavas, and spirits. Besides these, there are many other kinds of Dhupas used by men for purposes of pleasure or enjoyment.
- 43 The offer of flowers and the gift of such Dhupas as yield gratification are equal in ments
- 44 I shall now speak of the ments of the gift of lights, and who may give them at what time and in what manner, and

- what should be the kind of lights that should be offered. 45 Light is said to be energy and fame and goes upwards Hence the gift of light,
- and goes upwards Hence the gift of light, which is energy, increases the energy of men.
 - 46 There is a hell named Andhatamas. The period also of the Sun's southward coarse is considered as dark. For avoiding that hell and the darkness of this period, one should give lights during that period when the Sun is in northern solistice. Such an act is lighly spoken of by the good
 - 47 Since, again, light has an upward course and is considered as a remedy for darkness, therefore, one should give lights this is the conclusion of the scriptures
 - 48 It is by giving lights that the celestials have become gilted with beauty, energy, and resplendence. By abstention from such a deed, the Rakshasas have become gifted with the opposite stributes. Hence, one should always give lights
 - 49 By giving lights a man becomes gifted with keen vision and resplications. One who gives lights should not be looked with jealousy by others. Lights, again, should not be stolen, nor put out when given by others
 - 50 One who steals a light becomes blund Such a man has to grope through darkness and becomes shorn of resplendence. One who gives lights shires in beauty in the celestial regions like a row of lights.
 - 51. Among lights, the best are those in which clarified butter is burnt. Pest in order are those in which the juce of deciduous herbs is burnt. One seeking prosperity and growth should never burn lat or marrow or the juce that comes from the bones of creatures.
 - 52 The man who desires him own aggrandisement and prospertly should always give lights at descents from mountain, in roads through forests and inaccessife regions, under secret trees standing in the usidst of human dwellings, and in crossings of streets.
 - 53 The man who gives high (s alwa)? illumines his race acquires purity of soil and effulgence of form Indeed, such a man, after death, lives in the company of the luminous bodies in the sky.
 - 54 I shall now describe to you the ments, with the fruits they bring about, of Vah offerings made to the celestials the Vakshas, the Uragas, buman beings, spirits and Rakshasas
 - 55 I hose unscrupulous and waked me who eat without first serving Brahmanas and celestials and guests and children, should be known as Rakshasas.

- 56 Hence, one should first offer the food one has got ready to the celestals after lawing adored it em duly with controlled senses and rapt attention. One should offer the Vali to the celestials, bending his head in respect.
- 57. The celestals are always supported by lood that householders offer I hey bless such houses in which offerings are made to them. The Yakshasas and Ratshasas and Pannagas, as also guests and all houseless persons, are supported by the food offered by householders.
- 58 Indeed, the celesials and the departed Manes derive their sustenance from such offerings. Pleased with such offerings they please the offerer in return with longevity and fame and riches.
- 59. Clean food, of sweet scent and look, mixed with milk and curds, should, along with flowers, be offered to the celestials.
- 60. The Valus that should be offered to Vakshas and Rakshasas should be rich with blood and meat, with wines and spirits accompanying, and adorned with fried paddy.
- 61. Valis mixed with lotuses and Utpalas are very acceptable to the Nagas. Sesame seeds, boiled in raw sugar, should be offered to the spirits and other unearthly Bernes
- 63. He who never takes any food without first giving a part of it to the Braimanas and celestials and guests, becomes milled to first portions of food. Such a man becomes gifted with strength and energy. Hence one should never take any food without first offering a portion thereof the property of t
- 63 One's house always shines in beauty on account of the household detites that live in it. Hence, he who desires his own advancement and prosperity should adore the basehold goods by aftering them the first portion of every tood.
- 64 Thus did the learned Kayi of Bhrigu's race discourse to Vali the clief of the Asuras. That discourse was next recited by Manu to the Rishi Suvarna, Suvarna, in its turn, recited it to Marada.
- 65 The celestial Rishi Narada recited to me the merits of the several acts mentioned. Informed of those merits, do you, O son, perform the several acts mentioned

CHAPTER XCIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said :---

- t. I have, O cluef of the Bhratas, heard what the merits which presenters of flawers and funcies and lights acquire. I have heard you speak also of the merits of a due observance of the ordanaces in respect of the presentation of the Val. You should O grandfather, discourse to me once more on this subject.
- 2 Indeed, tell me, O Sire, once more of the merits of presenting incense and hights. Why are Valis offered on the ground by householders.

Bhishma said. --

- 3 Regarding it is recited the old discourse between Nahuslia and Agastya and Bhrigu.
- Bhrigu.

 4 The royal sage Nahusha, O monarch, having penances for wealth, acquired the sovereignty of the celestial region by his
- own good deeds,
 5 With controlled senses, O king, he lived in the celestial region, engaged in doing diverse acts of both human and celes-
- tial nature.

 6. From that great king flowed various kinds of human acts and various kinds of celestial deeds, also, O king.
- 7—8 The various rites with respect to the secrifical fire, the collection of sacred fuel and of Kusha grass, as also of flowers, and the presentation of Valic consisting of food adorned with fried paddy, and the offer of incense and of light,—all the et, O monarch, occurred daily in the louise of that great king while he lived in the celestal region. Indeed, thought imag in the offer of the collection of
- g And, O chastiser of loes, Nahusha, anthungil the had hecome the long of the deties, set adored all the deties, as he used to do formerly, with due rates and ceremonies.
- to. Sometime after, Nahusha real red his position as the king of all the deittes. This filled lum with pride From that time all his deeds were auspended.
- 11. Filled with pride on account of the , boon he had received from all the celestials, Nahusha caused the very Rishis to bear him on their shoulders. On account, however, of his abstention from all religious acts, his energy began to wane.

12 The time was very long for which Nahusha, filled with arrogance, continued to emply the foremost of Rishis, having penances for wealth, as the bearers of his vehicles.

13 He make the Rishs perform by turns this hamiliating work. The day came when it was Agastya's turn to carry the vehicle, O Bharata, 11—15 At that time, Bhrigu that foremost of all persons conversant with Brahma went to Agastya while the latter was seated in his hermitage, and addressing his said,—0 great ascetic, why shoul! we patiently suffer such indignites influcted on us by this wicked Nahusha who has become the king of the detites.

Agastya said -

16. How can I succeed in cursing Nahusha, O great Rishi? You know how the Boon-giving (Brahman) himself has given Nahusha the best of boons.

- 17 Coming to the celestial region, the boon that Nahusha prayed for, was that, whoever would come within the range of his vision would, deprived of all energy, come within his control.
- 18 The Self-born Brahman granted bun thus boon, and it is therefore that niether yourself nor I have been able to consume lum Forsooth, it is for this reason that none one else amongst the foremost of Rishis has been able to consume or throw him down from his elevated position.
- 19 Formarly, O lord, nectar was given by Brahman to Nahusha for drinking Therefore we can do nothing to him
- 20. The great god, it appears, gave that boon to Nahusha for plunging all creatures unto grief. Ihat wretched man behaves most unrighteously towards the Brahmanas.
- 21. O foremost of all speakers, tell us what should be done under the circumstances Forsooth, I shall do what you will advise.

Bhrigh said .-

- 22. It is at the command of the Grandfather that I have come to you with the view of counteracting the power of Nahusha who is gifted with great energy but who has been stupefied by fate.
- 23 That exceedingly wicked being who has become the king of the celestrals, will to day yoke you to his car. With the help of my power I shall to day but him down from his position as Indea on account of his having transcended all restraints.

- 24 I shall to-day, an your very sight re-establish the true Indra in his position, him, vis, who has celebrated a handred horse sacrifices,—having hulled the wicked and sinful Nahusha from that seat.
- 25 That impious king of the celestials will to-day insult you by a kick on account of his understanding being afflicted by fate and for bringing about his own downfall
- 26 Enraged at such an insult I shall to day curse that sinful wreich that enemy of the Brahmanas, who has transcended all restraints, saying,—Be you metamorphosed into a snake.
- 27. Before your eyes, O great ascetic, I shall to-day harl down on the Earth the wicked Nahusha who shall be deprived of all power on account of the cries of Fie that will be uttered from all sides.
- 28 Indeed, I shall hurt down Nahnsha to-day that sinful man who has besides, been stupefied by lordship and power I shall do this, if you like it, O ascetic
- 39 Thus addressed by Bhrigu, Mitravaruua's son Agastya of unfading power and glory, became lughly pleased and freed from every anxiety.

CHAPIER C

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said -

t How was Nahusha plunged into distress? How was he hurled down on the Earth? How, indeed, was he deprived of the sovereignty of the celestials? You should recite euerything to me.

Bhishma said :-

2 I hus I did those two Rishis, ets. Bliringu and Agastya, talk with each other. I have already told you how Nahucha, when he first become the king of the celestals, acted in a proper way I indeed, that great toyal sage performed all human and celestial deeds.

3—4. Nahusha who had become the king of the celestals, made gitts ol light, and properly deserved all other rates of a similar nature—the due presentation of Valis and all rites as are performed on especially sacred days from acts and always done by wise men, in both the control of the cont

- 5 Even such is the effect of the gift of lamps and of incense, as also of bows and prostrations, to the celestials
- 6 When food is cooked the first portion thereof should be affected to a Brahmana. The particular off-rings called Vali should also be presented to the Rousehold gods. The detties become pleased with such gifts.
- 7 It is also well known that the measure of gratification which the celesticiderive from such off rings is a hundred times as great as that which the house-bolder Limself, jets from making them.
- 8 Pous and wise persons make offering of incense and lights accompanying them with bows and prostrations. Such acts always yield advancement and prosperty to those 11 at do them.
- g Those rites which the learned perform in course of their ablutions, and with the help of waters accompanied with bows to the gods, always contribute to the satisfaction of the celestials
- to When adored with proper rites, the highly-blessed departed Manes, Rishis having asceticism for wealth, and the household deties, all become pleased
- 11. Filled with such ideas, Nahusha, that great king, when he obtained the sovereguty of the celestrals observed all these rites and duties fraught with great glory.
- 12 Sometime after, the good fertune of Nahusha decreased, and as the outcome of it, he neglected all these observances and began to act in d finice of all control in the manner I have already described,
- 13 The king of the celestials, on account of his abstention from observing the ordinances about the offers of incense and light, began to decline in power.
- 14 His sacrificial rites and presents were obstructed by Rakshasas. It was at this time that Nationala yoked that foremost of Rishus vis. Agastya, to his car.
- 15. Possessed of great strength Nahusha smitting all the while set that great Rishi speedily to the task, commanding hun to bear the vehicle from the hanks of the baraswati. At this time, Birgin, possessed of great energy, addressed the aon of Mittavaruna, saying —
- 16—17 Do 301 shut 301r eyes till I enter into the matted locks on sour lead—II xing said this, Bhri, to I unfading glory and great energy entered into it ematted locks of Agasty who sood still like a wooden post, for hurling king Nahishia form the throne of Heaven. Soon after

- Nahusha saw Agastya approach him for bearing his car,
- 18 Seeing the king of the celestials, Agastya addressed him, saying —Do you yoke me to your vehicle forthwith! fo what region shall I bear you
- 19 O lord of the celestials, I shall bear you to the spot which you may be pleased to direct 1-1 hius addressed by him, Nahusha caused the ascetic to be yoked to his car.
- 20 Bhrigu, who was living within the matted locks of Agastya, became highly pleased at this act of Nahusha. He took care not to look at Nahusha.
- 21 Fully acquainted with the power which the illustrious Nahusha had acquired on account of the boon which Brahman had granted him, Blirigu acted thus Agastya also though treated by Nahusha in this way, did not yield to anger.
- 22-28 I hen, O Bharata king Nahusha orged Agastya on with his goad. The pious Resin ded not still yield to anger. the lord of the celestials himself enraged, then struck Agastya on the head with his left foot When the Rishi was thus struck on the head, Bhrigu, who was living within Agastya's matted locks, became incensed and cursed the sinful Nahusha, saying,-Since you have struck with your foot on the head of this great Rishi, do you, therefore, fall down on the Earth, clianged into a snake, O wretch of wicked understanding !- Thus, imprecated by Bhrigu who had not been seen, Nahusha, forthwith became transformed into a snake and dropped down on the Larth, O chief of Bharata's race !-- II, O monarch, Nahusha had seen Bhrigo, the latter would not then have succeeded, by his power, in hurling the former down on the Earth. On account of the various gifts that Nahusha had made, as also his penances and religious observances, though hurled down on the Earth, O king, he succeeded in keeping his memory. He then began to propiliate Bhrigu with a view to get rid of the curse.
- 29. Agastya also, filled with mercy joined Nahusha in pacifying Bhracu for the termination of the curse. At last Bhrigu felt mercy for Nahusha and arranged for the working out of the curse.

Bhrigu said :-

- 30. There will appear a king (on Excit) of the name of Yudi inthirm, the foremost of its cace. He will rescue you from this curse!—Having said this, the Right disappeared from the presence of Nahusha.
- 31. Agastya also, of great energy, having thus performed the business of the true Indra, that arbitrator of a hundred sacrifices, returned to his hermitage, adored of all members of the regenerate order.

- 32. You have, O king, rescued Nahusha from Birigu's curse. Rescued by you, he ascended to the region of Brahman before your eyes.
- 33. As regards Blirigu, having hurled Nahusha on the Earth, he went to the region of Brahman and informed the Grandfather of it.
- 34. The Grandfather having called Indra back, addressed the celestials, asying,—Ye celestials, through the boon I had gratted him, Nahusha had obtained the sovereignty of Heaven.
 - 35. Deprived, however, of that sovereignty by the enraged Agastya, he has been littled on the Earth, O celestials, you will not succeed in living without a king.
 - 55—58 Do you, therefore once more install Indra as the king of Heaven—1 be electais filled with joy, O son of Pritha, replied to the Grandsire who said so to them, saying.—So be it. Brahiman then, O best of kings, installed Indra in the sovereignity of lefevers. It defence more the king of the said of the
 - I have montoned, Nahusha succeeded in once more regaining his lost position flunce, when evening comes, householders should give lights:

 40. The giver of lights is sure to win celestial vision after death. Givers of light
 - become as resplendent as the full moon.

 41. The giver of lights becomes softed with beauty of form and strength for year corresponding with the number of twinkles for which the lights given by him burn or blaze.

CHAPTER CL.

(ANUHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said :--

1 Where do those foolish, wretched and sixful men yo. O king, who steal or mappropriate such articles as belong to Brahmana?

Bhishma said:

2. I shall, about it, O Bharata, recite to you the conversation between a Chandala and a low Kshatriya.

This Kshatriya said:-

- 3 You seem, O Chandala, to be old in years, but your conduct appears to be like that of a boy? Your body is besineared with the dust ransed by dogs and asses, but without muching that dust you are anxion about it e little drops of milk that have fallen upon your persons.
- It is plain that such acts as are censured by the pious are ordained for the Chandala. Why, indeed, do you seek to wash off the spots of milk from your body.

The Chandala said:—

5-6. Formely, O long, certain he belonging to a Brahmaria were stolen. While they were being carried away, some milks from their index of chopped upon a mumber of Some plans that grew by the road-side. Those Brahmaria who drawk the june of the plans thus bedweed with make, as also the ange who celebrated the sacrifice in which that Soma was drawk, and show the sum of the result of the plans that show the sacrifice in which that Soma was drawk, in all to amk in hell Indeed, for Invined thus appropriated something belonging to a Brahmania, the king with all the Brihmanias who had helped him had to got hell

- All those men also, Brahimanas and Kshatriyas, who drank milk or clarifed butter or curds, in the palace of the king who had stolen the Brahimana's kine, had to fall into hell.
- 8 The stolen kine also, shaking their bodies, killed with their milk the sons and grandsons of those who had stolen them, 25 also the king and the queen although the latter treated the animals, with great care and attention.
- 9 As for myself, O long, I used to live the life of a celibate in that place alree there kine were placed after they had been stolen away. The food I had got by berging become sprinkled over with the milk of those kine.
- to Having taken that food, O Ribatriya, I have, in this life, become a Clistic dala. The king who had stolen the kine belonging to a Brahmana came by a weetched end.
- 11. Hence, one should never steat or at propriate anything belonging to a Brabonian. Mark, to what state 1 am red sed on account of my having eaten by 565 v2 had been sprinkled over with milk belong ing to a Brahmana.

- 12 It is for this reason that Soma plants should never be destroyed by wise men. If ey who sell the Soma plant are held in low esteem by the wise.
- 13 Indeed, O son, they who purchase Soma and they who sell it, both sink in the hell called Raurava after death.
- 14 That man who, possessing a knowledge of the Vedas duly sells Soma be comes in his next life a usuer and speedily meets with destruction.
- 15—16 For three-hundred times he has to sink into hell and become changed me an animal which subsists upon hunan excreta Serving a low person, upon hunan after upon a friend's wife, if weighed against one another in a balance, workshow that pride, which is above all restraints, is the heaviest Mark this dogs os sinful and disagreeably pale and lean
- It is through pride that living 17-23 creatures come by such a miserable end As for myself, I was born in a large f mily in a former birth of mine O lord, and I was a perfect master of all branches of knowledge and all the sciences. I knew the immensity of all these faults, but moved by pride, I became blinded and ate the meat attached to the vertebral columns of animals. On account of such conduct and such food, I have come by this state Mark, the reverses engendered Like a person whose cloth by Time 1 has caught fire at one end, or who is pursued by bees, see, I am running filled with fear, and smeared with dust house holders are rescued from all sins by a study of the wise O Kshatriya, a sinful Brahmana becomes rescued from all its sins by a study of the Vedas, if he becomes a forest recluse and abstams from attachment of every kind O chief of Kshatriyas, I am, in this life, born in a sinful caste.
 - 24. I cannot see clearly how I may succeed in purifying myself from all sins On account of some mentorious deed of a former life I have not lost the memory of my previous births
 - 25 O king, I throw myself on your mercy! I ask you be no you remove you't By what mappeness course of conduct should I with a sequence you status (I Otermost of men, by what means shall I succeed in getting rid of my Chandhallood.

The Kshatriya said: 26. Know, O Chandala the means by which you may be able to acquire liberation By renouncing your life for the sake of a Brahmana, you may come by a desirable end.

27 By throwing your body on the fire

27 By throwing your body on the tre of battle as a libation to the beasts and birds of prey for the sake of a Brahmana, indeed by renouncing your life thus, you may achieve liberation. By no other means will you succeed in acquing it.

Bhishma said:-

- 28 Thus accosted, that Chandala, O scorcher of enemies poured his life-breaths as a libation on the fire of battle for the sake of protecting a Brahmana's riches and as the result of that act attained to a very descrable end.
- 29 Hence, O son, you should always protect the property of the Brahmanas, if, O chief of Bharata's race, you wish, O you for mighty arms, an end consisting of eternal happiness.

CHAPTER CIL

(ANUSHASANA PARVA).-

Yudhishthıra said —

 O grandfather, it has been said that all righteous men attain to the same region after death. It is true O Bharata, that there is difference of position among them?

Bhishma said -

- 2 By different acts, O son of Pritha, men acq ure different regions. I hey who are righteous in conduct acquire blissful regions while they who are sinful acquire miserable regions.
- 3 Regarding it is cited the old discourse, O son, between the ascetic Gautama and Vasava

 A A certain Brahmana named Gau-
- 4 A CECOMO DIAMINAMA NAMED GALLtrama, mild and self-centrolled and with all his senses under complete control, saw an infant elephant that had last his mother and that was highly cheerless on that account.
- 5 Full of mercy and steady in the observance of lus yows, the ascenc nursed that infant animal. After a long time the little beast grew up into a large and powerful elephant.
- 6 One day, Incra, in the guise of king Dhritarashitia, seized that powerful elephant which was as huge as a hill and from whose rent temples the juice was trickling down

7—S. Seeing the elephant dragged away, the great ascetic Gautama of rayle away, the great ascetic Gautama of rayle wows said to long Dhritarashtra,—O ungrateful Dhritarashtra, do not rob me of this elephant. It is considered by me as a son and I have reared it with much pain It is said that between the pious, friendship is formed by merely the exchange of seven words. You should see, O king, that the sin of mjuring a friend does not affect you

Gautama said '--

9—10. You should not, O king, take away by force this elephanic which brings me my fuel and water, which protects my hermizage when I am away, which is exceedingly docile and obedient to his instructor, which carefully does what his precept commands, which is mild and well broken, and which is grateful and very dear to me Indeed, you should not take it away without caring for my protestations and circs.

Dhritarashtra said:-

11. I shall give you a thousand kine, a hundred mad-servants, and five hundred pieces of gold. I shall also, O great Rishi, give you various other kinds of wealth What use can Brahmanas have with elephants?

Gautama said -

12. Keep, O king, your kine and maidservants and coins of gold and various gems and various other kinds of riches What, O king, have Brahmanas to do with riches

Dhritarashtra said :-

13 Brahmanas have no use for elephants. Indeed, O Learned Brahmana, elephants are intended for Ksluxiriyas. In taking away an animal, vis, this foremost of elephants, for my use, I cannot be considered as committing any sin. Do you cease obstruction me thus, O Gaulama.

Gautama said :—

14. O illustrious king, going even to that region of Yama where the pious live happily and the sinful in grief, I shall take from you this my elephant.

Dhritarashtra said:-

15. They who are destitute of religious state acts, they who have no religious faith and are atheast, they who are sinful and are always engaged in-plessing their appetites only they lave to go to the region of Yama and suifer the musery he inflicts. Draws and suifer the musery he inflicts of the region and not plete.

Gautama said .-

16. Men are restrained in the region of Only truth prevails in that place. There the weak persecute the strong Gong there I shall compell you to yield up that elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said —

17. Only those persons who, intoxicated with pride, treat their eldest sister and father and mother as enemies, have logo. O great ascetic, to such a region I shall go to a higher region Indeed, Dhiritarashtra shall not have to go there.

Gantama said — ~ .

13 Those highly blessed ones go to the region called Mandakini, of king Vashravana for enjoying 119 and comfort. Here live Gandharwas and Yakshas and Apsaras Going even there, O king, I shall compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said -

19 Hose persons who consider hospitility to guests as a vaw, who observe good vows, who give shelter to Brahmana, and who eat what remains after distribution among his dependants, adorn the region called Mandakim of Kuvera. I shall one of there, for a higher region is reserved for me.

Gantama said .--

20 If you go to those charming woo is, decked with flawers which stand on the summat of Meru, which each ow with the melodious notes of immarriand which agraced with beautiful Jameus of widespreading branches, I shall proceed with the and campell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said -

21—22 Unite Brailmanas who have mild depositions, who are devoted it ruth, who are devoted it ruth, who are endured with rereptoral knowlede, who are compassionate to all creatures, who study, the Puranas with all the histories, who pour libations on the sacred fire and make gifts of honey to the Brahimmans, go to such regions, O great Rishi! I shill go lea higher region. Indeed, Dhriatarshira shall not go three. If you are acquainted with any other well-known region of impoures, speak to me, for I shall go even there.

Gantama said:—

23 If you go to the woods owned by Narada and held dear by him, which are adorned with flawers and which echo with the melidious sengs of the prince of Rinnaras, and which are the eternal habitation of Gandharvas and Apsaras, I shall follow you there and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said:—

24. They who never beg, they who cultivate music and dairing, and always mosabout happily, proceed to such regions. O great Rishi, I shall go to a region which is higher. Indeed, Dhutarashtra shall not have to go their.

Gautama said -

25-26 If you go to that region where the Ulurar-Kurus blaze in beauty and pass their days happily, O king, in the company of the very celestials, where those beings who originate from fire, those who originate from water, and those who originate from mountains, live happily, and where Shakra arms down the Iruinon of every desire, and where women live in perfect freedom, uncontrolled by rolled to apply that ergulating the property of the company of the

Dhritarashtra said :--

22—28 Those men who are freed from their for all articles of enjoyment, who abstant from meat, who never take up the rod of punishment, and never inflict the least harm on mobile and immobile creatures, who have formed themselves the soul of all creatures, who never accost others by pronouncing blessings upon them, who are entirely completely only the state of attachments for every thing, who were profit and loss as also praise and blame in equal light, only those men, U great Rishin, go to such regions 1 shall go to a higher region Indeed, Distitarishira shall not go there.

Gautama said:→

29 Next to these shine in beauty those ternal regions, full of excellent perfumes which are free from passions of every sind and which are destitute of sorrow. These form the abode of the great king Soma If you go there, even there shall I proceed and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said .-

30-31. Those men who always make guis without receiving any guit, who never accept any service from others, who possess nothing which they cannot give to a worthy person, who are hospitable to all creatures, who are inclined to show favour to every one, who are of forgiving dispositions, who never speak ill of others, who protect all creatures by covering them with merely, and who are always righteous in their conduct, only those men O great Rishin, go to such region! I shall go to a higher region. Indeed, Dhritarashitra shall not go there.

Gautama said:—

32 Next to these sline in beauty other tegions that are electral free from passion and Darkness and sorrow, and which he at the foot of the great San God. It you go there, even there shall I go and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said:-

33-4. Those "men who attentively study the Vedas, who are given to the service of their preceptors, who observe penacers and excellent vows, who are firm in trait, who never utter words of disobedience or emits to their preceptors, who are always alert, and ever ready in the service of elders and preceptors—they go, O great Rish, to such regions, they who are pure who are gifted with cleansed souls, who are of controlled speech, who are firm in truth and who are well versed in the Vedas. I shall proceed to a higher region, Indeed, Dhristanghica shall not go there.

Gantama said -

35 Next to those are the eternal region which shine in beauty, which are find of excellent perfumes, which are free from passon, and which are destitute of every sorrow. They form the abode of the great king Variana. If you proceed there, even there shall I go and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said -

36—37 Those men who adore the celestrals by observing the vow called Chattermergia, who perform a hundred and een sacrifices, who pour libations every day on their sacretars are decision and faint for their sacretars are decision and faint for declared in the Vedas, who perform without hesistation of all duties, who walk steadily along the way trod by the pous who steadily sistant the course of conduct foltowed by the rightens usedid—only they to be the property of the region. Indeed, Dhristiantina shall not go there.

Gautama said:—

33. Above them are the regions of Indra, free from passion and sorrow, which are difficult of access and coveted by all men.

Going even to the abode of Indra himself of great energy, I shall, O king, compel you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritafashtra said -

39 He who lives for a hundred years, who is gifted with heroism, who studies the Vedas and who celebrates sacrifices with devotion, indeed, such men proceed to the tegion of Shakra I shall go to a higher region, Indeed, Dhritarashtra shall not go there.

Gautama said :-

40 Above the firmtment are the regions of the Praspans, of superior happiness, abounding in every happiness, and shorn of sorrow. Belonging to those powerful ones from whom the creation has originated they are coveted by all persons. If you go there, even their shall I go and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said .-

41. Those kings who have bathed upon the termination of the Rajasuja sacrifice, who are gifted with righteous soals, which have protected their subjects properly, and who have washed their limbs with purified water upon the termination of the Hirse-sacrifice, go to such regions. Indeed Dhritarshitts shall not go there.

Gantama said :-

42. Mext to those, shine in heavity those termal regions, full of delicious perfames, freed from passion, and transcending all sorrow. Hose are the regions of tane, very hard to get in, where oppression can never to II you go there, I shall go even there and compell you to yield up this elephant to me.

Dhritarashtra said:—

44-44 He with, having a thousand kine gives away his ired kine exery year, for having a hundred kine Lives away ten every year to the best of his piwer, or possessing only ten or even five kine gives a possessing only ten or even five kine gives a nature allowed to ward they who gives a nature all time days, who obey it enablements and the will be Veday, and who, killed with energy of mind go to swere! waters and stimes, live happing in the region of kine

45-45. They who po to Prablius and Manata, the laket of Pouthara, the large lake called Majantara the sacrod forestol Namuha, Valuda, Karatoya, Garaga, Layahtras, Vipasha, Sibidavaluka Kirahna, Layahtras, Vipasha, Sibidavaluka Kirahna, the fee tiren of the Pumph), the extensive lake called Mahahrada, Garasti, Raushka, Clampa, Sarawata, Dishindarat, and Yamuna,—indeed those illustrious Britimira, in the observance of vows, who go to these sacred waters,—go to the regions of which you speak Gifted with celestial bedies and adorned with celestial gardinds those blessed individuals, always emitting the sweetest perfu nes, go to the regions of yoy Indeed, Dhritarashtra shall not go there.

Gautama said —

49—51. Next to these are recons where there is no fear of the less cold or least, no langer, no thirst, no prun, no sorrow, no 193; no one who is agrees the or disagreezable, and frend, and no enemy no decreptude and no death, and where there is neither written nor sim. Gring, even to that region which is freed from passon, which is full of hippiness, and where there is windom and updaying of Sattway—indeed, going Rahman and the saftway of the saftway

Dhritarashtra said:--

52-53. They who are shorn of all trachments, who are grited with purifications, who steady to observe the foremost views, who have produced the foremost views, which have a grited that of the mind, and also have acquired the happiness of Heaven—those persons possessed of the quality of Sattwa—Gonne to the sacred region of Brahman O great ascetic, you shall not be able to discover Dirittarachitra there.

Gautama said -

54. There where the foremost of Rathantars as sung, where altars are constituted with the sacred Kusha blades, for the celebration of Pindasaus ascentifices, there where Somm-drinking Brahmanus sojourn on critication by excellent horses, going even there I shall compel you to yield up this elephant.

55 I think you are the detroyer of Verira 123, it easy who has celebrated a hundred sacrifices, engreed in prising triugh all the regions of the interest 10pc. I have not, through mental weahest-committed any fault by the words I have addressed you

The God of a hundred sacrifices

5) Yes, I am Maghavat. I came on easily for seizing this elephant. I have to you. Do you command me. I shall immediately accomplish all that you may be pleased to say.

Gantama said:— 5%. Do 301 gue me, O 1 / 11 11 2 celestials, this white elephant that is so young for it is only ten years of age. I have raised it as a child of my own. Living in this forest, it has grown under my eard has been to me a dear companion. Do you set free this my child that you have seized and wish to take away.

The god of a hundred sacrifices said :-

58. This elephant that has been a son, to you, O foremost of Brahmanas, comes to you fooking wistfully at you. See it smells your feet with its nostrils. My salutations to you. Do you pray for my well-being.

Gautama said:--

59. O king, of the celestials, I do always think of your good. I always offer you worship, Do you also, O Shakra, impart your blessings to me. Given by you, I accept this elephant.

The God of a hundred sacrifices

- 60 Amongst all those great and foremost of Rishis who firmly follow trath and who have the Vedas planted in their heart, you alone have been able to recognise me. Therefore I am exceedingly pleased with you.
- 61. Do you, therefore, O Brahmana, come with me speedily, accompanied by this your son. You are worthy of going to various regions of great happiness, without the delay of even a single day.

Bhishma said ---

- 62. Having said these words, the holder of the thunderbolt, taking Gautama with him and placing him before, along with his son, are, that elephant, went to Heaven, that is difficult of attainment by even the
- 63. He who would listen to this history every day or would recite it, controlling his senses all the white, will go to the region of Brahman even as Gautama himself,

CHAPTER CIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said:-

 You have described to us the various kinds of gift, tranquility of soit, I ruth, mercy, contentment with one's married wife, and themerits of gift. 2. You know very well, O grandfather, that there is nothing whose power is superior to that of Penances You should explain to us what forms the highest penance.

Bhishma said:-

- 3 I tell you, O Vudhishihira, that one acquires a regions of happiness according to the nature of penances he practises. This is what I hold, O son of Kunti, that there is no Penance superior to abstention from food.
- Regarding it is recited the ancient discourse between Bhagiratha and the illustrious Brahman.
- 5. We have heard, O Bharata, that Bhagiratha attained to that region which is superior to that of the celestials of kine, and of the Rishis.
- 6. Seeing this, O monarch, the Grandfather Brahman, addressing Bhagiratha, said,—How, O Bhagiratha, have you attained to this region that is so hard to get at.
- Neither the celestials, nor Gandharvas, nor mankind, O Bliagratha, succeed in coming here without having performed the severest austernies. How, indeed, have you come by this region.

Bhagiratha said:-

8 I used to make gifts of hundred thousands of gold coins to the Brahmanas practising the vow of celibacy all the while. It is not by dint of the merit of those gifts, O learned one, that I have acquired this region.

- g I celebrated the Ekaratri (one-might's) sacrifice (consisting of lasts and guits) for ten times, and the Pancharatri (hve-nights) sacrifices for as may times, i per formed elevis times the Fladashratri sacrifice. I performed a hundred times are the performed a hundred times to the performed and times to the performed times to the performed times are the performed times. I have adjuncted this organization to the performed times are the performed times and the performance times. The performance times are the performance times are the performance times are the performance times are the performance times. The performance times are the p
 - ously by the side of the sacred Jalmavi, all the while performed the severest austernies. There I made gitls to the Brahmanas of thousands of males and numberless female slaves.
 - 11. By the side of the Pushkara lake I made gifts to the Bral manas, for a hundred thousand times, a hundred thousand horses, and two hundred thousand kine.
- 12. I also gave away a thousand women of great beauty, each adorned with golden moons, and sixty thousand more, decked

- with ornaments of pure gold. It is not, however, through the metics of those deeds that I have succeeded in acquiring these terious.
- 13 O lord of the universe, performing those scarfices known as Gosaya, I gave away ten Arvidas of kine, presenting each Brahmana with ten kine, each of whom was accompanied with her calf, each of whom gave milk at the tune, and with each of whom were given a vessel of gold and one of while brass for milking her.
- 14 Celebrating many Soma sacrifices, I gave away to each Brahmana ten kine each of whom gave milk and each of whom had brought forth only her first calf, besides making presents to them of hundreds of kine belonging to that kind which is known by the name of Rohim.
- 15 I also gave away to the Brahmanas twice ten Prayutas of other kine, all giving milk, It is not through the ment of those gifts, O Brahman, that I have succeeded in acquiring to this region of happiness.
- 16 I also gave away a hundred thousand horses of the Vallnika breed, all of white complexion, and adorned with garlands of geld. It is not, however, through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired this region.
- 17. I gave also eight crores of golden cous to the Brahmanas, O Brahman, and another ten crores also, in each sacrifice that I celebrated It is not, however, through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired this region of happiness.
- 18 I also gave away seventeen crores of horses, O Grandfather, each of green color, each having black ears, and each adorned with garlands of gold.
- 19 I also gave away seventeen thousand I uge elephants having teeth as large as plough-shares, each having those whirts on its body, which are called Padmas, and each bedecked with garlands of gold.
- An I gave away for abussand cors, Of Grandlather, whose parts were made of gold, and which were adorned with various ornaments of gold.
- 21. I also gave away seven thousand other cars with lorses typed to each. All the lorses that were yound to them were adorned with ornaments of gold. Howe cars represented the presents of a sacrifice and were of exactly that kind which is indicated in the Vedas.
- 22. In the ten great Vajapeja sacrifices that I celebrated, I gave away a thousand heroes each gilted with the power of Indra himself, judged by their prowess and the sacrifices they had celebrated.

- 27-24. Spending a vist sum of money, O Grandfather, and celebrating eight Rajashya sacrifices I gave away to the Brahmanas who officiated in them, a thorsand kings whose necks were adorned with garlands of gold, after having defeated them in battle It is not, however, through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired this regi *1.
- 25 In those sacrifices, O Lard of the timuters I made presents as a proluse as the stream of Ganga hetself. Each Brahmana I gave two thousand elephants decided with gold, as many horses adorned with golder ornaments, and a hundred villages of the best kind.
- 26-27. Indeed, I gave these thrice to each Brahman observant of penances; hrung on regulated diet, adopting tranquility of sool, and controlling speech, I lived for a long time on the breast of Himawat by the side of that Gang whose tressible current was borne by Mahadeva on his head. It is not through the merit of these deeds, O grandfather, that I have acquired this region.
- 28 I Irowing the Shami, I worshipped the gods in numberless such sacrifices at are completes as the sacrifices at are completed as a large day, and such others as take twelve days for completing, and gibers still as can be completed in thritten days, besides many Pundarka! I have not acquired this region through the merits of any of those sacrifices.
- 29 I gave to the Brahmanas eight thousands of white bulls, each possessed of a beautiful hump, and each having one of its horns covered with gold. In them I also gave beautiful wives whose necks were adorned with chains of eold.
- 30. I also gave away masses of gold and wealth of other kinds. I gare away hills of gems and valuable stones I gave away Villages, thousands in number and filled with wealth and corn.
- 37. With all my senser about me. I gave away the Brahmanas a hundred thousand kine each of whom had brought forth only her first calf, at many great scarifices which I celebrated It is not however, through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired this region.
- 32 I worshupped the celettals in a sacrifice that is completed in eleven day? Twice I worshipped them in sacrifices that are completed in twelve days. I worshipped them also many a time in the Horse-size fices. I performed the Arkayan sacrifice sixteen times. It is not through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired its region.

- 34 I also gave each Brahmana a forest of Kanchana trees exceeding for a Yojana on every side, and with each tree adorned with fewels and gens it is not through the mrits of that deed that I have acquired this region.
- 34 For there years with heart perfectly freed from anger, I observed the lurayana vow that has very superior ment, and gave away to the Brahmanas every day time hundred kine.
- 35. Indeed, O I and of the universe, every one of those kine belonged to the Robin species and Jave milk at the time I gave them away. It is not through the merits of those deeds, O king of the detties, that I have acquired this region.
- 36. I adored thirty fires, O Brahman, werry day. I worshipped the celestials in tight sacrifices in which the fat of all animals was poured on the fire. I worshipped them in seven sacrifices in which the fat of human beings was poured on the fire.
- 37. I adored them in a thousand and twenty-eight Vishwajt secrifices. It is not through the merits of those sacrifices, O king of all the celestids, that I have acquired this region.
- 38. On the banks of Sarayu and Vahuda and Ganga, as also in the lorest of Nattursh, I gave away militons of kine to the Brahmanas It is not through the merits of those deeds that I have acquired this train.
- 30. The now of fast had been known to India. He had, however, kept it a secret. Shukra, the descendent of Bhrigu, gained at knowledge of it by means of spiritually acquired through penames. Burning with acquired through penames. Burning with heregy as he does, it is Ushanas who first made it known to the inneress. I observed that you, O bom giving Deny.
- 40. When I finished that very superior vow, the Binhumanas became all pleased with me. A thousand Rishts came there.
- 41. All these Brahmanas and Rishts, O powerful lord, pleased with me, said—Do you go to the regim of Brahman!—It is on account of the ments of that you that I have succeeded in acquiring this region of very superior happiness. There is no doubt in this.
- 42. Asked by the Supreme Creator of all things, I have duly explained the merits of the vow of fast. In my opinion, there is no perance higher than fast, I how to you, O feremost of all the celestials. Be proprinted, with me,

Bhishma said :--

- 43 Kuig Bhagiratha, who had said so and who was worthe of every honor; was, on the conclusion of his speech, honored by Brahman according to the rites ordained for that purpose.
- 44 Do you, therefore, O Yudhushthura, observe the yow of fast and adore the Brahmanas every day. The words uttered by Brahmanas can do every thing both in this world and in the next.

45. Indeed, the Brahmanas ahould ever be pleased with gits of dresses and food and white-complexioned kine and good dwelling houses and palaces. He very celestials should please the Brahmanas. Freemy yourself from cupidity, do you practise this vow of very superior ment that is not known to all.

CHAPTER CIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).→;

Continued.

Yudhishthira said:--

- t. Man, it is said, is gifted with a period of life extending for a hundred years, and with great energy and power. Why then, O grandlather, do human beings die even in their youth?
- 2. By what does a man become forge-lived, and by what is his life shortgued? Through what does a man acquire the lame that depends upon great deeds? Through what does one acquire wealth and prosperity?
- 3. Is it by penances, or celibracy or silent recitation of sacred Mantras, or drugs? Is it by his deeds, or mind, or speech? Do you explain to me this, O grandfather.

Bhishma said:--

- 4 I shall tell you what you ask me. In fact, I shall tell you what the reason is for which one becomes short fixed, and what the reason is for which one becomes long-tived.
- 5 I shall also explain to you the reason or which one succeeds in winning the fame that depends on great deeds, and the reason for which one succeeds in acquiring recoles and prosperity. Indeed, I shall eallylien you about the manner in which one must live in order to be possessed of what is good for him.
- 6. It is by conduct that one acquires a long life, and it is by conduct that one

- 41. One should never an others with wordy arrow. Indeed, one should never interpany critel speech. One should never necept anything in gift from a person who is low and vilgar. One should never the bow and vilgar. One should never ditte such words as pair other people or as are manipulcous or as are suital.
- 132. Wordy arrows fall from the month. Pierced therewith, the victim grieves day and night. The wise man should never shoot them for cutting the visls of other people.
- "33 ! A forest, pierced with arrows or cut down with the axe, grows again. The man, however, who is pierced with words inwisely spaken, becomes the victim of wounds that lester and bring on death.
- 34 Barbed arrows and Nahkas and broad headed arrows are capalle of being extracted from the hody. Widy arrows however, are measpible of being extracted, for they he embedded in the very heart.
- 35 One should not traint a person who is defective of a limb or who has a limb in excess or one who is shorth of bearings, or one who is smorthly, or one who is smorthly, or poor, or one who is shorth of strength.
- 136 One should avort atheism vililying the Vedan, consuming the erlestrils, imilia, pride, arrogance, and harshness
- 37 One slithd not anguly, take up the rod of punishment for laying it up in another. Only the son or the pupil, it has been said, can be insight reprinted for purpose of instruction.
- 38 One should not, vility Brahmanas, nor should point at the stars with one a figers. If asked, one slould not say what the lination is on a particular day. By telling it, his life becomes shortened.
- 39 Having answered calls of native or laving walked over a road, one shirld wash his feet. One should also wash his feet before sitting to recke the Vedas or to eat any food.
- 40 These are the three things which are considered as pure and sarred by the celestrals and as such fit for the Brahmana's use, ris, that whose impurity is unknown that which has been washed in water, and that which has been well spoken of.
- 41. Samayava, Krishara, meat, Sliashakuli, and Payasa shinuld never be co ked for one's ownself. Whenever cooked, these should be offered to the celestials.
- 42. One should attend every day to his sacred fire. One should every day give alms. One should, controlling speech the white, clean his teeth with the tooth stock.

- 43-46. One should never be in bed when the son is p. If one stalls any day to be up with the sun, the should then perform an expiration. Rising from bed, one should first salule his parents, and priceptors, or other elders worthy of respect. By so doing one acceptors a long life. The toolistick should be thrown off when done with, and a new one should be used every day.
- 45. One should ext food which is not forbidden in the scriptures, abstanming from food of every kind on days of the new moon and the full moon. One should, with senses controlled, answer calls of nature, a facing the north.
- 46-47. One should not adore the celestials without having first wished his telestial. Without also adoring the celestials first, one should never tepair to any person except his preceptor or one who is old in years or one who is righteous or one who is wish wished to some whore were the times the same of the work of the wore of the work of
 - 43 One should never know a woman that is unknown or with one that is bug with elids.
 - 49: One should never sleep with headturned towards the north or the west. One should not be down upon a broken bedstead.
 - 50 One should not steep on a bed without having examined it first with the help of a light. Nor should one sleep on a bedwith another by his side. One should never sleep in a transverse direction. One should never make air agreement with theists or do my thing in companion with them.
 - 51. One should never drag a seat with the foot and sit on it. One should never bathe in a nude state our at hight.
 - 52 An intelligent person should rever allow his finish to be rubbed or press-dafter bathing. One should never smear ungitents upon the his body without having fras gone through bath. Thering bathed, one should never wave it is cloth in the air.
 - 53 One should not wear wet elotherevery day. One should never take off hisbody the garlands of flowers one may wear. Nor should one wear such garlands over his outer garments.
 - 54 One should never even talk with π ? worken during the period of her menses. One should not answer a call of nature on a field or at a place too near an inhabited village.
 - 55. One should never answer a call of a nature on a piece of water. One should first wash his mouth thrice with water is before eating any food.

acquires riches and prosperity. Indeed, it is by conduct that one acquires the fame that depends upon great deeds both in this world and in the next.

- 7. The man whose conduct is improper or wicked never acquires a long ble. All creatures fear such a man and are oppressed by him.
- S. If, therefore, one wishes his own Advancement and prosperity, one should, in this world, follow the path of righteousness and conduct himself properly. Good conduct succeeds in removing the inauspiciousness and misery of such one that is smith.
 - 9 Virtue is singled out by conduct The good and virtuous are so on account of the conduct they follow the marl s, again, of good conduct are afforded by the deeds of those that are good or righteous.
- 10. People regard that man who acts righteously and who does good acts even if they only hear of him without actually seeing him.
- 11. The atheists, they who are destitute of all acts, they who are disobedient to preceptors and violate the injunctions of the scriptures, they who are unacquanted with and, therefore, unobservant oil duties and they who are wicked of conduct, become short lived.
- 12. They who are of improper conduct, they who violate all restraints they who are unscrupulous about sexual congress, become shortheed here sud have to go to Hell hereafter.
- 13 Even those men live for a hundred years who, though destinite of all accomplishments, follow propriety and righteous ness of conduct and become endued with faith and freed from makee
- 14 He who is free from anger, who is truthful in speech who never does any injury to any creature in the universe, who is shorn of malice and cro kedness and insincerity, succeeds in living for a hundred years
- 15. He who always breaks little clods of earth, or tears up it e grass that grows under his feet, or cuts off his nails with his teeth, or is always impuse, or very restless, never succeds in living lo g.
- 16. One should wake up from sleep at the hour known as the Brahma Muharta and then think of both religion and worldly profit. Getting up from bed, one should then wash his face and mouth, and joining his hands in an attitute of respect, then say the morning prayers.
- 17. In this way, one should when evening trolling speech the while. One should never look at the rising sun, nor at the setting sun.

18. Nor should one look at the sun when he is meetipse, nor at his mage in the water, nor at midday when he is at it is meridian. The Rishis, on account of their worshipping the two twinghts, with great regulatity succeeded in acq firing longevity.

- 19—20 Hence one should, controlling speech, say his prayers regularly at the west while his A regards 'those Brahmans who do not say their prayers it heavily, his, a righteous king should set then, to perform such deeds as are ordaned by behalf as the bahudras. Persons of every caste should never have sexual congress with other people's worse.
- 21 There is nothing that shortens life so effectually as sexual u non with other
- people's wives

 22. The adulterer shall have to hive it
 Hell for as many thousand years asile, number of p res on the bodies of ife women with whom he may commit the
- offence.

 23. One should dress one's hair, apply collyrium to one's eyes, and wash one's teeth, as also worship the celestials in the
- forencon. 24-27. One should not gaze at urme or faces, or tread on it or touch it with one's feet. One should not see out on a journey at early dawn, or at mid day or mile evening twilight, or with a companion that is unknown, or with a Shudra, or slone While passing along a road, one should standing aside, always give way to a Brahmana, to kine, to kings, to an old man, to one that is loaded with a burthen, to a woman big with child or to one that is weak-When one meets a large tree that is know !one should walk round it. One shoul I also. when coming upon the crossing of four roads, walk round it before pursuing his journey At mid day, or at midnight of at night in general, or at the two twil glits one should not proceed to the crossing of One should never west the four roads sandals or clothes that have been worn by another
- another
 28-70. One should always observe the vow of cehbary, and should never cross his legs. One should observe the leve of celibary on the day of the moon, as also, the day of the sales on the eight through the day of the sales on the eight through the day of the sales on the cellunever eat the flesh of animals not killed a secrifices. One should never eat the flesh of the back of an animal, One should aword censuring and caluminating others as also all kinds of decertful conducts.

stronger than any of these two, destroys, not only the object of his anger but his entire family as well, not by looks alone but by thought also.

- 80. A wise man should, therefore, tend these three carefully. One should never engage in any disputation with his pre-ceptor.
- St. O Yudhishthira, if the preceptor becomes angry, he should always be pacified with due henors. If the preceptor is entirely in the wrong, still one should follow and honor him.
- 82. Forsooth, calumnious sayings against the preceptor always consume the lives of those who utter them. One should always answer a call of nature at a spot far distant from his dwelling place. One should wash his feet at a distance from his dwelling place.
- 83. One should always throw the remains of his dishes and plates at a spot distant from his dwelling place, Indeed, he who wishes for his own behoof should do all this. One should not wear garlands of red flowers Indeed, the wise should wear gailands of white flowers.
- B4 Rejecting the lotus and the filly, O you of great might, one may bear on his head, however, a flower that is red, even if it be an aquatic one.
- 85 A garland of gold can never become impure. After one has bathed, O king, he should use perfutnes mixed with water.
- 86. One should never wear his upper garment for covering the lower limbs or the lower garments for covering the upper ones. Ner should one wear clothes used by another. One should not, again, wear a piece of cloth that has not its fringes.
- 87. When one goes to bed, O king, he should wear a different piece of cloth When passing along a road, one should wear a different piece of cloth. So also, when adon g the celestials, one should wear a different piece of cloth.
- 88 Ite intelligent man should smear its limbs with unguents made of Peryangu, sandal wood, Vilwa, Fagara, and Keshara.
- 59. In observing a fast, one should purify himself by a bath, and adorn his body with ornaments and unquents. One should always abstain from sexual union on days of the full moon and the new moon.
- on. One should never, O king, eat off the same plate with another even if he be of his own or equal rank. Nor should one ever art any food that has been prepared by a woman in her menses.

- 91. One should never ext, any food or drink any lapid whose essence has been taken off. Nor should one eat anything without gering a part thereof to persons who wisfully gaze at the food that one happens to take. It metalligent man should never is in ear an unpure person. Nir should one sit near persons who are foremost, in vitue.
- 92-93 All food that is forbidden in refigure the should never be taken even on other occasions. The fruits of the friens refigures and the Frois Bengalesiss as also it eleaves of the Crotolaria Juncea, and the fruits of the Frois plomeratia, should never be eaten by one who seeks his own good the fitted to goats, of kine, and the peacock, should never be eaten.

 91-95 One should also abstain from
- dried flesh and all flesh that is state. Use intelligent man should never eat any saft, taking it up with his brind. On should be eat curds and floor of line of barley at night. One should abstain also from flesh or animals not killed in sacrifices. O should, with rapt attention, gat once on the morning and orice in the evening abstaining entirely from all food in the interval.
- 96 One should never eat any lood in which he may find out a hair. Nor should one eat at the Shraddha of an enemy. One should eat silently, one should never eat without covering his body with an upper garment, and without sitting down.
- 07-100. One should never eat any food placing it on the naked ground. One should never eat except in a sitting posture. One should never make any noise white, The intelligent man should first eating offer water and then food to one who has become his guest, and after having served the guest thus, should then take his meals He wift sits down to dinner in a t imself line with friends and himself exts any food without giving thereof to his friends, is said to eat dreadful poison. As regards water and Pavasa and Burr of lead backer and cords and clarified butter and honey, one should never, after drinking or eating these, offer the residue thereof to others. One should never, O king, eat any food hesitatingly.
- tot. One seeking one's own good, should never drink curds finishing his meal. After the meal is limished one, should wash his mouth and face with the fright) hand only, and taking a hitle water should then dip the toe of the right food in it.
- toz. After washing, one should touch the crown of his head with the (right) hand, With rapt attention, one should next touch fire.

- '56. Having finished his meals, one should wash his mouth three with water and twee again. One should eat, with face turned eastwards; his food, controlling speech the while and without censuring the food that is raten.
- 53. One should alwa's leave a tesidue of the food that is placed before one for cating. Having finished his meals, one should mentally touch fite I for eats with face turned eastwards, he becomes long-lived. By eating with face turned southwards, one acquires great fame.
- 58. By eating with face turned westwards, one acquires great riches. By eat ing with face turned northwards, one becomes truthful in speech. Having finished his meals, one should wash all the upper holes of one's body with water.
- 50. Likewise, all the limbs, the navel, and the palms of the hands should be washed with water. One should never sit upon husk of corn, or upon hair, or upon ashes, or upon bones.
- 60. One should, never use the water that has been used by another for bathing One should always perform the Homa for propinating the celestrals, and recite the Savita Mantras.
- 61. One should always eat in a seated posture. One should never eat while walking. One should never answer a call of nature standing. One should never answer a call of nature on ashes or in a cowpen.
- 62. One should wash his feet before sitting to one's meals. One should never sit or lie down for sleep with wet feet. One who sits to his meals after having washed his feet, lives for a century.
- 63. One should never touch there three things, while one is in an impure state, \(\tau_i s\), so, and a Brahmana. By observing this rule, one lives long.
- 64. One should not, while he is man impure state, cast one's eyes on these three things, vis, the sun, the moon and the stars,
- 65. The life-breaths of a young man go upwards, when an old and venerable person comes to his house. He gets them back by standing up and properly saluting the guest.
- 66. Old men should always be saluted One should, upon seeing them, offer seats with 1 sown hand. After the old man has taken, a person should six and taken with 1 and person should six and an old man goes along the section. The should always follow him instead of walking ahead.

- 67. One should never sit on a torn or broken seat. Ohe should, without using it any longer, throw away a troken vessel of white brass. One should, hever eat white out a piece of upper garment covering instady. One should never bathe in a nude of the state.
- 68 One should never sleep in a naked, state. One should never even tonch the remnants of other people's dishes and plates. One should never, while he sin' an impure state, touch another's head, for it is said in the scriptures that the wral are all concentrated in the bead.
- 69. One should never strike another on the head or seize another by the hair. One should not join his hands together for scratching his head.
- 70. One should not, while bailing, ferpeatedly dip his head in water. By so doing one shortens one's life. One who has battled by dipping the head in water should not alterwards put on to any part of his body.
- 73. One should never take his meah without eating some sesure. One should never teach (the Vedas or any scriptures) at a time when he is impure. Nor should one study while is impure
- 72—74. When a storm ries or a bid small spreads used in the atmosphere, be should beyord time to the Vedac Versons knowing assets that my rectae a G tha sing by Yanna in day 30 f yore. He who more while impure or studies the Veda andle similar circumstances, indeed, that indee from Brahman who studies the Ved a forbidden times loses his Veda and shorten his the
- 75-76. Hence, one should never study the Veda with capt attention at forholder times. They who answer a call of name, with face towards the sim or towards a brining fire, or towards a cow, or towards a twice born person, or on the road, he come shurthwide At day time both call, of nature should be answered with face turned towards the north.
- 77—78 At mglit, those calls should be answered facing the south. By so doing answered facing the south, By so doing wishes to live long should live for which were distingted or insultany of these three, however weak or enacated they may appear to De. vir. the Brahmann, the Kshatriya, and the snake. All three are gitted with dread's posion, the snake, if angry, burist the victim with only a look of its eye.
- 79. The Kshatrrya also, if angry, burns the object of his anger, as soon as he sees him, with his energy. The Brahmana.

- 127. Sons hould also be settled and a pation of the family influentiative given to them. O liberata, as their provision. One should bettle by dipping, it is head in water feefore he sits down to perform any act in honor of the departed Manes or the returns.
- 123 One should never perform a Shraddia under the constellation of his nativity. No Shraddina should be performed under any of the Shadrapadas (prior or fater), nor under the constellation Kinuka, O Sharata.
- 126. The Shraddha should never be performed under any of those constellations that are considered as dreadful (such as Asifiesha, etc.) and any of those that upon calculation, seem to be hostile. Indeed, in this matter, all these constellations should be avoided which are fortuded in a stralogy.
- 130 One should sit facing either the east for the north while being shaved by a barber By so doing. O great king, one succeeds in living long.
- 131. One should neither visity others nor reproach hunself, for, O chief of the Bharatas, at is said that calumny is mitful whether of others or of oneself.
- t32 In marrying, one should avoid a woman who is deficient of any fimb. A maiden ton, if such, should also be avoided. A woman of the same Pravara should also be avoided; as also one who is all-formed in body; as also one who has been born in the race to which one's mother belones.
- 133 A wise man should never know a woman who is old, or one who has given up the domestic mode of life for entering the lorest mode or one who is faithful to her husband or one whose organs of generation are not healthy or well formed.
- 134-136 You should not marry a woman who is of a yellow bolor, or or one who is attacked with leproxy or one horn in a family in which if her his been epileps, or one that is fow in buttle and hobits, or one that called leproxy has appeared, or one that called leproxy has appeared, or one belonging by burth to a family m which there are early deaths. Only that madein who is gifted with ampsecious indications, and who is accomplished for all sorts of qualifications, who is agreeable and beautiful, should be married. One should interry, I O Yudnihilura, in a family who is higher than the control of th
 - 137-138 One who is desirous of his own prosperity, should never marry a woman who is of an inferior caste or who has fallen away from the caste of her birth. Carefully highing up the fire, one should br at least equal to his own.

- perform all those acts which have been ordered and declared in the Vedys or by the Bridmanas One should never to more warmen. Wives should adways be protected.
- 139 Milice always shortens life. Hence, one should always abstain from entertaining malice. Sleep at day time shortens life. To sleep after the sun time shortens life.
- 140. They who sleep at any of the twinghis, or an inghitall, or who go to sleep in, a state of impurity, have their lives shortened. Adultery always shirtens life, One should not remain in a state of impurity firer shaving.
- 141. One should, O Bharata, carefully abstain from reading or recting the Vedas, and eating, and bothing at eventide.
- 142. When the evening twilight sets in one should collect his senses for meditation, without dung any act. One should collect his senses for meditation, without any act. One should, O king, bathe and thou adore the Brahmanas,
- 143—144 Indeed, one should bathe before adorting the celestatis and reverentially saluting the preceptor. One should never go to a sacrifice to the should not satisfied to the sacrifice to conducted. If one goes to a sacrifice is conducted. If one goes to a sacrifice without an invitation and if one does not on that account, receive proper adoration from the sacrificer. In life becomes sharined of One should never go alone on a journey to foreign parts. Nor properly the sacrifice of the sacrifice of the sacrifice of the sacrificer of the sacrificer.
- 145-146 Before evening sets in, one should return to his house and remain within it. One should be very obey the commarts of his parents and preceptor, authorit at all pridging whether those commands or good not. One should, O king, attend carefully to the Vedas and the military science.
 - 137 Do then, O king, carefully attend to the practice of riding an elephant, a horse and a war chanot. The man who attends to these with care, succeeds in acquiring happiness.
 - 148 Such a king succeeds in becoming unconquerable by enemies, and govern his servants and kinsmen without any of their being able to subjugate him. The king who attains to such a position and who carefully attends to the duty of protecting his subjects, has never to incur any loss.
- 149 You should, O king, be proficient in logic, as also the science of words, the

114

The man who knows how to observe all these ordinances carefully succreds in acquiring the foremost place among his knismen. One should, after finishing his meals, wash his nose and eyes and ears and navel and both hands with water.

tod One should not, however, keep his hands wet. Between the tip and the root of the thumb is situate the sacred Intha known by the name of Brahma.

105-106 On the back of the hitle finger, it is said, is situate the Deva- Intha The intervening space between the thinnb and the forefriger, O Bharata, should be used for performing the Pitri rites, after touching water according to the ordinance One should never vilily other people. Nor should one ever utter anything that is disagreeable.

101. The man who desires his own good, should never seed to bring on humself the wrath of others. One should never seek to talk with an omeaste. The very sight of such a person should be shunned.

One should never come as contact with a degraded person. By avording such contact one succeeds to acq uring a long life One should never indulge in sexual intercourse at day time. Nor should one know a maiden, or a harlot nor a barren woman.

100-110 One should never know a woman who has not bathed after the expiry of her menses. By avoiding such acts one succeeds in acquiring a long life After washing the several limbs directed in view of religious acts, one should wash his lips thrice, and once more twice. doing this, one becomes purified and fri for religious rites. The several organs of sense should each be washed once, and water should also be sprinkled over the entue body.

111-112 Having done this one should perform the adoration of the departed Manes and the celestrals, according to the ordinances of the Vedas Listen to me, O you of Kuru's race as I tell you what purification is cleansing and beneficial for a Brahmana Before beginning to eat and after finishing the meal, and in all deeds requiring purification tile Brahmana should ruise his mouth with water placed on the hmb called the Brahma-tirtha.

113-114 After ejecting any matter from the throat or spitting, one should wash his mouth before he can become pure A kinsman who happens to be old, or a friend who happens to be poor, should be acco modated in one's house and his comforts looked after as if he were a member of the family. By doing this, one succeeds in winning both fame and longevity. To keep pigeons as also parrots both male and lemale, in one's house is harbly blessed.

115-116 If these live in one's house, they succeed in removing calamity. The same is the case with cockroaches. If firethes and vultures and wood-pigeous and bees enter a house and live in it, acts of proprieting the celestrals should be performed. These are creatures of evil omen, as also ospreys

117. One should never give out the secrets of great men ; one should never have sexual muon with a forbidden woman should one ever have such unnor with the consoit of a king or with women who are the friends of queens.

118-120. One should never make friends with physicians, or with children, or with persons who are old, or with one's servants, O Y idlishthira. One should always provide for friends, for Brahmanas and for such as seek his protection. By doing this, O king, one acquires a long life. A wife man should live in such a house as has been constructed with the help of a Brahman's and an engineer skilled in his calling, if indeed, Oking, he seeks for his own hehoof One should not, O kmg, sleep at the evening twilight Nor should one study at such an hour for acquiring any branch of knowledge.

121. An mtelhgent man shool I never eat also at such an hour. By action thus one acquires a ling life. One should never perform any act in honor of the depirted Mines at might time. One should not adorn his body after frushing his meals.

122 One should not barbe at mght, if he steks I is own aggrandisense it. One should also, O Bharata always abstant from the flur of fried barley at might

123. The residue of foot and dirak, as also the flowers with which one has addred the celestrals should never be used ing a grest at night, one should never, with excessive courtesy, compell him to est to his fill. Nor should one eat to his fill, at night 124-125 One should not kill a bird (for eating it), especially after having fed it A wise man should espinise a maiden born in a high lannly, gifted with auspicious marks, and of full age Begetting children upon her and thus perpetuating his race by that means, one should make over in sons to a good preceptor for being educated generally, O Bharata, as also in the especial customs of the family. O monarch. daughters that one may beget should be married to youths of respectable families, who are again possessed of intelligence.

but giving any share thereof to his younger brothers.

- 12 If brothers wish (during the life-time of their father) to partition the family property, the father should give equal shares to all his sons
 - 13 If the eldest brother happens to be byscops man and without any accomillustrates, he may be disregarded by his abunger brothers. If the wife or the younger strokes happens to be smill, her or his good must still be loozed after.
 - 14 Persons convervast with the efficacy of eighteonsness hold that virtue is the highout good. The Upadhyaya is superior to even ten Acharyyas. The father is equal to en Upadhyayas.
 - 15 The mother is equal to ten fathers or even the whole Earth. There is no senior equal to the mather. Indeed, she is above all in respect of the reverence due to her
 - 16 It is therefore, that people regard the in their to deserve so much respect. After it e demise of the father, O Bi catala, the eldest brother should be considered as the father.
 - 17. It is the eldest brother who should assign to them their turans of support and protect and maintain them. All the jourger brothers should how to him and obey his tonmand.
 - 18 Indeed, they should depend up in him, as they did upon their father during his life time. So far as the body is conterned, O Bitarata, it is the father and the mother who creates it.
 - 19. That birth, however, which the Acturyya ordams, is considered as the true birth which is really unfading and immostal the eldest stort, O chief of Bharata's race is like a mother, the wife of the eldest brother also is like the mother, for the Jounger brother, in infamy, receives nursuing from her.

CHAPTER CVI.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA).~

Yudhishthira said -

- O grandiather, all the orders of men, including the very Milect chinas are naturalby disposed to observe fasts. We, however, do not know the reason thereof.
- 2 We have heard that only Brahmanas and Kahatriyas should observe the vow of fasts. How, O grandfather, are the other

- castes to be taken as acquiring any ment by the observance of fasts?

 3 flow have vows and fasts come to be observed by persons of all castes, O king? What is that end which one devoted to the observance of fasts, acquires?
- 4 It has been said that fasts are greatly meritorious and that fasts are a great refuge. O king, what is the fruit that is acquired in this world by the man who observes fasts?
- 5 By what means is one purged of his sins? By what means does one acquire virtue. By what means, O best of the Buratas, does one succeed in acquiring Haven and ment.
- 6 After having observed a fast, what should one give away, O king? O tell me, what those duties are by which one may succeed in acquiring objects leading to happiness.

Vaishampayana said:—

7. Knint's son begotten by the detty of Duarma, who was conversant with every duty and who said so to him. Shantanu's son, Bhalling, who knew every duty, answered in the following words.

Bhishma said :-

8 Formerly, O king, I heard of these high ments, O chief of finarata's race, as belonging to the observance of fasts according to the ordinance.

- g I had, O Bharata, asked the Rishi Angiras of great ascence ment, the very same questions which you have asked me to-day.
- to Accosted by me thus, the illustrious Rishi, who originated from the sacrificial fire, answered me even thus about the observance of fasts according to the ordinance.

Angiras said —

11 Fasts for three nights together, are ordaned for Brahmanas and Kahatriyas, O dehyl ter of the Kurus Indeed, O king, a fast for one night, for two nights, and for three nights, may be observed by them

- 12 Fast for one night is ordained for Vaishyas and Shudras. If they observe fasts for two or three nights by mistake, such fasts never bring on their advancement.
- 13 Fasts for two nights have been ordained for Vanthyas and Shudras (on certain special occasions) Fasts for three nights, however, have not been ordained for them by persons knowing duajes.

30

science of music, and the four and the sixty Bhishma said branches of knowledge known by the name 2 Do you, O son, of Kata.

150. One should every day hear the Puranas and the histories and all the other harratives that exist, as also the biographies of all great men.

151. When one's wife is in her season, one should never know her, nor even sum then her for conversation. A wise man may take her into his company on the fourth day after the bath of purification.

152 It one holds sexual union on the fifth day from the first appearance of the cataminal flow he gets a daughter. By holding it on the sixth day, he gets a son A wise man should, in the matter of sexual intercourse attend to this rule.

153 Amsumen and relatives by marriage and friends should all be treated with respect. One should, to the best of his power worship the celestials in sacrifices, giving away virious kinds of articles as sacrificial presents.

154 After the period laid down for the domestic in ide of life, one should, U king, become a hermit I have thus told you briefly all the characteristics of persons who succeed in living long

ame

155. What I have not told you should be heard by you from the mouths of persons well versed in the three Vedas O Yudhishthira You should know that conduct is the root of prosperity. Conduct increases

16 It is conduct which prolongs life, it is conduct which destroys all calamities and evils. Conduct has been said to be superior to all it e branches of knowledge.

157. It is conduct which begets virtue, and it is virtue which prolongs life. Conduct gives fame, long life, and Heaven. Conduct is the most efficacious rate of proputating the celesticist. The Self create Brahman himself has said that one should show mercy to all orders of men.

CHAPTER CV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said :-

1. Tell me, O chief of Bharata's race, how the eldest brother should treat his younger brothers, and how the younger brothers ahould behave towards their eldest brother.

- 2 Do you, O son, always behave towards your younger brothets as their eldest brothet should You are always the eldest of all these your brothers. You should always treat your younger brothers in the way in which a precentor treats his disciples.
- 3 If the preceptor happens to ube hisse, the disciple cannot possibly behave towards lum in a respectful or proper way. If the preceptor is possessed of purity and good conduct, the disciple also success in acquiring conduct of the same kind, O Bharata.
- 4. The eldest brother should at times not notice the acts of his younger brothers, and though possessed of wisdom should at times act as if he does not understand their data. If the younger brothers be guilty of any sim, the eldest brother should correct them by indirect ways and means.
- 5 If there be good understanding among brothers and if the eldest brother seeks to correct his younger brothers by direct or ostensible means, persons who are reemes, O son of Kunti, who feel pain on seeing such good understanding and who, therefore, always seek to bring about a disumen, try to disunite the brothers and sow dissension among them.
- 7. It is the eldest brother who increases the prosperity of the family or destroys it entirely. If the eldest brother happens to be not gifted with sense and wicked in conduct, he encompasses the destruction of the whole family.
- First eldest brother who injures his sounger brothers ceases to be considered as the eldest and forfeits his share in the family property and deserves to be checked by the king.
- Fhat man who acts decettfully, has, forsooth, to go to the regions of geref and every kind of evil. The birth of such a person is of no avail like the flowers of the cane.
- 9 That family in which a sinful person is born becomes subject to every evil Such a person brings about infamy, and all the good deeds of the family disappear.
- 10. Such among the brothers as are addicted to wicked deeds forfeit their shares of the family property. In such a case, life eldest brother may appropriate the entire joint property without giving any portion thereof to his younger brothers.
- 11. If the eldest brother makes any money, without using the paternal property and by going to a distant place he may appropriate for his own use, such wealth with:

but giving any share thereof to his younget | brothers. 62 It brothers with (during the life time

- of their father) to partition the family property, the lather should give equal shares to all his sons
- If the eldest brother happens to be a vicious man and without any accomplishments, he may be disregarded by his vonmer brothers If the wife or the younger brother happens to be sinful, her or his good must still be lauxed after.
- 14. Persons convervast with the efficacy of righteousness hold that virtue is the highest good. The Upadhyaya is superior to even ten Acharyyas. The father is equal to ten Upadiyayas.

The mother is equal to ten fathers or even the whole Earth. There is no senior equal to the mother. Indeed, sie is above all in respect of the reverence due to her

16 It is therefore, that people regard the in other to deserve so much respect the demise of the father, O Brarata, the eldest brother should be considered as the

- father It is the eldest brother who should assign to them their means of s mourt and project and maintain them. All the vounger
- brothers should bow to him and obey his Command 18 Indeed, they should depend upon hum, as they did upon their father during his life time. So far as the body is conterned, O Bharata it is the father and the
- mother who creates it. birth, however, which the 1 hat Acturyya ordains is considered as the true birth which is, really unfading and immortal The eldest sister, O chief of Bharata's race, is like a mother. The wife of the eldest brother also is like the mother, for the younger brother, in infanty, receives hur-

CHAPLER CVI.

(ANUSHASANA PARVA),-

Continued

- () woundfather all the orders of men, luclading the very Mieci chias are naturally disposed to observe fasts. We, however, do not know the reason thereof.
- We have heard that only Brahmanas and Kshatriyas should observe the vow of fasts. How, O grandfather, ar. the other

- castes to be taken as acquiring any merit by the observance of fasts? How have yows and fasts come to be observed by persons of all castes. O king ! What is that end which one devoted to the - observance of fasts, acquires? It has been said that fasts are greatly mentorious and that fasts are a great
- relage. Oking, what is the fruit that is aco ared in this world by the man who observes fasts?
- 5 By what means is one purged of his sins? By what means dues one acquire virtue. By what means, O best of the Biaratas, does one succeed in acquiring Heaven and ment.
- After having observed a fast, what should one give away. O king? O tell me, what those duties are by which one may succeed in acquiring objects leading to

Vaishampayana said :-

7. Kunti's son begotten by the desty of Duarma, who was conversant with every duty and who said so to him. Shantanu's son, Blushme, who knew every duty, answered in the following words.

happiness.

- Bhishma said :-8 Formerly, O king, I heard of these high ments, O chief of Buarata's race, as belonging to the observance of fasts ac-
- cording to the ordinance. I had, O Bharata, asked the Rishi Angiras of great ascetic merit, the very same questions which you have asked me
- Accosted by me thus, the illustrious Rishi, who orlemated from the sacrificial fire, answered me even thus about the observance of fasts according to the ordimance.

Angıras said — to-day.

- 11 Fasts for three nights together, are ordamed for Brahmanas and Kahatriyas. O delighter of the Kurus. Indeed, O king a last for one night, for two nights, and for three nights, may be observed by
- 12 Past for one night is ordained for Vaishyas and Shudras If they observe fasts for two or three nights by mistake, such fasts never bring on their advance-
- ment. Fasts for two nights have been ordained for Vaistiyas and Shudras (on certain special occasions) Fasts for three nights, however, have not been ordained for them by persons knowing duties.

Yudhishthira said -

Sink from her.

14—15 The wise man who, with his senses and soul under restraint, O Bharata, fasts, by abstaining from one of the two meals, on the fifth and the sixth days of the moon as also on the day of the full noon becomes gifted with forgiveness and personal beauty and knowledge of striptures. Such a person never becomes child-less and some

16-18 He who celebrates sacrifices for we stopping the derives on the fifth and the sixth days of the moon, becomes superior to all the members of his family and succeeds in feeding a large number of Brah-He who observes fasts on the eighth and the lourteenth days of the dark fortnight, becomes freed from diseases and possessed of great energy. The man who abst uns from one meal every day throughout the month called Margashusha, should, with respect and divotion, feed a number of Brahmanas By so doing he becomes freed from all his sins. Such a man becomes gifted with prosperity, and all sorts of grail become his,

in He becomes gifted with energy. In fact, such a person reaps profuse harvest from his fields, acquites great riches and much corn.

20 I hat man, O son of Kunti, who passes the whole month of Pausha, abstaining every day from one of two meals, becomes a graner of good fortune and pleasant leatures and great fame.

21 He who passes the whole month of Migha, abstaining every day from one of the two meals, is born in a high family and attains to a position of eminence among his kinsmen

42 He who passes the whole month of Bhavadawata, confining himself every day trendy one meal, becomes a favourite with trotten who, indeed, readily acknowledge its way.

23 He who passes the whole of the mouth of Chauca taking every day one meal only, is been in a high family and becomes rich in gold, gems, and pearls

24. The person whether male or female, who passes the month of Vasshakhia taking timed for the rest day one meah, and keep ig his or her senses under restraint, succeeds in attauting to a position of emitterior aim in the female of the senses and attaution of emitterior aim in the female of the senses and attaution of the senses are not the senses are not sense.

25 The person who passes the month of Justitiya taking Linnell every day one meal succeeds in acquiring a position of emissive and great riches. If a woman, alle reaps the same seward at life wild passes the month of Ashataking himself one mest a day and with senses steadily concentrated upon his duties, becomes possessed of much corn, great riches, and a large progeny.

27. He who passes the month of Sravana, taking himself one meal a day receives the honors of Abhisheka wherever be may happen to live, and attains to a pisition of eminence among kinsmen whom he supports.

28 I hat man who takes himself only one meal a day for the whole month of Proshthapada, becomes possessed of great riches.

29 The man who passes the month of Ashwin, taking liminself one meal a day, becomes pure in soul and body, possessel of many animals and vehicles and a large progeny.

30. He who passes the month of Kattika, taking himself one meal every day, becomes possessed of heroism, many wives and great fame.

31 I have now told you, O king, with the fruits are that are obtained by men by observing lasts for the two and ten months in detail. Listen now, O king, to me as I tell you what the rules are about the limar days.

32 The man who, abstaining from it every day, takes tice at the termination of every fortnight, becomes pissessed of a great many kine, a large progeny, and a long life

33 He who observes fasts for three mights every month and acts thus for two and ten years, acquires a position of eminence among his kinsmen and friends, without a rival to contest his claim and with N any anxiety caused by any one trying U rise to the same hearth.

34 These rules which I speak of, O chief of Bharata's race, should be observed for twelve years. Be disposed to do it.

25—35. That man who eats once in the foretonon and once alter evening and alter and foretonon and once alter avening and who alter the second of the second all creatures and who altows mercy towards all creatures pours libations of clarified butter on his secret fire every day, acquires saccess, O king, In say years. There is no did still this Such a man acquires the ment of the Agnal toma sacrifice.

37 Gited with merit and freed from every sort of stain he acquires the resion of the Apparax which echo with the sonal of songs and dance, and passes his days at the company of a thousand highly beautiful ladies.

38 He rides on a car of the eplor of melted gold and receives great honors in the region of Brahma

39-40 After the exhaustion of that merit, such a person returns to Earth and acquires elevated position. I hat man who passes one whole year, taking himself every day only one meal, acquires the merit of the Auratra ascrifice. He ascends to Hraven after d-ath and receives great honors there.

41—42 Upon the termination of that ment he returns to the Earth and acquires a position of eminence. He who passes one whole year fasting for three days in succession and faking food on every fourth day, and abstaning from upury from every sort, adhering to truthfulness of speech, and keeping his senses under control, acquires the ment of the Vayapeya searrifice.

43-44 Such a person accords to Heaven after death and receives great honors there that man, O son of Kunti who passes a whole year observing fasts for five days and taking food on only the sixth day, gains the ment of the Horse sacrifice. The chattothe rides, is drawn by Chakravakas.

45-46. Such a man enjos every kind of happiness in Heaven for full forty thou san't jears. He who passes a whole year observing fasts for seven days and task food on only every eighth day, gains the merit of the Gavamaya sacrifice. He thartot he rides, is drawn by swans and CEALES.

47—48 Such a person enjoys all kinds of happiness in Heaven for fifty thousand years. He who passes a whole year, O king, taking lood only at inservals of a fort night, sains the merit of a continuous fast for six months. I his his heen said by the illustrious Angiras himself. Such a man luves in Heaven for sixty thousand years.

49 He is roused every morning from his bed by the sweet notes of Vinas and Vallakis and flutes, O king.

50 He who passes a whole year, drinking only a little water at the termination of every month, acquires, O king, the merit of the Vishnajit sacrifice

51. Such a man rides a chariot drawn by lions and tigers. He lives in Heaven for seventy thousand years in the enjoyment of every sort of happiness.

52. No last for more than a month, O king, has been ordained Even this, O son of Prittia, is the ordinance about fasts that has been declared by sages conversant with duties.

53. That man who unafficied by disease and free from every malady, observes 3 fast, indeed acquires, at every step.

the ments of Sacrifices

54 Such a man ascends to Heaven on a car drawn by swans Gilled with power, he enjoys every sort of happiness in Heaven for a hundred years

55 A hundred Apsaras of the mose beautiful features, wait upon, and sport with him

56 He is roused from his bed every morning by the sound of the Ranchis and the Nupuras of those ladies.

57 Such a person rides on a car drawn by a thousand swans. Living again, in a region teeming with hundreds of the most beautiful ladies, he passes his time in great joy.

55-59 The person who seeks Heaven, does not want strength when he becomes weak, or the cure of wounds when he is wounded, or the daministration of incident when he is all or soothings by others when he is angry, or the musquiam, by the expenditure of money, of socrows curved by pivetty.

60 Leaving this world where he suffers all sorts of privations in proceeds to Heaven and rides on cars bedecked with gold, his body adorned with all sorts of ornaments. There, in the midst of lumineteds of beautiful hadres, he enj ys all sorts of pleasure and happiness, cleaneed of every sin.

61 Indeed, abstanting from food and enjoyments in this world be renounced this body and ascends to Heaven as the fruit of his penances. There purged of all his sins, be enjoys health and happiness and all his wishes become crowned with success.

63-63. Such a person ries on a celestal car of golden color, if ligent hire the morning sun, set with pearls and Lapix lazult resounding with the misse of Vires and Mirrapa, adorred with battners and lamps and echonic with the bounds of celestal bells

64 Such a person enjoys all sorts of happiness in Heaven for as many years as there are pores in his body.

65. There is no Shasira superior to the Veda There is no person more wortly of respect than the mother. There is no acquisition superior to that of viitue, and no penance superior to fast,

66 there is nothing more sacred, in Heaven or Barth, than Brahmanas Similarly there is no penance that is superior to the observance of fasts

the observance of fasts

67. It was by fasts that the celestials have succeeded in becoming dwellers of Heaven It is by fasts that the Rishis have acquired high success.

68. Vishwamitra passed a thousand relectial years, taking one meal a day, and as the consequence thereof acquired the status of a Brahmana. Gautama and Bhrigh -all these great

Chyavana, Jamadagni, Vashishtha,

- Rishis gifted with the virtue of forgiveness -have attained to Heaven through the observance of fasts. 70. Formerly Anguras declared so to the great Rishis. The man who teaches another the ment of fasts, has never to suffer any sort of misery.
- 71. The ordinances about fasts, in their due order. O son of Kunti, have originated from the great Rishi Angiras the man who daily reads these ordinances or hears them read, becomes freed from all sins.
- 72. Not only is such a person freed from every calamity, but his mind erises above all sorts of shortcomings a person succeeds in understanding the sounds of all creatures other than human. and acquiring eternal fame, becomes the foremost of men.

CHAPTER CVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ---Continued.

Yudhishthira said :--

- 1. O grandfather, you have duly described to us the subject of Sacrifices, including the merits in full that attach to them both here and hereafter.
- It should be remembered, however, O grandfather, that Sacrifices are incapable of being celebrated by poor men, for these require a large store of various articles.
- 3. Indeed, O grandfather, the merit attaching to Sacrifices can be acquired by only kings and princes. That merit is incapable of being arquired by those who have no wealth and power and who live alone and are helpless
- Do you tell us, O grandfather, what the ordinances are about those acts that are fraught with ment equal to what belongs to Sacrifices and which, therefore, are capable of being performed by poor men.

Bhishma said :-

Listen, O Yudhishibiea! Those ordinances that I have told you of,-those, ers., that were first promulgated by the great Rish Angiras, and that have reference to meriturious fasts for their soul,-are considered as equal to Sacrifices.

- 7-8. That man who takes one meal in the forenoon and one at night, will out taking any food or drink during the interval, and who observes this regulation for a period of six years successively abstaining all the while from injuring any creature and regularly pouring libations on his sacred fire every day, attains, forsooth, to success Such a man acquires hereafter a car of the color of heated gold, and acquires a residence, for millions of years in the region of Prajapate, in the company of celestral ladies, that ever echoes with the sign inf music and dance, and shines with the effulgence of fire
- 9 He who passes three years, taking one meal a day and abstaining all the while from intercourse with any other woman except his own married wife, attains to the merit of the Agnishtom's sacrifice
- 10-14 Such a man is considered as having performed a Sacrifice with plenty of gifts in gold, that is dear to Vasava tristifishess of himself. By practising speech making gifts, respecting the Bral . manas, avoiding malice, becoming forgiving and self controlled, and conquering anger, a man acquires the highest end Riding on a car of the color of white clouds that is drawn by swans, he lives, for millions and millions of years, in the company of Apsaras-Fasting for a whole day and taking only one meal on the second day, he who pours libations upon his sacred fire for the period of a whole year,-indeed, he who observed such a fast and attends every day to he fire and rises every day from bed before sumrise, acquires the merit of the Agus he toma sacrifice. Such a man acquires a caf drawn by swans and cranes.
 - 15-17. Surrounded by the most besutte ful ladies, he lives in the region of Indra Hat man who takes only one meal every third day, and pours libations every day on his sacred fire for a period of a whole year, -indeed, he who thus attends to his fire every day and wakes up from sleep every morning before sun rise, acq ires the high merit of the Attratra sacrifice. He acquires a car drawn by peacocks and swans and cranes.
- Proceeding to the region of the seven Rishis, he lives there surrounded by Apsaras of great beauty. It is well-known that such residence lasts for tull three Padmas of years
- Fasting for three days seccessively, he who takes only one meal every fourth day, and spours littations every day on his sacred fire, seques the great morth of the Vajereya sacrifice. The car he

- arquires is graced by highly beautiful celestrat ladies who have India for their lather. 21. He lives in the region of Indea for millions and millions of years, and enjoys prest happiness by witnessing the sports of
- resolvely he who eats only one meal every the truth, respecting the the king of the gods.

fifth day, and pours libations on the sacred fire every day for the period of a whole year, and who lives without condity, telling Brahmenas, abstaining from every sort of injury, and avoiding malice and sm, acquires the merit of the Varapeya sacrifice. the car he rides, is made of gold

22-23 Fasting for four days suc

- and drawn by swans and effulgent like many suns rising together. He acquires, besides, a palatial building of pure white
 - He lives there happily for full one and fifty Padmas of years
- 26-27 He who fasting for five days, takes to 1 only on the sixth day, and pous libations on his sacred fire every day for one year, and who performs three ablations in course of the day for purifying himself and saying his prayers and paying his adoration, and who leads a celibate life, divested of malice in his conduct, acquires the ment of the Gamedia sacrifice.
- He argures an excellent car adorned with pure gold off ilsent like a blazing fire and drawn by swaps and peacocks
- He sleeps on the lan of Ansaras and is awarened every morning by the melodio is sound of Nupuras and Kanchis.
- He leads such a happy life for ten thousand millions of years and three thousand millions besides and eight and ten Padmas and two Patakas.
- 31. Such a man lives also, honored by all, in the region of Brahma for as many years as there are hairs on the bodies of five thousand bears.
- Fasting for six days, he who takes only one meal every seventh day and pours thistions on the sacred like every day, for a full year, controlling speech all the while and observing the vow of celibacy and abstaining from the use of flowers and unguents and honey and meat, acquires the regim of the Maruts and of India Crowned with the fruition of every wish as it originates in the mind, he is wasted upon and adored by ladies.
- He acquires the merits of a sacrifice in which profuse gold is given away ceeding to the regions named, he lives there for numberless years in the enjoyment of greatest happiness.

- 36-37. He who shows mercy to all and lasting for seven days eats on every eighth day for a whole year, and, pouring libations every day on the sacred fire, worslip the celestials, regularly, acquires the great merus of the Paundaries sacrifice. The car be rides is latus-mored
- 38 Forsooth, such a man acquires also a large number of young and beautiful ladies, some having complexions that are dark, some with complexions like that of gold, and some that are Shamas, whose looks and pestures are of the most agreeable
- 39-10. He who fasts for eight days and takes only one meal on every much day for one full year, and pours libations on the sacred fire every day, wins the great merits of a thousand Horse sacrifices. The car he rates in Heaven is beautiful like a lotus.
- 41. He always journeys, on that car, accompanied by the daughters of Rudra bedecked with celestral garlands and gifted with the effulgence of the midday sun or of fires of Lurming flames.
- Acq uring the regions of Rudea, he lives there in great happiness for numberless years.
- 43-41 He who fasts for nine days and takes only one meal every tenth day for a whole year, and pours libations on his sacred fire every day, gains the high merit of a thousand Horse sacrifices and attains to the companionship of Brahmana's daughters whose beauty charm the hearts of all creatures.
- 45 these ladies, passessed of such beauty, and sime of them possessed of culor of the lotus and some like that of the same flower of the blue variety, always keep hunin joy.
- He acquires a beautiful car which moves in beautiful circles and which looks like the dense cloud called Avarta, resemble also an ocean wave
- 47. That car resounds with the constant tunkle of rows of pearls and gems, and the melodious sound of conchs and is adorned with columns made of crystals and diamonds, as as also with an altar constructed of the same minerals,
- 48 He rides such a car, drawn by swans and cranes, and lives for millions and millions of years in great happiness in Heaven
- 40-51. He who fasts for ten days and eats only clarified butter on every eleventh day for one full year and pours libations on his sacred fire every day, who never, in word or thought, seeks the company of other people's wives and who never utters a falsehood even for the sake of his nother and father, sinceeds in seeing Mithdeva of great power seated on his car. Such a person acquires the great ment of a thousand Horse sacrifices

- 52 He sees the car of the Self-create Brahman lumself approach for taking him on it. He rides on it accompanied by celestial ladies gifted with great beauty, and complexions as effulgent as that of pure yold.
- 53. Gifted with the blazing splendour of the cycle fire he lives for many years in a celestial mansion in Heaven, full of every happiness
- 54 For those numberless years he experiences the joy of bending his head in respect to Rudra worshipped by the celestials and Danavas
- 55-56 Such a person sees every day the great go! That man who having fasted fir eleven days, eats only a little clarified inter on the twelfith, and acts thus for a whole year, succeeds un acquiring the merits of all the barrices. The car he rides, is fullyent like a dozen suns
- 57-53 Adorned with costly gems and parals and corals, embellished with rows of swans and snakes and of peacocks and Chakravakis utterng their melodious notes as the beautified with large domes, is the quarter to which he attains in the region of brahman.
- 59 That house, O king, is always file I with men and women I his is what the highly blessed Rishi Angiras, knowing every duty, said
- 6). That man who having fasted for twelve days eats a little clarified butter on the thirteenth, and acts thus for a whole year, succeeds in acquiring the merits of the divine sacrified.
- 6t. Such a man gets a car of the color of the new blown lotus adorned with pure gold and heaps of jewels and gems
- 62. He goes to the regions of the Marits which are full of celestral ladies, which are advined with every kind of celestral ornament, which are filled with celestral perfumes, and which contain every element of hyppioess
- 63 Countless is the number of years he I years the happy regions.
- fit Southed with the sound of music and the sweet voice of Guidharvas and the sounds and blace of drung and Panavas, he is constantly pleased by celestial ladies of great heavity.

- 65 That man who having lasted for thorteen days, eats a little 'clarified buter on the fourteenth day, and acts thus for a full year, acquires the ments of the Midsmedha sacrifice.
- 66 Celestial ladies of indescribable beauty, and whose age cannot be determined, for they look ever young, adorned with every ornament and with armlets of blazing effugence, writing in this with many cars and follow him in his journey;
- 67 He is waked every morning from his bed by the melodious note of swars, the tinkle of Napuras, and the highly agreeable in pixel of Kanchis Indeed, he lives in a superior house, waited upon by such celestial ladies, for years as countiess; as the sands on the shores of Ginga.
- 69-70 That man who, keeping his senses under restraint, fasts for a fortupit and takes only one meal on the statenth data and acts thus for a whole year, porting hostions every day on his sacred fire, acq lies the great merits of a thousand Raysuaya sacrifices. The can be ride; it highly beautiful and is drawn by swars and peacocks.
- 71-73 Riding on such a car which is, besides, addrined with garlands of perify and the purett gold and graced with bevies of celesias ladees decked with order ments of every sort, having one collision and four riches and seven alters executed the period of banners and echonic with the sand four riches and seven alters executed the period of banners and echonic with the sand of the period of
- 74. That man who having fasted for fifteen days takes one meal on the sixteenth day and acts thus for one whole year, acquires the merits of the Soma sacrifice.
- 75 Proceeding to the celestial region, he their is the company of Soma's destriction with body fragram with unquents whose perfumes are as sweet as those of Soma himself, he acquires the power of good immediately to any place he likes
- 76. Seated on his car I e is waited upon by beautiful damsels of agreeable manners, and commands all articles of enjoyment
- 77. He enjoys such happiness for many
- 78-79 That man who having faste! for stateen days, eats a little clarifi d butter on the seventeenth day, and acts that I'm who'e year, pouring libations exery day on his sacred fire, proceeds to the regions of Varuna and India and Rudra and the Maruts and Ushanas and Brahman himself.

- So. There he is waited upon by celestial fadies and sees the celestial Rishi called Bhurbhuva and sees the entire universe.
- 8t. The daughters of the king of the detires gladden him there. Those damsels, of agreeable manners and adorned with every ornament, are capable of assuming thirty-two forms.
- 82. As long as the Sun and the Moon move in the sky, so long does that were man live in those regions of happiness, living upon the succulence of ambrosia and nectar.
- 83 That man who having fasted for seventeen days, takes only one meal on the eighteenth day, and acts thus for a whole year, succeeds in seeing the seven regions of the universe.
- 84. While making his journeys on his tar, he is always followed by a large train of cars producing the most agreeable raille and ridden by celested ladies shining with prominents and beauty.
- 85 Enjoying the greatest happiness, the tar he rides, is celestial and endued with the greatest beauty. It is drawn by lions and tigers, and produces rattle as deep as the muttering of the clouds.
- 86 He lives in such happiness for a thousand zons, living upon ambrosia that is as sweet as nectar uself
- 89. That man who having fasted, for eighteen days, eats only one meal on the innettenth day and acts thus for a full year, succeeds in perceiving all the seven regions of the autores?
- 88. The region to which he attains is peopled by various tribes of Apparas and resounds with the sweet note of Gandharvas. The car he rides is effulgent like the sun
- 89 His heart shorn of every anxiety, he is wanted upon by the foremost of celes-tall lades. Deceed with celestial garlands, and possessed of beauty, he lives in such happiness for militims and millions of years.
- 99-91. Intat man who having fasted for inneteen days, eats only one meal on the forth interest of the fast of the
 - 92. While making his journeys on his own car, he is followed by a large train of cars ridden by Gundharvas and Apsaras decked with celestial garlands and perfumes.

- 93-94. That man who having fasted for twenty days, takes a single mest on the twenty first day, and acts thus for a full year, pouring libations every day on his sacred fire, acquires the regions of Ustans; and lives there in uninterrapted happiness of great measure.
- 95 Unacquainted with all sorrows, he rides the foremost of cars for making his journeys, and waited upon by foremost of celestral ladies, and possessed of power, he sports in joy like a celestral himself.

96-97. That man who having fasted for twenty-one days, takes a single meal on the twenty-second day, and acts thus for a full year, punting libations on his sacred fire every day, abstauma from majuring may creature, observing truthidness of specth, of the Wasta and Second the Wasta and second the Wasta and second second with sold efficiency becomes ended with

93 Gifted with the power of gintz every where at will, hiving upon nectar, and riding on the foremost of cars, his body decked with celestial ornaments, he sports in joy in the company of celestial ladies.

go-too. That min who having fasted for twenty-thou days takes a single meal on the twenty-third days, and acts thus for a full year, thus regulating his diet and keeping his senses in ider restraint acquires the regions of the Vind-Od of Ushanas and of Rindras Capable of going everywhere advired by viruous rithes of Anarasa. he is advired by various tribes of Anarasa.

tot Riding on the foremost of cars and his body decked with extestial ornaments, he sports for numberless years in great happiness in the company of celestial ladies, to2—to3 Plat man who Invang fasted for twenty-three days east a little clarified butter on the twenty fourth day, and acts thus for a full year, pouring libations on this sacred fire, lives for countless years in Adityas, is to bady decked with colestial dresses and garlands and celestial perfumes and ingreens.

- 114. Riding on an excellent car, made of gold and gilted with great beauty and drawn by swains, he sputs in joy in the company of ilousands and thousands of celestial ladies.
- tog That man who having fasted for twenty-four days, takes a single me-1 on the twenty-fifth day, and acts thus for full year.

succeeds in getting a car of the foremost kind full of every object of enjoyment.

105—108 He is followed in his fourneys by a large train of cars drawn by tions and tigers, and producing a sound as deep as the mattering of the clouds, ridden by celestial ladies, and all made of pure gold and endued with great beauty. Himself riding great beauty, he fives in those regions for a thousand 2001, in the company of hundreds of celestial ladies, and living upon ambroast lata is sweet as nectar itself.

I hat man who having fasted for twenty-five days takes only one meal on the twenty sixth day, and acts thus for a full year in the observance of such a regulation about diet, keeping his senses under restraint, freed from attachment, and pouring libations, every day on his sacred fire,that blessed man -adored by the Apsaras, acquires the regims of the seven Maruts and the Vasus When making his trurneys, he is followed by a large train of cars made of excellent crystal and adorne ! with all sorts of gems and ridden by Gandharvas and Ansaras who show him every honor. He lives in those regions, in enjoyment of such happmess, and gifted with telestial energy, for two thousand cycles

113—114 That man who having fasted for twenty-six days eats a single meal on the twenty-seventh day, and cats thus for a full year, pouring libations every day on his sacred fire, age ness greats ment and praceeding to the celestial regyin, receives honors from the detties. Living there, he subsists on nectar, freed from thirst of every kind, and enjoying every happiness.

115. His soul purified of every dross and making his journeys on a celestial car of great beauty, he lives there, O king, acting like the celestial Rishus and the royal sages.

116. Gifted with great energy, he lives there in great happiness in the company of celestial ladies of highly agreeable manners, for three thousand cycles and zens

117—118 That man who having fasted of twenty-seven days takes a singlement on the twenty-eighth day, and acts thus for a full year, with soul and acents under perfect rextraint, acquires very great ment, which, in fact, is equal to what is acquired by the electrial Rishins Having every article of enjoyment, and gried with great energy, the shines with the effulgence of the midday he shines with the effulgence of the midday.

119-120. Sportive ladies of the most object features and gilted with splend are of complexion, having deep bosoms, tapering thighs and full and round hips, decked with celestial ornaments, please him with their company while he rides on a delightful and excellent car effulgent like the sun and equipped with every article of enjoyment, for thousands and thousands of zeros

121—123 That man who having fasted for twenty-eight days, takes a single meal on the twenty-minth day, and acts thus for a full year, observing all the white truthful-eness of speech, acquires auspicious regions of great happiness that are adored by celestral Rishis and royal sages. He cer who obtains is effulgent like the sun and the obtains is effulgent his the sun and the moon, made of pure gild and adorned with every sort of gem, indden by Agsaras and Gauldiarvas anging melodiously.

124 Thereon he is attended by auspicious ladies adorned with celestial ornatinents of every sort. Gifted with sweet dispositions and agreeable features, and endued with great energy, these gladden him with their company.

123 Endued with every article of enjayment and with great energy, and possessed of the splendour of a burning fire, he shines like a celestial, with a celestial form having every excellence.

126 The regions he attains are those of the Vasus and the Maruts, of the Saddhyas and the Ashwins, of the Rudras and of Brahman lumsell.

127 that man who having fasted for a full month, takes a single meal on the first day of the following month, and acts thus for a full year, locating on all things imperitally, attains to the regions of Brahman hunself.

128. There he lives upon ambrosia, Gifted with a beautiful form ingitly agreeable to all, he shines with energy and prosperty like the sun himself of a thousand rays.

129 Devoted to Yoga and adorned with celevial dresses and garlands and smeared with celestial perturnes and inignents be passes his time to great happiness, not experiencing the least sorrow. He at new on his car attended by ladies that blass forth with effolgence emitted by themselves.

130. Those ladies the daughters of the celestial Rishis and the Rudras, worship him with veneration.

131. Gapable of assuming various forms that are highly delightful and highly acceable, their speech is characterized by various kinds of sweetness, and they are able to please the person they wait upon in various kinds of ways.

132-133. While making his fourneys, he sides on a car that looks like the say uself in color. In his rear are cars which look like the Moon, before him are those which resemble the clouds, on his right are cars that are red, below,him are those that are blue; and above him are those that are of variegated color. He is always worshipped by those who wait upon him.

134 Gilted with great wisdom, he lives in the region of Brahman for as many years as are measured by the drops of rain that fall in course of a thousand years on the insular continent of Jamvudwipa

135 Indeed, gifted with the effulgence a deity, he lives in that region of inhalloyed happiness for as many years as the drops of rain which fall upon the Earth in the

336. The man who, having fasted for a whole month, eats on the first day of the following month, and acts tims for ten years, acquires the status of a great Rishi. He has not to undergo any change of form while going to the celestial region for enjoying the rewards of his deeds in this life.

rainy season

137. Indeed, this is the status which one acquires by controlling speech, practising self-demal, subjugating anger, sexual appetite, and the desire to eat, pouring libations on the sacred fire and regularly worshipping the two twights

138. That man who purifies himself by the observance of these and similar yows and practices, and who eats in this way, betomes as pure as ether and gifted with solar effulgence.

139 Such a man, O king, proceeding to the celestial region in even his own corporeal frame, enjoys all the, happiness that is there like a celestial at his will

140. I have thus told you O chief of the Bharatas what the excellent ordinances are about sacrifices, one after another, as dependent upon the fruits of fasts.

141—142 Poor men, O son of Pritha, may, nevertheless acquire the druits thereof by the observance of lasts). By observing these lasts, even a poor man may acquire when the second poor man may acquire the control of the second poor the second poor the control of the control of 143 Do not entertain any doubt about those men who so observe voas who are those men who so observe voas who are so leedili and pure and great, who are so freed from pride and malice who are endued with such devoted understandings, and who pursue their end with such from nets and fixing of purpose without ever deviating from their path.

CHAPTER CVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said -

 Tell me, O grandfather, of that which is considered as the foremost of all lirthas. Indeed you should expound to me what that I triba is which conduces to the greatest purity.

Bhishma said :-

2 Forsooth, all Tirthas are possessed of merit. Listen, however, with attention to me as I tell you what the Iirtha, the cleanser, is of men gifted with wisdom

3 Following eternal Truth, one should bathe in the Littha called Manasa, which is unfathermable, stanless, and pure, and which has Truth for its waters and the understanding for its lake.

4 The fruits, in the form of cleansing, that one gains by bathing in that Intha, are freedom from cupidity, suiterity, truthfulness, midness, mercy, abstention from injuring any creature, self control, and tranquillity.

5 Those men who are freed from attachments, who are shorn of pride, who are above all pairs of opposites, who have no wives and children and houses and gardens, etc, who are gitted with purity, and who live upon the alms given to them by others, are considered as Futths.

6 He who knows the truths of all things and who is freed from the idea of mineness, is said to be the highest Tirtha In finding out the marks of purity, your gaze should ever be directed towards these a tailities.

2—8 Those persons from whose souls the qualities of goodness darkness, and ignorance have been wasted off, they who, not carrie for purity and impurity, prisue the ends they have proposed to themselves, they who have renounced everything they who are particularly different and of pure conduct, are considered as Tirthas possessing the purifying power.

o That man whose Combs only are wet with water, is not considered as one that is washed. He, on the other hand is considered as washed who has washed bimself by self-denial Even such a person is said to be such a before both intervalled.

by selections. Even such a person is said to be pure both internally and externally 10. They who never busy themselves with what is past, they who feel no attachment for present acquisitions, indeed, they who are free from desire, are said to be possessed of the highest purity.

11. Knowledge is said to form the especial purity of the body. So also free-doin from desire, and cheerfulness of mind

- 12 Purity of conduct forms the purity of the mind. The purity that one acquires by ablitions in sacred waters is considered as inferir. Indeed that purity which originates from knowledge, is considered as the best.
- t3 Those ablutions which one performs with a burning mind in the waters of the knowledge of Brahma in the Tirtha called Manasa, are the true ablutions for truth-knowing persons
 - 14. I hat man who is endued with true purity of conduct and who is always given to the preservation of a proper attitude towards all, indeed, he who is gifted with attributes and merit, is considered as truly pure.
 - 15 These that I have mentioned have been said to be the litthes of the body Lisen to me as I tell you what those sacred litthes are that are situate on the Earth also
 - '16 As special attributes of the body have been said to be sacred, so there are particular sp ts on Earth as well and particular waters, which are considered sacred
 - 17 By rectume the names of the Tirthas, by perferning ablitions there, and by offering oblations to the departed Manes in those places, one's sins are dissipated. Those men whose sins are this dissipated, succeed in acquiring the celestial region, when they leave this world.
 - 18. On account of their association with pious persons, through the special efficacy of the earth itself, of those spots and of particular waters, there are certain portions of the Earth that have come to be considered as sacred
 - 19. The mental Tirthas are separate and distinct from those of the Farth. That person who bathes in both, acquires success forthwith
 - 20—21. As strength without exertion or exertion without strength can never perform any lumg, singly, and as these, when combined can do all things, so one that becomes gifted with the purity that is contributed by the Lirth's in the body as also by that which is contributed by the Lirth's in the body as also by that which is contributed by the Lirth's in the body as also with Earth, becomes truly pure and acquires success. I hat purity which is detired from body sources is the best.

CHAPTER CIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Yudhishthira said —

. I You should, O grandfather, tell me what is the highest, the most beneficial, and the most certain fruit of all sorts of firsts in this world

Bhishma said :-

- 2 Listen, O king, to what was recited by the Self-create immself and by doing which a person, forsouth, sugares the highest happiness.

 3 That man who fasts on the twelfth
- day of the moon in the month called Margashira and adores Krishua as Keshava for the whole day and might acquires the ments of the Horse sacrifice and becomes purged off of all his sim.
- day of the moon in the month of Pausta and adores Krislina as Narayana, for the whole day and night, acquires the menta of the Vajapeya sacrifice and the highest success. 5 He who fasts on the twelfth day of
- the moon in the month of Magha and adores Krishna, as Madhava, for the whole day and night, acquires the merits of the Rajasuya sacrifice, and rescues his own family
- 6 He who fasts on the twelfth day of the moon in the month of Phalguna and adores Krishna as Govinda, for the whole day and night, acquires the the merit of the Attratra sacrifice and goes to the region of Soma
- 7. He who fasts on the twelfth day of the moon in the month of Chairra and adores Krishna as Vislinu, for the whole day and night, acquires the merit of the Pundarika ascrifice and proceeds to the region of the celestisis.
- 8 By observing a similar fast on the twellth day of the month of Varshakha and adoring Krishna as the destroyer of Madius for the whole day and night, one acquires the merits of the Agnishtoma sacrifice and proceeds to the region of Soma.
 - 9 By observing a fast on the (welfth funar day in the month of Jaishtha and adoring Krishna as him who had covered the universe with three steps of his, one acquires the merits of the Gomedia sacrifice and sports with the Apsaras in great happiness.
- to By observing a fast on the twelft day of the moon in the month of Ashad and adoring Krishna as the Dwarl, one acquires the metits of the Naramedha sacrifice and sports in happiness with the Ansaras

II. By observing a fast for the twellth lunar day of the month of Shravana and adormo Krishna for day and night as Shreedhara, one acquires the merits of the sacrifice called Panchayama and acquires a beautiful car in the celesital region whereon he sports in 101.

- By observing a fast on the twelfth day of the moon in the month of Bhadranada and adorung Kristina as Hrishikesha for the whole day and night, one acquires the ments of the Sautramani sacrifice and becomes purped off of all sing.
- By observing a fast for the twelfth day of the moon in the month of Ashwin and adoring Krishna as Padmanabha, one acquires, forsooth, the merits of that sacri fice in which a thousand kine are given away
- By observing a fast for the twelfth day of the moon in the month of Kartika and adoring Krishna as Damodara, one acq ures, forsooth, the combined merits of all the sacrifices.
- He who, in this way, worship Krishna for a whole year as Pundarikaksha, acquires the power of recollecting the incidents of Lis pristine bitths and acquires much wealth in gold.
- Likewise he who adores Krishna every day as Upendra, acquires oneness After Krishna has been adored thus, one should, at the conclusion of his vow, feed a number of Brahmanas or make Rifts of clarified butter to them.
- The illustrious Vishnu that ancient Being, has himself said that there is no fast which possesses superior merits.

CHAPLER CX

(ANUHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Vaishampayana said '-

1. Approaching Blushma venerable in years, vis, Bhishma, who was then lying on his bed of arrows, the highly wise Yudhishthira put the following questions.

Yudhishthira said -

How, O grandfather, does one acquire beauty of form and prosperity and sweetness of disposition? How, indeed, does one acquire religious merit and wealth and pleasure? How does one win happiness?

Bhishma said :--

- 3-0. In the month of Margashira, wien the moon comes in continction with the asterism called Mula, when his two feet are united with that very asterism. O king. when Rohm is in his call, when his kneemusts are in Ashwini and his thinks are in the two Ashadas, when Phalgum makes his anus, and Krittika his waist, when his navel is in Bhadrapada, his reular region in Revati, and his back on the Dhanishthas, when Anuradha makes his belly, when with his two arms he reaches the Vishakhas, when his two hands are indicated by Hasta. when Punarvasu, O king, makes his fingers, Ashlesha his nails when Jjeshtha makes his neck, when Shravana makes his ears, and Push a his mouth, when Swatt is said to make his teeth and lips when Shatabhisha is his smile and Maglia his nose, when Mrigashiras is known to be in his eye, and Chitra in his forehead, when his head is in Bharani, when Aidra forms his hair, O king, the vow called Chandravrata should be taken in hand. Upon the termination of that yow, gifts of clarified butter should be made to Brahmanas couversant with the Vedae.
- 10. As the fruit of that yow one acquires prosperity, personal beauty and that good luck which brings about knowledge deed, one becomes, on account of such a vow, as full of attribute as the full Moon humself.

CHAPTER CXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued.

Yudhishthira said:-1 O grandfather, O greatly wise one,

- conversant with all the scriptures, I wish to know those excellent ordinances by which mortals have to travel through their rounds of re burth.
- 2 What is that conduct by following which, O king, men succeed in acquiring high leaven and what is that conduct by which one sinks in Itell ?
- When, renouncing the dead body that is as meet as a piece of wood or clud of earth, people proceed to the other world, what are those which follow their there?

Bhishma said -

241

- 4 Yonder comes the illustrious and highly intelligent Vrihaspati Do you ask his blessed self. The subject is an eternal
- mystery
 5 None else is capable of explaining the matter. There is no speaker like Vrihanati.

Vaishampayana said:-

- 6 While the son of Pritha and the son of Ganga were thus conversing will each other there came at the spot from the sky the illustrious Vrihaspats of purified soul
- 7 King Yudhishthira, and all others headed by Dhritarashtra, stood up and received Vithaspati with proper honors Excellent was the worship they offered to the precentor of the celestials.
- 8 Then approaching the illustrious Vrthaspati, Dharma's royal son, Yudhishtlitra, asked him the question in proper form, desirous of knowing the truth.

Yndhishthira said :-

- 9 O illustrious one, you are conversant with all duties and all the scriptures Do you tell me what is truly the friend of mortal creatures?
- 10. Is the father, or mother, or son, or preceptor, or hummen, or relatives, or those called friends, that may be said to touly form the freend of a mortal creature? One goes to the next world, leaving his dead body that is like a piece of wood or acid of earth. Who is it that follows him there?

Vrihaspati said -

- ti. One is born alone, O king, and one dies alone, one crosses alone the difficulties one meets with, and one alone meets whatever misery falls to his lot.
- 12-13 One has really no companion in these deeds the father, the mother, the brother, the son, the preceptor, knowner, relatives and friends, leaving the dead body as if it were a piece of wood or a cold of earth, after having moursed for only a moment, all turn away from it and mind their own affairs.
- 14 Only virtue follows the body that is thus left by them all It is, therefore plain, that virtue is the only friend and that virtue only should be sought by all.
- 15 A virtuous man would acquire that high end which is formed by Heaven. If sinful, he goes to Hell.
- 16 Hence, an intelligent man should always seek to acquire virtue through

- wealth acquired by fair means. Virtue is the one only friend which creatures have in the next world.
- 17 Moved by cupidity, or stupefaction, or mercy, or fear, one shorn of knowledge is seen to do unfair deeds for the sake of even another, his judgment thus stupefied by cupidity.
- 18 Virtue, wealth, and pleasure,—these three form the fruit of hie One should win these three by means of being free from impropriety and sin

Yudhishthira said -

- 19 I have carefully heard the words spoken by your illustrious self,—these words that are fraught with virtue and that are highly beneficial I wish now to know of the state of the body (after death).
- 20 The dead body of man becomes subtle and unmanifest. It becomes investible. How is it possible for virtue to follow it?

Vrihaspati said :-

- 21—22 Earth, Wind, Ether, Water, Light Mind, Yama (the king of the dead), Understanding, the Soul as also Day and Night, all together witness the merits of all living creatures. With these, virtue follows the creature (when dead).
- 23 When the body becomes berelt of life skin, bones flesh the vital seed, and blood, leave it simultaneously.
 - 24 Gifted with ment (and demeri) individual soul (after the destruction of this body) comes by another body. After the attainment by individual soul of that body the presiding detites of the five elements once more witness all his deeds, good and bad
- 25 What else do you wish to hear? If gifted with virtue, individual soil enjoys happiness. What other subject, belo ying to this or the other world, shall I describe to you?

Yudhishthira said :-

26 Your illustrious self has explained from Virtue follows individual soul. I wish to know how the vital seed is originated.

Vrihaspati said .-

22-23 The food that thete gods Of king, who live in the body, ris Farth, Wand, Ether, Water, Light and Mind estipleases them. When those five elements become pleased, O monarch, with Mind unmbering as their suith, their vital sections of the becomes generated, O you of purified soil.

29 When an act of union takes place between male and female, the vital seed comes out and causes conception. I have thus explained to you what you had what else do you wish to hear.

Yudhishthira said —

30. You have, O illustrious one, said how conception takes place. Do you explain how the individual soul that takes birth, grows.

Vrihaspati said:—

- 31 As soon as individual soul enters the vital seed, he becomes overwhelmed by the elements already mentioned. When individual soul become disunited therewith, he is said to attain to the other end (vis., death).
- 32 Gifted with these elements, the individual soul comes by a body. The deties that preside over those elements, witness all his deeds, good and bad. What else do you wish to hear.

Yudhishthira said:-

33. Living off skin, bone and flesh, and becoming destitute of all those elements, in what does individual soul reside, O illustrious one, for enjoying and suffering liappiness and misery?

Vrihaspati said -

- 33 Endued with all his acts, individual soul quickly enters the vital seed, and availing of the menstrual flow of women, takes birth in time, O Bharata.
- 35 After birth, individual soul receives were and death from the messengers of Yama Indeed, he goes through misery and a painful round of re-birth
- 36 Endued with life, O king, individual soul in this world, from the moment of his birth enjoys and suffers his own (pristine deeds), depending upon virtue (and its reverse)
- 37 If individual soul according to the best of his power, follows write from the day of his birth, he then succeeds in enjoying uninterruptedly, when re-born, happiness
- 38 If, on the other hand, without following virtue without interrution, he acts similally, he reaps happiness at first as the reward of his virtue and suffers misery after that.
 - atter that.

 39 Endued with sin, individual coul has to go to the dominions of Yama and suffering great misery there, he has to take birth in an intermediate order of being.

- 40-11. Listen to me as I tell you, what the different acts are by doing which individuals soul, stupefied by folly, has to take butth in different orders of being, as declared in the Vedas, the acciptures, and the full egions of Vama. In those regions, O king, there are places which are fraught with every merit and which are wortly on that account of being the habitations of the very celestials.
- 42 There are, again, places in those egions that are worse than those which are occupied by animals and birds, Indeed, there are places of these kinds in the abode of Yama which is equal to the region of Brahman himself in merits
- 43-44 Creatures, fettered by their deeds, suffer various kinds of misery is shall, after this, tell you what those acts and dispositions are on account of which a person acquires an end that is fraught with great misery and ferror.
- 45. If a twice-born person, having studied the four Vedas, becomes stupefied by folly and accepts a gift from a fallen man, he has then to take birth in the order of asses
- 46 He has to live as an ass for fifteer years shaking off his assimine form, he has next to take birth as an ox and which state he has to live for seven years.
- 47. Throwing off his bovine form, he has next to take birth as a Rakshasa of the twice-born order. Living as a Rakshasa of the twice-born order for three months, he then regains his status of a Brahimana.
- 48 A Brahmana, by officiating at the sacrifice of a degraded person, has to take birth as a vile worm. In this form he has to live for fifteen years, O Bharata.
- 49 Freed from his worm birth, he is next born as an ass. As an ass he has to live for five years, and then as a log, in which state also he has to remain for as many years.
- 50 After that, he is born as a cock, and hiving for five years in that form, he is born as a jackal and lives for as many years in that state. He is then born as a dog, and living thus for a year he regains his manhood.
- 5t. That foolish disciple who offends his preceptor by injuring him, has certainly to undergo three changes in this world.
- world.

 52. Such a person, O king, has in the first instance to become a dog. He has then to become a beast of prey, and then an ass. I wing his assinine form, he has to wander for sometime in great misery as a

216

- 53. That sinful disciple who even in thought knows the wife of his preceptor, has, on account of such a sinful heart, to undergo many dreadful shapes in this world.
- 54 First taking birth in the canine order he has to live for three years. I brow ing off the canine form-when death comes, he is born as a vile vernin.
- 55 In this form he has to live for a year. Renouncing that form he succeeds in regaining his status as a human being of the twice-born order.
- 56. If the preceptor kills, without reason, his disciple who is even as a son to him, he has, on account of such a wilful deed of sin on his part, to take birth as a beast of prey.
- 57 That son who disregards his father and mother, O king, is born after renoun-
- 58 Assuming the assining form he has to live for ten years. After that he is born as a crocodile, in which form he has to live for a year. After that he regains the human form.
- 59 That son with whom his parents become angry, has, on account of his evil thoughts towards them, to take birth as
- 60. As an ass he has to five for ten months He is next born as a dog and has to remain as such for fourteen months. After that he is born as a cat and living in that form for seven months he regains his human form.
- 61. Having spoken ill of parents, one is both as a Sarika Striking them one is born, O king, as a tortoise
- 62 Living as a tortoise for ten years, he is born as a porcupine After that he has to take birth as a snake, and living for six months in that form he regains human form.
- 63 That man who, while living upon the food that his royal master supplies, commits deeds injurious to the interests of his master, stupehed by folly, has, after death, to take birth as a monkey.
 - 64. For ten years he has to live as a monkey, and after that for five years as a mouse. After that he is born as a dog, and living in that form for six months he succeeds in regaining his human form.
 - 65. That man who misappropriates what is deposited with him in trust, has to undergo a hundred births. He at last takes birth as a vile worm.

- 66 In that order he has to live for fifteen years, O Bharata. Upon the exhaustion of his sin in this way, he succeeds in regaining his human form.
- 67 I hat man who has malice towards others, has, after death, to take birth as a Sharngaka I hat wicked man who becomes guilty of breach of trust has to take birth as a fish,
- 68 Living as a fish for eight years, he is born, Q Bharata, as a deer. Living as a deer for four months, he is next born as a goat.
- 69 After the expiration of a full year, he renounces his goatish body, and is then born as a worm. After that he succeeds in regaining his human form.
- 70—71 I hat shameless insensate man who, through stupefaction, steals paddy, barley, sesame, Masha, Kulattha, oil seeds; oats, Kafaya, Mudga, wheat, Atasi, and other kinds of corn, is born as a mouse.
- 72 After leading the life for sometime, he is next born as a log. As soon as lie is born as a log he has to die of disease.
- 73 On account of his sin, that foolish man has next to take birth as a dog, O king Living as a dog for five years, he then regains his human form.
- 74. Having committed an act of adultive with the wife of another man, one is born as a wolf. After that he has to assume the forms of a dog and jackal and vulture. He has next to take birth as a stake and then as a Kanka (a bird of prey) and then as a crane.
- 75 I hat sinful wight who, out of foolishness ins brother's wife, has to take birth as a male Coel and to live in that form for a whole year, O king.
- 76 He who, through lust, knows the wife of a friend, or the wife of preceptor, or the wife of liss king, has after death to take the form of a hog,
- 77 He has to five in this form for five years and then to assume that of a wolf for ten years. For the next five years he last have as a cat and then for the next ten years as a cock.
- 78 He is next born as an ant, for three months and then as a worm for a month. Having undergone these births, he has next to live as a vile worm for fourteen years.
- 79 When his sin becomes exhausted by such punishment, he at last regains the human form
- So When a marriage is about to take place, or a sacrifice, or an act of gifts is about to be made, O you of great power,

- the man who puts in any impediment, has to take birth in his next hite as a vile worm.

 80 Assuming such a form he has to hive, O Bharata, for fifteen years. When his sin is exhausted by such suffering, he re-gains the human form.
- 81. Having once bestowed his daughter in marriage upon a person, he who seeks to bestow her again upon a second husband, is compelled, O king, to take birth among wile worms.
- 83 Assuming such a form, O Yudhishthira, le has to live for thirteen years Upon the exhaustion of his sin by such sufferance, he re gains the human form.
- 84 He who eats without having performed the rites in honor of the celestials or those in honour of the departed Manes or without having affered (even) oblations of water to both the Rishus and the departed Manes has to take birth as a crow.
- 85 Living as a crow for a hundred years, he next assumes the form of a cock. His next change is that of a snake for a month. After this, he regains the human form.
- 86 He who disregards his eldest brother who is like a father, has, after death, to take birth as a crane.
- 87. Having assumed that form he has to live in it for two years. Renouncing that form at the conclusion of that period, he re-gains the human form.
 - 83 That Shudra who knows a Brahmani woman, has, after death, to take birth as a log
 - 89 As soon as he takes birth in that order he dies of disease, O king. The wretch has next to take birth as a dog, O king, on account of that sinful deed.
 - 99. Renouncing his canine form he regains, upon the exhaustion of his sin, the human form. The Shudra who begets offspring upon a Brahmani woman, feaving off his human form, is born again as a mouse.
 - 91. The man who becomes guilty of ingratitude O king, i as to go to the regions of Yama and there to suffer very painful and severe treatment at the hands of the emissaries, provoked to fury, of the grim king of the dead.
 - 92-93. Clubs with heavy hammers and mallets, sharp-pointed lances, heated jars, dreadful sword blades, heated sands, thorny Shalmalis,—these and many other engines of toture such a man has to suffer in the tegrils of Yama, O Bharata.

- 94 O chief of Bharata's race, having suff-red such dreadful treatment in the regions of the grim king of the dead, the ungrateful person has to return to this world and take birth among vil vermin.
- 95 He has to live as a vile vermin for a peri d of fifteen years, O Bharata He has then to enter the womb and die prematurely before birth.
- 96 After this, that person has to enter the womb a hundred times successively, Indeed, having undergone a hundred rebirths, he at last is born as a creature in some intermediate order between man and manimate nature
- 97. Having suffered misery for a great many years, he has to take birth as a hair-less tortoise.
- 98 A person who steals curds is born as a crane. One becomes a monkey by stealing raw fish. That intelligent man who steals honey, is born as a gadfly 99 By stealing fruits or roots or cakes,
- one becomes an ant By stealing Nishpava, one becomes a Halagolaka.

 100. By stealing Payasa, one becomes,
- in his next birth, a littiri bird. By stealing cales, one becomes a screech-owl.
- tot. That hitle witted man who steals iron, has to take birth as a cow. That man who steals white brass, is born as a bird of the Harria species.
- 102 By stealing a silver vessel, one becomes a pigeon By stealing a golden vessel, one has to take birth as a vile vermin
- to3 By stealing a piece of silken cloth, one becomes a Krikara By stealing a piece of cloth made of red silk, one becomes a Vartaka
- 104 By stealing a piece of m islin, one becomes a parrot. By stealing a piece of cloth that is of fine texture, one becomes a duck after renouncing his human body.
- 105 By stealing a piece of cloth made of cutton, one becomes a crane By stealing a piece of cloth made of jute, one becomes a sheep in his next life.
- 106 By stealing a piece of linen, one is born as a liare. By stealing different soits of colouring matter, one is born as a peacock.
- 107—108 By stealing a piece of red cloth one is born as a bird of the Jivaka species By stealing unguents (such as sandalpaste) and perfumes in this world, the avaricous man, O king, is born as a mule Assuming it e form of a mole one last to like in it to fifteen years, too After the exhaustion of his sin by [such suffering, he regains the human form. By stealing milk, one becomes a crane. stupefaction of the understanding, steals

That man O king, who, through

- oil, is born, after renouncing this body, as an animal who lives upon oil as his form That wretch, who, himself wellarmed, kills another while that other is un
 - armed, for getting his riches or out of hostile feelings, has, after renouncing his human body, to take birth as an ass.
- 112. Assuming that assume form, he has to live for a period of two years and then he is killed by a weapon Renouncing his assinine body, he has to take birth, in his next life, as a deer always anxious (for fear of being killed)
 - Upon the expiration of a 113-114 year from the time of his birth as a deer, he is killed by a weapon. Thus renouncing his form of a deer, he next takes birth as a fish and dies on account of being dragged up in a net, on the expiration of the fourth month He has next to take birth as a beast of prey. He has to live in that form, for ten years and then he takes birth as a bird in which form he has to live for five years
 - 115. Actuated by the change that is occasioned by time, he then renounces that form, and his sin having been exhausted, he re-gains the human form.
 - That man of little understanding who slave a woman, has to go to the regions of Yama and to suffer various kinds of pain and misery. He then has to pass through full twenty-one transformations.
- 117 After that, O king, he has to take birth as a vile vermin Living as a vermin for twenty years, he regains the human form
 - 118-119 By stealing food, one has to take birth as a bee. Living for many months in the company of other bees, his sin become exhausted and he re gains the By stealing paddy, one bebuman form comes a cat
 - That man who steals food mixed with sesame cakes, is in his next both born as a mouse large or small according to the largeness or smallness of the quantity stolen
 - 121. He bites human beings every day and, therefore, becomes sinful and passes through a varied round of re births, 1hat foolish man who steals clarified butter has to take birth as a gallinule.
 - That wicked man who steals fish has to take birth as a crow. By stealing

- salt one las to take birth as an initalita parrot. That man who misappropriates
- 121 trust property, has to suffer a diminution in the period of his life, and dying has to take birth amone fishes
- Having lived for sometime as a fish, he dies and te gains the human form Regaining, however, the human form he becomes short lived.
- Indeed, having perpetrated sins, O Bharata, one had to take birth in an order intermediate between that of humanity and vegetables Hose people do not know the principles of virtue who take their own hearts for their guide.
- Those men who commit various sinful deeds, and then seek to explate them by continuous yows and observances of piety, enjoy happiness and suffer misery and live in great anxiety of heart
- Those sinful men who yield to the influence of cupidity and stupefaction, are surely born as Miechchhas who are un worthy of being associated with
- Those men, on the other hand, who abstain from sin all their lives, become free from disease of every sort, gifted with beauty of form, and possessed of riches
- Women also, when they act in this way attain to births of the same kind Indeed, they have to take births as the males of the anunals I have mentioned-
- I have told you all the faults of the misappropriation of others' properties have described to you very briefly the subrect. O sinless one
- 131-132 In connection with some other subject, O Bharata, you will again hear of those faults I heard all this, O king; formerly from Bhrahman himself, and I asked all about it in a proper way, when he described it in the midst of the celestial I have told you truly and in detail all that you had asked me.
- Having listened to all this, O king, do you always set your heart on virtue,

CHAPTER CXII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Yudhishthira said 🗕

1. You have told me. O twice born one, what the end is of virtue or sin I wish now to hear, O foremost of speakers, of what the end is of virtue. 2 Having committed various sinful deeds, by what acts do people succeed in acquiring an auspicious end in this world? By what acts also, do people acquire auspicious end in the celestial region?

Vrihaspati said -

- 3 By committing sinful deeds with perverted mind, one gives way to the influence of sin, and accordingly goes to Hell.
- inful deeds through stupefaction of mind, eels the pangs of repentance and sets his leart on meditation (of the deity), has not o suffer the consequences of his sins.

That man who, having pernetrated

- 5 One becomes freed from his sins insimuch as he repents for them.
- 6. If one, having committed a sin, O king, mentions it before Brahmanas conversant with duties, he speedily becomes freed from the obloquy arising from his $in.
- 7 Accordingly as one mentions his sins, fully or otherwise, with concentrated mind, le becomes cleaned therefrom fully or otherwise, like a snake freed from his diseased slough.
- 8 By making, with a concentrated mind gifts of various kinds to a Brahmana and concentrating the mind (on the deity), one attains to an auspicious end
- 9 I shall now tell you what those gifts are O Yudhishthira, by making which a person, even if guilty of having committed sinful deeds, may become gifted with merit.
- to Of all kinds of gifts, that of food is considered as the best. One desirous of acquiring merit should, with a sincere heart, make gifts of food,
- 11 Food is the vital air of men. From it all creatures originate. All the worlds of living creatures are established upon food. Hence food is lightly spoken of
- 12 The deities, Rishis, departed Manes, and men. all means hand. Farmetly king Rantideva, proceeded to the celestial region by making gifts of food
- 13 Good food that has been acquired by fair means, should be given, with a cheerlul heart, to Brahmanas possessed of Vedic learning.
- 14 That man, whose food, given with a cheerful heart, is taken by a thousand Brahmanas, lias never to take birth in an intermediate order.

 15 A person, O king, by feeding ten
- thousand Brahmanas, becomes cleansed of sin and devoted to Yoga practices. 16 A Brahmana knowing the Vedas,

- by giving away food acquired by him as alms, to a Brahmana devoted to the study of the Vedas, succeeds in acquiring happiness here
- 17-18 That Kshatriya who, without taking anything belonging to a Brahmana, protects his subjects lawfully, and mokes gifts of food, obt-inted by his strength to Brahmanas foremost in Vedic knowledge, with concentrated heart, succeeds by such conduct, O you of righteous soul, in cleansing himself, O son of Pandu, of all his sinful deeds.
- 19 That Vaishya who divides the produce of his fields into six equal parts and makes a gift of one of those shares to Brahmanas, succeeds by such conduct in cleansing himself from every sin.
- 20 That Shudra who, acquiring food by hard labour and at the risk of life itself, makes a gift of it to Brahmanas, becomes purged off of every sin
- 21. That man who, by dint of his physical strength, acquires food without doing any act of injury to any creature, and makes gift of it to Brahmanas, succeeds in avoiding all calamities.
- 22 A person by cheerfully making gifts of food acquired by fair means to Brahmanas pre eminent for Vedic learning, becomes purged off of all his sins.
- 23 By treading in the path of the pious, one becomes freed from all sins. A person by making gifts of such food as creates great energy, becomes himself endued with great energy.
- 24 The path made by charitable persons, is always trod by the wise. They who make gifts of lood, are considered as givers of life. The ment they acquire by such
- gilts, is eternal

 25 Hence, a person slould, under all circumstances seek to acquire food by fair means, and having got it to make always bgilts of it to worthy men Food is the great support of living creatures.
- 25 By making gults of food, one has never to go to Hell. Hence, one should always make gults of food, having got it by lair means.
- 27. The house-holder should always try to eat after having made a gift of food to a Brahmana. Every man should make the day fruitful by making gifts of food.
- 23-29 A person by feeding. O king, a thousand Brahmanat who are all conversant with duties and the scriptures and the sacred histories, has not to go to Hell and to return to this world for going through re-births. Gifted with the fruition of every desire, he enjoys great happiness in the next world.

- 30. Gifted with such merit, he sports in happiness, freed from every anxiety, possessed of personal beauty and great fame and endued with wealth.
- 31 I have thus told you all about the great ment of gifts of food. This is the root of all virtue and merit, as also of all gifts, O Bharata.

CHAPTER CXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthıra said :-

 Which amongst these is more efficacious to a person, namely, abstention from injury, the observance of the Vedic ritual, meditation, control over tile senses, penances and obedient services rendered to the preceptors.

Vrihaspati said -

- 2 All these six are meritorious. They are different doors of virtue. I shall discourse upon them now. Do you listen to hem. O chief of the Bharatas!
- 3 I shall tell you what forms the highest good of a human being. That man who practises the religion of universal mercy, acquires his highest good
- 4. That man who keeps under testraint the three passions, vis, lust, anger and avarke by throwing them upon all creatures, acquires success
- 5 He who for his own happiness, kills other innocent creatures with the rod of punishment, never acquires happiness in the next world
- 6 That man who considers all creatures as his own self, and treats them as his own self, laying aside the rod of punishment and completely controlling his anger, succeeds in acquiring happiness
- 7 The very celestrals who are destrous of a fixed habitation become stupefied in ascertainty the toad of that person who forms himself the soul of all creatures and considers them all as h s own self, for such a person leaves no track behind.
- 8 One should never do that to another which he considers as injurious to his own sell. Thus, in brief, is the rule of virtue. One by acting in a different way by giving way to desire, becomes guilty of sin,

- 9 In refusing and giving, in weal and woe, in the agreeable and the disagreeable, one should judge of their effects by considering his own self.
- 10. When one injures another, the injured in return injures the injurer. Like wise when one cherishes another, that other cherishes the cherisher. One should form the own rule of conduct according to this I have told you what virtue is even by this subtile way.

Vaishampayana continued -

11. It e preceptor of the celestials endued with great intelligence, having said this to king Yudhishthura the just ascended upwards for proceeding to the celestial region before our eyes.

CHAPTER CXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Vaishampayana said .—

 After this, king, Yodhishthira gifted with great energy, and the foremost of eloquent men, addressed his grandfather lying on his bed of arrows, in the following words

Yudhishthira said :--

- 2 O you of great intelligence, the Rishmand Brailmanas and the celestrals led by the authority of the Vedas, all speak highly of the religion of mercy.
- 3 But, O king, what I ask you is this a how does a man who has perpetrated acts of injury to others in word thought and deed, succeed in purifying himself from inserty.

Bhishma said :-

- 4 Brahmavadins have said that there are four kinds of mercy or abstention from mjury. If even one of those four kinds be not observed the religion of mercy, it is said, is not observed.
- S As all quadruped animals are incapable of standing on three legs so the religion of mercy cannot standulf any of those four divisions or parts be wanting.
- 6-7 'As the foot prints of all other animals are sunk in those of the elephar; to all fother religions are said to be contained in that of mercy. A person becomes guilty of injury through acts, words, and thoughts.

- B Discarding it mentally in the begin hing, one should next discard it in word and thought. He who, according to this rule, abstains from eating meat is said to be purified in a three fold way.
- It is heard that !! Brahmayadins point out three causes (for the sm of eating meat) I hat sin may attach to the mind to words, and to deeds
- It is, therefore, that wise men who are offed with penances refrain from eating meat. Listen to me O king, as I tell you what the faults are which attach to the rating of meat.
- tt. The meat of other animals is like the flesh of one's son that foolish person. stupefied! by folly, twho eats meat is con sidered as the vilest of human beings
- 12. The union of father and mother produces children Similarly the cruelty that a helpless and sinful wretch commits, pro duces its progeny of repeated re-births fraught with great misery.
- to As the tongue is the cause of sensa tion of taste, so, the scriptures declare, attachment proceeds from taste.
- ia. Well dressed, cooked with salt or without salt, meat, in whatever form one may take it, by and by attracts the mind and enslaves it.
- 15. How will those loolish men who live upon meat succeed in listening to the sweet music of celestial drums and cymbals and lyres and harps?
- They who eat meat highly speak of it, allowing themselves to be stupefied by its taste which they declare to be something incone eivable, undescriable, and unimagi nable.
- 17. Such praise even of meat is sinful Formerly, many pious men by giving the flesh of their own bodies protected the flesh of other creatures and as a result of such deeds of ment, have proceeded to the celestial region.
- In this way, O king, the religion of mercy is surrounded by four considerations I have thus declared to you that relation which contains all other religious within it.

CHAPTER CXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued.

Vndhishthira said :-

of various kinds of meat.

- You have told it many homes that abstention from injury is the bedjest Religion. In Shraddhas, however, that are performed in honour of the departed Manes, persons for their own behoof, should make offerings
- You have said so while discoursing formerly upon the ordinances about Shraddhas How can meat, however, be procured without killing a living creature? Your declarations therefore, appear to me to be contradictory.
- A doubt has, therefore, sprung in our mind about the duty of abstaining from meat. What are the sins that one commits by eating meat, and what are the merits that one acquires ?
- What are the dements of him who eats meat by himself slaying a living creature? What are the merits of him who eats the meat of animals, slain by others? What the ments or dements of him who hills a living creature for another? Or of him who eats meat buying it of others?
- I wish O smless one, that you should describe to me this subject in full I wish to ascertain this eternal Religion with certainty.
- How does one acquire longevity? How does one acquire strength? How does one acquire faultlessness of limbs? Indeed. how does one become gifted with excellent marks ?

Bhishma said :-

- 7 Listen to me, O scion of Kuru's race what the merit is of abstention from meat Listen to me as I declare to you what the excellent ordinances, in sooth, are on this
- subtect. Those great men who desire beauty. faultlessness of limbs, long life, understanding, mental and physical strength, and memory, should abstain from acts of injury
- o. Numberless discourses took place. b etween the Rishis, on this subject, O s ion of Kuru's race Listen, O Yudhish-
- The ment acquired by that person, O Yadi ishihira, who, with the steediness of a vow, worship the celestrals every month to florse sacrifices is equal to him who discards honey and meat.

The highly wise seven celestial Rishis the Valakshillyas, and those Rishsi, who drink the rays of the sun, all speak highly of abstention from meat. man who does not eat meat, or who does

The Self create Many has said that

- not kill living creatures, or who does not cause them to be killed, is a friend of all creatures 13 Such a man is incapable of being op pressed by any creature. He enjoys the confidence of all living beings. He always
- enjoys, besides, the praise of the pious
- The victuous Narada has said that that man who wishes to multiply his own flesh by eating the flesh of other creatures. meet with disaster.
- Yrihaspati has said that that man who abstains from honey and meat, gains the merit of gifts and sacrifices and penances.
- 16 In my view, these two persons are equal, vis, he who worships the celestials every month in a Horse sacrifice for a century and he who abstains from honey and meat.
- On account of abstention from meat. 17 one is considered as one who always worships the celestials in sacrifices or as one who always makes gifts to others or as one who always practises the severest austerities
- 18 That man who having eaten meat, gives it up afterwards, wins merit by such a deed that is so great that a study of all the Vedas or a performance, O Bharata of all the sacrifices, cannot give its like
- It is very difficult to abstain from meat after one I as known it staste. It deed it is extremely difficult for such a person to observe the great vow abstention from meat, a vow that assures every creature by removing all fear.
- That learned person who gives to all living creatures the gift of complete assurance, is forsooth regarded as the giver of life breaths in this world
- This is the high Religion which wise men esteem very highly the vital airs of other creatures are as dear to them as
- 22 Men gifted with intelligence and purified souls alould always treat others as they themselves wish to be treated those of his own self

23 It is seen that even those men who are endued with learning and who seek to acquire the greatest good in the shape of Liberation, are not free from the fear of death.

- 22 What necessity there be said o those innocent and healthy creatures gifted with love of life, when they are sought to be killed by sinful wretches living by slaughter ?
- Therefore, O king, know that the discarding of meat is the highest refuge of Religion, of the celestial region, and of happiness.
- Abstention from injury is the highest Religion. It is, again, the highest penance It is also the highest truth from which all duty emanates. Flesh cannot be had from grass or
- wood or stone. Unless a living creature is killed, it cannot be procuted Hence is the fault in eating fiesh. The celestials, who live upon Swaha, Swadha, and nectar, are given to truth
- and sincerity. Those persons however, who are for satisfying the sensation of taste, should be known as Rakshasas pervaded by the quality of Darkness
- 28-20 That man who abstainst from meat is never put in fear, Oking by any creature wherever he may be vis, 11 terrible forest or inaccessible fastnesses, by day or by night, or at the two twilights in the open squares of towns or in conclaves of men, from upraised weapons or in places where there is great fright from wild animals or snakes.
- All creatures seek his protection. He is trusted by all He never causes any anxiety in otlers, and himself has never to become anxious
- If there were nobody who are flesh there would then be nobody to slay living creatures The man who slays living creatures kills them for the sake of the person who eats flesh
- If flesh were not considered as food there would then be no destruction of living creatures It is for the sake of the eater that the destruction of living creatures is carried on in the world
- 33 Since O you of great splendour, the period of life is shortened of persons who kill living creatures or cause them to be killed it is clear that the person who seeks his own behoof, should give up meat altogether.
- Those dreadful persons who are engaged to the destruction of living creatures never find protectors when they are in need. Such persons should always be molested and punished even as beasts of
- 35 Through cupid ty or stuperaction of sense, for the sake of strength and

- energy, or through association with the shiful, men show tendency for committing sin.
- 36 That man who seeks to multiply his own flesh by (eating) the flesh of others has to live in this world in great anxiety and after death has to take birth in indifferent races and families
- 37. High Rishis given to the observance of yows and self control have said that abstention from meat is worthy of praise, productive of fame and Heaven, and a great satisfaction itself.
- 38. It is I heard formerly, O son of Kunti, from Markandeya when that Rishi discoursed on the sins of eating flesh.
- 30 He who eats the flesh of animals are who destrous of living but who have been slam by either himself or others commits the sin of slaughter for his this act of cruelty

40

He who purchases flesh, kills living

- creatures through his money. He who eats flesh, kills living creatures through such act of eating. He who binds or seizes and actually kills living creatures is the slaughteer. These are the three sorts of slaughter, each of these three acts being so.
- 41 He who does not I imself eat flesh but approves of an act of slaughter, becomes stained with the sin of slaughter.
 - 42 By abstanting from meat and showing mercy to all creatures one be omes incapable of being molested by any creature, and acquires longevity, perfect health and happiness.
 - 43 The merit won by abstaining from meat we have heard is superior to that of one who makes presents of gold, of kine, and of land.
 - 44 One should never eat meat of animals not dedicated in sacrifices and that are, therefore, fulfied usclessly, and it at has not been offered to the gods and departed Manes with the help of it ordinances. There is not the least doubt that a Person by eating such meat goes to Hell.
 - 45 If one eats the meat that has been sanctified on account of its having been procured from animals deducated in sacrifices and that have been killed for the purpose of feeding Brahmanas, one incurs a little lault. By behaving otherwise, one becomes stained with sine.
 - 46. That wretched man who kills living creatures for the sake of those who would eat them, commits great sin. The eater s sin is not so great.

- 47. That wreichsed man who following the path of religious rites and sacrifices laid down in the Vedas, would kill a living creature from desire of eating its flesh, would certainly go to Hell.
- 48 That man who having eaten flesh abstains from it alterwards, acquires great ment on account of such abstention from sin
- 49 He who arranges for obtaining flesh he who approves of those arranges ments, he who kills, he who buys or selfs, he who cooks, and he who eats, are all considered as eaters of flesh
- 50 I shall now cite another authority, depending upon the saying of the ordainer himself, that is ancient, worshipped by the Rishis, and established in the Vedas.
- 51. It has been said that that religion which has acts for its marks, has been ordained for house holders, O chief of kings, and not for those men who are desirous of Liberation.
- 52 Manu himself has said that meat which is sanctified with Mantras and properly dedicated, according to the ordinances of the Vedas, in rites performed in honor of the departed Manes,—is pure.
- 53—54 All other meally useless slaughter, and is, therefore, medible, and leads to Hell and infamy. One should never eat, Ochief of Bharata's race, like a Rakshase, any meat that has been procured by means, not sanctioned by the ordinance, from useless destruction and that has not been sanctited by the ordinance.
- 55 That man who wishes to avoid disaster should abstain from the meat of every living creature
- 56 It is heard that in the former Æ in persons desirous of acquiring regions of merit hereafter, celebrated sacrifices with seeds regarding such animals as dedicated by them
- 57. Doubtful about the propriety of eating flesh, the Rishis asked Vastu the king of the Chedis, for removing their doubt. King Vastu knowing that flesh should not be taken, answered that it was edible, O king.
- 58 From that moment Vasu dropped down from the sky on the Earth. After this he once more repeated it is opinion, with the result that he had to go down below the Earth for it.
- 59 Desirous of doing good to all men, the great Agastya by the help of his penances ded cated, once for all, all wild deer to the celestrals.

- 60 Hence there is no longer any necessity of purifying those animals for offering them to the celestials and the departed Manes Served with flesh according, to the ordinance, the departed Manes become pleased.
- 61. Listen to me, O king of kings, as I tell you this, O sinless one. There is absolute happiness in abstaining from meat, O king.
- 62. He who practises severe austerities for a century, and he who abstains from meat, are both equally meritorious. This is my opinion.
- 63. In the light half of the month of Kartika in especial, one should abstain from honey and meat. It has been ordained, that there is great merit in it.
- 64. He who abstains from meat for the four months of the rainy season, acquires the blessed achievements, ers, longevity, fame, and power.
- 65 He who abstains for the whole month of Kartika from meat of every kind, gets over all sorts of woe and lives in complete happiness
- 66 They who abstant from flesh by either months or fortnights have the region of Brahma ordained for them on account of their abstention from cruelty.
- 67 Formerly many kings, O son of Pritha, who had formed themselves the souls of all creatures and who has known the truths of all things, ser, Soul and Not-Soul had abstained from flesh either for the whole of the mouth of Katuka or for the whole of the light fortught in that month,
- 68-70 They were Nabhaga, Amvarisha the great Gaya. Ayu, Anaranya, and Dwilpa, Ras, hu, Puro, Kartanya, Amruddha, Nahusha, Yayati, Nriga Vishwaksena, Shasawindu Yuvanashwa, Shivi the son of Ushnara, Muchukunda, Mandhatri, and Harishchandra
- 71. Do you always speak the truth Never speak an untruth I roth is an eternal duty. It is by truth that Harishchandra roves through the sky like a second Moon
- 73-77. These other kings also, ws. Shyenachtra, O monarch, and Somaka, Vrika, Raswatz Rantideva, Vasu, Scringsa, Unihanstik, Karuhima, Ramy, Alaska, Nala, Wropashwa, Ninou mielingem Janaka, Nala, Wropashwa, Ninou mielingem Janaka, Nala, Wropashwa, Ninou mielingem Janaka, Nala, Wropashwa, Karuhima, Dinnidhu, Subahu, Haryyashwa, Kashupa and Bhacta, O monatch, did not eat flesh for the month of

- Kartika, and, therefore, attained to the celestral region, and gifted with prosperity, blate forth with effulgence in the region of Brahmana, worslupped by Gandharvas and surrounded by a thousand, beautiful ladies.
- 78 Phose great men who practise this excellent Religion which is marked out by abstention from injury, succeed in living in the celestial region.
- 79 Those pious men who, from the time of birth, abstain from honey and meat and wine, are considered as ascetics.
- So That man who practises this religion consisting of abstention from meat or who recites it for making others hear it, will never have to go to Hell, even if he be a great wicked man.
- SI-S2 He, O king, who always reads these ordinances about abstention from meat that are sacred and worshipped by the Rishis, or hears it read, becomes pured off of every sin and acquirea great happiness on account of the fruition of every desire. Forsooth, he acquires an eminent position among kinsmen.
- 33 When afflicted with calamity, he immediately gets over it. When obstructed with obstacles, he succeeds in freeing himself from them with the utmost case. When suffering from a disease he becomes queekly cured, and afflicted with sorrow he becomes liberated from it with greatest case.
- 84 Such a man has never to take birth in the intermediate order of animals or birds. Born in the order of men, he attainst og reat personal beauty. Gilted with great prosperity. O chief of Kuru's race, he acquies great lame as well.
- 85 I have thus told you, O king, all that should be said about the subject of abstention from meat, together with the ordinances about both the religion of action and maction as framed by the Rishis.

CHAPTER CXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yudhishthira said:-

- 1. Alas, those cruel men, who not caring for various other sorts of food, want only flesh, are really like great Rakshasas.
- 2 Alas, they do not relish various kinds of cakes and diverse sorts of pbt-herbs and

- various species of Khanda with juicy
- flavour so much as they do flesh

 3 I cannot understand this at all 11 it ink they feel that there is nothing so
- tasteful as meat

 4 I wish, therefore, O powerful one, to hear what the merits are of abstention from flesh and the sin about the eating of flesh, O chief of Bharata's race
- S You know every duty Describe to me, in full, according to the ordinances on duty, this subject. Do tell me what, indeed, is edible and what inedible?
- 6 Tell me, O grandfather, what is flesh, of what substances it is, the merits of abstention from it, and the sins for eating meat.

Bhishma said -

- 7 O mighty-armed one, what you say is true! There is nothing on Earth that is superior to mest in taste.
- There is nothing that is more beneical than meat to persons who are lean, ir weak, or afflicted with disease, or adlicted to sexual union or exhausted with ravel.
- 9 Meat quickly increases strength. It ordains great development. There is no ood, O scorcher of enemies, that is superior - to, But, O del ghter of the Kurus, those who abstain from it, win great merits. Listen to me as I describe it to you.
- 11. That man who wishes to increase his own flesh by the meat of another living creature, is such that there is none meaner and more cruel than he.
- 12 In this world there is nothing that is dearer to a creature than his life. Hence, or a should show morey to the lives of others as he does to his own life.
- 13 l'orsooth, O son, flesh fins fits origin in the vital seed. There is great ain attaching to its eating, as, indeed, there is merit in abstanting from it.
- 14 One does not, however, commit any sin by eating flesh sanct fied according to the ordinances of the Vedas The Shuti says that animals were created for sacrifice, here who eat flesh in any other way are said to follow the Rukshata practice
- 15 Listen to me as I tell you what the crd nance is for the Kshatriyas. They do not commit any sin by eating flesh that has been acquired by power.
- the All said deer have been dedicated to the celesials and the departed Manes in days of old, O king, by Apastya Hence, the burting of deer is not consured.

- 17. There can be no hunting without risk of one's own life. There is equality of risk between the killer and the killed Either the animal is killed or it kills it e hunter.
- 18 Hence, O Bharata, even royal sages take to hunting. By such conduct they do not become stained with sin. Indeed, the practice is not considered sinful.
- 19 There is nothing, O delighter of the Kurus, that is equal in point of merit, either in this world ar in the next, to the practice of mercy to all living creatures.
- 20 The merciful man has no fear. Those innocent men who are endued with mercy, have both this world and the next.
- 21. Persons conversant with duty say that that Religion is worthy of being called Religion which is characterised by abstention from cruelty. The man of purified soul should do only such acts as have mercy for their soul
- 22 That flesh which is dedicated in sacrifices performed in honour of the detires and the departed Manes is called Havi That man who is given to mercy and who behaves with mercy towards others, has no fear to entertain from any creature.
- 23-24 It is heard that all creatures abstain from casting any fear to such a creature. All creatures protect I im when he is wounded or fallen down or prostrated or weakened or brused. Indeed they do so, under all circumstances, whether he is nor wild animals neither Pahachas nor Rakshasis, ever kill him.
- 25 When circumstances of fear originate, he becomes freed from fear who frees others from situations of fear. There has never been, nor will there ever be, a gift which is superior to the gift of life.
- 26 It is certain that there is nothing dearer to oneself than his life. Death, O Bharata, is a disaster to all creatures.

27—20 When the time termes for Death, a termbing of it entine body in seen in all creatures. Mortification by this like attent, and the state of the world, length creatures this ocean of the world, length creatures may be seen to be continually going forward and coming back. Every creature is efficiently beath Whilelining in the utters, after any other than the state of the present and the final jures, that are ablain and now and buter, of united and playman of the state of the present of the state of the present of the state of the playman of the state of the playman of the state of the playman and are even recently from and percet.

tain to

- 30 They who are covetuous of meat, are seen to be repeatedly cooked in the uterus in such a state of helplessness. Going through all sorts of birth, they are cooked in the Hell called Kumbhipaka
- 31. They are assailed and killed, and in this way have to travel again and again There is nothing so dear to one as his bie when one comes to this world
- 33—35 Hence, a person of purified soul should be merciful to all luving creatures That man, O king, who abstains from every kind of meat from his brith, forsooth, acquires a large space in the celestial region They who cat the flesh of animals who are desirous of life, are themselves eaten by the atimals they eat. This is my opinion that the same of the control of
- 36-37 He who acts with hostility towards another, becomes the victim of similar deeds done by that other. Whatever acts one does in whatever bodies, he has to suffer the consequences thereof in those bodies. Abstantion from cruelty is the greatest self-restrant of the highest Religion. Abstention from cruelty is the greatest self-restrant.
- 38. Abstention from cruelty is the highest gift Abstention from cruelty is the highest penance Abstention from cruelty is the highest sacrifice. Abstention from cruelty is the highest power.
- 39 Abstention from cruelty is the greatest friend Abstention from cruelty is the greatest happiness. Abstention from cruelty is the highest truth Abstention from cruelty is the highest Shruft.
- 40 Gilis made in all sacrifices, abfutions performed in all sacred waters, and the metit which one acquires from making all kinds of gifts mentioned in the scriptures,— all these do not equal abstention from cruefty in merit.
- 41. The penances of a man who abstains from cruelty are endless. The man who abstains from cruelty is considered as always performing sacrifices. The man who abstains from cruelty is the father and mother of all creatures.
- 42 Even these, O chief of Kuru's race, are some of the merits of abstention from cruelty. Altogether, the merits of it are so many that they are incapable of being exhausted even if one were to speak for a century.

CHAPFER CXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said -

- 1. Wishing to die and wishing to live, many persons surrender their lives in the great sacrifice (of battle) Fell me, O grandfather, what is the end that these at-
- 2—3 To give up life in battle is fraught with sorrow for men O you of great wisdom, you know that to give up life is difficult for men whether they are each or poor, or are in happiness or misery I my opinion, you are gifted with omissicience Do you tell me the reason of this.

Bhishma said:-

- 4 In prosperity or adversity, in weal or woe, living creatures, O king, coming into this world, live according to a particular method
- 5 Listen to me as I explain the reason to you the question you have put to me, is, indeed, excellent, O Yudhishthira!
- '6 Regarding it, O king, I shall explain to you the old discourse that took place to be between the Dwaipayana Rishi and a crawling worth
- 7. Formetly when that learned Brahmana, vis, the Krishna; Dwaipayana, having identified himself with Brahma, roamed over the world, he saw on a road over which cars used to pass, a worm moving quickly
- 8 The Rish knew the course of every creature and the language of every animal culted with omniscience, he addressed the worm he saw in these words.

Vyasa said -

9 O worm, you appear to be greatly alarmed, and to be in great hasse. Jell me, where do you run, and whence have you been afraid?

The worm said .-

- 10. I am stricken with fear on hearing the rattle of that large car. O you of great intelligence, it makes a fearful roar. It is almost come.
- 11. The sound is heard Will it not kill me? I am flying away for this. I hear the sound of the bulls.
- 12. They are breathing hard under the whip of the driver, as they are carrying the heavy load. I hear also the various sound made by the men who are driving the bulls-ment from desire of fruit. The very accomplishments that one seeks to acquire are sought from desire of the happiness they will produce.

- S Learned or ignorant (in a previous existence) the creature that is, in this life, shorn of speech and understanding and bands and feet, is really shorn of everything
- 6 He who becomes a superior Brahriana worships while alive, the detities of the Sun and the Moon, uttering various sacred Mantras O worm, you will come by that state of existence
- 7. Acquiring that status, you will enjoy all the elements converted into articles of enjoyment. When you have acquired that state, I shall impart to you Brahma. Or, if you wish, I may place you in any other status.
- 8. Agreeing to the words of Vyasa, the worm d d not leave the road, but remained on it. Meawhile, the large car which was coming in that direction came there
 - 9—11. Tom to pieces by the assault of the wheels, the worm died Born at last in the Kshatiiya order through the grace of Vyasa of immeasurable power, he proceeded to see the great Rishi. He had, before becoming a Kshatiiya, to pasa it rough and Iguana and boar and deer shop and Iguana and boar and deer shop and Chandala and Shudra and Vasha Having given an account of his various changes to the truth-telling Rishi, and remembering the Rishia kindness for him, the worm (now with joined hands fell at the Rishia see that the Rishia see that the see

The Worm said -

- 12 My present status is that great one which is coveted by all and which only persons baving ten well known attributes, can get Indeed, I who was formerly a worm have thus acquired the status of a prince.
- 13 Flephants of great strength decked with golden chains carry me on their backs. To my cars are yoked Kamvoja horses of high mettle
- 14 Numerous cars to which are attached camels and mules bear me. With hill my relatives and friends I now eat food rich with meat.

 15 Addred by all, I sleep, O highly
- t lessed one, on eich beds in charming rooms to which disagreeable winds cannot blow.

 16. Towards the dawn, bards and enfrom mains sing my praires even as the detires previous changes, O ments sing my praires even as the detires previous extra assistance.

- utter the agreeable praises of Indra their chief,
- 17. Through your favour who are first in truth and gifted with immeasurable energy, I who was before a worm have now become a Kshativa
- 18 I bow my head to you, O you of great wisdom Do you command me as to what I should now do Ordained by the power of your penances, I have come by this position

Vyasa said:--

- 19 I have to-day been addred by you, O king, with various words expressive of respect. Changed into a worm, your memory had become clouded. That memory has again appeared.
- 20 The sin you had committed in a pristine I le, has not yet been dissipated that sin, ris which was acquired by you while you were a Shudra covetous of riches and cruel in conduct and hostile to the Brahmanas 1
- 21—22 You were able to obtam a sight of my body. That was an act of merit to you while you were a worm. On account of your having saluted and worshipped me, you shall rise higher, for, from the Kshariya order you shall rise to the status of a Brabmana, if only you due on the field a battle for the sake of kine or Brahmana.
- 23 Oprince, enjoying much happiness and celebrating many sacrifices with profuse presents, you shall attain to Heaven and, changed into eternal Brahma, you shall enjoy perfect beattude.
 - 24. Riose who take birth in the Intermediate order, become Shudras The Shudras rives to the status of the Vasshya; and it? Vasshya to that of the Keshalva; The Vasshya to that of the Keshalva; The Vasshya to that of the Keshalva; the Concharge of the duties of his testie, succeeds in acquiring the status of a Brahmans. The Brahmans, by following a tightee is conduct, acquires Heaven which is full of happiness.

CHAPTER CXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Bhishma said -

1 Having renounced the status of a worm and taken birth as a Kishatriya of great energy, the person remembering his previous changes, O monarch, brigan to

2 Seeing those severe austerities of the Kshatriya who was well conversant with Religion and Profit Krishna-Dwiapayana, that foremost of Brahmanas, went to him.

Vyasa said:-

- 3 The penances, O worm, of the Kshatiyas consist of the protection of all creatures. Consider these duties of the Kshatiya to be the penances laid down for you. You shall come by the status of a Brahmana.
- 4 Ascertaining what is right and what is wrong, and purifying your soul, do you duly cherish and protect all creatures, judiciously satisfying all good desires and correcting all that is subloly.
- 5 Be you of purified soul, be contented and be devoted to the practice of virtue, Acting thirs, you will then, when you die, become a Brahmana.

Bhishma said :-

- 6 Although he had retired into the forest, yet, O Vudiushthira, having heard the words of the great Rish, he began to theresh and protect his subjects righteously.
- 7. Soon, O best of kings, that worm, on account of the duty of protecting his sulficts, became a Brahmana after renouncing his Kshatriya body.
- '8, Seeing him changed into a Brahmana, the celebrated Rishi, vis., Krishna-Dwaipayana of great wisdom came to him.

Vyasa said '- -

- 9. O chief of Brihmanas, O blessed one, be not troubled. He who acts pously comes by a respectable birth. He, on the other hand, who acts implously comes by a low and vile birth. O you who are conversant with virtue, one attains to misery according to the measure of, his san.
- to Therefore, O worm, do not be troubled through fear of death. The only fear you should entertain, is about the loss of situes. Do you, absecting you on near-time you thus.

The worm said :--

11. Through your lavour, O Holy One, I have attained from tappy to happier Positions! Having obtained such prosperity as its established in writer, I think my dements have been lost.

Bhishma said ---

13. The worm having, at the command of the holy Rishi, acquired the status of a liral mana, that is so difficult to attam caused the Earth to be marked with a thousand sacrificial stakes.

- '13 'That foremost of all persons conversant with Brahma then gained a readence in the region of Brahman lumself. Indeed, O son of Pritha, the worm acq used the lightest status wir, that of eiternal Brahma, as the result of his own deeds done according to the counsels of Vivasa.
- 14 Those foremost of Kshatriyas, also, who have renounced their life breaths, exerting their energy all the while, have all acquired a meritorious end. Therefore, O king, do not mourn on their account. 10 c

CHAPTER CXX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yndhishthira said :-

1. Which amongst these three is superior, vis., Knowledge, Penauces, and Gilts 7 I ask you, O foremost of pious men. Iell me this. O grandfather.

Bhishma said :-

- 2. Regarding it is cited the old conversation between Maitreya and Krishna-Dwaipayana
- 3 Once on a time, Krishna Dwaipsyana, O king, while wandering over the world in disguise, proceeded to Breanasi and waited upon Maitreya who belonged by birth to a race of ascetics.
- 4 Seeing Vyasa arrive, that foremost of Rishis, was, Mintreya, gave him a seat and after adoring him with due rites, entertained him with excellent food.
- 5 Having eaten that good lood which was very wholesome and which gave every kind of gratification, the prest Kristina become highly pleased and as he sat there, he even laughed aloud.
- 6 Seeing Krishna laugh, Mastreya addressed him, saying,—Fell me, O Righteou Souled One, what the reason is of your laughter! You are an ascetic, g fied with power to control your emplions, Great Joy, it appears has come over you.
- 7. Saluting you and addring you with bent head, I sak you this, e.s., what the power is of my penances and what the high blessedness is that is yours.
- 8 The acts I do, are different from those of yours. You are already emane cipated those, it however, am not yet freed. For all that, I think that there is not much difference between you and me. I am, again, distinguished by birth.

Vyasa said :--

- 9 This wonder that has filled me has originated from an ordinance which appears like a hyperbole, for the comprehension of of the people. The declaration of the Vedas seems to be untrue. But why should the Vedas say an untruth?
- 10. It has been said that there are three toads which form the best vows of a man One should always tell the truth, and one should make gift.
- 11. The Rishis of old said this, following the ordinances laid down in the Vedas These injunctions of yore, should certainly be followed by us even in our times
- 12. Even a small gift, made under the circumstances laid down, yields great fruits You have given a hitle water with a sincere heart to a thirsty man.
- 13 Yourself thirsty and hungty, you have by giving me such food, conquered many high regions of happiness O powerful one, as one does by many sacrifices.
- 14. I am greatly delighted with 'your very sacred gift, as also with your penances. Your power is that of virtue. Your appearance is that of virtue.
- 15—16 The fragrance of virtue, is about you. I think that all your acts are performed according to the ordinance. O son, gift is superior to ablutions in sacred waters and to the accomplishment of all Veduc wows Indeed, O Brahmann, gift is more suspicious than all religious rates I it is not more ameniorious than all religious rates there can be no question about its superiority.
- 17. All those rites laid down in the Vedes which you highly speak of, do not equal a gift, for, Lift is undoubtedly fraught with very superior merit.
- 18. The road that has been made by those men, who make gifts is the road that is trodden by the wise. They who make gifs are considered as givers of even the life breaths. The dottes that form virtue are established in them.
- 19. As the Vedis when well-studied, as the controlling of the senses, as a tile of universal Renimeration, so is Gift which is fraught with very superior menti
- 20. You, O son, will rise from Joy to greater joy (for performing the duty of making gilts) I he intelligent man certainly trees from Joy to greater joy.
- 21. We have undoubtedly seen many instances of this, Men Lifted with pros-

- perity succeed in acquiring riches, making gifts, celebrating sacrifices, and acquiring happiness as the result thereof
- 22: It is always observed, O you of great ' wisdom to happen naturally that happiness is followed by misery, and misery is followed by happiness.
- 23 Wise men have said that human beings in this world have three kinds of conduct. Some are righteous, some are sinful, and some are neither righteous not sinful.
- 24 The conduct of the person who is devoted to Brahma is not considered either way. His sins are never considered as sins.) So also the man who is devoted to the duties laid down for him, is considered as neither pious nor sinful.
- 25: Those men who are devoted to sacrifices, gifts, and penances, are considered as pious. These, however, who injure other, creatures and are unfriendly to them, are considered sinful.
- 26 There are some men who appropriate others' properties. These certainly fall into Hell and meet with insery All other acts that men do are indifferent, being considered as ne ther righteous nor sixul.
- 27. Do you sport and grow and rejoice and make gilts and celebrate sacrifices. Neither men of knowledge nor those gifted with penances will then be able to get the better of you.

CHAPTER CXXI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Bhishma said :-

 Thus addressed by Vyasa, Maitreya, who was a worshipper of deeds, who had been born in a family gifted with great prosperity, who was wise and endued with great learning, said to him those words.

Maitreya said:-

2. O you of great wisdom, it is what you have said. O powerful one, with your permission I wish to say something.

Vyasa said --

3 Whatever you wish to say, O Multre) 2 in what way so even, do you say, O man of great wisdom, for I wish to hear you.

Maitreya said:--

4 Your words on the subject of G t are faultless and pure. Porsooth, your soul

- has been purified by knowledge and penances

 5 On account of your soul being puri-
- fied, even this is the great advantage I reap from it With the help of my understanding I see that you are gifted with high penances.
- 6 As regards outselves we succeed in acquiring prosperity through only seeing personages like you. I think, that is due to your layour and originates from the nature of my own acts.
- 7. Penances, knowledge of the Vedas, and birth in a pure family, these are they causes of the status which one acquires of a Brahmana. When one is possessed of these three qualities, then does in come to be called a twice born person,
- 8. If the Brahmana be pleased, the departed Manes and the delites also are pleased There is nothing superior to a Brahmana possessed of Vedic learning.
- 9 Without the Brahmana all would be darkness Nothing would be known. The four castes would not exist. The distinction between virtue and aim, Truth and Untruth, would disappear.
- to Men, when they sow on a well cultivated field, reap an abundant harvest. Even so, one ceaps great merit by making a gifts to a Brahmana endued with great
- 11. If there were no Brahmana gifted with Vedic learning and good conduct for accepting gifts, the wealth possessed by rich men would be useless,
- 12. The ignorant Brahmana, by eating the food that is offered to him, destroys what he eats. The food also that is eare destroys the eater. That is called food which is given away to a worthy man in all other cates he who takes it, makes the douor's gift it rown away and the reterver likewise runned for his quidaly taking it.
- 13. The Brahmana endued with learning, incremes the subgreater of the flood that the east. Having easten 'I'm he' Begres other older load. I he ignorant man who enist the food offered to him, loves his right to the children he proceeder, for the latter become has we love flood has enabled the project story of the control of the project story have not the power to conquer that food.
 - 14 The ment which the giver with by making the gift is equal to what the taker acquires by accepting the lood. Both the giver and the taker dependequally upon each other. It is in what the Ristin have said.

- There where Brahmans exist, gilled with Vedic learning and conduct, people are enabled to acquire the sacred fruits of gifts and to enjoy them both in this world and the next.
- 16 I have men who are of pure birth, who are devoted to penances, and who make gits and study the Vrdas, are considered as worthy of the most respectful adoration.
- ty II is those good men who have chalked out the path by treading on which are does not become stapefied. It is those men who take others to the celestial region. They are the men who carry on their shoulders the burthen of Sacrifices and five lar good.

CHAPTER CXXII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhisma said -

- 1. Thus addressed, the Holy One replied to Matteya, saying,—By good luck, you are gifted with knowledge—By good luck, your understading is of this kind
- Good men highly speak of righteous qualities. By your good luck you are not overwhelmed by personal beauty, youth and prosperity.
- 3 This favour done to you is due to kindness of the celestials. Listen to me, as I describe to you what is even superior to glft.
- 4 All scriptures, religious treatises, and rites that are seen in the world, have all originated from the Vedas, according to their due order.
- 5 Following them I highly speak of gift, Vou highly speak of periances and Vedic learning. Penances are sacred. Penances are the means by which one may acquire the Vedas and the celestial region.
- 6 With the help of penances and of knowledge one acquires the highest fruits, it is by penances that one dissipates his sins and all else that is evil.
- 7. We have heard that with whatever purpose in view one performs penances, one acquires the fruition thereof on account of thise penances. The same may be said of knowledge.
- S. Mi atever is difficult to do, whatever is difficult to conquer, whetever is difficult to attain and whatever is difficult to cross, can all be done with the help of penances. Of all things, penances are of very superior

- 9 The man who drinks alcohol, or he who takes forcibly other men's properties, or le who is guilty of festicide, or he who volates the bed of his preceptor, succeeds in crossing with the help of penances. Indeed, one becomes purged off of all these sins through penances.
- to One gifted with all knowledge and, therefore, having true vision, and an ascetic of whatever kind are equal. One should always how to these two
- tt. All men who have the Vedas for their wealth should be adored Likewise all men gifted with penances deserve to be adored They who make gifts get happiness in the next wolld and much prosperity in this world
- 12 By making gifts of food, righteous men of this world obtain both this world and that of Brahman himself with many other regions of superior happiness
- 13 Those men who are worshipped by all, themselves worship him who makes gifts Those men who are honored everywhere, themselves honor him who makes gifts Wherever the giver goes, he hears himself his own praise
- 14 He who does acts and he who omits to do them, gets each what is proportionate to his acts and omissions. Whether one lives in the upper regions or in the nether, one always acquires those places to which one becomes entitled by his deeds.
- IS As regards yourself, you will certainly obtain whatever food and drink you may covet, for you are gifted with intelligence, good birth, Vedic learning and mercy
- 16 You are possessed of youth, O Matteya! You are observant of vows Be devoted to virtue. Do you take instructions from me about those duties which you should first follow,—the duties, vis, of householders.
- That house in which the husband is pleased with his married wife and the wife pleased with her husband, all auspicious results ensue.
- 18' As filth is washed away from the body with water, as darkness is removed by the light of fire so is sin washed off by gifts and penances
- 19. Bless you O Maitreya, may you have palaces I I depart hence in peace. Do you remember what I have said You shall then Le able to trap many advantages!

20 Maitreya" then! walked I round his illustrious guest and bowed his head to him, and joining his hands in respect, said,—Let blessing be to you also. O Holy One!

CHAPTER CXXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) — Continued

Yudhishthira said .—

I O you who know all duties I wish to hear, in full, what forms the excellent conduct of good and chaste women Do you, O grandfather, describe this to me

Bhishma said 🕶

- 2—4 Once on a time, in the celestial region, a lady name Sumana of Kekaya's race, addressing Shandhi gifted with great energy and conversant with the truth regarding everything and gifted with omiscience said—By what conduct, O aupicuous lady, by what course of deeds have you succeeded in acquiring the celestial region, purged off of every sin? You spine with your own energy like a flame of fire You appear to be a daughter of the Lord of stars, come to Heaven in your own effulgence.
- 5 You put on dresses of pure white, and are quite cheerful and at your ease. Seated on that celestial car, you shine, O auspicious dame, with energy multiplied a thousandfold.
 - thousandfold.

 6 You have not, I understand, attained to this region of happiness by great penances and gifs and yows. Do you tell me the truth I
 - 7. Thus questioned sweetly by Sumana, Shef hand is of sweet smiles, addressing her intercogasiax, thus answered her silently. I did not wear yellow robers, nor barks of trees I did not shave my head; nor did I keep matted locks on my head. It is not on account of these deeds that I have acquired the status of a celestual.
 - g I never carelessly addressed any i harsh words to my husband.
 - to I was always devoted to the adoration of the celestials, the departed Vlanes, and the Brahmanas Always careful it waited upon and served my mother-in law and father-in law.
- 11. This was my resolution that I hould never useds fo stay at the door of our house not did I speak long with any body.

- 12 I never did any evil deed I never langhed aloud, I never did any injury. I never gave out any secret. Thus did I
- myself act

 13 When my husband, having left home upon any business, used to return, I always served him by giving him a seat, and adored him with respect.
- 14. I never ate food of any kind wiich was unknown to my husband and with which my husband was not pleased.
- is. Rising early in the morning I did and caused to be done whatever was brought about and required to be done for the sake of relatives and kinsmen
- 16 When my husband leaves home for going to a distance place on any errand f remained at home engaged in various kinds of auspicious deeds for blessing his enterptise.
- 17. During the absence of my husband I never use of oldynum, or ornaments I I never wash mysell properly or use garlands and unguents or adorn my feet with lacdye or body with ornaments.
- 18 When my husband sleeps in peace I never awake him even if important business wanted his attention. I was happy to sit by him lying asleep
- 19 I never urged my husband to work hard for acquiring riches to support I is lamly and relatives I always kept secrets without gwing them out to others, I used to always keep our premises clean
- 20 That; woman who, with rapt attention, follows her duty receives profuse honors in the celestial region like a second Arondhati

Bhishma said .-

- 21 The illustrious and highly blessed Shand II. of pour conduct having said these words to Sumana on the subject of woman's duties towards her husband dis appeared there and then
- 22. That man, O son Pandu, who reads this discourse at every full moon and new moon, succeeds in acquiring the telestial region and enjoying great happiness in the boxers of Naindana

CHAPTER CXXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ~

Yudhishthira said -

1 In which is superior efficacy, Conciliation or Gifts? Tell me, O chief of Bharata's race, which of these two is superior in efficacy.

Bhishma said -

2 Some become pleased by Codellation, while others are pleased by Gifts Every man, according to his own nature, likes the one or the other.

- 3 Listen to me, O king as I explain to you the merits of Conciliation, O chief of Bharata's race, so that the most furfous treatures may be cooled down by it.
- 4 Regarding it is cited the ancient narrative of how a Brahmana, who had been seized in the forest by a Rakshusa, was freed
- 5 A certain Brahmana gifted with eloquence and intelligence fell into distress, for he was seized in a fone forest by a Rakshasa who wished to feed on bim.
- 6 The Brahmana glited as he was with understanding and ilearning was not at all moved Wishout allowing in inself to the stupefied at the sight of that terrible cannibal, he resolved to apply Conciliation and see its effect on the Rakshinsa.
- 7. Respectfully saluting the Brahmana with words, the Rakshasa put to him this question: You shall escape, but tell me why I am so pale and lean.
- 8 Reflecting for a short time, the Brahmana accepted the question of the Rakshasa and replied in the following wellspoken words

The Brahmana said .--

g Living in a place distant from your house moving in a sphintervinit is not your own and deprived of the company of your friends and kinsten you are enjoying vast riches. It is therefore that you are so pale and lean.

- to Indeed O Rakshass your friends, though well treated by you, are still not well disposed towards you on account of their own vicious nature. It is for this that you are so pale and lean
- 13. You are gifted with ment and wisdom and a well controlled soul Yet it is your lot to see others who have ment and wisdom honored in preference to yourseff, It is for it is that you are so pale and lean.

- than yours but inferior to you in merit, are, indeed, disregarding you fit is for this that you are so pale and lean.
- Though distressed for want of the means of support, yet you are lactuated by the greatness of your mind to disregard such means as are open to you for getting your sustenance, It is for this that you are so pale and lean
- On account of your virtuous nature you had deprived yourself for doing good to another. This person, O righteous Rakshasa, considers you; deceived and defeated., It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
- I think you are greving for those persons who with souls possessed by lust and anger, are suffering misery in this world It is for this that you are so pale and lean
- Though wise, you are ridiculed by others who are entirely destitute of it. Persons of wicked conduct are vilifying you It is for this that you are so pale and
- Indeed, some enemy of yours, with a friendly tongue, coming to you behaved at first like a pious man and then has left you, beguiling you like a knave for this that you are so pale and lean
- You are well conversant with the course of world's affairs You are well skilled in all mysteries You are gifted with Those who know you to be such do not yet respect and praise you It is for this that you are , so pale and lean.
- 19 Staying in the midst of bad men engaged together in some business, you had discoursed to them, removing their doubts Still they did not admit your superior merits It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
- 20 Indeed, though destitute of riches and intelligence and Vedic learning you wish yet, with the help of your energy alone, to accomplish something great is for it is that you are so pale and lean
- It appears that although you are re-olved to practise severe austerities by retiring into the forest, yet your kinsmen are not favourably disposed towards this project of yours. It is for this that you are so pale and lean
- Some tich neighbour of yours endued with youth and handsome features covers your dear wife. It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
- The words spoken by you even when excellent, in the midst of rich men, i

- Persons having riches much greater ; are not regarded by them as wise of well's timed. It is for this that your so pale and lean
 - Some dear kinsman of yours shorn 24 of intelligence though repeatedly instructed in the scriptures, has become angry have not been able to pacify him It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - Indeed somebody having first set you to the accomplishment (of some object destrable to you, is now trying to deprive you of the fruit il ereof It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - Though possessed of excellent qualities and adored by all on that account, you are yet considered by your kinsmen as adored for their sake and not for your own It is for this that you are so pale and lean
 - Indeed, through shame you are un able to give out some purpose in your heart, moved also by the mevitable delay that will take place if its accomplishment It is for this that you are so pale and lean
 - Indeed, you wish with the help of your intelligence, to control various persons with various kinds of understandings and is climations ! It is for this that you are so bale and lean
 - Shorn of learning, without courage, and without thuch riches, you seek such fame as is won by knowledge and prowest and gifts Indeed, it is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - You have not been able to get something which you have long been seek ing for Or, what you try to do is sought to be undone by somebody else It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - Indeed, without being able to see any fault on your part, you! have been cursed by somebody. It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - Having no wealth and accomplishing ments you try in vain to remove the greet of your fr ends and the sorrows of sorrowing It is for this that you are so pale and men lea ı
 - Seeing virtuous persons living I ke 33 householders unrighteous persons live & according to the forest mode and I berated persons attacl ed to do nesticity and fixed abodes, you have become so pale and lean
 - 34 Indeed, your acts connected with Virture, Profit, and Pleasure, as also the well-timed words spoken by you, do not produce fruit It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
 - Though gifted with wisdom, jet desirous of living, you live with wealth bitained by you in gift from somebody of evil conduct. It is for this that you are so pale and lean.

- 36. Seeing sinful persons multiplying on every side and within languishing, you are filled with grief. It is for this that you are so pale and lean.
- 37. Urged by them 'you seek to please all your friends even when they are quarreling and opposing one another. It is for It is that you are so pale and lean.
- 38 Seeing persons gifted with Vedic barning engaged in improper deeds, and ferried persons unable to keep their senses under control you are filled with grief. It is for this that you are so pale and lean
- 39 Thus praised, the Rakshasa adored that learned Brahmana in return, and making him his Irsend and bestowing sufficient riches upon him in gift, sent him away.

CHAPIER CXXV.

(ANUSHAS INIKA PARVA) --

Yndhishthira said .-

- r. Lell me. O grandfather, how should a poor man, desirous of achieving his own behoof, act after having acquired the status of humanity and come into this region of acts that is so difficult to acquire.
- 2 lell me also what is the best of all gilts, and what should be given under what circumstances? Lell me, O son of Ganga, who are truly worthy of honor and adoration. You should describe these mysteries to us.

Vaishampayana continued :-

3 Thus accosted by that famous king, zrs, the son of Pandir, Blushma explained to that king these great mysteries about thry;

Bhishma said :-

- 4 Usien to me with rapt, attention O king, as I explain to you. O Bharata, there mysteries of dises as the holy Vyasa had explained them to me formerly.
- 5. This subject is a mystery to the very relestials, O king. Yarms of pure deeds with the let of voas well observed and Yoga meditation, had acquired the knowledge of these mysteries as the high fruits of his penances.
- 6-8 What pleases what deity, what become cleaned of all sins and no an cars fleases tile departed Manes, the Rishis, the couch them. Such men always increase in

- companions of Mahadleva, the goddlevs Sir., Chitzaguita, and the powerful Richians which role the cardinal points of the compass, what forms the religion of the Rishis,—the religion, vis., which has many misteries and which yields high fruits—the ments of what are called great grits, and the ments of all the sacrifices, he who knows these. O stolless one, and knowing acts according to his knowledge, becomes freed from stants if he has stains, and acquires the merits findicated.
- g One oiloran is eq is lot ten butchers, Equal to ten oilmen is one drinker of sleohol Equal to ten drinkers of sleohol is one harlot. Equal to ten harlots is a single king.

 10—11 A great king is said to be could
- 10—11 A great king is said to be equal to half of these all. Hence, one should not accept gifts from these, On the other hand, one should attend to the science, which is sacred and which has virtue for its marks of the threefold objects of life, Amongst three, Wealth and Pleasure are naturally attractive. Hence, one should, with rapt attention, listen to the sacred expositions of Religion for the fruits of listening to the mysteries of Religion are very great One should cettainly hear every sobject hearing on Religion as ordained by the celevalist lemselves.
- 12. In it is contained the ritual about the Shraddha in which have been declared the mysteries of the departed Mines. The mysteries about the detiles have also been explained there.
- 13 It contains the duties and practices, productive of great merit, of the Rishis also, together with the mysteries attaching to them It contains an exposition of the merits of great sactifices and all kinds, of wifts.
- 14. Those men who always read the scriptures about there subjects, those who bear them properly in their mind and he who, having latered to them, follows them in practice, the all considered to the as holy and subject as the powerful Narayana himselfs.
- 15. The ments of the gift of kine those that belong to the performance of ablations, in sacred waters, those that are actured, by the celebration of sacrifices—ill these are acquired by that man who treats guests with respect.

 16-17 They who listen to these scrip
 - tures they who are gifted a th faith, and they who have a pire heart it is well kniwn, congree many regions of felicity. Those pious men, who are gifted with faith, become cleaned of all sins and no in can cach them. Such men always agrees to the care of the control of the care of celestial region.

Once on a time, a celestial messenger, coming to the court of Indra of his own accord but remaining invisible, addressed the king of the deities in these words --- to At the command of Ashwim Kumars (the celestial physicians) and who are gifted with every desirable quality. I have come to this place where I see human beings the departed Manes and the celestials assembled together.

Why, fideed, is sexual intercourse interdicted for the man who performs a Shraddha and for him also who eats at a Shraddha? Why are three rice-balls offered separately at a Shraddha?

To whom should the first of those balls be offered? In whom should the second one be offered? And whose has st been said is the third or the remaining one? I wish to him all this!

After the celestial messenger had said these words connected with virtue and duty, the celestials who were seated towards the east and the departed Manes also, praising that ranger of the sky, began as follows.

The Pitris said .-

- Welcome are you, and blessings upon you! Do you listen, O best of all rangers of the sky! The question you have put is a high one and traught with deep import,
- 21. The departed Manes of that man who indulees in sexual intercourse on the day he performs a Shraddha or eats at a Shraddha have to lie for a whole month on his vital seed
- We shall explain the classification of the rice balls offered at a Shraddha The first rice ball should be thought of as being thrown into the waters.
- The second ball should be given to one of the wives to eat The third ball should be thrown into the burning fire.
- This is the ordinance about the Shraddha rites of religion. The Pitris of that man who acts according to this ordinance become pleased with him and remain always cheerful
- 28 The progeny of such a man increases and he always commands endless riches

The Celestial Messenger said :-

You have explained the division of the rice balls and their consignment one virtue and succeed in attaining to the pafter another to the three, together with the reasons thereof.

- Whom does that rice ball which is thrown into the waters, reach? How does it, by being so thrown, please the deities and how does it rescue the departed Manes?
- The second ball is eaten by the wife. That has been laid down in the ordinance. How do the Pitris of that man become the enters til ereof ?
- The last ball goes into the burning How does that ball succeed in finding its way to you, or who is he to whom it goes ?
- I wish to hear this,-that is what are the ends attained by the balls offered at Shraddhas when thus disposed of by being thrown into the waters given to the wife, and thrown into the burning fire.

The Pitris said :-

- The question which you have asked is of deep import. It involves a mistery pleased with you, O ranger of the sky
- The very celestrals and the Munis appland acts done in honor of the departed Manes Even they do not know what the certam conclusions are of the ordinances about the acts done in honor of the Pitris
- 36 Excepting the great, immortal, and excellent Markandeya, that learned Brahmana of great fame, who is ever devoted to the Pitris, none amongst them is conversant with the mysterles of the ordinances about the Pitris.
- Having heard from the holy Vyast what the end is of the three rice balls offered at the Shraddha, as explained by ti e Pitris themselves in reply to the question of the celestial messenger, I shall explain the same to you Do you hear, O king, what the conclusions are about the ordinances about the Shraddha.
- Listen with attention, O Bharata, to me as I explain what the end is of the three rice balls I hat rice ball which goes into water is considered as pleasing the desty of the Moon.
 - That delly being pleased O you of great intelligence grat fes in return the otler deities and the P tris also with theme It I as been laid do en that the second riceball should be eaten by the wife.
 - 40 The Pittis who always wish lot progeny bestow children on the woman of the hause Listen now to me as I tell you what becomes of the rue-ball, that is I non t sato the burning fre.

- 41 With that ball the Pitris are pleased, and as the result thereof, grant the fruitton of all desires to the person offering it. I have thus toll you everything about the end of the three rice-balls offered at the Shraddha and consigned to the three (vie., water, the spouse, and the fire).
- 42 That Brahmana who becomes the priest at a Shraddha forms himself by that deed, the Pitri of the person performing the Shraddha Hence, he should abstain that day from sexual intercourse with even his own wife
- 43 O best of all rangers of the sky, the man who eats at a Shraddha should remain pure for that day By acting otherwise, one surely commits the sin 1 have indicated It cannot be otherwise
- 41 Hence the Brahmana who is invited to a Shraddha for eating the offerings, should eat them after purifying hinted that day by abstaining from every kind of in jury or evil 1 he progeny of such a person multiplies and he also who feeds him gets the same teward.

Blushma said :-

- 45 After the Pitris had said so a Rishi of austere penances, na ned Vidyutpiablia, whose form was effulgent like the bun, spoke
- 46-47 Having heard those mysteries of religion as explained by the Pixis, le addressed Shakra, saying —Stupefied by folly, men kill numerous creatures born in the intermediate orders, such as worms aust, sinakes, sheep, deer and birds. They commit a great sin by these acts. What, however, is the remedy?
- 48 When this question was asked, all the jods and Rishis having penances for wealth and the highly blessed fifths praised that ascence

Shakra said -

49 Hinking in one's mind of Kuru ksl etra and Gaja and Ganga and Problasa and the lakes of Pushkara one should dip his head in a piece of water.

- 50 By so doing he becomes purged off of all its sins like tile Moon freed from Ral uffe should thus bathe for three days successively and then fast for every day.
- 51 Besides this, he should touch (after bathing) the back of a cow and bow his I ead to her tail. Vidutprabha, after it is, once more addressing Vasiva said,—I stall describe a rite that is more subtle. I sten to me, O'you of a hundred sacrifices.

- 52 Rubbed with the astringent powder of the hanging roots of the banian and amounted with the oil of Pringry, one should eat the Shashtika paddy mixed with milk. By so doing he becomes purged off of all his sins.
- 53 Listen now to another mystery unkniwin to many but which was discovered by the Rishis with the help of meditation. I heard it from Vethaspati while he recited it before Mahadeva.
- 54—55 O kmg of the celestials, do you hear it with Rudra in your company, O lord of Shachi II a person, ascending a mouratin, stands there on one loot, with arms upraised and joined together, and, abstaining from lood, looks at a burning fire—be acq ires the metits of severe penances and obtains the rewards of fast.
- 56 Heated by the rays of the Sun, he becomes purged off of all his sins. One who acts it us in both the summer and the winter seasons, becomes freed from every sin.
- 57 Purged off of every sin, one acquires a splend ut of complexion for all time Such a man burns with energy like the Sun or shines in beauty like the Moon.
- 58 After this, the king of the celestials vis, he of a hundred sacrifices, seated in the midst of the gods, then sweetly addressed Vrihaspath, with these excellent wirds —
- 59 O Hily One do you describe those mysteries of religin which are fraught with lappi iess to human beings and what the faults are which they commit, together with the mysteries of them.

Vrihaspati said —

- 63—6i They who pass urme facing the S in they who do not show respect for the wind they who do not pour libations on the bearing F et they who milk a cow whose call is very joung, actuated by the desire of chaning from 1 er as much in its at possible the control of the control of the what those faults are, O lord of Shachi The southers me
- 63-63 File Sun Wind the carrier of sacrificial oblations, O Vasava and kine who are the motters of all treatures, were created by the Self Create himself, for rescuing all the worlds, O Shakra. I hese are the detters of human beings Listen aff to the conclusions of religion.
- 64 I hose wicked men and wicked women who pass trine facing the Sun, five in great infamy for eighty-six years
- 65 That man O Shakra who cherishes no respect for the Win d, gets children il at come out prematurely from the womb of his wife. Those men who do not pour liba- i tions on the burning fire, find that the fire, when they do hight it up for such rites as they wish to perform, refuses to eat their libations.

Those men who drank the milk of kine whose calves are very young never get children for perpetuating their races

67. Such men see their children die and their families shrink These are the consequences of the acts referred to, as observed by twice-born persons, venerable for age in their respective families 1 25 1

68. Hence, one should always avoid that which has been interdicted, and doonly that which has been directed to be done, if one is desirous of securing his prospenty. This that I say to you is very

60-70. After the celestial preceptor had said this, the lightly blessed celestials, with the Maruts, and the highly blessed Rishis questioned the departed Mane , saying, Ye Pitris with what acts of numan beings, who are generally gifted with little · understandings, do you become pleased? What gifts, made in course of such rites as are performed for improving the position of deceased persons in the other world, become mexhaustible in efficacy ?

71. By doing what acts can then become freed from the debt they owe to their ancestors? We wish to hear this. Great is our curiosity,

The Pitris said .—

72. Ye highly blessed ones, the doubt existing in your milds has been properly explained. Listen as we describe the deeds of righteous men with which we become pleased.

73. Blue-hued Bulls should be liberated Gitts should be made to us, on the day of the new moon, of sesame seeds and water In the season of rains, lamps should be lighted. By these deeds of men, they can free themselves from the debt they owe to ti eir ancestors. Such gifts never become vain. On the other hand, they yield great and endless fruits. The gratification we derive from them is considered to be mexhaustible Those men, who gifted with faith, beget offspring, rescue their deceased at cestors from miserable Hell,

76-77. Hearing these words of the Pitris. Viddha Gargya, endued with penances and high energy, became filled with wonder we that the hair on his body stood erect. Ad dre sing them he said, - Ye having penances for wealth, tell us what the ments are of setting free Bulk having blue complexions. What merits, again, are of the gift of la nos in the season of rains and the gift of water with sesame seeds ? 1 -41 1

The Pitris said:

If a bull of blue complexion, upon being liberated, raises a (sin ll) quantity of water with its tail, the Pitris become pleased with that water for full sixty thousand years

The mud such a bull raises with its horns from the banks (of a river or lake), succeeds, firsnoth, in sending the Pitris to the region of Soma.

So. By giving lamps in the season if rains, one shines with effulgence like Sima The man who gives lamps is l imself wever subject to the quality of Darkness.

I hose, men who make gifts, on the day of the new moon, of sesame serds and water, in xed with honey and using a vessel of copper, O you liaving penances for wealth, are considered as duly performing a Shraddha with all its injeteries. these men get children of sound health and cheerful minds. the ment acquired by the giver of the Pinda takes the form of the growth of his family. Indeed, he who performs these acts with faith, becomes freed from the debt he owes to the ancestors. Thus have been laid down the pro-time for the performance of the Shraddia, the ordinances about the rites to be observed, the proper person that should be fed at the Shraddha, and the merits that belong to it. I have described everything to you in due order.

CHAPIER CXXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).→ Continued.

Bhishma said :--

The king of the celestials, vis . Indra. after the Pitris had ceased to speak, addressed the powerful Hars saying -() Lord, what are those deeds which please you? How, indeed, do men succeed in pleasing you?

"13hnu said — 1

that which I greatly hate, is the detraction of Brahmanas "Pirsooth if the Brahmanas are adored, I consider misell adored.

Pitris, the deities, and the sacred fires, all return disappointed on account of such treatment of the guest.

That in an who does not perform the duties of hispitality towards the guest arrived at his house comes to be cansifered as equilly sinful with those who are slayers of women or of kme, who are ungrateful towards benefactors, who are slayers of Brahmanas, or who are violators of the beds of their preceptors.

Agni said :--

28-30. Listen ye with rapt attention. I shall describe the dements of that man of wicked understanding who lifts up his feet for striking therewith a cow or a highly I lessed Brahmana or a burning fire. infamy of such man spreads throughout the world and reaches the boundary of Heaven itself. His Pitris become filled with fear. The demes also become highly dissatisfied wto him. Gifted with great energy, Fire retuses to accept the libations poured by

For a hundred lives he has to rot in 31. Hell. He is never rescued at any time.

One should, therefore, never 32-33 touch a cow with his feet, or a Brahmana of high energy, or a burning fire, if he is gifted with faith and seeks his own behoof. These are the dements declared by me of one who lifts up his feet towards these three.

Vishwamıttra said:-

34-36. Listen to a great mystery that is unknown to most of men and which is connected with religion. He, who offers to the departed Manes, rice boiled in milk and sugar, sitting with face directed to the south at noontide, in the shade caused by an elephant's body in the month of Bhadraunder the constellation Macha acquires great merits. Hear of those merits The man who makes such an offering to the Piters under such circumstances is considered as performing a great Shraddha each year for thirteen years successively.

The kine said :-37-39 I liat man becomes purged off of all his ama who worships a cow with these Mantras, -vis ,-O Vahula, O Samanga O you who are learless every where, O you who are for aving and full of auspiciousness, U friend, O source of all plenty, in the region of Brahman, formerly you were present with your call in the sacrifice of Indra the holder of the thunderbolt! You were stationed in the sky and in the path of Agni. The celestials with Narada among them worshipped you on that occasion by calling you Sarvamsaha!-Such a man attains to the region of Purandara. He acquires, besides, the merits that belong to kine, and the splendour of the Moon also

Such a man becomes freed from every sin, every fear, every grief At the end, he acquires residence in the happy regt n of the Thousand eyed Indra.

Bhishma said.—

41. After this, the highly blessed and illustrious seven Rishrs, headed by Vashishtha, rose and going round the Lotusborn Brahman, stood around him with hands joined in respect.

Vashishtha, that foremost of all persons conversant with Brahma became their spokesman and put this question which conduces to the beloof of all creatures but especially to the Brahmanas and Kshatriyas.

43 By doing what acts may virtuous men who have no worldly belongings, succeed in acquiring the merits of sacrifices? Hearing this question of theirs, the Grandfather Brahman began to say what follows.

Brahman said '-

Excellent is this question, ye highly blessed ones! It is at once auspicious and high and full of mystery This question that you have put is subtile and conduces to the well-being of mankind.

46 Ye Rishis having penances for wealth, I shall recite everything to you in full Do you listen with attention to what I say as to how men acquire the merits of sacrifices.

In the lighted fortnight of the 47 -48 month of Pousa when the constellation Rohms is in conjunction, if one, purifying lumself by a bath, lies, under the canopy of heaven clad in a single piece of clath, with faith and rapt attention and drinks the rays of the Moon, he wins the merits of great sacrifices

Ye foremost of twice born persons, this is a great mystery that I declare it to you to reply to your question, you who know the truths of all subjects.

CHAPIER CXXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

Vibhavasu (the Sun) said :--1-2. There are two offermas, One of these consists of a paimful of water and the wher called Akshata consists of recograms with clarified butter? One should, on the day of the full moon, stand facing that bright or band make to him the two offerings hentioned, see a palmful of water and the tree-grains with clarified butter called Akshata. Ine man who presents these wiferings is said to worst plus sacred fire wiferings is said to worst plus sacred fire bounded to so one who has poured buttons on the three (principal) fires.

3 That man of hitle understanding who tuis down a large tree on the day of the new moon, becomes suffied with the sin of Brahmanicide. By killing even a single leaf one commits that sm

4 That looksh man who chews a toothbrush on the day of the new moon is considered as injuring the god of the moon by such a deed. The departed Manes of such a person become annoyed with him.

5. The celestials do not accept the Jibations poired by such a man on days of the full moon and the new moon. His departed Manes become enraged with him, and his family become extinct,

Shree said :--

6-7. The celestists and departed Manes leave that smild house, in which eating and drinking vessels and seass and beds he scattered, and in which women are beaten, Without accepting the offerings made to them by the owners of such houses, the celestists and the departed Manes fly away from such a smidl house.

Angiras said:-

8 The offspring of that man multiplies who stands every night for a full year under a Karanijaka tree with a lamp for lighting it, and holds in his hands the roots of the Suvarchala plant.

łargya said --

9 One should always do the duties of ospitality to his guests. One should give amps in the half or shed where sacrifices are celebrated. One should avoid sleep liming the day, and abstain from all sorts it flesh or food.

10 One should never injure hine and Irahmania. One should always recue the sames of the Push hara lakes and the other sacred waters. Such a course of dury is the foremost. Even it is forms a high religion with its mysteries. If observed in practice, it is sure to pied great results.

It If a person celebrates even a hundred sacrifices, le 18 doctmed to see the extlaustion of the ments belonging to the libations poured il erein. The duties, however, which I have mentioned are such that when observed by persons having latth, their merit becomes endless

12-13 Listen niw to another great mystery unknown to many the c-lesshad do not ear the libaniums on occasions of obraddins and rate in their hour not occasions of this rites with are performed on ordinary libar days or on the expically sacred days of the full mison and the new moon, if they see a wintain in her menter or one who is the daughter of a mother suffering from learness.

14 The ancestors of the man who allows such a woman to come near the place where the Shraddha is being performe by him, do not become pleased with him for thirteen years.

15 Clad in white clothes, and becoming pure in body and mind, one should invite Brahmanas, and make them utter their benedictions. On such occasions one should also rectite the Bharata. It is by obserwing all these that the efferings made at Shraddhish become endless.

Dhaumya said :-

16 Broken utensils, broken bedsteads, cocks an i do,s as also such trees as have grown within dwelling houses, are all inauspicious objects.

17 to a broken utensil exists Kali himself, while in a firoken bedster distriss of money. When a cock or a dig is seen, the celestials do not eat the offerings made to them. Scorpions and snakes find shelter quader the roots of a tree. Hence, one should never plant a tree within his house.

Jamadagni sald:--

18-19 I hat man whose heart is not pure, is sure to go to Hell even if he worships the celestials in a Horse Sacrifice or in a hundred Vajapeya Sacrifice, or if he practives the sewerest austrities with head down most Purity of heart is considered as egual to Sacrifices and I ruth.

2). A very poor Brahmana, by giving only a portion of powdered barley with a pure heart to a Brahmana, acquired the region of Brahman himself. This is a sufficient proof

· CHAPIER CXXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).—

Vavu said :--

 I shall recite some duties the observance of which profities happiness to mankind. Dryou fisten also, with rapt attention, to certain flansgressions upon which they depend.

2-4, 1 hat man who fires for the four months of the ramy season sesame and water (to the Patris), and food, according to the best of his power, to a Brahmana thoroughly expert in duties, who duly points historian on the sacred fire, and makes offerings of rice houted in sugared milk who gives lamps in honor of the ancestors, with sesame and water, indeed he who dies all this with fault and rapt attention, acquires which amonds are offered up to the celestate.

the fire upon which he is to poor fibations or who does not see any fault when women who are incompetent to assist at Shraddhas and other fites are allowed to assist at them, commit a sin.

6. The three sacrificial fires become prayed with such a person. In his next thinks it all right when a Shidra lights up that is miknown to all

Listen to this other great mystery that man who

- bright with such a person. In his next life, he is born as a bludra, His departed Manes, together with the celestials, are never pleased with hun.
- 7. I shall now recite what the expiations are which one must perform for purifying himself from such surs. Listen to me with attention. By performing those expistory rites, one becomes happy and free from fever.
- 8 Fasting all the while, one should, for three days, with rapt attention p our libations, on the accred fire, of the trine of the Cow mixed with cowding and milk and clatified butter.
 - 9 The celestials accept the offerings of such a man in the exposition of a full year. His deposited Manes also, when the time comes for him for performing the Shraddha, become ple seed with him.
 - to I have thus recited what is righteous and what impelieure, with all their unknown details, about turnin being described attenting to Heaven. Men also about from these aims or allo having committed out, secreed in attaining to the effectivity over the secreed in attaining to the effectivity menument that the pelanet is a world.

CHAPTER CXXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--

Lomasha said:--

t. The departed Manes of those men who, without having wives of their own, know the wives of other people, are disappointed when the thine for the Shraddha tomes.

- He who knows the wives of other people, he who indulges in sexual union with a barren woman, and he who appropriates what belongs to a Brahmans, are equally sinful.
- 3 Forsooth, the departed Manes of such people cut them off without wishing to have any intercourse with them. The offerings they make fail to please the celestrals and the departed Manes.
- 4) Hence, one should always abstant from sexual umon with women who are the lawful wives of others, as also with womet who are barren. The man who seeks his own good, should not appropriate what belongs to a Brahmana.
- 5 Listen now to another mystery, unknown to all, about Religion. One should, having faith, always do the command of his preceptor and other elders.
- B. On the twelfth lunar day, as also on the day of the full moon, every month, one should make gits to Brahmanas of danfed butter and of Akshata. Listen to me as 1, say what the measure is of the ment that such a person wars.
- 7. By such a deed one is said to increase Soma and the Ocean. Vasava, the king of the celestrals, coulers upon him a fourth part of the ments of a Horse-Sacrifice.
- 8. By making such gifts, a person hecomes gifted with great energy and prowers. Well-pleased with him, the divine Suna grants him the fruition of his desires.
- 9 Listen now to another duty, together with the foundation on which it depends, which yields great merits. In this age of Kah, that duty, if performed, gives much happiness to men.
- 10-ti That man who, rising at duen and possible planting humality a bath, decard humality humanity and humality humanity humanity humanity and the decard and such account and attention makes gifts to Brahman's rewests full of sevents early, who may rewest full of sevents are all the sevents had been seen as the form of the sevents and the form of the sevents are the sevents and the sevents are the sevents are the sevents and the sevents are the sevents are the sevents are the sevents and the sevents are the sevents and the sevents are t

12-14 The divine chastiser of Paka In-s attributed these ments to the gift of vessels of copper and brass filled with besame seeds. He who makes gifts of kine his who makes gifts of land which yield extend ment, he who performs the Agnishthoma sacrifice with profuse presents in the form of Dakshina to the Braimmans are all considered by the celestials as acquiring ments equal to those which one acquires by making gifts of vessels filled with sesame seeds

14 Gits of water with sesame seeds are considered by the departed Manes as yielding sternal gratification to item. Ite grandfathers all become highly pleased with gits of lamps and Krishara.

15 I have thus recited the ameent ordinance faid down by the Rishis, that is highly spoken of, by both the departed Manes and the celestials in their respective Persons.

CHAPIER CXXX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhuhma said :--

I. The diverse Rishis there assembled together with the departed Manes and the delites, then, with rapt attention, asked Arundhats who was gifted with great ascette ment.

- 2 Having perances for wealth Arundhau was equal to her husband the high-souled Vashishtha in energy, for both in yows and conduct she was her husband s equal.
- 3 Addressing her, they said,—We wish to lear from you the mysteries of didy, and religion. You should O amusble lady, tell in what you consider as a great mystery.

Arundhafa anid. -

- 4—5 I he great progress I have been able to make in peniances to swing to your consideration for me in thus remembering my poor sell. Welky your gracous permission! abuilt now describe duties that are eternal and are great mysteries! I shall describe them with the gausses on which they depend them with the gausses on which they depend the most permission of the penial of the pe
- 6 These four, ors, he who is bereft of faith, he' who is full of pride, he who is guilty of Brahmanicide, and I e who violates the bed of his preceptor, should never he talked to Religion and duty should never be communicated to them.

- 7—8 The metris acquired by a person who gives away a Kapila cone werey day for twelve years, or by a person who worship's the detites every month in a sacrifice, or by him who gives away hundreds of thousands of kine in the great Puthkrae do not equal those that are his with whom a guest is pleased
- g Listen now to another duty whose obstservance yields happiness to mankind [t] should be observed with its secret situal by a person having faith. Its merits are certainly high. [1]

10—12 Listen to what they are? If a J person, rising at dawn and taking with him a quantity of water and a few blades of Kinsha grass goes to a cowpen and artivent there, washes a cow's horns by sprinking thereon that water with those blades of Kusha grass and then causes the water tat drap down out so som head he is convidend, and the same that the same table of the sa

13 After Arundhun had said these, words, all the denies and ancestors applieded her, saying — Excellent, — Indeed all the beings there where highly pleased and all of them adored Arundhahr,

Brahman said :--

t4 O highly blessed one, excellent is the duty that you have described together with its secret ritual. Plaise be to you! I grant you this boon tee, that your penances will continually increase.

Yama said .→

15 I have heard from you ah excellent, and agreeable subject. I isten thow to what Chitragupta has said and what is agreeable to me.

16 Those words touch on duty with its secret ritual and are worthy of being heard by the great itishis as also by men having faith and desirous of achieving their own good.

- 17 Nothing is last of either virtue or sin that is committed by Freatures 10n days of the full moon and the new too those acts are taken to the Sun where they rest.
- 18 Wen a mortal goes into the regions of the dead the Sun wi thesies all his deeds

He who is virtuous, acquires the fruits of his virtue there.

10-20 I shall now tell you of some aispicious duties that are approved of by Chitra gupta. Water for drill, and lamps for lagbting darkness should always be given, trous duties that are approved of by Chitra gupta. Water for drisk, and lamps for lighting darkness should always be given, as also sand its and unbrellas and Kapila kine with due rites in Pushkara especially one should make the gift of a Kapila cow to a Brahmana convesant with the Vedas

21 One should also always maintain his Aginhotra with great care. Here is another duty which was proclaimed by Chitragupta.

22 The best of creatures should listen to what the merits are of that duty separately. In course of time, every creature is desuned to undergo dissolution.

23 The little witted meet with great distress in the regions of the dead, for they become stricken with lunger and thirst Indeed, they have to rot there in pain There is no escape for them from such a dissatter.

24 They have to enter into a lick darkness I shall now tell you of those dunes by discharging which one may succeed in getting over such disasters.

25 The performance of those duties costs very fulle but yields, great ment Indeed, such performance yields great happiness in the other world. The meetis of the gift of water for drink, are excellent In the next world, in especial, those ments are very great.

26 A large river full of excellent water is preduced in the other world for them who make gifts of water for drink Indeed, the water contained in that river is endiess and cool and sweet as nectar.

27 He who makes gifts of water in this world drinks from that river in the next world when he goes there. Listen now to the profuse merits accruing from the gift of lamps.

38. The man who gives lamps in this world, has never to even see the thick darkness (of Hell). The bun and the Moon and the God of Fire always give 1 m their light when he goes to the other world.

29. The celestrals ordain that on every side of such a person there should be burning light. Indeed, when the giver of I play goes to the world of the dead, he himself shines in pure effulgence like a second Sun.

30 Hence, one should give I ghts while here and water for drank in especial I isten now to what the mesus are of the person who makes the gift of a Rapila conto a submana knowing the Vedas, especially if the gift be made in Pust kara.

3t Sich a map is considered as having made a gift of a hundred kine with a bull—a gift that yields eternal merit.

32 the gift of a single Hapila cow is capable cleansing whatever sins the giver may be girlly of, even if shose sins be as fraye as Brahmannide, for the gift of a single Kapila cow is considered as equal in ment to that of a lunified kine.

33 Hence, one should give away a Kapila cow at that Pushkara which is considered as the senior, on the day of the full moon in the month of Kartika Meu who succeed in making such a gift have never to meet with distress of any kind, or sorrow, or thorns giving pain

34 That man who gives away a pair of sandals to a superior Brahmana who is worthy of the gift, acquires similar ments By giving away an umbrella, a person gets comfortable shade in the next world

35 A gift made to a worthy person never goes for nothing It is sure to yeld agreeable results to the giver Hearing these opinions of Chitraguta, the Sun's hairs stood erect.

36 Gifted with great splendour he addressed all the celestials as d the depailed Manes, saying.—Ye have heard the mysteries about duty, as explained by the great Chitragupta

37 Those human beings who gifted with faith, make these gifts to great Brahmanss, become freed from fear of every sort.

38 These five kinds of men, sull ed with victous deeds, have no escape indeed, these wretcl ed men of sinful conduct, should never be talked to indeed, they should always be avoided

30 Those five are le who is the destroyer of a Brat mann he who is the destroyer of a cow, he who is addicted to actual union with other peoples, wives, he who is bereft of light fin, ite Vedas) and he wild maintains hinnedly by selling the virtue of his wife.

40 These men of sinful conduct, when they go to the region of the dead, not in hell like worms which live upon puts and blood.

4t These five are avoided by the departed Manes, the celestials, its Snataka Brahmanas, and other twice born persons who are given to the practice of pena cert

CHAPTER CXXXI. (from

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ---

Bhishma said -

- i-4 "Then all the lightly blessed celestials and the deputied Manes, and the lightly-blessed Rishis also addressing the Pramathas said.—Ye are all highly blessed heigh. Ye are invincible night rangers Why do you afflict those men who are vile and impure and that are unclean?
- 3 What acts are considered as obstacles to your power? What, indeed are those sets on account of list of ye cannot affect men? What are those acts that are destructive of Rakshasas and which prevent you from influencing the dwellings of men?
- 4 Ye night rangers, we wish to hear all this from you

The Pramathas said :-

- 5-6 Men are rendered underan by acts of sxul in intercourse. They who do not puttly themselves after such deeds they with must it der elders they who from sti pefaction at different sorts of meat, the man also who sleeps at the foot of a tree, he who keeps any animal matter under his prilow while tying down for steep, and he rendered the steep and th
- 7—8 Those also are classed amongst those who throw their placem and other uncle an secreti in into the water. Forsouth, these time deserve to be killed aide atten up by us I iddeed we afflict those binarin heigh; who are endued with such conduct. Listen most to what it lose acts are which are considered as anited tes and on account of which we fail to do any injury on men
- 9—11 Those men on whose body are mwwh or Gorcolans or with rolled Senker in their hands, or who make gifts of clarified butter with Akshata or who place clarified butter and Akshata or their heads or those who abstain from meal, are incapable of being afflicted by us. That man in whose house the sacred fire hours day and whose house the sacred fire hours day and without being even the sacred fire will in his house or a fall tortorse, or from whose house the sacrificial smoke is seen to cirl upwards or who keeps a cator a goat that is nither tawny or black in colour, is free from our power,
- 12 Those householders who keep it ese things in their houses always find them free from the attacks of even the most dreadful spirits that live on carriori

13 Those beings also, that like the range through different worlds seeking pleasure, are unable to do any karm to such flouses. Therefore, should men keep such articles in their houses as are destructive of Rakshasas. We have thus told you everything in solution of your great doubt.

CHAPIER CXXXII.

(ÁNUSHASÁNIKÁ PÁRVA) —

Bhishma said :-

- 1-2 After this, the Grandfatther Brailman sprung from the primeral folius and resembling the lotts (in a greeableness and fragrance), addressed the celestials headed by Vasava, the husband of Sach,—Vonder sist the powerful Naga who lives in the nether regions. Grifed with great strength and energy, and with great prowers, also, I is name is Renuka the is certainly a great being
- 3-5 Those powerful elephants of great energy and power, who hold the entire Eath with her hills witters, and fates, should be seen by this Rendek at yo trong set the energies of otherwise and the energy of the elephant) Rendek to where those upholders of the world are
- 6 Going where those elephants are, Renuka addressed, them, saying—Ver powerful creatures I have been commanded by the celestials and the departed Manes to questionly on about the my steries of religion and duty! I des re to hear you does urse on that subject in detail, Ver highly blessed more duty of decause on the subject as your wisdom may do ctate.
- 7 Standing in the eight qualities the elephants said —On the sacred eighth day of the dark formight in the month of Kartika when the constellation Ashlesha is in the ascendant, one should make gifts of treade and rice.
 - 8-tr. Renauncing anger, and living on regulated diet, one should make these offering as a Straddha, uttering these Mantras—Let Valadeva and other Nagas enduded with great strength let other powerful smakes of huge bodies that sire index ructible and tetrank, and let all the other.

preat snakes that have taken their birth in their family, make Vali offerings to me for the increase of my strength, and energy. Indeed let my strength be as great as that of the blessed Naravana when he raised the submerged Earth Uttering Mantray, one should make Vali offerings ubon an anthill After sunset, offerings of raw sugar and rice should be made on anthill selected The anthill should previously be strewn with Gaiendra flowers Offerings should also be made of blue clothes and fragrant unguents.

- 13. If offerings are made thus, those beings that live in the nether regions, carrying the weight of the upper regions upon their heads or shoulders, become wellpleased and gratified. As for ourselves, we also do not feel the exertion of upholding the Earth, on account of such offerings being made to us
- Afflicted with the burthen we bear. this is what we think (beneficial for men). without the slightest selfish end By observing this rule for a full year, fasting on each occasion, Brahmanas Kshatriyas, and Vatshays and Shudras, acquire great merits from such gifts
 - 15. We think that the making of such Vali offerings on the antivil is really fraught with very superior merits 16. By making such offerings, one is
 - considered as doing the duties of hospitality for a hundred years to all the powerful elephants which exist in the three worlds.
 - 17. Hearing these words of the powerful elephants, the celestials and the departed [] Manes, and the highly blessed Rishis, all spoke highly of Renuka (ANUSHASANIKA PARVAI— Continued.

CHAPTER CXXXIII

Maheshwara said -

- You have recited excellent duties from your memory Listen all of you now to me as I declare some mysteries about religion and duty.
- 2. Only those persons whose understand-I gs have been fixed on religion and who are endued with fath, should be instructed about those mysteries of duty and religion that are fraught with logh merits
- Hear what the ments are that become

- food every !day, for a month, to kine, and contents himself with one meal a day throughout such period i
- The kine are highly blessed They are considered as the most sacred of all sacred things. Indeed it is they who are upholding the three words with the celestials, Asuras, and human beings
- Respectful services done to them, yield great ment and grave results man who every day gives food to kine daily, acquires accumulated religious merits
- Formerly, in the golden age, I had expressed my approval of these creatures. Afterwards Brahman, sprung from the primeval lotus requested the (to show kindness towards kine
- It is therefore that emblem of bull stands on my standard overhead I always sport with kine Hence, should kine be adored by all
- Kine are endued with great power they are givers of boons If ad red, if ey I hat person who would grant bons gives food to kine even for a single day, receives from those beneficent creatures, for that deed a fourth part of the merits he may acquire by all his good acts in life

CHAPTER CXXXIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Continued

Skanda said -

I shall now describe a duty that is approved of by me Do ye listen to it with rapt attention. That person who takes a little earth from the horns of a bull of blie color, smears his body therewith for three days and then performs his ablutions, wins great ments. Hear what those ments are By such a deed he would wash away every stain and evil, and acquire sovereign sway hereafter

- Every time he is born in this world 3 Every time he is born in the Hear of another mystery unknown to all
- laking a vessel of copper and placing the ein some cooked food after having mixed it with honey, one should offer it as offering to the rising Moon on the evening of the day when that lummary is at full
- 5-6 Doge learn, with faith, what the merits are of the person who acts thus the Saddhyas, the Rudras, the Adityas, the his, who, with heart shorn of anxiety, gives Vishwedeves, the ! ... Ashwins, the Marula and the Vasus, all accept that offering. By such an offering, Soma increases as also ocean that great receptacle of waters. I his duty that is declared by me and that is unknown to all, if performed, certainly yields Rreat hapomess.

Vishnu said :-

- 7-8 fint person who, gifted with faith and freed from malice, fixens every day with rapt attention to the mysteries about religin and dut; that are preserved by the great detites and those mysteries also of the same kind that are preserved by the same kind that are preserved by the Such a person becomes also fixed from Such a person becomes also fixed from Severy fear.
- 9. that man who, with his senses under thorough restraint, reads these secti insides cribing these auspicious and mentorious duties, it getter with their inviscories, duties that have been described by the pievious speakers),—acq iries all the menus of their actual performance.
- (to. Sin can never ford over him. Infleed, such a man can never be stained with faults of any sort. Indeed, one acquires profuse ments by reading these mysteries, or by recting their to others, or by hearing them rectied.
- 11. The celestials and the departed Manes eat for ever the Hava and the Kari effected by such a creature. But these, on means to the virtues of the ifferer, become neighboustible. Even such is the me it of the person who, with rapt attention, recites liese mysteries to foremost of Brain must lies mysteries to foremost of Brain must monor, of the full monor or the new monor.
- 12 Such a person, on account of such a deed, hecomes steady in the performance of all dutes. He also enjoys personal beauty and prosperity. He succeeds besides this, in becoming the law untile for all time, of the Rishis and the celestials and the departed Manes.
- 13 If a person becomes guilty of all sms except those which are classed as grave or benous, he becomes purged (fiel them all by only listening to it e recitation of these mysteries about religion and duty.)

Bhishma said :--

14-15 Even these, O king, are the mysteries shoul religin and duty living in the breasts of the denies. Held in high exteem by all the celestishs and promite-fated by Vyass, they have now been declared by me for your behood. One who is convergant with religion and duty thinks that this excellent knowledge is even that this excellent knowledge is even superior to the entire Earth full of riches and wealth,

16 I his knowledge should not be given to one who has no faith, or to one who is an athrist, or to one who has fallen away from the duties of his caste, or to one, who is shoun of mrcy or to one who is given to the scene of empty disputations, or to one who the complete of the scene of the property of the one whis thought it is possible to its property of the one whis though all creatures to be different from oneself.

CHAPLER CXXXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).—

Yudhishthira said:--

t. Who are those persons, O Bharata from whom a Brat mana in this world may take his food? From whom may a Ksiiatriya, a Vaishya, and a Shudra take their lood respectively?

Bhishma said :-

- 2 A Brahmana may take his food from another Brahmana, or from a Kshatriya, or from a Vaishya, but he must never take food from a Number
- 3 A Kshatriya may take his food from a Brahmana, a Kshatriya or a Vaniya, He mist, hawever, not take food given by Shudras who are given to evil ways and who partake of all sorts of food without any fiestiation.
- 4 Brahmanas and Kshatriyas can partake of loud given by such Vaishyas as serve the sacred fire every day, as are faultless in character, and as perform the vow of Chaturinasy.
- g But the man who accepts food from a Shudra, swallows the very abumination of the Earth, and drinks the excretions of the human body, and partakes of the filth of all the world
- 6 * He partakes of the very fith of the Earth who takes his food thus from a Shudra. Indeed, those Brahmanas who accept the food from Shudras, take the dirt of the Earth.
- 7. If one engages in the service of a Shudra, he is doomed to perdition, though he may duly perform all the rites of his caste. A Brahmana, a Kshatriya, or a Vanshya, so engaging, is doomed, although given to the proper performance of religious rites.

- 8 It is said that a Brahmana's duty consists in studying the Vedas and seeking the belie of of humanity, that a Kshatriya's duty consists in protecting men and that a Varsha's in promoting their material prosperity. , ,
- A Vaisliya lives by distributing the fruits of his own deeds and agriculture The breeding of kine and trade are the legrimate duties in which a Vaishya may engage without feat of censure
- The man who gives up his own pro' per occupation and do s that of a Shudra, should be regarded as a Shudra, and, on no account, should any food be accepted from hun

Professors of medicine mercenary soldiers the priest who acts as warder of the louse, and persons who devote a whole year to study without any profit, are all to be regarded as Shudras

- And those who foolishly par-12-13 take of food offered at ceremonials in a Shudra's house, suffer from, a dreadful disaster. 'On account of partaking' such forbidden food, they loose fleir family, strength, and energy, and acquire the status of lower animals degenerating to the position of dogs, fallen in virtue and devoid of all religious observances.
- 14. He who takes food from a physician, takes but an excrement, the food of a harlot is like urine, that of a skilled mechanic is like blood.
- 15 It a good Brahmana takes the food of one who lives by his learning, he is con sidered as taking the food of a Shudra. All good men should avoid such food.
- to The food of a person who is censured by all, is said to be like a drink from a p of of blood the acceptance of food from a wicked person is as hemous as the killing of a Brahmana.
- 17. One should not accept food if he is slighted and not received with due honors by the giver. A Brahmana, who does so, is soon possessed by disease, and his family soon becomes extinct.
- of a city, one degenerates to the status, of the lowest outcaste. . 1 ec 1 1
- 19. If a Brahmana accepts i food from one who is guilty of slaying either a cow or a-Brahmana, or from one who has com-inited a fullery with his perceptor's wife, or from a drunkard, he helps to promote the family of Rakshasas.
- ' 20, 'By taking food from a cunuch, or from all ungrateful person, or from one - who lias misappropriated money entrusted to his care, one is born in the country of the Savaras situated beyond the limit of the middle country

- · 21, I have thus duly described to you He persons from whom food may be accepted and from whom it may not Now tell me, O son of Kunti, what else do you wish to hear from me to-day.

CHAPTER CXXXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA)-Continued.

Yudhishthira said:—

- 1. You have told me fully of those from whom lood may be taken and of those from whom it should not be taken?
- But I have grave doubts on one point, Do you O sire, enlighten me, do you tell me what expiration a Brahmana should make upon accepting the different kinds of food, those especially offered in honor of the celestrals and the oblations made to the departed Manes

- Bhìshma said 🗕 3. I shall tell you, O' prince, how great Brahmanas may be freed from all sins incurred by accepting food from others.
- In accepting clarified butter, the explation is made by pouring oblations on the fire, reciting the Savitri hymn In accepting sesamum, O Yudhishthira, the same expiation has to be made.
- 5 In accepting meat, or hones, or salt, a B ahmana becomes purged off of all sms by standing till the rising of the Sun.
- 6-7 If a Brahmana accepts gold from any one, he becomes cleaned of all sins b) silently reciting the great Gaystri, and by holding a piece of iron in his hand, before the public. In accepting money of clothes or women or gold, the parification is the same as before,
- In accepting food, or rice boiled in mile and sugar, or sugarcane juce, or sugargane, or oil, or any sacred thing, one becomes purified by bathing thrice during the day, ers , at morn, noon and eve.
- If one accepts paddy, flowers, fruits water, half ripe barley, milk, or curdled mile, or anything made of meal or flour, the expiation is done by reciting the Gayatri Prayer a hundred times.

- to in accepting shoes or clothes at obsequial ceremonies, the ain is dissipated by recting devoutly the same frymn a hundred times.
- it. The acceptance of the gift of land during an eclipse or during the period of impurity, is expirated by observing a last during three successive nights
- 12 The Brahmana who partakes of oblations offered to departed Manes in course of the dark fortnight, is purified by fasting for a whole day and night
- 13. Without performing his abbutions a Brahmana should not recite his evening prayers, not engage in telligious medication, not take his food a second time. By so doing he is purified
- 14. Therefore the Shraddha of departed Manes has been ordained to be performed in the afternoon and then the Brahmana who has been invited beforehand should be treated with food
- 35. The Brahmana who takes food at the house of a dead person on the third day after the death, is partified by bathing three times daily for tackle days
- 76 After the expiration of twelve days, and performing the purification ceremonies duly, the sin is dissipated by giving clarified futter to Brahmanas
- 17. If a man takes any food in the house of a dead person within ten days after the death, he should perform all the expirations before mentioned, and should resite the Savitti lymn and perform the sin destroy ling [s] it and Kushmanda penances.
- 18—19 The Brahmana who takes I is food in the house of a dead pers in for three nights becomes purified by performing his ablations thrice daily for seven days and thus gains all the objects of his desire, and is never troubled by mustortunes.
- 20 The Brahmana who takes its food in the company of Shudras/ is purged from all impurities by duly perform in the ceremonies of purification
- 21 The Brahmana who takes his food in the company of Vaishyas, is purged off of all sing, by living on alms for three successive nights.
- 22 If a Brahmana takes his food with Kihatisyas, he should perform expiation by bathing with his clothes on
- 43 By eating with a Shudra on the same plate the Shudra loses I is family prestige; the Vaishya by eating on the same plate with a Vaistya, loses his cattle and trends. The Ksharria loses his prospetify, and the Brahmana, his effulgence and power.

- 24 In such cases expitations, should be performed, and propitations rites though the observed, and oblatious offered to the celestatis. The Savitri hymn, should be recited and the Revait sites and Ku himso its pensones should be performed for destroying the sin.
- 25 If any of the above four castes paretake of food partly eaten by a person of any other caste, the explain is forsooth, made by smearing the body with sacred articles like Rochans, Durba grass, and tumeric.

CHAPTER CXXXVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthira said :-

the two is better, viz, charity or devotion? By this expell a great doubt from eff my mind

Bhishma said '-

- 2 Listen to me as I recite the names of the princes who having been devoted to writtee, and having by field their hearts by penances and practised gifts and other wets of virtue, undoubtedly acquire the different celestral regions
- 3 The Ris'i Atreya respected of all, attained O king, to the excitent celestial reasons by importing the knowledge of the immiless Supreme Being to his pupils.
- 4. By offering the life of his dear son, for the beloof of a Brahmana King Shivi the son of Ushmara wastaken from this world to the celestral region
- 5 Pratardan's the king of Rashi secured to timbelf un que and eternal fame in this as well as in the other world by giving his son to a Brahmana
 6 Ranideva the son of Sangkith at
- 6 Rantideva the son of Sangkriti atta led to the highest heaven by duly making gits to the great Vast shifts
- y Devayiddha too went to the celestial region by giving a hundred-sibbed and excellent golden umbrella to a Brat manafor a sacrifice
- 8 The worshipful Amvarisha, 200, has acquired the celestial tegion by making a git of all his kingdom to a highly powerful Brai mana.
- 96 King Janamejaya of the solar cace, went to the highest heaven by making a gift of earnings, fine vehicles, and cows 40 Brahmanas.

- 10. The Royal Sage Vrishadarvi went to the celestial region by miking gifts of various jewels and beautiful houses to Brahmanas.
- tt. King Nimi of Vidatva, acquired the celestial region with his sons, friends and cattle, by giving his daughter and kingdom to the great Agastya.
- '12. The illustrious Rama, the son of Janiadagni, acquired the eternal regions far beyond his expectation by giving lands to Brahmanas.
- 13 Vashishiha, the greatest of Brahmanas, saved all the creatures at a time of great dought when the Rain God did not bestow his grateful showers upon the Earth, and for this deed he has secured eternal bliss for himself.
- 14 The highly-illustrious Rama the son Dasharatha, acquired the eternal regions by making gifts of riches at sacrifices.
- > 15. The illustrious Royal Sage Kakshasena went to the celestial region by duly making over to the great Vahsishitha the wealth which he had deposited with him.
- 16 Firthwith Marutta the son of Abi kshita and the grandson of Karandhama, by giving his daughter in marriage to Angiras, went to the celestial region.
- 17. The highly devout king of Panchala, Brahmadatta, attained the blessed way by giving away a valuable conclushed.
- 18 v King Mitrasalia ascended to Heaven by giving his favourite wife Madajanti to the great Vashishtha.
- 19 Sudyumna, the son of Manu, attained to the most blessed regions by duly punishing the lingh-souled Likhita.
- 20. The celebrated Royal Sage Sahastrachitta went to the blessed regions by sacrificing his dear life for a Brahmana.
- 21. The king Satadyumna went to heaven by giving to Maudgala a golden palace filled with all the objects of desire
- 22 Formerly, King Sumanya by giving to Shandilya heaps of food resembling a hill, went to the celestial region.
- 1 23.1 The | Shalwa | prince Dyutimat of great | effulgence | attained to the highest regions by giving his kingdom to Richika
- 24 The Royal Sage Madicashwa went to the region of the celestials by giving his slender-waisted daughter to Hiranyahasta.
- 25.3. The lordly Lomanada attamed all the objects of his i desire by giving his daughter Shanta in marriage to Rishya-ahringa.

- 26. The Royal Sage Bhagiratha went to the eternal regions by giving his famous daughter Hausi in marriage to Kautsa.
- 27 King Bhagiratha acquired the most blessed regions by giving bundreds and thousands of kine with their young one to Kul ala.
- 28 These and many other men, O Yudhishthira, have attained to the celesual region, by the ment of their charities and penances and they have also returned from there again and again.
- 29 Their fame will last as long as the world will last. I have related to you, O Yudhishthira, this story of those good householders who have attained to eternal regions by write of their charities and penances
- 30 These people have acquired the celestial region by their charities and by performing sacrifices and by procreating children.
- 31. O foremost scion of Kuru's race, these men devoted their virtuous intellects to the celebration of sacrifices and charities by always performing acts of charity.
- 32 O powerful prince, as night has set in I shall explain to you in the morning whatever doubts may spring up in your mind.

CHAPIER CXXXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA)

Yudhishthira said :-

I. I have heard from you, O sire, the names of those kings who have ascended to the celestial region O you whose power is great in the observance of the yow of truth, by following the religion of gift.

- 2 How many kinds of grit are there? What are the fruits of the several kinds of grits respectively.
- 3 For what reasons what kinds of gifts made to what persons yield merits? Indeed, to what persons should what gifts be made? For what reasons are how many kinds of gifts to be made? I wish to hear all this in full.

Bhishma said:-

4. Listen, O son of Kunti, in full to me, O sunless one, as I describe it esubject of grits. Indeed, I shall tell you, O Bi arata, how grits should be made to all the orders of men.

- 5 Gifts are made from desire of merit. from desire of profit, from fear, from free choice, and from pity, O Bharata ! Gifts, therefore should be known to be of five sorts. Listen now to the reasons for which gifts are thus divided into five classes.
- With mind shorn of malice, one should make gifts to Brahmanas, for by making gifts to them one wins fame in this world and great happiness in the next
- 7. He is in the habit of making gifts. or he will make gifts, or he has already made gifts to me Hearing such words from solicitors, one gives away all kinds of riches to a particular solicitor.
- 8. I am not his, nor is he mine If disregarded, he may infure me From such motives of fear even a learned and wise man may make gifts to an ignorant wretch.
- This one is dear to me I also am dear to him Actuated by considerations like these an intriligent person, freely and with alacity, makes Lifts to a friend.
- He is, again, satisfied with a little. From considerations such as these, one should always make gifts to the poor, moved by pity.

The person who solicits me is poor,

11. These are the five sorts of gift. They increase the giver's merits and fame Lord of all creatures has said that one should always make gifts according to his power.

CHAPIER CXXXIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued

Yudhishthira said:-

36

- 1. O grandfather, you are endued with great wisdom Indeed, you are fully conversant with every branch of learning. our great family you are the only individual who lylve mastered sciences
- 2 I high to hear from you discourses of Religion and Profit, which bring on happiness in the next world and that are leaught with wonder to perestures.
- The time hat has come is full of distress. The life of it does not Lenerally come to kinsmen and friends. Indeed, except you, O foremost of men, we have now none else who can take the place of an instructor.
- If, O sinless one, I with my brothers deserve lour layour, you should answer the questions I wish to ask you.

5. This one is Naravana who is pifted with every prosperity and is honored by all the kings Even he waits upon you, showing you every indulgence and honoring you greatly.

You should describe it to me, through affection, for my benefit as also for that of my brothers, in the presence of Vasudeva himself and of all these kings.

Vaishampayana said :—

7. Hearing these words of king Yudhishthira, Bhishma, the son of the river Ganges, filled with joy on account of his affection for the monarch and his brothers.

said what follows. Bhishma said :-

I shall certainly recite to you discourses that are charming on the subject, O king, of the power of this Vishnu as display. ed in days of yore and as I have heard (from my preceptors).

d Listen to me also as I describe the power of that great god who has a bull for his emblem Listen to me as I describe also the doubt that filled the mind of the wife of Rudra and that of Rudra himself.

Once on a time the virtuous Krishna

- observed a vow extending for two and ten years For seeing him who had performed the rite of initiation for the observance of his great vow, there came to that place Narada and Parvata, and Krishna-Dwaipayana and Dhaumya, that foremost of silent reciters. Devala, Kashvana, and Hastikashyapa, 12 Other Rishis also, gifted with initia-
- tion and self-restraint, followed by their disciples and accompanied by many Siddhas and many ascetics of great merit, came there.
- The san of Devaks offered them such laudable honors of hospitality as are offered to the gods alone.
- Those great Rishes sat themselves down upon seats some of which were green and some were gold-hued and some were made of the plumes of the peacock and some were perfectly new and fresh.
- 15 Thus seated, they began to converse sweetly with one another on subjects of Religion and Duty as also with many royal sages and celestials.
- At that time the energy, in the form of fire, of Narayana rising from the fuel that consisted of the rigid observance of his vaw, came out of the mouth of Krishna of wonderful deeds.
- 17 That fire began to consume those mountains with their trees and creepers and little plants, as also with their birds and deer and beasts of prey and reptiles

18. Soon the summit of that mountain

- presented a distressing and pitiful sight inhabited by animals of various kinds which began to utter crees of woe and pain, the summit soon became bereft of every living creature.

 19 That fire of powerful flames having consumed everything without living a re-
- 19 That fire of powerful flames having consumed everything without living a residue, at last returned to Visl nu and touched his feet like a docile disciple
- 20 That crusher of enemies 218 Kitshna seeing that mountain burnt cast a benignant look upon it and thereby brought it back to its former condition
- 21 That mountain thereupon once more became bedecked with flowering trees and creepers, and once more echoed with the notes and cries of birds and deer and animals of prey and reptiles
- 22 Seeing that wonderful and inconceivable spectacle, all the ascetics became filled with wonder. Their hair stood erect and their vision was disturbed with tears
- 23. Seeing those Rishis thus stricken with wonder, that foremost of speakers Naraxana addressed them in these sweet and refreshing words —

 24. Why, indeed, has wonder filled the
- hearts of this collection of Rishis, these ascentes who are always free from attachment of every kind, who are divested of the idea of mine ness, and who are fully conversant with every sacred science.
- 25 These Risl is having penances for wealth and freed from every stain, should explain to me truly this doubt which has originated in my mind.

The Rishis said :-

- 26 You are the creator of all the worlds, and the destroyer of them again. You are Winter, you are Summer, and you are the Season of Rains.
- 27 Of all the creatures, mobile and immibile that exist on Earth you are the flather, you are the mother, you are the moster, and you are the origin.
- 28 Even this O destroyer of Madhu is a matter of wonder and doubt with us O source of all auspiciousness you should explain to its that doubt, vis., the issue of fire from your mouth.
- 29 Our fears being removed, we shall then, O Hart, recite to you what we have beard and seen,

Vasndeva said -

31 The fire that came out from my

- mouth and that resembles the all destroying Yuga-Fire in splendour, and by which this mountain has been crushed and scorched is nothing else than the power of Vishni.
- 31 Ye Rishis ye are persons who have governed anger, who have brought your senses under complete control who are gifted with wealth of penances, and who are very gods in power. Yet you have allowed yourselves to be aguated and distressed
- 32 I am now engaged wholly with the observances about a rigid you laded on accoult of my observing the rows of an ascetic a fire came out from my mouth. You should not allow yourselves to be agitated therefor
- 33 It is for observing a rivid vow that I came to this clarming and sacrel mountain. The object that has brought me tere is to acquire, by the help of penances, a son that would be my equal in power.
- 34 On account of my penances the Soul existing in my body became changed into fire and came out of my mouth that fire had gone to see the boon giving Grands father all the universe.
- 35. The Grandfather, ye foremost of ascetics, told my soul that that the energy of the great god having the bull for 1's emblem would take birth as my son
- 36 That fire returning from its mission, has come back to me and approached my feet like a disciple desirous of attending to me dutifully Indeed, renouncing its fury it has come back to its own proper nature.
 - 37 I have thus told you in brief, a mystery belonging to Him who has the lotus for his origin and who is glited with great mitelligence. Ye Rishis having penances for wealth, you should not yield to fear
- 38 You are gifted with far reaching vision. You can proceed to every place without any obstacle. Radiant with your observed by ascetics, you are adorted with knowledge and science.
 - 39 I now ask you to tell me something that is highly wonderful which you have heard of or seen on Earth or in the celestial region
 - 40 I am anxious to taste the honey of words which will drop from your lips and which, I am sure, will be as sweet as a jet of nectar itself.

41. If I see anything on Parth or in the celestial region, which is highly delightful and wonderful but which is unknown to all of you, O god-like Rishis, that is on account of my own supreme Nature which is incapable of being obstructed by anything Anything wonderful which I know by nature or by my own inspiration, ceases to appear wonderful to me.

- 43 Anything, however, that is recited by pious persons and that is heard from those who are good, deserves to be accept ed with respect and faith. Such discourses exist on Buth for a long time and will last like characters enerawed on rocks.
- 44 Is wish, therefore, to hear at this meeting of ourselves, something dropping from the lips of persons who are good and who cannot fail to be productive of good to men.
- 45 Hearing these words of Krisina, all those ascetics became filled with wonder. They began to look at Janarddana with those eyes of theirs that were as beautiful and large as the petals of the fotus
- 46 Some of them began to glorify him and some began to adore him with respect, Indeed, all of them then sang the praises of the destrojer of Madhu with words whose meanings were adorned with the eternal Richs
- 47 All those ascetics then appointed Narada, that foremost of all persons conversant with words, to satisfy the request of Vasudeva.

The Ascetics said :-

48-49 You should, O Narada, decribe in full, from the beginning, to Hristinkesha, that wonderful and inconceivable incident which took place, O powerful one, on the mountains of Himavat and which, O ascetic, was seen by those of ur which lad gone there was seen by those of ur who had gone there had been as the seen of the seen of the Indeed, for the behoof of all the Risha here collected, you should rectle at a modeler

So Thus addressed by those ascetics, the celestial Rishi, viz, the divine Narada, then recited the following story whose racidents had taken place sometime before

CHAPTER CXL

(ANUS HASANIKA PARVA. --) Continued.

Bhishma said :--

I Then Narada, that holy Rishi, that friend of Narayana, recited the following discourse that took place between Shankara and his wife Unit.

Narada said :--

- 2 Once on a time the pious ford of all the celestials, viz. Mahadeva having bull for his emblem, practised severe penances on the sacred mountains of Himawat the frest of Siddhas and Charanas.
- 3 That charming mountain is overgrown with various kinds of herbs and ad ried with various flowers. At that time they were inhabited by the different tribes of Apsiras and crowds of whosts.
- 4 There the great god sat, filled with oy, and encircled by hundreds of ghostly beings who presented various aspects to the eye of the beholder. Some of them were ugly and askward, some were very beautiful, and some presented the most wonderful appearances
- 5 Some had faces like the lion's, some like the tiger's, and some like the elephant's. In fact, the faces of those goblins presented every variety of animal faces —Some had faces resembling that of the packat, some those of the pard's, some like the bull's.
- 6 Some of them had faces like the owls, some like the hawk's, some had faces like those of the deer.

7 The great god was also encircled by Kinnaras and Yakshas and Gandharvas and Rakshasas and various other created beings. The retreat of Mahadeva also abounded with celestial flowers and shone with celestial rays of hight.

- 8. It was perfumed with celestial sandal, and celestial incense was burnt on all sides. And it echoed with the sounds of celestial instruments.
- g Indeed, it resounded with the beat of Mridangas and Panavas, the blare of conciss, and the sound of drums. It was full of gobins of diverse tribes that danced in joy and with peacocks also that danced with plumes outspread.
- or A was the cesart of the celegaria. Rishis, the Apsaras danced there in 199. The place was exceedingly beautiful to look at it was exceedingly beautiful, resembling Heaven itself. Its view was wonderful and, indeed, its beauty and sweetness was beyond description.
- 11 With the penances of that great god who sleeps on mountain bragists that king of mountain bragists with the penantains shone with great beauty. It resounded with the client of Vedu attent of Vedu rectator of Vedu rectator i Petang with the hum of bees, O Madhava the mountain became perfess in beauty

- t2. Seeing the great god, who has a fierce form and who looks like a great festival, the ascetics became filled, O Janarddana, with great pay.
- 13—14. All the highly blessed ascetics the Suddhas who have drawn in their with seed, the Maruts, the Vasus, the Saddhyas, the Vishwedevas, Vasava limself, the Yakshas, the Nigas, the Pishaclast, the Regents of the world, the several sacred fires, the Winds, and all the great creatures lived on that mountain with minds concentrated in Yoga.
- 15 All the Seasons were present there and filled those regions with all sorts of wonderful flowers. Various kinds of burning herbs illuminated the woods and forests on that mountain.
- 16 Various species of birds, filled with joy, danced about and sang merrily on the charming breast of that mountain Those birds were exceedingly loveable on account of the notes they uttered.
- 17 The great Mahadeva sat, beautifully on one of the peaks that was adorned with excellent minerals, as if it served the purposes of a fine bedstead
- 18 Round his loins was a tiger-skin and a hon-skin was his upper garment His sacred thread consisted of a snake His arms were decked with a pair of red armlets.
- 19. His beard was green. He had matted locks on his head Ol dreadful features he fills with fear the hearts of all the enemies of the gods He removes the fear of all retatures He is adored by his worshippers as the detty having the bull for his emblem.
- 20. The great Rishs, seeing Mahadeva, bowed to him by touching the ground with their heads Gifted with forgiving souls, they all became freed from every sin and thoroughly purified.
- 21. He retreat of that lord of all creatures, filled with many terrible forms, stone with a peculiar beauty. Abounding with many large snakes, it was unapproachable and unbearable.
- 22 Within the twinkling of the eye O destroyer of Madhu, everything there be eame highly wonderful. Indeed, the house of that kreat detty laving the bull for his emblem began to blaze with a terrible beauty.
- 23. To Mahadeva scated there, came his wife the daughter of Himavat, surrounded by the wives of the ghostly beings who are the companions of the great god lier diess was like that of her husbaid

- and the vows she observed, were like those of his.
- 24 She held a jar on her loins that was filled with the waters of every lirtha, and was accompanied by the presi ling god dess of all the mountain rivers. Those auspicious ladies followed her.
- 25 The goddess came, raining flowers on all sides and various kinds of sweet perfumes. She who live I to live on the breast of Himavat, advanced in this guise towards her great husband.
- 26 With smiling lips and desirous of playing a jest, the beautiful Uma covered from behind with her two beautiful hands, the eyes of Mahadeva.
- 27. As soon as Mahadeva's eyes were thus covered, all the regions became dark, and hie seemed to be extinct everywhere in the universe. The Homa rites ceased the universe became suddenly deprived of the sacred Vashat also.
- 28 All living creatures became dispirited and filled with fear. Indeed, when the eyes of the lord of all creatures were thus closed, the universe appeared sunless
- 29. Soon, however, that besetting darkness disappeared A powerful and burning flame of fire came out from Mahadeva's forehead
- 30. A third eye, resembling another sun, appeared (on it) That eye began to shine like the Yuga Fire and began to consume that mountain.
- 31. Seeing what took place, the largeeyed daughter of Himavat bowed her head to Mahadeva gifted with that third eye which resembled a blazing fire. She stood there with looks fixed on her husband.
- 33—33. When the mountain forests barned on all stades with their Salas and other trees of straight stems, and their delightful sandals and various excellent medicinal lacks, herds of deer and other, animals filled with lear, came quickly to the place where Hara sat and sought is protection. With those creatures al nost filling it, the lemniage of the great-deity shone with a sort of peculiar beauty.
- 34 Meanwhile that fire, swelling wildly, soared up to the very sky and endued with the splendour and unsteadness of lightning and looking like a dozen suns in power and effulgence, covered every side like the all-destroying Yuga Fire
- 35 In a moment the Himavatemountains were consumed, with their minerals and summits and blazing herbs

- 36 Seeing Himavat crished and consumed, the daughter of that king of mountains sought the protection of the great deity and stood before him with her hands joined in respect
- 37 Seeing Uma overcome by womanly midness and finding that she was reluctant to see her father Himavat reduced to that purable condition, then Sharia east kind looks upon the mountain.
 - 18 In a moment the whole of Himavat tegained his former condition and became as beautiful to look at as ever! Indeed, if e mountain displayed a cheerful aspect. All its trees became bedecked with flowers.
 - 39 Seeing Himavat restored to his natural condition the goddless Uma, divested of every fault addressed her husband, that master of all creatures vis., the divine Maheshwara, in these words

Uma said -

- 40 O Holy One O Lord of all creatures, O God holding trident, O you of high vows, a great doubt has filled my mind? You should remove that doubt of mine.
- 41. Why has this third eye appeared in your forelead? Why also was the mountain consumed with the forests and all that belonged to it?
- 42. Why also, O illustrious god, have you restored the mountain to us former condution? Indeed, having burnt it once, why have you again filled it with free?

Maheshwara said -

- 43 O goddess without any fault, for your having covered my eyes through an act of indiscretion, the universe became in a moment devoid of light
- 44 When the universe became sunless and therefore, all became dark, O daughter of the prince of mountains, I created a third eye for projecting all creatures
- 45 The great energy of that eye crushed and consumed this mountain For pleasing you, however, O goddess, I once more restored Himavat to his pristing condition for making good the injury.

Uma said .-

- 46 O Holy One, why are those faces of yours which are on the east, the north, and the west, so beautiful and so agreeable to look at like the very moon.
- 47. And why is that face of yours which is on the south so dreadful? Why are your majted locks tawny in colour and so erect? Why is your throat blue like the Peacock's plumes?

- 48 Why, O ill istroom god is the Pinaka always in your hand? Why are you always a Brahmacharin with matted locks?
- 49 O lord, you should explain all these to me I am your wife who seeks to follow the same duties with you Farther, I am your devoted worshipper, O detty having highly the bull for your emblem

Narada continued -

- 50 'Thus addressed by the daughter of the king of mountains, tile illustrious holder of Pinaka, tile powerful Mahadeva became highly pleased with her,
- 51 The great god then addressed her, saying, O blessed lady, hear as 1 explain with the reasons thereof, why tmy forms are so

CHAPTER ĆXLI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

The Blessed and Holy One said :- '

I. Formerly a blessed and foremost of women, was created by Brahman, called Islottama, by collecting beauty from every beautiful object in the universe.

- 2 One day, that lady of beautiful face, peerless in the universe for beauty of form, came to me, O goddess, for circumambulating me but, in sooth, moved by the desire of tempting me.
 - 3 In whatever direction that lady of beautiful teeth turned a new face of mine instantly appeared. All these faces of mine became handsome to look at
- 4 Thus, on account of the desire of seeing her, I became four faced, through Yoga power Thus I showed my high Yoga power in becoming four faced,
- 5 With that face of mine which is turned towards the east, I exercise the sovereignty of the universe With that face of mine which is turned towards the north, I sport with you, O you of faulities features.
- 6 That face of mine which is turned towards the west is handsome and auspicious. With it I ordain the happiness of all creatures that face of mine which is turned towards the south is deadful. With it I destroy all creatures.
- 7 I live as a Brahmacharin with matted locks on my head for doing good to all creatures. The bow Pinaka is always in my hand for accomplishing the work of the celestrals.

8. Formerly, Indra, destrous of acquiring my prosperity, had hurled his thunder-bolt at me With that weapon my throat was scorched. Therefore I have become this-throated.

IIma said -

9 When, O foremost of all creatures, there are so many excellent beautiful cars, why have you selected a bull for your vehicle?

Maheshwara said:--

- 10. Formerly, the Grandfather Brahman created the celestial cow Durabhi giving profuse milk. After her creation there sprang from her a large number of kine all of which gave sufficient quantities of milk sweet as nectar.
- 11. Once on a time a quantity of froth fell from the mouth of one of her calves on my body. I was enraged at this and my anger scorched all the kine which thereupon became diversified in colour.
 - 12. I was then pacified by the Lord of all the worlds, vis., Brahman, conversant with all subjects. It was he who gave me this bull both as a car for bearing me and as device on my banner.

Uma said :-

- 13 You have many houses, in the celestial region, of various forms and possessed of every comfort and luxury. Why, O Holy One, do you live in the crematorium, abandoing all those delightful palaces.
- 14. The crematorium is full of the hair and bones (of the dead), abounds with vultures and jackals, and is covered with hundreds of funeral pyres.
- 15 Full of carrion and muddy with fat and blood, with entrails and bones scattered all over it, and always echoing with the howls of jackals, it is certainly an impure place.

Máheshwara said:-

- in 6 I always travel over the whole Earth in search after a sacred spot I do not, however, see any spot that is more sacred than the crematorium
 - 17. Therefore, of all houses, the crematorium appears to me to be the best, shaded as it generally is by branches of the banan and adorned with torn garlands of flowers,
 - 18 O you of sweet smiles the multitudes of goblins that are my companions love to live in such spots I do not like, O goddess, to live inywhere, without those goblins by, my side 19 Therefore, the crematorium is a sacred house to me Indeed, O auspicious lady, it appears to me to be very Heaven Highly sacred and endued with great merit, the crematorium is much praised by persons desirous of lawing holy abdes.

Uma said :--

20 O Holy One, O lord of all creatures, O foremost of all observers of duties and religious rites, I have a great doubt, O holder of Pinakac O giver of booms

- 21. These ascetics, O powerful lord, have practised various kinds of austerities. In the world are seen ascetics wandering everywhere under various forms and clad in various kinds of dress
- 22 For benefitting this large number of Ristus, as also myself, do you kindly remove, O chaister of all enemies, this doubt of mine.
- 23 What are the characteristics of Religion or Duty? How, indeed, do men unacquainted with the details of Religion or Duty succeed in observing them. O powerful lord, O you who are conversant with Religion, do you tell me this.

Narada said:-

24. When the daughter of Himavat, put this question, the assemblage of Rishis there present, adored the goddess with words adorned with Richs and with hymns fraught with deep meaning.

Mahe shwara said:

- 25 Abstention from injury, truthfulness of speech, mercy towards all beings tranquility of soul and the making of gifts to the best of one's power form the foremost duties of the householder.
- 25-27. Abstention from sexual union with the wafe of other men protection of the riches and the woman commuted to hel eare, reductance to appropriate what is not great to one, and awodance of house the dutter of the control of the

Uma safd :-

28 O Holy One I wish to ask you another question about which I entertain

- great doubts. You should answer it and ermore my doubts. What are the meri-
- 29 What are the duties of the Brahmana? What of the Kshatriya? What are the duties of the Vaishya? And what are the duties of the Shudra.

The Holy One said:—

- 30 O highly blessed hidy, the question jou have put, is a very proper one. Those persons who belong to the twice born order, are considered as highly blessed, and are, indeed, gods on earth.
- 3t. Forsooth, the observance of fasts, is always the duty of the Brahmana When the Brahmana succeeds in properly observing all his duties, he becomes at one with Brahma.
- 32. The proper observance of the duties of Brahmacharyya, O goddess, are his ritual I he observance of vows and the investiture with the sacred thread form his other duties It is by these that he becomes truly twice-born.
- 33 He becomes a Brahmana for ador-ing his preceptors and other elders as also the celestials Indeed, that religion which has for its soul the study of the Vedas, is the source of all writte. Even that is the religion which those embodied creatures who are given to virtue and duty, should observe and practise.

Ilma said :--

34 O Holy One, my doubts have not been removed. You should explain in detail what the duties are of the four respective castes of men,

Maheshwara said -

- 36. Lustening to the mysterics of religion and duty, observance of the yous laid down in the Vedas attention to the sacred fire, and accomplishment of the business of the preceptor, leading a mendicant life, always bearing the sacred thread, constant revisation of the Verbay, and rigid diservance of the Verbay and rigid diservance of the Verbay and rigid diservance of the Verbay and V
- 37. After the student life is over, the Brahmana, at the behest of his preceptor, should leave his preceptor's abode for returning to his father's house. Upon his return he should duly marry a proper
 - 38 Another duty of the Brahmana consists of avoiding it o food prepared by the Shudra. Walking along the path of virtue, always observing fasts and the practices of Brahmacharyya, form his other duties.

- 39 The horseholder should keep up his domestic fire for daily adoration. He should study the Vedas. He should pour hibbations in home of the departed half because and the celestrals. He should keep his sensest under proper restraint. He should eat what remains after serving gods and queste and all his dependants. He should be abstemious in food, truthful in words, and pure both in body and mind.
- 40 Attending to guests is another duty of the householder, as also the keeping up of the three sacrificial fires. The householder should also attend to the ori mary sacrifices called 1shit and should also dedicate animals to the detires according to the ordinances.
- 41. Indeed, the Celebration of sacrifices is his greatest duty as also a complete abstention from injury to all creatures. Never to eat before serving the celestials and guests and dependants is another duty dite householder for the condition of the condition o
- 42. Indeed, to eat after the members of his family including servants and other dependants, is considered as one of the especial duties of the twice-born householder, who should, besides, be conversant with the Vedas.
- 43. The conduct of hisband and wife, in the case of the householder, should be equal. He should every day make offerings of flowers and other articles to those celestials who preside over domesticity.
- 44 The householder should see that his house is every day properly rubbrd with (cowdung and water). He should also observe fasts every day. Well cleaned and well-rubed, his house should also be every day fusurgated with the smoke of clarified butter poured on his sacred fire in honor of the celesticals and the departed Manes,
- 45 Even these are the duties of a twiceborn householder. I hose duties really upidad the world. Those duties always and eternally emanate from those pious persons among the Brahmanas who live like householders.
- 46 Do you listen to me with rapt attention, O goddess, for I shall now tell you what the duties are of the Kshatriya and about which you have asked me.
- 47. From the beginning it has been said that the duty of the Kshatirya is to protect all creatures. The king gets a fixed share of the merits acquired by his subjects. By that means the king becomes gifted with righteousness.

40. The king who rules and protects in subjects piously, acquires by virtue of the protection he differs to others, many regions of happiness in the next world

49 The other duties of a Kshatriya consiss of self control and Vedic study, the pouring of libations on the sacred fire, the making of cities study, the bearing of the sacred thread, sacrifices, the performance of religious rites the support of servants and the pendants, and preseverance in acts that have been undertuken.

51—52 Another duty of his is to give punishments proportionate to the offences committed. It is also his thirty to celebrate sacrifices and other religious rites according to the ordinances land down in the Vedas Property judging the disputes of linguist before inm, and truthfulness of speech, and interference for helping the distressed, are the uther dutles by doing which the king and the sacrifice is a speech and the sacrifice is the sacrifice in the field of battle, having show great prowess on behalf of kine and Braftmana.

153 Such a king acq ares in the celestral region such regions of happiness as are capable of being acq ared by the performance of Horse Sacrifices

54 The duties of the Varshya always are the keep of cattle and agriculture, the pouring of libations on the sacred fire, the making of gifts, and study.

55 Irade, walking in the path of virtue, hospitality peacefulness, self-control welcoming of Brahimanas, and renouncing things are tile other eternal duties of the Vaishya.

¹ 56 The Varshya, engaged in trade and walking in the path of virtue, should never sell sesame and perfumery and juices or liquid substances. He should perform the duites of 1 ospitality towards all

57. He is at liberty to pursue virtue and profit and pleasure according to his means and asmuch as is judicious for him. The service of the three twice born classes forms the high duty of the Shudra.

58 That Shudra who is trutful in speech and who has controlled his senses, is considered as having acquired mentorious penances. Indeed the Shudra, while having got a guest performs the duties of hospitality towards him is considered as acquiring the me it of great penances.

159. Phat intelligent Shudra whose confluct is virtuous and who adores the deities and Brahmanas, gets desirable rewards of

65. O beautiful lady, I have thus recited to you what are the duties of the four castes

Indeed, O blessed lady, I have told voit what are their respective duties. What else do you wish to hear?

Uma said :-

61. You have recited to me what are the respective duties of the four castes, auspicious and beneficial for them. Do you now tell me. O. Holy One, what are the common duties of the all castes

Maheshwara said '-

62. The foremost of all beings in the universe, vis., the Creator Brahmana always Seeking righteous accomplishments, created the Brahmanas for rescuing all the worlds Among all created beings, they are gods on Earth.

63 I shall at the beginning tell you what are the religious acts which they should do and what are the rewards which they acq ince through them. The religion of the B animanas is the foreigned of all religious

6.1 For the sake of the virtue three religions were created by the Self-Create Whenever the world is created those Religions are created by the Grandfather. Do 3c listen.

63 These are the three eternal Religious The Religion prescribed in the Vedas is the greatest, that of the Smritts is the next in the order of importance; the third in importance is that which is based upon the practices of the virtuous the practices of the virtuous

66 The Brahm na, endued with learning should have the three Vedas He should never make the study of the Vedas.
He should devote himself to the three wellknown deads (of making gifts, studying the Vedat and perform g sacrifices). He vedat and perform g sacrifices?

And Cupdity) He should be the trend of all creatures A person who possesses these qualities is called a Brahmans.

67 The lord of all the universe declared these six deeds for the observance of Brahmanas Listen to those eternal duties-

68 The celebration of sacrifices officiating at the sacrifices of others, the making of gilts the acceptance of gilts teachist, and study, are the six deeds by doing which a Brahmana acquires religious merit

69 Indeed the daily study of the Vedas is a duty Sacrifice is (another) eternal duty. The making of gifts according to his power and the ordinance, is, in his case, much praised.

70 Franquility of mind is a great duty that is in vogue among the righteous Householders of pure mind are espable of acq aring very great ment.

1/c--2 Indeed, he who putifies his soul by the performance of the five searchies, who is truthful in speech, who is shorn of malice, who makes grifs, who teats with hospitality and honor all regenerate guests, who lives in well cleaned houses, who is shorn of pride, who is always sincere in his dealings, who uses sweet and assuring words towards others, who takes a pleasure in serving guests and others arrived at his house, and who eats the food that remains after the requirements have been satisfied of all the members of his family and dependants, acquires great merit.

73 I hat man who offers water to his guests fir washing their feet and hands, who presents the Arghya for honorine him, who duly gives seats, and beds, and lamps for lightning the darkiness, and shelter to those who come to his house, is considered, as linghly fighteous

74 That householder who rises at dawn and wastes his mouth and lace and gives food to his guests and having honored them duly dismisses them from his house and follows them for a little distance, wins elternal merit.

75 Hospitality towards all, and the pursut of the three fold objects, are the duties of the hoiseholder. The duties of the Shudra consist in the pursuit of the three-fold objects.

76 The Religion laid down for the householder has action for its chief characteristic Auspicious, and beneficial to all freatures, I shall explain it to you

77 The householder should always make glits according to his power. He should also perform securities frequently. Indeed he who wishes to secure his own good, should always achieve metitorious acres.

78 The householder should acquire tiches by fair means, The rice'es thus acquired should be carefully divided into three parts keeping the requirements of virtue in view.

79 With one of those portions he should accomplish all acts of fittue. With another he should seek to axisify his carvings for pleasure. The third portion be should lay out for increasing.

By The Religion of Renunciation is different it exists for Liberation. I shall tell you the conduct that constitutes it, Listen to me in full. O goddess.

81 One of the duties incutented by the house that Religion is Mercy towards all creatures. The man who follows it should not live in one place for more than a day. For achigning theration, the followers of this:

Rei gion free themselves from the letters of hope (or desire),

82 They have no attachment to habitation, to the Kamandalu they bear for the the keen of water, to the clothes that cover tation, to the Kamandalu they bear for the the keep of water, to the clothes that cover their lours, or the seat whereign in they cest, or the triple stick they bear in their hands, or the bed they sleep on, or the fire they want, or the chamber in which it lies.

83. A follower of this Religion fixes his heart upon the workings of his soul. His mind is devoted to Supreme Brahma. He is filled with the idea of attaining to Brahma. He is always devoted to Yoga and the Sankhya philosophy.

By He seeks for no other shelter than the foot of a tree, He lives in vacant houses of men. He sleeps on the hanks of rivers. He takes a pleasure in living by such banks.

85 He is freed from every attachment, and frim every bond of affection. He merges the existence of his own soul into the Supreme Soul

86. Standing like a stake of wood, and anstaining from all food he does only such deeds as point to Liberation. Or, he may wander about, devoted to Yoga. These are the eternal dities of a follower of the Religion of Renunciation.

87 He lives aloof from men He le feced from all attachments. He never lives in the same place for more than a day. Freed from all fetters, he roves over the world. Freed from all fittes, he never sleeps on even the same river-bank for more than.

85 This is the Religion of persons conversant with Liberation, as declared in the Yedns This is the righteous path that is trodden by this victuous. He who follows in this path, leaves no vestige behind

89 Vikshus (mendicants) are of four kinds They are Kutichskas, Vahudakas, Hansas, and Paramhansas, The second is superior to the first, the third to the second, and the fourth to the third go. There is nothing superior to the faramhansa; nor is there anything implerior to it or equal to it or superior to it. It is a condition shorn of sorrow and happiness, a usp crous and freed from decreptude and death, and without any change.

Uma said:-

a day.

or You have described the Religion of the householders, that of Liberation, and that which is based upon the observations of the pious. These paths are noble and highly be eficial to the world of living

- 92 O you who are conversant with every religion I wish to hear what the high Religion is of the Rishis. I always have a liking for those who live in hermitage
- 93 The performe that comes out of the the smoke of the libations of clarified butter poured on the sacred fire, seems to pervade all the hermitages and make them delightful Seeing it is O great god, my heart becomes always filled with for
- 94-95 O powerful god, I have doubts about the Religion of it e Ascetics. You are conversant with it e details of all religions. Do you enlighten me O god of gods, in detail about this subject truly about which I have asked you, O great god

The Blessed and Holy One said .-

- 96 Yes, I shall recite to you the high and excellent Religion of the Ascetic By following the dictates of that? Religion, O auspicious lady the Ascetics acquire success through the severe penances they practise.
- 97 O highly blessed one, do you hear, from the begin ning, what are the duties of those pious Rishis who know every duty and who are known by the name of Prienapas.
- os The Grandfather Brahman drank some nectar That water had flowed in the celestial region from a great sacrifice
- 99 He froth of that water is lightly sacred and in partook of His own nature. Those Rishis who hee upon the measure of froth that this came out are called Phenapas (Froth eaters). This is the conduct of those pure Rishis, O lady having penarces for wealth! Listen tow to me a explain to you who the Valishillysis.
- too. The Valkhillyas are ascetics who have acquired success by their panances. They have in the solar due. Living like birds it ose Rish's conversant with every duty of righteousness, live according to the Uncha mode.
- 10) Their dress consists of deer skins or barks of trees. Freed from pairs of opposites the V-tiki illyas. I aving penances for wealth, walk in this track of virtue.
- to a They are as big as a digit of the timb Divided into classes each class I ves in the practice of its duties. They wish only to practise penances. The merits they acquire by their righteous conduct are very great.
- tog. They are considered as having acquired an equality with the gods and exist for it e fulfilment of the purposes of the gods. Having dissipated all their aims by

- severe penances, they show in effulgence, lighting up all the points of the compass
- rot Others, called Chakracharas, are gifted with cleansed souls and devoted to the practice of mercy. Righteous in their conduct and possessed of great purity, they live in the region of Soma
- 105 Thus living near enough to the region of the departed Manes, they duly live by drinking the rays of Soma There are others called Samprakshalas and Ashmakuttas and Dantolukhalas.
- 106 These live near the Soma drinking celestials and others that drink flowes of fire. With their wedded wives and with passions under complete restraint, they too live upon the rays of Soma
- toy They pour libations of clarified butter on the sacred fire and worship the departed Manes under proper forms. They also celebrate the well known sacrifices this is said to form their religion.
- to 1115 relayion of the Rishis, Ogoddess is alleays observed by those who are liouseless and who are free to go through every tegion including that of the celestials. There are again, other classes about whom I shall speak now. Do you listen
- 109 It is necessary that they who observe the different religions of the Rishis. Abould control their passions and know the Soul Indeed, in my opinion, lust and anger should be completely contrible.
- 110—111 With com (wealth) acquired by the Ulutha mode, it by should perform the following duties, or as, the pouring of the thomps, the sacred fire, occupying fired that employed and templed duting the third that the sacredic called duting the information of the Soma Sacrifice, acquisition of especial knowledge the giving of sacrificial presents, which forms the fifth, the daily performance of sacrifices, devotion to the worship of the ancestors and the detten, hospitality towards all
- 112-113 Abstention from all hasmous dists es prepared from cows milk taking a pleasure in trat quility of heart, lying on naked rocks or the earth devotion to eating politiebs and leaves of trees, and inving upon fruits and roots and wind awater and moss, are some of praities of the Itahis by which they acquire the end that belongs to persons unsubjugate.
- 114-115 When the smoke has ceased to curl upwards from a house, when the husking machine has ceased to ply, when the hearth-fire has been put out, when all he immates have taken their food, when dishes are no longer carried from room to room, when mendicants have ceased to walk ! the streets, it is then that the mair who is devoted to the Religion of Linth and tranquility of soul wishing to have a guest at ould eat what remnant of food may still remain in the house. By acting thus, one becomes a practiser of the Resiston of the Monte.

216 One should not be arrogant, nor proud: nor cheerless and discontented ! nor wonder at anything Indeed one should treat his friends and enemies alike Indeed one who is the foremost of all persons conversant with dinies should treat all creatures like friends

CHAPTER CXUIT

(ÁNUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Continued

IIma said :-

- Hermits live in charming regions. among the springs and fo intains of rivers, in howers by the sides of rivers and rills, on fulls and mountains in woods and forests. and in sacred places full of fruits and roots.
- With rapt attention and observing vows and rules, they live in even such places.
- I wish, O Shankara to hear the sacred ordinances which they follow These hermits, Q god of all gods, are persons who depend for the protection of their bodies, upon themselves alone,

Maheshwara said —

- 4. Do you hear with rapt attention what are the duties of Hermits. Having listened to them with one mind, O goddess, do you fix your heart upon virtue.
- Lasten then to what the acts are that should be practised by righteous bermits Crowned with success, observant of rigid vows and rules, and living in woods and forests
- 6-7. Performing ablutions thrice-a day, adoring the departed Manes and the celestials, pouring libations on the sacred fire, performing of those sacrifices and rites salled Ishti-Hama, picking up the grains of Nivara paddy, eating fruits and roots, and using oil that is pressed out from Inguda and castor seeds, form their duties.
- Having performed the practises of Yoga and become etnamed with (ascric) should seat themselves in the attitude called Vitasana, Indred, they should live to me in those places which are inaccessible to cowards. a-to. Observant of the excellent ordinances about Yoga, sitting in summer in the midst of four fires on four sides with

- the sun overhead, duly practising what is called Manduka-Yoga, and always seated in the attitude called Virasana, and lying on naked rocks or the earth, these men. with hearts fixed upon writing most expose themselves to cold and water and fire.
- They live upon water or air or moss. They use two pieces of stone only for husking their corn Some of them use their teeth only for such a purpose They do not keep utensils of any sort.
- Some of them clothe themselves with rags and barks of trees or deer skins. Thus do they pass their lives for the time allotted to them according to the ordina ices
- Remaining in woods and forests. they wander within woods and forests live within them, and are always to be found within them Indeed, these hermits entering into woods and forests live within them as disciples, obtaining a preceptor, live with him
- 11-16 The performance of the rites of Homa and the observance of the five sacrifices are their duties. A die observance of the rules about distribution of the fivefuld sacrifices as fordamed in the Vedas, devotion to sacrifices, forming the englith, observance of the Chaturmashya, performance of the Paurnamashya and other sacrificer. and performance of the daily sacrifices are the duties of these celibate men, freed from every attachment, and cleaned from every sin Indeed, they should live thus to the forest
- The sacrificial ladle and the watervessel are their chief properties I bey are always devoted to the three fires in their conduct and adhering to the path of virtue, they acquire the highest end
- These Munis, crowned with sucress and ever given to the Religion of Truth, acquire the highly sacred region of Brahman, of the exetnal region of Soma

10 O auspicious goddess. I have thus recited to you in brief, the outlines of the religion that is followed by hermits and that has many practices in detail.

Uma gaid :--

20 U Holy One, O lord of all creatures, O you adored of all benege I wish to hear what is the rel gion of these conclaves success and freed from lust and anger, they t of anetics who are followers of the scriptures describing ascetic success. Do you recite it

21. Living in woods and forests and wellaccomplished in the scriptures of success, some amongst them hive and act as they like, without being controlled by particular practices; others have wives. How, indeed, have their practices been ordained.

Mahadeva said:-

- 22. O goddess, the shaving of the head and the wearing of the brown robes are the characteristics of those recluses who rove about freely; while the characteristics of those who sport with wives consist in passing their nights at home.
- 23 Performing ablations three times a day is the duty of both the classes, while the Homa, with water and wild fruits belongs to the married recluses as performed by the Rishis in general. Absorption in Voga-Mediation, and performance of those the classes of th
- 24. All those duties also of which I have spoken to you before as belonging to recluses hiving in forests, are the duties of these also. Indeed, if those duties are observed, they who observe them acquire the rewards of severe penances.
- 25 Those forest recluses who lead married lives should indulge in the gratification of their senses with these married wives of theirs. By indulging in sexual union with their wives at only those times when their seasons come, they perform the duties which have been laid down for them.
- 26 The religion which these virtuous men are to follow is the Religion that has been laid down and followed by the Rishis With their eyes set upon the acquisition of virtue, they should never-pursue any other object of desire from a sense of uncontrolled caprice.
- 27. That man who gives promises of safety to all creatures, freed as his soul becomes from the stain of malice or harmfulness, becomes fitted with virtue.
- 23. Indeed, that person who shows mercy to all creatures, who adopts as a vow of sincere conduct towards all creatures, and who forms himself the soul of all creatures, becomes girled with virtue.
- 29 A bath in all the shrines, and sincere conduct towards all creatures, are regarded as equal in point of merit, or, perhaps, the latter is a little distinguished above the other in point of merits.
- 30. Sincerity, it has been said, is Virtue; while insincerity or crookedness is sin That man who acts sincerely becomes indued with Virtue,

- 3t The man who is always devoted to sincerity of conduct, succeeds in acquiring a residence among the celestrals. Hence, he who wishes to achieve the merit of virtue, should be sincere,
- 32. Gifted with a forgiving nature and self-countrol, and with anger under complex subjection, one should transform himself into an embodiment of Virtue and beaufred from malice. Such a man, who tecomes devoted, besides to the discharge of all the duties of Religion, becames induced with the ment of Virtue.
- 33 Freed from drowsiness and procras inhation, the righteous person, who follows the path of Virtue to the best of his power, and becomes possessed of pure conduct, and who is venerable in years, comes to be considered as equal to Brahmatiself.

Uma said :---

- 34 By what course of duties, O god, do those ascetics who are attached to their respective retreats and have penances for wealth, succeed in becoming indued with great splendour?
- 35 By what acts, again, do kings and princes who are immensely rich, and others who are poor, succeed in getting high rewards?
- 36 By what acts, O god, do dwellers of the forest succeed in acquiring that place which is, eternal and in adorning their persons with celestial sandal paste.
- 37 O illustrious god of three eves, O destroyer of the triple city, do you remove this doubt of mine about the auspicious subject of the observance of penances by Jelling everything in full.

The illustrious Deity said:-

- 38 I hose who observe the vows of fasts and control their senses who abstan from injery of any kind to any greature, and who practise truthfulness of specific grune success and ascending to the priestal region sport in liappiness with the Gandharast their companions, freed from every kind of evil.
- 39 That pious man who lies down in the attitude of Manduka-Yoga, and whe properly and according to the ordinance performs meritorious deeds after having been duly intuited, sports in happiness in the next world in the company of the Nagas.
- 40 That man who lives in the company of deer and lives upon such grass and vegetables as drop from their mouths, and who has undergone the initiation and attends to the duties attached to it, succeeds in going to the capital of Indra.

- 41. That man who lives upon the moss he hathers and the fallen leaves of trees that he picks up, and puts up with all the severities of cold, acquires a very high place.
- 42. That man who lives upon either air or water or fruits and roots, acquires in the next life the affluence that belongs to the Yakshax and sports in happiness in the commany of the various tribes of Apsaras.
- 43 Having practised for twelve years, according to the rites laid down in the ordinances, the vow relating to the endurance of the five fires in the summer season, one becomes in his next life a king.
- 44 That man who, having observed your about food, practises penances for twelve years, carefully abstaining from all interdicted food, and forbidden hours as well, during the period, becomes in his next life a kine.
- 45 That man who sits and lies on the bare ground with the canopy of heaven over his head, observes the course of duties of initiation, and then renounces his body by abstraining from all food, acquires great happings in the celestial region.
- 46-51. The rewards of one who sits and hes down upon the naked ground are said to be excellent cars and beds, and rich palaces efful, ent like the moon, O lady, I hat man will a laving lived upon abstemious diet and observed various exceller t vows, lives depending upon his own self and then renounces his body by abstaining from all food, succeeds in ascending to Heaven and enforing all its happiness. It at man who having lived in entire dependence upon his own self, observes for twelve years it e duties of mutation, and at last renounces his body on the great ocean, succeeds in attaining to the regions of Varuna after death. 11 at man who living in entire dependence upon his own self observe the duties of initiation for twelve years, and merces his own feet with a sharp stone, acquires the happiness of the region that belongs to the Guhyakas. He who cultivates sell with the help of self. who frees himself from the influence of all pairs of lopposites, who is freed from every sort of attachment, and who mentally observes for twelve years such a course of conduct after initiation attains to Heaven and enjoys every happiness with the celestials as dis companions.
 - 32. He who lives in entire dependence upon its own sell and observes for twelve greats the duties of initiation and finally renounces his body on the fire as an oblament to the celestath, acquires the region of lifahma; and is fell in high eatern there.

- 53-55 I hat twee-born man. O goddess, who having properly performed intitation keeps his senses under control, and placing his 5816 on Sell frees himself from the sense of innie ness, desirous of achieving virtue, and sets out, without a covering for his body, after the due observance of the duites of innianion for twelve jears and after having placed his secred tire on a tree, and walks along the path of heroes and lies and walks along the path of heroes and lies acts like beenes, certainly acquires the end
- 56 Such a man goes to the eternal region of Shakra where he becomes crowned with the fruition of all his desires and where he sports in joy, his body decked with garlands of celestial flowers and celestial perfumes,
- 57-58 Indeed that pious person lives happily in Heaven, with the celestials as his companions. The hear, following the practices of heroes and devoted to that Yoga which belongs to heroes, living in the practice of Goodness, having renounced everything, performed the initiation, controlled his senses, and observing purity of both budy and mind, is sure to a coging that path which is reserved for heroes Eternal regions of happliness are his.
- 59 Riding on a car that moves at the will of the rider, he passes through all happy regions as he bless, Indeed, living in the explosis of Shakra, that blessed person always sports in lay, traed from every calamity.

CHAPTER CXLIII,

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).—
Continued.

Uma said :-

s O Holy One, O you who had torn off the eyes of Blisga and the teeth of Pushan, O destroyer of the sacrifice of Datsha, O three eyed deity, I have a great doubt.

- 2 Formerly, the illustrious Self-Create created the four castes. Through the self result of what deeds does a Vambya become a Shudra?
- 3 Through what sets does a Kshatriya become a Vashya and a Brahmana becomes a Kshatriya T. By what means may auch degradation of castes be warded off T
- 4 Through what dweds does a Brahmana take birth in 1 is next life, in the Shudra caste? Through what acts, O poyerful desty, does a Kshatinya also come down to the sta in of a bludra?

5 O sinless one O lord of all created beings do you O illustrious one, remove this doubt of mine. How, again, can the three castes naturally succeed in acquring the status Brahmanhood?

The Illustrious One said :-

- 6. The status of a firal mana, O goddess, is highly difficult to attain O auspicious lady, one becomes a Brahmana through creation or birth Similarly the Kshatriya, the Vashya, and the Shudra, all becomes so through original creation This is my opinion.
- He, however, that is born a Brahmana goes down from his status through his own evil deeds Hence, the Brahman's after having acquired the status of the first order, should always project it.
- 8 If one who is a Kshatriya or Varshya performs those duties which are assigned to the Brahmana, after the manner of a Brahmana, he becomes a Brahman,
- g That Brahmana who renounces the dunes of his order for following those of the Kshatriya, is considered as one who has fallen away from the status of a Brahmana and who has become a Kshatriya.
- to—ti. That hitle-witted Brahmana, who, moved by cupidity and folly, follows the practices assigned to Vasishyas, forçetal of his position as a Brahmana that is highly difficult to attain, comes to be considered as one who has become a Vasishyas Likewse, one who is a Vasishya by birth the properties of a burder become a Shudra lindeed, a Brahmina falling away from the duties of liss own order, may go down to the status of even a Shudra.
- 12. Such a Brahmana, degraded from the order of his birth and outcasted, without attaining to the region of Brahman, sinks anto Hell, and in his next birth becomes porn as a Shudra.
- 13-14 A highly blessed Kishatriya or a Visishya, who renounces the duties of his order, and follows the practices of a Shudra, falls away from his own order and become a person of mixed caste. It is in this way that a fitanimana, or a Kishatriya, or a Vashya, comes by the position of a Shudra.
- 15 That man who has acquired clearness of vision, through practice of the dutes of its own caste, who is gifted with knowledge and science, who is pure (in body and 'smand) who knows every duty and ja devoted to the practice of all his dutes, is sure to enjoy the tewards of with the

- 16 I shall now recite to you O godders, a saying uttered by Brahman on this sub-lect. The virtuous and those who are desirous of acquiring ment always pursue with firmness the culture of the soil.
- 17. The food that comes from cruel and ferce persons is censurable. So also is the food that has been cooked or case and age to the sound of the food that has a series and of the food that is cooked for the first Stradtha of a dead person. So also is the food that is voilied for the intended that is supplied by a Shinfa. These should never be taken by a Brahmana at any time.
- 18 The food of a Shindra, O goddess 18 afwa)s disapproved of by the great detices. This I think is the authority enimicated by the Grandfather with his own mouth.
- ig If a Brahmana, who has set up the sacred fire and who performs sacrifices, were to die with any portion of a Shudra's food remaining undigested in his stomach, he is sure to be born a Shudra.
- 20 On account of those remains of A Shudra's food in his stomach, he falls away from the position of a Brahmana. Such a Brahmana becomes surely a Shudra.
- 21 The Brahmana in his next life comes by the position of that order upon whose food he lives through life or with the undigested portion of whose food in his stomach he dies.
- 22 I hat man who having acquired the sacred position of a Brahmana which is so difficult to acquire, disregards it and estators and forbidden food, falls away from his high status.
- 23-24. Ital Brahmana who driekt alcounds who becomes guilty of Brahmanicade or mean in his conduct, or a linef, or who breaks his vows, or becomes impure, or unmindful of his Vedic studies, or sinfol, or characterised by cipidity, or guilty of cuming, or a cheat, or who does not observe work, or who marriers a Shudra womani, or who derivers his livelihood by panderult to the lusts of other people, or who selfs the studies and plant, or who serves a person of a Brahmanhalis away from his saturs.
- 25. That Braimana who violates the hed of his preceptor, or who cherishes make towards him, or who takes a pleasure in speaking ill of him, falls away from the status of Brahmanhood even if he knows Brahma.
- 26 By these good deeds again, O goddess, when performed, a Shudra becomes 4 Brahmana, and a Vaishya becomes 2 Kshattiya,

- 27 The Shudra should perform all the duties sanctioned for him, properly and according to the ordinance. He should always serve, with obedience and himility, persons of the three other castes and serve them with care.
- 28 Always following the path of virtue, the Shudra should cheefully do all this fie should honor the celestials and twiceborn persons. He should observe the vow of hospitality to all persons.
- 29 With senses kept under control and becoming abstemious in food, he should never approach his wife except in her season. He slould ever search after persons who are holy and pure. As regards food, he should eat that which remains after the needs of all persons have been folfilled.
- 30. II, indeed, the Shudra withers to be a Vaning in this set tief; be should also abstain from meat of animals not, killed in scriffice. If a Vaning withers to be a Brahmana (in his next tief; he should perform these duties. He should be truthful in speech, and shorn of pride or arrogance. He should be above all puries of opposites. He should be above all puries of opposites. He should be store the duties of peace and tranquality.
- He should worship the celestrals 31-31 in sacrifices, attend with devotion to the study and recitation of the Vedas, and become pure in body and mind. He should keep his senses under control, honor the Brahmanas, and seek the behoof of all the Living like a householder and eating only twice a day at the appointed liours, he should satisfy his hunger with only such food as remains after all the members of his family with dependants and guests have been fed. He should be abstemious in food, and act without being actuated by the desire of reward lie should be free from egotism. He should worst ip the deities in the Agrithotra and pour libations according to the ordinance. Performing the duties of hospitality towards all persons he should, as already said, eat the food that remains after serving all others for whom it has been cooked. He should, according to the ordinances laid down, adore the three fires Such a Vaishya of pure conduct is born in his next life in a high elshatriya family.
- 35 If a Varshya, after having taken birth as a Kishatiya, performs the usual purificatory ries, becomes invested with the sacred thread, and betakes himself to the Observance of Yows, he becomes, in his next life, an honored Brahmana.
- 36 Indeed, after his birth as a Kshatriya, he shruld make presents, worship the dettes in great sacrifices with profuse pre-

- sents, study the Vedas, and desnous of attaining to Heaven, should adore the three fires
- 37 He should interfere for removing the socrows of the distressed and shrull always righteously cherch and protect his subjects. He should be truthful, and do all true works, and seek happiness in conduct like this.
- 33 He should administer proper pumshments, without frying aside the rod of punishment for good the should induce men to do righterors deeds. Guided by considerations of policy, the should take a sixth of the produce of the fields
- 39 He should never indulge in sexual pleasure, but live cheerfully and independently, will conversant with the science of Wealth or Profit Of righteous soul, he should seek his married wife only in her season
- 40 (He should always observe lasts, keep his soul under restraint, devote himself to the study of the Vedas, and be pure in body and mind. He should sleep on blades of Kusha grass spread out in his frechamber.
- 4t He should pursue the three-fold obprets of life, and be always cheerful. He should always say "it is ready" to Shudras destrour of food.
- 42 He should never wish for anything from mittees of gain or pleasure. He should adore the ancestors and gods and guests.
- 43 In his own house he should live the hie of a mendicant. He should duly worship the detirs in his Aginhotra, morning, noon, and evening every day, by pouring libations according to the ordinance.
- 44 With his face turned towards the enemy, he should renounce his like breaths in battle fought for the behoof of kine and Brahmans. Or he may enter the three fires sanctified with Mantras and renounce his body. By doing all this he is born in his next life as a Brahmana.
- 45 Gilted with knowledge and science, purified from all dross and fully conversant with the Vedas, a pious Kahatriya, by his own deeds, becomes a Brahmana.
- 46 It is with the help of these deeds, O goddess that a person who has originated from a degraded caste, ors a Shudra, may become a Brahmana burged off of all sins and possessed of Vedic learning.
- 47 One who is a Brahmana, when he becomes wicker in conduct and observes no distinction about food, falls away from the - status of Brahmanhood and becomes a ing the stain of contact with persons both Shudra.

- 48 Even a Shudra, O goddess who has purified his soul by pure deeds and who has controlled, all his senses, deserves to be waited upon and served with respect as a Brahman a Jins has beet said by the Self Create Brahman himself.
- 49 When a pious nature and pious deeds are seen in even a Shudra, he should, according to my opinion, be held superior to a person of the three twice born classes.
- 5d Neither birth, nor the purificatory rites, nor learning, nor offspring can be considered as grounds for conferring upon one the dignity of a twice born person indeed, conduct is the only ground.
- 51 All Brahmanas in this world are Brahmanas in account of conduct. A Shudra, if he is of good conduct, is const dered as equal to a Brahmana
- 52 the position of Brahma, O aus picious Iady, is equal wherever it exists 'this is my opinion. He, indeed, is a Brahmana in whom the dignity of Brahma exists,—that condition which is bereft of qualities and which has no stain attached to it.
- 53 The boon-giving Brahman, while he created all creatures, himself said that the division of human beings into the four orders as dependant on birth is only for purposes of classification
- 54 The Brahmana is a great field in this world—a field having feet, for it invokes from place to place. He who plants speeds in that field, O beautiful lady, reaps the corps in the next world.
- 55 That Brahmana who wishes to eccure his own good, should always live upon the remains of the food that may remain in his house after satisfying the needs of all others. He should always follow the path of virtue. Indeed, he should tread along the path of Brahma.
- 56 He should live, engaged in the study of it e Samhitas, and remaining at home I should periorn all the duties of a house-holder He should always be gippn to the atudy of the Vedas, but re should never decire the means of livelihood from such study.
- 57. That Brahmana who always acts thus following the path of virtue, adoring this sacred fire, and engaged in the study of the Vedas, comes to be considered as Brahma.
- 58 Having acquired the position of a Brahmana, it should always be protected unticare, O you of sweet smiles, by avoid-

- ing the stain of contact with persons both in inferior castes, by abstaining from the acceptance of gifts, and by other acts laid down in the scriptures
- 59 I have thus told you a mystery, vis, the manner in which a Shudra may become a Brahmana, or that by which a Brahmana falls away from his own pure position and becomes a Shudra.

CHAPTER CXLIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) — Continued.

Uma said —

- t O Holy One, O lord of all beings, O you adored of detties and Asuras equally, tell me what are the duties and derilections of men Indeed O powerful one, remove my doubts.
- z It is by these three, vis, thought, word and deed, that men become fettered with bonds It is by the same three that they become freed from these fetters
- 3 By following what conduct, O god -indeed, by what kind of acts -- by what behaviour and q falties a id words, do men succeed in ascending to Heaven?

The God of gods said ·-

4 O goddess, you are well conversant with the true meaning of ditties You are ever devoted to Virtue and Self-Control the question you have asked me is fraught with the benefit of all creatures it increases the intelligence of all persons. Day you, therefore, listen to the auswer.

- S Those persons who are devoted to the Religion of Iruth who are righteous and destitute of the indications of the several modes of life and who enjoy the wealth acquired by fair means, succeeds in ascending to Heaven
- 6 Those men who are freed from all doubts, who are gifted with omniscience, and who lave eyes for seeing all it may are never fettered by either virtue or sin. I hose men who are shorn of all attachments can never be fettered by the chains of action.
- 7 They who never injure others in thought, word, or deed and who never attach themselves to anything, can never be fettered by deeds
- 8 They who abstan from killing any creature who are gifted with righteous conduct who have mercy who treat friends and loes equally, and who are self-controlled, can never be fettered by acts.

- 9 Those men who are gifted with mercy towards all beings who succeed in creating the confilence of all living creatines and who have shaken off maker in their conduct, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 10 Those men who have no desire to appropriate others' properties, who never associate with the spoures of others and who enjoy only such wealth as has been acquired by fair means, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- Those men who treat the wives of other people as their own mothers and sisters and daughters, succeed in attaining to Heaven.
- 12 Those men who abstain from misappropriating others' things who are perlectly contented with what they themselves possess, and who live depending upon their own destiny, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 13 Those men who never know other peoples' wives, who are masters of their senses and who are given to righteous conduct, succeed in according to fleaven
- 14 lins is the path, created by the gods, that the pious should follow. This is the path freed from passion and aversion, sanctioned for the pious to follow.
- 15 those men who are devoted to their own wires and who seek them in only their seasons and who do not indulge 11 sexual pleasure, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 16 For the sake of multiplying their ment or for acquiring their means of livelihood, the wise should follow charity, penalities and purity of both body and mind
- 17. Those who wish to ascend to Heaven, should follow in this tract and not any other.

Uma said .-

18 Tell ine, O illustrious god, O sinless lord of all creatures, what are those words by which-one becomes fettered and what are those words by speaking which one may be freed from fetters.

Maheshwara said -

- 19 I have men who never tell falsehood for either themselves or for others, or m jest or for exenting laughter, succeed in ascending Heaven.
- 20. They who never tell Hes for acquiring their fivelihood or for acquiring ment or through mero captics, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 21. They who utter words which are smooth and sweet and faultiess, and who

- with sincerity welcome all whom they meet with, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 22 They who never utter words which are harsh butter and cruel and who are free from decertialness and evil of every kind, succeed in ascending to Heaven.

 22 Those men who never utter decentful
- words which create distinion between friends and who always speak what is frue and what promotes good feelings, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 24 those men who avoid harsh words and abstains from quarrels with others, who are equal in their conduct to all creatures, and who have governed their souls, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 25 They who abstain from evil speech or sinful conversation, who avoid disagreeable speeches and who utter only auspicious and agreeable words, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 26 I frey who never utter, under anger, such words as cut others to the quick, and who, even when under the influence of anger, speak words that are peaceful and agreeable, succeed in ascending to Heaven.
- 27 This religion, O goddess of speech, should always be followed by men. It is auspicious and characterised by fiuth. The wise should always avoid untruth.

Uma said:-

28. Iell me, O god of gods, O holder of Pinaka, O you who are highly blessed, what those thoughts are by which a person may be fettered.

Mahoshwara said:-

- 29 Gitted with insert that originates from mental acts, O guidess, one excends to Heaven. Listen to me, O ampriculatione, as I recite to you what those acts are.
- 30. Listen to me, O you of sweet face, how also a mind of ill-regulated features, becomes feitered by ill regulated or evil moughts.
- 31. Those men who do not seek, even mentally, to take other peoples' things even when they he in a lone forest, succeed in according to Heaven.
- 32. Those men who care not others' belongings, even when they see it fring in a noise or a village that has been described, ascend to treaven.
- eg. Those men who do not seek, even mentally, to associate with the married wises of others, even when they see them in deserted places and under the influence of ucine, succeed in according to Heaven.

to Heaven.

34 Those men who, meeting with friends or enemies, the have in the same friendly way towards all, succeed in ascending to Heaven succeed in according to Heaven.

35 Those men who are possessed of learning and mercy, who are pure in body and mind, who are firm in truth, and who are contented with which belongs to them.

36 Those men who do not bear ill will the street of labour for their livelihood, who bear fire dily hearts towards all beings, and who entiriam nerry towards all beings, and who entiriam nerry towards all. Succeed in ascending

37 Those men who have faith, who have mercy, who are holy, who seek the company of holy men, and who know the distinctions between right and wrong, succeed in ascending to finance.

38 Those men, O goddess who know the consequences of good and bad deeds, succeed in ascending to Heaven.

30 Those men who are just in all their dealings, who have desireable, acc implishments, who are devoted to the delites and the Brahmanas, and who are persevering 11 doing all good acts, succeed in ascending to Heaven.

4). All these men O goddess succeed in accending to Heaven through the ment to ton in results of their deeds. What else do you wish to hear?

Uma said -

belience

'41 I have a great doubt, O Maheshwara, on a subject about I uman beings You should explain it to me carefully

42 By what deeds does a man succeed O powerful deny, in acquiring a long life? By what penances also does one acquire a long life?

43 By what acts does one become short-lived on Earth? O you who are perfectly stamless, you should tell me what are the consequences of acts.

44 S me have great good fortune and some suffer from inisfortune. Some are possessed of tuble, and some are of ignoble, birth,

45 Sime have such repulsive features as it trey are made of wood while others look very handsome at even the first sight

46 Some appear to have no wisdom while others are possessed of it Some, again, are seen gived with high intelligence and wisdom enlightened by knowledge and while others there are that are loaded with heavy calamines. Such diverse sights are seen of men. O illustrious one, you should tell me the reason of all this!

The god of gods said .-

49 Indeed O goddess, I shall describe to you the fruits of acts. It is by them that all human beings in this world enjoy or suffer the consequences of their acts.

49—5t. In at man who assumes a dreadful aspect for the purpose of taking the lives of other creatures who arms himself with strong stucks for injuring other creatures, who is seen with uplitted weapons, who kills living creatures, who is shorn of mercy, who aiways causes tribulation to living beings, with refuses to grant protection to even worms and ants, who is creed, one who has an opposite disposition and who is righteous in deeds, becomes both as a hand-onter flats.

52 The man who is cruel, goes to Hell, while he who is merciful, ascen is to Heaven The man who goes to Hell, has to suffer great misery

53 O ie who having sunk in Hell, rises therefrom, takes buth as a short lived man-that man who is given to slaughter and my my, O goddess, becomes, through his similal deeds, hable to destruc-Such a person becomes disagreeable to all creatures and short-lived That man who belongs to what is called the Wille class, who abstains from the destruction of living creatures, who has thrown away all weapons and never inflicts any pointshment on any body, who never injures any creature who never causes anybody to kill creatures for him, who never kills of strikes even when struck or attempted to be killed, who never sanctions or approves an act of destruction wio is gifted with mercy towards all creatures who treats others as his own self,-such a superior man, O goddess succeeds in acquiring to the dignity of a celestral. I illed with joys such a man enjoys various kinds of luxurious articles

58 If such a person is ever born in the world of men, he becomes long lived and enjoys great happiness

59. This is the way of those who are of righteous conduct and righteous deeds, and who are blessed with lorgevity, the way that was marked out by the Self-Create Brahman himself and which is marked by abstention from the destruction of living frequency.

47 Some have to suffer little pain

CHAPTER CXLY.

(ANUSHASANIK 1 PARVA) -

Uma said :--

t. By what nature, what conduct, what deeds, and what gifts, does a man succeed in attaining to Heaven.

Maheshwara said :~

- 2-6 He who has a liberal discosition, who honors Bratmanas and treats them with hospitality, who makes guts of food and drink and clothes and other articles of tentoyment to the destitute, the blind and the distressed, who makes gifts of houses erects halls dies wells, constructs shelters whence pure and cool water is distributed. excavates tanks makes arrangements for the free distributions of piles every day, gives to all comers what each prays for, who makes gifts of seats and beds and vehilles, wealth, lewels and gems houses, all kinds of corn kine, fields, and wimen -he who always makes these grits with a cheerful heart. becomes a demzen, O guddess, of the celestral region.
- 6 He lives there for a long time, enjoying various kinds of superior articles Passing his time happily in the company of the Apsaras, he sports in the garden of Nandana and other delightful regions.
- 7. After the exhaustion of his merits he falls down from the celestial region and takes birth in the order of hu mants, in a rich family, O goddess, which has a large command of every atticle of enjoyment
- 8 In that life he gets all articles for gratifying his wishes and appetities Indeed, blessed with the possession of such articles, he gets, riches and a well filled treasury.
- 9 The ISelf Create Brahman hunself declared it formerly that it is even such persons, O goddess who become highly blessed and possessed of liberal dispositions and handsome leatures.
- to. There are others, O goddess, who are incapable of making gifts Gifted with small understandings, they cannot make gifts even when solicited by Brahmanas and possessed of immense riches.
- 11. Seeing the destitute, the blind, the distressed, and mendicants, and even guests arrived at their houses, those persons always filled with the desire of pleasing the organic firste, turn away, even when expressly solicited by them.
 - 12. They never make gills of wealth or - dresses, or yiands, or gold, or kine, or any kind of lood to those men who are disinclined to

- relieve the distress of others, who are full of cupidity, who have no faith in the scriptures, and who do not make gifts—verily, these men of little understanding. O goddess, have to suk in Hell
- 14 In course of time, when their sufferings in Hell, terminate they take birth in the order of humanity, in poor families.
- 15 Always suffering from hunger and thirst, excluded from all decent society, hopeless of ever enjoying all goodly things, they lead wretched lives
- 16 Bun in families which are destinite of all inficies of enjoyment, these men never succeed in enjoying the goodly things of Earth. Indeed O goddess, it is through deeds that persons became wretched and poor.
- 17 There are others who are arrogant and proud for the passession of sections. Those senseless wetches never offer seats to worthy persons.
- 18 Gifted with little understandings, they do not give way to them who deserve such an honor. Nor do they give water for washing the feet to persons to whom it should begiven.
- 19 Indeed, they do not honor, according to the ordinance, with gifts of the Arghya, such persons as deserve to be honored therewith they do not offer water for washing the mouth to such as deserve to have that honor.
- 20-21. They do not treat their very preceptors, when the latter arrive at their houses in the manner in which preceptors should be tree ted. Living in capitary and pride, they refuse to treat their elders and aged men with love and affection, vern insulting those who deserve to be honored and asserting their superiority over their without showing reverence and humility, Such men, O goddess, suk in Hell.
- Such men, O goddess, sink in Hell.

 22 When their sufferings terminate after many years, they rise from Hell, and take bith as men, in low, and wreiched
- 23 Indeed, they who humiliste their preceptors and seniors, have to takeforth in such castes as those of Swapakas and Pukkatas who are greatly tile and bereit of mittligence.

families.

21-29 He who is not arrogant or filled with pride, who is a worthinper of the desires and Brahmanas, who enjoys the esteem of the world, who bows to every one who decerves his stretchee, who utjers smooth and sweet words, who benefits persons of all castes, who is always devoted to the behoof of all beings, who does not feel hatred for anybody, who is sweettongued who is an ulterer of sweet and cooling words, who gives way to one who deserves to have way, who worships his preceptors in the manner in which preceptors deserve to be adored, who welcomes all creatures with proper courtess, who does not bear ill will towards any creature, who lives, adoring elders and guests with such honors as they deserve, who is ever bent upon having as many guests as possible, and who adores all who honor his house with their presence succeeds, O goddess, in ascending to Heaven Upon the exhaustion of his merit, he is born as a man in a high and respectable family.

- 29 In that life he gets all articles of enjoyment in profusion and jewels and gems and every kind of riches in abundance. He gives to worthy persons what they deserve He performs every duty and every act of writte
- 30 Honored of all creatures and receiving their respect, he obtains the fruits of his own deeds
- 3f. Even such a person acquires a high birth in this world. This that I have recited to you was said by the Ordainer (Brahman) himself formerly
- 32-31. That man who is fierce in conduct, who creates terror in all creatures, who injures other beings with hands or feet ce creds or sticks, or brick-bats or clods of hard clay, or other means of wounding and anima, O beautiful Iady, who practises various or vexing them, who chases sminus and causes them to fremble in fear,—indeed that man, who acts thus, is certain to sink in Hell
- 35 If in course of time he is born as man in a low and wretched family which meets with obstacles of every kind on every side.
 - 36 He is hated by all A wretch among men, he becomes so for his own deeds
 - a27—35 Another, who is possessed of mercy, casts is (being:) ego en all creatures. Gitted with a friendly vision, treating all catures as if he were their father, rhorn of every hostile feeling, with all his pisiotis under complete restraint, he never vexes any creature and never fills them with fear by means of his hands or feet with are always under his control. If empired the confidence of all beings
- 39 He never afflicts any creature with either cords or clubs or brick bats or clods of hard earth or weapons of any sort. His deeds are never fierce or cruel, and he is full of mercy.

- 40 One who is given to such practices and conduct, certainly ascends to Heaven There he lives like a god in a celestia palace full of comfort.
- 41 If, upon the exhaustion of his merd, he has to take birth as a man, he becomes born as a man who has not to fight with difficulties of any kind or to meet with any fear. Indeed, he enjoys great happiness
- 42 Happy and not compelled to work for his livelihood, he lives freed from every kind of anxiety. Even this O goddess, is the path of the virinous. In it there are no obstacles or affictions

Uma said -

- 43 In the world some men are masters of milerences and the premises leading to them. Indeed, they are masters of science and knowledge, have large progeny, and are gifted with learning and wisdom.
- 41. Others, O god are shorn of wisdom, stience, and knowledge, and are marked out by folly By what particular acts does a person become endued with wisdom?
- 45 By what acts, again, does one become of little wisdom and distorted vision? Do you remove this doubt of mine O you who are the foremost of all beings knowing duties.
- 46 Others there are, O god, who are blind from the moment of their birth Others there are who are diseased and implient DJ you, O god, tell ine like reason of this.

Maheshwara said :--

- 47-43 Those men who always enquire about what is for their behoof and what is to their detriment, of Brahmanas Isame! in the Vedas, crowned with success and knowing all duties who avoid all kinds of evil deeds, who achieve only such deeds are good succeed in ascending to Heaven after leaving this world, and enjoy great happiness as long as they live there
- 49 Indeed upon the exhaustor of them mert, when they take their birth in the order of humanity, they become born at men endued with great intelligence. They enjoy every kind of happinoss and air pictusness on account of that intelligence with which they are born.
- 50 Those men of foolish understandstandings who cast wicked eyes upon the married wives of other men, become cursed with congenital blindness on account of that amfulness of theirs.

- 51 Those men who, moved by desire in their hearts, east their eyes on naked women, those men of wicked acts take , both in this world to pass their whole lives in one continuous disease.
 - 52. Hose men of foolish and wicked acts who indulge in sexual union with women of castes different from their own --those men of little wisdom,-have to take both in their next lives as persons shorn of the virility.
- Those men who cause animals to be killed and those who violate the beds of their preceptors, and those who indulge in promisculus intercourse have to take birth in their next lives as persons shorn of manhood

Uma said :-

What deeds, O foremost of the celesuals are faulty, and what deeds are fauliless? Wiat, mideed are those deeds by doing which a man succeeds in acquiring what is for your linghest good?

Maheshwara said :-

- I hat man who is desirous of deter musy what is right eousness, and who wishes to acquire prominent virtues and qualities, and who always puts questions to the Brahmanas with a view to find out the path leading to his lighest good, succeeds in ascending to Heaven,
- If he is born as a man, he becomes gifted with intelligence and memory and great wisdom.
- This, O goddess, is the line of conduct that the prous are to follow and that is fraught with great good. I have told you of it for the beloof of human beings.

Uma said :-

- There are men who hate virtue and who are gifted with little understandings They never wish to approach Brahmanas knowing the Vedas.
- There are others who observe yows and who are given to the duty of performing Shraddhas Others, again, are destiobservances and are like Rakshasas in conduct.
- 60 Sume there are who are given to the performance of sacrifices and some who do not care for II ma For what deeds do men become possessed of these different natures.

Maheshwara said :-

61. Through the Vedas, the limits have sider their husbands as their gods, - You been laid out of all the acts of human beings. those men who acts thus according to the authority of the Vedas, are seen to become devoted to the observance of yows

62-61. Those men, however, who being influenced by folly accept unrighteourness for its reverse, become destitute of vows, transgress all restraints, and come to be considered as Brahmarakshasas Indeed, it is these men who do not care for Huma. who never utter the Vashat and other sacred Mantras, and who come to be considered as the lowest and vibest of men.

61. Thus, O goddess, have I explained to you the entire ocean of duties of human beings for the sake of removing your doubts, not omitting the sins of which they become guilty.

CHAPTER CXLVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVAL-Continued.

Narada said :-

1. Having said these words, the powerful Mahadeva himself became desirous of hearing, and with that view he questioned his dear wife who was seated by his side and was bent upon doing his will. Mahadeva said:-

- 2. You, O goddess, know what is Supreme and what is not so You know all duties, O you who love to live in the retreats of ascetics. You are gifted with every virtue, possessed of beautiful eyebrows, and hair ending in the fairest curls. O daughter of Himayat, the king of mountains,
- You are skilled in every work Vou are gifted with self-control and look impartially towards all creatures. Divested of the senses of mine-ness, you are devoted to the practice of all the duties O you of beautiful features, I wish to ask you (about something). I wish that, asked by me, you will describe to me that subject.
- 4. Savitra is the chaste wife of Brahman. The chaste Shachi is the wife of Indra. Dhumorna is the wife of Markandeva, and Riddin of (king) Vaishravana
- 5 Varuna has Goury for his consort, and 3 the Sun-God has Suverchala. Rolini is the chaste wife of Shashin, and Swaha of Vibhavasu.
- Kashyapa has Aditr All if ete con-have, O goddess, conversed and associated with all of them every day.

- 7. It is, therefore, O you knowing every duty, that I wish to question you about the duties of women, O you whose words are always consistent with righteousness. I wish to hear you describe that subject from the beginning.
- 8. You practice all the duties of virtue with ine. Your conduct is exactly like inne, and the vows you observe are the same that are observed by me. Your power and cuergy are equal to mme, and you have practised the austerest penances
- 9 The subject, when described by you will become highly meritorious. Indeed, that subject will their become authoritative in the world.
- to. Women, in especial, are the high est refuge of whomen. O you of beautiful hips, among human beings the course of cor duct lead down by you will be followed from generation to generation.
- 11. Half of my body is made up of half your body. You are always engaged in doing the work of the celestials, and it is you are the cause of have peopling the Earth !
- 12. O suspicious lady, you know all the eternal duties of women. Do you, therefore, tell me in full what the duties are of your sex.

Uma said :-

- 13. O holy one, O lord of all created things, O source of all that is past present, and future, it is through your lavour that the words I am uttering are originating in my mind.
- 14 All these Rivers (that are of my sex), O god of gods, having the waters of all the littles, are approaching your presence for enabling you to perform your ablutions in them.
- 15 After consulting them I shall describe the subject in due order. I hat person who, though capable, is still free from egotism, is rightly called a Purusha.
- 16 As for women, O lord of all beings, sits follows persons of her sex. By consulting these foremost of Rivers, they will be honoured by me.
- 17. The secred Suraswati is the foremost river of iall rivers. She goes towards the ocean and is truly the first of all rivers.
- "18-20 Vipasha, also, is here, and Vitasta, Chandrabhaga, Iraviti, Shatadru, the river Devika, Kaushiki, and Gomati, and this celestial River who has in her all the sacred lirthas, ris, the goldess Ganga, who having originated from the celestial region has descended on the Earth and is considered as the foremost of all rivers I—Having sand this, the wife of that god of gods, that foremost of all pious persons, smilingly addressed all those Rivers of her sex.

2t Indeed, the wife of the great god, devoted to the performance of all dutes questioned those individuals of her sex about the duties of women Indeed, those foremost of rivers having Ganga for their first all know the duties of women.

Uma said .-

- 22 The illustrious god has asked a question about the duties of women. I wish to answer Shankara after having consulted with you.
- 23 I do not find any branch of knowledge on Earth or Herven that is capable of being mastered by any individual without your help Ye rivers that run towards the ocean it is, therefore, that I seek your quintums
- 24 It was in this way that those foremost of Rivers, all of whom were, assignous and highly sacred, were accosted by Shiva's wife. Then the celestial River Gangar, who adored the daughter of the king of mountains in return, was selected for answering the question.
- 25 Indeed, she of sweet smiles is held as swelling with various kinds of under-standing and well conversant with the duties of women. The sacred guiddess capable of removing all fear of sin, gifted with humility in consequence of her intelligence, will acquainted with all duties, and endued with an exceedingly comprehensive intelligence, werelly smiling, uttered these words —
- 27 O goddess, you are always given to the due performance of all duties. You have favored me highly by thus questioning me. O sinless one, you are honoured by the entire universe, yet you ask me that am but a River.
 - as That person who, though himself competent yet asks another, or who pays a graceful fribute to another, certainly deserves, I think to be considered as righterous-souled indeed such a person deserves to be called learned and wise.
- 29 That person never falls into disgrace who asks such speakers as are gifted with knowledge and science and as are well conversant with premises and inferences.
- 30 A proud man, even when gifted with intelligence, by speaking in the midst of an assembly otherwise, finds himself uttering only words of weak meaning.

husband, and no god that can compare with him

54 A woman considers husband's grace and Heaven as equal, or, if unequal the inequality is very trivial. O Maheshwarat I do not wish Heaven itself if you are not satisfied with me.

55 If the husband that is poor, or diseased or distressed, or fallen among enemies, eased or distressed, or fallen among enemies, or afflicted by a Brahmani's curse, we not command the wrife to accomplish anything that is improper or unrightnous or that may bring on the destruction of life itself, the wife should, without any hesitation, accomplish it, guided by the code whose propriety is sanctioned by the Law of Distress.

57. I have thus O god, explained at your commend, what the duties of women are. Indeed that woman who acts thus, becomes eintiled to a share of the merits acquired by tier husband.

Narada said :--

58 I hus addressed, the great god lighly spuxe of the daughter of the king of mountains and then dismissed all persons who had assembled there, together with all his own attendants.

50 The various tribes of ghostly beings, as also all the embodied Rivers, and the Gandharvas and Apparas, all bowed their heads to Mahadeva and departed for returning to the places whence they had come.—

CHARIER CXLVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -Continued.

The Rishis said :-

t. O holder of Pinaka, O tearer of the eyes of Bhaga, O you adured of the entire sincerse, we wish to hear the glory of Vasudeva. Maheshwara said --

2 Harris superior to the Grandfather himself. He is the Eternal Purusha. Otherwise called Krishna, He is endued with the apleutiour of gold and pitted with sular effulgence.

3. Having ten arms, He is gifted with great energy, and is the Destroyer of the enemies of the celestrals. He has a whit on His breast, and curly locks of hair on His head, He is adored of all the criestrals.

His head, He is adored of all the celestials.

4 Brahman has sprung from his abdomen I have originated from his head.

All the luminaries in the sky have origin and from his hair. From the britles on his bidy have originated all the gods and demons.

5 From his hody have originated the Rishis as also all the eternal worlds. He is the abode of the Grandfather and of all the gods

6. He is the Creator of this Earth and He is the Lord of the three worl is He is also the Destroyer of all creatures mobile and immobile

7 He is indeed, the Foremost of all the Chastiser of all enemies He is gifted with Omniscience He exists in everything He is capable of going everywhere. He permeates everything.

S He is the Supreme Soul He is the Worker of all the senses He cover the imprerse He is the Supreme Lord There is nothing in the three worlds which is superior to Him.

9—11. He is Fiernal. He is the destroyer of Madhu, and is otherwise called Grown da. The Giver of Jones. He will cause all the kings of Earth to be killed in hattle for securing the purposes of the celestials taking burth in a luman form. The celestials abandoned his Him are unable to do their work on Fixth. Without Him as their leader they cannot do anything. He is the leader of all creatures and is worshoped by all the gods.

12-13. Within the abdomen of this Master of the gods Whi nisways does celestral work, of this Oie Whilliam at one with Brahma, and Who in a live with its office form [Richias, fives Brahma, with the content fitting, fives Brahma, but he will be seen that the seen of the content fitting that am called Sharva, also live happily in that happy abode of mine.

14 All the celestrals, too live happily in his body. Gifted with great effulgence, He has eyes which resemble lates petal-line god less of prosperity lives within Hill and He lives always in her company.

15-17. The baw called Sharanga and the docus (called Sudershare) are his weepont, a well as a sword. He has the emblem of the eventy of all the makes of his standard. He has the standard he has the standard he has decident conduct, by parity, by selections to be a superior of the standard has by patience, by success, by eiches, by mercy by the beauty of form, end by paver. He shores, having all celerial weepons of wonderful form and make.

- 18 He has Yoga for his illusion. He has a thinisaid eyes. He is fee from every stain or failt. He is high minded He is gifted with teroisin. He is an object of pinde with all his friends. He is dear to all his kinsinen and relatives, and they are dear to him.
- 19 He is gifted with forgiveness. He is new from pride or egotism. He is devoted to the Brahmans and is their leader. He removes the fears of all persons stricken with fear. He increases the joys of all his friends.
- 2). He is the relige of all creatures the is ever engaged in protecting and cherishing the distressed. Having instery over all the scriptures and every kind of affluence, if it is adored by all beines.
- 21 Knowing all duties, He is a great benefactor of even enemies when they seek His protection. Conversant with policy and endined with policy, He is an uttered of Brahina and has all His senses under perfect restraint.
- 22—23 For doing good to the celestials, Govinda will take birth in the family of the great Manu Indeed grited with great intelligence, He will take birth in the auspianous and righteous family of that Prajapati Manu will have a son named Anga. Alter Anga will come Antardaman
- 24 From Antardhaman will come Havirdhaman, that locd of all creatures, free from every stam. Havirdhaman will beget an illustrous son named Prachma Varhi
- 25 He will have ten sons having Prachetas for their first. Prachetas will have a son named Daksha who will be regarded as a Prajapati. Daksha will beget a daughter named Dakshayam.
- 26 From Dakshayani will spring Aditya and from Aditya will spring Manu Manu will beget a dinahter named Ha and a son named Sudyunna.
- 27 Ha will have Vudha for her husband, and from Vudha will spring Puturawas From Pururawas will spring Ayu From Ayu will spring Nahusha and Nahusha will beget a son named Yayati
- 28 From Vayati will spring a powerful son named Vadu Vadu will beget Krosh-tit Kroshtri will beget a powerful son named Vrijonvat.
- 29 Vrijimivat will beget the invincible Ushadgu Ushadgu will beget a son named Chitraratha.
- 30-31. Cintraratha will have a younger with the son of the name of Shura. Indeed, in the family of these powerful men of energy known virtue.

- all over the world, gifted with excellent conduct and various accomplishments given to the performance of sacrifices and pure in behaviour,—in the pure family honored by the Brahmans Shure will take his birth fle will be a foremost Kshariya, gifted with treat energy, and possessed of great lame.
 - 32 Shura, that giver of honors, will beget a son, the perpetuator of his family, of the name of Vasudeya, otherwise called Anakadundhusi
 - 33 Vasudeva will have a son of name Vasudeva. He will have four hands. He will be greatly liberal and will ho tor the Brahmanas greatly. Identical with Brahman, he will love and like the Brahmanas, and the Brahmanas will love and like him.
 - 34 I hat scion of Yadu's race will liberate many kings confined in the prison of the king of the Magadhas (Jarasandha) alter defeating him in his capital buried among mountains.
 - 35 Gifted with great energy, he will be rich with the jewels and gems of all rulers of the Earth Indeed, in energy he will be peerless on Earth.
- 36-99 Possessed of great prowess, the will be the king of all kings of the Earth, Foremost among all the Surasenas, the powerful one hing at Dwaraka, will rule and protect the entire Earth after d-leating all her kings, conversant as he will be with the science of policy. Assembling together do ye all worship Hins, as ye adore the Eternal Brahman, with speech, flowers, and excellent notenes and performers. He who wishes to see me or the Grandlather Wassen as hoold grower. If He is seen I am seen, as also the Grandlather Brahman, that foremost of all the celestials.
- 40-41 I do not find any difference in this Know this, O Robbs having acciciam for wealth. That person with whom the lotus eyed Vasudeva becomes pleased, is liked by all the detites with Brahman amongst them. Richatan will succed in acpropriate the second property of the Heazes. He will be an instruction in relition and duties, and will acquire great religious metric.
- 43 All persons knowing religion and duties should, with great readiness, bow down to that Lord of all the gods. By adoring that powerful one, one will acquire great ment.
- 44 Gifted with great energy, that god with the desire of benefiting all creatures, created millions of Rishis for the sake of virtue.

- 45 Those millions of Rishis, thus created by that great Ordainer are now living on the mountains of Gandhamadana, headed by Snatkumara and engaged in the performance of penances.
- 46 Hence, ye foremost of twire born ones, that foremost of all eloquent persons ris, the righteous Vasindeva, should be worshipped by all. The illustrious Hari the powerful Narayana, is, indeed, the foremost of all beings in Heaven.
- 47 Adored le adores and henored, he honores, to them who make offerings to him, he makes offerings in return Worshipped, he worships in return
 - 48 If seen always, he sees the seers always if one seeks this refuge and protection, He seeks the seeker as His refuge m return. O foremost of all righteous ones, if adored and worshipped, He adores and worsh ps in return.
 - 49 This is the practice of the faultless Vision. This is the yow that is practised by all righteous people of that first of all deities, that powerful Lord of all creatures
 - go He is always adored in the world It at Eternal Being is adored by even the celestials. Those persons who are devoted to Him with the steadiness of a vow become freed from calamity and fear proportionate to his devotion.
 - 51 The regenerate ones should always adore Him in thought word, and deed the son of Devaki should be seen by them with respect and in order to see Him with respect they should undertake the performance of penances.
 - 52 O foremost of ascetics this is the path that I show to you. By seeing Him, you will have seen all the foremost for celes-
 - 53 l, too, bow my head in respect to that Lord of the universe, that Grandfather of all the worlds, that powerful and huge boat.
 - 54 By seeing Him one sees the Trinity Ourselves, vis , all the celestials, live in Him.
 - . 55 He will have an elder brother who will be known over all the world by the name of Vala Having a plough for his weapon, in form he will look like a white lill. In fact he will be gitted with strength capable of uplitting the entire Farth.
 - 56. Upon the car of that divine person a tall pal nyra, three-headed and made of gold will be his standard.
 - 57 The head of that mighty-armed hero, that Lord of all the worlds, will be covered with many luge snakes. All wespons of attack and defence will also come to hirr as soon as he will think of them.

- 58-59 He is called Ananta (Infinite). That illustrious One is at one with the immutable Hari. Once on a time, the celestiak thus spoke to the mightly Gaiuda, the son of Kashyapa —Do you, O powerful one, see if this One has any end —I hough grited with great energy and power, Garuda, however, could not find out the end of this Illustrious One who is at one with the Supreme Soul,
- 60. Supporting the entire Earth on His head, He lives in the nether regions. He roves through the universe as Shesha, filled with great joy
- 61 He is Vishnu, He is the illustrious Ananta, He is the supporter of the Farth He who is Rama is Hrishikesha. He who is Achyuta is Ananta the bearer of the Earth.
- 62 Both of those foremost of all creatures are celestral and gifted with divice prowess. One of them is armed with the discus and the other with the plough. They deserve every I onor and should be seen.
- 63 I have through my kindness for you, have thus described to you the nature of Vasudeva I his, O ye ascetics having penances for wealth, is Virtue
- ances for wealth, is Virtue

 64 I have described all this to you so that ye may, with respect and care adore Krishna, that Foremost One of Yadu's

CHAPTER CXLVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Narada said :--

race.

- At the conclusion of Mahadeva's speech, loud roars were heard in the skyl hunders bellowed, with flashes of lik1 tningthe sky was covered with blue and thick clouds
- a The god of the clouds then poured pure water like to what he does in the season of rains. A thick darkness appeared The cardinal points could no longer be made out.
- 3 Then on that charming stered and eternal breast of that celesiial, mountaily, the assembled Rishis no longer saw the ghostly beings who associate with Mahadeva
- 4 Soon, however, the sky cleared Some of the Rishis started for the sacred waters. Others returned whence they ca #2

- 5 Seeing that wonderful and inconceivable spectracle, they became filled with surprise. They had heard the discourse, too, between Shankara and Uma with the same feelings.
- 6. That Foremost of all Beings, of whom the great Shankara spoke to us on that mountain, are You You are at one with Eternal Brahma
- 7 Sometime before, Mahadeva burnt Himayat with his energy, You have shown us a similar wonderful spectacle. Indeed, we remember that by what we have seen to day.
- 8 O Mighty-Armed Janarddana, I have thus, O Powerful One, recited to You the glory of that God of gods, viz., Him that is called Kaparddin or Girisha.

Bhishma said :-

- 9 Thus addressed by those hermits' Kristina, the delighter of Devaki, paid due bonors to all those Rishis.
- to. Filled with joy, those Rishis once more addressed Krishna, saying,—O Destroyer of Madhu, do you repeatedly show yourself to us at all times
- tt O Powerful One, Heaven usell cannot rejoice us so much us a sight of Your-sell Everything that was said by the illustrious Bhava is true.
- 12—13 O Crusher of enemies, we have told you all about that mystery. You are jourself acq tanted with the truth of every subject. Since, however, asked by us, You were kind enough to ask us in return, we law, I terefore, recited everything to You for only pleasing You. Here is nothing in the three, worlds that You do not know.
- 14 You are fully acquainted with the birth and origin of all things, indeed, with everything that works as a cause. On account of the lightness of our character, we cannot keep close any mystery.
- 15 Indeed, in Your presence, O Powerful One, we indulge in incoherencies from the lightness of our hearts. There is no wonr derful thing which You do not know.
- 16 You know whatever is on Earth, and whatever is in the celestial region We take our leave of You, O Krishna, for returning to our respective quarters. May you increase in intelligence and prosperity.
- 17. O Sire, You will soon get a son after You or even more distinguished than Yourself. He will be gilled with great energy and apterflour. He will ach ever great feats, and become possessed of power as great as Yours.

- Bhishma said:-
- 18 After this, the great Rish's bowed to that God of gods, that secon of Yadu's race, that Foremost of all Beings. They then went round Him and taking fits leave, departed.
- 19 As regards Narayana, who is gifted with prosperity and blazing effulgence, flor returned to Dwaraka after having duly observed that yow of His
- 20. His wife Rukmini conceived, and on the expiration of the tenth month a son was born of her, gifted with heroism and honored by all for his highly wonderful accomplishments.
- 21. He is at one with that Rama (Desire) which exists in every creature and which pervades every condition. Indeed, le moves within the hearts of both gods and demans.
- 22 This Keislina is that foremost of al, persons He, gitted with the complexion of the clouds is that fore-handed Vasudeva Through affection He has tiden up the cause of the Fandavas, and you also, je sons of Pandu, have attached yourselves to Him.
- 23. Achievements, Prosperity, Intelligence, and the Path that leads to the celestral region, are all there where this One, vis., the Illustrious Vishinu of three steps, is
- 24 He is the thirty-three gods headed by Indra There is no doubt in this He is the one Ancient Gid He is the Foremost of all gods. He is the refuge of all is creatures.
- 25. He is without beginning and with at destruction. He is unmanifest. He is the great Destroyer of Madiiu. Gilted with implify energy, He has taken birth (among men) for doing the purposes of the gods.
- 26-27. This Madhava is the expounder of the most difficult truth about Profit or Wealth, and He is also their achiever. Or one Prishs, the victory you have got over your enemies, your peerless acl revenient, the dominion you have acquired overtile whole. Earth, are all owing to having, Narayana exposed your cause.
- 23. The fact of your having got the inconcervable Narayana for your protector and refuge, enabled you to become an Adhasyy (c) el a serince) for pairing rule toucles of kings as internal nature of the brings as a serificial ladie recembing the all destroying fire which appears as the end of the cycle.
- 27 Daryaliana, with his sons, brothers and kinsmen, was much to be pitied masmuch as, moved by anger, he made war with Harr and the wielder of Gandiva.

Many sons of Diti, many foremost of

- Danavas, of luge bodies and wast strength, have died in the fire of Krishna's discus like insects in a forest fire. 31. How incapable then must human
- bein, s be of fighting against that Krishna, -human beings who. O foremost of men. are shorn of strength and power.
- As regards laya, Ic is a powerful Youn resembling the all destroying cycle fire in energy Capable of drawing the bow equally with both hands he is always in the van of fight With his energy, O king, he has killed all the soldiers of Surodhana.
- Listen to me as I tell you what Mahadeva having the bovine bull for the emblem on his standard had recited to the ascetics on the breast of Himavat utterances form a Purana.
- The advancement or greatness energy, strength, prowess power, humility, and family il at are in Arjuna can form only a third part of the attributes of Krishna.
- Who is there who can transcend Kuslna 11 these attributes? that is possible or not, listen Peerless Excellence prevails where the illustrious Kushna is
- As for ourselves we are persons of little understanding Dependent upon the will of others we are highly unfortunate Knowingly we betook ourselves to the eternal path of death
- You however, are devoted to since rity of conduct Having formerly promised not to take your kingd m, you did not take it, desirous of keeping your promise
- 38 O king, you make too much of the destruction of your kinsmen and friends in battle You should remember, however, O chastiser of enemies, that it is not fair to breek a grammer.
- All those who have fallen on the field of battle have really been killed by 'Ime Indeed, all of us have been killed Ly lime Time is indeed, all powerful
- 40. You are fully acquainted with the power of time Afflicted by fine you should not grieve Know that Krishna Himself otherwise called Hari is that I me with blood-red eyes and with club in hand
- For these reasons, O son of Kunti, 41 you should not grieve for your (slain) kinsfolk Be always free, O delighter of the Kurus, from grief.

- 42 You have heard me sing the glory and greatness of Madhaya I hat is sufficient for making a good man undestand
- Having heard the words of Viasa as also of the highly imelligent Narada, I have described to you the adorableness of Krislina. I have myself added. from my own knowledge symething to that account
- Indeed I have described also on the Surpassing Power of Krishna as recited by Mahadeva, to that assembly of Rishis have also described to you the discourse too between Maheshwara and the daughter of Himavat, O'Bharata
- He who will remember that discourse when coming out from a foremost person, he who will fisten to it, and he who will recite it, is sure to acquire what is highly beneficial
- That man will find all his wishes 46 fulfilled Deporting from this world be will ascend to the celestral region | There is no ei II ai Iduob
- It at man who wishes to obtain what is beneficial for lamself, should devote himself to Janarddana
- 48 O king of the Kurus, you should also remember those incidents of duty at di virtue which were declared by Maheshwara. 49 If you act according to those precepts if you carry the rod of punishment
- rightfy, if you protect your subjects properly you may be sure of attaining to the celestral. You should, O king, protect your subjects always according to the dictates of virtue. The strong rod of punishment which the kings bear has been said to be
- the embodiment of his virtue or merst. Hearing this discourse fraught with righteousness, between Shankara and Uma, that I have recited before this props assemblage one should adore with respect that god having the bull for the device on
- 52 One who becomes even desirous of bstening to that discourse, should adore Mahadeva with respect. Indeed the person who wishes to obtain what is beneficial for him, should worship Mahadeva with a pure heatt.

'nıs banner.

- 53 This is the behest of the sinless and lugh souled Narada He has commanded such adoration of the great god O soil of Pandu, do you obey that command of Narada.
- O powerful king, these are the wonderful incidents which took place on the acred breast of Himaist about Vasudeva and Sthamu O son of Kunti I hose events emanated from the very nature of those great deties

55 Accompanied by the holder of Gaidiva, Vasudeva practised eternal penances in the hermitage of Vadari for the thousand years.

56 Indeed, Vasudeva and Dhananjaya, having eyes like lotus petals, practised severe austerities for three entire cycles. I have learnt this from Narada and Vyasa, Oking

57 The lotus eyed and riighty-armed Vasudeva while yet a child performed the great feat of killing Kansa for the relief of his kinsmen.

58 I dare not O son of Kunti, enumerate the feats of this Ancient and Eternal Being, O Yudhishthira

59 O son forsooth, high and great benefits will be reaped by you who tave that foremost of all persons, via, Vasudeva, for your friend

I grieve for the wicked Duryo-dhana about even the next world to which he has gone. It was for him that the entire Earth has been depopulated with her horses and elephants.

61. It deed, through the fault of Duryo-dhana, of Karna, of Shakuni and of Dursodhana, of Karna, of Shakuni and of Dursi asana as the fourth, that the Kurus have died

Vaishampayana said —

62. While that foremost of men, was, the son of Ganga, spoke to him thus, the Kuru king (Yudhishthira) remained entirely atlent in the midst of those great persons.

63 All the kings with Dhritarashtra amongst them became stricken with wonder typon learning the words of the Kuru grand-latter. In their immds they adored Arishna and then turned towards him with hands clayped in respect.

64 The Rishis also headed by Narada, accepted and lightly spose of the words of this ima and approved of them toyfully.

65 These were the wonderful subjects french by Birshma which Yudhel thra with all its bir their heard with joy

66 Son etime after, when king Yudhishiria saw that Blist ma who had given away profuse ricles as presents to the Brain manas in the sacrifices celebrated by Irah had rested and become refreshed the intell gent king once more asked him as follows.

CHAPTER CXLIX

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) —

Vaishampayana said —

I Having heard all the duties in full and all those sacred deeds and objects which purify human beings of their sins, Yudhisi thira once more addressed the son of Shantanu in the following words

Yudhishthira said:-

2 Who may be said to be the One God in the wirld? Who may be said to be the One Object which is our only reluge? Who is He by adoring whom or singing whose praises human beings would get what is beneficial?

3 What religion is that which, according to your judgment is the foremost of all religions? What are those Mantras by recting which a living creature becomes freed from the fetters of brith and life?

Bhishma said -

4 One should always, diligently and throwing away all idleness, sing the praises of that I ord of the universe, that God of gods, (vis, Vasudeva) who is Infinite and the foremost of all Beings, by uttering Histobusand names.

5—6 By always adoring with respect and devotion that immutable Being, by meditating on Him, by singing His praises, and bowing it head to Him, and by celebrating sacrifices to Him, indeed, by always prassing Visit hin, who is suitout beginning and without end or destruction, who is the Supreme Lord of all the worlds, and who is the Master and Controller of the universe, one can aucteed in getting over all sortew

7 Indeed, He is devoted to the Brahmanas, kin wing all duties and practices, the enhancer of the fame and achievements of all persons the Lord of all the worlds, highly wonderful, and the prime cause of the origin of all creatures.

8. This, in my judgment, is the foremost religion of all religions vis one should always adore and sing the praises of tie lotus-eyed Vasudeva with devotion

g He is the highest Energy. He is the tighest lenance He is the tighest Brahma. He is the tighest Reluge.

to He is the most Holy of all holies the most satted of all satted objects. He is the God of all tile gods, and He is the immulable

Father of all creatures.

- II On the advent of the primitive cycle, all creatures originate from Him. On the expiration, again of the cycle, all things disappear in Him.
- 12. Hear, O king, the thousand names, highly efficacious in dissipating sins, of that Foremost One in all the worlds, that Master of the universe, vis., Vishiu.
- 13 All those names, derived from His attributes, secret and well-known, of the great Vasudeva, which were sung by the Risks, I shall recite to you for the good of all
- 14 They are, Om! He who enters all things besides Himself, He who covers all things. He to whom sacrificial libations are poured, the Lord of the Past, the Present, and the Future, the Creator (or Destroyer) of all existent things, the preserver of all existent things the Existent, the Soul of all existent things the Destroyer of the Programmer of all things (He Originator of all things (He
- 15 Of purified Soul, the Supreme Soulthe Highest Refuge of all liberated persons the Immutable, He who lies enclosed in a case, the Witness, He who knows the material case in which He lives, the Indestructible (x—xvii*).
- 16. He upon whom the mind rests during Yoga medication, the Guide or leader of all persons conversant with Yoga, the Lord of both Pradihana or Prakriu and Purusha, He who assumed a human form with a leonine head, He of beautiful features and equipments, He of beautiful harr, the foremost of Purushas (XVIII—XXVI), IV
 - 17. The embodiment of all things, the Destroyer of all things He who Iranscends the three qualities of Goodness, Darkiness, and Ignorance, the Motionless, the Beginning of all things, the source into which all things go at the universal Dissolution, the Immutable, He who takes birth at his own will, He who causes the acts of all things, the Victorian that the contraction of the contraction
 - 18. The Sell-Create, He who gives bappines to His worshippers, the presiding Genius in the midst of the Solar disc, the Lous-Dyed the Loud-Voiced, He who is without beginning and without words and the solar beginning to the Control of the Control
 - 19 The Immeasurable, the Lord of the senses, He from whose navel the printeral lotus originated, the Lord of all the celestals, the Divine Architect, the

- Mantra, He who weakens or emacrates al things, He who is vast, the Ancient One, He who is enduring (XLVII—LVI),
- 20 He who is incapable of being apprehended (by either the senses or the mind), the Bernal One, Krishna, the Red-Eyed, He who kills all creatures at the time of the universal dissolution, He who is vast for knowledge and power and other attributes of it kind, He who resides in three parts of every creature, I that which cleanses, is auspicious, and high LVIII—LXIP).
- 21 He who urges all creatures in their acis, He who makes the vital airs work, He who causes all living creatures to live, the Eidest, the Foremost of all creatures 'He who has gold in his abdomen, He who has the Earth for his abdomen, the Lord of SI ree or Lakshimi, the Destroyer of Madhu (xxv—xxxiii).
- 22 The Omnipoteut, He who is endude with great prowest, He who is a rimed with the bow, He who is bossessed of a mind capable of understanding all treatises, He who roves through the universe, riding on Garuda, He who is well-suited to the offerings made to him and who has the power to enjoy them properly, the Perelses, He who is nacapable of being discomfited, He who knows all sets that are done, He who is at one with all deeds, He who rests on His own true self (LXXIV-LXXXIV),
- 23 The Lord of all the celestals, He who is the Refuge of all, the embodiment of the I Rehest happiness, He who is seed is the universe He who is the source of all things, the Day, the Year, the Snake the embodiment of Conviction, He who sees all things (EXXXV—YCT).
- 24 The Unborn, the Lord of all ceatures. He who its acquired success, the who its Sockess itself, He who is the beginning of all things, He who is above determation. He who its interes in the form of the bull and the great boar that raised the sub-merged Earth, He who is of immeasurable soul, He who stands also from all kinds of union (xcv-citi).
- 25 He who is Pavaka among this detter called Vasus, He that is of libera sould being more of anger, later He is whose sould be a sou

- 26 He who destroys all creatures, the Many-headed, He who upholds the universe, He who is of pine or spoiless reputation, the lumoration of the interest of th
- 27 He who goes everywhere, the Omnistered One I he who shimes footh in nimodified effidigence. He who she stort in our he where the who is covered by all I lie who is the whose the who is conversant with the Veda, He who is conversant with all the branches of the Veda, He who represents the branches of the Veda, He who wittles the mitrepretations of the Veda, He who is some state the mitrepretation of the Veda. He who has no superior in wisdom (CXXIII—CXXIII).
- 28. He who is the Master of all the worlds He who is the Lord of the celestials, He who is the Supervisor of both Virtue and Sm He who is both Effect and Cause, He who is lour-souled, He who is known by four forms (as above), He who has four arms (EXXXIV—CXXI).
- 29. He who shures forth in effulgence, He who is the giver of load and chertabes the good, He who does not put up with the good, He who does not put up with the cases of the good of the

Lives in material causes (CXLII-CI);

- an He who is the younger brother of Indra, He who took burth as a dwarf, He who is tail. He whoes acts are never futle, He who classes, He who is gifted with pre-minest energy and strength, He who accepts all He workuppers, He who is the excepts all He workuppers, He who is the Creation itself on account of His being the Causes thereof, He who uploads His self in the same form without being ever subject to birth, growth, or death, He who assistant to birth, growth, or death, He who sustains this universe, He who controlls the hearts of all creatures (GLI-CLXII).
- 31. He who is worth, of being known by those who west to acquire what is for their highest good. He wi o is the celestral physician in the form of Dhanwantin, He who is always engaged in Yoog, He who kills great Adura's for establishing virtue. He who is the Lord of that Lakshim who originated from the ocean, when it was of unned by the celestrals and the Asuras, He wi os thone, He who is above the sense, He who is always.

- with great powers of illusion, He who displays great energy, He who transcends all in energy (CLXIII—CLXXII);
- 32 He who transcends [all in mithlingence, He who transcends all in power, He who transcends all mithlingence, He who transcends all mithlingence to the more statements of the statement of the
- 33 He who can shoot His arrows to a great detance, precruing through obstractions of every sort, He who rassed the sobmeteged Earth, having assumed the form of the powerful Boar, He on whose bosom lives the goddess of Property, He who is the Refuge of the pious, He who is meapable of being won without thorough devotion, He who is the delight of the electistia, He who restuded the submerged Earth, He who is the Master of all eloquent persons, (CLXXXIII.) EXEXXIII.
- 34. He who is full of blazing fulgence, Hew hor removed the affictions of this adverse, He who assumed the form of a Swan for communicating the Vedas to the Grand-lather Brahman, He who has Garuda, the formost of snakes on account of His identity with Shesha or Annata who upulods or his head the vast Earth, He whose navel is as beathful as gold, He who practised the severest anistenities in the form of Narayana at Vadarion the fivest of Himavat, van act Vadarion the fivest of Himavat, and the state of the severest anistenities in the form of the state of the severest anistenities in the form of the state of the severest anistenities in the form of the severest anistenities and the severest anistenities anistenities and the severest anistenities anistenities and the severest anistenities and the severest anistenities anist
- He who transcends death, He who always casts a kind eye on His worshippers. He who destroys all things, He who is the Ordainer of all ordainers He who Himself enjoys and suffers the fruits of all deeds, He who assumed the form of Rama the son of Dasharatha and going into exile at the Command of his father made a treaty with Sugriva the king of the Vanaras for helping Him in the recovery of his kingdom from the grasp of his elder brother Vals in return far the help which Sograva promised Him for recovering from Ravana His wife Sita who had been carried away by that Rakshasa to his island home in Lanka, He who is always of the same form, He who is always moving, lie who is incapable of being endured by Dinavas and Asuras, He who punishes the wicked, He whose soul has true knowledge fr its mark He who destroys the enemies of the celestrals (CKCVIII—CCVIII),

36. He who is the instructor in all sciences and the father of all, He who is the instructor of even the Grandfather Brahman, He who is the abode or resting place of all creatures, He who is the benefactor of the good and is free from falsehood, He whose prowess is incapable of being thwawted effe who never casts his eye on such acts as are not sanctioned or approved by the scriptures, He who casts his eve on such acts as are sanctioned or approved by the scriptures, He who wears the imfading garland of victory called by the name of Vanjayants, He who is the Lord of speech and that is possessed of great liberality insomuch that He rescued the lowest of the low and the vilest of the vile by granting them His favour (ccir-CCXVIII) ;

37. He who leads persons desirous of Liberation to the foremost of all conditions, vis , Emancipation itself (or. He who assumes the form of a powerful Fish and passing through the vast expanse of waters that cover the Earth when the universal dissolution sets in and dragging the boil tied to His horns, leads Manu and others to salett). He who is the leader of all creatures (or, He who sports in the wast expanse of waters which cover all things at the universal dissolution), He whose w rds are Veda and who rescued the Vedas when they were submerged in the waters at th universal dissolution, He who is the ac complisher of all functions in the universe He who assumes the form of the wind for making all living creatures act or exert, for, He whose movements are always le-unful, or, who wishes His creatures to glorify Him), He who has a thousand heads, He who is the Soul of the universe and as such pervades all things, He who has a thousand eyes and a thousand legs (CCXIX-CCXXII)

38 He who causes the wheel of the universe revolve at His will, He whose soul is freed from desire and who is above those conditions which invest the indrudual 5 ul, He wi o is concaled from the view of all persons who are altached to the word (or, He who has covered the eyes of all persons with the bandage of Nestenere). He who grinds it ose who turn away from Him, He who set the days agong, on account of His being at one with the Sun, He who is the destroyer of all-destroying lime itself. He who conveys the libations poured on the sacred fire to those for whom they are intended (or, He who bears the universe plrong it on only a minute part of his body). He who have no beginning, (or, He who have no beginning, (or, He who have no beginning), (or, He who have no have habitution). He that upholds the Earth (in space in the form of Sheshi or rescues her in the form of the powerful bor, or supports her as a subsile pervader) (CCXVII).

He who is exceedingly inclined to grace, insomuch that He grants happiness to even enemies like Shiship ila, He who has been need from the qualities of goodness, darkness and ignorance so that He is pure or stainless Sattwa by itself, (or, He who has obtained the fruition of all His desires), He who supports the universe, He who feeds (or enjoys) the universe. He who is displayed in infinite power, He who honors the celestials, the departed manes, and His own worshippers. He who is honored or adored by those that are themselves honored or adored by others, (or, He whose acts are all heautiful and enduring), He who accomplishes the purposes of others, He who withdraws all things unto Hunself at the universal dissolution, (or, He who destro)s the fees of the celestrals or of His worship. pers), He who has the waters for his home, (or, He who is the sole Refuge of all creatutes), or He that destroys the ignorance of all creatures (CCTXXVI-CCXLVI) :

40 He who is distinguished above all. He who cheerishes the virtuous, He who cleanses all the worlds, He who crowns with fruition the destres of all creatures, He who we wishes are always crowned with fruition, He who gives success to all, He who bestows success spon those who solicit Him for it (CCXVIII—CCXII);

41. He who presides over all sacred days, for, fle who overwhelms ludra lumstill with His own excellent attributes). He who showes all objects of desire upon His worth supers, He who walks over all the universe, He who follers the excellent flight of steps formed by Virtue, He who has Virtue in His abdomen, (or, He who protects India even as a mother protects the child in her womb), He who aggrandies (His worshippers). He who appreads Himself out for becoming the vast universe, He who is a from all things, He who is the receptacle of the one and a bhung foculty—ccc.XIV).

42. He who is possessed of excellent arms, He who is incapable of being borne by any creature, He from shom flowed the sounds called Brahma (or Veda), It's who is the Lord of all Lords of the universe. He who is the giver of riches, He who lives in His own power, He who, is milliatorn, I'm who is of vast form, He who is of vast form, He who is of the form of Eastifice in all animals, He wild

He who bears or forgives all injuries, He who upholds the Earth in the form of her mountains, He who is itselforemest of all objects of adoration. He who is gifted with great speed, He who swallows wast quantities of food GCCLXX-CCCLXXIV).

54. He who caused the creation to start moto being, He who always agistes both Nature and Soul, He who always agistes both Nature and Soul, He who always agistes both Nature and Soul, He who always agistes because of the start of the start

55 He who is understanding divested of all qualities. He on whom all things rest, He in whom all things live when the universal dissolution comes, He who assigns the foremest place to those who worship Him. He who is durable, He who is gifted with the highest power, He who has been glorified in the Vedanta, He who is contented, He who is always full, He whose glance is assiptions (Cockaxxii-cocxov),

56. He who fills all Yoguns with joy He who is the end of all creatures He who is the faultless Path, He who is, in the form of Sentencey, lead to Liberation, He who leads [jiva to Emancipation), He who has none to lead Him, He who is clud with great might, He who is the foremost of all Beings possessed of might. He who is the foremost of all Beings possessed of might, He with the whole of the property of the p

57 He who joins, at the time of creation, the distuncted elements for forming all bodies, the who resides in all bodies, for the control of t

58 He who is at once with the seasons, He at whose sight alone all adorers succeed in obtaining the great object of their wish, He who weakens all creatures, He who lives in the sky of the heart, depending upon His own glory and power, He who is capable of being knows everywhere, He who fills everyone with dread, He in whom all creatures hive, He who is clever in doing all acts. He who forms the Rest of all creatures, He who is more powerful than other Beings (CONY)—CONY).

50 He in whom the whole universe's spread out. He who is limited immobile and in whom all things rest for ever, He whos is motivet of proof, He who is the indestructible and unchanging seed, He who is sought by all, He who has no desire, He who is the great case (which covers the universe), He who has all sorts of things to enjay, He who has great wealth wherewith to secure all objects of desire (DOXXVII—CDOXXXIV).

60 He who is above despair. He who exists in the form of Renunciation. He who is without birth. He who is the state to which Virtue is bound, He who is the state to which Virtue is bound, He who is the nave of the starry wheel that revolves in the stary wheel that revolves in the stary little who is competent to perform every feat. He who is competent to perform every feat, He who stays in His own soul when all things disappear, He will ochershes the desire for Creation (CDXXXY—CDXLIY).

61 He who is the embodiment of all sacrifices, He who is adored in all sacrifices, and religious rites, He who is the most adorable of all the detices present in the sacrifices that men perform, He who is the embodiment of all such sacrifices in which animals are offered up according to the ordinance, He who is adored by personal before they take any food He who is the who is the sacrifices the sacrifices and the sacrifices in which we have a sacrification of the sac

6s. He who is observant of excellent years, the who has a face always full of yor. He who is a secentially subtle, He who is a secentially subtle, the who is a secentially subtle, the who is a second to the who is a subtle who fills all creatures with 197, He who has subdued anger, He who has mightly arms, He who tears the impious (CDLXIV).

63. He who causes shore persons who are destitute of knowledge of the soul to be steeped in the deep sleep of His illusion. He who relies on himself, He who overspreads the entire universe, He who exists in infinite forms, He who is engaged in vocations infinite in number, He who lives in everything He who is full affection towards all His worshippers, He wide is the universal father, He who holds in the form of the vast Ocean, all jewels and gems in His abodemen He who is the Lord of all treasures (CDLXY-CDLXXIV),

- 61. He who is the protector of the the che white accomplishes all the duties of Virtue, He who is the substratum of Virtue, He who is existent for all time, He who is non-existent, He who is destructible, He who is indestructible as Chit, He who is, in the form of Jiva, destitute of true knowledge, He who thousand rays, He who are the check of the check
 - 65 He who exists, in the form of the Sun, as the centre of innumerable rays of light, He who lives in all creatures, He who is the Master of even Yama and others of similar power, He who is the Master of even Yama and others of similar power, He who is the oldest of the dettes He who exists in His own glory, renouncing all conditions, He who is the Lord of even all the dettes, He who is the ruler of even him who up-holds the dettes (vis., Indra) (COLXXXVI—COKCIII).
 - 66 He who transcends birth and death, He who tended and protected kine, He who noursless all creatures, He who is approachable by knowledge alone, He who is Ancient, He who uploids the elements which from the body, He who enjoys and suffers fie who assumed the form of a hoge Boar, He who gave plential presents to all in a grand sacrifice performed by Him (CRXCY—PDIS).
 - 67 He who dranks Soma in every sacrafice, He who druk suctar, He who in the form of Soma (Chandramas) nourishes all tile lerbs and plants, He who conquers enemies in a moment when even they are wholes He who the the solid solid solid form and is the foremost of all existe at bodies. He who is the chastor, He who is v ctorious over all, He whose purposes the whole preview and the contracts have not and who protects what they have (DIII— DXIII)
 - 63 He who holds the life breaths, He who sees all His creatures as objects of direct vision, He who never sees anything bendes His own Jelf, He who gives Liberation, He whose footsteps covered Heaven Earth, and the Nelher regions, He who is the receptacle of all the waters, He who werewhelms all Space, all Time, and all things, He who lees on the vatt expanse of waters after the universal dissolution, He who causes the dearruction of all things (DXIII—DXXII)

- 69 He who is without buth, He who is exceedingly adorable He who appears in His own nature. He who has conquered all enemies, He who delights those who mediate on Him He who is 199. He who fills others with delight. He who swells with all causes of delight, He who has Truth and other virtues for His indications, He whose footsteps are in the three worlds (DXXIII—DXXII).
- 70 He who is the first of Rish's, He who is identical with the preceptor Kapta, He who is knower of the universe. He who is Master of the Erith, He who has three feet, He who has the preceding of the clestuds, He who has large horas, He who exhausts all acts by causing their does to enoy or suffer their fruits (DXXXI—DXXXVIII.)
- 71. The great Boar, He who is understood or apprehended by the help of the Vedanta, He who has beautiful troops, He who is adorned with golden armies, He who is adorned with golden armies, He who is footness. He who is footness both word and thought, He who is a small with the discus and the mace (DXXII).
- 22 The Ordanner, He who is the cause (in the form of helper) of the universe He who has never been defeated He who is the Island Born Kershan, He who is enduring, He who mows all things and is Himself above decay, the Varina, the son of Varina, He who is minovable as a tree, the low is the control of the
- 73 He who is possessed of the sixfold attributes. He who destroys the sixfold attributes, He who is felterly, He who is adorned with the triumphal garland He took brith from the womb of Adit, He who is endued with solar effulgence. He who endures all pairs of opposites, He who is the foremost Refuge of all things (DLIX—DIXYII).
- 74 He who is aimed with the best of hows (called Sharags). He who was divested of His battle-axe (by Rama of here with the horizontal He who is force, He who is the giver of all objects of desire. He who is to tail at so touch the very Heavens with its head, He whose vision extends over the entre universe He who is Vysta, He who is the Master of speech or all learning, He who has come into being without he intervention of genital organs (DLTPJII)—DLXXYI).

- 75 He who is hymned with the three (Icremost) Samans, He who is the Extenction of all worldly attachments, He who is the Medicine, He who is the Physician, He who has ordained the fourth or last mode of life called Renunctain, the who causes the passions of Illis worshippers to be contended. He who is the thefuge of devotion and tranquility of Soul (Dixxxvi)—DXXXXV).
- 76 He who is possessed of beautiful inbis, He who is the given of tranquillity of soul. He who is the Greator, He who sports in poy on the bosom on the Earth, He who sports in poy on the bosom on the Earth, He who sleeps (in Yoga) lying on the body of the prince of snakes, blesha, after the universal dissolution, the Benefactor of kine, the Master of the universe, the Protector of the universe, He who is endeded with eyes like those of the buil! He who cherishes Virtue with Devo (DLXXXVII—DXCV),
- 97. He who is the unreturning hero, He whose soul has been withdrawn from all attachments; He who reduces to a subtle form the universe at the time of the universe as all dissolution, He who does good to His afflicted worshippers. He whose name, as soon as heard, purges the hearer of all his sms, He who has the mystem mark (Shribatsa) on His breast He in whom lives the goddess of Prosperty for ever, He who was chosen by Lakshim as her hubband, He who is the foremott one of all Beings gifted
- with prosperity (DXCVI—DCIV),

 78 He who gives prosperity to His worshippers, the Master of prosperity, the who always lives with those who are end sed with prosperity. He who is the receptacle of all kinds of prosperity, He who gives proportionate to their virtue, He who holds the goddess of Prosperity on his bosom
 He who confers prosperity upon those that hear of, praise, and medicate on Him He who is the embodiment of that condition which represents the attainment of usattamable happiness He who is possessed of every kind of beauty, He who is the Refuge of the three world's [Oce—DCIVI).
 - 179. He who has basutful eyes, He who has beautiful humbs He who is a hundred sources of delight. He who represents the hughest delight He who is the Master of all the luminates in the sky, He who has subjugated He soul, He whose soul is not governed by any superior Beng, He who is always of beautiful deeds, He whose is always of beautiful deeds, He whose humbers are not supported by any superior Beng, He who is always of beautiful deeds, He whose humbers are humbers and he will be a supported by the support of the seet palm (Deve-DEXIII). My probaban in His Support of the seet palm (Deve-DEXIII).

So He who is above all creatures, He whose vision extends in all directions. He who has no Master. He who at all times is above all changes, He who tat he lief most Rama) had to be down on the naked earth, He who adorns the Earth, He whose power incarnate, He who is above all grief, le who removes the grafe so all his worshippers as soon as they remember Him (norxity—DoEXXII).

He who is possessed of effulgence,

- He who is adored by all, He who is the water-pot, He who is of pure soul, He who pure soul, He who purfies all as soon as they hear of them. He who is free and unrestranted He whose car never turns away from battles, He who has immense riches, He whose prowess is incapable of being rineasured (DCWMIT—DCMI).

 So He who is the destroyer of the Asura
- S2 He who is the destroyer of the Auranamed Kalanem, He who is the Hero, He who has taken butth in the lamily of Shura, He who is the Lord of all the celestifist the Sar of the tree worlds, the solar and linar rays for His hair, the destroyer of Keshi, He who destroys all thing cut the universal dissolution (DCCLIE—DCL).
- B3 The desty from whom the frustion of all desire is sought, H. who grants the wishes of all, He who has desires He who has a handsorie form He who is endued that perfect knowledge of Sheitin and Smirts He who is possessed of a form which the hand of the whole is possessed of a form which the hand of the whole is possessed of a form which the hand of the whole is possessed of a form which the hand of the whole is the whole is the hand of the whole is the hand of the hand of Aryan and Nara) acquired immense riches on the occasion of his campaign of conquest (DCII—DCIX).
- —DCLX).

 84 He mho is the foremost object of silent rec tations of sacrifices of the Veday, and of all religious deeds. He who is the creator of penances and the like, He who is to the form of Brahman. He who is the augmentor of penances He who is conversant with Brahman, He who is conversant with Brahman, He who has for His limbs Him who is called Brahman, He who know all the Veday and everything in the universe, He who is always fond of Brahmanas and of whom the Brahmanas also are fond (DCLXI—DCLXXI).

50 50 SE

his eye, He who is worthy of adoration by Brahman I inself and other foremost ones in the universe, He who is the giver of food, He who assumed horins at if a time of the universal divolution, He who has always subligiated His enemies most wonderfully, He who knows all things, He who is evictious over those who are of irresistible prowess (DCCM—DCCCKI).

99 He whose limbs are lee cold, He who is incapable of being aguitated, the who is Master of all those who are masters to all speech, He who is the deepest sub defects the He who is the deepest pit, He who transtends the influence of 1 ime, He in who that primal elements are established (DCCO—DCCO).

100. He who gladdens the Earth, He who grants fruits which are as agreeable as the Yasminum puberceus flowers, He who gave away the Earth to Kashyapa, He who temoves the three kinds of misery like a rain-charged cloud cooling the heat of the Earth by its down-pour, He who purified all creatures, He who has none to urge Him, He who drank nectar, He who has numbying body, He who is possessed of an undying body, He who is possessed of turned lowards every direction (DCCVII)—DCCCXII.

101. He who is easily won, He who his performed excellent vows. He who is crowned with success by Hunself, He who is a victorious over all enemies. He who storches all enemies, He who is the server of the trees, He who is the server of the trees, He who is the server of the receiver of the trees, He who is the server of the receiver of the trees, He who is the server of the receiver of the trees, and the relief, in correct prece of His being all privilable forms in the universe even as He is all the impersiable forms which evisit, He who is the slayer of Chanara of the Andhra country (Decouvril—Decouvry);

102. He who is endued with a thousand rays, He who has seven tongues, He who has even thought the who has even flories, He who has seven horses for carrying His welniel, He who is for carrying His welniel, He who is sinconcervable. He who resurves all leaves all leave to correct the concervable and the who destroys all lears (DCCCXXVI).

103. He who is minute, He who is gross, He who is emacated. He who is adjose, He who is particular, the who is above all attributes, He who is above all attributes, He who is above all attributes, He who is some examples, He who suffers Himself to be easily seazed thy His worshappers, He who has an excellent face, He who has for His deternadant the people of the accederal extendant the people of the accederal sating of the fiv.fold primal elements (DOCCEXXV—DECCELY).

104. He who bears heavy weights (in the form of Annala), He who has been declared by the Vedas, He who is devoted to Yoga, He who is the Lord of all Yogans, He who is the green of all desires, He who allords an asylumto those that veek it, He who is the green of the who sets Yogans to practise Yoga anew after their return to hie upon the conclusion of their blessed life in Heaven, He who invests Yogans with power even after the exhaustion of their livers, He who has goodly leaves, He who causes the winds to blow (poccativit—poccivit).

Jos. He who is armed with the bow, He who is conversant with the beginner of arms, He who is the red of punishment, He who is the red of punishment, He who is classifier. He who is curved at list meneres of punishment, He who has never been defeated, He who is competent in all acts, He who engages all persons in their respective duties, He who has none to set Him to any work, He who has no Yama to kill Him (DecCIVII—DECCIVII).

106 He who is gifted with heroism and prowests. He who has the quality of Sattwa (Goodness). He who is identical with Iruth, He who is dwieted to Iruth and Virtue, He who is sought by those who are dictrimined upon acquiring Liberation, He who deserves to the control of the c 107 He whose track is through the sky, He who shues at His own effulgence, He who is a gifted with great beauty. He who cats the offerings made on the sacrifical fite. He who lives everywhere and is gifted with supreme power. He who suchs the moisture of the Earth in the form of the brings forth all thougs. He who is the parent of the universe, He who has it earned to the universe, He who has it was fer His sey (DCCLXXXXV).—DCCLXXXXV).

103 He who is Infinite, He who accepts all satisfacts offerings. He who enjoys Wature in the form of Mind, the wing present he who has taken repeated births, He who is the First Born of all existent things He who is above despair, He who forgives the pious when they first before the who is the foundation of the universe, He who is most wonderful (DOCCLXXXVI—DOCCLXXI).

100. He who is existent from the beginning of lime, He who is existing from before the birth of the Grandfather and others, He who is of a taway color. He who assumed the form of the grey Boar, He who exists even when all things are disselved, He who the giver of all blessings, He who creates blessing, He who is identifiable with all blessings. He who enjoys blessings. He who is able to scatter blessing (occcxcri—cu);

110. He who is without anger, He who less enconced in Iolds, He who is armed with the ducus, He who is gritted with great process, He whose sway is governed by the great precepts of the Shruus and the Shruus and the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the help of the same timed to express with the power of the same timed to great. He who lives in all bodiers, pided with the power of removing darkness (CNYI)—CNIXIV).

111. He who is shorn of anger, He who is expert in doing all acts by thought, word, and deed, He who can do all acts within the shortest time, He who destrops the wicked, He who is the forement of all forgiving persons, He who is forement of all persons prized with knowledge, He who is above all ferr, He whose names and deeds, beard and recited, lead to writte (CMEV—CETERT).

512. He who rescues the Virtuois from the tempestuous ocean of the world, He who destroys the wecked, He who is Virtue, He who resons all evil dreams, He who destroys all bad paths for leading His worshopers to the good path of Libertainon, He who protects the universe by staying in the quality of Goadness, He who walks along good path. He who size the file COMMINITEMENT.

113. He who is of infinite forms. He who is guited with infinite prosperity. He who has subduced anger. He who destroys the fears of the pious, He who gives just fruits, on every side, to sentient beings according to their thoughts and deed,. He who is of immessurable Soul, He who bestows for their various deeds, He who is the substantial of the control of the con

II a He who has no beginning. He who is the receptacle of all Gausses as well as of the Earth, He who has the goddess of Property always by its sude, He who is adorn the foremost of all heroes, He who is adornal Gausses He who is the original cause of the birth of all creatures, He who is the terror of all the wicked Auras, He who is gifted with terrible prowess [CMRLIN].

115 Re who is the receptacle and abode of the five primal elements. He who gulps down list throat all creatures at the time of the universal dissolution. It whose smill is as pleasant as the sight of flawers, it's who is always waskell, if in who stays at the head of all creatures, lie whose condict consists of those acts which the Pious do, lie who who revives the dead, lie who has ordained all pous deeds (cut—cutzviii):

216 He who d splays the truth about the Supreme Soul, He who is the abode of the five life breath and the tenses He who is the look which manufairs all living creative life who is the host which manufairs all living creative life who have been supported by the beautiful and have with the help of the with all as called Prana, He who is the great subject of every system of philosophy. He who is the One Soul in the universe, He who is above buttle, decreptuble, and death (CMLM-CMLKV).

217. He who receives the universe on account of the sarred syllabites thanh. Bluevah, Swah, and the others with which Homsofferings are mived, lie who is the great receiver. He who is the father of all, lie who is the father of each of the father (Brahman), fit who is of the form crifices. He who is the sacrifices for His limbs, He who has sacrifices for His limbs, He who upholes all sacrifices (SMALVI-CONLARY).

upholes all sacrifices (CMLXVI—CMLXXV);

118. He who protects scriffices, He who is the loremost of all performers of assertifices, He who is the loremost of all performers of all sacrifices, He who causes the celebration of all sacrifices, He who completes all sacrifices by accepting the full bloshon at the end, He who is the food which sustains all living creatures, He who is the food which systam all living creatures, He who is also the eater of that food (CMLXXVI).

CMULARIV),

119 He who is Himself the cause of His existence, He who is self-born fife who penetrated through the solid Barth, He who sings the Samans He who is the dealighter of Devalu, He who is the Creator of alf, He will on the I and Barth, He with a Salbertectoper of the aims of Barth, He will support (AUXXXXV—CMXCII), 150 He who bears the conclit (Panchajanya) at his hand, He who bears the word of Knowledge and illusion, He who sets the wheel of the cycles to revolve ceaselessly. He who invests Himself with consciousness and the senses, He who is gitted with the mace of the most solid understanding, He who is strined with a cart-wheel, and who is a strined with a cart-wheel, and who is a strined with all kinds of weapons (CERCHI-30).

OM, SALUTATIONS TO HIM.

CHAPTER CL.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Yndhishthira said :--

- t. O grandiather, O you of great wisdom, O you who kn w all branches of knowledge, what is that subject of silent recitation by recutting which every day one may win the ment of virtue in a large measure?
- 2. What is that Mantra for recitation, which gives success, if recited on the occasion of starting on a pointery or mentering a new building, or at the beginning of any undertaking, or on the occasion of sacrifices in honor of the detties or of the manes?
- q. You should tell me what, indeed, what Mantra it is, which propitates all malevolent influences, or brings on prosperity or growth or protection from each, or the destruction of enemies, or the dispelling of fears, and which, at the same time, is consistent with the Vedas.

Bhishma said :-

- 4 Hear, O king, with rapt attention, what that Mantra is which was declared by Vyasa. It was ordained by Savitr and is highly excellent. It is capable of purifying a person forthwith of all his sun.
- 5 Hear, O sinless one, as I recite to you the ordinances about that Manira. Indeed, O chief of the sons of Panda, by listening to those ordinances, one becomes purged of all his sins.
- 6 One who recites this Mantra day and might becomes never sufficed by sin. I shall now declare it to you what that Mantra is Do you listen with rapt attention.
- 7. Indeed, the man who hears it becomes gitted with longevity, O prince, and attaining to the fruition of all his desires, sports happily both in this life and in the next.
- 8 Flus Mantra, O king, was daily recited by the foremost of royal sages performing Kahatriya ditties and steadily observing the vow of truth.
- g Indeed O foremost of kings, those monarchs who, with controlled senses and trangul soul recite this Mantra every day, succeed in winning unrivalled prospently.
- to Salutations to Vashishtha of high yows, after having bowed with respect to Parashara, that Ocean of the Vedas Salu tations to the great snake Ananta, and salutations to all those who are crowned with success, and who are of undecaying glory.

- if "Salutations to the Rushis, and to this who is the Highest of the High, the god of gods, and the giver of booms to all those that are forement. Salutations unto Him of a thousand heady, Him that is most auspicious, Him who has a thousand names, ris, Januadaun.
- t2—(3 Aja, Ekapada, Ahreradhna, the unvanquished Pinakin, Rina, Piirurupa, the ti ree-eyed Maheshwara, Vrishakapi, Shambhu, Hayana, and Ishwara,—these are the celebrated eleven Rudras, who are the lords of all the worlds,
- 14—15 These eleven high-souled ones have been meninned as a hondred in the Shatarudra (of the Vedas). Angslia, Binga, Mira, Variona the lord of waters, Dharri, Aryaman, Jayanta, Bhaskara, Tashiri, Pinshan, Indra, and Vishnia, are said to emprise a tale of twelve, These twelve are called Adrysas and they are the sons of Kashyapa as the Shruti decidares.
- 16 Dhara, Dhruva, Soma, Savittra, Anila, Anala, Pratyusha, and Prabhava, are the eight Vasus, named in the scriptures.
- 17. Nasatya and Dasra are said to be the two Ashwins. They are the sons of Martanda born of his wife Samjins, from whose nostrils they emanated.
- 18 After this I shall recite the names of those who are the witnesses of all deeds in the worl is a lifey take note of all sacrifices, of all gitts, of all good deeds.
- 19-20. Those lords among the deities see everything although they are invisible. Indeed, they see all the good and bad deeds of all beings. they are Mittig Kala. Let Vishwedevas, the Pittis having forms, the great Rishs having penances for wealth; the Munis, and others crowned with success and devoted to penances and Luberation.
- 21. These of sweet smiles canfer varients heachts upon ti ose men who recute their names. Indeed, gifted as they are with celestial energy, they cinfer various regions of Amountees accounted by the Scandlattice upon such men.
- 22 They live in all the worlds and attentively mark all deeds. By secting the names of those fords of all living creatures [I one slawsys becomes gifted with righteenisness and wealth and enjoyments in profus-
- 23 One acquires bereafter diverse regines of auspiciousness and happiness created by the Lord of the universe.
- 24-28 These thirty-three deties who are the lords of all beings, as also Nandi-shwara of huge body, and that pre-eminent's one who has the bull for the emblem on his bauner, and those masters of all the worlds. the followers and associates of him called Ganeshwara and those called Saumyas, and those called the Raudras, and those called the Yogas, and those who are known as the Bhutas, and the luminaries in the firmament, the Rivers, the sky, the king of birds (eir, Greuda), all those persons on Earth who have become crowned with success on account of their nennices. and who are existing in an immobile or mobile form. Himayat, all the mountains the four Oceans, the followers and compamons of Bhaya who are gifted with provess equal to that of Bhava himself, the illustrious and ever victorious Vishnu and Skanda, and Amvika -these are the great souls by reciting whose names with controlled senses. one becomes purged of all his sins.

29-30. After, this, I shall recute the names of those foremost Rishis who are known as Manavas. They are Vavakrita, and Ruibhya, and Aravasuu and Paravasuu, and Aitshiya, and Kakshivat, and Valathe son of Anguras. Then is Kanwa the son of the Rishi, Mandhauthi, and Varishiada.

33. All these are gifted with the energy of Brahma and have been spoken of as creators of the universe. They have originated from Rudra and Anala and the Vasus By recting their names people get great benefits.

32. Indeed, by doing good deeds on Earth, people sport happily in the celestial region, with the celestials. These Rishis are the priests of Indra. They live in the East.

'33 That man who, with rapt attention, recites the names of these Rishis succeeds in ascending to the regions of Indra and getting great honours there.

"31—35 Unmuchu, Pramuchu, Swastwyatteya of great energy, Dridhavya, Urdhavahu, Innasoma Angras, and Agastya of great energy, the son of Mitravaruna—these seven are the Ritwijas of the Yama the king of the dead, and live in the southern quarter.

-36—37 Dridleyu, Riteyu, illustrious Partyyadia, Ekata, Dwita and Irita—the last three gifted with solar effulgence,—and Atri's son of rigeteous soul era, the Rishi Saraswata—these seven who had acted as Riwijas in the great sacrifice of Varuna—have taken up their abodes in the Western quarter.

39-39 Atri, the illustrious Vashishtha, the great Rishi Kashyapa, Gotama, Bha-radwaja, Vishwamitra the son of Kushika, and Richika's fierce and energetic son Jamadagni —these seven are the Ritwijas of the Lord of treasures and live in the Northern quarter.

40 There are seven other Rishis who live in all directions without being confined to any particular one. They, it is who give fame and of all that is beneficial to men, and they have been sung as the creators of the worlds.

4t. Dharma, Kama, Kala, Vasu, Vasuki, Ananta, and Kapila —these seven are the upholders of the world.

42. Rama, Vyasa, Drona's son Ashwatthaman, are the other Rishis. I hese are the great Rishis as divided into seven groups, each group consisting of seven

43. They are the creators of that peace and good which men enjoy. They are said to be the Regents of the quarters. One should turn his face to that direction in which one of these Rishis live if one desires to adore him.

44-15 Those Rishis are the creators of all Creatures and have been considered as the purifiers of all Samvarta, Meravarta, the righteous Markandeya, and Sankhya and Yoga, and Narada and the great Rishi Durvassa, "these are gifted with severe penances and great self-control, and are celebrated over the three worlds."

46 There are others who are equal to Rudra himself. They live in the region of Brahman. By naming them with respect a sonless man obtains a son, and a poor man acquires riches.

47-88. Indeed, by naming them, one acquires success in religion, and wealth and pleasure. One should that the the name of that celebrated king who was Emperor of all the Earth and equal to a Prayapative, that foremost of monatchs, Prithu, the son of Vena, The Earth became his daughter. One should also name Pururavays, of the Solar race and equal unto Mahendra himself in power.

49. He was the son of Ha and celebrated, over the three worlds. One should indeed, take the name of that dear son of Vudha.

50—51 One should also take the name of Bharata, that here celebrated over the three worlds He also who in the golden age worshipped the gods in a grand Gomedia sacrifice our the illustrious kantideva, who was equal to Mahadeva himself, should be named. Grifed with penances, possessed of every suspenious mark he source of every suspenious mark he was the conqueror of it e universe.

52. One should also take the name of the royal sage Shweta of illustrious fame.

He had pleased the great Mahadeva and it was for his sake that Andhaka was killed

53 One should also take the name of the illustrious royal sage Bhagiratha, who through the favour of Mahadeva succeeded in bringing down the sacred river from the celestial rigion.

54. It was Bhaguratha who caused the subset of the sixty thousand son of Sagara to be washed with the sacred waters of Ganga and thereby rescued them from their sin. Indeed, one should take the names of all these nho were gitled with the bhasing effulgence of fire, great beauty, and high energy.

55. Some of them were of awe-inspiring forms and great power. One should take the names of these deities and Rishis and kings, those fords of the universe,—who are multipliers of fame.

50-57. Sanklys, and Yoga which is highest of the high, and Havya and Kayya and the high and Havya and Kayya and that refuge of all the Shruts vir, Supteme Briahma, have been declared to be the sources of great good to all creatures. These are sacred and sin-puriying, and have been spoken of very highly. These are the foremost of medimens for curing all diseases, and are the givers of success in all deeds.

58 Controlling one's senses one should OBharata, take the names of these myong and evening It is these who protect. It is these who shower rain. It is these who shine and give light and heat. It is these who blow, It is these who create all things, 59 These are considered as the foremost of all, as the leaders of the universe, as highly clever in the performance of all things, as gifted with lorgiveness, as complete masters of the senses. Indeed, it has been said that they remove all the evils to which human beings are subject.

60 These great ones are the witness of all good and bad deeds Rising up in the morning one should take their cames, for by this one is sure to acquire all that is good.

61. He who takes the names of these, becomes freed from the fear of fires and of thieves. Such a man never finds this way obstructed by any obstructed. By taking the mannes of these great ones, nen becomes free from bag dreams of every kind.

62-63. Purged of every sin such men take birth in auspicious families. That twice-burn person who with controlled senses recites these names on occasions of performing the initiatory rites of sacrifices and other religious practices, becomes, as the outcome thereof, gifted with righteousness, devoted to the study of the soulpossessed of forgiveness, and self control, and free from malice. If a man suffering from disease recites them he becomes freed from his sin in the form of disease

64. By reciting them within a house, all evils are removed from the immates. By reciting them within a field, the growth of all kinds of crops is helped.

65-68 Reciting them at the time of starting on a journey, or while one is away from his home one meets with good fortung. These names lead to the protection of his ownself, of his children and wives, of his wealth, and of his seeds, and plants Kshatriya who recites these names at the time of joining a battle sees destruction overtake his ememies and good fortune crown him and his party. The man who recites these names on occasions of performing the rites in honor of the detties or the manes, helps the manes and the deities eat to the sacrificial Havya and Kavya. The man who recites them becomes freed from fear of disease and beasts of prev. of elephants and thieves.

69-70. His burden of anxiety becomes lightened, and he becomes freed from every sim. By recting these excellent Savier Mantras on board a vessel, or in a car, or in the courts of kings, one acquires ligh success. If ere where these Mantras are recited, fire does not burn, wood

71. There children do not die, nor snakes live. Indeed at such places, there can be no fear of the king, nor Pishachas and Rakshasas.

72. Indeed, the man who recites these Mantras ceases to have any fear of fire or water or wind, or beasts of prey.

73 These Savitri Mantras, recited duly bring on the peace and well being of all the four castes. Those men who recite them with respect become freed from every sorrow and at last acquire a high end.

74 Even these are the results acquired by them who recited less Savith Mantras which are of the form of Brahma. That man who recites these Maitras in the midst of kine, sees I is kine become fruitful.

75-76 Whether when starting on a poursey, or entering a house on returning, one should recite it ese Mantras on every occasion. I ere Mantras our every mystery of the Rubius and we the very large to the recite and the should practice the duty of recita on a practice the duty of recita on a pour librations out the saccificial fire. 77. This that I have said to you, is the excellent opinion of Parashara It was recited formerly to Shakra himself Representing, as it does, I ruth or Eternal Brahma, I have declared it fully to you

28-29. It forms the heart of all creatures, and is the highest Shruin. All tures, and is the highest Shruin. All the princes of the soler and lutar families, was the Righavas and the Kuravas, perhaps and the Kuravas, perhaps the these Mantras every day after having purithed themselves. These form the highest end of hu man creatures. One becomes end of hu man creatures on becomes freed from every trouble and calamity freed from every trouble and calamity of the seven Rishis, and of Dhruch Lindeed, such recitation speedily frees one floor distress.

50. The sages of olden times, via , Kawhayan, Guuna, and otiuses, and Birngu, Anxiras and Atri and others, and Birngu, Anxiras and Atri and others, and others, and others, all of whom are regenerate Rubin, where worshipped these Mautras. Approved of by the sun of Bharadways, these Markawer and the Mauras. Sagnor of Rubina Hawing acquired them again from Vashishiba, Shakara and the Vasus went forth battle and succeeded in vangual ing the Dinavas.

St. that man who makes a present of a hundred kine with their bons covered with plate of gold to a Brahmana gitted with nuch learning and well-conversant with the Vedas, and he who causes the excellent Bharata story to be recited in his house very day, are said to acquire equal metits.

7 32. By recting the name of Birrgu, one's virtue becomes anhanced. By bowing to Vashishtha, one's energy becomes enhanced. By bowing to Radiu, one becomes victorious in battle. By recting the praises of the Ashwins, one becomes freed from diseases.

83 I have thus, O king, told you of the Savitri Mantris which are at one with eternal Brahma. If you wish to question me on any other subject, you may do so. I shall, O Bhatata, answer you.

CHAPTER CLI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Yudhishthna said ---

52 I

I. Who are worthy of being adored?
Who are they to whom we should bow?
How, indeed, should we behave towards whom? What course of conduct, O grandfather, towards what classes of persons is considered faultless?

Bhishma said :-

 The lumiliation of Brahmanas would humiliate the very celestials. By bowing to Brahmanas, one does not, O Yudinshihira's commit any fault;

3 They, indeed, deserve to be adored, They diserve to liave our yows. You should behave towards them as if they are your sons. Indeed, it is those wise men who upholds all the worlds.

4 The Brahmanas are the great causeways of Virtue about all the worlds. Their happiness consists in renouncing all kinds of riches. They are devoted to the yow of controlling speech.

5 They are agreeable to all creatures, and observe vacuous excellent yous. I regare the refuge of all creatures in the universe. They are the authors of all the regulations which govern the worlds. They are endued with great lame.

6. Penances are always their great riches Their power consists in speech! Their energy entanates from the duties they observe. Knowing all duties, they are gifted with minute vision, so that they are organz and of the subtlest considerations.

7. They are of righteous desires. They hee in the observance of well done duties. They are the cause ways of Virtue. The four kinds of hving creatures exist, depending upon them as their refuge.

8 They are the path or road along which all should go. They are the guides of all They are the eternal upholders of all the saurifices. They always uphold the heavy loads of fathers and grandfathers.

g hee never droop under heavy loads even when pressing along difficult roads, like strong cattle. They are attenue to the requirements of manes and deitles and guests. They are entitled to eat the first portions of Havya and Kavya.

By the very food they eat, they rescue the three worlds from great fear.
 They are, as it were the Islani for all worlds.
 They are the eyes of all persons gifted with sight.

II. The wealth they possess consists of all the branches of knowledge knowledge became by the name of Shiksha, and all the Shrutis Gafed with great sirth, they are conversat with the most subule relations of things, they know the en is of all things, and their thoughts are always engaged upon the science of the soul.

- th They are pilled with the knowledge of the beginning, the middle, and the red of all things, and they are persons in whom doubts no longer exist on account of the certitude of their knowledge. They are fully aware of the distinctions between what is superior and what is inferior. They it is who acquire the highest end.
- 13. Shorn of attachments, purged of all has, getting over all pairs of opposites, they are unattached to all worldly things Deserving of every honor, they are always esteemed by persons gifted with knowledge and high soults.
- 14. They cast impartial looks on sandal pasts and filth or durt, on what is food and what is not food. They see with an equal eye their brown dresses of coarse cloth and fabrics of 5 lk and animal skins.
- 13 They would live for days together without partaking of any food, and dry up their limbs by such abstention. They devote it emselves earneally to the study of the Vedas, controlling their senses.
- 15 They would make gods of those who are not gods, and not gods of those who are rods. Encaged, they can create other worlds and other Regents of the worlds than those who exist.
- 17. Through the curse of those great ones the ocean became so saline as to be undrinkable. The fire of their anger yet burns in the forest of Dandaka, unquenched by time.
- 18. They are the gods of the gods, and the cause of all causes. They are the authority of all authorities. What man of intelligence and wisdom is there who would seek to humiliate them.
- 19 Amongst them the young and the old all deserve honors. They honor one another on account of distinctions in respect of penances and knowledge.
- 20 I'ven the Brahmana who is destitute of knowledge is a god and is a great instrument for purifying others. Its amongst titem then, who is possessed of knowledge is a much higher god and like the ocean when full (to the brim).
- 21. Learned or unlearned, the Brahmana is always a great deity. Putified or not, Fire is ever a great god,
- 22. A blazing fre, even when it burns on a crematorium, is not considered as sullied on account of the character of the spot whereon it burns. Clarified butter looks beautiful whether kept on the sacrificial alter or in a chamber.
- 23 So if the Brahmana he always engaged in evil deeds, he is still to be considered as deserving of honors. Indeed, know that the Brahmana is always a great god.

CHAPTER CLIL

(ANUSHASANIK 1 PARVA) -

Table at the sale.

Yndbishthira said :-

1. 'lell us, O king, what is that reward of the worship of Brahmanas, seeing which you adore them O you of superior intelligence! Indeed, what is that success, emanating from their adoration, guided by which you worship them?

Bhishma said :--

- 2. Regarding it is cited the conversation between Payana and Arjuna, O Bharata.
- 3 Gifted with a thousand arms and great beauty the powerful Kartavirya, formerly became the lord of all the world. He had his capital in the city of Mahishmati.
- 4. Of inhaffled provess, that king of the Haihaya race of Kshairiyas governed the whole Earth begitt by neas, together with all her islands and all her precious mines of gold and gems.
- 5 Respecting the duties of the Kshatriya order, as also humility and Vedic learning, the king made large igilis of wealth to the Rishi Dattatreya,
- 6 Indeed, the son of Kritavirya thus worshipped that great ascetic, who, becoming pleased with him, asked him to solicit three boons.
- 7. Thus requested by the Rishi for boons, the king addressed him saying,—Let me have a thousand arms when I am in the midst of my elders. While, however, I remain at home let me have, as usual, only two arms.
- 8 Indeed, let combatants, when fighting, see me possessed of a thousand arms. Observant also of high vows let me succeed in subjugating the cotice Earth by my
- prowess.

 9 Having acquired the Earth righteously, let the govern her with vigilance. There is a fourth boon which. O foremost
- to O fau'tless one, being disposed to favor me, you should grant it to me!

 Dependent as I am on you, whenever I may happen to go wrong, let prous men come forth to instruct and set me right,

- 11. Thus addressed, that Brahman replied to the king, saying —So let it be I thus were those boons acquired by that king of burning effulgence.
- 12—14 Riding then on his car which was effulgent his fire or the Sun the king, blinded by I is great provess, and,—Who, indeed, is there who can be considered as ny equal in patience and energy, in fame and herosim, in provess and strength?—After he had uttered these words, an invisible voice in the sky, said —O ignoral writch, do you not know that the Brahmana is superior to the Kshartny? I lie Kshartny, helped by the Brahmana, rules all creatures.
- 15 When pleased I am able to create many creatures. When angry, I am able to destroy sil. In thought, word, and deed, I am the foremost. The Brahmana is
- certainly not above me.

 16 The first proposition here is that the Bral man is superior to Kshatriyas The counter-proposition is that the Kshatriya s superior. You have said flat the two are unted together A distinction, however, is observable in this
- 17 It is seen that Brahmanas takerefuge with Kshatriyas Ihe Kshatriyas never seek the refuge of Brahmanas Indeed, throughout the Earth, the Brahmanas accepting such refuge under the pretence of teaching the Vedas, get their maintenance from the Kshatriyas.
- 18 The duty of protecting all creatures hes with the Kshatryas. It is from the Kshatriyas that the Brahmanas derive their livelihood, How then can the Brahmana be superior to the Kshatriyas?
- 19 Yell, I shall, from to day, bring under my subjection, your Brahmanas who are superior to all creatures but who have mendicancy for their occupation and who are so self concerted.
- 20. What the virgin Gayatri has said from the sky is not true Robed in skins the Brahmanas move about in independence. I shall bring those independent aren under my subjection.
- 21. Deity or man, there is none in the three worlds who can throw me off from the sovereignty I er joy. Hence, I am certainly superior to the Brahmanas.
- 22. This world that is now considered as baving Brahmanas for its foremost dwellers shall soon be made such as to have Kshaltryas for its foremos dwellers. There is none who, is cap ible of willistanding my power in battle.

- 23 Hearing these words of Arjuna, the sky-ranging goddess became moved
- 24 Then the god of wm1 addressing the king from the sky, said—Renou ice this sinful attitude. Bow to the Brahmanas By injuring them you will bring about troubles of your kingdom.
- 25. The Brahmanas will either kill you king, though you are, or endued with great might as they are they will drive you wany from your kingdom, despoiling you of your energy.

 26. Hearing this speech, the king ad-
- dressed the speaker saying, -Who indeed, are you? -The god of wind answered -F am the god of wind and the inessenger of the celestials. I say to you what is for your benefit.

Arjuna said:-

- 27 Oh, I see that you have to-day shown your devotion and attachment to the Bralimanas. Lell me now what kind of earthly creative is the Bralimana.
- 28 Tell me does a superior Brahman's resemble the Wind in any respect? Or, is le like Water, or Fire, or the Sun, or the Firmament?—

CHAPTER CLIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

The god of wind said :--

- 1. Hear, O deluded man, what the attributes are of Brahmanas who have all high souls. The Brahmana is superior to all those which, O king, you have named.
- 2 Formerly, the Earth, indulging it a spirit of rivalry with the king of the Rigass forsook her character as Earth. He regenerate Kashyapa caused destruction to briall her by actually paralising her.
- 3. The Brahmanas are always unconquerable O king, in Heaven as also or Earth Formerly, the great Rishi Angiras, through his energy, drank officiall the waters,
- 4 Having drunk off all the waters as if they were milk the great R shi did not feel yet his thirst to be satisfied. He, therefore, once more caused the Earth to be filled with water by raising a mighty wave
- 5 On another occasion, when Angicas became enraged with me I fled aways leaving the world and lived for a ling time concealed in the Agnihotra of the *Brahmanas, through fear of that Rish.

- 6. The illustrious Purandara, an account of his having coveted the body of Ahalya, was cursed by Gautama, yet, for the sake of Virtue and wealth the Rish did not destroy outright the king of the celestials.
- y. The Ocean, O king, that was full in former days of crystal water, cursed by the Brahmanas, became saline in taste.
- 18 Even Agni who 15] gold hurd, and who blazes with effulgence when destitute of smoke, and whose flames funiting together, buc1 upwards, when cursed by the angry Angreas, became divested of all these qualities.
- 9 See, the sixty thousand sons of Sagara, who came here to worship the Ocean, have all been pulverised by the, Brahmana Kapila of golden ince.
- to. You are notequal to the Brahmanas. Do you, O king, seek your own good the Kshatriya of even great power bows to Brahmana children who are still, in their onthers' wombs.
- 11. The large kingdom of the Dandakas was destroyed by a Brahmana. The powerful Kshatriya Talayangha was destroyed by ajsingle Brahmana, was, Aurva,
- 12 Vou, too, have acquired a large kingdom, great might, religious merit, and learning, which are all difficult of acquirement, through the grace of Dattatreya.
- t3 Why do you, O Arjuna, adore Agni everyday who is a Brahmana 11He is the bearer of sacrificial hibations from every part of the universe. Are you ignorant of this fact.
- 14. Why, indeed, do you allow yourself to be stupefied by folly when you are not ignorant of the fact that a superior Brahmana is the protector of all creatures in the world and is, indeed, the creator of the living world?
- 15 The Lord of all creatures, Brahman, inmanifest, gifted with power, and of unfading glory, who created this vast universe with its mobile and immobile creatures, (is a Brahmana)
- 16 Some ignorant persons there are, who say that Brahman was born of an Egg. From the original Fig., when it opened, mountains and the cardinal points and the waters and the Fatth and the Heavens all came into existence.
- 12. No one had seen this birth of the creation. How then can Brahman be said to have taken his birth from the original Egg, when es, estally he is said to be Unbornt I to said that west increate Space is the original Egg. It was from their in create Space that the Grandfather was born,

- 18. If you ask —Whereon would the Grandfather, after, his butth from increast Space, rest, for there was then nothing else the mothing else the answer may be given thus There is an existent Being of the name of Consciousness. That mighty Being is gifted with great energy.
- rg There is no Egg. Brahman, however, is existent. He is the Creator of the universe and is its King !--Thus addressed by the god of wind, king "Arjuna remained silent.

CHAPTER CLIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) ---

The god of wind said -

- 1. Once on attime, O king, a king named Anga wished to give away the entire Earth as sacrificial present to the Brahmanas. At this, the Earth became stricken with anxiety.
- 2. I am the daughter of Brahman, I hold all creatures, Having obtained me, alas, why does this foremost of kings wish to give me away to the Brahmana?
- 3 Renouncing my character as the soil, I shall now go to my father. Let this king with all his kingdom meet with destruction I —Forming this conclusion, she departed for the region of Brahman.
- 4 Seeing the goddess Earth about to go, the Rithi Kashyapa himself immediately entered the visible body of the goddess, renouncing his own body, by the help of Yoga.
- 5. Thus penetrated by the spirit of Kashyapa, the earth grew in prosperity and became full of all kinds of vegetable produce. Indeed, O king, for the time the Kashyapa pervaded the earth. Virtue became foremost everywhere and all lears ceased.
- 6 Thus, O king, the earth remained penetrated by the spirit of Kashyapa for thirty thousand divine years, fully alive to all those functions which it used to discharge while; was penetrated by the spirit of Bratmana's daughter.
- Up n the expiration of this period, the goddess returned from the region of Brahman and arrived here bowed to Rashyapo and from that time became the daughter of that Rishs.
- 8, Kashyapa se a Brahmana. This was

- Tell the the name of the Kshatriya who is superior to Kashyapa.
- 9 Hearing these words, king Arjuna remained silent. The god of wind once more said to him,—Hear new, O king, the story of Utathya who was born in the family of Angiras.
- to. The daughter of Soma, named Bhadra, came to be considered as peerless in beauty. Her father Soma regarded Utathya to be the fittest of husbands for her.
- 11. The famous and highly blessed maiden of faultless limbs, observing various vows practised the severest austerities from the desire of getting Utathya for her husband.
- 12 After some time, Soma's father Atri, inviting Utathya to his house, bestowed upon him the famous maiden Utathya who used to give away sacrificial presents in profusion, duly received the girl for his wife.
- 13 It so took place, however, that the beautiful Varuna had, from a long time before, coveted the gurl Coming to the Iorest where Utathya lived, Varuna stole away the girl when she had plunged into the Yamuna for a bath.
- 14 Abducting her thus, the Lord of the waters took her to his own house. I hat mansion was wonderful. It was adorned with six hundred thousand lakes.
- 15. There is no palace that can be considered more beautiful than that of Varuna, It was adorned with many places and by the presence of various tribes of Apsaras and of various excellent articles of enjoyment.
- 16—17 There, within that palace, the Lord of waters, O king, sported with the damsel A little while after, Utathya came to know of the ravishment of his wide Indeed, having heard all the facts from Narada, Utathya addressed the celelestial Rishi, saying—60 O Narada, to Vacuna and speak with due severity to him. Ask and, indeed, tell him in my name that he should give her up
- t8. You may tell him further,—You are a protector of the worlds, O Varuna, and not a destroyer. Why then have you abducted my wife bestowed apon me by Soma?
- sg. Thus requested by Utathya, the aelestial Rishi Narada went to where Varuna was and addressing him, said—Do you liberate the wife of Utathya, Indeed, way have you abducted her!

- 20 Hearing these words of Narada, Varuna replied to him, saying.—This timid girl is very dear to me, I dare not let her go.
- 21—22 Receiving this reply, Narada went to Utathya and cheerlessly told him,— O great ascette, Varona has driven me from his house, catching me by the throat He is reluctant to restore to you your wife. Do you got as you please,
- 22. Hearing these words of Narada, Angiras became enraged Having penances for wealth he solidified the waters and drank them off, by his energy.
- 24 When all the waters were thus drunk off, the Lord of that element became very dispirited with all his friends and kinsfolk. For all that, he did not still give up Utathya's wife.
- 25 Then Utathya, that foremost of twice born persons, filled with anger, commanded Earth, saying —O amiable one, do you show land where there are at present the six hundred thousand lakes.
- 26—27. At these words of the Rubit the Ocean receded from the spot marked onty, and land appeared which was highly sterile 10 the rivers which flowed through that region, Utalitya said,—O Saraswati, do you become invisible here Indeed, O timil they leaving this region, go you to the desert O auspicious goddess, let this region, destitute of you, case to become sacred.
- 28 When that region became dry he repaired to Angirasa, taking with him Utathya's wife, and made her over to him.
- 29 Getting back his wife, Utathya became cheerful Then, O chief of the Hahaya Family, that great Brahmana rescued both the universe and the Lord of waters from the situation of distress into which he had reduced them
- 30-31 Knowing every duty, the lighty energetic Risk Ultablas, after getting back his wife, O king, said to Varina,—I have recovered my wife, O lord of waters, with the help of my penances and after sufficient such distress on you as made you cry aloud in pain. Having said this, he went home, with that wife of his.
- 32 Even such, O king, was Utathya, that foremost of Brahmanas. Shall I go on? Or, will you yet persist in your opinion? What, is there a Kshatriya that is superior to Utathya?

CHAPTER CLV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --

Bhishma said .-

- s. Thus addressed, king Arjuna remained silent. I he god of wind once more spoke to him — Listen now, O king, to the greatness of the Brahmana Agastya.
- Once on a time, the gods were defeated by the Asuras upon which they became very dispirited. The sacrifices of the denies were all robbed, and the Swadha of the manes was also misoproprized.
- 3. Indeed, O chief of the Haihayas, all the religious acts and observances of human beings also were stopped by the Danavas Shorn of their prosperity, the celestists wandered over the Earth as we have heard
- 4. One day, in course of their wanderings, they met Agastya of high wows, that Bratimana, O king, who was gifted with great energy and solar splendour.
- 5—6. Saluting him duly, the celestias made the usual politie enq irries. They then, O king, sand these words to that high souled one,—We have been defeated by the Danayas in battle, and have, therefore, been deprived of affil ence and prosperity. Do you, therefore, O foremost of acceptes, rescue us from this situation of great fear.
- 7. Thus informed of the condition to which the celestats had been reduced, Agastya became highly energed. Highly energetic, he at once blazed forth like the all consuming fire at the time of the vin Aersal dissolution.
- S. With the burning rays which thencame out from the Rishi, the Danavas began to be burnt. Indeed, O king, thousands of them began to drop down from the aky.
- 9 Burning with the energy 'of Agastya, the Danavas, abandoning both Heaven and Earth, fled towards the south.
- so. At that time the Danava king Vali was celebrating a Horse-Sacrifice in the nether regions. I hose great Navaras who were with him in those regions or who were living in the bowels of the Earth, were not hunt.
- 11. The celestials, upon the destruction of their enemes, then regained their own regions, their lears entirely removed. Entertained by what he did for them, they then begged the Rish to destroy these Asiras pin had taken refiger with n the lowels at the Earth or in the nother regions.

- 12 Thus requested by the gods. Agastya replied to them saying,—Yes I can consume those Asuras who are histog underneath the Earth, but if I achieve such a feat, my penances will suffer decay. Hence, I shall not exert my power,
- 13 Thus, O king, were the Danayas consumed by the illustrious Rishi with his own energy. Thus did Agasts a of purified soul, O monarch, accomplish that deed with the help of his penances
- 14 O sinless one, so was Agastya as described by me. Shall I continue? Or, will you say anything in reply? Is there any Kshatriya who is greater than Agastya !—

Bhishma said:-

- 15 Thus addressed king Ariuna remained silent. The god of wind once more said —Hear, O king one of the great feats of the illustrious Vashishila.
- to Once on a time the celestials were engaged in celebrating a sacrifice on the shores of the lake Vaikhanasa. Knowing his power, the sacrificing gods thought of Vasi islitha and made him their priest in imagination.
- 17 Meanwhile, seeing the gods reduced and emaciated on account of the initiation they were undergoing, a race of Danivas, of the name of Khalins, of statureras frigantic as mountains, which do kill them.
- 18 Those amongst the Dahavas that were either disabled on killed in the fight were plunged into the whiters of the Auraxa lake and on account of the boon of the Grandlather they immediately came back to sizour and life.
- 19 Taking up huge and terrible mountain summits and maces and trees, it cyagitated the waters of the lake, making them swell up to the height of a hundred Yojanas.
- 20. They then ran against the celestials numbering ten thousand. Afficied by the Danavas, the gods then sought if e reluge of their king Vasava.
- 21. Shakra ho rever, was soon afficted by then. In his diviters I e sought the projection of Vashishtha. At this, it e holy Rish: Vashishtha assured the celestials, semoving their fears.
- 22. Understanding that the gods had become greatly dispirited the ascetic dd tis through mercy. He displayed his energy and burst without any exertion, those Danawas ca' ed Kha''n
- 23 Having pena tes for wealth, the Runi brought the fliver Gange, who had gone to Kadasa, to that spot, Indeed,

- Ganga appeared, piercing through the waters of the lake.

 24. The lake was penetrated by that river. And as that celestial river piercing through the waters of the lake, appeared it.
- flowed on, under the name of Saraju The palace wi ereon those Danar as fell came to be called after them 25. Thus were the dwellers of Heaven, headed by Indra, rescued from great distress by Vastushtha It was thus that these Danasas who had recovered homes.
- headed by Indra, receied from great distress by Vashishtha It was thus that those Danavas, who had received boons 'from Brahman, were killed by that great Rishi

 26 O sinless one. I have described to
- you the feat which Vashishtha accomplished. Shall I go on? Or, will you say anything? Was there a Kshatriya who could be said to excel the Brahmana Vashishtha?

CHAPTER CLVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) --Continued.

Bhishma said :--

- 1. Thus addressed, Arjuna remained silent. The god of wind once more addressed him saying,—Hear me, O foremost one of the Haihayas, as I describe to you the achievement of the great Atri.
- 2. Once on a time as the gods and Danavas were fighting each other in the dark, Ratio pieced both the Sun and Moon with his acrows.
- 3 The gods, overwhelmed by darkness began to fall before the powerful Danavas, O foremost of kings
- 4—3 Repeatedly struck by the Asuras, the celestuals began to lose their strength. I hey then saw the learned Brahmana Atri having penances for wealth, engaged in the observance of austerities. Addressing that Rish who had all his senses and in whom anger had been extinguished, they said—See O Rishi, these two, rist, the Moon and the Sun who have both been pierced by the Aruras with their arrows,
- 6 On account of this, darkness has overtaken us, and we are being struck down by the enemy. We do not see the rai of our troubles Do you, O lord of great power, rescue us from this great fear.

The Rishi said '--

7. How, indeed, shall I protect you?— They answered, saying—Do you become the Moon Do you also become the Sun, and do you begin to kill these robbers

- 8 Thus begged by them, Atri assumed the form of the darkness destroying Moon. Indeed, on account of his agreeable disposition, he began to look as beautiful and delightful as the Moon himself.
- 9 Seeing that the real Moon and the real the Sun lad become darkened by the arrows of the enemy. Atm assuming the forms of those luminaries, began to shine forth over the field of battle, helped by the power of his penances.
- 10 Indeed, Atri made the universe since in light, removing all its darkness. By displaying his power, he also subjigated, the vast multitudes of those enemies of the relevable.
- 11. Seeing those great Asuras burnt by Atri, the gods also, protected by Atri's energy, began to despatch them quickly.
- 12 Displaying his prowess and collecting all his energy, it was thus that Atri illumined the god of day, rescued the celestials, and killed the Asuras.
- This was the feat that that twiceborn one, helped by his sacred fire—that silent reciter of Maintras, that one clad in deer-skins—performed! See O royal sage, the act achieved by that Rishi who lived upon fruits only.
- 14 I have thus described to you, in full, the feat of the great Atri Shall I go on? Or, will you say anything? Is there a Rishirya who is superior to this twice-born Rishi?
- 15 Thus addressed, Arjuna remained silent. The god of wind once more spoke to him Hear O king, the feat achieved by the great Chyavana.
- 16 Having made his promise to the twin Ashwins Chyavana addressed the chastiser of Paka, saying —Do you make the Ashwins drinkers of Soma with all the other celestrals.

Indra said —

- 17. The Ashwins have been outcasted by us How, then, can these be admitted into the sacrificial circle for drinking Somawith the others? They are not classed with the celestials. Do not, therefore, tell us
- 18 O you of great vows, we do not wish to drink Soma in the company of the Ashwins! Whatever other commands you may be pl used to utter, O learned Brahmana, we are ready to do.

Chyavana said -

19 The twin Ashwins shall drigk Soma with all of you. Both of them are gods, O king of the celestials, for they are the sons of the Sun.

20 Let the gods do what I have said, By acting according to those words, the tods will reap great advantage By acting otherwise, evil will overtake them.

Indra said -

21. I shall not, O foremost of twice born persons, drink Soma with the Ashwins Let others drink with them as they please. As for myself, I date not do it.

Chyavana said :--

obey my words, you shall, this very day, drink Soma with them in sacrifice, compelled by the.

The god of wind said :-

- 23 Then Chyavana taking the Ashwins with him, began a great religious rise for their benefit. The gods sill became stope-fied by Chyavana with the help of his Man-
- 24. Seeing that feat undertaken by Chiyavana, Indra became enraged. Taking up a huge mountain he ran against that Rishi.
- 23. The king of the deities was also armed with the Thunderbolt. Then the illustrious Chyavana, gifted with penances, cast angry looks upon Indra as he advanced.
- 26 Throwing a little water at him, he paralysed the king of the detices with his Thunderbolt and mountain. As the result of the religious rite he had begun, he created a terrible Asura hostile to Indra.
- 27 Made of the libations he had poured on the sacred fire, that Awara was called Mada, of mouth gaping wide. Such was the Asura that the great ascetic created with the lielp of Mantras. There were a thousand teeth in his mouth, extending for a hundred Yoşinas.
- so Of terrible appearance, his langs were two hundred Yojanas in length One of his cheeks rested on the Earth and the other touched the sky.
- 29 Indeed, all the gods with Vasava seemed to stand at the root of that great Asura's tongue, as fishes when they enter into the wide open mouth of a leviathan.
- 30. While standing within the mouth of Mada, the gods consulted speedily and then addressing Indra, said —Do you soon bend you head in respect to this twice born personage.
 - 31. We shall without any hesitation

- drink Soma with the Ashwins in our company.—Then bowing down his head to Chyavana, Shakra obeyed his command.
- 32 Thus did Chyavana make the Asiwins drinkers of Sona with the other gods. Calling back Mada, the Rishi then assigned him his work.
- 33 Soma was ordered to live in dice, in hunting, in drinking, and in women. Hence, O king, those men who betake themselves to these, forsoull, meet with destruction.
- 31 Hence, one should always remounce these faults to a great distance. I hus, O king, I have described to you the feat achieved by Chyavana. Shall I go on? Or, will you say anything in cept? Is there a Kshatriya who is higher than the Brahmana Chyavana?

CHAPTER CLVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA),-

Bhishma said :-

1—2. Hearing these words of the god of wind, Arjuna remained silent. At this, the god of wind once more addressed him saying,—When the dwellers of Hearen, head by Indra, found themselves within the mouth of the Asira Mada, at that time, Chyavana took away from them the Earth.

3 Deprived previously of Heaven and now of the Earth also, the gods became wery disprinted Indeed, those great ones, afflicted with grief, then threw themselves unreservedly upon the Grandlather's protection.

The gods said:-

4. O you who are adored by all creatures of the misserse the Earth has been taken away from us by Chyavana, while we have been deprived of Harven by the Harpas, O powerful one.

Brahman said :--

5 Ye dwellers of Heaven, do you, with Indra repair speedily and seek the protection of the Brahmanas By pleasing them you will succeed in regaining both the regions as before.

6 Thus instructed by the Grandfather, the detites went to the Brahmanas and begged for their protection. The Brahmanas replied enquiring —Whom shall we subjugate 1—1 has asked the celestrals said to them,—Do ye subjugate the Kapas.

- 7. The Brahmanss then said,—Bringing it in down on it e Brahmins, we shall quickly subjugate them—After this, the Brailmanns began a rise thaving for its object the destruction of the Kapas. As soon as this was heard of by the Kapas, they immediately sent a messenger of theirs, named Dhani, to those Brahmanas.
- 8 Dhani, coming to them as they sat on the Earth, thus communicated to them the message of the Kapas,—The Kapas are like you all. Hence, what will be the results of these rites which it appears you are determined upon?
- 9 Of all them are well conversant with the Vedas and gifted with wisdom. All of them care for sacrifices. All of them have I ruth for their vow, and for these reasons all of them are considered as equal to great Rishis.
- ro. The goddess of Prosperity sports among them, and they, in their turn, support her with respect. They never know their wiyes uselessly, and they never eat the flest of such animals as have not been killed in sacrifices.
- 11. They pour libations in the sacrificial fire (every day) and obey the commands of their preceptors and elders All of them are of souls under perfect restraint, and sever take Any food without dividing it duly among their thildren
- 12 They always proceed on cars and other vehicles together. They never know their wives when the latter are in menses. It ey all act in such a way as to acquire regions of happines's hereafter. Indeed, they are always righteous in their deeds.
- 13 They never eat anything themselves, when encients women or old men have not eaten They never indulge in play or sports of any kind in the forenoon, I they never sleep during the day.
 - 14 When the Kapys have these and many other virtues and qualities, why, indeed, would you seek to subjugate them? You should abstain from the attempt. Jacked, by such abstention you would achieve what is for your good.

The Brahmanas said :-

- 15. Oh, we shall subjugate the Kapas In this matter, we are quite of a piece with the celestials. Hence, the Kapas deserve to be killed by us. As regards Dhanin, he should return whence he came.
- 16. After this Dhanin, returning to the Kapas, said to them—The Brahmans are not disposed to do you any good—Hearing this, all the Kapas took up their weapons and went towards the Brahmanas.

- 17. Seeing the Kapas advancing against them with the standard of their cars upraised, the Brahmanas immediately created certain fires for the destruction of the vital airs of the Kapas.
- 18. Having brought about the destruction of the Kapas, those eternal filters, created with the help of the Vedic Mantras, began to shine in the firmament like so many clouds.
- 19 The gods having assembled together in battle, killed many of the Danavas. They did not know at that time that it was the Brahmanas who had encompassed their destruction.
- 20 Then coming there, O king, the highly energetic Narada informed the detites how their enemies, the Kapas, had been really killed, by the Brahmanas of mighty energy.
- 21 Hearing these words of Narada, the dwellers of Heaven became highly pleased. They also haided those regenerate and illustrious allies of theirs.
- 22. The energy and prowess of the celestials then began to increase, and adored in all the worlds, they acquired also the boon of immortality.
- 23 After the god of wind had said these words, king Arjuna adored him duly and addressing him answered in these words-Hear, O mighty-armed king, what Arjuna said.

Arjuna said:→

- 24 O powerful god, always and by all means do I live for the Brahmanas. Devoted to them, I adore them always.
- 23. Through the favour of Datafreys I have acquired this might of mine. Fhrough his favor I have been able to perform great feats in the world and acquire high merit.
- 26 Oh, I have with attention, heard the achievements O god of wind, of the Brahmanas with all ti eir interesting details as described by you truly.

The god of wind said:-

27. Do you protect and maintain the Brahmanas, by performing those Kshatriya duties which are yours by birth. Do you protect them even as you protect your own senses. There is danger to you from the family of Bhrigh. All that, however, will happen on a distant day.

- le to Him that the warriors dedicate all a kinds of their cars at the time of war, He is eternal, and it is under that illustrious one that the Sky, Earth Heaven, all things exist and stay. He it was who
- caused the vital seed of the gods filitia and Varuna to fall within a par, whence once nated the Risht known by the name of Vashishtha. It is Kushna who is the god of wind, it is le who is the powerful Ashwins,
- it is he who is that first of gods, vis , the Sun having a thousand rays, It is he by whom the Asuras have been subjugated It is he who covered the three worlds with three footsteps,
- 21. He is the soul of the celestials and human bengs, and Pitris. It is he who is the Sacrifice performed by those persons who are conversant with the rituals of sacrifices. It is he who rises every day in the aky (in the form of the Sun) and divides "time into day and night, and courses for half the year northwards and for half the vear southwards.
- Impumerable rays of bolt come out from his upwards and downwards and transsecrety and illumine the Earth Brahmanas conversant with the Vedas worship him 'laking a portion of his rays the Sun shimes' in the sky Month after month, the sacrificer ordains 1 im as a sactifice. I wiceborn persons conversant with the Vedas himn his praises in sacrifices of all kinds, He it is who is the wheel of the year, I aying three naves and seven horses to drag it. It is thus that he supports the seasons.
- Gifted with great ener, y, pervading all things, the foremast of all creatures it is Krishna wio alone upholds all the worlds He is the Son, the remover of all darkness He is the Creator of all. Do you, O hero. approach that Krishna.
- 25. Once on a time, the great and powerful Krishna lived, for a while, in the form of Agns in the forest of Klandava among some straw or dry grass Soon was he pleased Capable of going everywhere at will, it was Krishna who, having subjuthem as I battons upon the burning fire.
- It is Krishna who gave to Arium a number of white horses It mite wha is the creator of all horses. This world represents his ear. He it is who yokes that car for satting it in motion. Itial car has three m' ecli.
- 27. It is three kinds of motion. It has four horses joked to it. It has three naves
- It is this Kenhau who is the refore of the five original elements with the sky | all the Vedes. He is furnself the Vede,

- among them. It is he who created the Earth and Heaven and the intervening space, Indeed, it is this Krishna of immeasurable and burning energy who has created the forests and the mountains it is this Krishna who, desirons of punisling Shakra who was about to hurl his thunder at him, crossed the rivers and at once paralysed He is the one great Ind a who is
- worshipped by the Brahmanas in great sacrifices with the help of a thousand old Richs
- It was this Krishna, O king, vlo alone was able to keep the highly energetic Rishi Duryasas as a guest for some time in his house. He is said to be the one He is the Creator of the ancient Rish universe Indeed, be creates everything from his own nature.
- 30 Superior to all the celestrals, it is le who teacl es all the demes He scrupulously Know, O observes all ancient ordinances king that this Krishna, who is called Vishwaksena, is the fruit of all deeds which relate to pleasure of all deeds which are founded on the Vedas, and of all deeds which appertain to the world.
- 31. He is the white rays of light which are seen in all the worlds He is the three worlds. He is the three Regents of all the worlds He is the three sacrifical fires. He is the three Vyahrius , indeed, this son of Devaki is all the gods together
- 32 He is the Year, He is the Seasons ; He is the Fortnights, He is t e Day and the Night, He is those divisims of time which are called Kalas, and Kashthas, and Matras and Mihurtas, and Lavas, and Kshanas Know that this Vishwaksena B all these.
- The Moon and the Sun, the Planets, the Constellations and the Stars, all the Parva days, including the day of the full moon, the conjunctions of the constellations, and the seasons, have, O son of Priths, emanated from this Krishna who is Vishwaksena.
- The Rudras the Adits as the Vasus, the Ashwins the Sadl vas the Vishwe levas, the Maruts, Prajapatt houself, the m ther of the celestrals, tir. Adits and the seven Rishis, have all originated from Krishna.
 - Changing himself into it e Wind he scatters the universe Of universal form, he becomes I are which consumes all things. Changing himself into Water, he dienches and submerges all, and assuming the form of Brahman, he creates all the various animate and manunate creatures.
 - He is himself the Veda set be learns

- yet he learns all the Vedas. He is himself all the ordinances, yet he observes all the ordinances which have been laid down in matters connected with Righteousness and the Vedas and that force or might which tules the world Indeed know, O Yudhishthura, that this Keshava is all the mobile and immobile universe.
- 37 He is of the form of the most resplendent light. Of universal form this Krishna is shorn in that blazing efful gence. The original cause of the soul of all existent creatures, he at first created the waters. Afterwards he created this sunverse.
- 38 Know that this Krishna is Vishnu Know hint to be the soul of the entire universe Know him to be all the seasons, he is these various wonderful visitations of Niture which we see, he is the clouds that pour rain and the lightning which lashes in the sky. He is the elephant Arravita to the sky. He is the mobile and mobile universe, he is the family lead and mobile universe.
- 3) The clay of the universe and above all the through the becomes individual soul he is called Sankarsham Next. The through the sankarsham next. The into Analysis and the sankarsham the
- 40. For creating this envices which consists of the five primal elements, I e begins this work, and causes it to go on in the fiveloid form of animals existence containing celestial and Asuras and human beings and beasts and birds (Ie it is who their creates the Earth and the Wind, the Synthyla, and also Water, O son of Synthyla, and also Water, O son of
- 41. Having created this inneres of immobile and mobile objects divided into four orders of being (ers., swiparous, oviparous, vegetable, and filth born), he then created the Earth with her dweloid seed. He then created the Sky for pouring copious cain on the Earth
- 42-44 Forsooth, O king, it is this Krishins who has created this inverses. He las originated from his own tell, it is he who causes all things to east through his own power. He is, to who has created the wooding, the Blaths, the departed manes and all creatures. Desirous of creating, that Lord del all creatures duly created this entire universe of life. Know that good and estimable and immobile, have all originated exercises, and whatever will come into heing, all is Keshaya. This Krishina is also their, and whatever will come into heing, all is Keshaya. This Krishina is also

- the death which overtakes all creatures when their end comes. He is eternal and it is he who upholds the cause of Virtue, Whatever existed in the past, and whatever we do not know, indeed, all that also is this Vishwaken.
- 45. All that is noble and metitorious in the universe, all that is good and evil is Keshava who is inconceivable. Hence it is absurd to think of anything which is superior to Keshava.
- 46 Keslava is such More than this, the is Narayana, the highest of the high, immutable and underaying. He is the eternal and changeless cause of the entire nobile and immobile universe with its beginning, middle, and end, as also of all creatures whose birth follows their with.

CHAPTER CLIX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA)-

Yudhishthira said .-

t lell us O destroyer of Ma hu the prosperity which originates from the worship of the Brahmanas You are a master of this subject. Indeed, our grandfather knows you

Vasudeva said .-

- 2 Hear me, O king, with attention, O chief of Bharata's race, as I recite to you what the merits of the Brahmanas are, O foremost one of Kuru's race
- 1-4. Once on a time while I was seated at Dwarvaui, O delighter of the Kurus, way son Pradyumna, euraged by certain Brahmanas, came to me and said -O destroyer of Madhu, what ment is there for adorting the Brahmanas. Whence is their lordiship derived both in this world and in the next.
- 5 O giver of honors, what rewards are gained by constantly adoring the Brainmanas? Rindly explain this clearly to me, for my wind is disturbed by doubts about this.
- 6 When Pradymma said, these words to me, I answeed him as follows: D+ you hear, O king, with rapt attention, wl at these words were
- O child of Rukmini, listen to me as I tell you what prosperity one may acquire by adoring the Brahmanas. When one tries to acquire the threefold objects of Ida (viz.)

- Yitte, Praft and Plessure), or Emancipafion, or fame and presperity, or the treatment and cure of disease, or the worship of the dettes and the departed manes, he should take care to please the twice-born once. They are each a king Soma, They are the diseasers of hapomers and misery.
- 9 O child of Rukmini, whether in this or in the next world, O son, everything agreeable has originated from the Brahmanas I have no doubt in this.
- 10. From the adoration of the Brahmanas originate achievements and fame and strength. Men and the Regents of the universe, adore the Brahmanas.
- 11. How then, O son, can we disregard them, thinking that we are lords of the Earth? O mighty armed one, do not allow your anger to embrace the Brahmanas as its object,
- t2 In this as also the next world Brahmans are considered as great Beings. They have direct knowledge of everything in the universe. Verily, they are capable of reducing everything into ashes, if angry.

 13 They are capable of creating other.
 - worlds and other Regents of worlds. Why then should not persons gifted with energy and true knowledge treat them with obedience and respect?
 - 14 Formerly in my house, O son, lived the Brahmana Durvasas whose complexion was green and tawny. Clud in rags, he had a stick made of the Vilwa tree. His beard was long and he was greatly emaciated.
 - 15—16 He was taller in strature than the tallest man on Earth Wandering over all the worlds of human beings and it he detices and other superior beings, he same constantly among assembles and constantly among assembles and cause the Etalmania Durassas to live in his bouse, though the duties of hospitality towards him?
 - 17. He becomes wroth with every one if he finds even the slightest transgression? Hearing this about my nature, who is there who will give me refuge?
 - 18 Indeed, he who would give me abelier as a given sould into do anything to anser me!—When I saw that no one sentined to give him shelter in his house, I muted him and made him live in my above.
 - ig On certain days he would eat the find sufficient for the reeds of thousands of restons. On other days he would eat were little. On some days he would go out of my house and would not return.

- 20 He would sometimes laugh without any reason and sometimes cry uselessly At that time there was nobody on Earth a old as he.
- 21. One day, entering the quarters which were given to him, he burnt all the beds and coverlets and all the well-adorned damsels who were there for serving him. Doing this, he went out.
- 22. Of highly praiseworthy vows, he met me shortly after this and addressing me, said,—O Krishna, I wish to eat frumenty forthwith.
- 23 Having understood his mind previously, I had set my servants to prepute every kind of food and drink.
- 24 Indeed, many excellent viands had been kept ready. As soon as I was asked I caused hot frimenty to be brought and offered to the ascetic.
- 25. Having eater some, he quickly said to me,—O Krishna, take some of this frumenty and smear all your limbs with it.
- Indeed, with the residue of that frumenty I smeared my body and head.
- 27 The ascetic at that time saw your beautiful mother standing near. Laughing the while, he smeared her body also with that frumenty.
- 28 The ascetic then caused your mother, whose body was smeared over with frumenty, to be yoked to a car without any delay. According that car he started from my house.
- 29 Highly intelligent that Brahmana shone with effulgence like fire, and strucks before me, my youthful Rukmini, as if sike were an animal born to drag the cars of human beings.
- 30 Seeing this, I did not feel the sightest prief born of makes or the desire to u jure the Rishi. Having yoked Rukmini to the car, he went out, desirous of passing along the high coad of the city.
 - 31-22 Sering that extraordinary specials, some Dasharhas, filled with anger, addressed one another and brgan 11 converse thus;—Who else is there of Fa th who would live after having poked technisms to a cwr! Indeed, let the would be filled with Brahmanas only! Let an other orders take birth letter!
 - 33. The poson of a virulent stake is greatly powerful. More powerful stan poson is a Brahmana. There is no physician for a person who has been but or burnt by the virulent so iske of a Brahmana.
 - 21 As the irresist'le Durania proceeded on the car, Rusmin tostered on the - road and frequently dropped down. At this the twice born Rishi became angry and began to urge Rukmini on by striking her with the whip

- 35 At last, filled with an irresistible passion, the Brahmana leaped down from the car, and fied towards the south, cunning on foot, over a pathless ground
- 36 Seeing that foremost of Brahmanas, flying along the pathless ground, we followed him, although we were smeared with frumenty, excluming behind him,—Be pleased with us, O holy one.
- 37 Gifted with great energy, the Brahmana seeing me.) said, O mighty armed Krishna, you have subdued anger by the strength of your nature.
- 38 O you of excellent vows I have not found the slightest fault 11 yo 1. O Govinda, I have been highly pleased with you Do you solicit the fruition of such desires as you please.
- 30-40. Babold duly, O son what the power so of myself when I become pleased with any one. As 3 long as celestrids and the man beings will continue to entertain a liding for food so long will every one among them chersts the same shong for you that they there will be Victue in the several worlds, so long will the fame of your deeds last.
- 41. Indeed, your distinction will last so long in the three worl is O Janarddana, agreeable you will be to all persons
- 42 Whatever articles of yours have been broken or birnt or otherwise destroyed (by me) you will see restored, O Jimarddana, to their former state or they will reappear even in a better form.
- 43 As long again, O you of unfading glory, as you will wish to live, so long will you have in fear of death attacking you through such parts of your body as have been smeared with the frumenty 1 gave
- 44 O son, why did you not swear that frumenty on the soles of your feet as well? By not doing it, you have acted in a way that is not approved by me—I hese were the words that he said well pleased with the said well pleased with great great beauty and splendour.
- 45 To Rukmun also, the Rishi, well pleased with her, sai "—O bea itful fady, you will be the foremost one of thy sex in fame, and you will enjoy great glory, and achievements. You will never suffer from decrep tude or disease or loss of complexion.

- 46 Every one will see you engaged in wating upon Krishna, possessed as you already are with a fragrant odor which is always present in you
- 47. You will become the foremost of all wives, inumbering sixteen thousand, of Keshava At last, when the tirae comes for your departure from the world, you will acquire the inseparable companionship of Krishna hereafter—
- 48-49. Having said these words to your mother, the Rish none more addressed me and uttering the following words, left the spot. Indeed, it e Rishi Durvasar, siming like a Bre, said, -OK Keshava, may you be so disposed always towards the Brahmanus—After uttering these words, that B ahmana disappeared there and than before my eyes.
- 50 After his disappearance, I begon to follow the vow of uttering certain Mantrea silently without being heard by anybody. From that day I resolved to do whatever commands I should receive from the Bratimanas.
- 51. Having adopted this vow, O son, along with your mother, both of us, with hearts filled with joy re entered our palace.
- 52 Entering our house I saw that everything which the Rishi had broken or burnt had re appeared fresh.
- 53 Seeing those new articles, which had besides become more dirable, I became stricken with wonder. O son of Rukmin, from that day forth I have always adored the Brahmanas in my mind.
- 54. This, O chief of Bharata's race, is what I said on that occasion about the greatness of those Brahmanas who are the foremost of their order.
- $5 Do you also O son of Kunti, adore the ling! by blessed Brahmanas every day with gifts of wealth and kine, O powerful one
- 56 It was thus that I won the prosperity I enjoy—the prosperity that is born of the favour of Brahmanas. Whatever, again, Bhishma has said of me, O chief of the Bhitratas, is all true.

CHAPTER CLX.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued.

Yndhishthira said:--

- 1. You should, O destroyer of Madhu. explain to me that knowledge which you have acquired through the favour of Durvasas.
- 2. O foremost of all persons having intelligence, I wish to know everything about the great blessedness and all the names of that great one truly and in detail !

Vasndeva said :-

- 3. I shall recite to you the good which I have acquired and the fame which I have won through the favour of that great one I shall describe to you the subject, after baring bowed unto Kaparddin.
 - 4. O king, listen to me as I recite to jou that Shata-Rudnya which I repeat, with controlled senses, every morning after rising
- 5. The great lord of all creatures, vis , the Grandfather Brahman himself, having penances for riches, composed those Mantras, after having observed especial penances for some time. O sire, it is Shankara who created all the creatures in the universe, mobile and immobile.
 - 6. There is no being who is superior, O monarch, to Mahadeva. He is the highest of all beings in the three worlds
 - There is no one who is capable of standing before that great Being Indeed. there is no Being in the three worlds allo is lus equal.
 - When he stands, filled with anger. on the field of battle, the very scent of his body deprives all foes of consciousness and they who are not killed tremble and fall down.
 - on the care are terrible, like the mutterings of clouds Hearing those roars in battle, the very hearts of the celestials break
 - 10-12. When the holder of Pinaka becomes angry and assuming a terrible mien merely casts I is eye up is deity. Asura, Gandharva, or snake, that individual cannot obtam peace of mind by taking shelter in the recessess of even a mountain cave. that lord of all creatures, ris, Daksha, destrous of celebrating a sacrifice, spread lus sacrifice out, the brave Bhave, yielding to anger (at Daksha's slight of him), pierced the Sacrifice. Shooting I is arrow from his tereible bow, he roared aloud.

- 13. Indeed, when Maheshwara became angry and suddenly pierced with his arrow the embodied form of sacrifice, the celestrals became filled with sorrow, losing happiness and tranquility of heart
- On account of the twang of his bowstring the whole universe became agitated. The celestrals and the Asuras, O son of Pritha, all became cheerless and stupefied.
- The Ocean rolled in agitation and the Earth trembled to her centre. hills and mountains began to move from their bases and ran on all sides. The vault of the sky became cracked. .
- All the worlds became covered with darkness Notling could be seen. light of all the luminaries became darkened, along with that of the Sun himself, O Bharata.
- The great Rishis, stricken with fear and desirous of doing good to themselves and the universe, performed the usual rites of propitiation and peace.
- 18. Meanwhile, Rudra of terrible prowess rushed against the celestials
- with anger, he tore out the eyes of Bhaga 19. Excited with anger, he attacked Pushau with his foot He tore out the teeth of that god as he sat employed it eating the large sacrificial ball (called Purodasha).
- Trembling with fear, the celestials Without bent their heads to Shankara being appeased, Rudra once more placed on his bowstring a sharp and blazing arrow.
- 21. Seeing his prowess, the celestials and the Rishis became all alarmed foremost of gods began to pacify him.
- Jonling their hands in respect, they began to recite the Shata-Rudriya Mantras-I hus lauded by the celestrals, at last Maheshwara became graufied.
- The deities then assigned a large share to him. Frembling with fear, O king. they sought refuge with him.
- When Rudra became pleased, the embodiment of sacrifice, which had been cut in twain, became once more united Whatever limbs of his had been! destroyed by the arrows of Mahadeva, became once more whole and sound
- The Asuras gifted with great energy had formerly three cities ju the firmaments One of these had been made of ston; one of silver, and the third of gold.
- With all his weapons, Maghavat the chief of the celestials, was unable to

- form of his which is mild and auspicious, is said to be engaged in the practice of the vow of celibacy.

 5. That other form of his which is highly terrible performs all the destructive opera-
- tions in the universe. Because he is great and the Supreme Lord of all (Ishwara), therefore he is called Malieshwara 7. And hecause he burns and oppresses, is keen and fictor, and gifted with great energy, and is engaged in eating flesh
 - is keen and flace, and gifted with great energy, and is engaged in eating flesh and blood and marrow, that he is called Rudra.

 8. Because he is the foremost of all the
 - celettals, and because his dominion and acquisitions are very extensive, and because he protects the vast universe, therefore the is called Mahadeva
 - 9—10 Because he is of the form or color of smoke, therefore he is called Diwnyati Because by all his deeds he performs sacriness for all and seeks the well being of every creature, therefore he is called Shivas or the autypoints one Lewing is the sky, brinker, fixed in a particular path from which he does not deviate.
 - 11. His sunblem, again is fixed and immovable for all time. He is, for these reasons, called Sthan He is also of multifarm aspect. He is present, past, and future.
 - 12 He is mobile and immobile For this he is called Vaburupa. The celestrals called Vishwedevas live in his body. He is, for this, called Vishwarupa having an universal form.
 - 13. He has a thousand eyes; or, he has numberless eyes; or, he has eyes on all sides and on every part of his body. His energy comes out through I is eyes. If ere is no end of his eyes.
 - 14 Because he pluays nourshes all creatures and sports also with them, and because he is it err lord or master, therefore is he called Pashupati (the lord of all creatures.
 - 15 Because his emblem always observes the vow of Brahmacharyya, all the worlds, therefore, adore it I his act of worship is said to please him highly.
 - 16 If there is one who addres him by creating his image, and another who addres his emblem, the latter it is who whis breat prosperity for ever.
 - 17. The Rishis, the celectials, the Gandharvas, and the Apsaras, adore that emtlem of his which is ever erect and upfaised.

- 18 If his emblem is adored, Malesh-wara becomes highly pleased with the adorer. Affectionate towards his devotees, he confers happiness upon them with a cheerful soil.
- 19 This great god loves to live in crematuria and there lie burns and consumes all dead hodies. Those persons who celebrate sacrifices on such grounds attain at the end to the regions of heroes.
- 20 Engaged in his proper duty, he it is who is considered as the Death who lives in the hodies of all creatures. He is, again, the hodies of all embodied creatures.
- 21. He has many burning and terrible forms. All those forms are adored in the world and are known to Bralimanas gifted with knowledge.
- 22 Amongst the gods he has many significant names. Indeed, the meanings of those names are derived from either his greatness or vastness, or his feats, or his condict.
- 23. The Brahmanas always recite the excellent Shata Rudriya in his honor, that is in the Vedas as also that which has been composed by Vyasa.
- 24 Indeed the Brahmanas and Rishis
- 25 He is the first of all the celestials, and it was from his mouth that he created Agni. It at great deity, ever willing to grant protection to all, never forsakes his suppliants
- 26-27 He would much rather give up his own life and suffer all possible affi closed lumself. Long 11e, health and freedom from disease, affluence, wealth, various kinds of pleasures and enjoyments, are co-ferred by him, and it is he also who matel es them away I he fordship and affi ience if at one sees in Shakra and the other celesticals are, indeed, his.
- 28 It is he who is always engaged in all that is good and evil in the three worlds. On account of his fullest control over all objects of enjoyment he is called Ishwara.
 - 29 Because he is the master of the vast universe, therefore helis called Maheshwara. He whole universe is prevaded by 1 m in various forms. His mouth roars an 1 hums the waters of the sea in the form of the huge mare's head.

Bhishma said !-

- 19 Virtue is sometimes seen to be destroyed by a wicked man of great power. If you think, O king, that virtue should really be of three sorts. I answer that your con-
- clusion is supported by reason.

 20. The truth is that virtue is one and indivisible, although it is capable of being seen from three different points.
- 21. The paths, of those three, which form the foundation of virtue have each been laid down. Do you act according to the instructions laid down. You should never wrangle about virtue and then seek to have those doubts of yours removed.
- 22. O thief of the Bharatas, let no doubts like these ever take possession of your mind Do you obey unhesitatingly what I say. Follow me like a blind man or like one who, having no sense himself, has to depend upon that of another.
- 23. Abstention from injury, truth, absence of anger (or forgiveness), and liberality or gifts,—these four, O king do you practise, for these four form eternal virtue.
- 24. Do you also, O mighty-armed prince, Iollow that conduct towards the Brahmanas which is consistent with what has been observed towards them by your father and grandfather. These i are the principal marks of virtue,
- 25. That foolish wight, who would destroy the weight of authority by denying that to be a standard which has always been accepted as such, would himself fail to become an authority among men. Such a man becomes the cause of much sorrow in the world.
- 26 Do you respect the Brahmanas and treat them with hospitality. Do you always serve them in this way. The universe rests on them. Do you understand them to be such.

Yndhishthiri seid —

27. Iell me, O grand father, what the respective ends are of those who hate virtue and of those who worship and observe it.

Bhishma said -

- 23. Those men who hate virtue are said to have their hearts possessed by if e qualities of passion and darkness. Such men have always to go to Hell
- 29 Those men, on the other hand, O king who always observe irrite those men who are given to truth and sincerity, are called good. They always enjoy the pleaters or it appriess of the selection remains the called good to be selected remains and the selected remains the selected rem

- 30. On account of their waiting upon their preceptors with respect their hearts always turn towards virtue. It deed they who worship virtue, attain to the region of the celestials.
- 31. Those individuals whether men or celestials, who are shorn of cupritivy and malice and who emacute or affect their bodies by the practic of austerities succeed, on account of the virtue which they thus acquire, to attain to great happiness
- 32 The righteous always adore them with love and affection as a hungry man's stomach longs for ripe and sweet fruits

Yudhishthira said:—

33 What are the marks of the wicked, and what are those deeds which the good do? Explain to me this, O holy one. Indeed, tell me what characteristics are of the good and the wicked.

Bhishma said:-

- 34. The wicked are evil in their practices, incapable of being governed by rules, and evil tongued. The good are ho ever, always good in their deeds. Indeed the acts these men do are considered as the characteristics of good deeds.
- 35 The good or the righteous, O king, never answer the two tids of nature on the public road or 11 the midst of a cowpen, or on a field of paddy.
- 36 After feeding the five they take their own food they never talk while eating, and never go to sleep with wet hands.
- 37 Whenever they see any of the following, they go round them for showing them respect viz, a burning fire, a bull, the image of a deny, a cowpen, a crossing place of four roads, and an old and virtuous Brahmana.
- 38 Themselves slanding aside they give the way to those that are old, those that are slift cted with birdens, ladies, those that hold high appointments in the vilface or town administration, Brahmanas, kine, and kings.
- 39 The righteous or good man is he who protects his guests, servants and oil er dependants, his own relatives and all if one who seek his protection. Such a man always welcomes these with the usual police enquiries.
- 40 As ordained by the dettes human beings should take their lood twice a day, use, norming and evening During the interval one should not eat anything. By following this rule about eating, due is said to observe a last.

- 41 As the sacred fire waits for libations to be poured upon it when the hour for Homa arrives, so a woman, when her persod is over, expects sexual union with her histhand
- 42 One, who never knows his wife at mpy other time except after the period of menses, is said to observe the vow of Bra-limachary, a Amnia (nectar), Brahmanas, and kine,—these three are considered as equal.
- 43 Hence, one should always adore, with due rites, Brahmanas and kine. One does not commit any fault or stain by eating the meat of animals killed in sacrifices with the help of Mantras from the Yajur Veda.
- 44. The flesh of the back bone, or that of animals not killed in sacrifices should be avoided even as one avoids it e flesh of his own son. One stoud never cause is guest to go without hood whether he lives in his own country or in a foreightent.
- 45 After completing his study one should give the due present to his preceptor. When one sees his precep or, he should receive him with respect and adoring him present him a seat
- 46 By adoring his preceptor, one in creases the period of his life as also his tame and prosperity. One should never censure the old, nor send them on any houses.
- 47-49 One should never be seated when any one that is old is standing by acting thus one protects the duration of his life. One should never east his eyes on a naked woman, nor a naked man. One should never nadulge in sexual congress except in privacy. One should cat also without being seen by "utilefs". If exceptors are the foremast of shriners, the heart is the foremost of all sacred objects, knowledge is it is foremost of all sacred objects, knowledge is it is foremost of all sacred objects, or see the protect of the sacred objects, which is the foremost of all sacred objects, it is the foremost of all sacred objects, which is the foremost of all sacred objects, or see that the foremast is the second of the sacred objects of the act of the sacred objects of the act of the sacred objects of the act of the sacred objects of
 - 50 One acquires wisdom by constantly waiting upon the aged. Wille reading the Vrdis or employed in eating, one along time his right hand.
 - 51-52 One should always keep his speech and must under perfect control, as also his senses. With well cooked frumenty, Yaxaka Krishira, and Haw (clarified butter), one should adore the departed butter), one should adore the departed maner and the celestails in the Sirad file called Asi Iaka. The same of outly be used in adulting the Planets. One should not

- undergo a shave without calling down a blessing upon himself. If one sneezes, one should be blessed by those present. All, who are ill or suffer from diseases, should be blessed. The extension of their lives should be prayed for.
- 53 One should never address an eminent person familiarly. Under even the greatest d fficulties one should never do this, to those such a person and to kill him are equal Learned persons are degraded by such a manner of address.
- 54 Such a word can be used to those who are inferior, or equal, or to disciples. A sinful man always speaks of the sins he has committed.
- 55. Those men, who have deliberately committed sins, meet with destruction by trying to cone-al them from the good. Indeed, the confirmed sinners try to conceal thair smill deeds from others.
- 56 Such persons think that their sins are seen neither by men nor the celestials, The sinful man, laden with his sins, takes birth in a miserable order of being
- 57. The sins of such a man continually grow, even as the interest charged by an usurer daily multiplies itself. If having committed a sin, one seeks to have it covered by virtue, that is no become destroyed and leads to virtue intered of to
- other sins

 58 If a quantity of water be poured upon salt, the latter is immediately dissolved. So when expiation is performed, sin is
- dissipated

 59. For these reasons one should never to ceal a sin Concealed it fis sure to increase litaving committed a sin, one should confess it before the good. They
- would then destroy it forthwith.

 6) If one does not enjy in good time what he has stored with hope, the result is that the stored wealth passes into another man's hands after it e death of I im who has stored it.
- 6; The wise mave said that the mind of every creature is the tru- test of virtuellence, all creatures in this world have an insite bendency to achieve virtue.
- 62. One should achieve virte alone or sigle handed. Indeed, one should not proclaim himself virtuoins and walk with the standard of virtue upraised for purposes of thow. They are said to be traders in writte who practice it for enjaying its fruit x.
- 63 One should warshin the celestrals unbout give g way to seet ments of praise, Sundaily, one should seem his preceptor without deceit. One should make arrangements for securing to himself a invaluable riches in the next world which consists in hits made here to worthy persons.

CHAPTER CLXIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-

Vndhighthira said -

- 1. It is seen) that if a person happens, to be unfortunate, he fails to acquire railes how greatsever his strength. On the other hand, if he happens to be fortunate, he amasses riches, even if he be a weak or a foolish wight.
- 2. When, again, the time does not come for acquisition, one cannot make an acquisition, even if he tries his best. When, however, the time comes for acquisition, one acquires great wealth without any exertion.
- 3. Hundreds of men may be seen who gain no result even when they try their best Many persons, again, are seen to make acquisitions without any exertion
- 4 If riches were the result of exertion, then one could, with exertion, acquire it forthwith Indeed if the case were sop no learned man could then be seen to take the protection for the sake of his livehood, of one destitute of learning
- 5 Among men, that which is not to be attained, O chief of the Bharatas, is never attained. Men are seen to fail in gaining results even if they try their best
- -. 6 One may be seen to seek riches by hundreds of means (and yet failing to acquire it), while another, without it all seeking it, gets it. Men may be seen doing evil deeds continually (for wealth) and yet they do not gain it.
- 7. Others get wealth without doing any evil act whatever, Oliters, ag in, who follow the duties assigned to them by the scripture, are without wealth. One may be seen to be without any knowledge of the science of ethics and polity even after his a budded all the treatises on that science.
- S. One, again, may be seen appointed as the prime minister of a king without having at all studied the moral and political sciences. At arned man may be seen who has wealth. An ignorant man may be seen having weith. Buth kinds of men, begain, may be seen has be seen has wealth.

- 9 If by the acquisition of learning one could acquire the happiness of riches then no man of learning cull be found living, for the very means of his lealings, ander the protection of one shorn of learning
- to In leed, if one could obtain, by the requisition of learning, all desirable objects blee a thresty individual having his thirst satisfied upon getting water, then none in this world would have shown idleness in acquiring learning.
- 11. If one's time has not come, one does not die even if cut finth hundreds of shalis. On the other hand, one dies if his hour has come, even if it be a blade of grass with which he is struck.

Bhishma said -

- 12 If one, by performing ardinous works, fails to acquire wealth, he should then practise severe audennes. Unless seeds be sown, no crops appear.
- 13 It is by in king gifts that one gets numerous objects of enjoyment, one becomes enduded with intelligence and wisdom by waiting upon the elders. Said that one becomes long the wise have said that one becomes long lived by practsing the duty of abstention from cruelty to all creatures.
- 14. Hence, one should make gifts and not s list and one should adore individuits. Indeed one should be sweet speeded towards all and always do what is a crealle to others. One should seek to attain to purity, one should always abstain from dunging irty to any creature.
- 15 It is but proper, O Yu lbishthra, that you should be pissessed by peaceful sentiments, since their deeds and Nature are the ruling causes of lappiness and miser; to even insects and anis.

CHAPTER CLAIV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA)

Continued Bhishma said —

- 1. If one does good deeds or causes others to do them, he should then expect to attain to the merits of virtue, likewise if one does evil deeds and causes others to do them, he should never expect to attain to the merits of virtue.
- 2 At all times, it is Time, which entering the understanding of all creatures, sets them to deeds of virtue or sin and then confers happiness or misery upon them.

- 3. When a person, seeing the fruits of withe understands within to be superior, it is then that he inclines towards writin and puts faith in it. One, however, whose understanding is not firm, cannot place faith in it.
- 4. As regards faith in virtue, it is this To place faith in virtue is the mark of the wisdum of all persons. One, who is not quanted with what should be done and what should not be done, with a view to opportuneness should, with care and devotion, do what is right.
- 5 Those virtuous men, who have in this life been blessed with riches acting of third own accord, take particular care of their soils so that they may not, in their next hees, lives to take birth as persons with the quality of darkness predominating in them.
- 6. Time can never make the cause of misery. One should therefore know that the soul which is virtuous is certainly pure
- 7. As regards sin, it may be said that, even when it is very great it is increpable of even touching virtue which is always protected by time and which shines like a burning fire
- S I hese are the two results achieved by virtue, rise, the purity of the soul and ususceptibility of being touched by mind my Indeed virtue is frought with victory. Its effulgence is so great that it lights up the three worlds.
- 9 A wise man cannot catch hold of a similal person and forcibly make 1 im pions. When seriously urged to act pio-sily, the similal only act with hypocrisy, moved by fear
- to Even the righten s among the Shudras never betake themselves to such Lypocrisy under the pretext that persons of the Shudra order are not permitted to live according to any of the four prescribed modes.
- tt. I shall tell you particularly what the duties tribly are of the jour castes. So far as their bodies are concerned, the individuals declining the art older duties castes three five formal elements for their constitution ingredients, they are 11 of the same substance in this matter.
 - 12 For all that, their practices relating to life or the world and the duties of virtue, vary despite these distinctions and sufficient liberty of action is left to them by which all individuals may attain to an equality of condition.
 - 13 The regions of happiness which represent the results or rewards of virtue are not eternal, for they are destined to - come to an end. Virtie, however, is eternal Wien the cause is eternal, why is the effect in the 11 the answer to this is as follows. Only that virtie is eternal which is not prompted by the desire of fruit or reward.

- 14 All men are equal as regards their physical organism. All of them, again, have souls which are equal in nature. When dissolutin comes, all else dissolved away. What remains is the desire for acquiring virtue. That, indeed, re-appears (in next life) of itself.
- equality of conduction, seen among human beings, cannot be considered in any way anomalous. So also it is seen that those creatures that belong to the intermediate orders of existence are equally subject, about their acts, to the influence of example.

Wien such is the result the in-

CHAPIER CLXV.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) -

Vaishampayana said.—

t Destrous of acquiring the merit which destroys sive that perpetuator of Kuru's race, sig Yudhushtura the son of Pandu, questioned Birshma who was lying on a bed of arrows saying.

Yudhishthira said :-

2 Wi t indeed is beneficial for a person in this world? What is that by doing which one may acquire happiness? By what may one be nursed of all his sins? Indeed what is that which destroys sins?

Vaishampanana said --

3 On this subject, the royal son of Shantann O firemos of men, if hy recited the names of the celestials to Yudhishihira who was desirous of hearing.

Bhishma said:--

- 4 O son, the following names of the celestrals with those of the Rights, if duly recited morning, noon, and evening destroy all sins.
- 5—6 Acting with the help of his senses, whatever sus one may commit by day or by night or by the two twilights; willingly or unwillingly, one is suce to be cleaned thereform and become thoroughly pure by recturing these names. One, that takes those names has never to become blind or deaf; andeed, by taking those names, one, always andeed, by taking those names, one, always.

- 7 Such a man never takes both in the intermediate order of being, never goes to hell and never becomes a human being of any of the mixed castes. He has never to fear any calamity. When death comes, he never becomes stunefied.
- 8. The master of all the celestials and Apsaras, resplendent with effugence, adorted of all creatures, inconceivable, indescribable, the life of all throug beings, and unborn is the Grandfather Brahman, that Lord of the universe. His chaste wife is Savitti. Then comes that origin of the Veday, the creator Vishini, otherwise called Narayana of immeasurable power.

to-34. Then comes the three-eyed Lord of Uma, then Scanda the commander mechief of the celestial army, then Vishakoa, tien Agni the eater of sacrificial libations, then Vayu the god of wind, then Chandramas; then the sun god, gifted with effulgace, then the illustrious Shakra the Insband of Sachi, and Yama with his wife Dhumorna; and Varuna Game: Kuvera the lord of riches with his wife Riddht; the amiable and illustrious cow Surabhi; the great Rishi Vishravas, Sankalpa, Ocean, Ganga; the other sacred Rivers, the Maruts, the Valakully as crowned with success of penance; the island-born Krishna, Narada, Parvata, Vichianass Vishwavasu, the Hahas; the Hubus, Tumvuru, Chitrasena; the celestial messenger , the highly-blessed celestial maidens; the celestial Apsaras, Urvashi, Menaka, Ramva, Mishrakeshi, Alamvasha, Vishwachi, Ghritachi, Panchachada, 1slottama, the Adityas, the Vasus, the Ashwins, the Paris; Dharma, (Richteousness), Vedic learning, Penances, Diksha, Perseverance (in religious acts) the Grandfather, Day and Night, Kashyapa, the son of Maricht Shukra, Vrihaspati, Mangala the son of Earth, Vudha, Rahu, Shanaishchara the Constellations, the Seasons, the Months, the Fortnights, the Year, Garuda the son of Vinata, the several Oceans, the sons of Kadru, 118, the Snakes, Shatarudra, Vipasha, Chindrabhaga, Saraswatt Sindhu Devika, Prabhasa, the lakes of Pushkara, Ganga, Mahanadi, Vena, Kaveri, Nar-mada, Kaulampuna, Vishalya, Karatoya, Amvuvahini, Sarayu, Gandaki, the great river Lohita, Iamra, Aruna, Vetravati, Parnasa, Gautami, Godavari, Vena, Krisnnavena, Dwija, Drishadvati, Kaveri, Vankhu, Mandakini, Prayaga, Prabhasa, the sacred Natmisha, the spot sacred to Vishweswara or Mahadeya, vis . Kashi that lake of crystal water, Kurukshetra, full of many sacred waters, the foremost of oceans "(ris , the ocean of milk), Penances, Gifts, Jamvashavatı, Vedasmriti, Vedamati, Malava, Ashwayati, all sacred spots on Earth, Gangadwara, the sacred Rishikulya, the over Chitravaha, the Charmanwati, the sacred river Kaushiki, the Yamuna, the river Bhimarathi, the great river Vahuda, Mahendravant, Iridiya, Nilika, Saraswatt, Nanda the other Nanda, the large sacred lake Gaya, EPhalguurtha, Dharmaranya (the sacred forest) inhabited by the celestials, the sacred celestial river, the lake created by the Grandfather Brahman, which is sacred and celebrated over the three worlds and auspicious and capable of purifying all sins, the Himavat mountain having excellent herbs, the Vindhya mountain variegated with various kinds of metals, containing many litthas and evergrown with medicinal herbs, Meru, Mahendra, Malaya, Shweta gifted with silver, Shringavat, Mandara, Nila, Nishadha, Dardura, Chitrakuta, Anjanabha, the Guidhamadana mountains, the sacred Somagiri, the various other mountains, the cardinal points of the compass, the subsidiary points, the Earth, all the trees, the Vish vedevas, the Firmament, the Constellations, the Planets, and the Detties,-let these all, named and unnamed, rescue and purify us

35 The man, who takes the names of these, becomes purged of all his sins. By stinging their praises and pleasing them, one becomes freed from every fear.

36 Indeed, the man, who delights in singing the hymns in laudation of the delites, becomes pulg dof all such sins as lead to birth in impute orders.

37-38. After this recytal of the detter, I shall name those learned Brahmanas crowned with accute merit and success and capable of purifying one of every sin. They are Vavskrata and Rathlya and Kat shivat and Austria, and Biruga and Angras and Kanwa and the powerful Medhatith, and Varth endied with every accomplishment-libese all behauge to the Sackers. Cogolio.

39—10 Others, vis., Unmuclu, Pramuchu, Mumuchu, all highly blessed the highly energetic Swastyatreya, the highly powerful Agastya, the son of Mitra and Varuna, Dridhayu and Urdhavahi those two foremost and celebrated of Rishis, these live in the Southern quarter.

navena, Donja, Drishadvati, Kaweri, Vaniku, Mandakuni, Panyaga, Prabhasa, the those Rishis who live in the Western sacred Natmisha, the spot sacred to Vishis was record waters, Result that Lake acceded the season of milk), Penances, Gifts, Jamva-httr (uz., Durvastwa), and the powerful marge, Hernauti, Vistasia, the truer Plake Sacaswat, Listen now to me as 1 nome those Rishis who live in those Rishis who live in the sacred valets, Kasali that Lake Lucius Cherne, Dreden Sacred waters, the foremost of oceans (rus.) Dwits, Irrat, the ergiteous souled son the cocan of milk), Penances, Gifts, Jamva-httr (uz., Durvastwa), and the powerful marge, Hernauti, Vistasia, the truer Plake Sacaswat, Listen now to me as 1 nome those Rishis who live in the Western acceded to the part of the sacred Natural Acceded to the part of the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Western acceded the sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Mexico Rishis who live in the Sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Natural Rishis who live in the Natural Rishis who live in the Sacred Natural Rishis who live in the Natural Rishis those Rishis who adore the celestral in sacrifices, living in the Northern region.

44-47 Ihey are Atti, Vasishiba, Shakti, Parsasta's son Vyati of geet energy, Vishwamitra, Bhazadwaya, Jamadagii, the son of Richika, Bana, Anddajaka, Shwetakeji Kolada, Vipula, Devala Devasharima, Dhaumya, Hasikashayana, Lomasha, Nachiketa, Lomaharsisana Ugrashravas, and Bhrigu's son Ciyavana, tins is the number of Rishis gilted with Vedic learning.

43. They are primeval Rishis, O king, whose names, if taken, are capable of purifying one of every sin. After this i shall recite the names of the principal kines.

40-53 They are Nriga, Yavati, Nahusha, Yadu, highly energetic Puru, Sagara, Dhundhumara, Ddipa of great prowess, Krisashwa, Yauvanashwa, Chitrashwa, Saryayat, Dushmanta, Bharata who became an illustrious Emperor over many kings, Desharatha, the heroic Rama, that destrover of Rakshas, Shashavinder Bhagiratha, Harishchandra, Marutta, Dridharatha, the highly fortunate Alarka, Aila, Karan thama, that foremost of men, Kashmira, Daksha Kukura, highly Illustrants Raivita, Kuru, Samvarana, Mandhatri of mmitigated prowess, the royal sage Muchukunda, Jahnu who was much favourmunitigated ed by Janhavi (Ganga), the first (in point of time) of all kings, "us, Prithis the son of Vena, Mitrabhanu, Priyankara, Trassdasyn, Shweta that foremost of roant sages. the celebrated Mahabhisha, Nimi Ashtaka, Avu. the royal sage Kslupa, Kaksheya, Pratarddana, Divodasa, Sudasa, Kushaleshwara, Aila, Nala, the royal sage Manu, that lord of all creatures, Havidhea, Prishaohra, Pratipa, Shantano, Aja, the senior Varhi, Ikshaku of great fame, Anaranya, Janujanaha the royal sage Kakshasena, and many others not named (in history).

50 I hat man, who rising early in the morning, takes the names of these kings at the two twinghts, ris , at suffet and suntise, with a pure body and mind and without distracted attention, wins great religious meett.

- 60. One should sing the praises of the celestials, the celestial kishts, and the royal sages and say, These lord of the creation will ordain my growth, longerity and fame.
- 61. Let no calamity stateme, let no and delife me, and let if efe be no opponents or encurses of trune. I orsooth, I will always have sectory and an auspalious end herealter.

CHAPTER CLXVI.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).--

Janamejaya said:-

1-2 When that foremost person mong the flariness, res. Bitshims, was ling on a bed of arrows—a bed that is always coveted by herees—and when the Pandavas were string ground him, my cert-re-audither Yndhishithra of much control of the property of the prop

3. He heard also what the ordinances are about gifts, and thus had all his double remired about the topics of witce and wealth. You should, O learned Brahmana, tell me now what else did the great Pandava king do.

Vaishampayana said:-

4 When Blushma became silent, the entire body of kings became perfectly silent. Indieed, they all sat motionless there, like figures painted on canvass.

5-6 Then Vyasa the son of Satyavati, having thought for a moment, addressed the royal son of Ganga, saying, -O king, the Kuru king Yudhishthira has been restored to his own nature, with all his brothers and followers.

7 With highly intelligent Krishna by his side he bends his head in respect to you, You should give him leave for returning to the city.

8. Thus addressed by the holy Vyasa, the royal son of Shantanu and Ganga dismissed Yudhishthura and Lis counsellors

9 Addressing his grandson in a sweet voice, the royal son of Shantanu, also said,—
Do you return to your city, O king. Let the fever of your heart be removed.

10 Do you addre the celestrals in various sacrifices distinguished by large gitts of food and riches like Vayati humeli, U foremost of kings, gilted with devotion and self-control.

11. Devoted to the practices of the Kulatriya do you, O sun of Pritha, please the departed maners and the celestials. You shall it en acquire great benefits. Indeed let the ferre of your heart be reinved.

12. Do you please all your subjects. Do you assure then and establish peace among all. Do you also honor all your will such sewards as they deserte.

- 13. Let all your friends and well wishers live, depending on you for their means, as birds live, depending for their means upon a full grown tree laden with fruits and standing on a sacred spot.
- 14 When the hour comes for departure from this world, do you come here, O eng. I shall relied on my body when the San, stopping in his southward course, will begin to return northwards.
 - 15 the son of Kunti answered,—'So be it!" and sainted his grandfather with tespect and then started with all his relatives and followers, for the city of Histinature.
 - 16—17. Hended by Dhritarashtra and also Gindhari who was greatly devoted to ber husband and accompanied by the Rithin an I Keshava as also by the cutzens and the anhabitants of the country and by its connsellar, O in march, that foremost one of Kiriu's race, entered the city of Hastinapur.

CHAPITER CLYVII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA) —

Vaishampayana said:

- t. Then having duly honored the clitzens and the inhabitants of the province, the royal son of Kunti dismissed them to their respective homes.
- 2. The Pandava king then consoled those women, who had lost their heroic husbands and sons in the battle, with profuse gifts of wealth
- 3 flaving recovered his kingdom, Yudhishitura caused himself to be duly installed on the throne. That foremost of men their assured all his subjects by various deeds of good will
- 4 That foremost of rightenus men set limisell to acquire the substantial blessings of the Brahmanas of the foremost military officers, and the leading citizens.
- 5 Having passed fifty nights in the capital, the blessed monarch recollected the time indicated by his grandfather as the hour of his departure from this world.
- 6 Accompanied by a number of pries's he then left the city of Hastinapur I aving seen that the sun, ceasing to 40 southwards had begun to proceed in his northward course.
- 7-8 Yudhishthira, the son of Kunu took with him a large quantity of clarified

- butter and floral garlands and scents and Aquileria and excellent sandal wood and Aquileria Agallocha and dark cloe wood, for cremating the body of Blistima. Various kinds of rich garlands and gems also were among those stores.
- 9—11. Placing Dhritarashtra at the head and q reen Gudhari Eelebrated for her writtes and his own mother Kuntt and all his brothers also the highly intelligent Yudinshura, accompanied by Krishna and wise Vidura, as also by Yuyutsii and Yuyudana, and by his other relatives and followers forming a large train, proceeded, his praises sung the while by eulogists and bards the sacrificial fires of Bhishma were also boren in the procession.
- 12. I has accompanied, the king started from his city like a second king of the celestals. Soon he carre upon the spot where the son of Shantanu was still lying on his bed of arrows.
- He saw his grandfather waited 13-16 upon with reverence by Parashara's intelligent, son Vyasa, by Narada, O royal sage, by Devala and Asita, and also by the surviving unslain assembled from various parts of the country Indeed the king saw that his great grandfather, as he lay on his heroic bed, was guarded on all sides by the warriors app nited for that duty. Getting down from his car, king Yudnishitura, with his brothers, saluted his grandlather, that chastiser of all enemies I hey also saluted the Rishis with the Island-born Vyasa at their head they were saluted in return by them.
- 17. Accompanied by his priests each of whom resembled the grandfather Brahman lumself, as also by his brothers, Yudhishthira, of undecaying glory, then approached that spot whereon Binshima lay on his bed of arrows surrounded by those reverend Rislis.
- 18-19. These king Yudhushthra the pust with all his brothersy-addressed that foremost one of Kuru's race, the son of the River Ganga, as he lay on that bed of his stying,—I am Yudhishthra, Oking,—I am Yudhishthra, Oking,—I am Yudhishthra, Oking,—I and Yudhishthra, Oking,—I am Yudhishthra, Oking,—I the state of the River Janhvu: If thou hearest me still, O, till me what I am to do for thee.
- 22-21. Carrying nith me thy sacrificial free, thrive come here, O king and wat upon thee at the four apported. Preceptors of all branches of learning, Braimars, Rittsijis all my brothers, thy on the king Dintitrast lar of great energy, are all free with my counsellors as also Vasideva of great prowers.

22 The tempont of dustain warriors, and all the denizers of Kurujamala, are also here. Opening thy eyes, O chief of Kuru's race, do thou see them.

23. Whatever should be done on this occasion have all been arranged and provided for by me Indeed, at this hour which thou hadst spoken of, all things have been kept in readiness

Vaishampayana said :-

24 Thus addressed by the highly intelf gent Kunti's son the son of Ganga opened his eyes and all the Bharatas assembled there and stood around hom.

25. The mighty Bhishma then, taking the strong hand of Yudhishthira addressed him, in a voice deep as that of the rhouds.

26 By good lack, O son of Kunti, you have come here with all your counsellors, O Yudhishthia. The thousand rayed maker of day, the holy Sun, has begun his northward course

27 I have been lying on my bed here for fifty eight nights. Stretched on these sharp pointed arrows, I have felt this period to be as long as if it was a century.

28 O Yudhistines, the lenar menth of Magha has come I his is again, the lighted fortinght and a fourth part of it ought by this (according to my calculations) he over.

29 Having said so to Yudhishthira the son of Dharma Ganga's son Bhishma then saluted Dhritarashtia and said to him as follows:

Bhishma said :--

30 Oking, you know well the duties All your doubts, again, relating to the science of wealth have been well solved You have served many learned Brahmanas

31. You know the subtile sciences connected with the Vedas, all the duties of religion, O king, and the whole of the four Vedas.

32 You should not grieve therefore, O'son of Kuru. That which was pre-ordained has come to pass. It could not be otherwise. You have have heard the mysteries relating to the denies from the lips of the Island born Rishi himself.

33 Yudhisthira and his brothers are morally as much your sons as are the sons of Pandu. Tollowing the duties of religion, cherish and protect them. In their ture, they are always devoted to the service of their elders.

34. Ring Yudhishthira, the just, is pure souled He will always be ob-dient to it you. I know that he is given to the virtue of mercy or abstention from injury. He is devoted to his elders and oreceptors.

35 Your sons wore all wicked souled. They were full of anger and cupulity. Overwhelmed by envy they were all of wicked conduct. You should not grieve for

Vaishampayana said .--

36 Having said this much to Dhritarashtra of great wisdom, the Kuru chief then addressed Vasudeya of great arms.

Bhishma said:-

37. O holy one, O god of all gods, O thou adored by all the dettees and Asuras, O thou who didst cover the three worlds with three steps of thine I bow unto thee, O wielder of the conch, the discus, and the mace.

38 Thou art Vasudeva, thou art of golden body, thou art the one Purusha (or active agent), thou art the creator (of the universe) thou art of toge proportions. Thou art sentency. I hou art subtle. Thou art the Supreme and Eternal Soul

39 Do thou O lotus eyed one, save me, O foremost of all beings.

40 Do thou give me permission, O' Krishna, to depart from this world, O thou who att superme happiness, O foremost of all beings. Thou shouldst always protect the sons of Pan in Thou art, indeed, already their sole refugee.

41 Formerly, I spoke to the foolish Duryodhana of wicke i understanding that there is Virtue where Krishna is, and that there is victory where Virtue is.

42 I further advised him that depending on Vasudeva as his refuge, he should make peace with the Pandayas. Indeed, I repeatedly told him— This is the fittest time for you to make peace.

43 If e foolish and wicked Duryodhana however did not do what I said. Having caused a great havoc on Earth, at last, be timself cave up his life.

44 I know the Ogillustrious one, to be that ancient and best of P shys who lived for many years in the company of Nara, in firmulage of Vadars.

45 Fleeclestial Rishi Narada told riet il is as also Vyasa of austere penincer. Even they have said to me that Phyself and Arju in one the old Rishi's Narayana and Nara born among men. MAHABHARATA.

46 Do thou, O Krishna, grant me leave. I shall renounce my body. Permitted by thee. I shall attain to the highest end.

Vasudeva said :→

47. I give you leave, O Blishma, O king, to altain to the status of the Vasus O you of great splendour, you have not been guilty of a single sin, in this world.

O royal sage, you are devoted to your father. You are, therefore, like a second Markandeya. It is, therefore, that death depends upon your pleasure like a slave.

Vaishampayana said:-

Having said these words, the son of Ganga once more addressed the Pandavas headed by Dhritarashtra, and other friends and well-wishers of his.

'50. I wish to renounce my life. You should give me leave. You should strive for attaining to truth. Truth forms the highest power.

51. You should always live with Brahmanas of righteous conduct, devoted to penances, ever abstaining from cruel conduct, and who have their souls under restraint.

52. Having said these words to his friends and embraced them all, the intelligent Blushma once more addressed Yudhishthira, saying,-"O king, worship all Brahmanas, especially those who are gifted with wisdom, them who are preceptors, those who are priests capable of assisting at sacrifices.

CHAPTER CLXVIII.

(ANUSHASANIKA PARVA).-Continued.

Vaishampayana said :-

1. Having said so to all the Kurus. Bhishma, the son of Shantanu, remained silent for some time, O chastiser of enemies.

2 He then held forth his life breaths successively in those parts of his body stich are indicated in Yoga. The satal airs of that great one, restrained duly, then tose up.

Those parts of the body of Shant iu's son, on account of the adoption of Loga from which the vital airs went up, became soreless one after another.

In the midst of those great persons, including those great Rishis headed by Vyasa, the sight seemed to be a strange one, O king. 5. Within a short time, the entire body of Blushma became arrowless and soreless. Seeing it, all il ose great personages, headed by Vasudevi, and all the ascetics with

Vyasa, became filled with wonder,

The vital airs, restrained and unable to escape through any of the outlets, at last passed through the crown of the head and proceeded upwards to Heaven.

7. The celestial kettle-drums began to play and floral showers were ramed down. The Siddhas and regenerate Rishis, filled with delight, exclaimed,-Excellent, Excellent. 8. The vital airs of Bhishma, piercing through the crown of his head, shot up through the sky like a large meteor and soon became invisible. 9 O great king, thus did Shantanu's son, that pillar of Bharata's race, unite himself with eternity. Pandavas and 10. Then the great Pandavas and Vidura, taking a large quantity of wood and various kinds of fragrant scents, made a funeral pyre. 11-12. Yujutsu and others stood as spectators of the preparations. Then Yudhishil ira and the great Vidura wrapped Blishma' body with siken cloth and floral garlands Yuyutsu held an excellent, umbrella over it.

13. Bhimasena and Arjuna both held in their hands a couple of pure white lake tails. The two sons of Madri leld two head-gears in their hands.

14. Yudhishthira and Dhritarashtra stood at the feet of the body, taking up palmyra fans, the wives of the lord of the Kurus stood around the body and began to fan it softly. The Pitri sacrifice of the great Bhishma was then duly performed. Many libations were poured upon the sacred fire. The singers of Samans sang many Samana.

16-17. Then covering the body of Ganga's son with sandal wood and black aloe and the dark wood and other fragrant fuel, and setting fire to the same, the Kurus, with Dhritarashtra and others, stood on the right side of the funeral pyre.

18. Having thus cremated the body of the son of Ganga those foremost ones of Kuru's race proceeded to the sacred Bhagie raths, accompanied by the Rishis.

They were followed by Vyasa, Narada, Asita, Krishna, by the ladies of the Bharata family, as also by such of the 350

- titizens of Hastinapore as had come to the place.
- 20. All of them, arrived at the sacred river, duly offered oblations of water to the great son of Ganga.
- 21. After those oblations of water had been offered by them to her son the goddess Bhagnathi, rose up from the river, weeping and distracted by sorrow.
- 22. In the midst of her lamentations, she addressed the Kurus, saying.—Ye sin-less ones, listen to the as I say to you all that took place.
- 23 Gifted with royal conduct and disposition, and endued with wisdom and high birth, my son was the benefactor of all the elders of his family. He was devoted to his father and was of high yows.
- 24. He could not be defeated by even Rama of Jamadagm's race with his highly powerful celestial weapons; alas, that hero has been killed by Shikhandin,
- 25 Ye kings, forsooth, my heart is made of adamant, for it does not break even at the disappearance of that son from my New.
- 26. At the Swayamyara at Kashi, he defeated on a single car the assembled Kshatriyas and carried away the three princesses.
- 27. There was no one on Earth who equalied him in power; alas, my heart does not break upon hearing the slaughter of that son of mine by Shikhandin.

- 28-30. Hearing the goddess of the great river thus bewait the powerful Krishna consoled her with many southing words. Krishna said,—"O ampable one, be comforted. Do not give way to sorrow. O you of beautiful features. Forsouth, your son has come to the highest region of happiness.
- 31 He was one of the Vasus of great energy. Through a curse, O you of beautiful features he had to take birth among - men. You should not grieve for him.

 32. According to Kshatriya dutles, he was killed by Dhananyaya on the field of - battle while engaged in battle. He has not been killed, O goddess, by Shikhandin. 33 The very king of the celestials him-
- self could not kill Blushma in battle when he stood with stretched bow in hand.
- 34 O you of beautiful face, your son has happily gone to Heaven All the gods assembled together could not kill him in battle.
- 35 Do not, therefore O goddess Ganga, greeve for that son of Kuru's race. He was one of the Vasus, O goddess, your son has gone to Heaven. Let the fever of your heart be removed."

Vaishampayana said:-

to go away from her banks.

36. Thus addressed by Krishna that foremost of all rivers cast off her grief, O great king, and became consoled.

37. O monarch, having honored that goddess duly all the kings there present, lieaded by Krishna, roceived her permission

FINIS ANUSHASANA PARVA.

A PROSE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

or

THE MAHABHARATA.

(TRANSLATED LITERALLY FROM THE ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT).

ASHWAMEDHA PARVA. VOL. XIV.

EDITED & PUBLISHED BY

MANMATHA NATH DUTT, (Shaster) M.A., M.R.A.S RECTOR, KESHUB ACADEMY.

Author of the English Translations of the Ramayana, Vishnu Puranam, Srimad Bhagaratam, Kamandskiya, Nitisara, Bhagavad Gita, and many other works

40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street, Calcutta

CALCUTTA

PRINTED BY H C DASS, ELYSICH PRESS, 40, Nayan Cland Dutt & Street.

1905.

ASHWAMEDHA PARVA.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I - Vadhishthira's grief and consolation by Dhritarashtra-p 1.

Chapter II - The conversation between Yudhahit ira and Krishus—p t

Chapter III —Consolation offered by

Vyasa—p 2

CHAPTER IV — The story of the Royal

Sage Marutta—p 3

CHAPTERS V to X —The story of Marutta
and Vrshaspati continued—p 4

CHAPTER XI -The story of Vritra and

Indra—p 13
CHAPTER XII — Mental and Physical Diseases as described by Krishna—p 13

CHAPTER XIII -The Means of Salvation

as described by Krishna-p 14

CHAPTER XIV - The exhortation of the Rishis to Yudhishtlitra for going to Hima layas—p 16

CHAPTER XV —Krishba's desire of going to Dwarka—p 16

CHAPTER XVI -The story of Anugita-

CHAPTER XVII — The dissolution of the body and the acq irrement of another The attainment of the Soul to Brahman—p 19

CHAPTER XVIII -The fruits of human actions-p 21

CHAPTER XIX —The characteristics of a Liberated Person—p 22

CHAPTER XX—The discourse of the married couple. The description of Brahman-p 25

CHAPTER XXI -The ten Hours and two

Minds-p 26
CHAPTER XII -The seven sacrificing

Presents—p 27
CHAPTER XXIII.—The five sacrificing

Priests-p 28
CHAPTER XXIV -The first creation in a creature born-p 29

CHAPTER XXV.—The Chaturhotra Sacrifice—p 30

CHAPTER NXVII —The extensive forest of Brainna described—p 3t

CHAPTER NXVIII —Nature described—

P 32.

Common VVIV

CHAPTER XXIX — Flie discourse between Kartavirja, Arj ina and the Ocean—p 33 CHAPTER XXX — Alarka's discourse about controlling the various organs of the body-p 34 1 1

CHAPTER XXXI -The three enemies-

CHAPTER XXXII —The Means for destroying Egoism the discourse of Janaka —p 36

CUAPTER XXXIII - The Knowledge of Seli -37

Self -37
CHAPTER XXXIV -The Source of the Knowledge of Self-p 38.

CHAPTER XXXV —An account of Brahma—the light est object of Knowledge—p 38.

CHAPTER XXXVI — The three qualities and the means of improvement—p 40

CHAPTER XXXVII—The quality of darkness-p 42 / CHAPTER XXXVIII -The quality of goodness—p 42

Chapter XXXIX —The unfied state of the tiree qualities described—p 43

CHAPTER XL -An account of the Great Soul-p 44

CUAPTER XLI-The principle of Great-

CHAPTER XLII -The five great elements -p 45

CHAPTER XLIII - The foremost objects in Nature are enumerated - p 47

CHAITER XLIV - The creation of Day, Night, Stars, etc - 9 49

CHAPTER XLV,—The Wheel of Life-

CHAPTER XLVI -The Conduct of the I wice-Born-p 51.

CHAPTER XLVII -An account of Renunciation-p 53

CHAPTER XLVIII -The relation between Nature and Soul-p 54

CHAPTER XLIA -Description of Duty-

CHAPTER I -Abstention from Injury, Association and disassociation of Soul and Nature-p 56. his CHAPTER LI -The Mind and the Dissolution of the Body described-p. 58.

CHAPTER LIL,-I he departure of Krishna -p 60.

CHAPTER LIII .- The meeting of Krishna and Utanka-p. 62.

CHAPTER LIV. Spiritual Science described by Krishna to Utanka-p. 63

CHAPTER LV,--Krishna shows supreme form to Umaka-p. 61.

CHAPTERS LVI to LVIII - The story of Utanka and Saudasa-p. 66.

CHAPTER LIX .- The return of Krishna to Dwarka-p 71.

CHAPTER LX -Krishna describes the wonderful battle-p. 72.

CHAPTER LXI .- An account of Abhimanyu's death—p. 73.

CHAPTER LXII - Obsequial offerings of Abhimanyu-p 75.

CHAPTERS LXIII to LXV .- Yudhishthira's acquisition of wealth turned into earth by Marutta-p 75. CHAPTER LXVI .- Krishna's return to Hastinapur-p 78. CHAPTER LXVII .- Subhadra's lamentation-p. 79. CHAPTER LXVIII - Krishna is requested to restore Ablumanyu's son to life-p. 80. CHAPTER LXIX.-Krishna restores him to life-p. 81, CHAPTER LXX .- Great reloicing-p. 82.

CHAPTER LXXI .- The return of the Pandavas---p. 82. CHAPTER LXXII .- Yudhishthica's desire for Horse-Sacrifice-p 83. CHAPTER LXXIII .- I he horse is let loose and' g'uginsnittura is mittated-p. 85. CHAPTER LXXIV .- The fight between Arjuna and Trigartas-p. 86.

CHAPTER LXXV,-The fight between Ariuna and Bhagadatta-p. 87.

CHAPTER LXXVI - 1 he defeat of Bhagadatta-p 88. CHAPTER LXXVII -The battle between Arjuna and the remaining Saindhavas -p 8q.

CHAPTER LXXVIII,-The speech of Dusshala-p 90.

CHAPTER LXXIX .- The arrival of Arjuna at Manipur. Hearing of the death of her husband and son, Chitrangada goes to the field-p q2.

CHAPTER LXXX - Ulipi, the daughter of Naga king, also, goes there. She revives Arjuna-p 03.

CHAPTER LXXXI -She gives an account of the whole thing-p. 95

CHAPTER LXXXII .- The return of the sacrificial horse homewards-p. 97-

CHAPTER LXXXIII .- The return of the sacrificial horse to Dwarka-p. 98.

CHAPTER LXXXIV .- The battle between . Arjuna and Gandhara king-p. 99-

CHAPTER LXXXV .- The beginning of the Horse-Sacrifice of Arjuna-p. 100. CHAPTER LXXXVI - The arrival of a messenger from Arjuna-p. tol. CHAPTER LXXXVII -Yudhishthira goes out to receive Arjuna-p. 102. CHAPTER LXXXVIII .- The arrival of Babruvahana, Chitrangada and Ulupip. 103. CHAPTER LXXXIX, - The ceremony begins-p. 105. CHAPTER XC .- A description of the sacrifice -- p. 106.

CHAPTER XCI .- The ordinance about tile sacrifice-p. 111.

CHAPTER NCIL .- The highest end of al sacrifices-p 113

THE MAHABHARATA

(IN ENGLISH).

ASHWAMEDHA PARVA.

CHAPTER I.

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of male beings as also the Goddess of Learning, let its cry success.

Vaishampayana said:-

1-2. After the king Dhritarashtra had offered histons of water, the mighty armony offered by the highest armony of the highest armony of the highest h

- 3. Then, asked by Krishna, Bhima took him up sinking. This must not be so, said Krishna, the grinder of hostile armies.
- -'4. The Pandavas, O king, beheld Yudhishthiri, the son of Diarma troubled and lying on the ground, and also sighing again and again.
- . 5. And seeing the king despondent and feeble, the Pandavas over laden with grief, sat down, surrounding him.
- 6 And gifted with high intelligence, and wise vision king D'interashira greatly afflicted with greef for his sons, ad irassed the king, saying,—Rise up, O foremost of Kurus.
- 7 Do you now satisfy your duties. O Kunti's son, you have conquered it is Earth like the Kshatriyas.
 - 8 Do you now, O king enjoy her with your broil ers and friends O foremost of ite pious, i do not see why you should grive O king, having lost a century of sens like wealth got in a dream, it is Ganchari and I, bho should mouin.
 - 9 Not having listened weighty words of the great Vidura, who sought our well being, 1, 30 perverse senses, (1 ow) repent
 - 10 The valueus Vidura gifted with divine insight, had told me -your family will be extinct for the sins of Duryodhana, 11-13. Oking, if you wish for the wellbeing of your family, are up to my advice, Renounce this wicked king, Suyodhana, and let not either Karna or Shakum ya any means see him. Put down their gambhing too, and anone the pions king Yudhishithira. That one of controlled senses will retheously eovern the Dirth.

14-15 If you would not have king Yudinahina, son of Kunti, then, O monarch, do you, celebrating a serifice, yo reself take charge of the kingdom, and regarding all creatures impartially. O king, do you let your kinsmen, O yo: advancer of your kindeds, subsist on your bounty.

16 When, O Kunti's son, the farsighted Vidura said this, foolishly I followed the wicked Duryodhana.

17. Having paid no heed to the sweet words of that sellate one, I have obtained this powerful grief as a consequence, and have been plunged in an ocean of misery.

th. See your oil lather an I mather, O king, plunged in misery But O master of men, I find no reason for your sorrow.

CHAPTER II.

(ASHWAMEDIIKA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said :--

- t. Thus accosted by the mtelligent king Dhritarashtra, Yudi isi thira, gilted with underststanding, became calin And then Keshava (Kiulina) sa d to lim.
- 3 If a person includes excessively in sorrow for his departed manes he gikves them.

Do you (now) celebrate many a sacrafice with suitable presents to the priests; and do you please the celestrals with Soma juce and the manes of your forefathers, with their due food and de at.

2

Do you also please your guests with meat and drink and the poor ith gifts after their hearts A person of your high intelligence should not act thus

Ym know what ought to be known, you have performed what ought to be done, and you have leard the duties of the Kshatrijas, retited by Bhishma, the son of Bhagirathi by Krishna Dwaipayana, Narada and Vidura. Therefore you should not act like a stupid, but following the course of your forefathers, sustain the burthen (of the Empire).

It is proper that a Kshatrna should attain the celestial region for certain by his Town) renown Of heroes, those who came to be killed never shall have to turn away.

8. Renaunce your grief, O powerful Indeed what has taken place was destined to happen so You can in no way see those that have been killed in this

Having said this to Yudhishthma. prince of the pious, the high spirited Govinda stopped: and Yudhishthira answered him thus, to 'O Govinda, I know full well your fondness-for me You have ever favoured me with your love and friendship.

And, O holder of the mace and the discus, O scion of Yudu's race, O glorious one, if (now) do you gladly permit me to retire into the woods then you would do what is greatly desired by me.

After having killed my grandfather, and that foremost of men, Karna, who never fled from the field of battle, I find no peace.

Do 3011, O Janarddana, so ordain that I may be freed from this heinous sin and that my mind may be purified

As Pritha's son was speaking thus, the inally energet c Vyasa, knowing the unite of life, swothing I im, spoke these excelient words.

15 My child, your min! is not yet calme!, an! therefore you are again storicled by childish feelings. And wherefore, O child do we over an i over again

You know the du ies of the Kshatrivas who five by warfare. A king who that d ne I is duty, sho ald not allow himself to be overwhel sed by grief.

17. You have faithfully listened to the entire doctrine of salvation; and I have repeatedly removed your misgivings originating from desire.

18 But not paying due heed to what I have unfolded, you of perverse understanding have doubtless forgotten it clean. Be it not so. Such ignorance is not worthy of you.

O sinless one you are cognizant of all kinds of expiation; and you have also heard of the virtues of kings, as well as the merits of gifts.

Wherefore then, O Bharata, knowmg every form of morality and versed in all the Agamas, are you overwhelmed (with grief) as if from ignorance.

CHAPTER III.

(ASHWAMPDHIKA PARVA)-Continued.

Vvasa said :--

1. O Yudhishthira, your wisdom, conceive, is not sufficient. None does a work by lus own power. It is God who engages him in deeds, good or bad, O bestower of honor. is the cause then for repentance?

3 You consider yourself as having perpetrated impious deeds. Do your therefore, O Bharata, listen to the way ar which sins, may be removed.

4. O Yudhishthira, those who commit sms can always free themselves from them through penance, sacrifice and gilts.

O king, O foremost of men, sinful people are purified by sacrifice, austernes and charity.

The great celestials and Asuras celebrate sacrifices for acquiring religious ment; and therefore sacrifices are of great importance.

It is through sacrifices that the great celestrals had grown so wondrously powerful, and having celebrated rues did they defeat the Danavas.

S. Do you, O Yndhishthira, prepare for the Rajasuya and the Horse-Sacrifice, as well as, O Bharata, for the Sarvamedha and the Naramedha.

9-10. And as Dasharatha's son, Ramas or as Dushmanta's and Shakuntala's sone your ancestor, the lord of the Rarth the exceedingly powerful king. Bharata find done, do you according to the ordinance celebrate the Horse-Sacrifice with presents

11 Yudinshihira replied -- Undoubtedly, the Horse Sacrifice purifies princes But I have a purpose of which you should

12 Having caused the bage slaughter of kindred I cannot, O best of the Iwice-barn ones, dispense only even on a small born ones, dispense gitts even on a small scale, I have no riches to give.

13 Nor can I for riches solicit these young sons of kings, living wretchedly with their wounds yet green, and undergoing suffering.

14 How, O foremost of twice born ones, having myself destroyed the Earth, can I, everwhelmed with sorrow, levy dues for celebrating a sacrifice?

15 Through Duryodhann's fally, O best of ascetics, the kings of the Earth have 'met with destruction, and we with ignominy '16 Duryodhana hath wasted the Earth for money; and the treasury of that wicked son of Dhritarashtra is empty. 17. (In this sacrifice), the Earth is the sacrificial gift, this is the rule that is prescribed in the first instance. The learned observe the usual reversal of this rule though sanctioned.

18 Nor, O ascetic, do I like to have a

18 Nor, O ascetic, do I like to have a substitute. In this matter, O reverend sir, you should favor me with your advice tg Thus addressed by Pritha's son, Krishna-19wajayana, thuking for a while, spoke to the righteous king 1 his treasury (now) exhausted, shall be full. O son of Pritha, to the mountain Himavan (Himalaya) there is gold which had been left behind by Brainmanas at the sacrifice of the great Marutta.

22 Yudhishthira asked. How in that sacrifice, celebrated by Marutta, was so much gold collected? And, O foremost of speakers, when did he reign?

Vyasa said :--

23 II, O Pettha's son you are anxious to hear, about that king of the Karandhama ine, then listen to me as I tell you when that highly powerful king having immense eighes rein bed

CHAPTER IV.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA)—

Continue i.

Yudhishthira said:—

t. O righteous one, I wish to hear the listory of that royal sage Marutta Do you O Dwarpayana, describe this to me, O sur-less one.

Vyasa said .-

2 O child, in the golden age Manu was ford wielding the sceptre. His son was known under the name of Prasandin

3. Prasandhi had a son named Kshupa. Kshupa's son was king Ikshwaku

4 He O king had a hundred sons possessed of pre-emment piety. And all of them were made monarchs by king lashwaku.

5 The eldest of them Vinsha, became an ideal howman Vinsha's son, O Bharata, was the auspicious Vivinsha.

6 Vivinsha, O king, had fifteen sons, all of them powerful archers, respecting Brahmanas and speaking the truth gentle and ever-speaking fair. The eldest brother Rhannetra, oppressed all his brathers.

8. And having conquered the entire kingdom shorn of all troubles, Khamnetra, could not retail his supremacy; nor were the people satisfied with him.

9 And dethroning him, they, O foremost of kings invested his son Suvarcha with the rights of sovereignty, and expersenced jay.

10—11 Seeing the reverses of his father and his expalsion from the empire he was ever busy with encompassing the well being of the prople, being devoted to Brahman, speaking the truth, practising party and controlling his senses and thought And great one canstant in virtue.

12 But he being constantly engaged in virtuous works his treasures and vehicles became greatly reduced. And on his treasury having become exhausted, the feudatory princes gathered round him and began to gue him trouble.

13 Being thus oppressed by many enemies while his treasury horses and vehicles were improversibled the king is affered great tribulation along with his cetamers and the citizens

14 Although his power decreased greatly, jet the enem es could not kill the king, for is power, O Yulhishthura, was estahished no virtue. 15 And when he had reached the worst point of misery along with the citizens, he blew his hand, and from that there appeared a supply of forces.

4-

- 16. And then he defeated all the kings living along the borders of his dominions And from this incident, O king, he hath been celebrated as Karandhama.
- 17. His son, Karandhama was born at the commencement of the Ireta age, equal ling Indra himself, lighted with grace, and invincible even by the immortals
- 18 At that time all the kings were under his [control, and alike by vi tue of his riches and of prowess, he became their emperor.
- 19 In short, the righteous king Avikshit became like Indra himself in heroism, and he was given to sacrifices, delighted in virtue and held his senses under control.
- 20. And in energy he resembled the sun and in patience, Earth herself, in intelligence, he was like Vrihaspati, and in calinness the mountain Himavan hims-if.
- 21. And that king pleased the hearts of his subjects by act, thought, speech, self-control, and forbearance.
- 22 The lords who celebrated hundreds of Horse Sacrifices, and whom the powerful and learned Angha himself served as priest.
- 23 His son excelled his father in the possession of good qualities, named Marutta, that lord of kings was righteous and of great falme, having the power of ten thousand elephants, and line unto Vishnu's second sell.
- 21—25 Desirous of celebrating a sacrifice, that virtuous king, coming to Mount Meru on the northern side of Himavat, made thousands of shining golden vessels to be lorged. There on a hoge golden hill he performed the rites
- 26. And goldsmiths made numberless basins and vessels and pans and seats
- 27. And the sacrificial ground was near this place. And that righteous king Marutta, with other princes, celebrated a sacrifice there.

CHAPLER V.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA.)-

Yudhishthira said:—

t. O best of speakers, how that king waxed so powerful? And how, O twice-born one, did he get so much gold?

2 And where now, O reverend sire, is all his wealth? And, O ascetic, how can we secure the same?

Vyasa thereupon said:-

3-3. As the numerous children of the Prajapati Daksha, the Asuras, and the Celestials challenged each other, so in the same way Angura's sons, the lightly energetic Virhaspati and the ascetic Samvarita, of equal vows challenged each other, With the properties of the asking and the same as a series of king Virhaspati began to worsy Samvarita sean and acan

- 6 And always troubled by his elder brother, he, O Bharata, renouncing his riches, went to the forest with nothing to cover his body except the open sky.
- 7—9 (At that tume), having defeated and destroyed the Auris and gained the sovereignty of the celestial regions, Vasawa had app intended as his priess Angira's eldest son, that best of Brahmanas, Vrihispati Porrinerly Augira was the family-priest of king Karandhama, peerless among men might, power and character, poweful his Shatakratu, righteous-souled and of rigid yows.
- 10-11. O king, he had vehicles, and warnors, and many adherents, and beautiful and ruch bedsteads, produced through meditation by the breath of his mouth And by his native virtues, the king had brought all the princes under his control
- 12-13 And having lived as long as he desired he ascended the celestral region in his bidity form. And his son named Avikshit—conqueror of enemies—righteous her Yayati, brought all the Earth under his sway. And both in merit and power the king resembled his father.
 - 14 He had a son named Marutta, gifted with energy and resembling Vasava himself. This earth clad in oceans felt herself attracted towards him.
 - 15. He always used to defy the king of the celestials, and, O son of Pandu, Vasava also defied M reutta
 - also defied Marutta

 16 And Marutta—master of Earth—was pure and perfect. And despite his
 - striving, Shakra could not prevail over lum.

 17 And unable to control lum, he riding on the horse, along with the celestrals
 - summoning Vilhaspati, spoke to him thus-18—19. O Vilhaspati, if we wish to do what is agreeable to me, do not perform privately offices for Meriuta on belaif of the celestials or the departed Mans. I have, O Vijhaspiti obtained the soversignity of the three worlds whole Mariuta is meetly the king of the Earth.

- 20 How, O Brahmana, having acted as priest to the immortal king of the celestials, will you unliesitatingly act as a priest to Marutta subject to death?
- 21, May you fare well Either take up my side or that of the king, Marutta, or forsaking Marutta, gladly come over to me.
- 22 Thus addressed by the king of the Vrihaspati, thinking for a moment, replied to the king of the celestials.
- 23 You are the Lord of creatures, and in you are the worlds established. And you have killed Namuchi Vishwarupa and Vala.
- 24 You, O hero, slone, bring about the highest prosperity of the celestials and O slayer of Vala, you sustain the earth as well as the celestial region.
- 25 How, O foremost of the celevials, having officiated as your priest shall 1, O destroyer of Paka, serve a mortal prince and listen to what I say.
- 26 Even if the god of fire cease to cause heat and warmth, or the earth change its nature, or the sun cease to give hight. I shall never deviate from the truth.

Vaishampayana said .~

27. On hearing these words of Vrihaspati, Indra became freed from his envious feelings, and then lauding him he repaired to his own palace.

CHAPTER VI.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA) --

Vyása said :

- I Regarding it is cited the ancient legend of Veiliuspatt and the wise Maintta
- 2 On hearing of the agreement made by Angua's son Ventaspatt with the king of the cerestrate, thing Marinta made the necessary preparations for a great Satrifice
- 3 (Marutta) having conceived the idea of a sacrifice in his mind the eloquent grandson of Karandhaina went to Vribaspati and spoke to him thus

4—5 O worshipful ascelie 1 have intended to celebrate the secretice which you did propose to me once on a previous occasion, according to your instructions and I now wish to appoint you as officiaring priest at this secretic, the materials whereof 1 have, collected, O excellent on, you are our lamily-priest, therefore do you.

take those sacrifical things and celebrate the sacrifice yourself

Vrihaspati said -

6 O king I do not wish to perform your sacrifice I have been appointed as priest by the King the Celestials and I have brumised to him to act as such.

Marntta said :--

7 You are our heriditary family-priest, and therefore I cherish great regard for you, and I have acquired the right of being fielped at sacrifices by you and therefore it is proper that you should officiate as oriest at my sacrifice.

Vrihaspati said -

- B Having, O Marutta, acted as priest to the celestials, how can I act as such to mortal men, and whether you do leave this place or stay here, I tell you I have ceased to act as priest to any but the celestials.
 - 9 O you of mighty arms, I am unable to act as your priest now. And according to your own desire, you can app nit any one as your priest who will perform your sacrifice.

Vvasa said -

to Ihus, told, king Marutta became confounded with shame, and while returning home with his mind stricken with anxiety, he met Narada on his way

11:—12 And on seeing the divine Rish. Narada, that king stood before him with together, and then Narada addressing him thus said,—O royal sage, you appear to be not well pleased in your mind, is all well with you where have you beeo, O sind why at his your mental diseasone, and when you have the properties of the propert

quietude 7

13 And O king, if there be no objection to your telling it to me di you O best of kings, disclose to me so that O prince, I may re nove the disquietude of your mind with all my efforts

Vaishampayana continued :-

14. Thus addressed by the great Rish: Narada, king Maruta informed him of the relinal he had received from his religious preceptor

Marutta said --

15 lying to find out a priest to officiate at my secrific. I went to that priest of its immortals. Vilinspati, the son of Auguras, but he did not choose to accept my office. 16 Having met with this refusal from him I have no desire to live any longer now, for by his at andoning me thus, I have, O Narada, become sulled with sin.

Vvasa said -

17 Thus told by that king, Narada O powerful prince, made this reply to him with words which seemed to revive that son of Atiks! it

Narada said:-

18—19 The virtuous son of Angiras Samwarta by name, is travelling over all the earth in a nude state to the amazement all creatures, do you, O prince, go to him if Vithaspati does not wish to officiate at your secrifice, the powerful Samwarts, if pleased with you, will perform your sacrefice.

Marutta said :--

20—21. I feel as if filled with new life, by these your words, O Narads, but O the best of Speakers, do you tell me where I can find Samwarta, and how I can remain by his sade, and how I am to act so that he may not leave me, for I do not wish to live II I meet with a refusal from him also.

Narada said -

22. Destrous of seeing Maheshwara, O prince, he roves about at his pleasure in the city of Varanasi dressed as a manuac

23—24 And having reached the gate of the city, you must place as dead body some where near it, and the man who shall turn away on seeing the dead body, do you, O prince, know that man to be Samvarta, and knowing him, do you follow Is foot steps wherever that powerful man wishes to go, and finding him (at length) in a lonely place you must seek his protection with your lands clayaped together.

25 And if he acquire of you as to the person who has given you the information i about his own self, do you tell him that Narada has informed you about Samyarta.

25 And if he should ask you to follow me, you must tell him unhesitatingly that I have entered into the fire.

Vyasa said:-

26 Having signified his consent to the proposal of Narada, that royal sage after duly adving him and with I is permission, reached there, that Lamous prince did as the laid been asked, and remembering the words of Narada, he placed a dead body at the gate of the city.

29 And by coincidence, that Brahmana also entered the gate of the city at the same time. Then on seeing the dead body, he suddenly turned a ray.

30 And on seeing him turn back, that prince, the son of Avikshit followed his footsteps with his hands I nied together, and with a view to receive instruction from him.

31 And then finding him in a lonely place, Samvarta covered the king with mud and ashes and philegm and epittle

32 And though thus worried and oppressed by Samwarta, the king followed that sage with his hands joined together in prayer and endeavouring to please him

33 At length overcome with fatigue, and reaching the cool shade of a fig tree with many branches, Samvarta desisted from his course and sat down to rest.

CHAPTER VII.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA)-

Samvarta said -

I How have you come to know me, and who has referred you to me, do you tell this to me truly, if you desire me to do what is good to you

2 And if you speak truly, you we gam all the objects of your heart, and should you tell a be your head shall be cut into a hundred pieces

Marutta said :-

3 I have been told by Narads, wandering on his way, that you are the son of our family priest, and this (information) has bent my mind (towards you), with great satisfaction).

Samvarta said:—

4 You have told this to me truly, he (Narada) knows me to be a performer of sacrifices, now te'l me where is Narada living at present.

Marutta said —

5 If at king of celestral saints (Narada) having given me this information about you, and commended me to your care, has entered into the fre.

Vvasa said —

Vyasa said
6 Hearing these words of the king Marutta, Samvaria was highly pleased, and he said ! I too and perfectly able to do all ;

2—9 Then, O prince, that Brahmana, tavu yi like a manusc, and continually scollding Myratta with rule, words, ageus accost-ted in mit ut. 1 am afflicted with a brain disorder, and, I always act according to the fretful exprises of my own mind, wil y are you then bent upon having this sacrifice performed proper is able to officiate at ascrifice, and he has gone over to Vasawa (Indra), and is engaged in celebrating 1's sacrifice, do you therefore have your sacrifice performed by him.

to—11. My elder brother has taken away by force from me all my bowlessed articles and mystical gods, and sacrificing elevats, and last now left to me only it is physical body of mine, and, O son of Avikshu, as 1 eleveryer all respect from me, I cannot by any means officiale at you sucrefice, unless the permiss me.

12 You must therefore go to Vrihaspatisfirst, and taking his permission you can return to me if you have any desire to celebrate a sacrifice, and then only shall I officiate at your sacrifice,

Marutta said .-

13 Do you listen to me, O Samvarta, I did go to Vrihaspati first, b it wishing the patronage of Vasava, he did not wish to have me as his sacrificer.

14—15 He said—Having secured the priest hood of the Immortals, I do not wish to act for the mortals, and, I have been forbidden by Shakra [India] to officiate at Marinta's astrofic, as he lold me that Marinta having become king, was always filled with a desire to rival 1 im. And to this your brother agreed by saying to the destroyer of Vala [India], Bet 100

16 Rnow, O best of ascettes that as he had succeeded in getting the protection of the King of the Celestrals I went to I im with grainfied heart, but he did not agree to act as my priest.

37. And thus repulsed, I now wish to spendall I possess, to I are this sacrifice performed by 30s and to onistrip Vasava by the merit of your good offices

15 As I have been regulated by Verhaspati for no fault of mine, I have now no deare, U Brahmana, to go to him to seek his help in this sacrifice.

Eamvarta said :--

19-22 Lan certainly, O king, do all tantify lyes in the sha that you wish, if only you agree to do all or in the cares, or that I shall sak you to do, but I apprehend the great mountain.

that Vrihaspati and Purabitata (Indra) when they will learn that I am engaged in celebrating your sacrifice, will be filled with anger, and do all they can to injure you 21 Therefore, do you assure me of your steadiestness, so as to ensure my coolness and construcy, as otherwise, if I am filled with anger against you, I shall reduce (destroy) you and your kindred to ashes.

Marutta said :-

22-23 If ever I fortake you, may it never action the blessed regions as long as the mountains shall east, and the thousand-rayed sun continue to pour beat; if I fortake you, may I never gain true wisdom, and remain for ever addited to worldly (material) norks.

Samvarta said :-

24-25 Listen O son of Awkahu, excitent as is your inclination to perform this act, so too O king, have I in my mind the ability to perform the sacrifice. It self these O king, that your good things will become imperithable and that you shall ford it over SI akea and the Celestials with Gandharwa.

26 For myself, I have no wish to hoard riches or sacrificial presents, I shall only do what is disagreeable to both Indra and my brother.

27 I shall certainly make you attain equality with Shakra, and I tell you truly that I shall do what is agreeable to you.

CHAPTER VIII.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA)-

Samvarta sald .-

2 Fivee is a peak named Munjekan on the summits of the Himalaya mountains, where the worshipful husband of Uma (Malandeva) is constantly practising auxicic penances.

2—3 There the powerful and worth prix god of great power accompanied by it is sufe time and armet with ble trident, and user anunded by wild gobbins of many scriptistics that is random with relative constantly less in the shade of long forest trees, or in the caves, or on the trugged peaks of the first trontism.

over the winds and evil spirits of all sorts, adore the great lord of Uma, gifted with diverse characteristics

7. And there, O king the adorable god sports with the wild and playful followers of Kuvera, having wend and ghastly appearance.

Sun Gods, as well ar the gods p esiding

8 Shining with its own splendour, that mountain looks resplendent as the morning

g And no creature with his natural eyes made of flesh, can ever see its shape or figure, and neither heat nor cold prevails there, nor does the sun shine or the winds bloom.

to. And, O king, neither does senifity, nor hunger, nor thirst, nor death enor fear afflict any one there.

gold from intruders, with uplifted arms. 18-21. Come here, and appeare that adorable god who is known by the name of Sarva, Bedha, Rudra Shitikantha, Surupa, Suvarcha, Kapardi, Karala, Haryyaksha, Lryaksha, Pust nodantabilid. Vamana, Shiva, Yamya, Avyaktarupa, Sadvritta, Shankara, Kshemya, Harshesha, Sthanu, Purusha, Harmetra, Krisha, Uttarana, Bhaskara, Sutirtha, Devadeva, Ranha, Ushnishi, Suvaktra, Sahasraksha, Midhvan, Girisha, Prashanta, Yata, Chiravasa, Vilwadanda, Siddha, Sarvadandadhara, Mriga Vyadha Mahan, Dhanesha, Bhava, Vara, Somavaktra, Siddhamantra, Chakshu, Hiranyayahu, Ugra, Dikpati Lelmana Goshtha Shiddhamantra, Vrisl nu, Pashupati, Bhutapati, Vrisha, Matribliakta Senani, Madhyama, Sruvahasta, Vati, Dhanwi, Bharkava, Aja, Krishnanetra Vicapaksha, Likshnadansh-ira, Likshna, Vaishuan iramikla, Mahadyuti, Ananga, Sarva, Diaptati Bilulista. D pta, Diplaksha, Mahanja, Vasureias Suvapu, Puthu Kuttiyasa, Kapalmah Suvarnamukuta, Maliedeva, Krishna, Lryamyaka. Anasha, Istodhana Nrishansa, Meidu, Vat usali, Dandi, Laptatapa, Aarurakarma, Sahasrashira, Sahasra-Charana, ·SwadhaswaR-upa, Vahu Rupa, Danshtri, Pmaki, Maha-Deva, Maha-Yogi, Avyaya,

Trishulahasta, Varada, Tryamvaka, Bhdtanesiwara, Tryuraghua, Imayana, Intloksha, Mahanja, Sarvabhuta-Prabhava, Sarvabhuta-Dharana, Dharanidhara Ishaa Shankara, Sarva, Shux, Vishweshwara, Bhava, Umapati Pashupati, Vishwaringa, Wahesawara, Virupaksha, Dashabhuja, Vishavadhwaja, Ugra, Shanu Shiva, Raidra, Sharva, Girsha, Ishwara, Stikantha, Aja, Shukra, Frithu, Pethuhara, Vara, Vishwarupa, Virupaksha, Vahurupa, Umapati Anangangahara, Hara, Sharanya, Mahadeva, Chaturumkha, 32. There bowing to that deity, you must seek his protection. And thus, O prince, making your submission to that great. Mahadeva of great energy, you will acquire that gold.

33 And the men who go there thus, succeed in getting the gold. Thus instructed, Marutta, the son of Rarandhama, did as he was advised.

34 He made superhuman arrangements for the celebration of his sacrifice. And artisans made golden vessels for that sacrifice.

35-96 And hearing of the prosperity of Marutta, eclipsing that of the gods, Video and the control to the post, Video and distressed at the thought that his real Samvarta should become prosperous, became sick at heart, and the glow of his complexion left him, and his body became emartted.

371 And when the king of the gods came to know that Vrihaspati was much aggreeved he went to him attended by the imamortals and spoke to him thus.

CHAPTER IX.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA.)→ Continued.

Indra said.

1 Do you, O Vrihaspiti, sleep in peace, and do you like your servants do you seek the welfare of the celestrals, and do the celestrals, O Brahmana, protect you.

Vrihaspati said ·--

2 I do sleep in peace, in my bed O Lord of the celestials, and my seconds are to my liking, and I always seek the wellbeing of the celestials, and they claristi me well.

Indra said :--

3 Whence then is this pain, mental or physical, and why are you pale and changed in appearance at present, tell me, O Brahmana, who those people are, who have caused you pain, so that I may slay them æl).

Vrihaspati said:--

4. O Indra, I have heard that Mariitta will celebrate a great sacrifice at which rich presents will be given by him (to Brahmanas) and that at his sacrifice Samvarta will act as the officiating priest, and, therefore, do I wish that he may not officiate as priest at that sacrifice.

Indra said :-

You, O Brahmana, has attained all the objects of your desire when you have become the excellent priest of the celestials, versed in all the sacred hymns, and have got over the influence of death and decrepitude, what can Samvarta do to you now?

Vrihaspati said:-

6. Prosperity of a rival is always painful, and do you, therefore, with your attendant gods persecute the Asuras with their kith and kin, and slay the most prosperous among them; hence, O Lord of the gods, am I changed in appearance at the thought that my rival is prospering, therefore, O Indra, do you, by all means, restrain Samvarta and king Marutta.

Indra turning to Agni said:—

8. Do you, O Jataveda, following my direction, go to king Marutta to present Verhaspare to him and say to him that this Vrihaspati will officiate at his sacrifice and make i im immortat.

Agni said:-

I shall presently, O worshipful one, go there, as your messenger, to present Vrihaspati to king Maritta; and to make Indra's words true, and to shew respect to Detranal A. M. denasted.

Vyasa said—

in Then the great Fire God went on his errand, laying waste all the forests and trees, like the powerful word, roaring and resolving at random at the end of the winter seasen.

Marntta said .-

11. See! I find the Fire God come in

Its can enbedmert, this day, it erefore, do, eu O Mort, effer I im a beat and water, at da com and water tet watt ug the teet.

Agni said '-

12. I accept your offerings of water, seat, and water for washing the feet, O sinless one, do you know me as the messenger of Indra, come to you as ordered by him. Marutta said:—

13 O Fire-God, is the glorious King of the Celestrals happy, and is he pleased with us, and are the other celestials loyal to him? Do you enlighten me duly on all these matters.

Agni said:-

14. O king, Shakra is perfectly liappy, he is pleased with you, and wishes to make you free from decrepitude, and all the other gods are loyal to him, do you, O king, listen to the message of the King of the Celestials.

And the object for which he has sent me to you is to present Vishaspati to Marutta; O prince, let this priest perform your sacrifice, and make you who are only a mortal, attain immortality.

Marutta said :-

16. This twice born Brahmana Samvarta will perform your sacrifice, and I pray to Vrihaspati, that he having acted as priest to Mahendra it does not appear well for him now to act as priest to mortal men.

Agni said :—

17. If this Vribaspati officiate as your riest, then you will by the blessings of the King of the Celestials attain the highest place in the celestial mansion and acquiring fame you will, forsouth, conquer the beavenly region.

13. And, O king, if Vrihaspate act as your priest you will be able to conquer all the regions inhabited by men, and the heavenly regions and all the highest regions created by Prajapati and even the entire kingdom of the celestials.

Samvarta said :—

You must never come again thus to present Veshaspati to Marinta, for know, O Pavaka, (Agni), if you do, I lesing my temper, will burn you with my fieren evil eyes.

Vyasa said :-

20. Then fearing destruction by fre, and trembling like the leaves of the Ashwatti a tree (fices etlegiosa). Agni returned to the gods, and the great Shakia seeing that carrier of oblations (Agni) in the company of Vrishaspati said as follows .

Indra said —

You, O Jataveda (Agni), went to present Vrihaspati to Marutia according to my direction, now what did that sacrificing king say to you, and did he accept my command? Agni said :-

22. Your message was not acceptable by Marutta and when urged by me, he clasping the hands of Vrihaspati, said again and again, that Samvarta would act as his Driest.

23. And he also observed that he did not wish to attain the worldly and the heavenly regions, and all the highest regions of Prajapati, and that if he were so minded, he would accept the terms of Indra.

Indra said:-

Do you return to that king and meeting him, tell him these word of mine, full of meaning and if he nhey them not, I shall strike him with my thunderbolt.

Agni said :-

Marutta.'

25-6 I et this king of the Gandharvasgo there as your messenger, O Vasava, for, I am afraid to go there myself Know, O Shakra, that highly enraged Samvarta, addicted to ascetic practices told me these words in anger 'I stall burn you with my fierce evil eyes if you on any account come again here to present Vrihasputi to king

as I do not strike the weak with mit thunderbolt (Vritra got the better of me for a time) But who among mortals can he in peace by creating eninity with me

I have banished the Kalakeyas to the earth, and removed the Danavas from the celestral region and have terminated the existence of Prahlada in heaven can there be any man who can leave in peace by exceing my enmity.

Agni Said :-31-32 Do von, O Mahendra member that formerly when the sage Chiavana officiated at the sacrifice of Sharyats with the twin gods Ashums, and himself appropriated the Soma offerrig alone, you were filled with anger, and when bent upon preventing Sharyati's sacrifice, you did vio-lently strike Chyavana with your thunderbolt, that Brahmana O Purandara, yield. my to anger, was able by the power of his devotions to seize and hold fast your hand with your thunderbolt in st. 33-36 And in anger, he again created a terrible looking enemy of yours, the Asura named Mada summer all shapes on sering whom you did shirt your eyes with fear, whose one large paw was placed on earth, and the other extended to the celestral regions and who looked terrible with his thousand sharp teeth extending over a hundred Yojanas, and had four prominent ones thick a set, and shining like a pillar of silver, and extending over two i undred Yojanas And when grinding his teeth 1 e followed you with his terrible and uplifte! pike with the object of slaying yen, you or seeing that terrible monster, presented a (pitiful) sight to all the bystanders then, O destroyer of Danavas, oversome with fear of the monster, with your hands clasp; ed in prayer, you did seek the protection of the great sage.

patiently the insolent pride of Avikshila's sin, and so shall I grind him with my thunderbolt,

Therefore, O Dhritarashtra, do you according to my direction go to king Maratta, attended by Samyarta, and deliver this now to him—'do you O prince, accept Vinlaspata as your spiritual preceptor,' as otherwise I shall strike you with my dreadful thunderbolt.'

Vyasa said:-

3 Then Diritarashtra went to that monarch's court and delivered this news to him from Vasava.

Dhritarashtra said :-

4—5 O king, know that I am Dhritarrashira the Gandiarva, come here with eobject of delivering to you the message of Indra, do you, O foremost of kings, listen to the words which the great lord of all the worlds meant for you.—that one of incomprehensible deed ("indra) only said this present the second of the concellicating prest for the sacrifice, or if you do not comply with my request I shall strike you with my dreadful thunderbolt."

Marutta said ---

6 You, O Purandara, the Vishwadevas, the Vasus and the Ashwas ye all know, that, in this world there is no escape for the results of playing false to a friend, it is a great sin face that of Beahmanicide.

7 Let Vrihaspati (therefore) officiate as priest to that Mahendra the supreme Deva (god) the highest one holding the thunderbolt, and, O prince, Samvarta will act as my priest, as neither his (Indra's) words, nor thine commend themselves to me.

The Gundharva said :-

8. Do you O foremost of kings, listen to it e terrible war cry, of Vasava roaring in it e sky, assuredy and openly will Mahendra but! his thunderbolt at you, do you, therefore, think of your well being, for this is the time to do it.

Vyasa said .-

of Flus addressed by Dhritarashtra, and herring the roar of Vasava, the king communicated the news to Samvasta firm in devotion and the highest of all virtuous men

Marutta said :-

to. Indeed this rain cloud flating in the air, indicates that ludes must be near at present, it effore Opinice of Brahmans, I acek she'ter from you, do you. O best of

Brahmanas remove this fear of India

tt. The Holder of the Th inderbolt is coming encompassing the ten directions of space with his dreadful and superhuman refulgence and my assistants at this sacrificial assembly have been filled with fear.

Samyarta said .-

t2 O foremost of kings, your fear of Shakra will soon be removed, and I shall soon remove this terrible pain by means of my magic (incantation), be calm and have no fear of being overpowered by Indra.

13 You have nothing to fear from the God of a Hundred Satrifices I shall use my straing charms, O'king, and the merpons of all the rods will avail them not.

14-15. Let the lightning flish in all the directions, and the winds entering into the clouds pour down rain in the midst of the forests, and the waters deluge the leavens and the flishes of lightning that are srem will avail not, you have nothing to fear, let Vasava pour down the rains and plat his terrific thunderbolk where he will, floating among the masses of (clouds) for your destruction, for the god Valini (Agin) will protect you in every way, and make you atlain all the objects of your destructions.

Marutta said .-

16 This dreadful trash of the thunderbolt together with the roaring of the winds, seem dreadful to my ears and my heart is stricken again and again, O Brahmana, and my peace of mind is gone at present.

Samvarta said:—

17 O king, the fear in your mind from this terrible thunderbolt will leave you immediately. I shall remove the thunder by the help of the winds, and setting axide all fear from your mind, do you accept a boon from me accirding to your heart's desire, and I shall do it for you

Marutta said —

18. I wish, O Brahimana, that Indra all of a sudden should come body at this sacrifice, and accept the oblation offered to him, and that all the oblation of come and take their appointed shares of the offerings and accept the libations of Suma offered to them.

Samvarta said :--

19 I have, by the power of my incantations, attracted Indra bodily to this sacrifice. See. O king, Indra coming with his horses, and adored by the other celestials hastening to this accrifice.

Agnı said .-

- 20. Then the King of the Celestials attended by the other detries and riding in his chartot drawn by the most excellent liouses, approached the sacrificial altar of bat son of Avisshit and drank the Sona battons of that peerfess king.
 - 21. And king Marutta with his priest rose to receive Indra coming with the host of celestials and well pleased in mind, he welcomed the King of Detties with doe and foremost honors according to the Shastras.

Samvarta said:--

22. Welcome to you, O Indra, by your presence here, O learned one, this sacrifice has been made grand, O destroyer of Vala, and Vritra, do you, again, drink this Soma pince produced by me to-day.

Marntta said .-

23 Do you look with kindness upon me, toy sacrifice has been perfected, and my life too blessed with good results. Ourendra this excellent Brahmana, the you ger brother of Vrihaspati is engaged in celebrating my sacrifices.

Indra said .-

24 I know your priest, this highly energetic ascetic, the younger brother of Vrihaspatt, at whose invitation I have come to this sacrifice, I am, O king, well pleased with you, and my anger against you is cone.

Samvarta said:-

25. If, O King of the Celestials, you are pleased with us, do you yourself give all the directions for this sacrifice, and O Surendra, yourself ordain the sacrificial portions (for the gods) so that, O god, all the world may know that it has been done by you.

Vasava said --

- 26 I has addressed by the son of Angera, Shakra humself gave directions to all the celestials to erect the half of assembly, and a thousand well furnished excellent rooms looking grand as in a canvass, and quickly to complete the stateries measure and durable, for the ascent of the Gandharava and Apparas and to furnish that position of the second of
- 25-29 O king, thus directed, the renowned denuent of heaven quickly carried out the directions of Shakra. And then O king, India w II pleased and worst-sped,

- thus said to king Mautta 2 p in >, by associating with you at this sacrifice, your ancestors who have gone before you as well as the other celestrals have been highly pleased and accepted the oblations off-red by you.
- 30 And now, O king, let the foremost of twice born ones, offer on the sacrificial altar a red bull belonging to the Prie-God and a sacred and duly consecrated blue bull with a variegated skin, belonging to the Vishwedevas.
- 31 Then, O king, the sacrificial ceremony grew in splendour, wherein the celestras themselves collected the food, and Shakra the King of the Celestrals, possessed of horses, and adored by the Brahmanas, became all assistant at the sacrifice.
- 32 And then the great Samuaria ascendung the altar, and looking radiant as the second embodiment of the Burning Fire, loadly addressing the celestrals with salied faction, offered obliations of clarified butter to the fire with incantation of the sacred hymns.
- 33 And then the Destroyer of Vala first drank the Soma pune, and then the assembly of other celestials who drank Soma, and then in happiness and with the king's permission they returned home well pleased and delubted.
- 34 Then that king, the destroyer of his enemies with a delighted heart, placed heaps of gold on various apots, and distributing the immense riches to the Brahmanas he looked glorious like Kuvera the King of Riches.
- 35 And with a pleased heart, the king filled his treasury with different kinds of weeklth, and with the permission of his spiritual preceptor, he returned (to his kingdom) and continued to rule the entire kingdom extending to the limits of the sea-
- 36 So virtuous in this world was that king, at whose sacrifice such an enormous quantity of gold was collected, and now, O prince, you must collect that gold and adoting the gods with due rites, do you celebrate this sacrifice.

Vaishampayana said -

37. Then the Pandava prince Yudhishthia was del alted on hearing this speech of the son of Nelyayati (V) axis) and desirons of celebrating his sacrifice with those riches, he consulted again and again with his ministers.

CHAPTER XI.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA.)-Continued

Vaishampayana said:—

When Vyasa of wonderful deeds had concluded his speech to the king, the highly powerful son of Vasudeva (Krishna) also addressed hun Knowing the king the son of Pritha, afflicted in mind, and bereft of his relatives and kinsmen killed in battle, and appearing crest fallen like the s in darkened by eclipse, or fire smothered by smoke, that support of the Vrishni race (Krishna), comforting the son of Dharma, tried to address him thus.

Vasudeva said ·-

- All crookedness of heart brings on destruction, and all rectitude leads to Brat ma Ulus and this only is the aim and of ject of all true wisdom, what can mental distraction do (to him).
- 5. Your Karma has not yet been destrojed nor have your enemies been subjugated, for you do not yet know the enemies that live within your own body.
 - I shall (therefore) relate to you truly as I have heard it, the story of the war of Indra with Vritra as it happened
 - Formerly the Earth, O king, was encompossed by Vritra, and by this abstraction of earthly matter the seat of all smell, there arose bad odors on all sides, and the Performer of a Hundred Sacrifices (Indra). being much incensed by this deed, thurled
 - his thunderbolt at Vritra. And being deeply wounded by the th inderbolt of piwreful Indra, Vritra entered into the (waters), and by doing so, he destroyed their property.
 - The waters being seized by Vritra, ther I and property left them At this In its became wroth and again smote him with his thunderbolt.
 - And he (Viitra) smitten by the thunderbolt by the most powerful Indra went to the luminous matter and abstracted its inherent property.
 - 12-14. The luminous matter being overwhelmed by Vettra and its property, color and form being thereby lost, the angry Indra again hurled his thunderbolt at him And thus wounded again by Indea of great Diwer, Vettra entered all on a sudden into the gaseous matter, and thereafter made away with its inherent property.

15-10. And this matter being overpowered by Ventra and its property, touch being lost Indra became again angry and flung his it underbolt at him. And wounded therein by the powerful (Indra), he overwhelmed the ether, and took away its inheret property, and the ether being overwhelmed by Vritra, and its property, sound, being destroyed, the God of a Hundred Sacrifices highly enraged, again smote him with his thunderbolt

And thus smitten by the powerful Indra le suddenly entered into his (Shakra's) body, and took away essential attributes.

18-20 And overtaken by Vritra, he was filled with great illusion And, O venerable sir, the most powerful of Bharata's race, we have heard that Vashishtha camforted Indra and that the God of a Hundred Sacrifices killed Vritra in his body by means of his invisible thunderbolt, and know, O prince, that this religious mystery was recited by Shakra to the great sages, and they in turn told it to me.

CHAPLER XII.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA.)— Continued.

Vasudeva said :--

- There are two kinds of diseases. physical and mental They are produced by the mutual action of the body and mind on each other, and they never originate without the interaction of the two
- The disease that is produced in the body, is called physical, and that which is produced in the mind, is called mental
- The cold, the warm (phlegm and bile) as well as the windy humoirs, O king, are the essential changes created in the physical body, and when these humours are equally distributed, and are present in due proportions, they indicate good health
 - 4-5 The warm humour is inflienced by the cold and the cold by the warm. Goodness Darkess and Ignorance are the attributes of the soul, and it is said by the learned, that their presence in equal parts, indicates health (of the mind). Bit any of the three preponderate, some remedy is laid down
 - Happiness is overcome by sorrow, and serrow by pleasure Some people wille afflicted by sorrow, wish to recall (past) happiness, while others, while in the entyment of happiness, with to recall past sorrow.

7 -- 11. But you, O son of Kunti, da neither 'wish to recall your sorrows nor your happiness, what else do you wish to recall barring this delusion of sorrow. Or, perchance, O son of Pritha, it is your innate nature, by which you are at present overpowered. You do not wish to recall to your mind the painful spectacle Krishna standing in the hall of assembly with duly one piece of cloth to cover her body, and while she was in her menses and before all the Pandavas. And it is not proper that you should broad over your departure from the city, and 'your exile with the hide of the antelope for your dress, and your wanderings in the great forest, nor should you recall to your mind the affiction from Jatasura the fight with Chitrasena, and your troubles from the Saindhavas

Nor it is meet, O son of Pritha 12-13 and conqueror of your foes, that you should recall the incident of Kichaka's kicking Draupadi, during the period of your exile passed in absolute concealment, nor the incidents of the fight which took place between yourself and Dropa and Bhishma The time has now arrived, when you must fight which each must do single handed with his mind you must now prepare to carry the struggle i against your mind, and by dint of abstraction and the ment of your own Karma, you must reach the other side of the my sterious and unintelligible (mind).

Therefore, O chief of Bharata's race,

- In this war there will be no need for any weapons nor for friends nor attendants The battle which is to be fought alone and single-handed has now arrived for you
- And if defeated in this struggle, you shall find yourself in the most wretched condition, and, O son of Kunti, knowing this, and acting accordingly, shall you attain success
- And knowing this wisdom and the destuny of all creatures, and following the conduct of your forefathers do you duly govern your kingdom

CHAPTER XIII.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA.)-

Continued. Vasudeva said .--

1. O foremost of Bharata's race, salvation is not attained by removing the extergiving up things which satisfy the flesh (body).

- 2. The virtue and happiness which one attains who has renounced only the external objects, but who at the same time possessed by passions and weakness of the flesh, let these be the portion of our enemies.
- The word with two letters is Mrityu (death,) and the word with three letters is Shashwata Brahman, or the eternal spirit The consciousness of ego, or the state of being addicted to worldly objects is D ath, and the absence of that feeling is immortality.
- And these two, Spirit and Drath, O king, have their seats in the souls of all creatures, and remaining unseen, they, forsooth, rage war with each other.
- And if, O Bharata, it be true that no ereature is ever killed, then one commits no sin for the death of a creature by destroying its body.
- What matters the world to a man, if having acquired the sovereignty of the entire earth with its mobile and im nobile creation, he does not become attached to it
- But if the man who having renounced the world, has adopted the forest inide of life, living on wild roots and edibles, O son of Pritha, has a craving for the earthly things, and is addicted to them he may be said to bear death in his month.
- 8 , Do you, O Bharata, watch and observe the character of your external and internal enemies. And the man who is able to perceive the nature of the eternal reality is able to get over the influence of the great fear (perdition).
- 9-II. Men do not like the conduct of those who are engrossed in earthly desires, and there is no deed without having a desire (at its root) and all desires are as it were, the limbs of the mind Therefore, wise men knowing this, control their desires. The Yogt who comm mes with the Supreme Spirit knows Yoga to be the perfect way to salvation by reason of the practices of his many pristine births' And remembering that, what the soul wishes, is not conducive of piety and virtue, but that the control of the desires is at the root of all true victue, such men do not engage in the practice of charity, Vedic learning, asceticism, Vedic rites, whose object is attainment of earthly prosperity, ceremones, sacrifices, religious rules and meditation, with the desires of securing any advantage thereby.
- 12 As an ill istration of this truth, the nal things (like kingdom, etc.), but by sages, well read in ancient learning, recite these verses called by the name of Ramagits, do you, O Yudhishthira, listen to the tental of them in full,

- 13 (Kama says) No creature is able to destroy me without following the proper methods (pro, subjuigation of all desires and practice of Yoga, etc.)
- II a man Inosung my power, thes to destroy me by muttering prayers, stc. I preval over him by deluding him with the blief that I am the e₂0 within him II he desire to destroy me by means of ascrifices with many presents, I deceive him by appearing in his mind as a most virtual creative amongst the mobile creation, and if he wish to destroy me by mastering the Yedas and its auxiliaries, I overreach him by appearing to his mind to be the form.
 - 16—19 And if the man whose strength lies in truth, wish to overcome me thy patience, I appear to him as his mind, and this he does not perceive my existence, and if the man of austree religious practices, and if the man of austree religious practices, and the man of destroy me by means of accritisms, and, and the responsable prevented from knowing me, and the major prevented from knowing me, and the major prevented from knowing me, and the major prevented from the object of attaining affection with the object of attaining affection with the destand and the major prevented from the object of account from the object from the object of account from the object of a
 - 20 Therefore, you too, O punce, direct your desires (Kama) to virtue, so that, by this means, you may attain what is for your good.
 - 21. Do you, therefore make preparations for the due performance of the Horse-Sacrifice with presents, and various other sacrifices of great spleudour, and accompanied with presents.
 - 22. Let not, therefore, grief overpower you again on seeing your friends lying killed on the battle field. You cannot see the men killed in this battle alive again.
 - 23 Therefore, should you perform magnificent sacrifices pith presents, so that you may attain fame in this world, and reach the perfect way in the next.

CHAPTER XIV.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA)→

Continued. Vaishampayana said —

- r. I have great ascence consoled the royal saint Yudurshihira, bereft of his friends, with these words,
- 2-1 And, O menarch, that king exhorted by the worshipful Vinitarashraba hinself, and by Dwapayana (Yyasa), Kreshaa, Dwayahaa, Narada, Bhime, Nakula, Kreshaa (Dwaipadh), Sahadwa, and the aharp witted Yujaya as well as by other great men, and Brahmanas versed m the scriptures, became relieved of all mental sulfering and sorrow originating from the death of his dear relations.
- 5 And that king Yudhishthira after performing the obsequed green mes of his departed friends, and honoring the Brahmanas and the celestials, brought the kingdom of the earth with its girdle of oceans, under his sway.
- And having regained his kingdom, with a trainqud mind, that prince of Ruru's race thus addressed Vyasa, Narada and the other sages who were present.
- 7 I have been consoled by the words of an great, ancient and aged saints as yours lees, an I I have now no cause left for the least sorrow
- s And likewise I have attained great riches, with which I may adore the celestials, therefore, with your help, I shall now celebrate the sacrifice.
- g—10 O the best of the twice borns, we have heard that those (filmalayan) regions are full of wonders therefore, O Brahmans saint and grandfather do you so ordan that under your protection we may safely reach the Hinalayar mountains, the principal of the protection with the protection of the protection of the protection with the protection of the pr
- 11 No unlucky man in times of great sorrow and distress, has ever the good fortune to secure the services of such preceptors! and friends approved of all victious men.
 - 12—13 Thus addressed by the king, those great samts, commending the king and Krishna and Arj ma to go the Himalayan regions, then and there vanished before the assembled multi 1de, and the king, the royal son of Ω urms, then seated hunself there for some time.

MAHABHARATA.

16

14-16 And the Pandavas then on account of the death of Bhishma, were engaged in cal brating his funeral ceremonies Ai d their time, while thus engaged, seemed too long in passing, and performing the last rites for the bodies of Blushma, Karna and other Kau avas, they gave away large presents to Brahmanas. And then the foremost descendant of Kuru again performed with Dhritarashtra the funeral rites, and having distributed profuse riches amongst the Brahmanas the Pandava chief with Dhritarashtra in advance entered the city of Hasuna Nagar, and consoling his uncle, have to ever of windom, that virtuous prince continued to govern the earth with his brothers.

CHAPTER XV.

(ASHWAMEDHIKA PARVA)-

Janamejaya said -

t O best of the twice-borns, when the Pandavas had reconquered and pacified their kingdom, what did the two warriors Vasudeva and Dhananjaya do?

Vaishampayana said :--

- 2—4 O king, Vasudeva and Dhannajaya ware highly pleased when the Pandawas had succeeded in regaining and pacifying their kingdoms, and they deported themselves with great glee, like Indra and his wife in the celestial regions, and amidst picturesque forest scenerics, and tablelands of mountains and sacred places of pilgrimage, and lakes and rivers, they travelled with great pleasure like the two Ashwiled with great pleasure like the two Ashwiled with great grade of Indra.
 5 And, O Bharata, the great Krishna
- and the son of Pandu (Dhananjaya) entering the beautiful hall of assembly at Indraprastha, passed their time in great merriment.
- 6 And there, O prince, they passed their time in describing the stirring incidents of the war, and the sufferings of their past lives.
- 7 And those two great ancient sages pleased, recited the genealogy of the races of saints and gods
- 8 Then Reshava, knowing the full significance of all matters, addressed Partha in sweet and beautiful words of excellent style and meaning

- y And then Janarddana consoled the son of Priths afficted by the death of his sons, and thousands of other relatives.
- to And he of great ascette ment and knowing the science of all things duly comforting him, rested for a white, as if a great burden had been removed from his own body.
- 11. Then Govinda (Krishna) comforting Arjuna with sweet speech, addressed these well-reasoned words to him.

Vasndeva said:-

- 12 O Arjuna, the terror of your enemies, this entire earth has been conquered by the king, the son of Dharma, depending on the power of your arms

 13 And, O best of men, the virtuous
- king Yudhishthira now enjoys the sovereighty of the earth without a rival, by the power of Bhimasena and the twin brothers. 14-17 O voir, who know what virtue
- 14-17 O you, who know what virtue is, it was by virtue alone, that the king has been able to regain his kingdom sharn of all enemies, and it was by the action of virtue, that king Suyedhana has been stain in battle, and, O son of Pirtish and pillar of the Kirur race, the wicked sons of Dhirtarashira, avaricous, always rude in speech, and bent upon a sinful course of conduct, having been coded out with their followers, the king, the son of Dharma and lord of the earth, now peaceably enjoys the entire king-dom of the earth with your help and I too, song away and it, have been pleasantly passing away on time in your company, amidst woodland Scenes.
- 18 O terror of your enemies what more need I tell you, but that where your and Pritha, and the king, the sort of Dharma, and the powerful Bhimaseria and the two sons of Madri are, there am I drawn with exquisite delight.
- 19—20. O descendant of Kuru, in these delightful and sacred and celestral halls of dastembly, a long time has gone away in your company without my seeing Vasindeva, Valadeva and other Igaders of the Vrishni race
- 21. And now I am desirous of going to the city of Dwaravati Do you, therefore, O most courageous of men, assent to my departure.
- 22 When king Yudhishthira was sticken heavily with sorrow, I with Blishma, have recited to him many appropriate legends suited to him canny appropriate legends suited to he ceasion with a view of dispelling his grief, and the plant and great Yudi shithra though our sourcing, and versed in all learning, paid due heed to our words.

That son of Dharma honors 23-24 truth, and is grateful and victuous, therefore will his virtue, and good sense and the stability of his power always endure. And now, O Arjuna, if it pleases you, to you go to that great prince and tell him of my desire to leave this place.

For, O you of mighty arms, even if death comes to me, I am reluctant to do anything that may displease him, what to speak of, my going to the city of Dwaravati, O son of Pettha, and descendant of Kuru, I now tell you truly desiring to do only what is good and agreeable to you, and there can be nothing equivocal in it in any way, that the necessity for my staying here no longer exists, when, O Arjuna, that monarch the son of Dhritarashtra, has been killed with his armies and attendants, and the earth, my friend, with its belt of seas, and its mountains and woods and forests, and the kingdom of the Kuru king filled with various gems, have passed under the control of that wise son of Dharma. And, O foremost prince of Bharata's race, may that virtuous prince govern the entire kingdom of the earth in virtue, and with the respect and approbation of numerous great Siddhas, and having his praises always extolled by the panegyrists.

Do you, O pride of Kuru's race, accompany me to day to the king, the great advancer of the Kuru race, and sound him of my intended return to Dwaraka.

As Yudhishthira the great king of the Kurus, always commands my love and respect, I have, O son of Pritha, placed this my body and all the riches that I have in my house, at his disposal.

34 And, O prince, Partha (son of Pritha) when this earth has come under your control and that of the worshipful Yudhishthira of excellent character, there no longer; remains any need for my staying here except for my love for you

35 · And Oking when the redoubtable Arjing had been thus addressed by the noble-learted Janarddana, he, shewing all tle honors due to him, sorrowfully replied by merely saying 'be it so.'

CHAPLER XVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)

Janamejaya said :-

Wi en the great Keshava and Arjuna after killing their enemies went to the assembly rooms what conversation, O twiceborn one took place between them?

2. The son of Pruha (Arjuna), having recovered his own kingdom, spent his time gladly, without doing anything else, in the company of Krishna, his heart filled with joy, in that palace of celestial beauty.

3. One day, those two listlessly went to a particular part of the palace that looked, O king, like a veritable portion of the celestial region. Themselves filled with joy, they were then surrounded by their relatives and attendants. 4. Pandu's son Arjuna, filled with joy in the company of Krishna, saw that delightful palace, and then addressed his companion, saying,-'O mighty-armed one, your greatness became known to me upon the approach of the battle.-O son of Devaki, your form also as the Lord of the universe, then became known to me. 6 What your holy sell said to me at that time, O Keshava, through love, has all been forgotten by me, O chief of men, on? account of the fickleness of my mind.

7. However, I have been curious again and again on the subject of those truths You, too, O Madhava, will go to Dwaraka soon,

Vaishampayana said—

Thus addressed by 1 m, Krishna of great energy, that foremost of speakers, embraced, Phalguna and replied to him as follows.

Vasudeva said —

o I made you listen to truths' that are considered as mysteries I conferred on you eternal truths, Indeed, I described to you Religion in its true form and on all the eternal regions.

It is greatly disagreeable to me to learn that you did not, from folly, receive, what I gave The recollection of all that I, told you on that occasion will not come to me now

11. Forsooth, O son of Pandu you are destitute of faith and your understanding is not good It is impossible for me, O Dhananjaya, to repeat, in full, all that I said on; that occasion

That religion is more than sufficient for understanding Brahma, of cannot describe it again in detail.

I described to you, O Supreme having concentrated myself in Brahma having concentration an old history upon the same subject

14- O foremost of all persons knowing duty, listen to everything I now say, so il at, with an understanding adapted to my teaching, you may succeed in attaining to the highest end.

15. O chastiser of enemies, on one occasion, a Brahmana came to us from the celestial regions. Of irresistible energy, he came from the regions of the grandfather, the was duly respected by us

 Listen, O son of Pritha, unhesitatingly to what he, O chief of Bharata's race, said, in answer to our enquiries, accordingto heavenly forms,

Brahmana said :-

- 17—18 That which you ask me, O Krishma, about the religion of Moksha (Brancipation), led by your compassion for all creativers,—that, indeed, which destroys all delusion,—O you gifted with Supreme power, I shall now tell you dily, O destroyer of bladha. Do you listen with Mokshawe.
- 19. A Brahmana named Kashyapa, possessed of penances and the foremost of all persons knowing dates, came to a certain other Brahmana who had become conversant with all the mysteries of religion.
- 20. Indeed, the latter had mastered all the knowledge which the scriptures teach about the departure and reappearance of beings and possessed that direct knowledge of all things which. Yoga gives life was well skilled in the truths of all subject selating to the world. He had mastered the truth about pleasure and pain,
- 21. He knew the truth about brith and death, and understood the distinctions between merit and demerit. He had seen the ends attained to by embodied creatures high and low on account of their deeds.
- He lived like one freed from the world Crowned with ascetic success and gifted with perfect tranquility of soul, he had all his senses under complete control. He seemed to shine with the resplendence of Brahma and capable of going every-He knew the science of where at will disappearing at will from before the eyes of all He used to move about in the company of invisible Siddhas and celestial musicians He used to sit and talk with them on some spot reured from the bustle of humanity. He was as unattached to all things as the wind Kashyapa having heard of him truly, wished to see him. Gifted with intelligence, that foremost of all Brahmanas approached the sage.
 - 25 Himself possessed of penances, (Kashyapa, moved by the wish of acquiring morit, fell, with a rapt heart, at the feet of it e sage when he had seen all those wonderful attebutes.

- 26 Stricken with wonder at the sight of those extraordinary qualities, Rashyafa began to wait upon that foremost of all Brahmanas, with the dutiful respect of a disciple waiting upon his preceptor and succeeded in pleasing him.
- 27. By his devotion, O scorcher of enemies, rendering to him the obedience due from a disciple to a preceptor. Kashyapa pleased that Brahmana who possessed all these qualities and was gifted besides with Scriptural learning and excellent conduct.
- 28. Pleased with Kashyapa, the Brahmana one day addressed him-cheerfully and spoke as follows, having the highest successive we. Listen to those words, O Janarddana, as I repeat them.

The successful Ascetic said -

- 29 By various deeds, O son, as also by the help of merit, mortal, creatures attain to diverse ends here and residence in Heaven.
- 30 Nowhere one can enjoy the highest happiness; nowhere one can live for good. I here are repeated falls from the highest regions acquired with such sorrow,
- 34. On account of my indulgence insin, I had to come by various miscrable and inauspicious ends, filled as I was with lust and anger, and deluded by cupidity.
- 32 I have repeatedly undergone death and re birth. Thave eater various kinds of food, I have sucked at various breasts.
- 33 I have seen various kinds of mothers, and various fathers dissimilar to one another. Phave come by various kinds of happiness and misery, O'sinless one.
- 34 On various occasions have I been separated from what was agreeable and united with what was disagreeable. Having acquired wealth with great labour I have had to put up with its loss.
- 35 I have received from king and relatives insults and excessive misery. I have suffered from severe mental and physical pain
- 36 I have undergone humilations and death and imprisonment under circumstances of great severity. I have had falls into Hell and have suffered great tortures in the domains of Yama.
- 37 I have again and again, suffered form decreptude and diseases, and from frequent and great calamities. In this world I have repeatedly suffered from all those afflictions which areas from a perception of all pairs of opposites.
- 38 After all this one day, laden with sorrow, despair came upon me I took

- reluge in the Formless. Suffering from great distress, I gave up the world with all its joys and sorrows.
- 39 Finding out then this path, I exertised myself in it in this world. Afterwards, through tranquility of soul, I acquired the success you see.
- 40. I shall not have to come to this world again Indeed till I attain to absorption into eternal Brahma, till, in fact, it e final dissolution of the universe, I shall look on those happy ends that will be mine and on those beings and that form this universe.
- 41. Having acquired this excellent suctess, I shall after departing from this world, proceed to what is above it and thence to what is higher,
- 42 Indeed, I shall come by the condition, which is unmamifest, of Brahma. Do not doubt this. O scorcher of enemies, I shall not return to this world of mortal treatures.
- 43 O you of great wisdom, I have betome pleased with you. Iell me what I shall do for you I he time has come for the accomplishment of that purpose for which you have come here.
- 44. I know that object for which you have sought me. I shall soon depart from this world. Hence it is that I have given you this hint.

 45. O you of great wisdom and ex-
- perience, I have been highly pleased with you for your behaviour. Do you question me! I shall discourse on what is beneficial to you as destred by you.
- 46 I think your intelligence is great. Indeed, I speak highly of it, for it was with the help of that michligence that you were able to recognise me Surely, O Kashyapa, you are endued with great intelligence.

CHAPTER XVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA) -

Continued...
Vasudeva said .--

1 Touching the feet of that sage the Brahmana asked him some very difficult questions. That foremost of all pious persans then described those duties that were referred to.

Kashyapa said -

I flow does the body dissolve away, and how is another is acquired? How does

- one become liberated after passing through a repeated round of painful re-birtle?
- 3 Enjoying Nature for sometime, how does the Indiv dual Soul cast off the particular body? How does the Individ all Soul, freed from the body, attain to what is
- 4 How does a human being enjoy the good and bad deeds done by hina? Where do the acts exist of one that is devoid of body?

The Brahmana said .-- different from it. (ms . Brahman)?

5 I has urged by Kashyapa, the Liberated Sage answered those questions one after another. Bo you listen to me, O hero of the Vrishm race, as I recite to you the answers he have.

The Liberated Sage said :-

- 6-7. Upon the exhaustion of those deeds capable of prolonging life and bringing on fame which are done in a particular body that the Individual Soul assumes, the embodied Jiva, with the span of his life shortened begins to do acts hostile to life and leath. On the approach of destruction, his understanding deviates from the proper course.
- 8 The man of impure sonl, after even and strength and of the season of both his own life and of the year, begins to eat at strength and of the year, begins to eat at strength a merivals and to eat such food as is hostile to bim.
- g At such a time he does practices that are greatly harmful He sometimes eats excessively and sometimes abstants altogether from food.
- to. He eats bad food or bad meat or takes bad drinks, or food that has been made up of hostile ingredients. He eats food that is heavy and more than what is beneficial, or thefore the food previously taken, has been digested.
- 11 He indulges in physical exercise and xexual pleasure in excess, or through availity for work, suppresses the urgings of his corporeal organism even when they become pronounced.
- 12. Or, he takes fulcy food or indulges in sleep during daytime. Food that is not properly digested, of itself excites the faults, when the times comes.
- 13 From such excuement of the faults in his body, he gets disease ultimately bringing on death. Sometimes the person engages in unnatural deed, like strangling.
- 14 Through these causes the living body of the cteature dissolves away. Understand correctly the manner as I declare it to you.

Urged on by the Wind which be-15 comes violent, the heat in the body, becoming excited, and reaching every part of the body one after another, restrains all the vital airs

16. Know truly that excited all over the body, the heat becomes very strong, and pierces every vital part where life may be said to live

12-18 On account of this, the Individual Soul, feeling great pain, quickly takes leave of the body Know, O foremost of twiceborn ones, that when the vital parts of the body become thus afflicted, Individual Soul passes away from the body, suffering from reat pain All living creatures repeatedly suffer from birth and death

10-20 It is seen O chief of Brahmanas. that if e pain which is felt by a person when renouncing his bodies is like to what is felt by him when first entering the womb or when coming out of it. His joints become almost dislocated and he derives much distress from the waters.

21. Moved by (another) violent wind the wind in the body becomes excited through cold and dissolves away the union of matter into its five primal elements.

That wind which lives in the vital airs called Praha and Apana occurring within this compound of the five primal elements, rushes upwards from a situation of distress, leaving the embodied creature

23 It is thus that the wind leaves the body. I hen is seen breathlessness. man then becomes destitute of heat, of breath, of beauty, and of consciousness

Deserted by Brahma, the person is said to be dead By those canals through? which he perceives all sensuous objects. the bearer of the body no longer perceives them

The Individual Soul creates in the body in those caralythe will are formed. by the lood

The elements gathered together be-26 tome in certain parts firmly united Know that those parts are called the vitals of the

It is said so in the Shastras. When those vital parts are cut, the Individual Soul, rising up enters the heart of the living creature and restrains the principle of animation forthwith, > 28 The creature then, though still possessed of consciousness fails to know anything. The vital parts being all worked up, the the knowledge of the I ving creature becomes overwhelmed by darkness.

29-30 The Individual Soul then, who has been deprived of everything upon which to stay, is then agitated by the wind then, deeply breathing a long and painful breath, goes out speedily, making the inanimate body to tremble Separated from the body, the Individual Soul, however, is surrounded by his deeds. He becomes equipped on all sides with all his auspicious deeds of merit and with all his sins Brabmanas gifted with knowledge and equipped with the certain conclusions of the scriptures, know him, from marks, as to whether he is possessed of ment or with its demerit Even as men having eyes see the fire fly appearing and disappearing in the midst of darkness men having the eye of knowledge and crowned with success of penances, see, with spiritual vision, the Individual Soul as he leaves the body, as he is re born, and as he enters the womb It is seen that the Individul Soul has three regions assigned to him eternally.

This world where creatures live is Performing called the field of action. acts, good or bad, all embodied creatures attain to the fruits thereof.

26 On account of their own deeds. creatures acquire even here superior or ininferior enjoyments Diers of evil deeds here, on account of those deeds of theirs, attain to Hell.

This condition of sirking with head downwards' in which 'creatures are boiled is one of great misery. It is such that a rescue therefrom is highly difficult Indeed, one should try hard for saving himself from this misery

38 Those regions where creatures live when they ascend from this world, I shall now declare truly. Do you listen to me attentively

39-40 By listening to what I say, you will acquire firmness of understanding and a clear apprehension of deeds Know that even those are the regions of all creatures of righteous deeds vis, the stellar worlds that shine in the sky, the lunar disc and the solar disc as well that shines in the universe in its own light

41. Upon the termination, again, of their merits, they fall away from those re-gions repeatedly. There is distinction of inferior, superior and middling happiness even in the celestial region.

There is discontent at sight of prosperity more burning than one sown even in the celestial region Fren these are the goals which I have mentioned in full,

- 43. I shall, after this describe to you the attainment by the Individual Soul of the condition of residence in the womb.
- 44 Do you hear me with rapt attention, O twice born one, as I speak to you.

CHAPTER XVIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

The Brahmana said —

- t The acts, good and bad, that the Individual Soul, does are not subject to destruction Upon attainment of body after body, those deeds yield fruits corresponding with them.
 - 2 As a fruit bearing tree, when the season for production comes, yields a large quantity of fruit, merit, achieved with a pure heart, likewise yields a large measure of lappiness
 - 3 Similarly, sin, committed with a sinful heart, produces a large quantity of misery. The Individual Soul, placing the m ind a head performs action.
 - 4 Hear then how the Individual Soul, equipt with all his deeds and overwhelmed with lust and anger, enters the womb
 - 5 The vital seed, mixed with blood, enters the womb of females and becomes the field (of the Individual Soul), good or had born of (his) deeds
 - 6 On account of his subtlety and the condition of being unmanifest, the Individual Soul does not become attached to anything even after coming by a body. Therefore he is called Eternal Brahma
 - 7—3 That (us, Jiva or Brahma) is the seed of all creatures. It is on account, of lim that bump creatures live. That the Individual Soul entering all the Imbards of the foctus part by part, accepting the attribute of mind and living within all the regions that belong to vital air, supports (lie). On account of this, the foctus becoming possessed of mind, begins to move its limbs.
 - 9 As liquified iron, poured (into a mould), takes the form of the mould so it entrance of the Individual Soul into the focus
 - to As fire entering a mass of iron, heats it greatly, so is the manifestation of the Individual Soul in the foctus.
 - It As a lamp, burning in a room, discovers (all things within it) so does the mind discover the different limbs of the body

- 12 Whatever deeds good or bad the Individual Soul does in a former body, have certainly to be enjoyed or endured by him
- 13 By such enjoyment and endurance former deeds are exhausted, and other deeds again, accumulate till the Individual Soil succeed in acquiring a knowledge of the duties included in that contemplation which leads to Liberation 7.7
- 114 Regarding this, I shall tell you those deeds by which the Individual Soul, O best of men, while passing through a repeated round of re births, becomes happy
- 15—18 Gdts, observances of austerity, celbuay, bearing Bralma according to drofmances laid down, sell control, tranquility, mercy for all creatures restraint passibility, abstention of commercial as a lorent passibility and the self-among from th
 - 19 Such conduct one would always see among good persons Indeed such conduct lives there for good That course of practices which persons of tranquit souls' follow, indicates Virtue
 - f 20 Among them is thrown that course of practices which forms eternal Virtue Ha who 'would follow; virtue would never have to come by a miserable end
 - 21 It is by the conduct of the good that the world is restrained in the paths of Virtue when it falls away. He who is a Yogin is Liberated, and is therefore distinguished above these (ris , the good)
 - 22 Deliverance from the world occurs, after a long time of one who acts righteously and well on every occasion as he should
 - 23 A living creature thus always meets with his pristing deeds. All tilese deeds form the cause in consequence of which he comes into this, world in a state different promise true form.
 - 24 There is a doubt in the world about this question. By what was the acceptance (by the Individual Soul) of a body first determined
 - 25 Having first formed a body of his own, it e Grandfather of all it e worlds tra . Brahman, it en created the three worlds, of mobile and immobile creatures

- 26 Having first limself taken a body, he then created Pradhana. That Pradhana is the maternal cause of all embodied creatures, by whom is all this covered, and whom all came to know as the greatest.
- 27 This which is seen is said to be deststructible, while the other is immortal and indestructible. It is which its seen! is said to be Kishara (the destructible), that, however, which is the other is the Immortal (as alvo) Akshara (the Indestructible). Of each Purush taken separately, the whole is duality among these three.
- 28 Seen first (to appear in an embodied form), Prajapate (then) created all the pramal elements and all immobile creatures. This is the ancient Shruti.
- Of that (acceptance of body), the Grandfather put down a limit about time, and migrations among various creatures and return or re-birth,
- 30. All that I say is proper and correct, as a person who has intelligence and who has seen his Soul, would say on this subject of previous births.
 - 31-32. That person who considers pleasure and pain as monstant, which, indeed, is the correct view who regards the body as an unfoly collection, and destruction as ordained in action, and who remembers that what little of pleasure there is, is really all pain will succeed in crossing this terrible ocean of worldly migration which is so difficult to cross.
 - 33. Though attacked by decreptude and death and disease, he who understands Pradhana sees with an equal eye that Consciousness which lives in all beings gifted with Consciousness.
 - 34 Seeking the supreme seat, he then becomes utterly indifferent to all (other) things. O best of men, I shall now deliver instruction to you, according to truth, concerning this.
 - 35 Do you, O learned Brahmana, understand in full what form the excellent knowledge, as I declare it, of that indestructuble seat.
 - ' CHAPTER XIX.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

The Brahmana said :-

t He who becomes immerged in the one receptacle (of all things), freeing himself from even the thought of his own identity with all things,—indeed, ceasing

- to think of even his own existence of gradually renouncing Jone after another, will succeed in crossing this bonds.
- That man who is the friend of all, who endures all, who is attached to tranquility, who has conquered all his senses, who is shorn of fear and anger, and who is of controlled soul, succeeds in liberating himself.
- '3. He who treats all creatures as his ownerlf, who is restrained, pure, free from vanity, and shorn of egoism, is considered as liberated from everything.
- He also is liberated who cansiders in the same light life and death, pleasure and pain, gain and loss, agreeable and disagreeable.
- 5. He is in every way liberated who does not covet others' properties, who never disregards any body, who is above all pairs of opposites, and whose soul is shorn of attachments.
- 6. He is liberated who has no enemy, no kinsman, and no child, who has cast off religion, riches and pleasure, and who is freed from desire or cupidity.
- 7. He becomes liberated who acquires neither merit nor dement, who casts off the ments and dements accumulated in pristine births, who wastes the elements of his body for attaining to a tranquifised soul and who gets over all pairs of opposites.
- 8-9. He who abstans from all deeds, who is free from desire or cupidity, who considers the universe as unenduring or as like an Ashwatha tree, ever gitted with birth, death, and decreptioneds, whose understanding is fixed on renunciation, and whose eyes are always directed towards his own faults soon succeeds in freeing himself from the fetters that band him.
- to He who sees his soul void of smell, of taste and touch, of sound, of belongings, of vision, and unknowable, becomes liberated.
 - 11. He, who sees his soul shorn of the attributes of the five elements, to be without form and cause, to be really destitute of attributes though enjoying them, becomes liberated.
- c 12.; Abandoning, with the help of the understanding, all purposes relating to body and mind, one gradually attains to cessation of separate existence, like a fire unfed with fuel.
 - 13 One who is freed from all impressions, who is above all pairs of opposites, who is destitute of all belongings and who uses all his senses under the guidance to penances, becomes liberated.

- 14 Having become freed from all impressions one then altains to Brahma which is Eternal and supreme, and tranquil, and stable and enduring and indestructible
- 15 After this I stall describe the science of Yoga than which there is nothing superior, and how Yogins, by concentration, see the perfect soul.
- 16 I shall communicate the instructions about it duly Do you learn from me those doors by which directing the soul within the body one sees that which is without beginning and end
- 17. Withdrawing the senses from their objects, one should fix the mind upon the practised the soul, liaving previously severest austerities, one should practise that concentration of mind which leads to Liberation.
 - 18 Observant of penances and always practising concentration of mind, the learned Brahmana, gilted with intelligence, should observe the precepts of the Science of Yoga, seeing the soul in the body.
 - If the good man succeeds m con tentrating the mind on the soul, he then, used to exclusive meditation, sees the Supreme Soul in his own soul.
 - Self-controlled and always concentrated, and with all his senses completely conquered, the man of purified soul, on account of such complete concentration of mind, succeeds in seeing the soul by soul
 - 21. As a person seeing some unseen individual in a dream recognises him, saying -Ihis is he, -when he sees him after waking, similarly the good man having seen the Supreme Soul in the deep contemplation of Samadhi recognises it upon waking from Samadhi
 - As one sees the fibrous path after extracting it from a blade of the Saccha rum Munja, so the Vogin sees the Soul, extracting it from the body.
 - The body has been called the Saccharum Munja and the filbrous pith is called it e Soul It is is the excellent illus itation given by persons knowing Yoga ,
 - When if e bearer of a body adequa tely sees the Soul in Yoga he then has no one to master him, for he then becomes the kerd of three worlds
 - 25 He succeeds in assuming various bodies according as he wishes away decrepitude and death, he neither grieves nor exults.
 - 26 The self controlled man trated in, Yoga can create (for I miself) it godship of the very gods Renouncing

- his transient body he attains to immutable Brahma.
 - 27. He does not lear even at on seeing all creatures falling victims to destruction. When all creatures are afflicted,-he can never be afflicted by any one.
 - Devoid of desire and gifted with a tranquil mind, the person in Yoga is never affected by pain and sorrsw and lear and the dreadful effects of attachment and affection.
 - Weapons never pierce lum, death does not exist for him Nowhere in the world can be seen any one who is happier than he.
 - 30. Having adequately concentrated his soul, he hees firmly on himself Turning off decrepitude and pain and pleasure, he
 - sleeps at ease. 31. Remouncing this human body he attains to (other) forms according to his While one is enjoying the sove-
 - reignty that Yoga bestows, one should never fall away from devotion to Yoga 32 When one, after adequate devotion to Yoga, sees the Soul in his ownself, he
 - then ceases to have any regard for even him of a hundred sacrifices (Indra).
 - Hear now how one, habituating himself to exclusive meditation, succeeds at attaining to Yoga Throking of that point of the compass which has the Sun behind it, the mind should be fixed, not outside, but in the interior of that palace in which one may happen to live. Living within that palace the mind should then, with all it foutward and inward (operations) see in that particular room in which one may live At that time when, having deeply meditated, one sees the All (vis , Brahma, the Soul of the Universe), there is then nothing external to Brahma where the mind may live Controlling all the senses in a forest that is free from noise and that is uninhabited with mend fixed therear one should meditate on the All both outside and inside his body. One should meditate on the teeth the palate the tongue, the throat the neck likewise, one should also meditate on the heart and the I gatures of the heart.
 - The Brahmana said -Thus addressed by me that intelli
 - gent disciple, O destroyer of Madhu, once ration that is so difficult to explain
 - How does this food that is eaten from time to t me become digested in the stomach? How does it become changed into juice? How, again, into blood?

- 40 How does it nourish the flesh, the marrow, the sinews, the bones? How do all these limbs of embodied creatures grow? At. How does the strength grow of the growing man? How takes place the escape
- of all such elements as are not nutritive. and of all impurities separately? How does this one inhale and again, part does the Soul live in the body ?
 - extale? Staying upon what particular How does the Individual Soul, exer-
 - ting himself, bear the body? Of what colour and of what kind is the body in which he lives aga n ? O holy one, you should tell me all 144
 - this accurately. O sinless one! Thus was I accosted by that learned Brahmana, O Madhaya? 45-46. I replied to him, O you of
 - mighty arms, as I myself had, heard. O chastiser of all enemies! As one placing some precious object in his istore room, should keep his mind on it, so placing the mind within one's own body, one should then, controlling all the senses, seek after the Soul, avoiding all carelessness, One would, becoming always assidu-
 - ous in this way and pleased with his own self, within a very short ti ac, attain to that Brat ma by seeing which one would become conversant with Pradhana.
 - He is not capable of being apprehended by the eye; nor even by all the senses. It is only with the lamp of the mud that the great Soul can be seen.
 - He has hands and feet on all sides : he has ears on all sides, he lives, pervading all things in this world
 - The Individual Soul beholds the Soul as extracted from the body , Then renouncing Brahma as invested with form, by holding the mind in the body he sees Brahma as freed from all qualities
 - He sees the Soul with his mind, smiling as it were at the time Depending upon that Brahma, he then attums to Libe. ration in me.
 - O foremost of twice born ones all this mystery has now been declared by me I ask your permission, for I shall leave this place Do you (also) go wherever you like "
 - Thus addressed by me, O Krisl na, on that occasion that disciple of mine gited with austere penances, that Brahmana of rig d vows, went away according to his pleasure.

Vasudeva said —

O son of Pritha, having said these words to me, on that occasion, about the

- Religion of Emancipation, that best of Brallmanas disappeared then and there.
- 55 -Have you heard this discourse U son of Pritha, with mind directed solely towards it? This you did hear on that occasion while you were on your car.
- 56. I think, O son of Pritha, that this is difficult of being comprehended by one whose understanding is confused or who has acquired no wisdom by study, or who eats lood, not suited to his body, or whose Soul is not purified.
- 57. O chief of Bharata's race, this is a reat mystery among the celestials that has been declared. At no time or place, O son of Pritha, has this been heard by man in this world.
- 58 O sinless one save yourself no other man is worthy of hearing it. It is not, at this time, capable of being easily understood, by one whose inner soul is confused.
- The world of the celestials is filled, O sah of Kunts, with those who follow the religion of actions The cessation of the body is not liked by the celestials
- That goal, O son of Pritha is the highest which is formed by eternal Brahman where one, renouncing the body, attains to immortality and becomes always happy.
- 61. By following this religion, even they who are of sinful birth, such as women and Vaishyes and Shudras, come by the highest goal.
- 62 What need be said then. O son of Pritha, of Brahmanas and Kshatriyas endued with great learning, always devoted to the duties of their own orders, and who are intent on the region of Brahma?
- This has been laid down with the reasons; and also the means for its acq itsition, and its complete attainment and fruit, vis . Liberation and the ascertainment of the truth about nam-
- 64-65 O chief of Bharata's race, there is nothing else which yields happiness greater than this That mortal, O son of Pandu, who, gifted with intell gence, and faith and prowess, renounces as unsubstantial what is, considered as substantial by the world, succeeds within a short time in obtaining the Supreme by these means.
- This is all that is to be said -there is nothing else which is higher than this He, O son of Priths, who devotes himself to its constant practice for a period of six months, succeeds in attaining to Yoga.

CHAPTER XX.

(ANUGILA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vasudeva said .t Regarding it is cited the old narrative, O son of Pritha, of the discourse that took - place between a married couple. 2-3, A certain Brahmana's wife, seeing the Brahmana, her husband, who was a complete master if every kind of knowledge and wisdom, seated in seclusion, said to him -Into what region shall I go, depending on you as my husband,-you who are seated, having cast off all (religious) acts, who are harsh in your conduct towards

 - me, and who are so undiscerning ? We have heard that a wife attains to those regions which are acquired by her husband What, indeed, is the goal that I shall attam, having obtained you for my husband.
 - 5 Thus questioned, that Brahmana of tranquil soul then said to her, similingly,-O blessed dame, I am not offended with these - words of yours, O sinless one. Whatever acts exist which are adopted with the help of others, which are seen, and which are true, are done, as acts, by men devoted to acts.
 - Those persons who are destitute of knowledge, only store delusion by deeds breedom from acts, again, caunot even be momentarily attained in this world.
 - From birth to the attainment of a different form, action good or bad, and accomplished by deeds, mind, or speech, exists in all beings.
 - 9 Those paths (of action) which are characterised by visible objects (such as Soma juice and clarified butter for libations) being destroyed by Rakshasas, turning away from them I have perceived the seat (of the soul) that is in the body, with the help of the soul.
 - to There lives Brahma transcending all pairs of opposites, there Soma with Agni; and there the mover of the understanding, (vis, Vayu) always moves, upholding all creatures.
 - It. It is for that seat that the Grandlather Brahman and others concentrated in Yoga, adore the Indestructible It is for that seat that men of learning and exceller t vows, of trangu I souls, and of senses completely controlled, strive
 - 12 That is not capable of being smelt by the sense of smell, nor tasted by the

- tongue, or touched by the organs of touch. It is by the mind that that is attained. It is incapable of being conquered
 - by the eye It is above the sense of hearing It is shorn of scent, taste, touch, and form as attributes.
 - It is that from which proceeds the well ordained universe, and it that upon which it depends The vital airs called Prana, Apana, Samana, Vyana and Udana, flow from it, and it is that into which they again enter. The vital airs Prana and Apana move between Samana and Vyana.
 - When the soul sleeps both Samana and Vyana are absorbed Between Apana and Prana, Udana lives, pervading all.
 - Hence, Prana and Apana do not desert a sleeping person. On account of its controlling all the vital airs, the controlling breath is so called Udana.
 - 18-22 Hence, utterers of Brahma practise penances which have myself for their goal In the midst of all those vital airs which swallow up one another and move within the body, shines forth tie fire called Vaishwanara made up of seven flames. The nose, the tongue, the eye, the skin, the ear which numbers the fifth, the mind, and the understanding,these are the even tongues of that Valsh-I hat which is smelt that which is seen, that which is drunk that which is touched, as also that which is leard, that which is thought of and that which is understood -- these are the seven sorts of fuel for me That which smells, that which eats, that which sees, that which toucles, that which sees, that which toucles, that which hears, numbering the fifth, that which thinks, and that which understands -these are the seven great officiating priests

23-26 Mark O blessed one, learned sacrificers duly casting seven libations in seven ways in the seven fires, vis , that which is smelt, il at which is drunk that which is seen that which is touched, as also that which is heard, that which is thought of, and that which is understood, create them in their own wombs Earth, Wind, Ether, Water, and Light numbering as the fifth, Mind and Understanding -these seven are called wombs (of all things) All the attributes which form the sacrificial offerings enter into tie attribute that is birn of the fire and laving lived within that dwelling become reborn in their respective wombs, There also wis, in that which generates all beings they remain absorbed during the period for which dissolution lasts.

- 27-28. From that is produced smell, from that is produced taste, from that is produced color, and from that is produced touch, from that is produced sound, from that originates doubt; and from that is produce a resolution. Thus is what is known as the assembled creations.
- 1 29 It is thus that all this was comprehended by the ancients. By the othere full and final libations, the full become full with light.

CHAPTER XXI.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)

The Brahmana said:-

- 1. Regarding it is cited the following ancient story. Do you understand, of what kind the institution is of the ten Hotris (sacrificing priests).
- 2. The ear, the skin, the two eyes, the tongue, the nose, the two feet, the two hands, the gential organ, the lower duct, and speech,—these, O beautiful one, are the ten sacrificing priests.
- 3 Sound, touch, color, taste, scent, speech, action, motion, and the discharge of vital seed, of urine, and of excreta, are the ten libations.
- 4 The points of the compass, wind, Sun, Moon, earth, fire, Vishim, Indra, Prajapati, and Mitra,—these, O beautiful one, are the ten (sacrificial) fires.
- 5—6. The ten organs (of knowledge and action) are the sacrificing prests, The libations, O beautiful one, are ten. The libations of the senses are the fuel that are thrown into these ten fires, as also the ready of the badle and the wealth officer.) What remains is the pure, highest knowledge. We have heard that all this universe was well differentiated (from knowledge.
 - 7 All objects of knowledge are Mind Knowledge only perceives it. The Individual Soul, encased in subtle form lives within the gross body that is produced by the wind seed.
 - 8 The bearer of the body is the Garhapatya fire. From that is produced another Mind is the Ahavaniya fire. Into it is, noured the oblation.
 - o. From that was produced the Veda or Word) (then was born Mind), Mind (desirous of creation) sets [stself on the Veda (or the Word) Then arises form of color) undistinguished by particular colors, it runs towards the Mind.

The Brahmana's wife said :-

- 10. Why did Word first arise and why did Mind arise afterwards, seeing that Word comes into being after having been thought upon by Mind?
- 11. Upon what authority can it be said that Mati (Prana) takes refuge in Mind. Why, again, in dreamless sleep, though separated from Mind, does not Prana apprehend (all objects)? What is that which controls it then?

The Brahmana said :---

- 12. The Apana air, becoming the lord, on account of such lordship over it, makes it at one with itself. That restrained motion of the Prana air has been said to be the motion of the mind. Hence the mind depends upon Prana.
- 13 But since you ask me a question about word and mind. I shall, therefore, describe to you a discourse between them.
- 14 Both Word and Mind, repairing to the Soul of matter, asked him,—Do you say who amongst us is superior. Do you, O powerful one, remove our doubt.
- 15 On that occasion, the holy one made this answer,—The mind undoubtedly (rs superior)!—Io him Word said,—I grant you the fruition of all your desires.

The Brahmana said:-

- 16 Know that I have two minds, immovable and movable. That which is immovable is, indeed, with me, the movable is in your dominion.
- 17 That mind is indeed called movable which, in the form of Mantra, letter, or voice, is referrible to your dominion. Hence, you are superior.
- 18. But since, coming of your own accord, O beautiful one, you enter into the engagement, therefore, filling myself with breath, I utter you.
- 19 The goddess Word used always to live between Prana and Apana. But, O blessed one, sinking into Apana, though urged upwards, on account of becoming dissociated from Prana, sile ran to Prajapat and said,—Be pleased with me, O holy one,
- 20 Then Prana appeared, once more fostering Word. Hence, Word, encountering deep exhalation, never utters anything.
- ing deep exhalation, never utters anything.

 21. Word always comes as endued with utterance or unendued with it. Amongst

- those two, Word without utterance is seperior to Word with utterance.
- 22. Like a cow having milk, she yields various kinds of meaning. This one always gives the Eternal (vis , Emancipation), speaking of Brahma.
- 23 O you of beautiful smiles, Word is a cow, on account of her power which is both divine and not divine. See the disfunction of these two subtle forms of Word that flow.

The Bramana's wife said : -

24 What did the goddess of Word then say, formerly when, though moved by the wish to speak, speech could not come

The Brahmana said:—

- 25. The Word that is made in the body by Prana, then attains to Apana from Prana Then changed into Udana and coming out of the body, it covers all the quarters, with Vyana,
- 26. After that, she lives in Samana. Even thus did Word formerly speak. Hence Mind, on account of being imtnovable, is distinguished, and the goddess Word, on account of being movable, is also distinguished.

CHAPTER XXII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)—

Continued.

The Brahmana said .-

- 2. Regarding it is cited the ancient story, O blessed one of what the institution is of the seven sacrificing priests.
- 2. The nose, the eye, the tongue, the skin, and the ear numbering the fifth, the mind, and the understanding -these are the seven sacrificing priests standing dis-Analy from one another.
- 3 faving in subtle space, they do not perceive one another. Do you, O beautiful one, know these sacrificing priests that are seven by their nature.

The Brahmana's wife said .-

4 How is it that living in subtle space, these do not perceive one another ! What are their (respective) natures. O holy one? Do you tell me this, O lord,

The Brahmana said :-

5 Not knowing the qualities is ignorance, while knowledge of the qualities is you think would be true, or, if, when we

- knowledge. These seven never succeed in apprehending or knowing the qualities of one another.
- The tongue, the eye, the ear too, the skin, the mind, and the understanding, do not succeed in apprehending smells the nose alone which apprehends them.
- 7. The nose, the eye, the ear too, the skin, the mind, and the understanding, never succeed in apprehending tastes. The tongue alone apprehends them.
- The nose, the tongue, the ear also, the skin, the mind, and the understanding, never succeed in apprehending colors is the eye alone which apprehends them.
- The nose, the tongue, the eve too. the ear, the understanding, and the mind, never succeed in apprehending sensations of touch. It is the skin alone that appreheads them.
- 10. The nose, the tongue, the eye, the skin, the mind, and the understanding, never succeed in apprehending sounds is the ear alone which apprehends them
- it. The nose, the tangue, the eye, the skin, the ear, and the understanding, never succeed in appreheng doubt. It is the
- mind which apprehends it. 12. The nose, the tongue, the eye, the skin, the ear, and the mind, never succeed in apprehending determination. It is the understanding alone which apprehends it.
- Regarding it is cited, O beautiful lady, this ancient discourse between the senses and the mind.

The Mind said :-

- 14-15 The nose does not smell without me (Without me) the tongue does not apprehend taste. The eye does' not perceive color, the skin does not feel touch, the ear does not apprehend sound, when deprived of me I am the eternal and foremost one among all the elements.
- 16 It always occurs that without myself, the senses never shine, like liabitations empty of inmates or fires whose flames have been quenched.
- tr. Without me, all creatures cannot apprehend qualities and objects, with even the senses exerting themselves, as fuel that 15 wet and dry cannot catch fire.
- 18 Hearing these words, the Senses said .- This what you think would be true. if, you could enjoy pleasures without either ourselves or our objects. 10-20 Il, when we are no more, there
- be gratification and support of life, and a continuation of your enjoyments, then what are absorbed and objects are existing, you can't have your enjoyments by your desire alone, as truly as you have them with our

- 21. If, again, you consider your power over our objects to be always complete, do you then seize color by the nose, and taste by the eye.
- 22 Do you also take smells by the ear, and sensations of touch by the tongue Do you also take sounds by the skin, and likewise touch by the understanding.
- 23 The powerful do not acknowledge the control of any rules Rules exist only for the weak Do you seize enjoyments unenjoyed before, you should not enjoy what has been tasted before (by others)
 - 24-25 As a disciple goes to a preceptor for the sake of the Shrutis, and then, having acquired the Shrutis, lives on their meaning, so do you regard as yours those objects which are shown by us past or future, in sleep or in wakefulness
 - 26 Of creatures, again, who have little intelligence, when their mind becomes distracted and cheerless, life is seen to be upheld upon our objects discharging their functions.
- 27 It is seen also that a creature after having made many purposes and indulged in dreams, when afflicted by the desire to enjoy, runs to objects of sense alone
 - 28 One entering upon enjoyments depending on purposes alone and uncon nected with actual objects of sense always meets with death upon the exhaustion of the vital airs like an enkindled fire upon the exhaustion of fuel
 - 29 True it is that we have connections with our respective attributes, true it is, we have no knowledge of one anothers attributes. But without us you can have no perception. Without us no happiness can come to you.

CHAPTER XXIII

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

The Brahmana said -

- Regarding it, O blessed lady, is cited the ancient story of what kind the institution is of the five sacrificing priests.
- 2 The learned know this to be a great principle that Prana and Apana and Udana and Samana and Vyana are the five sactificing priests.

The Brahmana's wife said :-

3 I naturally believed that there are seven sacrificing priests. Let the great principle be declared to me as to how, indeed, the number is five of the sacrificing priests.

The Brahmana said :-

- 4 The wind nursed by Prana afterwards takes birth in Apana. The wind nursed in Apana then becomes developed into Vyana
- 5 Nursed by Vyana the wind is then developed into Udana Nursed in Udana, the wind is then generated as Samana
- 6 Those good beings formerly asked the first-born Grandlather, saying,—Do you say who amongst us is the foremost. He alone will be our chief.

-Brahman said -

7 He upon whose extinction all the vital airs become extinct in the bodies of living creatures, he upon whose moving they move, is, indeed, the foremost. Do you go where you like.

-Prana said -

8 Upon my extinction all the vital airs become extinct in the bodies of living creatures Upon my moving they once more move. I am the foremost. See, I go into extinction.

The Brahmana said :-

G—10 Prana then became extinct and once more moved about Then Samaa and Udana also, O blessed one, said these words,—You do not live here, pervading all this, as we do You are not the foremost amongst us, O Prana [Only] Apana is under your dominion I—Prana then moved about, and to him Apana spoken

-Apana said -

11. When I become extinct, all the vital airs become extinct in the bodies of living creatures When I move about, they again move about I am, therefore, the foremost See, I go into extinction.

The Brahmana said -

- 12 To Apana who said so both Vyana and Udana said —O Apana, you are not tile foremost (Only) Prana is under your dominion
- 13 Then Apana began to move about. Vyana once more addressed him, saying.— I am the foremost of all. Listen, for what reason
- 14 When I become extinct, all the living creatures When I move about they once more move about 1 am (therefore) the foremost See I go into extinction.

The Brahmana said —

- Then Vyana became extuct 15-17 and once more began to move about this, Prana and Apana and Udana and Samana addressed him, saying -You are not the foremost among us, O Vyana (Only) Samana is under your dominion -Vyana then began to move about and Samana said to him -I am the foremost of you all ! Listen, for what reason I become extinct, all the vital airs become extinct in the bodies of living creatures When I begin to move about, they once more move about, Hence, I am the foremost See, I become extinct.
 - 18 Then Samana began to move about To him Udana said -I am the foremost of all the vital airs Listen, for what reason,
 - 19 When I become extinct, all the vital ars become extinct in the bodies of living creatures When I move about they once more move about Hence, I am the fore-Behold I become extinct. most
 - 20 Then Udana, alter having become extinct began to once more move about. Prana and Apana and Samana and Vyana sad to hun -O Udana, you are not the foremost one among us. (Only) Vyana is u ider your dominion.

The Brahmana said:-

- 21 To them assembled together, the Lord of ereatures Brahman said -Ye are all foremost and not foremost Ye are all gifted with the attributes of one another.
- 22 All are foremost in their own tpheres, and all possess the attributes of one another !- The Lord of all creatures thus said to them, that were assembled togett er
- There is one that is unmoving, and one that is moving On account of special attributes, there are five vital airs My That one accumulates own self is one into many forms
- 24 Becoming friendly to one another, and pleasing one another, depart in peace litessings to je, do je up i eld one another.

CHAPTER XXIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued

The Brahmana said :--

1. Regarding it is cited the ancient discourse between Narada and the Rishi Devamata

Devamata said -

What, indeed, comes first into existence, of a creature that takes birth? Is it Prana, or Apana, or Samana o Vyana, or Udana?

Narada said —

By whatever the creature is created, that first comes to him which is other, The vital airs are to be known as existing in pairs us, those which move transversely, upwards, and downwards

Devamata said —

By whom is a creature produced? Who (amongst) them comes first? Iell me what the pairs are of the vital airs, which move transversely, upwards, and downwards

Narada said •—

- From wish originates Pleasure It also arise from sound It arises also from laste, it arises too from color
- 6 From the semen, united with blood, first originates Prana Upon the semen being modified by Prana flows Apana 7. Pleasure originales from the semen
- as well It arises from taste also This is the form (effect) of Udana Pleasure is produced from union 8-9 Semen is formed by desire From desire is produced the menstrual flow. In
- the union of semen and blood generate ! by Samana and Vyana the pair that consists of Prana and Apana, enters moving transversely and upwards. Vyana and Samana both form a pair which move transversely to Agni (fire) is all the celest sis. This
- is the teaching of the Veda ledge of Agni arises in a Brahmana, with intelligence
- The smoke of that fire is of the The quality that is form of Darkness known by the name of Passion is in its asles. The quality of goods ess originates from that portion of the fire into which the oblation is poured
- the They who are conversant with sacrifices know that Samana and I yana are from the quality of Goodness Prana and Apana are portions of the oblation (of claiffed butter) Between them is the Fire

- 12 That is the excellent form (or seat) of Udana as the Brahmanas know Listen as I say which is distinct from the pairs
- 13 Day and Night form a pair Between them is the Fire. That is the excellent seat of Udana as the Brahmanas know.
- 14 The existent and the non existent form a pair Between them is the Fire That is the excellent seat of Udana as the Brahmanas know
- 15 First is Samana Then Vyana The latter's function is managed through it (vis., Samana) Then, secondly, Samana, once more comes to work.
- 16 Only Vyana exists for tranquility Tranquility is eternal Brahma. This is the excellent seat of Udana as the Brahmanas know.

CHAPTER XXV.

(ANUGITA PARVA)— Continued.

The Brahmana said : -

- 1. Regarding it is recited the ancient story of what the institution is of the Chaturhotra (sacrifice).
- 2 The ordinances are now being duly declared in full. Listen to me, O fair lady, as I describe this wonderful mystery
- 3 The instrument, the action, the agent and liberation—these, O beautiful lady, are the four sacrificing priests by whom the universe is covered
- 4—7 Hear fully of causes The noise, the tongue, the eye the skin, the ear for the fifth the mind and the understanding—these seven should be understond as the causes of qualities. Smell taste, color, sound, touch, numbering the fifth, the objects of the mind, and the objects of the mind, and the objects of the understanding—these are the seven causes of the color of
 - 8-9 As regards the soul that is destitute of qual ties. These seven are the causes of Liberation. With them who are

- learned and gilted with sufficient understanding, the qualities, which are in the position of celestrals eat the oblations each in its proper place, and according to which has been ordained. The person who is shorn of learning, eating various kinds of food, becomes seized with the sense of expision.
- 10. Digesting food for himself, he becomes runed through the sense of egoism. The eating of food that should not be eaten and the drinking of wine, ruin him.
- tt He destroys the food (he takes), and having destroyed that food he becomes destroyed himself. The learned man, however, gifted with power, destroys his food for reproducing it.
- 12—14 The minutest sin does not arise in him from the food he takes. Whatever is thought to f by the mind, whatever is uttered by words, whatever heart, whatever is seen by the eye, whatever is touched by touch, whatever is mind: by the nose, form oblations of clarified butter which should all, after controlling the senses with the mind numbering the sixth, be poured into that fire of high merits which burns within the body, rise, the Soul.
- 15 The sacrifices formed by Yoga is going on as regards mysell. The spring one of the sacrifice proceeds is that which gives the fire of knowledge. The upward vital air Prana is the Stotra of that sacrifice. The downward vital air Apana is sitted. The renunciation of everything is the excellent present of that sacrifices.
- 16 Consciousness, Mind, and Understanding, which are all Brahma, are its Hotri Adhwayyu, and Udgatri. The Prashastri, his Shastra, is truth Cessation of separate existence (or Emancipation) is the Honoratum
- 17 People conversant with Narayana, recite some Richs on this subject. Formerly animals were offered to the divine Narayana.
- is Then are sung some Samans There is an authority on this subject. Ot mid one, know that the divine Narayana is the Soul of all.

CHAPTER XXVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

The Brahmana said :--

t There is one Ruler There is no second beside him He who is Ruler five a

- in the heart. I shall speak now of him. Moved by Hun, I move as directed like water along an inclined plane.
- 2. There is one Preceptor. There is no second but him. He lives in the heart, and of 1 m I shall now speak. Instructed by that preceptor, all snakes in the world are always possessed of feelings of enmity.
- There is one kinsman. There is no second except him. He lives in the heart of him I shall now speak. Instructed by him, kinsmen become possessed of kins-men, and the seven Rishis, O son of Pritha, shine in the sky.
 - 4. There is one dispeller. There is no second but him. He lives in the heart Of him I shall now speak. Having lived with that instructor, under the proper mode of living with an instructor, Shakra gained the sovereignty of all the worlds.
 - There is one enemy. There is no second but him He lives in the heart Of him I shall now speak Instructed by that preceptor all snakes in the world are always possessed of feelings of enmity.
 - 6 Regarding it is cited the ancient story of the instruction of the snakes, the celestials, and the Rishis by the Lord of all treatures.
 - 7-8 The celestrals and the Rishis, the snakes and the Asuras, seated around the Lord of all creatures, asked him, saying,-Let that which is highly beneficial for us be said - Lo them who enquired about what is highly beneficial, the holy one uttered only the word Om, which is Brahma in one syllable Hearing this, they ran away in Various directions.
 - 9 Amongst them that thus ran in all directions from desire of self instruction the tendency for biting first arose in snakes
 - to. The tendency for estentatious pride first arose in the Asuras. The celestials betook themselves to gifts, and the great Rishis to self-control.
 - 11. Having gone to one teacher, and having been instructed (refined) by one word, the snakes the celestials, the Rishis and the Danavas, all betook themselves to various different dispositions.
 - It is that one who hears himself when speaking, and understands it duly O ice, again, is that heard from him when There is no second preceptor. he speaks
 - It is in obedience to his advice that action afterwards originates The instructor, the apprehender, the hearer, and the enemy, are placed within the heart.
 - 14. By acting sinfully in the world it is he who becomes a person of sinful deeds

- By acting auspiciously in the world, it is he who becomes a person of auspicious deeds.
- It is he who becomes a person of controlled conduct by becoming addicted to the pleasures of sense, moved by desire, It is he who becomes a Brahmacharin by always devoting himself to the control of his senses.
- It is he, again, who casts off vows and actions and takes refuge on Brahma alone By moving in the world, identifying himself the while with Brahma, he becomes a Brahmacharin
- Brahma is his fuel; Brahma is his fire | Brahma is his origin | Brahma is his water ; Brahma is his preceptor; he is immerged in Brahma.
- Brahmacharyya is even so subtle, as understood by the wise Having understood it, they followed it, instructed by the Kshetrajna.

CHAPTER XXVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

The Brahmana said ---

Having crossed that impassable fortress (of the world) which has purposes for its gadflies and mosquitoes, grief and joy for its cold and heat, heedlessness for its blinding darkness, cupidity and diseases for its reptiles, wealth for its one danger on the road, and lust and anger its robbers, I have entered the extensive forest (of Brahma)

The wife of the Brahmana said '—

3 Where is that foremost, O you of great wisdom? What are its trees? What are its rivers? What its mountains and hills? How far is that forest ?

The Brahmana said -

There exists nothing that is separate There is nothing more delightful from it There is nothing that is unthan it There is nothing more separated from it afflicting than it

There is nothing smaller than that. There is nothing huger than that Tiere is nothing minuter than that. There is no happiness that can resemble it

6 Twice born persons, entering into it, at once get over both joy and sorrow. They (then) never stand in fear of any creature, nor does any creature stand in fear of them.

7 In that forest are seven large trees, seven fruits, and seven guests. There are seven lermitages seven (forms of) Yoga concentration, and seven (forms) of initiation. This is a description of that forest

The trees which stand filling that

- forest, yield excellent flowers and fruits of five colors,

 9 The trees which stand there filling
- 9 The trees which stand there filling that forest yield flowers and fruits which are of excellent colors and which are, besides, of two kinds.
- to The trees which stand there filling that forest, yield fragrant flowers and fruits of two colors
- 11 He trees which stand there filing that forest, yield fragrant flowers and fruits of one color.

 12 The two trees which stand filling
- that forest, produce many flowers and fruits which are of ummaillest colors

 13 There is one fire here, possessed of a good mind. That is connected with Brahman the five senses are the fuel here. The seven forms of Liberation originating from them are the seven forms of Intitation. In the qualities are the fruits,
- and the guests eat those fruits
 14 There, in various places the great Rishis accept hospitality When they, having been adored become annihilated, then another forest shines forth.
- 15 In that forest, Intelligence is the tree, Liberalion is the fruit | Tranquillity is the shade of which it is possessed. It has knowledge for its resting house, contentment for its water, and the Kshetrajna for its sun.
- to Its end cannot be determined upwards downwards, or horizontally?" * {
- 17 Seven females always live there, with faces downwards, endued with effulgence and the cause of generation. They take up all the different tastes from all creatures, even as insconstancy sucks up truth.
- 18 In that stself live, and from that emerge, the seven Rishis who are crowned with ascelle success, having Vashishtha for their foremost 19 Glory, effulgence, greatness, en-
- I gittenment victory, perfection, and energy—these seven always follow this same like rays following the sun, 20 Jills and mountains also exist
- 20 Hills and mountains also exist there, in a body, and rivers and steams carrying waters in their course, waters that are born of Brahma.

- 2t. And there is a confluence also of fivers in the secluded spot for sacrifice. Their ce those who are contented with their own souls proceed to the Grandfather
- 22 They whose wishes have been reduced, whose wishes I ave been directed to excellent vows, and whose sins have been consumed by penances merging themselves in their souls, succeed in attainto Brahma
- 23 Tranquility is fauded by those who are conversalt with the lorest of know-ledge. Keeping that forest in view, they take birth so as not to lose courage.
- 24 Such is that sacred forest that is understited by Brahmanas" and understanding it, they live as directed by the Kshetrajna,

CHAPIER XXVIII. (ANUGITA PARVA)— Continued.

The Brahmana said -

I I do not smell scents I do not get tastes I do not see colors I do not likewise hear the various sounds Nor do I entertain purposes of any kind.

- 2 It is Nature which desires such objects as are liked; it is Nature which hates such objects as are disliked Desire and hatred originate from Nature like the upward and the downward vital ares when souls have entered animale bodies.
- Y 3 Separated from them are others; in them are eternal dispositions, Yogins would see in the body the soul of all creatures Living in that, I am never actively and decreptude and death.
- 4 Not having any desire for any object of desire and not having any harred for any evil, there is no taint on my natures, as there is no taint of a drop of water on the lotus
- 5-6 Of this fixed (principle) which looks upon various natures they are fickle possessions. Though actions are performed yet the collection of enjyments does not attach itself to them, as it e collected to the collection of the
- 7 Seeing an animal sprinkled with water at a sacrifice, a Yati said to the Adhwaryu seated there these words in censure,-This is destruction of file.

- 8 To him the Adhwars u replied, This goat will not be destroyed. The animal meets with great good if the Vedic declaration on this subject be trie.
- 9 That part of this animal which is of That part of this earth will go to earth one which is of water, will enter into water
- 10. His eye will enter the sun his ear will enter the various points of the horizon, his vital airs will enter the sky. I who follow the scriptures commit no sin.

The Vati said .-

- If If you see such good to the goat in this dissociation with (his) vital airs, then this sacrifice is for the goat. What need have you for st?
- 12. Let the brother, father, mother, and friend give you their approval in this Tazing him (to them) do you co isult them This goat is especially dependent.
- You should see them who can give their consent in this After hearing their consent, the matter will become a worthy topic for consideration.
- 14 The vital airs of this goat have been made to return to their respective sources Oily the manimate body remains behind This is what I think.
 - 15 Of those who wish to enjoy pleasure by means of the inanunate bidy (of an animal) which can be compared with fuel, the fuel (of sacrifice) is after all the animal himselt.
 - 16 Abstention from cruelty is the foremost of all duties I his is the traching of We know that no cruel action the elders should be done.
 - 17 This is the propisition, vis .- No destruction (of living creatures -If I say arything furtier, then various kinds of failty actions are capable of being done by v u
 - 18 Always abstaining from truelty to all creatures is what is lailed establish this from what is directly pertrptible We do not rely on what is bejond direct perception.

The Adhwargu said "

19-20 You erjay the properties of mill which belong to the earth. You dink the tastes which belong to water You see colors of ich belong to luminous bodies. You touch the properties which which oppinate from ether. You think il oughts with the mind. All these entities, you hold, have life.

You do not then abs am from taking Really, you are engaged in slaughter, There can be no mayement without dest action Or, what do you think, O twiceborn one

The Yati said -

- The Indestructible and the Destructible form the twofold manifestation of the soul Of these the Indestructible is existent The Destructible is said to be exceedingly non-existent
- The vital air, the tongue, the 23-24 mind, the quality of goodness along with the quality of passion, are all existent. Of him who is freed from these existent obpects, who is above all pairs of opposites, who does not cherish any expectation, who is alike to all creatures, who is freed from the idea of mineness, who has governed his self, and who is released from all his surroundings, no lear exists from any source.

The Adhwaryu said: -- .

- 25. O foremost of intelligent men, one should live with the good Hearing your opinion my understanding shines with light.
- 26. O il ustrious one I come to you. believing you to be a god, and I say I have no fault O twice-forn one, by performing these rites with the help of Mantras

The Brahmana said —

- 27 With this copclusion, the Vati remained silent after this The Adhwaryu also went on with the great sacrifice, freed from delusion
- 28. The Brahmanas understand Liberation, which is exceedingly subtle, to be of this kind, and having understood it, they live accordingly, directed by the Kshetrajna, that seer of all topics,

CHAPIER ANIX.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continuel

The Brahmana said -

- About it is cited the ancient stors. O lady, of the discourse between Kartta. viryya and the Ocean,
 - 2 There was a king named Kactta-He corquered, with his bow, the Earth extends g to the occan.

- TWe have heard that, once on a time, as he was walking on the shores of the sea, prend of his power, he showered hundreds of arrows on that hast receptacle of a siers.
- 4. The Ocean, bowing down to him, and, with joined hands—Do not, O hera, discharged your arrows (at me)? Say, what shall I do to you.
- 5. With these strong arrows shot by you those creatures which have taken shelter in me are being killed, O foremost of kings! Do you, O lord, grant them security.

Arjuna said :-

6 If any holder of the bow exists that is equal to me in battle, and that would stud against me in the field, do you name him to me.

The Ocean said :-

- 7 It you have heard, O king, of the great Rislu Jamadagni, his son is competent to duly receive you as a guest.
- 8 Then that king proceeded, becoming highly trate. Arrived at that hermitage, he found Rama himself.
- 9 With his kinsmen he began to do many deeds while were hostile to Rama, and caused much trouble to that great hero
- to liten the energy, which was immeasurable, of Rama shone forth, burning the troops of the enemy, O louis eyed one.
- tt. Laking up his battle-axe, Rama suddenly displayed his power, and hacked that thousand-armed hero, like a tree of many branches.
- 12 Seeing him killed and laid low on the earth, all his kinsmen, collected in a body, and taking up their darts rushed at kame, who was then sealed, from all sides
- 13 Rama also taking up his bow and querty cetting on his car, discharged a owers of arrows and punished the aims of tieking.
- 14 Then, some of the Isshatriyas, stricken with the terror of Jamadag 18 ron, entered momentain fastnesses, like deer afflicted by the hon
- 15 Of them that were smalle, through feat of Rama, to perform the duties ordained it ration order, the property became Virshalas owing to their maturity to find Bratimanes.
- 16 Thus the Dravids and Abbiras and P in trast together with the Shavaras, become Vrishalas through those men who had Kshatriya duties assigned to them, falling away (from them).
 - . Then the Kshatriyas that were begotten by the Brahmanas upon Kahatriya women who had lost their heroic children, were repeatedly destroyed by Jamadagmis son.

- 18—19 The destruction proceeded one and twents times At its conclusion a boddless voice, sweet and coming from the celestial region, and winch was leard by all people, spoke to Ruma,—O Ruma, to O Rama, stop What ment do ton see, O son, in this destroying repeatedly these inferror KSALITIANS?
- 20 Thus, O blessed dame, his grandsires, headed by Richika, addressed that great one, saying,—Do you, desist.
- 21. Rama, however, unable to forgive the destruction of his father, replied to those Rishis, saying, you should not forbid me.
- 22. The departed manes then said,—
 O foremost of all victorious men, you should not kill these inferior Kshatiyas I it is not proper that your self being a Brahmana, should kill these kings.

CHAPIER XXX.

(ANUGITA PARVA)Continued.

The Pitris said :-

- Regarding it is cited this old, history. Having heard it you should act according to it. O foremost of all twice born persons.
- 2 Here was a royal sage, named of Mukey give with the unstress of perameters. He know all duties was truttful in specific for high soul, and exceedingly from the work was truttful in the same with t
- 4. While strong at the root of a tree, his thoughts, O you of great intelligence, abandoning all those great deeds, turned towards trait which is subile?

Alarka said -

- 5 My min I has become strong, Having conquered the mind one's conquest becomes permanent. Though surrounded by enemies, I shall (henceforth) discharge my arrows at other objects.
- 6 Since on account of its master liness, it sets juil mostals to per orm icts. I shall shoot very sharp pointed arroves at the mind!

The mind said :-

7. These arrows O Alarka, will never cut me through. They will pierce unly your own vital parts. Your vital parts being pierced, you shall die.

Do you link out for other arrows with which to kill me !- Hearing these no ds and and reflecting upon them, he said as follows.

Alarka said:-

9 Smelling many perfumes, (the nose) Hence I shall lankers after them only d scharge whetted arrows at the nose.

The nose said .-

these arrows will never pass ti rough me, O Alarka1 They will pierce only your own vital parts and your vital parts being pierced, you shall die.

11. Do you look for other arrows with which to destroy me !- Hearing these words and thinking upon them, he said as follows.

Alarka said :-

12. This one enjoying "sayoury" tastes, hankers after them only. Hence I shall discharge whetted arrows at the tongue.

The tongue said -

13 These arrows, O Alacka, will not cut through me. They will only pierce your own vital parts and your vital parts being pierced, you shall die.

14 Do you look for other arrows with which to kill me !- Hearing these words and thinking up in them, he said as follows.

Alarka said '-

The skin, touching various objects of touch, hankers after them only. Hence, I shall tear off the skin with various arrows equipt with the feathers of the Kanka.

The skin said:-

these arrows will not, O Alarka, pass through me They will pierce your own vital parts only, and your vital parts being pierced, you shall die.

Do you look for other arrows with which to kill me !- Hearing these words and thinking on them, he said as follows.

Alarka said :-

18 Hearing various sounds, (the ear) lankers after them only. Hence, I shall thischarge whetted shafts at the car.

The ear said :-

These arrows will not, O Alerka pass through me. They will pierce your own vital perts only, and your vital parts being percid, you shall die.

Do you then lack for other arrows with which to kill met-Hearing these words and thinking upon them, he said as follows.

Alarka said .--

Seeing many colors, the eye longs for them only lience, I shall destroy the eye with sharp-pointed arrows.

The eye said :-

These arrows will not, O Alarka, pass through me at all They will pierce your own vital parts tonly, and your vital parts being cut, you shall die.

Do you then look for other arrows with which to kill me!-Hearing these words and reflecting upon them, he said as follows.

Alarka said:-

This forms many determinations with the help of ratiocination Hence, I shall discharge whetted arrows at the understanding.

The understanding said:-

25. These arrows will not, O Alarka, pass through me at all They will pierce your vital parts only, and your vital parts being pierced, you shall die. Do you then look for other arrows with which to kill me.

The Brahmana said .-

26 I ben Alarka, engaging himself, even there, on penances difficult to perform and greatly austere, failed to obtain, by the high power (of his penances) arrows for casting at these seven 27-28 Gifted with power, he then with mind well concentrated, legan to reflict. Then, O best of twice born ones, Alara, that foremost of intelligent men, having thought for a long time, could not obtain anything better than Yoga Setting his mind on one object he remained perfectly still, engaged in Yoga.

Gifted with energy, he speeddy killed all the senses with one arrow, having entered by Yoga into his soul and thereby acquired the highest success.

30 Stricken with wonder, that royal sage then sang this verse pity that we should have performed all acts that are external.

- 3t. Alas, that we should have, gifted with the thirst for enjoyment, courted soverer, ity before now 1. I have learnt this afterwards 1. There is no happiness that is higher than Yoga.
- 32 Do you know this O Rama ! Cease to kill the Kshatriyas! Do you practise the austerest of penances! You will then attain to what is good
- 33 Thus addressed by his grandfathers Jamadagni's son performed the autreest penances and-having practised them that highly blessed one acquired that success which is difficult to reach.

CHAPTER XXXI

(ANUGIIAZPARVA) —

The Brahmana said -

- 1 There are three enemies in the world They are said to be unifold, according to their qualities. Exultation, satisfaction and jay,—these three qualities belong to Goodness.
- 2 Cupidity, anger and hatred, these three qualities re said to belong Dirkness. Lassitude, procrastination and delusion, these three qualities belong to Ignorance
- 3 Cutting these with showers of arrows, the intelligent man free from idleness possessed of a tranquil soil, and with his senses under control, ventures to defeat others
- 4 About it, persons conversant with ancient cycles recite some verses which were sure formerly by king Amvarisha who had acquired a trang ill soul
- 5 When various kinds of faults were reigning supreme and when the righteous were afflicted, the illustrious Amvarisha put forth his strength for assuming soveres may.
- Subduing his own faults and adoring the righteous, he acquired great success and saig th*se verses.
- 7 I have controlled many faults. I have than all ene nice But there is one, the greatest, vice which deserves to be destroyed but which has not been destroyed by me.
- 8 Urged by that fault, this individual sulfails to attain to freedom from desire it seemed by desire, one runs into ditches will of the many it.
 - o Urged by that fault are indulges in

- forbidden deeds D) you cut off, cirt off, that cupidity with sharp edged swords
- to From cupidity originates desire. From desire originates anxiety. The minwho yields to desire acquires many qualities which belong to Darkness.
- 11 When these have been acquired he gets many qualities which belong to lg-norance
- 12 On account of the qualities, he repeatedly takes birth, with the fetters of body united and is moved to action. Up in the expiration of life, with body becoming separated and scattered he once meets with death which is due to brith itself.
- 13 " e duly understanding this, and giverning cupility by intelligence, one should desire for sovereignty in his soil. This is (time) sovereignty. There is no other sovereignty here. I lie soul properly understood, is the king.
- 14 Even these were the verses song by the illustrous king Amvarisha on the subject of sovereignty which he kept before inn—that king who had severed the one foremost fault sies, cupidity.

CHAPTER XXXII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Continued

The Brahmana said -

- r. Regarding it is cited the old discourse between a Brahmana and (king) Janaka 2 King Janaka (on a certain occasion),
 - desirous of punishing him said to a Brahmana who had become guilty of some offence—You shall not live within my dominions.

 Thus addressed, the Brahmana re-
 - plied to that best of kings saying, fell me, O king, what the limits are of the territories subject to you
 - 4 1 wish, O lord, to live within the dominions of another king. Indeed, I wish to obey your command, O king, according to the seriptures.
 - 5 Thus addressed by that celebrated Brahmana the king, hearing repeated and hot sights, said not a word in reply.
 - 6 Like the planet (Rahu) possessing the Sin, a cliudedness of understanding suddenly everwhelmed that king of incomparable energy as he sat plunged in thought.

/. When that cloudedness of underranding departed and the king became comforted, he spoke after a short time these words to that Brahmana.

Janaka said :--

- 8 Although a (large) inhabited dominion is subject to me within it is ancestral kingdom of mine, yet I lail to find my dominion, searching through the whole Earth
- 9 When I could not find it on the Earth, I then searched Mithils (for it) When I could not find it in Mithils, I then searched for it among my own children.
- 10. When I could not find it even there, a cloudedness of understanding came over me After that cloudedness of understanding departed, intelligence came back to me
- If Then I thought that I have no dominion, or that everything is my dominion. This body is not mine, or the whole Earth is mine.
- 12. At the same time, O best of twiceborn persons, I think that that is as much mine as it is of others Do you, therefore, live (here) as long as your choice leads you and do you enjoy as long as you please

The Brahmana said :-

- t3 When there is a large inhabited tract in your ancestral kingdom, tell me, depending upon what understanding, has the idea of mineness been got rid of by
- 14 What also is that understanding depending upon which you have come to the conclusion that everything forms your dominion? What, indeed, is the notion through which you have no dominion, or everything is your dominion?

Janaka said .-

- 15 All conditions here in all affairs, I understand, are liable to come to an end Hence, I could not find that which should be called mine,
- 16 (Considering) whose is this, I thought of the Vedic text about any body's property I could not, therefore, find, through my understanding, what should be (called) mine.
- 17. Depending upon this notion, I got rid of the idea of mineness. Hear now what that notion is depending upon which I arrived at the conclusion that I have dominion everywhere.
- 18 I do not wish for my own self those smells which are even in my nose There-

- fore, the earth, subjected by me, is always under me

 19 I do not wish for my own self those that which exist in feotiact with even my
- 19 1 do not wish for my dwn seet those thates which exist in [contact with even my tongue | therefore, water, subjugated by me, is always under me.

 20 I do not wish for my, own self the
- color or light which belongs to my eye. It erefore, light subjugated by me, is always under me.

 21. I do not wish for my own self those
- 21. I do not wish for ray own sell those sensations of touch which are in contact with even my skin. Therefore, the wind, subjugated by me, is always under me.
- 22 I do not wish for own self those sounds, which are in contact with even my ear. Therefore, sounds, subjugated by me, are always under me.
- 23 I do not wish for my own self the mind that is always in my mind. Therefore the mind, subjugated by me, is under me.
- 24 All these acts of mine are for the sake of the celestrals, the departed manes, the Bhuttas, together with guests.
- 25 The Brahmana then, smiling, once more said to Janaka—Know that I am Dharma, who come here to day for examining you
- 26 You are indeed the one person for setting this wheel in motion,—this wheel that has the quality of Goodness for its circumference, Brahma for its nave, and the understanding for its spokes, and which never turns back!

CHAPTER XXXIII.

(ANUGIFA PARVA.)-

The Brahmana said -

- I. I do not, O timid one, move in this world in the manner which you according to your own understanding, censure. I am a Brahmana endued with Vedic knowledge, I am heretted I am a hermit, I follow the duties of a householder. I observe your
- 2 I am not what you see me in good and bad deeds I pervaded everything that exists in this universe.
- 3 I am the destroyer of all creatures that exist in the world, mobile or immobile, as fire destroys all kinds of wood

 4 Sovereignty over the whole Earth or
- over the Heaven can be compared with this knowledge of my oneness with the universe) This knowledge is my wealth.

- 5. This is enclawe path for Brahmanas by which they who is determined in proceed to I meant tay or all that in the I need, or reafferne with preceptors, a many mendicious.
- 6. White the member and the structure of a small be structured from the structure of the st
- ? His path can be troff a with the left of the order tailing and not of the belt. Actives betwee but he some and end, and the body has actives for its tetters.
 - 8 Herce, O thesed lady, you need have rafear at u the world trainer. With your heast meent up a tie real of jet, it is my soul fills with you wife rise.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA) --

The Brahmana's wife said :--

- t. This cannot be understood by a weykminded pe 650 as also by one whose soul bas not been purified. My intelligence is sery lutte and contracted, and confused
- 2 Lell me the means by which the knowledge may be acquired. I wish to learn from you the source from which this knowledge comes.

The Brahmana's said :-

3. Know that intelligence about Brahma is the lower Aram, the preceptor is the upper Aram; penances and conversance with the scriptures are what make attrition, From this is originated the fire of knowledge.

The Brahmana's wife said:

4 About this symbol of Brahma, which is designated Kalestajna, where, indeed, is a description of it by which it is capable of being seized?

The Brahmana said:

- 5 He is without symbols, and without qualities. Nothing exists that may be considered as his cause I shall, however, tall you the means by which he can be apprehended or not.
- 6. A good means may be found, which is perceived as by bees. That means consists of an understanding purified by action

- These whose understandings have not been so a passed consider that entity, through their and agreement of except with the property on knowledge and others.
- 7. It is not but does that this should be do in at out the wood that he does in the way that he does in the way to be acquiring to pretion, while the total to, it will be a knowledge of the work of all a cooking to be made as and heats.
- 8 () read or it is the stand as many parts, in min feat and mainfear by turkeds and fine a term as one is capable of completent as fere.
- is in least, one should comprehend was one of personal was easily access, and all a parties of the management of the management of the management of the management of the cause of the management of the cause of the management of the cause of the cause

The holy one and :-

to Heathern alof that Brahmana's wile, spoutin destruction of the Katerrajna, became that which is beyond Katerrajna, on account of the knowledge of Katerrajna.

Arjuan sud :-- ti. Where, indeed, is that Brahmana's wife, O Krishin, and where is that ferement of Brahmana, by both of whom was such size exacquired. Tell me about them, O you of it ofecaying play.

The blessed and boly one said :-

22 My mind is the Brahmina and that my indecision dogs the Brahmina's wife. He who has been spoken of as Kshetrajna is I myself, O Dhananjaya.

CHAPIER XXXV.

(ANUGIFA PARVA).-

Ariuna said :--

You should explain Brahma to me,— if at which is the highest object of knowledge. Through your favour my mind is delighted with these subtle dog nations.

Vasudeva said '-

- 2 Regarding it is recited the old discourse between a preceptor and his disciple on the subject of Brahma.
- 3 Once on a time, O destroyer of enemies, an intelligent disciple questioned a certain Brahmana of rigid yows who was preceptor, as he was seated, (a)ing,—What, indeed, is the highest good?

Rishis, gifted with humility, asked him this grave question about the highest good

- 30 How should a good man act? How would one be freed from sin? What paths are auspicous for us? What is truth, and what is sin?
- 31 By what action are the two paths, northern and so thern, obtained? What is destruction? What, Liberation? What is birth and what death of all existent objects?
- 32 I shall tell you O disciple what the Grandfather, thus addressed said to them, according to the scriptures Do you listen

-Brahman said -

- 33 It is from Fruth that all creatures, mobile and im nobile have been born lies live by penance (or action). U iderstand this, O ye of excellent vows? On account of their own acts in they live, transcending their own origin.
 - 34 For Truth when united with qualities becomes always possessed of five marks Brahman is I ruth. Penance is truth Prajapati is truth
 - 35—37 It is from Fruth that all creatures have originated i truth is the universe of being It is for this that Brainmans who are always devised to Yoga, who have got over anyer and sorrow, and way, take refuger in Fruth I shall now speak of those Brahmans who are controlled by one another and endued with knowledge of the orders and of those who belo ut to the four modes of life
 - 33 The wise say that Religion or duty is one, having four quarters. Ye twice both ones I shall speak to you now of that path which is auspictous and yields good.
 - 39 I hat path has constantly been trod over by whe men in order to acquire an identity with Brahma I shall speak now of that path which is the highest and which is highly difficult of being it idensiond
 - 40 Dyou inderstand, in all its full iess ye highly blessed ones what is the highest seat. The first step has been said to be the mode of life that belongs to Brahmatharins.
 - 41 The second step is domestic ty. After this is the residence in the forest After that it should be known is the highest step pis, that belongs to Adhyatma.
 - 42 Light ether, sun wind, Indra, and Prajapati me sees there as long as one does not acquire Adhyatma.
 - 43-44 I shall declare the means Do ye first understand them. The forest mode

- of life that is followed by ascetics living in the forest and subsisting upon fruits and roots and air is laid down for the three twice born classes. The dom suc mode of life is ord uned for all the order.
- 45. The wise say that Religion or duty has Faith for its characteristic mark. That have I declared to you the paths leading to the celestials. They are adopted by the good and wise by their acts. Those paths are the causeways of piety.
- 46 That person of rigid vows who follows any one of these medes separately, always succeeds in time to understand the production and destruction of all creatures
- 47 I shall now declare, accurately and with reasons the elements which live in parts in all objects.
- 48-49 The great soul, the unmaniest, secosm the eleven organs of knowledge and action), the five great elements, the characteristics of the five elements —these form the eternal creation. The nu nber of elements has been said to be twenty four, and one (more).
- 50. That wise person who understands the production and destruction of all these elements that man among all creatures, never meets with delusion
- 51 He who understands the elements accurately, all the qualities all the celestials, succeeds in purifying himself of all sinfreed from all fetters, such a man succeeds in enjoying all regions of spotless purity.

CHAPIER XXXVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued

-Brahman said 1 that which is unmanifest which is

- indistinct all prevading, everlasting, imminible should be known to Learne the city of nile portals, pissessed of three qualities and consisting of five ingredients.
- a Encompassed by eleven including Mind which distinguishes (of jects) and having Understanding for the ruler, this is an aggregate of eleven.
- 3 The three ducts that are mit, support it always these are the three Nadis. They run continually, and have and three qualities for their essence.

- 4. Ignorance, Darkness, and Goodness, here are called the (three) qualities. These ire connected with one another. They exist lecending on one another.
- 5 They take refuge in one another, and ollow one another. They are also joined with one another. The five (principal) elements are marked by (these) three quatters.
- 6. Goodness is also the match of Ignoance Of Goodness the match is Darkness loodness is also the match of Darkness, and of Goodness the match is Language.
- 7 There where Ignorance is restrained, Jarkness is seen to flow. There where Jarkness is restrained, Goodness is seen to ow.
- 8 Darkners should be known to have the aght for its essence. It has three marks, nd is (otherwise) called Delusion. It has sin to for its mark, and it is always present in it sinful deeds. This is the nature of Icorance and it appears also as confined with thers.
- 9 Darkness is said to have activity for sessence. It is the cause of successive leeds. When it predominates, its mark, mong all beings, is production.
- 10 Splendour, lightness, and faith, less are the form, that is light, of Goodness mong all creatures, as considered by all ood men.
- 11. The true nature of their marks will ow be declared by me, with reasons. These sail be stated in aggregation and separation. Do ye understand them.
- 12—18 Complete delusion, Ignorance, hierality, indecision about action, sleep, sughtness, fear, cupritity, feric, censure of od deeds, loss of memory, uniqueness of digment, absence of faith, volation of all let of conduct, want of discrimination, midness, villeness of conduct, boastful astituous of performance when there has been performance, presumption of knowledge.
- o performance, presumption of knowledge, ignorance uniferendiness (or hostitisty), whites of disposition, absence of lattit, disposition, absence of lattit, disposition, and control of lattit, disposition, and control of lattit, disposition, and control of self-convention, and control of self-convention, and control of the disposition, and control of lattit, and lattit,

- 19. Whatever undertakings exist which are unmeritorious, what guits there are which are unmeritorious, vain eating,—these also belong to Ignorance.
- Indulgence in calumny, unforgiveness, animosity, vanity, and absence of faith are also said to be characteristics of fguorance.
- 21. Whatever men there are in this world, who are characterised by these and other faults of a similar kind, and who break through the restraints are all considered as belonging to the quality of historians.
- 22. I shall now declare the wombs where these men, who are always of sinful deeds, have to take their birth. Ordamed to go to hell, they sink in the order of being, Indeed, they sink into the hell of the brute creation.
- 23-24 They become immobile entities, or animals, or beasts of burden, or crainvorous creatures, or snakes, or worms, towards trasects and birds, or creatures of the oviparous order, or quadrupeds of various species, or limates, or deaf or dumb human beings, or men who are affiled by dreadful malades and considered as unclean.
- 25. These men of evil conduct, always show the marks of their deeds, sink in Ignorance. Their course is always downwards. Belonging to the quality of Ignorance, they sink in Ignorance.
- 26. I shall, after this, declare what the means are of their improvement and accent, indeed, by what means they succeed in acquiring the regions which exist for men of pious deeds.
- 27—28 Those men who take birth in orders other than human beings, by growing up in view of the religious cerefinines of Brailmans devoted to the duties of their own caste and desirous of doing good to all creatures succeed through the help of such purificatory rites, in ascending uptime to the same regions with three places Brailmanas Indeed they go to the celesual region. It is set the Vedic Strutt.
- 29 Born in orders other than humanity and growing old in their respective deeds, even thus they become human beings that are, of course, ordained to return
- 20-21 Coming to sinful buths and becoming Chandalas or human beings that are deaf or who hisp indistinctly they attain to higher and higher eastes, one after anotier in proper terr, getting above the Si idea order and other teorsequences of quittees which belong to Ignorance and who abide in it in course of migrations in this world.

Attachment to objects of desire is considered as great delusion. Here Rishis and Muu s and celestrals become deluded, desirous of pleasure.

Ignorance, delusion, the great delu sion, the grea obscurity called anger, and death, that blinding obscurity. As regards anger, that is the preat obscurity.

With respect then to its color, its characteristics, and its source, I have, ye learned Brahmanas, declared to you, accurately and in due order, everything, about Le norance.

35. Who is there that truly gets over it? Who is there who truly sees it? I hat, indeed, is the characteristic of Ignorance, vis, the seeing of reality in what is not real.

36. The qualities of Ignorance have been declared to you in various ways Duly has Ignorance, in its higher and lower forms been described to you. That man who always bears in mind the qualities mentioned here will surely succeed in becoming freed from all marks which belong to Ignorance.

CHAPTER XXXVII. (ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Brahman said .—

1. Ve best of beings, I shall now declare to you accurately what (the quality of) Darkness is. Ye highly blessed ones do you understand what those qualities are that belong to Darkness.

2-14 Injuring (others), beauty, toil pleasure and pain cold and heat, lordship (or power), war, peace, argument, dissatisfaction, endurance, power, volute, pude, anger, exertion, quarrel (or collision) jealousy, desire, malice, battle, the sense of mineness, protection (of others) destruction fetters and affliction, buying and selling, lopping off cutting, piercing, and cutting off the coat of mail that another has worn. fierceness, cruelty, valifying, pointing out the faults of others, thoughts entirely devoted to wordly affairs, anglety, animostly, vilification of others, false speech, false or vain gifts hesitancy and doubt, boastfulness of speech dispra se and praise, laudation, prowess, defiance, attendance, abedience, service or ministrations, har-bouring of thirst or desire, cleveriess or dexterity of conduct, policy, carelessness, contumely, possessions, and various flecorations which prevail in the world among men, women, animals, manimate things, I ouses, grief, incredulousness, yows and regulations, actions with expectation (of good results) various acts of public chirity, the rites of Swalia, valutations, rites of Swadha and Vashat, officiating at the sacrifices of others, imparting of instruction, performance of sacrifices, study, making of gifts, acceptance of gifts, rites of expiation, auspicious acts, the wish to have this and that, affection caused by the merits of the object for which or whom it is felt, treachery deception, disrespect and respect, theft, killing, desire of concealment, vexation, wakefulness, ostentation, pride, attachment, devotion, contentment, exultation, gambling, indulgence in scandal, all relations arising out of women attachment to dancing, instrumental music, and songs,-all these qualities, ye learned Brahmanas, have been said to belong to Rajas or Darkness.

15. Those men on Earth who meditate on the past, present, and the future, who are devoted to the threefold objects of life, 115 . Religion, Profit, and Pleasure, who, acting from the impulse of desire, exult on acquiring riches in respect of every desire, are_said to be covered by Darkness. These men have downward courses.

17. Repeatedly reborn in this world, they addict themselves to pleasure. They covet what belongs to this world as also all those fruits of the world to come They make gifts, accept gifts offer oblations to the departed manes, and pour libations on the sacrificial fire.

The qualities of Darkness have (thus) been declared to you in their manifold aspects The course of conduct also to which it leads has been properly described to you. The man who always understands these qualities, succeeds in always libera. ting himself from all of them which belong to Darkness.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Brahman seid .-

1. I shall, after this, describe to you that excellent quality which is the third. It is beneficial to all creatures in the world, and unblamable, and forms the conduct of the good.

- 2-3 Joy, satisfaction, nobility, enlightenment, and happmens, absence of stingness, absence of fear, contentment, daps attion for fatili, foreiveness, courage, abstintion from injuring any creature, equability, truth, straightforwardness absence of anger, absence of malice, purity, eleverness, provess, belong to the quality of Goodness.
- 4. He who is devoted to the duty of Yoga, considering knowledge to be vain conduct to be vain, service to be vain, and mode of life to be vain, attains to what is lighest in the next world.
- 5 Freedom from egoism, freedom from expectations, looking on a 1 impartially, and freedom from desire,—these form the eternal religion of the good.
- Confidence, modesty, forgiveness, renunciation, purity, absence of laziness absence of cruelty, absence of delusion mercy to all creatures, absence of the disposition to calumntate, exultation, satisfaction, rapture, humility, good conduct, punty in all acts having for their object the attainment of tranquility, righteous understanding, liberation, indifference, celibacy, complete renunciation freedom from the idea of mineness, freedom from expectations, unbroken observance of virtue, belief that gifts are vam, sacrifices are vain study is vain vows are vain acceptance of gifts is vain, observance of duties is vain, and penances are vain
 - to Those Brahmanas in this world, whose conduct is marked by these virtues who follow virtue, who abide in the Vedas, ate said to be wise and possessed of correctness of vision.
 - It. Freed from sins and grief, those wise men attain to the celestial region and create various bodies (for themselves)
 - 12 The power of governing everything, self-control minuteness, these great ones make by operations of their own minut like the gods themselves living in the celestial region,
 - 13. Such men are said to have their courses directed upwards. They are vertable gods capable of modifying all things. Attaining to the celetial region, they modify all things by their very nature.
 - 14 They get whatever objects they deare and enjoy flem I have her one of these-horn ones, described to you what that conduct is which belongs to the quisity of goodness. Understanding these only, one acquires whatever objects ofte desires
 - 15 The qualities which belong to good-conduct which those qualities form, has also been properly described. That man who always understands these qualities, succeeds in enjoying the qualities without being attached to them.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Brahman said:-

- The qualities are incapable of being described as completely separate from one anotter. Darkness and Goodness and Ignorance are seen existing in a state of unison.
- 2 They are attached to one another. The have one another for their support. They like wise follow one another.
- 3 As long as goodness exists, so long does Darkness exist. There is no doubt in this As long as Ignorance and Goodness exist, so long does Darkness exist.
- 4 They travel together, in union and moving collectively. They move it a body, when they act with cause or without cause.
- 5 Of all these which work with one another lowever much they may differ in their development, the manner in which their increase and diriniution take place will now be described.
- 6 There where Ignorance exists in an increased measure, in the lower creatures (for example) Darkness exists in a smaller measure and Goodness in a still lesser degree
- 7 There where Drakness predominates, in creaturs of and ile course, Ignorance exists in a smaller measure and Goodness in a still smaller quantity.
- 8 There where Gradness precommates as creatures of upward c urene lg; orance should be known to ex st in a small measur, and D i nets in a still lesser que titty.
- 9 Goodness is the spring which causes the modifications of the senses. It is, again it e great enlightener. No duty has been laid down that is higher than Good-
- 10. They who abide in 'Gr diess priced upwar is They who abide in Darkness remain in the middle. Hey who bide in Ignorance being characteris-1 by qualities that are low, stak downwards.

- 11. Ignorance is in the Shudra, Darkness in the Kshatriya, and Godness, which is the highest, in the Brahmana. The three qualities exist thus in the three castes.
- 12 From a distance, the three qualities of Goodness, Darkness and Ignorance, are seen to exist in a state of union and more collectively. They are never seen in a state of separation.

13 Seeing the Sun rising, men of evil deeds become filled with fear. travellers on their way become afflicted with heat, and suffer distress,

- 14. The Sun is Goodness developed; men of evil deeds represent Ignorance, the heat which travellers on their way feel, is said to be a quality of Darkness
- 15. The Sun representing light is Good ness, the heat is the quality of Darkness, the shading (or eclipse) of the Sin on Parvan days, should be known to represent Lindrance.
- 16 I hus, the three qualities exist in all luminous bodies. They act by turns in various places in various ways.
- 17 Among immobile objects, the quality of Ignorai ce predominates. The qualities belonging to Darkness are those properties of theirs which suffer constant changes. Their oleasmous qualities belong to Goodness.
- 18 He Day should be understood as threefold. He Night has been ordined to be threefold so also are fortnights, months, years, seasons, and conjunctions
- to The afts are threefold Threefold is sacrifice. Threefold are the worlds, it reefold the celestials, threefold is knowledge, and threefold the path or end
- 20 The Past the Present, and the Luture, Rehgion Profit and Pleasure Prant, Apana, and Udana, these also are permeated by the time qualities.
- 21. Whatever object exists in this world, everything in it, is frau, lit with the three qualities. The three qualities are 1 y turns in all things and in all circumstances.
- 22 In feed the three qualities always act in an immanifest form. The creation of those three, 118, Goodness, Darkness and Ignorance is eternal.
- 23-21. The unmanifest, consisting of the three qualities, is said to be diskness, unjectence i, folis, constant, unborn, womb, eternal Nature, change or modification, destruction, Pradhum, production and absorption undeveloped, not small (se, vast), unshaking tunnovable, fixed, existing of the constant of the constan

- 25 All these names should be known by those who meditate on matters about the soul
- 26 That person who accurately knows all the names of the unmamiest, and the qualities, as also the pure actions, well conversant with the truth about all distinctions and freed from the body, becomes envaripated from all the qualities and enjoys absolute happiness.

CHAPIER XL.

(ANUGIIA PARVA)-

Brahman said :-

- 1 From the unmanifest first originated the Great Soul, gifted with great intelligence the source of all the qualities. That is said to be the first creation.
- 2—3 1he Great Soul has these synony; mous words who Great Soul, Intelligence, Vishou, Jahnu Shambhu of great valour, the U derstanding, the means of acquiring kin wiedge, the means of perception as also fame courage, and memory. Know-i g this, a learned Brahmana has never to meet with delistion.
- 4 It has hands and feet on every side. It has ears on every side It pervades every thing in the universe.
- 5 Of great power, that Being is stat oned in the heart of all Minuteness Lightness and Affluence, are his. He is the I di all, and at one with effulgence, and knows not decay.
- snow not occay.

 6—7 In Him are all those who compreher de the nature of the understanding, of all those who are devoted to goodness of disposition, all those who practise meditation who are always devoted to Yoga, who are firm in truit, who have governed their senses who are a killed with knowledge, senses who are a killed with knowledge, or the state of the sense who are a killed with knowledge, or the sense who are a killed with knowledge, or the sense who are a killed with knowledge, or the sense who are the sense who was always and the sense of the sense who was always and the sense of the s
- S All these, shorn of all attachmentst attain to the status of Greatness. That terson who understands that holy and light coal, vis. the Great Soul, becomes freed from delusion.
- of the self create Vishing becomes the Lord in the primary creations. He who thus knows the Lord hing in the cive the Dujieme, Ancient Being, of universal form, the golded one, the highest goal of all persons gifted with understanding,-that intelligent man lives, transcending the understanding.

CHAPIER XI.I.

(ANUGITA PARVAJ-Continued.

Brahman said : -

- 1. That Mahat or principle of greatness who was first produced is called Egoism. When, it originated as I, it came to be called as the second creation.
- 2. That Erroism is said to be the source of all creatures, for these have originated from its modifications It is pure effulgence and is the supporter of consciousness. It te Prajapati
- It is a deity, the creator of deities, and of mind. It is that which creates the
 - three worlds It is said to be that which icels-I em all this 4 That is the eternal world existing for those sages who are contented with know-
 - ledge about the soul, who have meditated on it e soul, and who have acquired success by Vedic study and sacrifices
 - 5 By consciousness of soul one enjoys the qualties I hat source of all creatures, that creator of all creatures, creates thus It is that which croses all changes It is that which causes all beings to move. By its own light it lights up the universe likewise.

CHAPTER XLIL

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Brahman said :-

- fire great elements. They are earth air, e) er, water, and haht numbering the fifth
- In these five great elements, in the matter of the operations of sound, touch, e ist, taste, and smell, all creatures become deladed.
- When at the close of the destruction el the great elements, the dissolution of the universe comes, O wisemen, # great fear I miesers all living creatures.
- 4. I'very existent of sect is dissolved into that from which it is produced. The dis-

- solution takes place in an order that is the reverse of that in which creation occurs. Indeed, as regards birth, they are born from one another.
- 5 I hen, when all existent objects, mobile and immobile, become dissolved. wise men possessed of a powerful memory never dissolve.
- Sound, touch, colour, taste, and smell numbering the fifth, are effects | They are. however, inconstant, and called by the name of delusion.
- 7-9 Generated by the production of cupidity, not different from one another, without reality, connected with flesh and blood, and depending upon one another, existing outside the soul, these are all helpless and nowerless Prana and Apana, and Udana and Samana and Vyana -these five vital airs are always closely attached to the logether with speech, mind, and
- understanding, they form the universe of eight ingredients
- 10-11. He whose skin, nose car, eyes, tongue, and speech are controlled, whose mind is pire, and whose understanding deviates not (from the truft path), and whose mind is never burnt by those eight fires, succeeds in acquiring that auspicious Brahma than which nothing superior exists.
- I shall now, O twice-born ones, mention particularly, those which have been called the eleven organs and which have Originated from Egoisin
- They are the ear, the skin the two eyes, the tangue, the nose for the fifth, the two feet, the lower duct, the organ of generation, the two finness, and speech forming the tenth.
- 14. These form the group of organs, with mind numbering as the eleventh. One should first subdue this group. Then will Beal ma shine forth (in him).
- 15 Five amongst these are called organs of knowledge, and five, organs of action, the fice beginning with the ear are connected with knowledge.
- 16. The rest, however, which are connected with action, are without distinction. The mind should be considered as belonging to both the understanding is the twelfth in the top.
- 17. Thus have been enumerated the eleven organs in due order 1 sarned men, having understood these, think they have dene everyth ing.
- I shall, after this, enumerate all the various organe Space (or Lines) is the fret. As connected will the soul, it is called the ear.

19 As connected with objects it is sound. The presiding deity (of this) is the quarters. The Wind is the second. As connected with the soul, it is known as the

20. As connected with objects, it is known as objects of touch, and the presiding deity there is touch. The third is said to be Light. As connected with the soul, it is known as the eye.

21. As connected with objects it is color, and the sun is its deity. The fourth shou'd be known as Water. As connected with the soul, it is add to be the tongue.

22. As connected with objects, it is taste,

22. As connected with objects, it is taste, and the presiding deity there is Soma The fifth is Earth. As connected with the soul, it is said to be the nose.

23 As connected with objects it is scent, and the presiding deity there is the wind Thus has the manner been described of how the five entities are divided into sets of three.

24 After this I shall describe everything about the various (other) organs Brainianas knowing the truth say that the two feet are mentioned as connected with ite soul

25 As conneced with objects, it is motion; and Vishiu is there the presiding detty. The Apana air, whose motion is down card, as connected with the soul, is called it to lower during.

•6 As connected with objects, it is the excreta that is ejected, and the presiding derry there is Mitra. As connected with the soul, the organ of generation is mentioned, the producer of all beings.

27 As connected with objects, it is the vital seed, and the presiding deliy is Prajapati. The two hands are mentioned as connected with the soul by persons knowing the relations of the soul.

29. As connected with objects, it is actions, and the presiding delip there is Indea Next, connected with the soul is speech which relates to all the celestrals.

29 As connected with objects, it is what is apoken. It is presiding deity there is Ayril. As connected with the scul, the mild is mentioned, which moves within the soul of the five elements.

30 As connected with of jects, it is the mental operation, and the presiding deity is the moon. As connected with the soul is Eaction, which is the cause of the entire course of worldly life.

31 As connected with objects, it is consciousness of self; and the presiding deity there is Rudra. As connected with the soul is the understanding, which moves the six senses

32 As connected with objects, it is that which is to be understood, and the presiding deity there is Brahimin. Three are the seats of all existent objects A fourth is not possible.

33 These are land, water, and ether. The brith is fourfold Some are born of eggs, some are born of germs which spring upwards, passing through the earth, some are born of fleshy balls in wombs.

34 Thus the birth of all living creatures is of four kinds. Now, there are other inferior beings and likewise those which range the sky

35 These should be known to be born of eggs as also those which crawl on their breats. Insects are said to be born of fith as also other creatures of a like description.

36-40 This is said to be the second mode of birth and is inferior. Those living creatures which take birth after the lapse of sometime bursting through the earth, are said to be germ born bei igs, O foremost of twice-born persons! Creatures of two feet or of many feet, and those which move crookedly, are the beings born of wombs. Among them are some which are deformed, ve best of men! The eternal womb of Brahma should be known to be of two kinds. eran penance and meritor o is acts is the doctrine of the learned should be understood to be of various kinds, such as sacrifice, gifts made at sacrifices, and the meritorious duty of study for every one that is born, such is the teaching of the ancients. He who duly understands this, comes to be considered as possessed of Yoga, se chief of twice born persons

41. Know also that such a man becomes freed too from all his sins. I have thus described to you duly the decritine of spiritual science.

42 Ve Rishis knowing all duties, a knowledge of this is gained by those who are considered as persons of knowledge. Uniting all these together, e.g., this is use, the coupers of the senses, and the five great elements, one should keep them in the mind.

43 When everything is immersed in the mind one no lonker regards highly the pleasures of life. Learned men, whose understandings are farn shed with knowledge, consider it at as true happiness.

44 I shall, after the, tell you of renunciation about all entities by treams gentle and hard, which produces attachment to subtle topics and which is fraught with auspiciousness.

That conduct which consists in treating the qualities as not qualities which is shorn of attachment, which is living, alone, which does not recognise distinctions, and which is fu'l of Brahma, is the root of all happiness

- 46 The learned man who takes all des res into himself from all sides like the tortoise withdrawing all its limbs, who is devoid of passion, and who is freed from everything, becomes always happy-
- 47. Controlling all desires within the soul, kiling his thirst, concentrated in meditation, and becoming the friend of good heart towards all creatures he succeeds in becoming fit for assimilation with Brahma.
- suppression of all the Through senses which always hanker after their objects, and abandonment of inhabited places, the spiritual fire blazes forth in the man of contemplation.
- 49 As a fire, fed with fuel, becomes bright on account of the burning flames it puts forth, so, on account of the repressun of the senses, the great soul puts forth its effulgence.
- 50 When one with a tranquil soul sees all entities in his own heart, then, lighted by his own effulgence, one attains to that which is subtler than the subtle and which 13 peerless in excellence.
- SI-53 It is settled that the body has fire for color, water for blood and jother inquids, wind for sense of touch, earth for the Indeous holder of mind (vis , flesh and bones, etc.), space (or ether) for sound; that it is pervaded by disease and sorrow , that it is overwhelmed by five currents , that it is made up of the five elements, that it has some doors and two destres, that it is full of passion, that it is unfit to be seen, that it made up of three qualities, that it lias three elements (ris, wind bile, and phle, m), that it is delighted with attachments of every kind , that it is full of delusion,
 - 54 It is difficult of being moved in this mortal world, and it rests on the understanding as its stay That body is, in this world, the wheel of I ime that is continually tevolving.
 - 55 That (body), indeed, is a terrible and uniathomable ocean and is called delusion It, is this body which stretches forth, contracts, and awakens the universe with the immortals.

- 56 By controlling the senses, one renotuces lust anger, fear, cupidity, enmity, and falsehood which are eternal and, therefore, highly difficult to renounce,
- He who has controlled these in this world, ore, the three qualities and the five elements of the body, has the Highest for lis seat in the celestial region. By him is Infinity attained 58 · Crossing the river which has the
 - five senses for its steep banks, the mental inclinations for its powerful waters, and delusion for its lake, one should control both lust and anger. Such a man, freed from allefaults,
 - then sees the Highest, concentrating their mind within the mind and seeing self in seli.
 - Understanding all things, he sees his self, with self, in all creatures, some ... times as one and sometimes as various, changing form from time to time
 - 61. Farsooth, he can perceive numerous bodies like a hundred lights from on hight. Indeed, he is Vishnu, and Mitra, and Varuna and Agni, and Prajapati.
 - He is the Creator and the ordainer ; he is the powerful Lord, with faces turned , m all directions. In him, the heart of all creatures, the great soul, becomes respiendent.
 - All the learned Brahmanas, celes-Asuras, Yakshas, Pishachas, the departed manes, birds, Rakshasas, goblins, and all the great Rishts, laud Hun.

CHAPTER XLIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Brahman said :-

- Among men, the royal Kshatrisa is gifted with it e middle quality. Among vehicles, the elephant (is so), and among dwellers of the forest the hon, among all (sacrifictal) animals, the slicep, among all those that live in hules, is the snake, among cattle, the buil , among females, the male
- There is no doubt in this that in this world, the Nyagrodha, the James, the Pippala, the Shalman, the Shimshapa, the Meshashringa, and the Kichaka, are the toremost ones among trees
- Paripatra, Vindhya, Trikutayat, Shweta Nila, Bhasa, Koshiliavat, Guruskandha, Mahendra, and

- Malyavat,—these are the foremost of mountains. Likewise the Maints are the foremost of the Ganas.
- 6 The Sun is the lord of all the planets, and the Moon of all the constellations Yama is the lord of the departed manes; Ocean is the ford of all rivers.

 7. Varuna is the king of the waters
- Varuna is the king of the waters Indra is said to be the king of the Maruts Arka is the king of all hot bodies, and Indra of all luminous bodies.
- 8. Agns is the eternal lord of the elements, and Vrihaspati of the Brahmanas Soma is the lord herbs, and Vishnu is the foremost of all that are gifted with might.
- o Tashtri is the king of Rudras, and Shiva of all creatures Sarenfice is the foremost of all initiatory rites, and Maghavat of the celestials.

 10. The North is the lord of all the
- points of the compass, the energetic Soma is the lord of all learned Brahmanas Kuvera is the lord of all preciousigems, and Purandara of all the celestials.

 11. Such is the highest creation among
- all entities. Prajapati is the lord of all creatures. Of all entities whatever, I, who am full of Brahma, am the foremost.
- 12. Here is no entity that is higher than myself or Vishnu. The great Vishnu, who is full of Brahma, is the king of kings over all Know him to be the king, the creator, the uncreated Hari.
 13. He is the ruler of men and Kin-
- naras and Yakshas and Gandharvas, and snakes and Rakshasas, and celestrals and Danavas and Nagas.

 14 Among those that are followed by
- 14 Among those that are followed by persons full of desire is the great goddess Maheswari having beautiful eyes
- 15 She is otherwise called by the name of Parwait. Know that the goddess Uma is the foremost and the most auspicious of women. Among women who are a source of pleasure, the foremost are the Apsaras who are endued with great splendour.
- to. Kings are desirous of acquiring piety, and Brahmanas are causeways of piery. Therefore, the king should siways atrive to protect the twice born, ones.
- 17 Those kings in whose kingdoms good men languish are considered as bereft of the virtues of their order. Hereafter they have to go into wrong paths.
- 18. Those kings in whose territories good men are protected, rejoice in this world and enjoy happiness in the next.

- 19 Indeed, those great ones attain to the highest seat. Understand this, ye foremost of twice born ones! I shall after this describe the eternal characteristics of duties.
- 20 Abstention from injury is the highest duty. Injury is a mark of sin. Spleudour is the mark of the detties. Men have acts for their characteristics.
- 21 Ether (or space) has sound for its characteristic. Wind has touch for its characteristic. The characteristic of luminous bodies is color, and water has taste for its characteristic
- 22. Earth, which holds all entities, has smell for its characteristic. Speech has words for its characteristic, refined into youels and consonants.
- 23 Mind has thought for its characteristic. Thought has, again, been said to be the characteristic of the understanding. The things thought of by the mind are determined with accuracy by the understanding.
- 24. There is no doubt in this, vis, that the understanding, by perseverance, perceives all things. The characteristic of mind is meditation. The characteristic of the good man is that he does not allow his acts to be noticed.
- 25. Devotion has acts for its characteristic Knowledge is the characteristic of renunciation. Therefore, keeping knowledge before his view, the man of understanding should practise renunciation.
- 26. The man who follows renunciation and who is endued with knowledge, who is above all pairs of opposites, as also darkness, death, and decrepitude, attains to the highest goal.
- 27. I have thus described to you duly what the characteristics are of duty. I shall, after this tell you of the comprehension of qualities
- 28 Smell, which belongs to earth, 19 secret by the nose. The word which dwells fin the nose is likewise appointed (as any agent) in the perception of smell.
- 29 Taste is the essence of water. That is perceived by the tongue. Soma, who lives in the tongue, is appointed likewise in the perception of taste.
- 30. The quality of a lighted hody is color. That is apprehended by the eye. Aditya who always lives in the eye has been appointed in the perception of color-
- 31. Touch always belongs to the wind (as its quality). That is perceived by ite skim. He wind that always lives in the skin has been appointed in apprehending touch.

- 32 The quality of a ether is sound. That is seized by the ear. All the guarters, which live in the ear, have been appointed in apprehending sound
- 33 The quality of the mind is thought That is seized by the understanding. The upholder of consciousness, living in the leart, has been appointed in apprehending the mind
- 34 The understanding is apprended in lle form of determination or certitude, and principle of Greatness in the form of knowledge Tie unperceived (Niture) has been, it is evident, appointed for the seizure of all things after certitude. There is no doubt in this
 - 35 The Kshetraina which is eternal and is storn of qualities about its essence, is incapable of being seized by symbols Hence, the characteristic of the Kshetraj 18, which is without symbols, is purely knowledge
 - 36 The unmanifest lives in the symbol called Kalletra, and is that in which the qualities are produced and absorbed niways see, know, and hear it (though) it is hidden.
 - 37 Purusha knows it, therefore is he talled Kshetrajna the Kshetrajna perterves also the actions of the qualities and Absence of their actions.
 - The qualities which are created repraiedly, do not know themselves being in intelligent, as entities to be created and gitted with a beginning, middle, and end.
 - No one else, but the Khsetrajna, tones by that which is the lin hest and Licat and which is above the qualities and ti ose entities wi ich ate birn of it e qualities
 - Hence, one who understands dities, te tounces of talutes and the understanding and having his sins distreyed, and transon Ing the qualities, enters the Kabe traj 3
 - 41 Ore who is free from all pairs of "| Disites who never ben is his head to at } or who is directed of Swahn who is imovable, an it omeless, is the isslictrajna He is the Supreme Lord.

CHAPTER XLIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued.

- Brahmana said -
- I shall now tell you truly about all that which has a beginning, middle, and end, and which has name and characteristics, together, the means of apprehension.
- It has been said that the Day came Then came Night The Months are said to have the lighted fortnights first. The constellations have Shravana for their first, the Seasons have that of dews (vis., Winter) for their first.
- 3 Carth is the source of all smells, and Water of all tastes. The solar light is the source of all colours, the wind of all sensa. tions of touch
- I skewise of sound the source is space (or Pther) These are the qualities of elements I shall, after this, describe that which is the first and the luglest of all entities.
 - The sun is the first of all luminous hadies Fire is said to be the first of all the elements Savitri is the first of all branches of learning. Prajapau is the first of all the celestrals
 - The syllable Osi is the first of all the Vedas, and the vital air Prana is the first of all winds Savitri is the first of all religlous observances
 - the Gayato is the first of all metres. goat is the first of all (sacrificial) animals, Kine are the first of all quadrupeds. The twice born ones are the first of all human beings
 - The hawk is the first of all hirds. Of sacrifices the first is the pouring of clarified bitter on the fire. Of all replifes the first O foremost of twice-born ones, 19 il e snake
 - The Krita is the first of all the cycles . there is no d mbt in this Gold is the first of all precious things
 - to Barley is the first of all plants I and is the first of all it ings to be extent or swall med Water is the first of all I guid substances to be druck
 - Of all immolife of jects will out distinctio ? Plaksha is said to be the first, that ever holy fiel I of Brahman.
 - 12 Of all the Prejapates I am the fret. Tiere is to doubt in till Of menness wall soul tie sell ex ster t Vishmu is said to be mis super of.

- Of all the mountains the great Meru is said to be the first-born Of all the cardinal and subsidiary points of the horizon the eastern is said to be the foremost and first-born
- Ganga having three courses is said to be first born of all rivers Likewise, of all wells and reservoirs of waters, the ocean is said to be the first born.
- Ishwara is the Supreme Lord of all the celestials and Danavas and ghosts and Pishachas and snakes and Rakshasas, and human beings and Kinnaras and Yakshas.
- The great Vishnu, who is full of Brahma, than whom there is no higher being in the three worlds, is the first of all the universe
- 17 " Of all the modes of life, that of the householder is the first. Of this there is no The Unmanifest is the source of all the worlds as well as is the end of every
- 18 Days end with the sun's setting and Nights with the sun's rising The end of pleasure is always sorrow, and the end of sorrow is always pleasure.
- 19 All collections have expenditure for their end and all ascents have falls for their All associations have dissociations for their end, and life has death for its end.
- All action ends in destruction, and all that is born is certain to meet with death Every mobile and immobile thing in this world is fickle.
- Saerifice, gift penances study, vows, observances -all these have destruction to their end. Of Knowledge, there is 10 end
- Hence, one who has a tranquil soul who has subjugated his senses, who is freed from the sense of mineness, who is devoid of ecoism is freed from all sins by pure knowledge.

CHAPIER XLV.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued

Brahman said -

1. The wheel of life moves on. It has the understanding for its strength, the mind for the pole, the group of senses for its fetters the thive) great elements for its nave, and home for its circu nference.

- 2. It is possessed by decrepitude and sorrow and it has diseases and calamities for its progeny. That wheel relates in time and place. It has toil and exercise for its noise.
- Day and Night are the rotations of that wheel It is encircled by leat and cold Pleasure and pain are its joints, and hunger and thurst are the nails fixed into
- 4 Sun-shine and shade are the ruts. It is capable of being moved during even such a short space of time as is taken up by the opening and the closing of the eyelid. It is covered with the dreadful waters of delusion It is ever revolving and void of consciousness
- It is measured by months and halfmonths. It is not uniform (being everchanging) and moves through all the worlds Penance and yows are its mud, Passion's force is its mover.
- It is lighted up by the great egoism, and is sustained by the qualities Vexations are the fastenings that bind it around. It revolves in the midst of grief and destruction
- 7 It has actions and the instruments of action It is large and is extended by attachments. It is rendered unsteady by cupidity and desire. It is produced by variegated Ignorance.
- It is full of fear and delusion, and is the cause of the delusion of all beings. It moves towards toy and pleasure, and has desire and anger for its possession.
- g It is made up of principles beginning with greatness and ending with the gross elements It is marked by production and destruction going on ceaselessly. Its speed is like that of the mind, and if has the mind for its limit
- This wheel of his which is connected with pairs of opposites and devoid of consciousness, the universe with the very immortals should cast away, abridge, and check.
- That man who ever understands correctly the motion and steppage of this wieel of hie, is never seen to be deluded, among all creatures.
- breed from all impressions, divested of all pairs of opposites, freed from all sins, he attains to the highest goal
- 13. The householder, the Brahmachana the hermit and the mendicant, - here low modes of life have all been still tanter the householder's mode for their root.

- It The observance of every system of rules is prescribed in this world. Such observance has always been highly spoken of.
- 15 He who has been first purified by ceremonies, who has duly observed yows, who belongs by birth to a family of high qualifications, and who understands the Vedas, should return (from his preceptor's house).
 - 16 Always devoted to his married wife, sting like a good man, with his senses under control and full of faith, one should in this world perform the five sacrifices.
 - 18-17 He who eats the residue after feeding celestials and guests, who is given to the observance of Vedic rites, who duly telebrates, according to its means, sacrifices and gifts, who is unduly active with his hands and fert, who is unduly active with his eye, who is devoted to penances, who is not unduly active with his words and lunits, comes under the category of Shista or the good.
 - 19 One should always bear the sacred thread, wear white (clean) clothes, observe pure vows, and should always mix with good men, making gifts and practising selfcontrol.
 - 20 One should govern lus lust and stomach practise universal compassion, and he characterised by good conduct. One should bear a bamboo stick, and a waterpot filled with water,
 - 21 Having studied one should teach I kewise should celebrate sacrifices himself and offi rate at the sacrifices of others. One should also make gifts made to oneself. Indeed, one's conduct should be marked by these six deeds.
 - 22 Know that three of these acts should form the livelihood of the Brahmanas, res, teaching (pupils), officiating at the sacrifices of others, and the acceptance of gifts from a person who is pure.
 - As to the other duties which remain, numbering three, wis, making of gifts, study, and sacrifice, these are accompanied by merit.
 - 24 Observant of penances, sell controlled, practising universal mercy and forgiveness, and looking upon all creatures unpartially, the man who is conversant with duttes should never be carcless about those three acts.
 - The ferrned Brahmans of pure leatt, who leads the domestic mode of life and practices rigid vows, thus devoted and thus performing all duties to the best of his power, succeeds in conquering the celestial region.

CHAPIER XLVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Brahman said :-

- Properly studying thus to the best of his power, in the way described above, and likewise living as a Brahmacharin, one who performs the duties of his own order, endurd with learning, observant of penances, and with all the senses under control, devoted to what is agreeable and beneficial to the preceptor, steady in practising tie duty of truth, and always pure, should, with the permission of the preceptor, eat his food without decrying it. He should eat Havishya made from what is got in alms, and should stand, sit, and take exercise (as directed).
 - He should pour libations on the fire twice a day, having purified himself and with concentrated mind the should always carry a staff made of Vilwa or Palasha.
 - The raiments of the twice-born man should be linen, or of cotton, or deer skin, or a cloth that is entirely brown red.
 - 6 There should also be a girdle made of Munja-grass He should bear matted locks on head, and should perform his ablutions daily He should bear the sacred thread, study the scriptures, divest himself of cupidity, and be steady in the observance of vows.
 - He should also satisfy the celestials with oblations of pure water, his mind being controlled the while Such a Brahmacharm is worthy of being lauded.
 - With vital seed drawn up and mind concentrated, one who is thus devoted, succeeds in a nquering the celestial region, Having attained to the Highest seat, he has not to return to birth.
 - Cleansed by all purificatory rites an I lisving lived as a Brahmacharin, one should next go out of his village and next live as an ascetic in the forest, having cast off (all attachments).
 - to. Clid in animal skins or barks of trees, he slould perform his ablations morning and evening. Always living with in the forest, he should never return to an untalned place.

- ti Honoring guests when they come, he should give them shelter, and himself live up in fronts and leaves and common roots, and Shyamaka
- 12. He should, without being idle, live on such water as he gets, and air, and all forest products. He should live upon these, in due order, according to the regulations of his initiation.
- 13 He should honor the guest that comes to him with alms of finite and roots. He should then without ideness, always give whitever other food he may have.
- 14 Controlling speech the while he should eat after satisfying celestris and guests. Its mind should be shirn of envy. He should eat little, and depend always on the celestrals.
- 15. Self controlled, practising universal mercy, and endued with furgiveness, he should wear both heard and hair. Celebrating sacrifices and deviring himself to the study of the scriptures, he should be steady in the observance of the duty of truth.
- 16 With body always in a state of purity, gifted with cleverness, ever living in the forest, with concentrated inrid, an senses in subjection, a hermit thus devoting himself, would conquer the cleatial region.
- 17 A housel older, or Britimacharin, or forest recluse who would wish to acquire Liberation, should have recourse to that which has been called the best course of conduct.
- 18 Having granted to all creatures the pledge of utter abstention from harm, he should renounce all action. He should contribute to the happiness of all creatures, practise it utersal friendliness, govern all his senses, and be an ascetic.
- 10 Living upon food got without ask ing and without trouble, and that his come to him spontaneously, he should make a fire. He should go for alms to a place whence smore has ceased to can't up and where all the inhabitants have already eaten.
- 20. The person who is conversant with the conduct that leads to Liberation should seek for alms after the vessels (used in cooking) have been washed. He should never tej ice when he gets anything, and never lose heart it he gets nothing.
- 21. Seeking just what is necessary for supporting He, hie should, with concentrated mind, so about for alms, waiting for the proper time. He should not wish for earnings in a mind, with others, nor eat when honour, i.

- 22 The mendicant should conceal himself for avoiding gifts with honour. White eating, he should not eat the residue of another's dish, nor such food 25 35 bitter, or astringent, or pangent.
- 23 He should not also eat such kinds of tood as lave a sweet taste. He should eat only so much as is necessary to keep him alive.
- 24-26 The person conversant with Liberation should obtain 13. Inveltioned without obstained and recause In 1st rounds of mendicincy he should never show inspety, he should move about in as olivary place, freed from passon. As should, resort to either an empty house, or a forest, or the foot of some tree, or a river, or a mountain-crive for sholler. In summer he should prove the should prove the should prove the should prove the should prove only one upikin man imbalied place, in the rainy season he may live in one place.
- 27 He should move about the world har a worm, having his path pointed out by the Sun From mercy for creatures, he should walk on the Earth with his eyes directed towards it.
- 28 He should never amass riches and should avoid living with friends. The man knowing Liberation should every day do all his acts with pure water.
- 20—20 Such a man should always preform his ablations with water that has been taken (from the river or tank). Abstention from hirm, celibacy, trin, simplicity, feeddown, from anger, freedom from decrating others self-control and habitual freedom from back bitting, with senses controlled, he should steadily pursue these eight work.
- 31. He should always practise a sinless mode of conduct, which is not deceptive or croulded Shorn of attachments he should always make one whin comes as a guest eat (at least) a morsel of food.
- 32. He should eat just enough for Invelhinood the maintenance of life. He should eat only such food as has been got by fair means, and should not pursue the dictates of desire.
- 33. He should never accept any other thing than food and clothing only. He should, again, accept only as much as he can eat and nothing more.
- 34 He should not be induced to accept gots from others, nor should be make grits to others. Owing to the helplessness of creatures the wise man should always share with others.
- creatures the wise man should always share with others

 35. He should not misappropriate others' belongings, nor should be take anything

- without being asked He should not, having empyed anything, become so sit ced to it as to seek for it once more.
- 36 One should take only earth water, pebbles, leaves flowers, and fruits, which are net owned by any body, as they come, when one wishes to do any act
- One shoul I not live by the occupation of an artisan, nor should be covet gold One should not hate, nor teach , nor should one have any belongings.
- One should eat only what is consecrated by faith. One should shun controversies One should follow the nectarine course of conduct. One should never be attached to anything, and should never enter into relations of intimacy with any creature.
- 39 One should not perform, nor cause to perform, any such deed as involves expectation of fruit or destruction of life or the hoarding of riches or articles.
- 40. Rejecting all objects, content with a very little, one should move about (homeless) pursuing an equal conduct towards all creatures mobile and immobile.
 - 41. One should never annoy another being nor should one be annoyed with another. He who is trusted by all creatures is considered as the foremost of those persons who understand Liberation,
 - 42 One should not think of the past nor feel anxious about the future One should disregard the present, biding time, with fixed mind
 - 43 One should never defile anything by eye, mind, or speech Nor should gne do anything which is wrong, openly or in secret
 - 44 Withdrawing his senses like the tortorse withdrawing its limbs one should govern his senses and mind, cultivate a thoroughly peaceful understanding, and seek to master every subject
 - Freed from all pairs of opposites, never bending his head in respect, abstaining from the rites requiring the utterance of Swaha one should be free from mineness, and egoism With p irified soul, one should never seek to acquire what one has not and protect what one has
 - 46 Free from expectations, shorn of qualities, endued with tranquility, one should be free from all attachments and should depend on none Attached to one's own sell and understanding all subjects, one becomes, forsooth, liberated.
 - which is without hands and feet and back, Knowledge to be high Brahma.

- which is without head and without stomach, which is free from the action of all qualities, which is absolute, untainted, and stable, which is without smell, without taste and touch, without color, and without sound, which is to be comprehended (by close study,) which is innattached, which is without flesh, which is free from anxiety, unfading, and divine, and, fastly, which though living in a house resides in all creatures, succeed in escaping death
 - There the understanding reaches not, nor the senses, nor the celestials nor the Vedas, nor sacrifices, nor the regions (of superior bliss), nor penauce, nor vows.
 - The attainment to it by those who are endued with knowledge is said to be with sut comprehension of symbols. Hence the man who knows the properties of that which is shorn of symbols, should practise the truths of piety.
 - the learned man, living as a householder, should adopt that conduct which is conformable to true knowledge. Though undeluded, he should practise piety like one that is deluded, without finding fault without it
 - Without finding fault with the practices of the good he should act in such a way for practising piety as may induce others to always disregard him
 - That man who is gifted with such a conduct is said to be the foremost of ascetics The senses, the objects of the senses, the (five) great elements mind, understanding, egoism, the unmainlest. Purusha also, after comprehending these duly with the help of correct inferences, or e attains to the c lestral region released from all fetters. One conversant with the truth, understanding these at the time of the termi sation of his life, should me litate, exclusively resting on one port pending on none one acq ires Liberation. Freed from all attachments like the win i in space with his hoarded up means exhausted, without distress of any sort, he attains to the highest goal.

CHAPIER XLVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Brahman said —

t the ancients who always used to speak truth say that Renunciation is penance Brahmanas, living in that witch has Brahma for its origin, understand

- Brahma is very far off, and its attainment depends upon a knowledge of the Vedas. It is free from all pairs of opposites, it is shorn of all qualities; it is eternal; it is gifted with unthinkable qualities, it is supreme.
- 3. It is by knowledge and penance that those gifted with wisdom see that which is the lingliest. Indeed, they who are of unsulted minds, who are purged of every sia, and who have transcended all passion and darkness (succeed in section it.)
- 4. They who are always given to renunciation, and who are conversant with the Vedas, succeed in attaining to the supreme Lord who is at one with the path of happiness and peace, by the help of penance.
- 5. Penance, it has been said, is light, Conduct leads to piety. Knowledge is said to be the highest. Renunciation is the best penance.
- 6 He who understands self through accurate determination of all subjects, undisturbed, which is at one with Knowledge, and which lives in all principles, succeeds in going everywhere.
- 7. That learned man who sees association and dissociation, and unity in diversity, is freed from misery.
- He who never desires for anything, who despises nothing, becomes cligible, even when living in this world, for assumilation with Brahma.
- He who is conversant with the truths about qualities of Greatness, and understands the Pradhana as existing in all principles, who is free from mineriess and egoismy forsooth, becomes liberated.
- 10. He who is freed from all pairs of opposites, who does not bend his head to any body, who has got over the rites of Swaha, succeeds by the help of tranquility alone in attaining to that which is free from pairs of opposites, which is eternal, and which is shorn of qualities.
- 11. Rennuncing all action, good or bad, developed from qualities, and casting off both truth and falsehood, a creature, forsooth, becomes liberated.
- 12—15. Having the unmanders for the seed of its origin, with the understanding for its trunk, with the great principle of egosim for its collection of houghs, with the sames for the cavities of its little aprous, but the sames for the cavities of its little aproper than the same of the collection of the same of the s

- it, and with fruits both agreeable and disagreeable always produced, at the eternal continuous districts of the eternal free etailures. Cutting the prevent part of the etailures. Cutting the prevent part the was man, shandoning the letters which are made of attachment and which cause both, decreptude, and death, and freeing himself from numeness and egoism, forsooth, becomes lives tied.
- 16 These are the two birds, which are immutable, which are frends, and which should be known as unnitelligent. I had other who is different from these two is called the intelligent.
- 17. When the inner self, which is shorn of knowledge of nature, which is fas it weigh mutelligent, becomes conversant with that which is above nature, then, understanding the Kshetra, and gifted with an intiligence that is above all qualities and apprhends everything, becomes released from all sins.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)-

Brahman said :-

- 1. Some consider Brahma as a tree, Some consider Brahma as a great forest. Some consider Brahma as unmanifest. Some consider it as transcendant and freed from every distress.
- 2-c. They think that all this is produced from and absorbed into the unmanifest. He who, even for the short space of time covered by a single breath, when his end connes, becomes equable, attaining to the self, fits himself for immortality Con-trolling the self in the self, even for the space of a wink one goes, through the tra 1quility of the self, to that which forms the endless acquisition of those that are endued with knowledge Restraining the vital airs again and again by controlling them according to the method called Prinayama (suppression of vital airs), by the ten or the twelve, he attains to that which is beyond the feur and twenty. I hus having first acquired a tranquil soul, one attains to the fruition of all tus desires.
- 6. When the quality of Godness predomnates in what originates from the Unmanifest, it becomes fit for immortality. They who are conversant with Goodness speak high of it, saying that there is nothing sourcifor to Goodness.

- By inference we know that the Purusha h dependent on Goodness. O best of twee born ones, it is impossible to attain to Purusha by any other means.
- 8. Forgiveness, courage, abstention from murry, equability, truth, succepty, knowledge, gift, and renunciation, are said to be the marks of that course of conduct which arises out of Goodness.
- 9 It is by this inference that the wise believe in the oneness of Purusha and Goodness There is no doubt in this.
- 10 Some learned men that are devoted to knowledge hold that Kshetrajna and Nature are one. This, however, is not correct.
- 11. If it is said that Nature is different from Purusha, that also will indicate a want of consideration.
- 12. Distinction and association should be truly known. Unity and diversity are likewise laid down. That is the doctrine of the learned. Even both unity and diversity are seen in the gnat and Udumvara.
- 13. As a fish in water is different from it, so is the relation of the two (vis., Purusha and Nature) Indeed, their relation is like that of water drops on the leaf of the lotus

The preceptor said:—

14. Thus addressed, those learned Brahmanas, who were the foremost of men, felt some doubts and (therefore) they once more questioned the Grandfather.

CHAPIER XLIX.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)-

The Rishis said :--

- Which among the duties is considered to be the most worthy of being performed?
 The various mudes of duty, we see, are contradictory.
- Some say that it continues after the body (is destroyed). Others say that it does not exist. Some say that everything is doubtful. Others have no doubts.
- 3 Some say that the eternal (principle) is not eternal. Some say that it exists, and some that it exists not. Some say it is of one form, or twofold, and others that it is mixed.
- Some Brahmanas who are conversant with Brahma and utterers of truth consider it to be one. Others, that it is distinct, and others again that it is manifold.

- 5. Some say that both time and space exist; others, that it is not so. Some bear matted locks on their lieads, and are clail in deter-skins. Others have shaven heads and go entirely nated.
- 6. Some abstain entirely from bathing, and some are for bathing. Such differences of views may be seen among celesuals and Brahmanas conversant with Brahma and gifted with preceptions of truth.
- 7 Some are for taking food i while some are given to fasts. Some speak highly of action. Others speak linghly of perfect tranquility.
- 8. Some appland Liberation. Some, various sorts of enjoyments.
- 9. Some desire various kinds of riches. Some, poverty. Some say that means should be resorted to. Others, that this is not so.
- to Some are given to a life of abstention from injury. Others are inclined to destruction. Some are for ment and glory. Others say that this is not so.
- 11. Some are devoted to geodness.
 Others are established on doubt. Some are for pleasure. Some are for pain.
 Other people say that it is mediation.
- 12 Other learned Brahmanas say that it is Sacrifice. Others, again, say that it is gift. Others speak highly of penances. Others, the study of the scriptures.
- 13. Some say that knowledge and renunctation (should be foll swed). Others who ponder on the elements, say that it is Nature. Some speak too much of everything. Others, nothing.
- being thus contused and full of contradictions of various lends, we are deluded and unable to active at any conclusion.
- 15 People stand up for acting, saying,—
 This is good,—I his is good,—I le who follow a certain duty speaks lighly of that duty as the best.—
 understanding breaks
- 16 Therefore our understanding breaks 16 and our mind is distracted. We, therefore, wish, O best of all beings, to know what is good
- 17. You should declare to us, after this, what is (so) mysterious, and what is the cause of the connection between the Soul and Nature
- 18. It us addressed by those learned Brahmanas, the illustrious creator of the worlds, endued with great intelligence and possessed of a rigit tents soul, described to them accurately what they asked.

MAHABHARATA.

36

CHAPTER L. (ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Brahman said:-

- Well then, I shall describe to you what you ask. Learn what was told by a preceptor to a disciple who came to him.
- Hearing it all, do you settle properly (what it should be). Abstention from injuring any creature is considered as the foremost of all duties.
- that is the highest seat, shorn of auxiety and forming a mirk of holmess The ancients who had seen the certain truth, have said that knowledge is the highest happiness.
- Hence, one becomes freed of all sins by pure knowledge. They who are engaged in destruction and harm, they who are infidels in conduct, have to go to Hell on account of their being gifted with cupidity and delusion. Those who, without idleness, perform acts moved thereto by expectation, become repeatedly born in this world and sport in happiness. Those men who gifted with learning and wisdom, perform acts with faith, free from expectations, and possessed of concentration of mind, are said to perceive clearly.
- 7-8 I shall, after this, describe how the association and the disassociation takes place of Soul and Nature Ye best of men. The relation liere is said to be that
- between the object and the subject Purusha is always the subject; and Nature the object It has been explained, by what has been said in a pre vious part of the discourse where it has been pointed out, that they exist after the manner of the gnat and the Udumyara
- to. An object of enjoyment as it is, Nature is unintelligent and knows nothing He, however, who enjoys it, is said to know it, Soul being enjoyer, Nature is enjoyed.
- 11. The wise have said that Nature is always made up of pairs of opposites Soul is, on the other hand destitute of pairs of opposites, devoid of parts, eternal, and free, about its essence, from qualities.
- He lives in everything alike, and walks with knowledge He always enjoys Nature as a letus leaf (enjoys) water.
- 11. Endued with knowledge, he is never tainted even if brought into contact with all the qualities,
- . 14 Forsooth, Purusha is unattached like the unsteady drop of water on the fotus-leaf. This is the certain conclusion that Nature is the property of Purusha.

- 15-16 The relation between these two (vis . Purusha and Nature) is like that existing between matter and its maker. As one goes into a dark place carrying a light with lum, so those who wish for the Supreme, proceed with the light of Nature. As long as matter and quality exist, so long the light shmes.
- 17. The flame, however, becomes put out when matter and quality (or oil and wick) are exhausted. Thus Nature is manifest; while Purusha is said to be unmanifest.
- Understand this, se learned Brahmanas! Well I shall now tell you something more With even a thousand (explanations), one who has a bad understanding succeeds not in acq iring knowledge.
- One, however, who is gifted with intelligence succeeds in acquiring happiness, through only a fourth share (of explanations) I has should the accomplishment of duty be understood as dependent on means.
- 20 For the intelligent man, having knowledge of means, succeeds in acquiring supreme happiness.
- 21. As some man travelling along a road without provisions of his journey, proceeds with great uneasiness and may even meet with destruction before he reaches the end of his journey, so should it be known that if deeds there may or may not be fruits.
- 22-21 The examination of what is agreeable and what disagreeable in one's own self, yields benefit The progress in life of a man who is devoid of the perception of truth is like that of a man who rashly purneys on a long road unseen before. The progress, however, of those who are gifted with intelligence is like that of men who purney along the same road, riding on a car to which are yoked (flee() horses and which moves with swiftness, Having ascended to the top of a mountain, one should not east his ever on the surface of the earth
- 25 Seeing a man, even though travelling on a car, afflicted and rendered insensible by pain, the intelligent man journeys on a car as long as there is a car-path.
- The learned man, when he sees the car-path end, abandons his car for going on. I has does the intelligent man who knows the ordinances about truth and Yoga, proceed.
- 27. Knowing the qualities, such a manproceeds, comprehending what is next and 57 One who knows which is superior and inferior among existent creatures, who is conversant with the ordinances about all deeds, and who forms hunself the soul of all creatures, attains to the Unfading Soul.

CHAPIER LL

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Brahmana said -

- t. Since the mind is the ruler of these five elements, for controlling and bringing them forth the mind, therefore, is the soul of the elements.
 - 2. The mind always presides over the great elements. The understanding proclaims power, and is called the Soul
 - 3 The mind yokes the senses as a charioteer yokes good horses. The senses, the mind, and the understanding are always foined to the Soul.
 - 4 It's individual soul, mounting the chariot to which big horses are yoked and which has the understanding for the reins, drives about on all sides.
 - 5 With all the senses attached to it (for steeds), with the mind for the charioteer, and the understanding for the eternal reins, exists the great Brahma car.
 - 6 Indeed, that man gifted with learning and wisdom who always understands the Brahma car in this way, is never possessed by delusion in the midst of all entities
 - 7-0 This forest of Brahma begins with the unmaniest and ends with gross objects. It includes mobile and immobile objects, and gets light from the radiance of the sun and the moon, and it decorated decked, again, on all sides with nets of rivers and mountains. It is always embellished licewise by various kinds of waters it is the means of livelihood for all creatures, it is, again, the end of all living creatures in this licest the Kehstian laways moves about.
 - 10. Whatever exist in this world mobile and immobile, are the very first to be dissolved away. After this (are dissolved) those qualities which compose all entities.
 - 11-12. After the qualities (are dissolved) the five elements Such is the gradation, of entities. Edecuals, men,

Gandharvas, Pishachas, Asuras, (and) Rakshasas have all originated from Nature, and not from actions, nor from a cause The Brahmanas, who are creators of the universe, are born here again and again

- 13 All that originates from them dissolves, when the time comes in those very five great elements like billows in the ocean
- 14 All the great elements are beyond those elements which form the universe. He who is released from those five elements goes to the highest goal
- 15 The powerful Prajapati created all this by the mind only Similarly Rish is attained to the status of celestials by the help of penance
- 16 Likewise, those who have acquired perfection, who were capable of the concentration of Yoga, and who live on fruits and roots, likewise perceive the triple world
- by penance.

 17. Medicines and herbs and all the various sciences are acquired by means of penance alone, for all acquisition has penance for its root.
- 18 Whatever is difficult of acquisition, difficult to learn, difficult to defeat, difficult to pass through, can all be acquired by nemance, for penance is irresistible.
- 19. One who drinks alcoholic I guors, one who kills a Brahmana, one who steals, one who destroys a fœus, one who violates, one's preceptor's bed, becomes cleaned of such sin by penance well performed
- 20—21. Hu wan beings, departed manes, and dettes, (seer/fich) animals, beasts and birds, and all other creatures mobile and mmobile, by always devoting themselves to penances, become successful by penance alore. Sim hairly the celestials gifted with great powers of illusion, have attained to the celestial region.
- 22 Those who without idleness perform deeds with expectations, being full of egoism, approach the presence gof Prajapati.
- 23 Those great ones, I owever, who are devoid of mineness and freed from egoism through the pure contemplation of Yoga, acquire the great and highest regions.
- 24 Those who understand best the self, having acq ired Yoga contemplation and having their minds always cleer? it, enter the the unmanifest accumulation of handware.
- happiness

 25 Those persons who are freed from egoism and who are re born after having ettained to the fulness of Yoga contemplation, enter into the highest region reserved for the great, ers , the Ummanifest.

:5-27 Birn from that same unmanilest (principle) and attaining to the same once more, freed from the qualities of Darktess and Ignorance and adheims to only the quality of Gundness, one freed from every sin and creates all things Such a one should be known to be Kslietraj ia in perfection. He who knows hun knows the Veda.

28 Attaining to pure knowledge from (restraining) the mind, the ascetic should sit self-controlled One necessarily becomes that on which one's mind is set. This is Bu elernal mystery that which has the unmanifest for us beginning and gross qualities for us end has been sail to have Ne science fir ils mark But do you un leistand that whose nature is shorn of qualities. 31. Of two syllables is Mriign (death),

- of three syllable is the etertial Brahmis Mineress is death, and the opposite of immeness is the eternal 31. Some men who are led by bad under-
- standing speak highly of action. . 1 hose, lowever, who are unmbered among the Breat ancients never speak highly of action 31 By action is a creature born with
- body which is made up of the sixteen. (True) Knowledge swalliws up Purusha This is what is highly acceptable to eaters of ambrosia. Herefore, those whose vision ex
 - tends to the other end have no attachment to actions This Purisha, however, is full of knowledge and not full of action.
 - 31 He dies not who understands 11:m who is immortal, immutable, incomprehensible, eternal and indestructible-Him who is the restrained Soul and who is above all Attachmente

35 He who thus understands the Soul to which there is nothing prior, which is uncreated, i ninutable, unem q iered, and incomprehensible even to those who are valers of nectar, certainly becomes himself incomprehensible and immortal through there means.

36. Removing all impressions and contreiling the soul in the soul, he understands that auspicious Brahma than which nothing Ereater exists.

37. Upon the understanding becoming ther, he succeeds in acquiring tranquillity the mark of tranquility is like that what takes place tit a dream.

Thus is the end of those liberated ones who are intent on knowledge. They ses all those m wements which are born of successive developments.

This is the end of those who are unattached to the world I his is the eternal This is the acquisition of men of knowledge. Ihis is the uncensured made of conduct.

This end is capible of being attained by one who is alike to all creatures, who is without attachment, who is without expectations, and who looks equally on all things.

I have now described everything to you, O forem ist of twice-bern Rishis! Di you act thus immediately, you will then acq are success.

The Preceptor said :-

- 42. Thus addressed by the preceptor Brahman, those great sages acted accordingly and then attained to many happy regions
- Do you also, O blessed one, duly act according to the words of Brahman as described by me. O you of pure soul. You will then acquire success

Vasudeva said:-

- Units instructed in the principles of high religion by the preceptor, the pupil, O son of Kunti, did everything accordingly and then attained to Liberation.
- Having done all that he should have dine, the pupil, O perpetuater of Kurn's race attained to that scat going where one has not to grieve. '

Arjuna said:-

46 Who, indeed, was that Brahming, O Krishna, and who the pupil, O Janerd. dana! fruly, if am worthy of hearing it, do you then tell me, O Lord!

Vasudeva said:--

I am the preceptor, O mighty. armed one, and know that the mind it my pupil Brough my affection for you, O 1) hananjaya, I have described this mystery

If you have any love for me, O perpetuator of Kuru family, do you then, after having heard ti ese instructions al out the boul, always act culy, O you of excellent Then when this religion has been duly practised O descrayer of fore, you mil become freed from all your aims and attain to perfect aberation,

- 50. Formerly, when the hour of battle came, this very religion, O you of mighty-arms, was described by me. Do you, therefore, set your mind on it.
- 51. And now, O chief of Bharata's race, it is long since that I saw the lord my father. I wish to see him again, with jour leave, O Phalguna.

Vaishampayana said:-

- Dhananjaya replied to Krishna who had said so —We shall go to-day from this town to Hastmapur.
- 53 Meeting king Yndhishthirs of victuous soul there, and informing him you shall then go to your own city.

CHAPTER LIL.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)~

Continued.

Vaishampayana said :-

- 1 After this Krishna ordered Daruka, saying,—'Let my car be yoked' With in a very short space of time Daruka informed (his master), saying,—'It has been yoked.'
- 2 The son of Pandu then ordered all his attendants, saying Prepare your-selves and he ready. We shall go to day to Hastimaput.
- 3 Thus addressed, O king, the army got themselves ready, and it formed Pritha's son of immeasurable energy, $231mg,— Everything infrady
- 4 Then those two friends was. Krishna and the son of Pandu ascended their ear and proceeded on the purnsy, engaged in delightful conversations.
- 5. To Vasudera seated on the car, the highly energetic Dhananana, make more said these words, O chief of the Bharatas.
- 6 O perpetuator of the Vrishut race, the kine has got victory through your grace All his enemies have been killed, and he has recovered his kingdoin without a thorn in it.
- 7 O'destroyer of Madhu, on you the Pandavas have got a powerful protector Having obtained you for our raft we have crossed the Kuru ocean.
- 3 O you who have this universe for your handiwork, salutations to you, O Soul of the universe, O best of all beings in the universe. I know you in that measure in which I am approved by you.

- 9. O destroyer of Madhu, the soul of every creature is always born of your energy. Playful sport is yours., Eirth and sky, O lord, are your illusion.
- to. This entire universe, consisting o mobile and immobile objects, is established on you. You create, by modification, the four orders of Being.
- 11. You] create the Earth, the Sky, and Heaven. O Destroyer of Madhu. The stanless lunar light is your smile., The seasons are your senses.
- 12. The ever-moving wind its jour breath, and death, existing eternally is your anger. In your grace is the goddess of prosperity. Indeed, Shree is always established in you, O you of the highest intelligence.
- 13 You are the sport; you are their contentinent, you their intelligence, you their forgiveness, you their inclinations, you their beauty. You are the universe with its mobile and minimible objects. At the end of the age, it is you, O andess one, who are called destruction.
- 14. I am incapable of reciting all your qualities in course of even a long period. You are the Soul and the Supreme Soul I bow to you O you of eyes like the (petals of that lours.
- of thel latus. 15-18 O you who are irresistible I have learns it from Nasada and Devala and the island-born (Vyasa), and the Kuru grandfather also that all this (universe) rests You are the one Lord of all on you creatures 1 his, O sinless one, filiat you have described to me on account of your favour for myself, I shall duly accomplish in full, O Janarddana! Highly wonderful is this which you have done from desire of doing what is agreeable to us, ers. the destruction in battle of the Kanrava (prince) the sin of Dhritarashifa. That army had been burnt by you which I (subsequently) defeated to battle
- 19-20 That feat was achieved by you on account of which victory become mine? By the power of your intelligence was shown the means by which was duly effected the destruction of Duryodhana in battle, as also of Karna, as of the sinful king of the Sindhus, and Bhurishravas.
 - 21. I shall accomplish fall that which, O son of Devaks, pleased with me you have declared to myself. I do not entertain any doubt in this.
 - 22 Going to king Yudhishthira of righteous soil, I shall, O sinless one, wige him to dismiss you. O you who are conversant with every duty.

- 23 O lord, I approve of departure for Dwaraka You shall soon see my maternal uncle, O Janarddana.
- You shall also see the irresistable Valadeva and other chiefs of the Vrishni race !- 1 hus conversing with each other, the two reached the city of Hastmapur.
- 35 They then, with cheerful hearts, and without any anxiety, entered the palace of Di marashira which resembled the mansion of Shakra.
- 26-28. They then saw, O monarch, king Diritarashtra, and highly intelligent Vidura, and king Yudhishthira; and the irresistibly Bhimasena, and the two sons of Madri by Pandu, and king Dhritarashtra seated; and the unvanquished Yuyutsu Gandhari of great wisdom, and Pritha, and the beautiful Krishna, and the otler ladies of Bharata's race with Subhadra for the first,
- 29-31. They also saw all those ladies who used to wait upon Gandhari. Then approaching king Dhritarashtra, those two chastisers of enemies announced their names and touched his feet. Indeed, those great ones also touched the feet of Gandhars and Prittia and king Yudhishthira the just, and Bhima, Embracing Vidura also, they el quired after his well being.
 - In the company of all those 32-33 persons, Arjuna and Krishna then approached king Dhritarashtra (again) Night came and then the intelligent king Dhutarashtra dismissed all those perpetuaters of Kuru's race as also Jenarddana for retiring to their respective rooms. Permuted by the king, all of their entered their respective apartments.
 - 34-36 Krishna of great energy proteeded to the apartments of Dhananjaya. Adored duly and furnished with every object of comfort and enjoyment, Krishna of great intelligence passed the night in happy sleep with Dhananjaya as his companion. When the night passed away and morning came, the two heroes, finishing their morning rites and adoring their persons properly, proceeded to the palace of king Yudhishthira the just Yudi shihira the just, of great might, sat with his ministers.
 - The two great ones, entering that well adorned chamber, saw king Yudhishthira the just like the two Ashwins seeing it e chief of it e celestrals.
 - 38. Meeting the king, he of Vrishm's race, as also that foremost hero of Kuru's race, galling the permission of Yudhishthica who was highly pleased with them, sat themselves donp.

Then the king, gifted with great 39seeing those two friends. intelligence, became desirous of addressing them. Soon that best of kings, that foremost of speakers, addressed them in the following words.

Yudhishthira said:-

- 40. Ye heroes, ye foremest ones of Yadu's and Kuru's race, it appears that ye two are desirous of saying something to me. Do ye say what is in your mind. I shall soon satisfy it. Do not hesitale.
- 41. Ihus addressed, Phalguna, conversant with speech, humbly approached king Yudhishthira the just and then said these words.
- 42. Highly powerful Vasudeva here, O king, is long absent from home He wishes, with your perintssion, to see his sire.
- Let him go, if you think it proper, to the city of the Anaritas! You should, O hero, grant him permission,

Yudhishthıra said :-

- 44. O lotus eyed one, blessed be you! O slayer of Madhu, do you go this very day to the city of Dwaravati for seeing, O powerful one, that foremost one of Sura's race.
 - 45 O mighty armed Keshava, your departure is approved by me! You have not seen my maternal uncle as also the goddess Devakt for a long time.
 - 46 Meeting my maternal uncle and going to Valadeva also, O giver of honors, you will, O you of great wisdom, adore both of them at my word as they deserve.
 - Do you also think of me daily as also of Bhuna, that foremost of powerful men, and of Phalguna and Nakula and Sahadeva, O giver of honours.
 - Having seen the Anarttas, and your father, O mighty-armed one, and the Vrishmir, you will return to my lorse-sacrifice, O sinless one
 - 49 Do you then go, taking with you vatious kinds of gems and various sorts of wealth Do you, O hero of the Satwata race, also take with you whatever else you like.
 - 50. It is through your grace, O Keshava that that the whole Earth, O hero, has come under our sway and all our enemies have been killed.
 - 5t. When king Vudhishthira the just of Kuru's race said so, Vasudeva, that foremost of men, said these words (in reply).

Vasudeva said :--

- 57. O mighty-armed one, all fewels and gems, all riches and the entire Earth, Leloig to you alone Whatever wealth axists in my house, sou, O ford. ere always the owner thereof.
- To him Yudhishihira, the son of Dharma, said,- Be it so'-and then duly adored (Ketshna) the eldest brother, gifted with great energy, of Gade. Vasudeva then proceeded to his paternal aunt (Kunti) Duly honouring her, he circumbulated her body.
- He was properly accosted by her .54 in return, and then by all the others having Vilura for their first. The four armed eldest brother of Gada then started from Nagapura on his excellent car.
- 55 Placing his sister, the lady Subhadra. on the car, the mighty-armed Janarddana, then, with the permission of both Yudhish. there and (Kunti) his paternal auni, started, accompanied by a large train of citizens.
- The hero who had the foremost of anes on his banner, as also Satyaki and the two sms of Madravali, and Vidura of incomparable intelligence, and Bhima I miself whose tread resembled that of a prince of elephants, all followed Madhava:
- 57 Janarddana of great energy, cauting all those extenders of the Kuru kingdom and Vidara also to return, addressed Daruka, and Satyaki, saying,- Uige the horses to speed '
- Then that grinder of enemies, vis] marddana of great prowess, accompanied by Salyaki, the foremost one of Shini's race, proceeded to the city of the Anarttas after having killed all his enemies, hee He of a hundred sacrifices proceeding to the celestial region.

CHAPTER LIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said : --

As he of Vrishin a family was going to Dwaraka, those feremost princes of Bharata's face, those chastisers of enemies, embraced him and fell back with their attendants.

2.5 Phalgura repeatedly embraced the Vrishing hero, and as long as he was within the cance of eye-sight he repeatedly turned his eyes towards him

- 3 Web great difficults, the son of Pritha withdrew his look that had fallen on Govinda. The undefeated Krishna also (did the same).
- The marks which were displayed on the occasion of that great one's departure, I shall now fully describe. Do vou fisten to
- The wind blew with great force before the car, clearing the path of sandgrains and dust and thorns.
- Vasava rained pure and fragrant showers and celestral flowers before the holder of Sharanga.
- 7. As the mighty-armed hero went on he came upon the desert ill-supplied with water. There he saw that foremost of ascetics, named Utanka, of immeasurable energy.
- The hero of large eyes and great energy adored that ascetic He was then adored by the ascence in return. Vasudeva then enquired after his wellbeing.
- That foremost of Brahmanas Utanka, pointely accosted by Madhava, honoured him duly and then addressed him to these words
- O Shaurin, having gone to the palaces of the Kurus and the Pandavas, have you succeeded in establishing a durable understanding between them such as slimid exist between brothers? You should tell me every thing.
- tt. Do you come, O Keshava, after having united them in peace, - them who are your relatives and who are ever dear to you. O foremost one of Vrishm's race.
- Will the five sons of Pandu, and the children of Dhritarashtra, O destroyer of enemies, sport in the world in joy with you?
- Try Will all the kings enjoy happiness in their respective kangdoms, on account of the pacification of the Sauravas brought - about by you? Has that trust, O solly which I had always reposed on you borne fruit about the Kauravas 7

The blessed and holy one said

Jone 10, 11 treed my best at first st, for bringng about a good understander is, about the Kanravas. When I could i not by any anna satablish them on peace, at happened and of them, with they've relative rankipamen. It is impossible to conce of a street of the said of th kinsmen, died. It is impossionable to tren-gress destiny by endier yo intelligence or

- 17 O great Rishi, O sinless one, this also cannot be unknown to you (the Kauravas) disregarded which Bhishma and Vidura gave them referring to me
- 18 Encountering one another they then became guests of Yama's palace Only the five Pandavas form the reinnant of the unshin, all their friends and all their children All the sons having been destroyed Di ittarashtra also, with their children and kinsmen, have been killed.
- 19 When Krishna had said ti ese words, Ulanka, filled with anger, and with eyes expanded in rage, addressed him in these words.

Utanka said .- .

- 20 Since, though able, O Krishna, you did not rescue those foremost ones of Kurus race who were your relatives and, therefore dear to you, i shall, forsooth, curse you
 - 21. Since you did not forcibly compel them to forbear, therefore, O destroyer of Madhu I shall, filled with anger denounce a curse on you
 - It seems, O Madhava, that, though fully able (to save them), you were indifferent to these foremost of Kurus who overwhelmed by insincerity and hypocrisy, have all met with destruction.

Vasudeva' said :-

- O scion of Bhrigu's race listen, to what I say in full Do you accept my apologies also O you of Bhisgu's race, You are an ascelic !
- 24 After having heard my words about the soul, you may then utter your curse. No man is able, by a little ascetic merit, te put me down.
- 25 O foremost of ascelics, I do not wish to see the destruction of all your penances! You have a large measure of blazing penances You have passed your preceptors and seniors
- 26 O foremost of twice-born ones 1 know that you have observed the rules of Brahmachary, a from your infancy. I do not, therefore, wish it e i ss or diminution of your penances acquired with so much

CHAPTER LIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Utanka said:-

Do you O Keshava tell me that faultless spiritual science Having leard your discourse I shall ordain what is for your good or imprecate a curse to you O Janziddana!

Vasudeva said '-

- Know that the three qualities of Ignorance, Darkness and Goodness exist, depending on me as their refinge So also, O twice born one, know that the Rudras and the Vasus have originated from me.
- In me are all creatures, and in all creatures do I exist, know this Let no doubt arise in your mind about this
- So also O twice born one, know that all the tribes of the Dutyas, all the Yakshas, Gandharvas, Rakshasas Nagas, Apsaras, have originated from me,
- Whatever has been called existent and non existent, whatever is manifest, and not matifest, whatever is destructible and indestructible, all have me for their soul
- 6 Those fourfold courses of duty which, O ascetic, are known to attach to the (four) modes of life, and all the Vedic duties, have me for their soul
- Whatever is non-existent, whatever is existent and non existent, and whatever is above that which is exister t and notexistent -all these which form the universe -are from me There is nothing Ligher (or beyond) me who am the eternal god of gods
- 8 O perpetuater of Bhrigu's race, know that all the Vedas beginning with (the original syllable) Oss are at one with me. Know, O son of Blirigh's race, that I am the sacrificial stake, I an the Soma (drunk in sacrifices), I am the Charit (cooked in sacrifices for being offered to the deities) , I am the Homa (that is performed); I am those deeds which sacrificers perform for pleasing the celestrals, I am even the power of the sacrificial libation, and I am the Havi or libation that is poured 1 am the Adhyaryu I am the Kalpaka, and I am the highly sanctified sacrificial Havi. It is me whom the Udgatri, in the great sacrifice, hymns by the sound of his songs. In all rites of expiation, O Brahmana, tie interers of auspicious Mantras and benedictions fraught with peace sing my praires who am the artificer, O foremost of twice-

бı

- 11. Ithow, O best of twice-born persons, that Dharma is my eldest born offspring, originated from my mind, O learned Brahtnana, whose elsence is mercy for all crea-
- tures.

 15. Constantly thanging myself, I take birth in various words, O best of men, for uphioding that son of mine, with the help of men now existing in or departed from the world. Indeed, I do this for protecting Virtue and for entablishing the
- 13 In those forms that I assume for the purpose, I am known, O son of Bhrigu's tace, in the three worlds as Vishnu and Braintan and Shakra. I am the origin and I am the destruction of all things.
- 14 I am the creator of all existent objects and I am their destroyer. Know, ing no change myself, I am the destroyer of all those creatures that live it sinful-
- 15 In every cycle I have to repair the causeway of Virtue, entering into various kinds of wombs from desire of dollig good to my creatures.
- to When, O son of Bhrigu's rate, I live in the order of the celestials, I then indeed, act in every tespect as a celestial.
- 17 When I live in the order of the Gandharvas, I then, O son of Bhrigu's race, act in every respect as a Gandharva
 - 18. When I live in the order of the Nagas 1 then act as a Naga, and when 1 live in the order of Yakshas or that of Rakshasas, I act after the manner of that order.
 - 19 Born now in the order of men'I must not a human being I appealed to them (the Kauravas) most piteously. But stupefied as they were and deprived of their senses, they refused to take my words.
 - 20. I frightened them, filled with angetreferring to some great lear. But once more I showed themselves my usual human form.
 - 21. Possessed as they were of unrighteousness, and assailed by the virtue of 1 ime, all of them have been righteously killed in battle, and have, torsooth, gone to the celesflaf region.
 - 22 The Pandaras also, O best of Brahmanas have acquired great fame. I have thus told you all that you had asked tire,

CHAPTER LV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Ŭtanka said :--

- 1. I know you, O janarddans, to be the creator of the universe Forsooth, this knowledge that I have is the result of your grace towards me.
- 2 O you of unfading glory, thy heart is possessed of cheerful tranquility on accounts of its birling devoted to you Rnow, O chastiser of enemies, that my heart is no longer inclined to curse you.
- 3 II, O Janarddana, I deserve the least grace from you, do you then show me ence your supreme form.

Vaishampayana said:--

- 4 Pleased with him, the holy one then showed Utanka that eternal Vaishnava form which Dhananjaya of great intelligence had seet.
- 5 Utanka saw the great Vasudeva of universal form, gitted with mighty-arms. The effulgence of that form was like that of a burning fire of a thousand suns. It stood before him filling all space. It had fatted on every side.
- 6 Seaung that high and wond-ridl Vaishnava form of Vishnu, in fact, seeing the Suprème Lord in (that guise) the Brahmang Utanka became filled with wonder.

Utanka said :--

- 7. O you whose hardowork is the universe, I how to you, O soul of the universe; O parent of all things! With your feet you have covered the entire Earth, and with your head you fill the firmament.
- , 8 That which lies between the Earth and the firmament has been filled by your summath. All the purious it the company are covered by your armis. O you of unfading glory, you are all thus.
 - g. Do you withdraw this excellent and indestructible form of yours I wish to see you now in your own (human) form which; too, is eiternal.

Vaishampayana said:-

to—It. To him, O Janamejaya Govinda of contented spirit said these words—Do you ask for some book! To him Utanka, however said, this is a sufficient book from you for the present, O you of greet splendour, in that, O Krisina, I have seen this form of yours, O foremest of all beings!

12. Itrishna, however, once more said to him.—Do not scruple in this matter I his must be done! A sight of my form cannot be fruitless!

Utanka said :-

- 13 I must accomplish that, O ford, which you think should be done! I wish to have water wherever my wish for it may arise. Water is scarce in such deserts!
- 14. Withdrawing that energy, the Supreme Lord then said to Utanka,— Whenever you will require water, think of me!' Having said so, he proceeded towards of Dwarska.
- 15. Subsequently, one day, the illustrious Utanka, solicitous of water and greatly thirsty, wandered over the desert. In course of his wanderings he thought of Krishna of unfading gloty.
- 16 The intelligent Rishl then saw in that desert a naked hunter (of the Chandala elass), all besmeared with dirt, surrounded by a patk of dogs.
- 17 Extremely fierce-looking, he carried a sword and was armed with bow and arrows. That foremost of twice-born ones aw copious streams of water issuing from the urnary organs of that hunter.
- 18 As soon as Utanka had thought of Krishna, that hunter smitingly addressed him, saying,—O Utanka, O you or Bhrigu's tate, to you accept this water from me.
- 19. Seeing you afflicted by thirst I have felt great mercy for you I I hus addressed by the hunter, the ascetic showed no inclination to accept that water.
- 20. The intelligent Utanka even began to blame Krishna of undecaying glory. The hunter, however, again and again addressed the Rishin, asying,—'Drink i'
 - 41-22 The astetue refused to drink the harmonic form of the structure of the standard that the structure of the structure of
 - 23-27. He even thought Ilia Krahta, that destroyer of enemes, had beguided him. Soon after, the holder of the conch and dacus and mace, gifted with great and dacus and mace, gifted with great the concept of the conce

- nås in the form of a hunter's utrite, O ford! Utanka who sand these words, Janarddana of the many of the words, Comforting him of the many soft words, Comforting him the hit was proper to assume to the words of the many of the words of the words of the was the words of the word
 - 28. My words to that powerful celestial were,—Do you give nectar in the form of water to Utanka,—The king of the celestials replied to me, saying,—It is not meet that a mortal should become mimorial!
 - 29. Let some other boon be granted to Utanka —O son of Bhrigus' aced, these words were repeatedly addressed to me. The husband of Shachi, however, was once more requested by me in these words, sir, even nectar should be given to Utanka!
 - 30-32. The king of the edestals then, comforting me, said,—If, O you of great intelluence can be supported by the common section of the common section s
 - 31—26 Having made this agreement with me, Vasava appeared before you, in that disques, for geng thee nexter. You, however, old be the part of yours, I am prepared to do what or yours, I shall arrange, shall not not of yours, I shall arrange, shall not not part of yours, I shall arrange, shall not not part of yours, I shall arrange, shall not not you will feel a water water, clouds well-charged the part of the p
 - 31. Thus addressed by Krishna, Utanka became glad, and to this day, O Bharata, Utanka clouds (appear and) shower rain on and deserts.

CHAPTER LVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Janamejaya said :--

1 With what penances was the great Utanka endued so that he entertained the wish to imprecate a curse on Vishnu himself, who is the source of all power?

Vaishampayana said .-

- 2. O Janamejaja, Utanka was gifted with austere penances. He was devoted to his preceptor. Gifted with great energy, he abstained from adoring anybody else.
- 3 All the children of the Rishis, O Bharata, entertained even this desire, vis, that their devotion to preceptors should be as great as that of Utobka.
- 4 Gautama's gratification with and affection for Utanka, among 1 is number-less disciples, were very great, O Janame-133 a.
- 5. Indeed, Gautama was greatly pleased with the self-control and purity of conduct that marked out Dianka, and with his acts of provess and the services he did to him.
- 6 One after another, thousands of disciples received the preceptor's permission to return home. On account, however, of his great affection for Utanka. Gautama could not permit him to leave his hermitage.
- 7 Gradually, in course of time, O son, decrepsude overtook Utanka, that great ascetic. The ascetic, however, on account of his devotion to his preceptor, was not conscious of it.
- 8 One day, he started, O Ring, for fetching fuel for his preceptor Soon after Utanka brought a heavy load of fuel
- 9. Toil-worn and hungry and afflicted by the load he carried on his head, O chastiser of enemies, he threw the load down on the Earth, O king
- 10 One of his matted locks, white as silver, had become e stan, led with the load Accordingly, when the load was thrown down, with it fell on the earth that matted lock of hair,
 - 11 Oppressed as he had been by that load and overcome by hunger, O B harata, Utanka, Seeing that sign of old age began to bewall aloud from excess of sorrow
 - 12-13 Knowing every duty, the daughter of his preceptor then, who had eyes resembling fotus petals, and hips that were full and round, at the command of the father, sought, with downcast face to hold Utanka's tears in her hands. Her hands seemed to burn with those tear-drops that's lie held. Unable, accordingly, to hold them longer, she was compelled to throw them down on the Earth.

14-15 The Earth herself was unable to hold those tear drops of Utanka. With a pleased heart, Gautama then said to the twice-born Utanka,—'Why, O son is your mind so afflicted with grief looday,' Iell me calmly and quietly, O learned Rishi, for I wish to hear it in fulf.

IItanka said .--

Oranks satu. —
16—17 With mind, entirely devoted to you, and wholly bent upon doing what is agreeable to you, with my heart's devotion turned to you, and with thought entirely living on you, (I have heve there till) deceptiode has overtaken me wified, however any tappines. Though I have have any tappines. Though I have lived with you for a century yet you have not granted me permission to depair.

18 Many disciples of yours, who were my juniors, have, however, been permitted by you to return. Indeed, fundeds and thousands of foremost Brahmanas have, gifted with knowledge, been favored with your permission.

Gautama said .-

19 Through my love and affection for you, and on account of your dutiful services to me, a long time has passed without my knowing it, O foremost of Brahmanas

20. If, however, O you of Blirigu' race, you desire to leave this place, do you so without defay, with my permission.

Utanka said :-

21 What shall I present to my preceptor? Iell me this, O best of twice-born persons Having brought it, I shall go hence, O lord, with your permission.

Gantama said :-

22 The good say that the satisfaction of the preceptor is the final fee Forsoth, O twice born one, I have been highly pleased with your conduct.

23—24 Know, O perpetuster of Bl ngu's race, that I have been highly pleased with your conduct. Know, O perpetuster of Blirgu's race, it at I have been very much pleased with you's or this. If you become a young man to day of sixten pears, I shall confer on you, O twee born one, this my own dau, hier for becoming your whe. No other woman except this one is capable of waiting upon your energy.

7-52-56. At these words of Gautams, Utanka once again became a youth and secspeed that famous maiden for his wife expect that famous maiden excepted that famous maiden to be the thing the companies of the property of the things of the thing

27 Whatever gem, exceedingly wonderful and of great value, exists in this world, I shall tring; for for you with the lelp of my penances. I have no doubt in

Ahalya said :--

28 I am highly pleased with you, O learned Brahmana, with your inneasing devotion? O sinless one. This is enough, blessed be you, go wherever you like.

Vaishampayana said :--

29 Utanka, honever, O king, once more said these words — Do you command me, O mother It is proper that I should do something that is agreeable to you.

Ahalya said ---

30 Blessed be you, bring for me those celestial ear rings, which are worn by the wife of Saudasa. that which is due to your preceptor will then be well discharged

31. Replying her,—'So be it,'-Utanka went away, O Janamejaya, determined upon bringing those ear-tings for doing what his preceptor's wife liked.

32 That foremost of Brahmanas, Utanka, proceeded forthwith to Sandasa who had become a cannihal, in order to solicit the ear-rings from him.

33. Gautama meantwhile said to his wife—'Utanka is not to be seen to day. Thus addressed, she informed him how he had gene for fetching the tewelled ear-rings (of Saudasa's queen).

34 At this, Gantama said - You have not acted usely. Cursed (by Vashishtha), that king will, indeed, kill Utanka.

Ahalya said :--

45. Without knowing this, O hely one-I have engaged Utanka in this task. He shall not, however, come by any danger through your grace.

36. Thus addressed by her, Gautama said, - I et it be so 'Meanwhile Utanka anet king Saudasa in a deserted forest.

CHAPTER LVIL

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said: —

 Seeing the king, who had become so, of frightful appearance, wearing a long beard ameared with the blood of luman beings, the Brahmana Utanka, O king, did not become moved.

2-3 that highly energetic monarch, mapping terror in every breast and tooking like a second Yama, rising up addressed Utanka, saying, "By good luck, O best of Brahmanas, you have come to me at the sixth hour of the day when I am in search of food.

Utanka said :-

4. O king, know that I have come here in source of my wanderings for the sake of my preceptor. The wise have said that while one is engaged for the sake of one's preceptor, one should not be injured.

The king said :-

5 O best of Brahmanas, food has been ordained for me at the sixth hour of the day. I am hungry. I cannot, therefore, allow you escape to-day,

Utanka said .-

6 Let it be so, O king 1 Let this agreement be made with me 1 After 1 have ceased to wander for my preceptor I shall once more come and put myself within your power.

7 I have heard, O heat of kings, that the object I seek for my preceptor is under your control, O king, therefore, O king, I beg you for it.

8 Van every day give many foremost of gents to superior Brahmanas. You are a tiver, O king, front whom gits may be accepted. Know that I too am a worthy object of charmy present before you, O best of kings.

9-10. Having accepted from you in gut that object for my preceptor, which is under your control, I shall, O king, on account of my specement, once more come back to you and put myself under your power. I savue you truly of the. There is not believe to the work of the control of the control

Saudasa said —

preceptor is capable of being placed in

CHAPIER LVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)—

Janamejaya said:--

66

1. 'With what penances was the great Utanka endued so that he entertained the wish to imprecate a curse on Vishuu himself, who is the source of all power?

Vaishampayana said :-

- 2. O Janainejaya, Utanka was gifted with austere penances He was devoted to his preceptor. Gifted with treat energy, he abstanted from adoring anybody else.
- 3. All the children of the Rishis, O Bharata, entertained even this denice, tis, that their devotion to preceptors should be as great as that of Utahka.
- 4. Gautama's gratification with and affection for Utanka, among I is numberless disciples, were very great, O Janame-133a.
- 5 Indeed, Gautama was greatly pleased with the self-control and purity of conduct that marked out Dtanka, and with his acts of provess and the services he did to him.
- One after another, thousands of distiples received the preceptor's permission to return home On account, however, of his great affection for Utanka, Gautama could not permit him to leave his hernottage.
- 7. Gradually, in course of time, O son, decreptude overtook Utanka, that great ascence. The ascente, however, on account of his devotion to his preceptor, was not conscious of it.
- 8. One day, he started, O King, for fetching fuel for his preceptor Soon after Utanka brought a heavy load of fuel
- 9 160 worn and hungry and afflicted by the load he carried on his head, O chastiser of enemies, he threw the load down on the Earth, O king.
- 10 One of his matted locks, white as silver, had become e itangled with the load Accordingly, when the load was thrown down, with it fell on the earth that matted lock of hair.
- 11. Oppressed as he had been by that load and overcome by hunger, O B urata, Utanka, Seeing that sign of old age, because to bewail aboud from excess of sorrow
- 12-13 Knowing every duty, the daughter of his preceptor then, who had eyes resembling lotus petals, and hips that were full and round, at the command of her father, sought, with downcast face to hold Utanka's tears in her hands. Her hands seemed to burn with those tear-drops that'she held. Unable, accordingly, to hold them longer, she was compelled to throw them down on the Parth.

14-15 The Earth herself was unable a pleased heart, Gautama then said to the twice-born Utanka,—'Why, O son, is your mind so afflicted with grief to day?' Iell me calmly and quietly, O learned Rishi, for I wish to hear it in fulf.

Utanka said —

15—17 With mind entirely devoted to jou, and wholly bent upon doing what is agreeable to jou, with my heart's devotion turned to you, and with thoughts entirely hing on jou, (I have lived here till) decreptude has overtaken in evithout my many happines. Hough I have heed with yor for a century yet jou have not granted me permission by departs.

18 Many desciples of yours, who were my juniors, have, however, been permitted by you to return Indeed, lundreds and thousands of foremost Brahmanas have, gifted with knowledge, been favored with your permission.

Gantama said .-

19 Through my love and affection for you, and on account of your dutiful services to me, a long time has passed without my knowing it, O foremost of Brahmanas

20. If, however, O you of Bhrigu' race, you desire to leave this place, do you go without delay, with my permission.

Utanka said :-

21 What shall I present to my preceptor? Iell me this, O best of twice-bornpersons Having brought it, I shall go hence, O lord, with your permission.

Gautama said:-

22 The good say that the satisfaction of the preceptor is the final fee. Forsooth, O twice born one, I have been highly pleased with your conduct.

22—24. Know, O perpetuate of Bingu's rece, that I have been highly pleased with your conduct. Know, O perpetuater of Birtgu strace, it at I have been very much pleased with you for this. If you become a young man to day of sixteen pears, I shall confer on you, O twice-born one, this my own daw, here for becoming your wife. No other woman except this one is capable of waiting upon, your energy.

25-26 At these words of Gautama, | Utanka once again became a youth and accepted that famous maiden for his wife Receiving the permission of his preceptor, he then addressed his preceptor's wife, saying -What shall I give you as final fee for my preceptor? Do you command me. I wish to do, with riches, or even my life, what is agreeable and beneficial to you Whatever gem, exceedingly wonderiul and of great value, exists in this world, I shall bring for for you with the lelp of my penances I have no doubt in

Ahalya said :-

28 I am highly pleased with you, O learned Brahmana, with your inceasing devotion, O sinless one This is enough. Blessed be you, go wherever you like.

Vaishampayana said —

29 Utarka, however, O king, once more said these words -Do you command me, O mother It is proper that I should do something that is agreeable to you.

Ahalya said--

- 30 Blessed be you bring for me those celestial ear rings which are worn by the wife of Saudasa That which is due to your preceptor will then be well dis charged
- 31 Replying her -'So be it'-Utanka went away O Janamejaja, determined upon bringing those ear rings for doing what his preceptor's wife liked
- Brahmanas, That foremost of Utanka proceeded forthwith to Sandasa wie had become a cannihal, in order to solicit the ear rings from him.
- Gautama meanwhile said to his wife-Utanka is not to be seen to day this addressed, she informed him how he had gone for fetching the jewelled ear rings (of Saudasa's q teen).
- At this, Gautama said You have not acted wisely Cursed (by Vashishtha), that king will, indeed, kill Utanka.

Ahalya said -

- Without knowing this O loly one I lave engaged Utanka in this task He shall not, lowever, come by any danger through your grace 36 Thus addressed by her Gautama
- Meanwhile, Utanka said - let it be so met ku g Saudasa in a deserted forest

CHAPTER LVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said: --

- Seeing the king, who had become so, of frightful appearance, wearing a long beard ameared with the blood of human beings, the Brahmana Utanka, O king,
- did not become moved. that highly energetic monarch, inspiring terror in every breast and looking ke a second Yama, rising up addressed Utanka, saying, - By good luck O best of Brahmanas, you have come to me at the sixth hour of the day when I am in search of food.

Utanka said:-4 O king, know that I have come here in course of my wanderings for the sake of my preceptor. The wise have said that while one is engaged for the sake of one's preceptor, one should not be injured.

The king said -

O best of Brahmanas, food has been ordained for me at the sixth hour of the day I am hungry I cannot, therefore, allow you escape to-day.

Utanka said — 6 Let it be so, O king ! I et this agreement be made with me 1 After I have ceased to wander for my preceptor I shall once more come and put myself within your 7 I have heard, O best of kings, that power. the object I seek for my preceptor is under your control, O king, therefore, O king, I beg you for it.

You every day give many foremost of gents to superior Brahmanas a Liver: O king, from who n gifts may be accepted Know that I too am a worthy object of charity present before you, best of kings. -10 Having accepted from you in gift that object for my preceptor, which is under your control, I shall, O king, on account of my agreement, once more come back to you and put myself under your power I ass ire you truly of this There is no falsehond in this Never before have spoken any falschood, no, not even in jest! What shall I say then of other occasions?

Saudasa sud -

It If the object you seek for your preceptor is capable of being placed in your hands by me, If I be considered as one from whom a gift may be accepted, do you then say what that object is !

Utanka said :-

12. O foremost of men, O Saudasa, in my estimation you are a worthy person from whom gifts may be accepted. I have, therefore, come to you for , begging of you the rewelled ear-rings (worn by your queen).

Saudasa said :--

13 Those rewelled car-rings. O learned and twice born Rishi, belong to my wife, They should be asked from her. Do you therefore, solicit some other things from me I shall give it to you, O you of excellent yows!

Utanka said :-

14 If we be considered as any authority, do you cease then to urge this pretext. Do you give those jewelled ear-rings to me. Be truthful in speech, O king.

Vaishampayana said:-

Hus addressed, the king once 15--16 more addressed Utanka and said to him .-Do you, at my word, go to my venerable queen O best of men, and ask her sayred by you will certainly, at my command, give you, O foremost of twice-born persons, those tewelled ear-rings of hers without doubt.

Utanka said :-

17. Where, O king, shall I be able to meet your queen? Why do you not yourself go to her?

Baudasa said -"18 You will find her to-day near a forest fountain. I cannot see lier to-day as the sixth hour of the day has come.

Vaishampayana said :--

Thus addressed, Utanka, O chief of Bharata's race, then left that place Seeing Madayanu, he informed her of his object.

22. Hearing the order of Saudasa, that lady of large eyes replied to the highly intelligent Utanka, O Janameraya, in these words.

It is even so, O twice-born one. You should, however, O sinless one, assure me that you do not say what is unique! You should bring me some signet from my husband.

22. These celestral ear-rings of mine, made of rich gens, are such that the celestials and Yakshas and great Rishis always watch for opportunities for taking them away.

If placed at any time on the Earth, this costly article would then be stolen by the Nagas If worn by one who is impure on account of eating, it would then be taken away by the Yakshas If the wearer falls asleep, the celestrals would then take them away.

O best of Brahmanas, these earrings are capable of being taken away, when such opportunities come, by celestrals and Rakshasas and Nagas, if worn by a careless person.

25. O best of twice-born ones, these car-rings, day and night, always produce gold. At night, they shine brightly, attracting the rays of stars and constellations.

26 O holy one, if worn by any one, he would be freed from hunger and thirst and fear of every sort. The wearer of these ear-rings is freed also from the fear of poison and fire and every kind of danger.

If worn by one of short stature, these become short. If worn by one of tall stature, these grow in size

Even of such virtues are these earrings of mine I hey are lauded and honoured everywhere Indeed, they are known over the three worlds. Do you, therefore, bring me some sign.

CHAPTER LVIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said .—

Returning to king Saudasa who was always well disposed towards all his friends, Utanka solicited him for some sign. That foremost one of Ikshaku's race then gave him a sign.

Saudasa said .--

2. This my present condition is intoler-I do not see any refuge. Knowing this to be my wish, do you give away the jewelled ear-rings.

Thus addressed by the king, Utanka returned to the queen and reported to her the words of her husband Hearing those words, the queen gave to Utanka her jewelled ear-rings,

4 Having got the ear-rings, Utanka returned to the king and said to him,- I wish to hear, O king, what the meaning is of those mysterious words which you said as a sign to your queen.

Saudasa said:-

- 5 Kshatriyas are seen to honour the Brahmanas from the very beginning of the creation. Iowards the Brahmanas, however, many offences originate (on the part cl the Kshatriyas).
- 6 As for myself. I am always bent in humility before them. I am overtaken by a calamity through a Brahmana. Possessed of Madayanti, I do not see any other reluge.
- 7. Indeed, O foremost of all persons, having a high goal, I do not see any other reluge for myself in the matter of approach. ing the celestial gates or in continuing here, O best of twice born ones.
- It is impossible for a king that is hostile to Brahmanas to continue living in this world or in acquiring happiness in the
- 9 Hence have I given you these my my jewelled ear-rings which were coveted by you Do you now keep the agreement which you have made with me to-day.

Utanka said:—

to. O king, I shall certainly carry out my promise I shall truly return and place myself under your power. There is, howwhich I wish to ask you.

Saulasa said :-

11. Say, O learned Brahmana, what is in your mind. I shall certainly reply to your words I shall remove whatever doubt may be in your mind. I have no liesitation m this.

Utanka said :-

- 12. Those who are skilled in the rules of duty, say that Brahmanas are of controlled speech. One who acts wrongly towards friends is considered as vile as a thief,
- 13 You, again, O king, have become my friend to-day. Do you then, O foremost of men, give me such advice as is approved by the wise.
- 14. As for myself, I have now obtained the fruition of my wishes. You, again, are a cannibal. Is it proper for me to return to you or not.

Eandasl said -

15 Il it is proper (for me), O foremest

- of superior Brahmanas, to say what you ask, I should then, O best of twice-born ones, tell you that you should never return to me.
- O perpetuater of Bhrigu's race, by acting thus, you will secure your well-being. If you return, O learned Brahmana, you will surely meet with death.

Vaishampayana said:—

- Thus addressed by the intelligent king about what was beneficial for linn, Utanka took leave of the king and set out for the presence of Ahalya.
- 18. Desirous of doing what was agreeable to the wife of his preceptro, he took the ear-rings with him and started with great speed for reaching the hermitage of Gautama.
- Protecting them even in the manner directed by Madayanti,-that is, binding them within the folds of his blac's deerskin,-he proceeded on his way.
- 20. After he had proceeded for some distance, he became stricken with hunger. He there saw a Vilwa tree covered down with the weight of (ripe) fruits. He chmbed that tree.
- 21. Causing his deer-skin, O chastiser of enemies, to hang on a branch, that foremost of twice-born ones, then began to pluck some fruits.
- 22-23. While he was engaged in plucking those fruits with eyes set towards thein, some of them dropped, O king, on that deer-skin, in which those ear-rings had been carefully tied by that foremost of Brahmanas. With the strokes of the fruits, the knot became loosened.
 - 24 Suddenly that deer-skin, with the ear-rings in it, dropped down. When the knot being unfastened, the deer-skin fell down on the ground, a snake who was there saw those jewelled ear-rings.
 - 25-27. That snake belonged to the race of Airavata. Promptly he took up the ear-rings in his mouth and then entered an ant-hill. Seeing the ear-rings taken by that snake, Utanka, filled with anger and in great anxiety of mind, came down from the tree. Jaking his staff he began to pierce that ant-hill.
 - That best of Brahmanas, burning with anger and the desire for revenge, continually busied himself for thirty-five days in that work. The goddess Earth, unable to bear
 - the force of Utanka's walking stell and with body torn it crewith, became greatly anzious.

too. He then took his seat with all the Vishnis sitting around him.

21. Having washed his feet and removed his fatigue, Krishna of mighty energy, as he sat there, then described the their events of the great battle in answer to the questions put to him by his father.

CHAPTER LX.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Vasudeva said :--

- t. O you of Vrishini's race, I have repeatedly heard men speaking of the wonderful battle.
- 2 You, however, O mighty-armed one, have seen it with your own eyes. Do you, therefore, O sinless one, describe the battle in full.
- 3—4 Indeed, tell me how that battle took place between the great Pandavas and Bushuma and Karna and Kripa and Drona and Shalya and others, between, in fact, numerous other Kshatryas well-skilled in arms, differing from one another in conduct and dress and coming from various kingdotts.

Vaishampayana said :→

5. Thus addressed by his father, he having eyes like lotus-petals, described, in the presence of his mother also, how the Kauraya heroes had been killed in battle.

Vasudeva said :-

- 6. The feats were highly wonderful which were achieved by those great Kshatriyas. On account of their large number, they are incapable of being described in even hundreds of years.
- 2. I shall, however, mention only tise formost of them. Do you listen, therefore, to me as I mention in brief those feats won by the kings of Earth, O you of godhke splendour.
- 8 Bhishma of Kuru's race became the Commander-in clief, having eleven divisions of the Kaurava princes under his command, like Vasava of the celestial forces.
- 9 Highly intelligent Shikhrandin, protected by the blessed Asjuna, became the leader of the seven divisions of the sons of Pandir
- to. The battle between the Kurus and the Pandayas ment on for ten days. It - was so dreadful as to make one's hair stand efect.

- ii. Then Shikhandin, in great battle, helped by the holder of Gandiva, killed, with innumerable arrows, the son of Gangd, fighting bravely.
- 12. Lying on a bed of arrows, Ehishma waited like an ascetic till the sun leaving his southward path entered on his northerly course when that here died.
- 13 Then Drone, that foremost of all persons conversant with arms, that greatest of men under Duryodhana, like Kavya himself of the Jord of the Daityas, became the Commander-in oblef.
- 14. That foremost of twice-born persons, ever boasting of his prowess in battle, was supported by the residue of the Kauravaramy consisting then of nine Akshaubinis, and protected by Kripa and Vrisla and others.
- 15 Dhrishtadyumna familiar with many powerful weapons, and gifted with great intelligence, became the leader of the Pandavas. He was protected by Bhima like Varuna protected by Mitra.
- 10 That great hero, always desirous of comparing his strength with Drona, supported by the Pandava-army, and recollecting the wrongs inflicted (by Drona) on his father (Drupada, the king of the Panchalas) performed great feats in battle.
- 17. In that battle between Drona and the son of Prishata, the kings assembled from various realists were nearly rooted out.
 - 18. That surious battle sasted for five days. At the conclusion of that period, Drona, exhausted, succumbed to Dhrishtadyumna.
- 19 Alter that, Karna became the Commander-in-chief of Duryodhiana's forces, He was supported in battle by the residue of the Kauraya-army which numbered five Akshauhims
- 20. Of the sons of Pandu, there were then three Akshauliuns. After the destruction of innumerable heroes, protected by Arjuna, they came to battle.
- 21. The Suta's son Karna, though a dreadful warrior, encountering Partha, came to his end on the second day, like an insect encountering a burning fire.
- insect encountering a burning fire.

 27 After the fall of Karna, the Kauravas became dispirited and lost all ellergy.

 Numbering three Akilaubinis, they gathered round the king of the Madras

- 13 Having lost many car-warriors and elephants and horsemen, the residue of the Pandava army, numbering one Akshauhini and overtaken with depression, supported by Yudhishthira.
- 24. The Kuru king Yudhishthira, in the battle that took place, accomplished the most difficult feats and killed, before half the day was over, the king of the Madras.
- 25 After the fall of Shalya, the great Sal adeva, of immeasurable prowess, killed Shaku ii the man who had brought about
- the quarrel. 26 After the fall of Stakum, the royal son of Dhritarashtra, whose army had suffered an extensive carnage and who on that account had become greatly dispirited, fled from the field, armed with his mace.
- Then Blumasena of great prowess, filled with anger, pursued him and disco vered him within the waters of the Dwaipayana lake.
- With the residue of their army, the Pandavas surrounded the lake and, filled with joy, met Dury odhana concealed within the waters
- 29 Their wordy arrows, penetrating through the waters pierced Duryodhana Rising up from the lake, the latter approached the Pandavas, armed with this mace, desirous of battle
- 30. Then, in the great battle that took place, the royal son of Dhritarashtra was killed by Bhimasena, displayed his great prowess, in the presence of many kings
- 31. After this the residue of the Pandava army as it slept in the camp, was killed at night time by Drona's son who was unable to put up with the destruction of his father (at the hands of Dhrishtadyumna)
- 32. Their sons killed their forces killed, their friends killed, only the five sons of Pandu, are alive with myself and Yujudhana.
- 33 With Kripa and the Bhoja prince Kniavarman, the son of Drona represents the unkilled residue of the Kaurava-army Dientaraslitra's son Yuyutsu also has escaped slaughter on account of his having adopted the side of the Pandavas.
- Upon the destruction of the Kauravaking Suyodhana with all his followers and all es, Vidura and Sanjaya have come to the presence of king Yudhishthira the just.
- Thus did that battle take place, O lord, for eighteen days Many kings of Earth, killed therem, have ascended the

Vaishampayana continued:-

36. The Vrishinis, as they heard, O king, that dreadful account became filled with grief and sorrow and pain.

CHAPTER LXL

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said ·--

After the great Vasudeva of great prowess had finished his narration of the great battle of the Bharatas before his father, it was plain that that here had passed over the destruction of Abhimanyu motive of the great one was that his father might not hear what was highly unpleasant to lum.

- 3 Indeed, the intelligent Krishna did not wish that his father Vasudeva should, on hearing the dreadful intelligence of the death of his daughter's son, be afflicted with sorrow and greef.
- (His sister) Subhadra, noticing that the slaughter of her son had not been mentioned, addressed her brother, saying, -Do you narrate the death of my son, O Krishna 1-and dropped down on the earth (in a swoon).
- Vasudeva saw his daughter fallen on the ground As soon as he saw this, he also fell down, deprived of his senses by guef.
- 6-7 (Regaining his senses) Vasudeva, afflicted with grief at the death of his daughter's son, O king, addressed Krishna, saying,-O lotus eyed one, you are famed on Earth for being truthful in speech. Why, however, O destroyer of enemies, do you not tell me to day of the death of my daughter's son ?
- O powerful one, tell me in full of the destruction of your sister's son! Having eyes resembling thine, alas, how was he killed in battle by enemies
- Since my heart does not from grief break into a hundred pieces, it seems, O you of the Vrishini race, that it does not die with men when its hour does not come.
- Oh, at the time of 1 is fall, what words did he give utterance to, addressing O lotus eyed one, what did his riother? that darling of mine, having resiless eyes, say to me ?
- II I hope he has not been killed by enemies while retreating from battle with the just, summoned all his brothers, wir, Arjuna and Blumasena and the twin son of Madri, in proper time and then said to them. Ye heroes, you have heard the words which the highly intelligent and great Krishna has said from his fixendship for and the desire of doing good to the Kruss! Indeed, you have heard those words that have been uttered by that ascetic of profuse penances, that great sage desirous of conferring prosperity on his fixends, that preceptor of righteous conduct, six, Vyssa of wonderful feats! You have heard what Bhishma also said, and what Govinda too of great intelligence has uttered.

- 7. Remembering those words, ye sons of Pandu, I wish to obey them duly! By obeying those words of theirs great blessedness will belong to all of you.
- 8. Those words spoken by those utters of Brahma are certain (if obeyed) to produce considerable benefit. Ye perpetuaters of Kinru's race, the Earth has become divested of her riches.
- 9-17. Ye kings, Vyasa, therefore, informed us of the wealth of Marutta, If you think that wealth abundant or sufficient, how shall we bring it? What, O Bhima, do you think about this? When the king, O perpetuater of Kuru's race, said these words, Bhimasena, joining his hands, said these words in reply, the words you have said, O you of mighty arms, on the subject of bringing the riches indicated by Vyasa, are approved by me? If, O powerful one, we succeed in getting the tiches kept there by the son of Avikshita, then this sacrifice, Oking, purposed by us will be easily accomplished I has is what I think. We shall, therefore, bowing our heads to the great Girisha, and offering due adotation to that deits, bring that wealth Blessed be you Pleasing that god of gods as also his companions and followers in words, thought, and deed, we shall, forsooth, obtain that wealth Those Kinnaras of dreadful appearance who are protecting that treasure will certainly yield to us if the great desty- having the bull for his sign becomes pleased with us! Hearing these words uttered by Bhima, O Bharata, king Yudhishthira the son of Dharma, became highly pleased The others, headed by Aijuna, at the same time, said,-So be it.
 - 18. The Pandavas then, having resolved to bring that wealth, ordered their forces to march under the constellation Diruba and on the day called by the same name.
 - 19 Making the Brahmanas utter bene dictions on them, and having duly adored

- the great god Maheshwara, the sons of Pandu started (on their enterprise) 20. Pleasing that great deity with
- 20. Pleasing that great deity with Modakas and frumenty and with cakes made of meat, the sons of Pandu started with cheerful hearts.
- 21. While they thus started, the citizens, and many foremost of Brahmanas, with cheerful hearts, uttered auspicious blessings (on their heads).

22 The Pandavas, going round many Brahmanas who daily adored their fires, and bending their heads unto them, proceeded on their journey.

22—24 Taking the permission of king Dhritarashtra who was stricken with grief on account of the death of his sons, his queen (Gandhari), and Pritha also of large yes, and keeping the Kaurava-penice Yuyutso the son of Dhritarash ra, in the capital, they started, adored by the cauceus and by many Brahmanans endued with great wisdom.

CHAPIER LXIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said -

- 1. Hey then started with cheeful hearts, and accompained by men and animals all of whom- and which were equally cheeful 11 ey filled the whole Larth with the loud clatter of their wheels.
 - 2 Their praises sung by eulogists and Sutas and Magadh is and bards, and supported by their own army they appeared like so many Suns adorned with their own rays.
 - 3 With the white umbrella held over his head king Yudhishthira slove with beauty like the lord of the stars on the might when he is at full.
 - 4 That firemost of men the eldest son of Pandu, accepted, with due forms "the blessings and cheers of his gladdened subjects as he went on his way.
 - 5 About the soldiers who followed the king, their confused murmurs seemed to fill the entire sky.
 - 6 That army crossed many lakes and rivers and forests and pleasure gardens. They at last came upon the mountains
 - 7 Arrived at that region where that wealth was buried. O king, Yudhishil ira fixed his camp with all his bruthers and troops.

The region selected for the purpase O chief of Bharata's race, was perfeetly level and auspicious. There the king pitched his camp, placing in his van such Brahmanas as were gifted with penances and learning and self-control, as also his priest Agniveshya, O you of Kuru's race, who was well-conversant with the Vedas then the royal and all their branches. sons of Pandu, and the other kings, and the Brahmanas and priests well-skilled in sacrificial rites having duly performed same · propitiatory ceremonies, spread themselves all over that spot. Having duly placed the king and his ministers in the middle, the Brahmanas caused the camp to be pitched by laying out six roads and nine divisions. King Yudhishthira caused a separate encampment to be duly made for the inluriate elephants who accompanied his army. When everything was complete, he addressed the Brahmanas, saying,-Ye foremost of Brahmanas, do that which you think should be done in view of the matter Indeed, let an auspicious day and constellation be fixed for it. Let not a long time pass away over our heads as we Ye foremost of want in suspense here learned Brahmanas, having formed this resolution, do what should be done after this Hearing these words of the king, the Brahmanas with those amongst them who were well skilled in the performance of religious tites, became filled with gladness and desirous of doing what was agreeable to king Yudhish that a the just, said these words in reply,-This very day is an aus-We shall, therefore, try to celebrate those high ties we propose. We shall to-day. O king, live upon water alone. Do you all fast also to-day.

16. Hearing those words of those foremost Brahmana*, the royal sons of Pandu passed that night, abstaning from all food, and lying confidently on beds of Kushagrass, like burning fires in a sacrifice.

ty. And the night wore away as they listened to the discourses of the learned Brailmans. When the cloudless morning came, those foremost of Brahmanas addressed the royal son of Dharma, (saying as follows).

CHAPTER LXV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

The Brahmanas said:

1. Let offerings be made to the great Mahadeva of three eyes. Having duly dedicated those efferings, O king, we shall then try to gain our object.

- Hearing these words of those Brahmanas, Yudhisi thira caused off-rings to be duly made to that deity who loved to he down on mountain-breasts.
- Pleasing the (sacrificial) fire with (libations of) sanctified butter according to the ordinance, the priest (Dhaimya) cooked Chart with the aid of Mantras and performed the necessary rites.
- 4. He took up many flowers and sanctified them with Mantras, O king. With Modakas and frumenty and meat, he made offerings to the deity.
- 5. With various kinds of flowers and with fried paddy, of very superior kind, Dhaumya, well versed in the Vedas, performed the remaining rites
- 6 He next presented offerings according to the ordinance to those ghostly brings who formed Mahadeva's train. And offerings were next made to Kuwera the king of the Yakshas, and to Mambhadea also.
- 7-8 To the other Yakshas also and to them who were the foremost ones among the glo oxily companions of Mahdeva, the priest offered due adoration, having filled many jugs with food, with firishards and meat and Nivapis mixed with sesame seeds in the ing gave away unto the trahmanas thousands of kine

9-16 He then directed the presentation, according to due istes, of ifferings to those night ranging beings (who live with Mal adeva) Surcharged, as it were, with the scent of Dhupas and filled with the fragrance of flowers, that region, sacred to the delly of dellies, O king became highly delightful. Having performed the adoration of Rudra and of all the Ganas, the king, placing Vyasa alread, went towards the place where the treasure was buried. Once more adoring the Lord of riches, and bowing to him with respect and saluting 1 im properly, with various kinds of flowers and cakes and Keishara, having adored those foremost of gems, vis. Stanklia and Nidls and those Yakshas who are the lords of gems, and having adored many foremost of Bral manas and caused them to utter blessings, the king gifted with great power, strengthened by the energy and the auspicious benedictions of those Brahmanas, caused that spot to be excavated. Then numerous vessels of various and delightful forms, Bi ringaras, Katahas, Kalasas, Bardhamanakas, and sonumerable Bhajanas of beautiful forms, were dug out by king Yud'inhthirs the just,

- his back towards them? I loope, O Govinda, that his face did not become cheerless while fighting?

 12 He was possessed, O Krishna, of
- great energy. From a spirit of childishness, that powerful hero, boasting (of 1 is prowess) on my presence, used to speak of his skill (in battle).

 13 I hope that boy does not he on the
- 13 I hope that boy does not le on the field, killed deceifully by Drona and Karna and Kripa and others? Do you tell me this,
- 14. That son of my daughter always used to challenge Bhishma and that firemost of all powerful warriors, vis., Kaina, in battle.
- 15-16. His father who, from excess of grief, bewailed thus, Govinds, more afflic ted than he, answered in these words,—His face did not become cheerless as he fought in the van of battle. Dreadful though that battle was, he did not turn his back upon
- 17. Having killed hundreds and thousands of kings of Earth, he was distressed by Drona and Karna and at last was killed by the son of Dushasana.
- 18 If, O lord, he had been encountered, one to one, without intermission, he was incapable of being killed in battle by even the holder of the thunder bolt.
- 19 When his father Arjuna was withdrawn from the man body by the Samsap takas Althimanyu was surrounded by the enraged Kaurava heroes headed by Drona in battle.
- 20 Then, O father, after he had killed a very large number of enemies in battle, your daughter's son at last succumbed to the son of Dushasana.
- 21 Forsooth, he has gone to the celestral region. Kill this grief of thine, O you of great intelligence. They who are of purified understandings never languish when they meet with any cafamity.
- 22 He by whom Drona and Karna and others were checked in battle—herogs who were equal to Indra himself in power—why would not be ascend to the celestral region.
- 23 O irrevisible one, do you kill this gree of til me? Do not all my yourself to be swayed by anger. That conqueror of postile cities has attained to that sanctified and which depends upon death at the edge of weapons.
- 24 After the fall of that hero this my uster Subhadra stricken with grief, be said aloud, when she saw Kunti, like a smale as prev.

- 25. When she met Draupadt, she asked her in grief,—O reverend lady, where are all our sons 7. I wish to see them.
- 26 Hearing her lamentations, all the isauraya-lathes embraced her and wept sitting around her.
- 27. Seeing (lier daughter-in-law) Uttara, she said,—O blessed girl, where has your without losing a moment apprise me of it.
- 28 Alis, O drughter of Virata, as soon he heard my voice, he used to come out of his chamber without the loss of a moment. Why does not your husband come out to-day.
- 29 Alas, O Abhimanyu, your maternal uncles—powerful car-warriors—are all hale. They used to bless you when they saw you come here prepared to go out for battle.
- 30 Do you tell me the incidents of battle to-day as before, O chastiser of enemies. Oh, why do you not answer me to-day—me who am weeping so butterly?
- 31—32. Hearing these famentations of this daughter of the Vishnerace, Pittle deeply stricken with greef, address the and slowly said,—O Subhadra, though protected by Vasudeva and Said and said the strick of the strick of the said and said yet breen stilled to the said said the said yet them tolled to the said said the said th
- 33 O daughter of Yadu's race, morial your son was Do not grieve. Irressyable in battle, your son has, forsouth, attained to the highest end,
- 34 You are born in a high family of great Kshatriyas Do not grieve, Oyou of restless glances, O girl of eyes like lotuspetals?
- 35 Do you cast your eyes on Uttara, who is quick with child. O blessed lady, do not give way to grief. This auspictous girl will soon bring forth a son to that hero!
 - 30-39 Having comforted her, thus, Kin II, knowing every duty, O perpetud O of Yadis', and, existing different of Yadis' and, existing different of the American for Abhimany of subsequal rites, with the permission of king Yadinshifter and Bhiman and the twins (ere, Ni-kiula and Sahadeva) who in prowess resembled Varian himself. She also made many presents to the Brahmans, and the those of post formal many kind and and sahadeva' visit in the subsequent of the American Comments of the American

- I you of round hips, protect the child in vour womb. 40. Having said those words, O you of
- great splendour, Kunti Ceased. With her permission I have brought Subhadra here. 41 It was thus, O giver of honours,
- that your daugitter's son was killed Cast ell your burning grief, O irresistible one! Indeed, do not set your heart on sorrow.

CHAPTER LXIL (ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-

- 1. Having heard these words of his son, Vasudeva, that descendant of Shura, of tighteous soul, renouncing grief, made excellent obsequal offerings (to Abhimany u).
- 2 Vasudeva also performed those rites for the ascension (to Heaven) of his great nephew that here who was ever the darling of his father (Vasudeva).
- 3 He duly fed six millions of Brahmanas, gifted with great energy, with edibles possessed of every recommendation.
- 4-5 Presenting many clothes to them, Krishna satisfied the thirst for wealth of those Brahmanas Wonderful were the heaps of gold, the number of kine and of beds and cloths, that were then given away. The Brahmanas loudly declared,-Let (Krishna's wealth) increase
- Then Vasudeva of Dasharha's race, and Valadeva, and Satyaki, and Satyaka, each performed the obsequial rites of Abhimanyu.
- Greatly stricken with grief, they could find no comfort. The same was the case with the sons of Pandu in the city of Hastinapore.
- 8-9 Deprived of Abhimanyu, they could get no peace of mind. The daughter of Virata, U king, for many days, totally abstamed from all food, greatly afficted by grief on account of the death of her husband At this all her relatives, became plunged into excess of grief. They were all alraid that the embryo in her womb might be destroyed.
- to-tz. then Vyasa, ascertaining the state of things by his spiritual vision, arrived there The highly intelligent Rish, golded with great energy, arrived (at the palace), addressed Pritha of large eyes, as also Uttara herself, saying,-Let this

- grief be given up! O famous lady, a son gifted with great energy will be born to you, through the power of Varadeva and at my That son will rule the Earth after the Pandavas.
- 13-14 Seeing Dhananjaya, he said to tim, in the hearing of king Yudhishthira, the just and pleasing him with his words, O Bharata,-Your grandson, O highly blessed one, will become a great prince! He will righteously govern the whole Earth to the verge of the sea. therefore O foremost one of Kuru's
 - race, renounce this grief, O mower of enemies! Do not doubt this! This will truly take place.
 - that which was uttered by the Vrishni-hero on a former occasion, will, surely, happen! Do not think otherwise.
 - As regards Abhimanyu, he has gone to the regions of the celestials, conquered by him with his own deeds. That hero should be grieved for by you or, indeed, by the other Kurus.
 - Thus addressed by his grandfather, Dhanangaya of righteous soul, O king, renounced his grief and even became cheerful.
 - Your father, O prince, who are conversant with all duties, began to grow in that womb O you of great intelligence, like the Moon, in the lighted fortnight.
 - 20 Then Vyasa urged the royal son of Dharma for celebrating the Horse-Sacrifice. Having said so, he made himself invisible there and then.
 - The intelligent king Vadhishthira, the just, hearing the words of Vyasa, set wealth.

CHAPIER LXIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-Continued.

Janamejaya said :--

- 1. Having heard these words, O twiceborn one, that were spoken by the great Vyasa about the Horse-Sacrifice, what steps were taken by Yudhishthira.
- Iell me, O foremost of twice-born ones, how the king succeeded in obtaining the riches which Marutta had buried in the Earth!

Vaishampayana said:--

3-6 Having heard the words of the Island-born ascence king Yudhis'thera The wealth thus dug out was placed in large 'as Karaput' (wooden cleets united with each other by chains or cords, and carried by bullocks or camels) for protection.

17. A portion of the wealth was caused to be carried upon the shoulders of men a stout balances of wood with baskets slung like scales at both ends. Indeed, O king, there were ofter methods of constraints of the son of Pandu.

13. There were sixty thousands of camels, and a hundred and twenty thousand borses, and of elephants, O king, there were one lundred thousand
10. Of cars there were as many, and of carts too as many, and of she elphants as many. Mules and men were of unlimited number.

20 That wealth which Yudlushthra caused to be dug out was even so much

Statent thousand comes were placed on the back of each carel; eight thousand on each car, and twenty-four thousand on each elephant.

21-22. Having loaded these vehicles with that wealth and once more adoring the great deny Skiva, the son of Pandu started for the city of Hastinapur, with the permission of the Island born Rislu, the permission of the Island born Risku, and placing his priest Dhaning an the van That foremost of men, viz, the royal son ol Pandu, made short marches of four miles every day.

23 That powerful army, O king afflicted with the weight they have required care.

23 that powerful army, O king anticles with the weight their bore, returned car17)mg that wealth, towards the capital, phasing the heaits of all those perpetuaters of the Kinu- ace.

CHAPIER LXVI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)—

Vaishampayana said:-

t Meanwhile, the highly energetic Vasudeva, accompanied by the Vishins, came to the city of Hastinapore.

to the city of Hastinapore.

2 While leaving that city for returning to his oan Daaraka, he had been requested by the son of Dharina to come back. Herce, knowing, that the time fixed for the Horse-Sacrifice had come, if at foremost of men returned to Hastinapore.

3-4. Accompained by the son Rukmini, by Yinjudhana, by Charudeshina, by Shamva by Gada, by Kritavarman, by the heroic Sarana, by Nishatha and by Unmukha, Vasudeva came, with Valadeva at the head of the train, and with Subhadra also accompanying lum.

5. Indeed, that hero came for seeing

Diaupadi, Uttara and Pritha and for comforting those renowned Kshatriya-ladies who had been bereft of many of their protectors,

6 Seeing those heroes come, king

6 Seeing those heroes come, king Duritarashtra, as also the great Vidura, received them with due honours.

 I hat foremost of men, vis., Krishna of great energy, worshipped by Vidura and Yujutsu, continued to live in the Kuru capital.

S. It was while the Vrishni heroes O Janamejaya, were living in the Kuru city, O king, that your father, that destroyer of lostile heroes, was born.

g The royal Patishit, O monarch, afflicted by the Brahma-weapon of Ashwat-thaman), upon coming out of the womb, lay still and motionless for he had no life. By his birth he had pleased the crizens but soon plunged them into grief.

10. The citizens, learning of the birth of the prince, untered a leaning shout. That noise proceeded to the utmost finit of every point of the compass. Soon, however, that noise ceased.
11. Krishna, his senses and mind consider bly affected, with Yuyudhana in his company, entered speedily the inner appriments of the palace

12 He saw his own paternal aunt (Kunti) coming, loudly weeping and calling upon him repeatedly.

13 Behind her were Draupadi and the famous Subhadra, and the wives of the relatives of the Pandavas, all weeping piteously.

t.4 Meeting Krishna, Kunti, that daughter of the Bhoja race, said to him in a worse choked with tears, O foremost of monarchs, 15 O Vasudeva, O mighty-armed hero Devakt by having borne you, has come to be considered as an excellent general!

he considered as an excellent genetra! You are our refuge and our glory! This race (of Panda) depends upon you for its protector.

16 O Yadava hero, O powerful one this child of your vister's son, has comout of the womin, killed by Ashwaithaniane, O Keshava, do you revive lim!

17. O delighter of the Yadavas, this was sowed by 300, O powerful one, when Ashwatthaman had inspired the blade of and de id.

grass into a Bral ma-weapon of great energy! Indeed, O Keshava, your words were these —I shall revive that child if he comes out of the womb dead!

18—19 That child, O son has been lorn dead! See I im, O foremost of men You should, O Madhaya, reccue Uttara and Subhadra and Draupadi and myself, and Dharma's son (Yudusthira), and Bhuma and Phalguna, and Nakula and the tresutible Sabadeva

20-21 In this child are fettered the hiteraths of the Pandavas and mysel? O you of the Dasharha-race, on him deprints the obsequate cake of Panda Fa also of my father-in-law, and of Ablinnary, of the property of the part o

- 22 Uttara, O destroyer of enemies, always repeats the words said to her by Ablitmanyu Porsooth, O Kirshna, those words were highly agreeable to her.
- 23 O you of the Dasharha-race, Arjuna's son said to this daughter of Virata,—Your son, O blessed girl, will go to my maternal uncles.
- 24 Taking up his quarters with the Vrishins and Andhakas, he will obtain from them the science of arms, indeed, various wonderful weapons and the whole of the science of politics and morality.
- 25 These were the words, O son, that that destroyer of hostile heroes, vis., the son of Subhadra, that irresistible hero, said to Uttara from his love for her.
- 26 O destroyer of Madhu, bowing our heads to you, we pray you for making those words of Abhimanyu true! In view also of the time that has come, do you accomplish what is highly beneficial.
- 27. Having said these words to that fern of the Vishint's race, Pittha of large tyes, raised her arms upwards and with the other ladies in her company, diopped down on the Earth,
- 28 All of them, with eyes rendered muddy by tears, repeatedly explained, saying,—Alas, the son of Vasudeva's nephew has been born dead.
- 29 After Kunti had said so, Janaeddana took hold of her, O Bharata, and gently raising her from the Earth, comforted her as follows.

CHAPTER LXVII.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said -

1—2 After Kunti had sat up, Subhadra, seeing her brother, began to weep aloud, and stricken with excessive grief, said.—U yai having eyes like lotus petals, look at the grandson of Arjuna of great melligence! Alas, the Kuru-race having been binned, a child has been b in that is feeble

3 The blade of grass, uplified by Drona's con for bringing about the destruction of Bhimasena, fell upon Uttara and Vijaya and myself.

4 Alas that blade. O Keshava, is still existing (mex racted) in me, after having pierced my heart, since I do not, O irresistible hero, see this cluld with my son.

S. What will the righteous-souled king Yudhishthira the jist say? What will Blumasena and Arjuna, and the two sous of Madrayati also say?

6 Hearing that Abhumanyu's son was born and dead, the Pandayas, O you of Vrishm's race, will consider themselves as imposed upon by Ashwattiaman.

- 7. Abhimanju, O Krishna, was forsooth, the inition of all the Pandava-brothers. Hearing this mtelligence, what will those beroes, defeated by the weapon of Drona's son, 5ay 7.
- 8 What grief, O Jinarddana, can be greater than this, vis., that Abhimanyu's son should be born and dead?
- 9 Bowing to you with my head, O Krishna I seek to please you to-day! See O foremost of men, these two standing here, vis., Pritha and Draupadi

10—tt. When, O Madhava, the son of Torona trust of destroy the embrous even in the wombs of the ladies of the Pandavas, at that time O gender of enembles, you said in anyer to Drona's son (even these words). —O wetch ola Brahusana, O viets of men, I shall deappoint your wish! I shall re-vive the son of Kintin's son (Kintin's Son of Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's Kintin's

- 12. Hearing these words of yours and well-knowing your power, I seek to granly you, O irresistable fero! Let the son of Abhimanyu be revived.
- 13 If having pledged yourself previously you do not accomplish your auspicious wow do you then know for certain, O chief of the Vishin race, that I shall put an end to my life.

- 14 If, O here, this son of Abhimanyu does not review when you, O irresistible one, are ablee and near, of what other use will you be to me?
- 15 Do you, therefore O irresistible one revive this son of Abi imanyu—this child who has eyes similar to his—even as a rain charged cloud revives the lifeless crops (on a field)
- 16 You, O Keshava, are righteoussouled truthful and of prowess incapable of being baffled You should, O chastiser of enemies make your words truthful
- 17 If only you wish it, you can revive the three worlds (of being) if dead! What need I say, therefore, of this darling child, born but dead, of your sister's son?
- 18 I know your power, O Krisl na!
 11 crefore do I solicit you! Do you show this great favour to the sons of Pandu
- 19 You should, O mighty armed one, slow mercy to this Uttara, or to me, thinking that I am your sister or even a mother who has lost her son, and one who has thrown herself upon your protection.

CHAPTER LXVIII. (ANUGITA PARVA.)— Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-

- t. Thus addressed, O king, the destroyer of Keshin greatly possessed by sorrow answered,—So be it!—I hese words were uttered with sufficient loudness and they pleased all the immates of the inner apartments of the palace
- 2 The powerful Krishna, that foremost of men, by uttering these words pleased all the people assembled there, like one pouring cold water on a person afflicted with sweat.
- 3-5. He then quickly entered the lyingin room in which your faither was born It was duly ranctined, O king, with many parlands of white flowers, with many wellfilled water-pots arranged on every side, which clare-Cale, casked in clarified butter of Tanduka wood, and mustard seeds, O you of mighty aream, with shiming weapons of on mighty aream, with shiming weapons properly arranged and several fires on every side. And it was filled with many agreeable and aged dames summoned for watting.
- 6-7 It was also surrounded by many well skilled and clever physicians. O you of great intelligence! Gifted with great energy, he also beheld there all articles that are destructive of Rakshasas, duly placed by persons knowing the subject. Seeing the lying in room in which your clather was born thus eqinp, Hrishkesha became very glad and Said,—Excellent, Excellent, 19

- 8—9 When he of Vushn's race said so and presented such a cheerful look, Draupadi, going there quickly, addressed the daughter of Virata, saying,—O blessed lady, here comes to you your lather-inlaw, the destroyer of Madhu, that ancient Rishi of inconceivable soul, that unvanquished one
- 10 Virata's daughter, checking her tears said these words in a voice chocked with grief Covering herself properly, the pincess waited for Krishna like the celestials reverentially waiting for him
- tt. The helpless lady with heart agitated by sorrow, seeing Govinda coming, bewailed, saying,—
- 12 O lotus eyed one, see us two deprived of our child! O Janarddana, both Abhimanyu and myself have been equally killed.
- 13 O you of Vrishni's race, O destroyer of Madhu, I seek to please you by bending my head, O hero, to you! Do you revive this child of mine who has been consumed by the weapon of Drona's son.
- 14-15 If king Yudiushthira the just, or Bhimasena, or yourself, O lotus eyed one, had, on that occasion, said,—Let the blade of grass destroy the unconscious mother,—O powerful one, then I would have been destroyed and this would not have taken place.
- 16 Alas, what benefit has been reaped by Drona's son by doing this cruel deed, vis, the destruction of the child in the womb by his Brahma weapon.
- 17. That self same mother now seeks to please you O slayer of enemies, by bending her head burely. O Govinda. I shall kill myself if this child does not revive.
- 18 In him, O righteous one, I placed many expectations! Alas, when these have been frustrated by Drona's son, what necessity have 1, O Keshava, to carry on the burden of life?
- tg I hoped O Krishna, that with my child on my Iap. O Janarddana I would salute you with respect! Alas, O Keshava, that hope has been destroyed.
- 20 O foremost of all beings, at the death of this heir of Abhimanyu of restless eyes, all my hepes have been destroyed.

- 21. Abhimanyu of restless eyes, O destroyer of Madhu, was exceedingly dear to you B hold this child of his killed by the Brahma-weapon.
- 22 This child is very ungrateful and very heartless, like his father, for, see, disregarding the prosperity and affluence of the Pandavas, he has gone to Yama's house
- 23 I had, before this vowed, O Keshava, that if Abhimauyu fell on the field of battle, O hero, I would follow him immediately.
- 24 I did not, however, keep my vow, cruel that I am and fond of life! If I go to him now, what, indeed, will Phalguna's son say?

CHAPIER LXIX.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said:-

- 1 The helpless Uttara, desirous of getting back her child, having thus bewailed, dropped down in sorrow on the earth like a demented creature.
- 2. Seeing the princess fallen on the arth deprived of her son and with her lody uncovered, Kunti as also all the other) Branta-ladies, deeply afflicted, began to weep aloud.
- Resounding with the voice of lamenlation, the palace of the Pandavas, O king, was soon converted into a house of sorrow where nobody could remain.
- 4 Greatly stricken with grief on account of her son, Virala's daughter, O king seemed to be struck down for sometive by sorrow and cheerles*ness.
- 5 Regaining consciousness, O chief of Buarata's race Uttara took up her child on her Lap and said these words
- 6 You are the child of one who knew every dusy. Are you not conscious then of the sin you commit since you do not salute this foremost one of the Vrishni's race?
- 7-8 O son, going to your father tell him these words of mine, erg. It is difficult for tiving creatures to due before their time comes, because through rest of you, my himband, and on the when I should die, and a law when I should die, you and everything valuable.

- 9 O mighty-armed one, with the permission of king Yudhishthira the just, 1 shall swallow some dreadful poison or cast myself on the burning fire.
- to. O father, difficult of d-struction is my heart since, though I am deprived of husband and child, that heart of mine does not break into a thousand pieces.
- 11. Rise, O son, and see this your afflicted greatgrandmother! She is deep ly stricken with grief, bathed in tears, exceedingly cheerless, and plunged in an ocean of sorrow.
- 12. See the reverend princess of Panchala, and the helpless princess of the Satistat race! Look at myself, exceedingly afficted with grief, and resembling a deer pierced by a hunter.
- 13 Rise, O child, and look at the face of this king, who is glited with great wisdom, and possessed of eyes like lotus pitals and resembling your father of resiless glances.
- 14 Seeing Uttara, whe bewarled thus, fallen on the earth, all those ladies, raising her, caused her to sit up.
- 15. Having sat up, the daughter of the king of the Matsyas, summoning her patience, pined her lands in respect and touched the earth with her each of saluting Reshava having eyes like lotuspetals
 - 16 Hearing those heart-rending lamentations of hers, that foremost of persons touched water and withdrew the (force of the Brahma weapon.
 - 17—18 That hero of undecaying glory, belonging to the race of the Dasharka; promised to review the child hen he of pure soul, said these words in the hearing of the w ole universe—() Untara, Lavet uter a falselmod My words will prove uter a falselmod My words will prove uter a falselmod the this child before all creatures.
 - 19 Never before have I uttered a falsehood even in 1-st. Never have I turned back from battle (By the merit of those deeds) let this child revive
 - 20. As virtue is dear to me, as Brahmanas are especially dear to me, let Abhimanyu's son, who is born dead, revive.
 - 21. Never has a misunderstanding arrisen between me and my friend Vijaya. Let this dead child revive by that truth
 - 22 As truth and virtue are always established in me, let this dead clidd of Abhimanyu revive.

righteously killed by me, let this child revive to day by that truth.

24 After these words were uttered by 24 After these words were uttered by Vasudeva, that child, O foremost one of Bharata's family, became animate and began gradually to move, O knig.

CHAPLER LXX

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said:-

- When the Brahma weapon was withdrawn by Krishna at that time, the lyingni-room was lighted up by your father with his energy.
- 2 All the Rakshasas were forced to leave the room and many of them were killed In the sky a voice was heard, saying,—Excellent, O Kesl ava, Excellent,
- 3 The burning Brahma weapon then returned to the Grandfall er Your father got back 18, O king 4 The child began to move according
- to his energy and power The Bharataladies became all filled with 109.

 5 At the command of Govinda, the
- 5 At the command of Govinda, the Bral manas were made to utter benedictions. All the ladies filled with joy, landed Janarddana.
- 6 Indeed the wives of those Bharataheroes viz, Kunti and Drupada's daugl ter and Subhadra and Uttara, at d the wives of other leading men, like (slip wrecked) persons who lives reached the shore after having got a boat became greatly pleased
- 6—8 Then wrestlers and actors and astrologers and those who et quite after it e sleep [of princes], and bonds of bards and sulogists all uttered the praises of Janardana while uttering benedictions filled with the praises of the Kurus, O cluef of the Bharatas.
 - 9 Uttara, rising up at the proper time, with a pleased heatt and bearing her child in her arms reverentially saluted the delighter of the Yadus
 - 20—14 Reputing greatly, Kersina made gifts to the child of many waitable gifts. The control of the Virshin race, gifts the control of the Virshin race, gifts from the control of the cont has become nearly extinct, let his name be Partishit. This is what he said. Then your father, O king, began to grow and please all the people, O Blarata. When your father was a month old, O hero, the Pandavas returned to their capital, bringing with them abundant riches. Hearing that the Pandavas were near, those foremost ones of the Virshiu rare wint out.

- 15. The citizens decked the city of Hastinappr with many garlands of flowers, with beautiful pennons and standards of various kinds.
- 16 The cutzens also, O king, adonted their respective palaces Desirous of doing what was beneficial to the sons of Pandir, Vidura ordered various kinds of adoration to be offered to the celestials establisted in their respective temples The principal streets of the city were adorned with flowers.

18-21. Indeed, the city was filled with the noise of thousands of voices which resembled the softened roar of distant ocean waves With dancers all engaged in their business, and with the voice of singers, the (Kuru) city then resembled the palace of Vaishravana himself Bards and eulogists. O king. accompanied by beautiful women, were seen to adurn various retired spots in the The pennons were made by the wind to float gaily on every part of the city, as if bent upon showing the Kurus the southern and the northern points of the compass. All the officers also of the government loudly proclaimed that that was to be a day of rejoicing for the whole kin dom as a mark of the success of the enterprise for bringing a profusion of gems and other valuables.

CHAPTER LXXI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)—

Vaishampayana said :-

entirely falled

- 1. Hearing that the Pandavas were near, that destroyer of enemies vis, Vasudeva, accompanied by his ministers, went out for seeing them
- 2 The Pandavas then, uniting with the Vaishnes according to the ususal formulates, together entered, O king, the city of ## sstr-naour.
- napur.

 3 With the voices and the clatter of cars of that powerful host, the Earth and the sky, and the firmune it itself, became, as it ware,

- 4. With rejoicing hearts, the Pandavas, accompanied by their officers and friends, entered the capital, plucing that treasure in their van.
- 5 Going, according to custom, to king Diritarashica first, they adored his feet, announcing their respective names
- 6 Those foremost ones of Bharata's race, O chief of kings then paid their respectful salutations to Gandhari, the daughter of Suvala. and to Kunii
- 7 They next adored (their uncle) Vidura and Yuyutsu, the son of Dhritarashtra by his Vaishya wife. Those heroes were then adored by others and they shone forth in beauty, O king.
- 8 After this, O Bharata, those heroes feard the news of that highly wonderful and marvellous and gladsome birth of your father.
- g Hearing of that feat of the highly intelligent Vasurdeva, they all adored Krishna, the delighter of Devade, who was every way worthy of adoration.
- every way worthy of adoration.

 10 Then, after a few days, Vyasa, the son of Satyavats, gifted with great energy, came to the city of Hastmanur.
- 11. The perpenaters of Knru's race addred the great Rishs according to the usual custom. Indeed, those heroes, with those heroest princes of the Virshims and the Andhaka-races worshipped the sage.
- 12-13 After having conversed on Vidinshihira moders on Undinshihira addressed Vyasa and sand,—Jins i reasure, O holy one, which has been brought shrongh your layour, I desire to devote to that great Horse Secrifice,
- t: O best of asceties, I wish to have Jour permission. We are all, O Rishi, at Jour disposal, and at that of the great Krishia.

Vyses wid -

- 15 I give you permission. O king. Do what should be done after this Us you adore the deties duly by performing the House-Sacrifice with profuse gifts.
- 16 The Horse-Sacrifice, O king, is a Purifier of all sins. Farsnorh, having adored the detret by that sacrifice you will swrly be purged of all sins.

Vaishampayana said :--

- 17 Thus addressed, the Kuru King Yudmitthirs of eightsour soul, O monarch, began to make the necessary preparations for the Horse-Sacuhce.
- 15-to Having represented all this to

- with great eloquence, approached Vasudeva and said,—O foremost of all beings, the goddess Devalu has, through you come to be considered as the most fortunate of mothers O you of undecaying glory, dryou perform what I shall now tell you, O mighty-armed one
- 20 O delighter of the Kurus, the various enjoyments we enjoy, have all been acquired through your power. The whole Earth has been subjugated by you with the help of your prowess and intelligence.
- 21. Dayou, therefore, cause yoursell to undergo the rites of initiation. You are our highest preceptor and master. If you perform the sacrifice, O you of the Dasharharace, I shall be nurfied from every sin.
- 22. You are Sacrifice! You are the Indestructible! You are this All? You are virtue! You are Prajapati! You are the goal of all creatures! This is my certain conclusion.

Vacadeva caid :-

- 23 O mighty-armed one, what you save is worthy of you O chastiser of enemies? You are the goal of all creatures. This is my certain conclusion.
- 24 Of the heroes of the Kurn-race, you slime to-day in great glary for your virtue! They have all been cast into the shade, O king, by you? You are our king, and you are our senior.
- 25 With my approval licely granted, do you worship the eclesticle in the sacrifice suggested D you, O Bharata, appoint us to whatever task you like Irinly, do pledge myself that is shall accomply in all, O sinless one, that you mayst bid me accomplish.
- 26 Blumssens and Arjuna and the two sons of Medravati will be sacrifting when you, O king, accretice.

CHAPTER LXXII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)— Continued.

Vaishampayana said : --

- t. Thus addressed by Reichen Yadishthra, the son of Dharms, g ted with great intelligence, saluted Vyasa and said these words -
- 2 Dayou cause me to be in rested when the proper hour, us you touly know, come for that rate. This my samifue entirely depends on you.

and

Vyasa said :--

achieve every rite at the proper time. The rite of initiating you will be per-

Myself, O son of Kunti, and Paila

Yamavalkya, shall, undoubtedly,

- formed on the day of full moon belonging to the month of Chaitra. Let all the necessaries of the sacrifice. O foremost of men, be got ready.
- Let Sutas well versed in the science of horses and let Brahmanas also possessed of the same learning, select, after examination, a worthy horse in order that your sacrifice may be completed.
- 6. Loosening the animal according to the injunctions of the scriptures, let him namer over the whole Earth with her belt of seas, showing your effulgent glory, O king.

Vaishampayana said :--

- 7. Thus addressed (by the Risht), Yudhishthira, the royal son of Pandu, answered,-'So be it "-and then, O mor arch, he accomplished all that that utterer of Brahma had said.
- 8. All the articles necessary for the sacrifice, O king, were duly procured.
- The royal son of Dharma, gifted with immeasurable soul, having procured all the necessaries, informed the Island born Krabna of it.
 - to Then the highly energetic Vyasa said to the royal son of Dharma, -'As regards curselves, we are all prepared to inmate you in view of the sacrifice.
 - tt. Let the Sphya and the Kurcha and all the other articles that, O you of Kurn's race, may be necessary for your sacrifice, be made of gold.
 - 12 I et the horse also be loosened to-day. for wandering on the Earth, according to the ordinances of the scriptures animal, duly protected, wander over the Fault.

Yndhishthira said :-

- Let arrangements be made by you, O twice-tern ere about lossening this lorse for enabling it to wander over the Earth at ice will.
- . 14. You should, O arcet'e say who will otect this horse while coaming over the Farth freely according to its will.

Vaishampayana continued :-

York of thira), O king, the Island bern Krist na said -He who is born after Bhimaarna, who is it e foremost of all bowmen who

- is called Jishnii, who is affed with great patience and capable of overcoming all resistance,-he will protect the horse destroyer of the Nivatakavachas can conquer the whole Earth.
- 37. In him are all celestial weapons, His body is like that of a celestral in its powers of endurance. His bow and quivers are celestral. He will follow this horse.
- He is well-versed in both Reheigh and Profit. He is a master of all the scien-O foremost of kings he will according to the scriptures, cause the horse to roun and graze at its will.
- This mighty-armed prince, of dark color, is endued with eyes resembling lotus-That hero, the father of Abhimanyu, will protect the horse.
- Bhimasena also is gifted with great That son of Kunti is possessed of immeasurable power. He is competent to protect the kingdom, helped by Nakula, O . monarch.

Gilted with great intelligence and fame, Sahadeva will, O you of Kuru's race, duly attend to all the relatives who have been invited to your capital.

22. Thus addressed by the Rishi, that p rpetuator of Kuru's race, vis . Yudi ishthira, performed every injunction duly and appointed Phalguna to attend to the horse.

Yudhishthira said:-

- Come, O Arjuna, let the horse, O hero, be protected by you You alone are competent to protect it, and none else.
- 24. Those kings O mighty-armed hero who will come forward to encounter you, try O sinless one, to avoid battles with them to the best of your power.
- You should also invite them all to this sacrifice of mine. Indeed, O mightyarmed one, go forth but try to establish friendly relations with them.

Vaishampayana said:—

Having said so to his brother Savyasachun, the righteons-souled king Vurilishthera commanded Bhuna and Nakula to protect the city,

27. With the permission of king Dhrits. rashtra, Yudhishibira then set Sahadeva. that forem st of warriors, to wait upon all the invited guests. .

CHAPTER LXXIII.

(ANUGIIA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-

- t. Wien the hour for mitiation came, all those great Ritwijas duly initiated the king for the Horse-Sacrifice.
 - Having finished the rites of binding the sacrificial animals, the son of Pandu, tis, king Yudhishthira the just, gifted with great energy, the initiation being over, shone with great splendour along with those
 - Kitwijas. The horse that was brought for the Horse-Sacrifice was let loose according to the injunctions of the scriptures, by that utterer of Brahma, vis., Vyasa himself of great energy.
 - 4. Then king Yudhishthira the just, O king, after his initiation adorned with a garland of gold around his neck, shone like a burning fire. 5. Having a black deer skin for his
 - upper garment, carrying a staff in hand, and wearing a cloth of red silk, the son of Dharma, gifted with great splendour, shone hise a second Prajapati seated on the sacrificial altar.
 - All his Rituijas also, O king, were clad in similar dresses. Atpina also shone like a burning fire.
 - 7. Dhananjaya, to whose car were yoked white horses, then duly prepared, O king. to follow that horse of the complexion of a black deer, at the command of Yudhishthura.
 - 8. Repeatedly drawing his bow, named Gandiva, O king, and casing his hand in a fence made of iguana skin, Arjuna, O monarch, prepared to follow that horse, O king, with a ci cerful heart.
 - 9. All Hastinapur, O king, with the very children, came out at that spot from desire of seeing Dhananjaya, that foremost of the Kurus, on the eve of his jurney.
 - So great was the crowd of spectators that came to see the horse and the prince who was to follow it, that on account of the pressure of bodies, it seemed a fire was created.
 - 11. Lond was the noise which arose from that crowd of men who assembled together for seeing Dhananjaya the son of Kunti, and it seemed to fill all the points of the compass and the entire sky.
 - And they said, -There goes the son of Kunts, and there that horse of burning

- beauty. Indeed, the mighty-armed hero follows the horse, having armed himself with his excellent bow. These were the words which the m-
- telligent Jishnu heard The cuizens also blessed hun, saying,- Let blessings be yours' Go safely and return, O Bharata Others, O chief of men, ultered
- these words So great is the crowd that we do not see Arjuna. His bow, however, we see. that is the celebrated bow Gandiva
- of terrible twang Blessed be you Let all dangers fly from your path Let fear nowhere inspire sou.
- When he returns we shall see him, for it is certain that he will return. great Arjuna repeatedly heard these and similar other sweet words of men and A disciwomen O chief of the Bharatas ple of Yajnavalkya, who was well-versed in all sacrificial rites, and who was a complete master of the Vedas proceeded with Partha for performing auspicious rites in favour of the hero Many Brahmanas also, O king, all knowing Vedas well, and many Kshatriyas too, followed the great hero, at tle command, O monarch, of Yudhishthira the just.
- The horse then travelled, O foremost of men wherever he liked over the Earth already conquered by the Pandavas with the power of their weapons.
 - In course of the horse's wanderings, O king many great and wonderful battles were fought between Arjuna and many These I shall describe to you.
 - The horse, O king, travelled over the whole Earth. Know, O monarch, that from the north it turned towards the East.
 - Grunding the kingdoms of many kings that excellent horse wandered And it was followed slowly by the great carwarrior Arjun's of white horses.
 - 24 O monarch, many Kshatrijas and kings, who laught with Arjuna on that occasion, were rendered miserable for having lost their kinsmen on the field of Kurukshetra.
 - 25-26 Many Kiratas also, O king, and Vavanas, all excellent bowmen, and various tribes of Mirchchas too, who had been discomfited before (by the Pandavas on the field of Kurukshetra), and many Aryan kings, possessed of soldiers and animals gifted with great alacrity, and all irresistible in fight, met the son of Pandu in baitle.
 - 27. Thus took place innumerable battles in various countries, O monarch, between Arjuna and the kings of various realms who came to encounter him.

28 I shall, O sinless king, describe to you those battles only which raged with great fury and which were the principal ones among all he fought.

CHAPTER LXXIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)— Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-

- t. A battle took place between the diadem-decked (Arjuna) and the sons and grandsons of the Irigartas whose hostility the Pandavas had incurred before and all of whom were well-known as powerful carwarriors
- 2 Having learnt that that foremost of horses which was intended for the sacrifice, had come to their kingdom, those leroes, accountering themselves in coats mail, surrounded Ariuna.

Mounted on their cars, drawn by

- excellent and well decked steeds and with quivers on their backs, they surrounded that horse, O king, and tried to capture it.

 4 Thinking of that attempt of theirs, the diadem decked Artuna, forbade those
- heroes, with conciliatory words. O chastiser of enemies.

 5 Disregarding Arj ma's message, they attacked him with their arrows. The diadem decked Arj ma resisted those war-
- riors who were under the control of darkness and passion.

 6. Jishini, addressed them smilingly and said ,—' Desist, ye thinglifeous ones! I ile is a blessing.'
- 7. At the time of his starting, he had been earnestly ordered by king Yudhish-thira the just not to kill thise Rahatrijas whose kinsmen had been killed before on the field of Kurukshetra.
- 8 Remembering these behests of king Yodhishihira the just who was gifted with great intelligence, Arjuna asked the Irigartas to foibare. But they disregarded Arjuna's injunction
- o Then Arjana deleated Suryavarman, the king of the Lingartas, in battle, by shooting countless arrows at him and laughed in scorn.
- to The Teigarta warriors, howevery fishing the ten points with the sound of their cars and car-wheels, rushed towards Dhananjaya.

- it Then Suryavarman, showing great lightness of hand, pierced Dhananjaya with hundreds of straight arrows, O king!
- 12. The other great bowmen, who followed the king and who were all desirous of bringing about the destruction of Dhanan-1474, shot showers of arrows on him
- 13. With numberless arrows shot from his own bowstring, the son of Pandu, O king, cut off those clouds, of arrows upon which they fell down
- 14 Gifted with great energy, Icetuvarman, the younger brother of Suryavarman, and gifted with youthful vigour, longist, for the sake of his brother, against Pandu's son endued with great fame
- 15 Seeing Ketiwarman approaching towards him for battle, Vibhatsu, that destroyer of hostile heroes, killed him with many sharp-pointed arrows.
- 16. Upon Ketuvarmana's fall, the powerful car-warrior Dhiitavarman, rushing on his car towards Arjuna, showered a perfect downpour of arrows on him.
- 17 Seeing that lightness of hand shown by the youth Dhritavarman, Gudakesha of great energy and great prowess became lighty pleased with him.
- 18 The son of Indra could, not see when the young warrior took out his arrows and when he placed them on his bowstring amining at him. He only saw showers of arrows in the air.
- to For a brief space of time, Arjuna pleased his enemy and mentally admired his heroism and skill.
- 20 The Kuru hero, smiling the while, fought with that youth who took after an angry snake. He mighty armed Dhanan-143a glad as he was in seeing the courage of Dhittavarman, did not take his hie.
- 21. While, however, Partha of immeasurable energy fought mildly with him without wishing to fall him, Diritavarman shot a Lurining arrow at him.
- 22 Deeply pierced in the hand by that arrow, Vij-ju became stupefied and his bow Gandiva dropped down on the Earth from tis relaxed grasp.
- 23 The form of that bow, O king, when it fell from the rasp of Arjuna, resembled, O Bharata, that of the bow of ludes.
- sembled, O Bharata, that of the bow of Indra

 24. When that great and celestial bow dropped down, O kong, Dintavasman la ighed loudly in battle.

- 25 At this, Jishnu, worked up with tage wiped the blood from his hand and once more taking up his bow, showered a perfect doungour of acrows
- Then a loud and confused noise arose filing the sky and touching the very heavens, as it were, from various creatures who spoke highly of that feat of Dhananfava.
- 27-28 Seeing Jishnu inflimed with with and looking like Yama himself as he appears as the end of the cycle, the I organta warriors hastily surrounded him rushing from their posts and desirous of rescuing Dhritavarman. Seeing himself surrounded by his enemies, Arjuna became more angry than before.
- 29 He then quickly despatched eighteen of their foremost warriors with many arrows of hard fron which resembled the acrows of the great indra himself,
- 30. The Trigarta warriors then began to fly. Seeing them retreat, Dhananjaya, quickly shot many shalts at them which resembled angry snakes of dreadful poison, and laughed aloud.
- 31. The powerful car-warriors of the Ingartas, with disputted hearts, fled in all directions, greatly afflicted by Dhananjaya with his arrows.
- 32 They then addressed that foremost of men, that destroyer of the Samsapiaka army, saying, - We are your slaves! We reld to you,
- Lo, we want here as the most doche of your servants !-O delighter of the Kurus, we shall execute all your commands
- 34. Hearing these words expressive of their submission, Dhananjaya said them,-Do ye, O kings, save your lives, to and accept my dominion.

CHAPTER LXXV. (ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-1. That foremost of horses then pro-seeded to the singdom of Praggyateries and began to wander there. At this, Bhagadatta's son who was greatly courageous in baitle, came out.

2. King Vajradati, O chief of the Bharatas, finding the (sacrificial) horse arrived within his kingdom, lought (for detaining it)

- The royal son of Bhagadaita, coming out of his city, afflicted the horse which was coming (and seizing it), marched back towards his own place
- Marking this the mighty armed chief of the Kuru race, speedily stretched his Gendiva, and suddenly rushed towards his enemy.
- 5 Stupefied by the arrows shot from Gandiva, the heroic son of Bhagadatta, letting loose the horse, fled from Parelle
- Once more entering his capital, that foremost of kings, presistible in battle. cased lumself in mail, and mounting on his prince of elephants, came out,
- 7. I hat powerful car-warrior had a white umbrella held over his head, and was fanned with a milk-white yak tails
- Moved by childishness and follo, he challenged Partha, the powerful car werette of the Pandavas famed for dreadful deeds to battle, to an encounter with him.
- The enraged prince then urged towards Ariona that elephant of his winh resembled a verstable mountain, and from whose temples and mouth came out streams of juice showing excitement.
- Indeed, that elephant showered its secretions like a great mass of clouds pouring rain Capable of resisting hostile leate of its own species, it had been equipped according to the ordinances of the treatises (on war-elephants) Irresistible in battle, it had become so infursate as to be beyond control.
- Urged on by the prince with the tron-look, that powerful elephant then seemed as if it would cut through the aky (like a flying hill).
 - Seeing it advance towards lim, O king, Dhananaya, filled with anger and standing on the earth, O Bharata, met the prince on its back.
 - 13 Filled with anger, Vajradatta quickly shed at Arjuna a number of broadheaded arrows gifted with the energy of fire and resembling (as they coursed through the air) a cloud of speedily. moving locusts.
- Art ina, however, with arrows sped from Gandiva, cut off those arrows, some into two, and some into three, pieces but them off in the sky itself with those arrows of his passing through the sky.
- The son of Bhagadatta, seeing five broad-headed arrows thus cut off quickly sped at Arjuna a number of other arrows in a continuous fice.

to Filled with anger at this, Arjuna more quickly than before, shot at Bhaga-datta's son a number of straightly coursing arrows equipped with golden wings.

17 Vajradatta of powerful energy, struck with great force and piecced with those arrows in that fierce encounter, fell down on the Earth. Consciousness, however, did not leave him.

- 18 Mounting on his prince of elephants again in the midst of that battle, the son of Bhagadatta, destrous of victory, very coolly shot a number of arrows at Arjuna.
 10. Fuled with anger. Industry then, shot
- 19. Filled with anger, Jishinu then shot at the prince a number of arrows which looked like burning flames of fire and which appeared to be so many snakes of greadful passon.
- 20. Pierced therewith, the powerful elephant, emitting a large quantity of blood, looked like a mountain of many springs discharging rillets of water coloured with red chalk.

CHAPTER LXXVI.

(ANUGIFA PARVA)--Continued.

Vaishampayana siad :--

- Thus went on that battle, O chief of the Bharatas, for three days between Arjuna and that prince like the encounter between him of a hundred sacrifices and Vritra.
- 2-3 On the fourth day, Vajradatta of great power laughed loudly and addressing Arjuna, said these words :- Wait, wait, O Arjuna! You shall not escape me alive! Killing you! shall dily discharge the water-rite of my father.
- 4. My aged father Bhagadatta, who was the friend of your father, was killed by you on account of his weight of years. Do you, however, fight me who am but a boy.
- 5 Having said these words, O you of Rusu's race, king Vajradatta, filled with anger, singed his elephant towards the son of Pandu.
- 6. Urged on by the highly intelligent Vajradatta, that prince of elephants, as if cleaves is of cutting it frough the sky, rushed towards D tananiava.
- 7. That best of elephants dreached Arjuna with a shower of juce emitted from the end of his trunk, like a mars of blue clouds dreaching a hill with its down-poor.
- a indeed, urged on by the king, the not, O Dhannjara, giphant, repeatedly rearing the a cloud, my give you battle).

- rushed towards Phalkuna, sending forth deep noise from its mouth.

 9 Indeed, urged on by Vajradatta that prince of elephants quickly moved towards the powerful car-warrior of the Kurus, with the tread of one that seemed to dance in
- excitement.

 10 Seeing that beast of Vajradatta advance towards him, that destroyer of enemies, vis. the powerful Dhanaulaya.
 - enemies, $18. the powerful Dianauly)a, relying on Gandiva, stood his ground without shaking with fear.

 11. Recollecting what an obstacle Vajradatta was proving to the performance of his task, and remembering the old enmity
 - of the bouse, the son of Pandu became greatly excited with rage against the king.

 12. Worked up with rage, Dhananina impeded the course of that beast with a shower of arrows like the shore resisting the
 - surging sea.

 13 That best of elephants and beautiful in appearance, thus impeded by Affians, stopped in its course, with body pierced with many an arrow, like a porcupine with its
 - quills erect.

 14. Seeing his elephant impeded in its course, the royal soil Bhagadatts, deprived of sense by anger, shot many whetted arrows at Arjuna.
 - 15. The mighty-armed Arjuna baffled all those arrows with many foe-destroying arrows of his. The feat appeared to be exceedingly wonderful,

 16 Once more the king of the Pragino-
 - tishas, worked up with rage, forcibly urged his elephant, which resembled a mountain, at Arjuna.
 - 17. Seeing the heast once more advancing towards him. Arjuna shot with great strength an arrow at it which resembled a veritable flame of fire.
- 19. Cut to the quick, O king, by the son of Pandu, the beast suddenly dropped down on the Barth like a mountain-summit loosened by a thunder-bult.

 19. Strick with Diananjays's arrow,
 - the elephant, as it lay on the Farth, looked like a luce mountain of fl. lying on the ground, loosened by the bolt of India. 20. When the elephant of Vejradatta was prostrated on the ground, the son of
 - 20. When the elephant of Vajradatives prestrated on the ground, the son as Pandu addressing the king who had fallen down with his beast, said,—'Do not lear.'
 - 21. Indeed, Yudh st thira of great energy said to me with commissioning me for the task even these words, e.g., Your should not, O Dhananjava, kill shose kings (who

- 22 O forement of men, you should consider your task as accomplished if only you thishle those hostile kings! You should not also, O Dhananjaya, kill the wartiors of those kings who may come forth to fight you.
- 23 They should be requested to come, with all their kinsmen and friends, to the Horse-Sacrifice of Yudhishibira.
- 24 Having heard these commands of my brother, I shall not kill you, O king f Rise up; let no fear be yours; return to your cut sale and sound, O king.
- 25 When the day of full moon in the month of Chaitra comes, you shall of great king, go to that sacrifice of king Yudhishthira the just, for it takes place on that day?
- 26 Thus addressed by Arjuna, the royal son of Bhagadatta, defeated by the son of Pandu, said,—'So be st.'

CHAPTER LXXVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)~

Continued. Valshampayana said:—

- I. There took place a great battle between the diadem decked Arjuna and the bundreds of Samdhavas who still lived after the destruction of their clan.
- 2 Hearing that he of white horses had entered their territories, those Kshatriyas came out against him, unable to bear that foreingt one of Pandu's race.
- 3. Hose warrors who were asteroble as dreadful pason finding the honese within their dominant, seized it without being filled with any fear of Partha who was the younger brother of Bhimasena.
- 4 Advancing against Vibhatsit who waited on foot, armed whith his bow, inpin the saciificial horse, they attacked him from a near point
- 5 Defeated in battle before, those Kshatiijas of great energy, moved by the tlesire of victory, surrounded that foremost of men.
- Proclaiming their names and families and their various feats, they showered their errows on Partha.
- 7. Pouring showers of arrows of such herce energy as were capable of obstructing the course of hostile elephants, those teroes surrounded the son of Kunti, desirous of deleating him in battle.

- 8 Themselves seated on cars, they lought Arjuna of dreadful leats who was on loot.
- g. From every side they began to strike that hero, that destroyer of the Nivatakavachas that destroyer of the Samsaptakas, that destroyer of the king of the Sindinus.
- to Surtounding him on all sides as within a cage by means of a thousand cara and ten thousand horse, those brave wartions expressed their toy.
- 11—12. Recollecting the destruction by Dhanaipaya of Jayadraha in battle, O you of Kuru's race, they poured heavy showers of acrows on that perol hice a merous on of the perol hice a merous of clouds showering a heavy downpour, Overshelmed with that acrow showed with that acrow showed with that acrow showed with that acrow showed by a cloud.
- 13. That foremost son of Pandu, in the midst of that cloud of arrows, resembled a bird in the midst of an iron cage, O Bharata.
- 14. Seeing the son of Runti thus afflicted with arrows, cries of oh and alas were nitered by the three worlds, and the Sus himself became shorn of his splendour.
- 15 Then, O king, a terrible wind began to blow, and Rahu swallowed up both the Sun and the Moon simultaneously.
- 16 Many meteors struck the solar disc and then shot in different directions. The prince of mountains, vis., Kailasa, began to tremble.
- 17. The seven (celestial) Rishis, as also the other Rishis of Heaven, stricken with fear, and afflicted with grief and sorrow, breathed hot sights.
- 18. Preresting through the sky, those meteors fell on the lunar disc as well. All the points of the compass became filled with smoke and assumed a strange aspect.

 19. Reddish clouds, with flashes of
- lightuing playing in their midst and the bow of In ira measuring them from side to side, suddenly covered the sky and poured flesh and bloods on the Earth.
- 20 Such was the aspect which all nature assumed when that here was overwhelmed with showers of acrows Indeed, when Plialguna, that foremost one among the Bharatas, was thus afflicted, those marvels were witnessed.
- 21 Overwirlmed by that dense cloud of artows, Atjuna became stupefied His bow, Gandiva, Iell down from his relaxed gip and his leathern fence also dropped down.
- 22 When Dhananjaja became stupefied, the Saindhava waittors once more shot forthwith at that senseless warrior. numberless other arrows.

23 Understanding that the son of Pratha was insensible, the celestials, with Fearts stricken with fear, began to seek his well being by uttering various benedictions Then the celestral Rishis, the seven Rishis and the twice born Rishis, became engaged in silent recitations from desire of giving victory to the highly intelligent son of Pratha's. When at last the energy of Partha Clazed forth through those deeds of the sincliers of the celestral region, that hero, who was conversant with celestral weapons of great efficacy, stood immovable like a

26. The delighter of the Kurus then drew his celestial bow. And as he repeatedly stretched the bowstring, the twang *ome strong macinne

Like Perandara pouring ram, the powerful Arjuna then, with that bow of his, poured increasant showers of arrows on his enemies.

28 Pierced by those arrows, the Saindlava warriers with their chiefs became myisible like trees covered with Liquits. berror stricken at the very sound of Gandina and filled with consternation they fled away. In grief of heart they shed tears and cried aloud. 30 The powerful watrior moved amidst that host of enemies with the celerity of a fiery wheel, all the time piercing those narriors with his arrows Like the great Indra, the holder of the thunder-bolt, that destroyer of enemies, ass. Arrina, shot from I is how in every direction that shower of arrows which resemble da sight produced by magic

The Kaurava hero, piercing the bosule army with showers of arrows looked resplendent like the autumnal Sun when he disperses the clouds with his powerful rays

CHAPTER LYXVIII. (ANUGITA PARVA)---

Continued.

Taishampayana said :-1. The present de hilder of Gandiva, trall for battle stood enmovable on the f a'd like Honevat himself.

The Saindhava warriots, once mote ralling, showered in great rage repeated down-pours of arrows on him

The mighty armed hero, laughing at Ins enemies, who had once more railied but who were on the point of death, addressed them in these soft words ---

Do se fight to the best of your power and do ve try to defeat me. Do ye, however, accomplish all necessary deeds, for # great danger awaits you all.

5. See, I fight all of you, baffing your clouds of arrows! Bent as you are on battle, wait a little. I shall soon quell your pride.

6. The holder of Gandiva, having said these words in anger, recollected, however, the words. O Bharata, of his eldest brother.

7-8 Those words were -You should not, O child, kill those Kshatriyas who will come against you for battle! They should, lowever, be defeated by you! That foremost of men Phalguna, had been thus addressed by king Yudiushthira the 1 1st, of great soul He, therefore, began to reflect thus. Thus was I commissioned by my brother. Warriors advancing against me should not be killed.

I must act in such a way as not to falsily the words of king Yudhishthira the ust.

Having arrived at this conclusion. Phalguna, that foremost of men, then said to those Saindhavas who were all dreadful in battle, these words .

rr. I say what is for your benefit. Though staying before me, I do not wish to fall you. He amongst you who will say to me that he has been defeated by me and that I e is mine, will be spared by me.

Having heard'these words of mine, act towards me in that way which may best secure your well being. By acting in a different way you will place yourselves in & situation of great fear and danger.

13 Having said these words to those heroic warriors, the chief of the Kurus began to fight them. Arima was worked up with rage His enemies, desirous of victory, were equally enraged.

The Sandhayas then, O king, shot hundreds and thornands of atraight arrows at the wielder of Gundiva.

15. Dinnanjaya, with his own whetted arrows, cut off those arrows of sharp and terrible points, resembling anches of circadful poison, before they could come up to burna

- to Having cut off those sharp arrows bedecked with Kanka-feathers, Asjuna pierced each of the warriors opposed to him with a whetted arrow.
- 17. The Sandhava Kshatriyas, recollecting that it was Dhananiyay who had kiled their king Jayadrutha, then hirled at bin darts and Jayadrutha great force.
- 18. The diadem decked Dhananjaja of great power baffled their aim by cutting off all those weapons before any of them could reach him. At length the son of Pandu became highly angey.
- 19 With many straight and broadleaded arrows, he cut off the heads of many of those warriors who were rushing at him from desire of victory.
- 20. Many fl-d, many rushed at Arjina; many moved not; all of them, however, uttered such a loud noise that it resembled the roar of the ocean.
- 21. As they were killed by Partha of immeasurable power, they fought him, each according to his strength and prowess.
- 22. Their animals being all exhausted, Pariha succeeded in depriving a large number of those warriors of their senses by means of this sharpest arrows in that battle.

 33. Then Dusshala, their queen, the - daughter of Dieritarastra, knowing that they were rendered cheerless by Arjuna, took her grandson in her arms and went to Arjuna.

 24. The child was the son of Suratha
- (the son of Jayadratha). The brave prince proceeded to his maternal uncle on his car for the safety of all the Daindhava warriors.
 - 25 The queen, arrived before Dhananaya, began to weep in sortow. Seeing her, he powerful Dhananjaya cast off his bow. 26-27. Leaving off his bow, Partha
 - buy received his sister and enquired of her is to what he could do for her. Line queen epited to lum, saying,—U chief of the Bharatay, it is cind is the son of your sister's ton He salutes you. O Partha. Look at him, O foremost of men.
 - 28. Hus addressed by her, Partha enquired after his son (Suratha), saying Where is he?
 - 29 Dusshala answered him, saying.— Burning with grief on account of the destruction of his father, the heroic father of this child died broken-hearted. Listen to me as to how he died.

39-33 O Dhananjaya, he had heard before that his father Jayadratha had been killed by you, O sinless one. Exceedingly afficted with grief at this, and hearing of your

- arrival here as the follower and protector of this secufficial hore, he at once fell donard gaves pit by the following the follo
 - 34 Ary my stond before her in great cheerlessness of heart. His face was turned towards the Earth. The cheerless aside then sai to her brother, who was equally cheerless, these words: See your sister.
 - See the child of your sister's son.

 35. O perpetuater of Kurn's race, O you who are fully conversant with every duty, you should show mercy to this child,
 - forgetting the Kuru prince (Duryodnana) and the wicked Jayadratha. 36 As that destroyer of hostile heroes, Parkshit, has been born of Abhimanyu, so has this mighty-armed child, my grand-
 - son, originated from Suratha.

 37. Taking him with me, O king, I have come to you desirous of the safety of all the warriers! Do you listen to these words
 - of nune.

 38 This child of that nicked enemy of yours has now come to you, O mighty-armed hero. You should, therefore, show mercy to this infant.
 - 39 O chastiser of enemies this unant seeks to please you by bending his head. He solicits you for prace! O mighty-armed hero, be inclined to make peace.
 - 40. O you who know every dity, be pleased with the chill whose friends and knownen have all been killed and who himself knows nothing of what has taken place. Do not yield to anger.
 - 4t Forgetting his disreputable and cruel grandfather, who off-inded against you so highly, it is but fit that you should extend your grace towards this child.
 - 42 Recollecting queen Gandhari and king Dhittarashtra, Dhananjaya, affl etad with gref, addressed Dussiala who had said so to hun, and asswered her, censuring Kahatriya practices all the time.
 - 43 Fie on Duryodhana, that mean person, covetous of kingdom and full of vanity! Alas, it was for him that all my kinsmen have been sent by me to the abade of Yaraa.
 - 44 Having said so, Dhananjaya comforted his sister and became inclined to make peace. Cheerfully, he embraced her and then dismissed her, asking her to

- 45 Dusshala asked all her warrors to desist from that great battle, and adoring Partia, she of beautiful face returned towards her palace.
- 46 Having defeated those heroes, vis, the Saundhavas, thus, Dhananjaya began to follow that horse which ranged at its will.
- 47. The heroic Arjuna duly followed that sacrificial lorse even as the divine holder of Pinska had in days of yore followed the deer through the sky.
- 48 The horse, at its will, passed through various kingdoms successively, multiplying the feats of Arpina.
- 49 In course of time, O king, the horse wandering at its pleasure, at last arrived within the kingdom of Manipura, followed by the son of Pandu

CHAPIER LXXIX.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)—

Vaishampayana said .-

- 1. Hearing that his father Arjuna had arrived within his kingdom, the king of Manipura, Vablicus hand went out with humility, with a number of Brahmanas and some treasure in his van.
- 2 Remembering, however, the duties of Kshatriyas the highly intelligent Dhananlya, seeing the king of Manipura arrive in that guise, did not approve of it.
- 3 The righteous-souled Phalguna angrily said,—Your conduct is not proper. You have certainly fallen away from Kalia-atriya duties.
- 4. I have come here as the protector of Yudhishthira's sacrificial horse. Why, O non, will you not fight me, seeing that I have come within your territories?
 - 5 Fie on you, O you of foolish understanting, fie on you who have deviated from Kithetitya duties! Fie on you who would receive me peacefully even though I have come here for fighting with you
 - 6—3 In thus receiving me peacefully yin act like a winnin O you of wretched understanding, if I had come to you, leaving saiden yin arins, then wild this youndard of yours have been fit, O worst of men! I terming that these works were addressed by her husband, the daughter of the Danke King, vers, U in, in unbit to tele ate:

it, pierced through the Earth and came up there. She saw her son standing there perfectly cheerless and with face hanging down.

9—10. Indeed, the prince was repeatedly rebuked by his father who was desirous of battle with him, O minarch! The daighter of the Snake, passessed of beautiful himbs, was, Ulinja, said these words consistent with righteonises and duty to the prince who himbself was conversant with righteonises and duty. Know that I am your mother Ulipi that am the doughter of a snike.

- 11. Da you perform my order, O son for you would then acquire great merit. Fight your father, this forement one of Kuru's race, this hero who is irresistible in battle.
- 12 Forsooth, he will then be pleased with you. Thus was king Vabhruvahana mented against his father by his (step) mother.
- 13—14 At last, gifted as he was with great energy, he made up his mind, O chief of the Bhiratias, to fight Dhananjaya. Putting on his armore of tir, high of and his shining head-dress, he got upon an his shining head-dress, he got upon as teady on it. That car was equip with incessaries for battle and had horses yoked by which were B. et like the mind.
- 15. It had excellent wheels and a strong Upashiata, and was adorned with golden ornaments of every soit. Raising his mandard which was decorated most beautifully and which hore the device of a lion in gold, the beautiful prince. Vabhruvshara proceeded against this lather for battle.
- 16 Coming upon the sacrificial horse which was protected by Partha, the hersic prince caused it to be seized by persons well-yersed in veterinary science.
- , 17. Seeing the horse seized, Dhananjiya became filled with joy Standing on the Earth, that hero began to oppose the advance of his son who was on his car.
- 18 The king afflicted the hero with repeated showers of arrows gifted with whetted points and resembling snakes of dreadful poison.
- 19 Incomparable was the battle which took place between the father and son. It resembled the battle between the celesteds and the Asuras of old Each was pleased with obtaining the other for an antagonal.
- Then Vabhruvahana, laughing, cut the diadem-decked Arjuna, that feremost of men, in the shoulder with a straight artists.

- 21. Equipt with feathers, that arrow penetrated Arjuna's body like a snake penetrating on an anthill. Piercing the son of Kunti through, the arrow went deep into the Carth.
- 22. Feeling acute pain, the intelligent D rananjaya rested awhile, supporting hims-self on his excellent bow. He stood, having recourse to his celestral energy and scemed externally like one dead.
- that foremost of men, then regaining consciousness, lauded his son Possessed of great splendour, the son of Shakra said, -Excellent, Excellent, O mighty-armed one, O son of Chitrangada! O son, seeing this feat, so worths of you, I am inghly pleased with you
- I shall now discharge these arrows at you, U son! Stand for fight (without tunning away). Having said these words, that destroyer of enemies shot a shower of arrows on the prince.
 - 26 King Vabhruvahana, however, with is own broad headed arrows, cut all those discharged from were Gandiya and which resembled the thunderbolt of Indra in splendour, some in two, and some into three, parts.
 - 27. Then the standard, decked with gold and resembling a golden palmyra, on the king's car was cut off by Partha with some excellent arrows of his-
 - The son of Pandu, laughing, next killed the king's horses of large size and great speed.
 - Descending from his ear, the king, worked up with rage, lought his father on 30. Pleased with the prowess of his son,
 - that foremost one of the sons of Prillia, vis , the son of the wielder of the thunderboit, began to afflict him greatly.
 - 31. The powerful Vabhruvahana, thinking that his tather was no longer able to lace hun, again afflicted hun with many arrows resembling snakes of dreadful DOISON.
 - 32. From a spirit of childishness he then Vigorously cut his father in the breast with a whetted arrow having excellent wings.
 - That arrow, O king, penetrated the body of Pandu's son and reaching his very vitals caused him great pain. delighter of the Kurus, Duananjaya, deeply pierced therewith by his son, then dropped down in a swoon on the Earth, O king! When that hero, that bearer of the burthens of the Kurus, fell down, the prions! The fatter, suddit Mas duint to

- his exertions to battle as also to his grief at seeing his father killed. 36 He had been pierced deeply by
- Arjuna with clouds of arrows He, therefore dropped down at the van of butle embracing the Earth.
 - 37. Hearing that her husband had been killed and that her son had fallen down on the Earth, Clutrangada, in great agitation of mind, went to the field of battle.
 - Her heart burning with sorrow, weeping piteously the while, and trembling all over, the mother of the king of Manipura saw her killed husband.

CHAPIER LXXX.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:--

- 1. Itset lady having eyes like lotuspetals, having bewarled much, and burning with grief, at last list her senses and dropped down on the Earth.
 - 2-3. Regaining consciousness and seeing Utupi, the daughter of the Snake-Chief, queen Contrangada gifted with celestial beauty, said to her these words .- Dee, U Ulupi, our ever victorious husband killed in battle, through you, by my son of tender
 - 4. Do you know the practices of the y c415. respectable? Are you a wife devoted to your husband? It is through your deed, that your husband is laid low, slain in
 - 5. If Dhananjaya has offended against battle. you is every respect, do you for twe him! I solicit you, do you revive that hero.
 - 6 O righteous lady, you know piets, You are, O blessed one, known (for your virtues) over the three worlds! How is it that having caused your husband to be killed by your son, you do not indulge in
 - 7. O daughter of the Snake Chief, I do not grieve for my killed son! I grieve for only my husband who has received this hospitality from his some
 - Having said these words to the queenty Ulupi the daughter of the Snake-King, the illustrious Chitrangada went to where her husband lay on the Barth and addressing him, said,-Rise, O dear Justiand, you occupy the foremost place in the affections of the Kuru-King (Yudmalithura)!

Here is that horse of yours! It has been thereted by me

- to. Indeed O powerful one, this secrificial horse of king Yudhishihira the Just, should be followed by you. Why then do you lie still on the Earth.
 - 11 My life breaths depend on you O delighter of the Kurus. How is it that he who is the giver of other people's life-breaths renounces his own life breaths to day?
- 12. See, O Ulupi, this beautiful form of your husband lying prostrate on the ground How is it that you do not grieve, having caused him to be killed through your wond you did excite with your words?
- 13 It is fit that this boy should yield to the power of death and he thus on the ground besides his own father. On, let Visya, let him that is called Gudakesha, let it is liero with reddish eyes return to life
- 14 O blessed lady, p lygamy is no fault with men Women only commit in liv taking more than one husband. Di mu, therefore, cheristi such thoughts (of tei geance).

 15 11 is relationsh p was ordained by the Supreme Creator himself. It is, besides,
- an eternal and unchangeable one. Do you attend to that relationship Let your union (with Dhananjaya) be made true

 16 It, having killed your husband thio igh your son, you do not revive hint
- to day before my eyes, I shall then renounce my own life-breaths 17. Forsooth, O reverend lady, afflicted as I am with grief and deprived as I am
- of both husband and son, I shall sit lere to day in Praya-vow before your presence.

 18 Having said so to the daughter of the Snake-Chief, who was a co-wife with her
- the Snake-Chief, who was a co wite with her to Arjuna, the princess Chaitravahim hat in Praya, O king, restraining speech.

Vaishampayana said:-

- 19 Ceasing to laincet, the cheerless queen, taking upon her tap the feet of her husband sax there, sighing leavely and dearing also for the restoration of her son to life.
- 20—21 King Vabhruvahana then, regaming connectionanes, awa bis mother seated in that guise on the fifth of battle. Ad beasing her he said —What can be triore painful than the sight of my mother, who has been brought up in luxury, James on the naked Earth beside her heroic husband actetical stereon.
- 22. Alas, this destroyer of all enemies, this foremost of all wielders of weapons, has - been killed by me in battle. It is clear that men do die, till their hour comes

- 23 Oh, the heart of this princes seems to be very hard since it does not break even on seeing her mighty armed and broad chested husband lying dead on the ground.
- 24 It is clear that one does not die till one's hour comes, since neither myself, nor my mother is deprived of life.
- 25. Alas, alas, the golden coat of mail of this foremost hero of Kuru's race, killed by me, his son knewingly, is lying on the ground, cut off from his body.
- 26 Alas, ye Brahmanas, see my heroic father lying prostrate on the Barth, on a hero's bed, killed by his son
- 27 What benefit is done to this hero, killed by me in bittle, by those Brahmanas who were commissioned to attend upon this foremost one of Kunu's race engaged in following the horse?
- 28 Let the Brahmanas direct what expiation should now be done by me, a curl and sinful wretch, who has killed his own father in battle.
- 29 Having killed my own father, I should, suffering every sort of misery, wander over the Earth, cruel that I am, covering myself with his skim.
- 30 Give me the two halves of my sire's head to-day, for there is no other expiation for me who have killed my own failure.
- for me who have killed my own father,

 31 See, O daughter of the foremost of Shakes your husband killed by me Indeed, by killing Arj na in battle I have accom-
- plished what is pleasant to you

 32 I shall to day follow in the track by which my father has gone. O blessed one, I cannot conflort myself.
- 33 Be happy to day, O mother, seeing myself and the wielder of Gandiva both embrace death to day. I swear to you by truth itself.
- 3.1-35 Having said these words, the king, sarely self ced with greef. O monarch, bauched water, and exclaimed in sorrow-let all creatures mobile and immobile, listen to mri Do you also listen to mr. O mother! I say the truth, O best of all daughters of the snakes,
- 36 If this best of men, Jaya, my father does not rise up, I shall emacate my own body, sitting on the field of baltle
- 37 Having killed my father, there is no rescue for me. Afflicted as I am with the sin of patein le, I shall, foreooth, I are to suck in Stell,

- 28 By killing a hereic Kehatriya one ecomes cleansed by miking a gift of a By killing my father, howhundred kine ever, so dreadful fins been my sin that my tescue is infpossible.
- His Dhananjaya, the son of Pandu, was the one hero gilted with mighty energy. Possessed of righteous soul, he was the treator of my being How can I be tescued after having killed him?
- 40 Having bewailed thids, the great sois of Dhananjaya, king Vabliruvahana, touck-ed water and became silent, vowing to starve himself to death.

Vaishampayana said ·--

- 41-42. When the king of Manipilla, that thastiser of enemies, all cled with grief, along with his mother, sat down to starve himself to death. Ulaps then thought of the gem that has the virtue of reviving a dead man The gem, the great refuge of the Sunker, thus thought of, arrived there.
- The daughter of the Prince of Snakes, taking it up, infered these words which half ly gladdened the combatants standing on the field.
- 44 Rise up O son ! Do not grieve ! This hero is incapable of being defeated by men as also by the celestrals headed by Vasava himself.
- l have exhibited this illusion, defeiving your senses, for the benefit of this foremost of men, vis, your illustrious father.
- 45 O' your of Kuru's race, desirous of excertaining the prowess of jourself, his son, this destroyer of hostile heroes, O king, came here for fighting with you
- It was, therefore, O son, that you were urged by me to fight O powerful king O son, do not suspect that you have committed any, even the least, fault, by his challenge
- 48 He is a Rishi, of a powerful souf, eternal and indestructible O dear son, Shakra himself is incapable of defeating I im in battle.
- 49 This celestral gern has been brought by me, O king It always revises the snakes as often as they die.
 - 50 O powerful king, do you place this Rem on the breast of your father. You shall then see the son of Pandu revive
 - 51 Thus addressed, the prince who had committed no sin, moved by love for his father, then placed that gem on the breast at Penting son of incomparable energy.

- After the gem had been placed on lis breast, the heroic and powerful Jishnie became revived Opening his red eyes, he rose up like one who had slept lung.
- Seeing his father, the great here of in exhaustible energy, restored to constitute ness and quite at his ease, Yabbruvahane adored him with respect.
- 94 When that foremost of men, O powerful one, awake from the slumber of death with every auspicious sign of life, the chastiser of Paka ranged down celestial flawers.
- Kettle-drums struck by hobody, produced their music deep as the muttering of the clouds. A foud uprear was heard in the sky consisting of the words-Excellent, Excellent.
- The mighty-armed Dhananjaya, 56 rising up and well comforted, embraced Vabhruvahana and smelled his head
- 57-58 He saw sitting at a distance from I is sen, this latter's mother stricker with grief, in the company of Ulupt. Dhanangaya asked, Wing is it that every thing in the field of battle seems to bear the marks of grief, wonder and pry? If O' destroyer of energies, you know the cause, do you then tell me
- 59 Why has your mother come to the field of battle? Why, also has Ulupi the daughter of the Prince of Snakes, come here 1
 - I know that you had fought this battle with me at my awir command I wish to know what the cause is which has brought out the ladies.
- Thus questioned by Dhanaureys, the intelligent king of Manipura gratified lum by bending his head is respect, and then said, - Let Ulupi be asked.

CHAPIER LYXXI.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Continued.

Arjuna said :-

- 1. What brings you here, O daughter (-in law) of lunu's cace, and wi at, also, ir the cause of the arrival on the field of battle of ler wio is the mother of the king of Maniputat
- He you entertain friendly motives towards il is king. O daugi ter of a snake ! O you of restless glances, do you with good to me 100 ?

- 3 I hope, O you of ample hips, that neither I, nor this Vabruvaliana here, have, O beautiful lady, done any injury to you unconsciously?
- 4 Has Chitrangada of faultless fimbs, descended from the line of Cintravahana, done you any wrong?
- 5. To him the daughter of the Prince of Snakes answered smilingly, -- You have not offended me, nor has Vabhruvahana done me any wrong.
- 6 Nor this prince's mother who is always obedient to me as a hand maid. Listen, how all this has been caused by me.
- 7 You should not be angry with me, ludeed, I seek to please you by bending my liead in respect. O you of Kuru's race all this has been done by me for your good, O powerful one!
- 8—10. O mighty-armed Dhananjays, Hear all that I have done In the great battle of the Bharata-Princes, you had killed the royal son of Shantanu by unfair ways. What I have done has expiated your sin You did not overthrow Bhishma while fighting with you!
- 11—12 He was engaged with Shikandin Relying on him as you'r belp, you did bring about the overthrow of Shantani's son. If you had died without having expated your sin you would then have fallen, forsooth, into Hell on account of that annial deed of yours Even this which you have got from your son is the expanison of that an i.
 - 13 Formerly, O king, I heard this said by the Vasus while they were in the company of Ganga, O you of great intelligence
 - 14-15 After the fall of Shantanu's som, those celestials vis, the Vasus, coming to the banks of Ganga, bathed in her waters, and calling the goddess of that stream, they uttered these terrible words having the sanction of Blaggiarth herself, vis,—Shantanu's son Blashma has been killed by Offian anyjas.
 - 16. Indeed, O'goddess, Bhi-lima then was engaged with another, and had cessed to fight. For this fault we shall to-day imprecate a curse on Dhananjaya I.
 - 17 For this, the goddess Ganga readily agreed, saying,—Be it so I—Hearing these words I became very much distressed and penetraling into the nether regions represented everything to my father.
 - 18-19. Informed of what had taken place, my father became plunged in grief. Going to the Vasus, he begged them for your sake, again and again gratifying them by every means in his power. They then said to him, "Dhananjaya has a highly

- blessed son who, youthful as he is, is the king of Manipura.
- 20 He will, standing on the field of battle, cast Dhananjaya down on the Earth. When this will take place, O Prince of Snakes, Arjuna will be freed from our curse!
- 21. Do you return !-Thus addressed by the Vasus, he came back and informed me of what had taken place. Having learnt all this, O hero I have freed you from the curse of the Vasus in thus.
- incapable of defeating you in battle. The son is one's own self. It is for this that you have been defeated by him.

The king of the celestrals himselfer

- 23 I cannot be held, O powerful one, to have committed any sin How, indeed, would you hold me censurable?
- 21 Thus addressed (by Ulupi), Vijaya became cheerful of heart and said to her,—All this you have done, O goddess, is highly agreeable to me.
- 25-26 After this, Jaya addressed his son, the king of Mannjura, and said to him in the hearing of Chitrangada, the daughter (in law) of Kuru's race 'the Horse-Sacrifice of Yudhishthra will take place on the day of full moon in the coming math of Chaytra, Come there, O kindwith your mother and your counsellors and officers i'
- Vabinavsham of great intelligence, with tearful eyes, and these words to his father. O you who are conversant with every duty, I shall certainly go at your command, to the great Horse Sarchice, and take upin myself the task of distributing food among the twice-born ones!
- 29 For, however, showing your grace towards me, do you enter your own city with your two wives. Do not cherish any scruple about this, O you who are fully acquainted with every duty?
- 30 O lord, having lived for one night in your own palace in happiness, you may then follow the horse, O foremost of victorious warriors!
- 31-32 The ape-hannered son of Kunti, the addressed by his son, answered the child of Chitrangada, saying --You know, mighty-armed one, what yow I am observagt O you of large eyes till the termoation of thus my yow, I cannot enter your city.
- 33 O foremost of men, the sacrificial horse wanders at well. Blessings on you. I must go away I have no place to rest for even a short while!

live yet, O monarch, although you have , Between him and Vijaya took place a very offended me in battle.

Thus addressed, the king Magadha considered himself defeated and spared Thinking then that it was his duty to do so, he approached Ariuna and joining his hands in respect adored him. And he said, - Defeated have I been by you! Blessed be you, I do not venture to continue the battle. Iell me what I am mand as afready carried out."

Comforting him again, Arjuna once more said to him -You should go to the Horse Sacrifice of our king which takes place at the coming full moon of Chaitra.

Thus addressed by him the son of Sahadeva said -So be it,-and then duly adored that horse as also Phalguna, that foremost of warriors.

The sacrificial horse then, having beautiful manes, proceeded at his will along the seacoast, going to the countries of the Bangas, the Pundras, and the Koshalas

In those kingdoms Dhananiava. with his bow Gandiva, O king, defeated numberless Miechchha armies one after another.

CHAPTER LXXXIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued. Vaishampayana continued -

1. Adored by the king of Magadha. Pandu's son having white horses yoked to I is car, proceeded along the south, following the (sacrificial) horse.

Turning round in course of his wanderings at will, the strong horse came upon the beautiful city of the Chedis called after the oyster.

Sharabha, the son of Shishupala, guted with great strength, first met Arjuna in Lattle and then adored him with due l onours.

Adored by him, O king, that best of horses then proceeded to the kingdom of the Kashis, the Angas, the Koshalas, the Kiratas, and the langanas.

Receiving due honours in all those kingdoms Dhananjaya turned his course Indeed the son of Kunts then proceeded to the country of the Dasharnas.

6 The ruler of that people was Chileangada who was gifted with great strength and was a crusher of enemies dreadful battle.

7 Bringing him under his control the diadem decked Arjuna, that foremost of men, went to the kingdom of the Nishada king vis , the son of Ekalavva

The son of Ekalayya received Arruna in battle! The encounter took place between the Kuru hero and the Nishadas was so furious as to make the hairs stand erect.

Unvanguished in battle, the brave son of Kunti defeated the Nishada king who proved an impediment to the sacrifice.

Having subjugated the son of Ekalavya, O king the son of Indra duly adored by the Nishadas, then proceeded towards the southern ocean

11. In those regions battles took place between the diadem decked hero and the Dravidas and Andhras and the dreadful Mahishakas and the hillmen of Kolwa.

Subjugating those tribes without having to perform any terrific feats Arjuna proceeded to the country of the Surashtras, his footsteps guided by the horse. Arrived at Goltarna, he went thence to Prabhasa Then he proceeded to the beautiful city of Dwaravati protected by the heroes of the Vrishm race. When the beautiful sacrificial horse of the Kuru king reached Dwaravati, the Yadava youths, used force against that foremost of horses.

15-16 King Ugrasena, however, soon went out and forbade those youths from doing what they thought Then the king of the Vrishnis and the Andhakas, issuing out of his palace, with Vasudeva, the maternal uncle of Ariuna, in his company, cheerfully met the Kuru hero and received him with due rites.

The two elderly chiefs honoured Arjuna duly Getting their permission, the Kuru prince then proceeded to where the borse he followed led hum.

The sacrificial horse then proceeded along the coast of the western ocean and at last reached the country of the five waters full of population and prosperity.

Thence, O king, the horse proceeded to the country of the Gandharas Arrived there, it roamed at will, followed by the son of Kunti

Then took place a dreadful battle 70 between the diadem-decked hero and the king of the Gandharas, vis , the son of Shakuni, who had a bitter remembrance of the grudge his father bore to the Pandayas.

CHAPTER LXXXIV.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:--

- t. The heroic son of Shakunl, who was a powerful car-warrior among the Gandharas, accompanied by a large army, proceeded against the Kuru hero of curly hair. That force contained elephants, horses and cars, and was adorned with many flags and banners.
- 2. Unable to bear, and, therefore, burning to avenge, the destruction of their king Shakuni, those warriors, armed with bows, rushed together at Partha.
- 3. The unvanquished Vibhatsu of virtuous soul addressed them peacefully, but they were reluctant to accept the beneficial words of Yudhishthira.
- Though forbidden by Partha with sweet words, they still gave themselves up to anger and surrounded the sacrificial horse. At this, the son of Pandu became filled with
- 5. Then Arjuna, carelessly shooting from Guidiva many acrows with razor-like heads that blazed with splendour, cut off the heads of many Gundhara warriors.
- While thus killed by Partha, the Gandharas, O king, exceedingly afflicted, liberated the horse, moved by fear and desisted from battle.
 - 7. Resisted, however, by those Gan-nara combatants who still surrounded him n all sides, the son of Pandu, grited with reat energy, cut off the heads of many, reviously naming those whom he thus ulted.
 - When the Gandhara warrsors were hus being killed all around him in battle, he royal son of Shakum came forward to resist the son of Pandu.
 - In the Gundhara king who was fighting with him, moved by Kshatriya duty, Arjuna sail,-I do not intend to kill the kings who fight with me, on account of the commands of Yudhishthira.
 - to. Cease, O hero, to fight with me Do not seek defeat.
 - 11. Thus addressed, the son of Shakuni, stupefied by folly, disregarded that advice and covered with many swift shafts the Kuru hero who resembled Shakra himself in the feats he performed in battle.
 - Then Partha, with a crescent shaped arrow, cut off the head-gear of his enemies. Of immeasurable soul, he also caused that

- head-gear to be borne along a great distance like the head of Jayadratha. Seeing this feat, all the Gandhara
- warriors became stricken with wonder. they full well understood that Arjuna voluntarily spared their king.
- 14. The prince of the Gandharas then began to fly away from the field, followed by all his warriors who resembled a flock of frightened deer.
- The Gandharas, through fear, lost their senses and wandered over the field, unable to escape. Arjuna, with his broadheaded arrows, cut off the heads of many.
- 16 Many there were who lost their stupefied were they with fear that they were not aware of the loss of that limb. Indeed, the Gandhara army was greatly afflicted with those large arrows which Partha discharged from Gandiva.
- That army, which then consisted of frightened men and elephants and horse, which lost many warriors and animals, and which had been disordered and routed, began to wander and wheel about the field again and again.
 - Among those enemies who were thus being killed, none could be seen standing in front of the Kuru hero famed for foremost of leats. No one could be seen who was able to bear the prowess of Dhananjaya.
 - Then the mother of the king of the Gaudharas, filled with fear, and with all the aged ministers of state, came out of her city, taking an excellent Arghya for Arjuna.
 - 20. She forbade her brave son of steady heart from fighting any longer, and pleased Jislinu who was never fatigued with toil.
 - The powerful Vibhatsu adored her and became inclined to show mercy towards the Gendharas. Comforting the son of Shakuni, he said -You have not, O mightyarmed liero, done what is agreeable to me by adopting these hostile measures I O destroyer of heroes, you are my brother, O sinless one.
 - 23 Recollecting my mother Gandhari, and for the sake of Dhritarashtra also, I and for the sake of District and and the have not taken your life. It is for this, O king, that you live still. Many of your followers, however, have been killed by
 - Let not such a thing happen again. Let hostilities cease. Let not your understanding again go wrong You should go to the Horse-Sacrifice of our king which takes place on the day of full moon of the mouth of Chaura.

CHAPTER LXXXV. (ANUGITA PARVA.)—

(ANUGITA PARVA.)— Continued.

Vaishampayana said :-

- t. Having said these words, Partha started, following the horse which roamed at will. The sacrificial horse then turned towards the road leading to the city of Hastinapur,
- 2. Yudhishthiraj heard from his intelligence-bearers that the horse had turned back. And hearing also that Arjuna was hale and hearty, he became filled with joy.
- 3. Hearing also the feats, performed by Vijaya in the country of the Gandharas as also in other kingdoms, the king became highly pleased.
- 4—6 In the meantime, seeing that the twelfth day of the lighted form, hit in the mouth of Magha ladd come, and marking also that the constellation has alworable, king Yudhishihira the six and blood and has brothers, xxx, Bunna and Norda and Sahadeva. Grifed with preat temporal forms of all persons knowing duties, and these words in proper time. Indeed, that foremost of all speakers, addressing Bluma, the first of all smiters, said;
- 7. Your younger brother (Arjuna), O Bhimasena, is returning with the horse. I base learnt this from those men who had followed Arjuna.
- 8. The time is come. The sacrificial-horse is near. The dip of full moon of the month of Migha is also near. The month is about to expire, O. Vijkodara
- g Let, therefore, learned Brilimanas knowing the Vedas look for a sacrificial spot for the celebration of the Horse Sacri-
- to. Thus addressed, Bhima obeyed the royal command the became very glad upon bearing that Arjuna of curly hair was about to return.
- 11. Then Bluma went out with a number of men knowing the rules of laying out sacrificial grounds and constructing buildings. And he took with him many Brahmatias well versed in all the rules of sacrification.
- 12. Bluma selected a beautiful place and caused it to be duly mensured out for laying the sacrificial compound. Numberless houses and maissions were constructed on it and high and broad roads also were laid cut.

- 13 Soon endugh the Kaurava hero filled that ground with thundreds of excellent pealaces. The surface was levelled and made smooth with jenels and gems, and adorned with various golden structures.
- 14. Columns were raised, ornamented with bright gold and high and wide triumphal arches also were made on that sacrificial compound. All these were made of pure gold,
- 15 The righteous-souled prince also caused apartments to be duly constructed for the accompdation of ladies and of the numerous kings who, coming from many kingdoms, were expected to grace the sacrifice with their presence.
- 16 The son of Kunti also caused many palaces to be duty erected for Brahmanas who were expected to come from various kingdoms.
- 17. Then the mighty-armed Bhimasena, at the command of the king, sent out messengers to the great kings of the Earth.
- 13. Those best of kings came to the Horse Sacrifice of the Kuru king for doing what was agreeable to him. And they brought many gems with them and many female slaves and horses and weapons
- 19 The sounds which arose from those great kings who lived within those privious touched the very heavens and resembled the noise made by the roaring ocean.
- 20 King Yudhis'ithira, the delighter of the Kurus, assigned to the monarchs who thus came to his sacrifice various kinds of food and drink, and beds also of celestial beauty.
- 21 The chief of the Bharatas, vis. king Yudhishthira the just, assigned several stables well filled with different kinds of corn and sugar cane and milk to the animals.
- 22. To that great sacrifice of king Mulashthra the just who was gifted with high intelligence, there also came a large number of ascetics all of whom were utterers of Brailma
- 23 Indeed, O king, all the foremost ones among the twice born class that were then alive came to that sacrifice, accompanied by their disciples. The Kuru king received them all
- 24 King Yudhishtlira of great energy, renouncing all pride, I imself followed all his guests to the payihons that had been assigned for their residence.
- 25 Then all the mechanics and engineers, having completed the arrangements of the sacrifice, informed king Yudhishthira of it.

26. Hearing that everything was ready. king Yudhishthira the just, full of alertness and attention, became highly pleased along with his brothers all of whom honoured him

Vaishampayana said:—

- 27. When the great sacrifice of Yudhishthira began, many eloquent dialecticians statted diverse propositions and disputed thereon, desirous of defeating one another.
- 29 The (invited) kings saw the excellent preparations of that sacrifice, resemthing those of the king himself of the celestials, made, O Bharata, by Biamasena.
- 29. They saw many triumphal arches made of gold, and many beds and seats and other articles of enjoyment and luxury, and tro vds of men collected at different parts.
- 30. There were also many jars and vessels and cauldrons and jugs and lids and covers. The invited kings saw nothing there that was not made of gold.
- 31. Many sacrificial stakes also were set up, made, according to the directions of the scriptures, of wood, and adorned with gold Gifted with great effulgence, these were duly planted and dedicated
- 32 The kings, again, saw all animals of land and water, collected there on the eccasion.
- 33-44. And they also saw many kine and many buffaloes and many old women, and many aquatic animals, many beasts of prey, and many species of birds, and many specimens of viviparous and oviparous creatures, and many that are filth-born and many belonging to the vegetable kingdom, and many animals and plants which live or grow on mountains.
 - 35 Seeing the sacrificial compound thus adorned with animals and kine and corn, the invited kings became filled with wonder.
 - 36. Large masses of costly sweetmeats were kept ready for both the Brahmanas and the Vaishyas. And when the feeding was over of a hundred thousand Brahmanas, drums and cymbals were beat.
 - And so large was the number fed that the sounds of drums and cymbals were heard again and again Indeed, those sounds continued from day to day.
 - 33. Thus was performed that sacrifice of the intelligent king Yudhishihira. Many hills of food, O king, were dedicated on the occasion Many large tanks were seen of curds and many lakes of clarified butter.
 - 39 In that great sacrifice, O monarch, was seen the entire population of Jamvu-

- dwipa, with all its kingdoms and provinces, collected together.
- 40-41 Thousands of nations and races were there A large number of men, O chief of Bharata's race, adorned with garlands and wearing bright ear-rings made of gold, taking numberless vessels in their hands, distributed the food to the twiceborn classes by hundreds and thousands.
 - The attendants of the Pandavas gave away to the Brahmanas various kinds of food an I drink which were, besides, so costly as to be worthy of being eaten and drunk by kings themselves.

CHAPIER LXXXVI.

(ANUGIIA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:— 🕠

- 1-2. Seeing those kings-lards of Earth-all conversant with the Vedas, arrive, king Yudhishthira, Bhimasena, said,-O chief of men, let proper honors be paid to these kings who have come, for these foremost of men are all worthy of the highest honors.
 - Thus addressed by the illustrious 3. Thus addressed by Son Blumasena king Yudhishthura, Pandu's son Blumasena of mighty energy did as he was ordered, assisted by the twins.
 - The foremost of all men, Govinda, came there, accompanied by the Vrishnis, and with Valadeva in the van. 5. He was accompanied by Yuyudhana and Pradyumna and Gada I and Nishatha
 - and Shamva and Kritavarman The powerful car-warrior Bhima offered them the most respectful adoration. Those princes then entered the palaces,
 - adorned with genis, which were assigned to 7. At the end of a conversation he had with Yndhishthira, the destroyer of Madhu them.
 - referred to Ary ma who had been emacrated on account of many fights The son of Kunts repeatedly asked Krishna, that chastiser of enemies, about Arguna To Dharma's son, the lord of all the universe began to speak about Jishnu,
 - the son of Shakra. 9 O king, a confidential agent of mine hving in Dwarka came to me. He had seen har foremost of Pandu's sons. Indeed, the latter has been very much emaciated with the fatigue of many battles.

- to. O powerful monarch, that agent of mine informed me that the mighty-armed hero is very near to us. You begin to celebrate your Horse-Sacrifice.
- 11. Thus addressed, king Yudhishthira the just said him,—By good luck, O Madhava, Arjuna comes back safely !
- 12 I wish to ascertain from you, O delighter of the Yadavas, what has been said in this matter by that mightiest of heroes amongs the sons of Pandu!
- 13—14 Thus addressed by king Yudhishira the just, the lord of the Vrishins and the Andiakas, that foremost of eloquent men, said these words to that monarch of righteous soul—My agent, reported the words of Partha thus to me, O great king,—Yudhishibira, O Krishina, should be told these words of on mine when the time comes!
- 15 O chief of the Kauravas, many kings will come (to your sacrifice)! When they arrive, high honours should be paid to them. This would, indeed, be worthy for us
- to—17. O giver of honours, the king should lutther be informed at my request that he should do what is necessary for preventing a distinction similar to what octured at the time of presenting the Arghya (on the occasion of the Rajasuya Sacrifice) Let Krishna also approve of this Let not, O king, through the sill feeling of kings, the people be destroyed.
- 18. My man further reported, O king, these words of Dhananjaya. Listen as I repeat them.
- 19 O monarch, the king of Manipura, my dear son Vabhruvahana, will come at the sacrifice.
- 20. Do you honour him duly for my sake, O powerful one, he is always attached and deeply devoted to me
- 21. Hearing these words, king Yudhishthira the just approved of them and said as follows.

CHAPTER LXXXVII.

(ANUGITA PARVA)-

Yudhishthira said -

- 1. I have heard, O Krishna, your agreeable words, They are worthy of you Gladsome and sweet as nectar are they Indeed, they fill my heart with great joy, O powerful one.
 - 2. O Hrishikesha, I have heard that

- Vijaya has lought numberless battles with the kings of the Earth, 3 Why is Partha, always dissociated from ease and comfort? Vijaya is exceed-
- from ease and comfort? Vijaya is exceedingly intelligent. This, therefore, pains my heart very much.
- 4 I always, O Janarddana, think, when I am withdrawn from business, of Kunti's son Jishnu. The lot of that delighter of the Pandus is highly miserable.
- 5. His body has every auspicious mark. What, however, O Krishna, is that sign in his excellent body for which he has always to suffer misery and discomfort?
- 6 I hat son of Kunti has to bear a large share of misery. I do not see any consurable mark in his body. You should explain the cause to me if I deserve to hear it.
- 7. Thus addressed, Hushikesha, that enhancer of the glory of the Blora princes, having thought for a long time, answered as follows:—I do not see any censurable mark in this prince, except that the cheek-bones of this foremost of men are a little too high
- 9 For this that that foremost of men has always to be on the road I really do not see anything else fer which he could be made so unhappy.
- 10. Thus answered by the intelligent Krishna, that foremost of men, vis, king, Yudhishthira, said to the chief of the Vrishnis that it was even so.
- 11. The princess Draupadi, however, looked angrily and askance at Krishna. The destroyer of Keshi, vis., Hrishikeshi, approved of that mark of love (for his friend) which the princess of Panchala, who also was his friend, showed.
 - 12 Bhimasena and the other Kurus, including the sacrificial priests, who heard of the agreeable triumphs of Arjuna in course of his following the horse, became highly pleased.
 - 13. While they were still engaged in talking about Arj ma, a messenger came from that great hero bearing message from him.
 - 14 Going to the presence of the Kuru king the intelligent messenger bowed his head in respect and informed him of the arrival of that foremost of men, vis., Phalguna.
- 15 On receipt of this news tears of joy covered the king s eyes. Large gifts were made to the messenger for the very sweet tidings he had brought.
- 16 On the second day from that date, a loud din was heard when that foremost of men, that chief of size Kurus, came.

- ti The dust raised by the hoofs of that horse as it walked close to Arjuna, looked as beautiful as that raised by the celestial torse Uchcharshrages
- 18 And as Arjuna advanced, he heard many pleasing words uttered by the cuttens By good luck, O Partha, you are out of danger, Praise to king Yudhishthira.
- 19 Who else than Arjuna could return after having caused the horse to wander over the whole Earth and after having defeated all the kings in battle?
- 20. We have not heard of such a feat having been done by even Sagara and bilier great kings of vore.
- 2t. Future kings also will never be able to perform so difficult a feat, O foremost one of Kuru's race, as this which you have done.
- 22. Listening to such words, agreeable to the ear, of the cuizens, the righteous souled Phalguna entered the sacrificial tompound.
- 23 Then king Yudhishthira with all his himsters, and Krishna, the delighter of the Yadus, plating Dhritarashtra in their van, went out for receiving Dhanantaya
- 24 Saluting the feet of his uncle (Ohritarashtra), and then of wise king Yudhishthira the just, and then adoring Bhima and others, he embraced Keshava
- 25 Adored by them all and worship ping them in return according to due rites, the mighty-armed hero, accompanied by those princes, took cest like a ship wrecked man tossed on the waves resting on reaching the shore.
- 26 Meanwhile the wise king Vabhrd-Vahana, accompanied by his mothers [Chitrangada and Ulupi], came to the Kura Capital.
- 27 The mighty-armed prince dily saluted all his elders of Kuru's race and the other kings present there, and was honored by them all in return. He then extered the excellent abode of his grandmother Kunti.

CHAPTER LXXXVIII.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said:-

 Entering the palace of the Pandavas the mighty-armed prince saluted his grandmether in soothing and sweet words.

- 2 Then queen Chitrangada, and (Ulupi) the daughter of (the snake) Karravya, together humbly approached Pritha and Krishna I hey then met Subhadra and the other fadies of the Kuru race with due formalities.
- 3 Kunti gave them many gems and costly illings Draupadi and Subhadra and the other ladies of Kuru's race all made presents to them.
- 4 The two ladies took up their residence there, using costly beds and seats, treated with affection and horor by Kunti herself from desire of doing what was agreeable to Partha.
- 5 King Vabhrovahana of great energy, duly honored (by Kuntt), then met Dhritasashtra according to due rites
- 6 Going then to king Yudhishthira and Bhima and the other Pandavas the mighty prince of Munipura saluted them all with humility.
- ? They all embraced him with great love and honored him duly. And those powerful car-warrior highly pleased with him, made large gifts of wealth to him
- 8 The king of Manquera then humbly approached Krishna, that here armed with the discus and the mace like a second Fradyumna approaching his lather Krishna, gave to the king a very costly and excellent car adorned with gold and to which were violed excellent the second of the second
- to Then king Yudhishhira the Just, and Bhima, and Phalguna and the twins, each separately honored him and made costly presents to him
- 11-12 On the third day, the sage Vyasa the son of Satyavatı, that forement of elequent men approaching Yudushthira, sand,—From this day, O son of Kuntl, do you begrs your sacrefice. The time for it has come! The moment for undertaken the results as a thand. The priests are urging you
- 13 Let the sacrifice be performed in such a way that no limb may become delective. On account of the very large quantity of gold that is required for this sacrifice, it has come to be called the sacrifice of profuse gold.
- 14. Do you also, O great king, make the Dakshina of this sacrifice three times of what is enjoined. Let the merit of your sacrifice increase threefold. The Brahmanas are competent for the purpose.
- 15. Acquiring the merits then of three Horse-Sacrifices, each with profuse presents, you shall be freed $0 king, from the sin of haying killed your kinsmen,

- 16 The bath which one performs upon a completion of the Horse-Sacrifice, O king, is highly powerful and productive of the highest ment. That ment will be yours, O king of Kuru's race
- 17 Thus addressed by Vyasa of incomparable intelligence, the righteous souled Yudhishthira of great energy underwent the initiation for performance of the Horse-Sacrifice.
- 18. The mighty-armed king then performed the great Horse Sacrifice charactetised by gifts of food and presents in profusion and capable of fructifying every desire and producing every merit.
- 19 The priests, well-conversant with the Vedas, did every rite, duly, moving about in all directions. They, were all well-trained, and possessed of omniscience.
- 20 In nothing was there any deviation from the ordinances, and nothing was done improperly. Hose foremost of twice-born persons followed the proced are as laid down as it should be followed in those points about which no directions are given.
- 21. Those best of twice-born ones having first performed the rite called Pravargya otherwise called Dharma, then duly performed the rite of Abhushava, O king
- 22 Those foremost of Soma Drinkers O monarch, extracting the juice of the Soma, then performed the Savana rite, following the injunctions of the scriptures.
- 23 Among those who came to that sacrifice none could be seen who was cheerless, none who was punged into grief, and none that seemed to be vulgar.
- 24. Bhumasena of great energy, at the command of the king, caused food to be ceaselessly distributed among those who desired to eat.
- 25. Following the infunctions of the scriptures, priests, well versed in sacrificial rites of every kind, performed every day all the acts necessary to complete the great sacrifice.
- 26 Amongst the Sadayyas of king Vudishiran of great intiligence there was none who was not a master of the six brancles of (Vedic) learning. Here was none among them who was not an observer of vows, none who was not an Upadhaya, none who was not an Upadhaya, none who was not well-versed in dialectical daputations.
- 27. When the time came for erecting the sacrificial stake, O chief of Bharatas race, six stakes were set up which were made of Vilwa, six which were made of Khadira, and six which were made of Sarrayarnin,

- 2840 Two stakes were set up by the priests which were made of Devadaru in that sacrifice of the Kuru king, and one which was made of Sileshmataka.
- 29! At the behest of the king, Bhima caused some other stakes to be set up, for the sake of beauty only, which were made of gold.
- 30 Adorned with fine cloths supplied by the royal sage, these stakes shone there like Indra and the delies with the seven celestial Rishis standing around them in Heaven.
- 31. A number of golden bricks were made for making therewill a Chayana. The Chayana made resembled in beauty that which had been made for Daksha, the lord of creatures.
- 32. The Chayana measured eight and ten cubits and had four stortes or lairs. A golden bird, of the shape of Garuda, was then made, having three angles.
- 33 Following the injunctions of the scriptures, the priests endued with great learning then dily tied to the stakes both animals and birds, assigning each to its particular deity.
- 34 Bulls, possessed of such marks as are mentioned in the scriptures, and aquatic animals were properly tied to the stakes after the rites of the sacrificial fire had been performed.
- 35. In that sacrifice of the great son of Kunti, three hundred animals were tied to the stakes set up, including that foremost of horses.
- 36 That sacrifice looked greatly heautiful as if adorned with the celestial Rishin, with the Gandharvas singing ja chorus and the various tribes of Apsaras dancing in meriment.
- 37 It teemed, besides, with Kimpurusshas and was jadurned with Kinnaras. All around it were houses of Brahmanas crowned with ascetic success.
- 33 There were daily seen the disciples of Vyasa, those foremost of twee-born ones, who are compilers of all branches of learning, and well conversant with sacraficial ritles.
- 39 There was Narala, and there was Tuntviru of great splendour. There were Vishwayasu and Churasena and others, all of whom were professed in music.
- all of whom were proficient in music.

 40 At internals of the sacrificial riter, those Gandaranas skilled in music and well-versed in dancing, used to please the Brahmanas who were engaged in the szerifice.

CHAPTER LXXXIX.

(ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Continued. Vaishampayana said:-

1. Having cooked, according to due tites, the other excellent animals which were sacrificed, the priests then sacrificed, according to the injunctions of the scriptures, that horse (which had wandered over the whole world).

After cutting that horse into pieces, according to scriptural directions, they taused Draupadi of great intelligence, who was possessed of the three requisites of Mantras things, and devotion, to sit near the divided animal.

The Brahmanas then, with cool minds taking up the marrow of that horse, cooked it duly, O chief of Bharata's race. King Yudhishthira the just, with all his younger brothers, then smelled, according to the scriptures, the smoke, capable of purging one from every sin, of the marrow that was thus cooked.

The remaining limbs, O king, of hat horse, were paired into the fire by the Ixteen sacrificial priests possessed of great wisdom. 6 Having thus completed the sacrifice of that monarch who was gifted with the energy of Shakra himself, the illustrious Vyasa with his disciples eulogised the king greatly. 7. Then Yudhishthira gave away to the Brahmanas a thousand crores of golden Histhias, and to Vyasa he gave away the whole Barth.

Satyavati's son Vyasa, having accepted the Birth, addressed that foremost one of Bharata's race, wis king Yndiashthira the just, and said -O best of lings, the Earth which you have given me I seturn to you! D: you give me the purchasing value, for Brahmanas are desirous of wealth

The great Yudhishthara of great intelligence staying with his brothers in the midst of the kings savited to his sacrifice, said to those Brahmanas 1-

11. The Dakshina ordained in the scriptures for the great Harse-Sacrifice is the Earth Hence, I have given away to the sacrificial priests the Earth conquered by 12 ve torement of transmance, a present of the forest. Do ye divide the Earth 25 Thut pleased with presents in and his manney yourselves! Indeed, do you divide a king Yadhashibura of great intelligence, the the Earth into four parts according to what is done in the Chatuthotra-Sacrifice,

Ye best of twice-born ones, ! de not wish to appropriate what now belongs to the Brahmanas This, ye learned Brahmanas, his been the intention of myself and my brothers When the king said thesa words, his brothers and Draspadi also said - Yes, it is even so. Great was the sensation created by this announcement.

Then, O Bharata, an invisible voice was heard in the sky, saying - Pxcel ent, Excellent! The mi, murs, at a, of cr als of Brahmanas as they spoke, arcsu. er li

The Island both K is on, applauting him, ore it . . Yudhishthura telore it 3 dies, 4,441 ing - The Birth has bee to me! I, however, give he hace to be

Do you give to three Braims is and Let the Earth be yours !

18 Then Vasudeva, addressing hog Yudhishthara the just, said - You should do as you are ordered by the illustrious

Vyasa 1 Thus addressed, that foremost one of Kurn's race, along with all his brothers, became pleased and gave away in Pions of golden coms, in fact, trebling the Dakshina ordained for the Horse-Sacrifice. 20. No other king will be able to accomplish what the Ruru king did on that occasion like Marutta.

21. Accepting that wealth, the Islandborn sage, Krishna of great learning, gave it to the sacrifict il priests, dividing it into

22. Having paid that wealth as the price of the Earth, Yudhushthira, purged of his sus and assured of Heaven, rejoiced wills his brothers

He sacrificial priests, having got that unlimited quantity of siches, distributed it aming the Brahman is gladly and according to the desire of each recipient, The Bral manas, also divided ain rigst themselves, according to Yusinsi the rawhich were in the sacrificial company ! ! . culting the tecomphal actes, the steams, ile jees, and various kinds of vessels.

After the Bial minas haltik 150 much as they wished, the wealth t at remained was taken away by 'selecti you and Vandayas and Shudras and vatirus to be of Michel has

25. Thus pleased with presents n arte bit

Brahmanas, filled with joy, returned to

- 27. The holy and illustrious Vyasa respectfully presented ins own share, which
- was very large, of that gold to Kunti. 28 Receiving that gift of affection from ther father-in-law, Pritha became pleased and devoted it to the performance of various acts of ment.
- ag King Yudhishthira, having bathed at the conclusion of his sacrifice and become purged of all his sins, shote in the milst of his brothers, honoured by all, like the king of the dettes in the midst of the deellers of the celestial region.
- The sons of Pandu, surrounded by the assembled kings, looked as beautful, O king, as the planets in the midst of the starts
- 31 To those kings they made presents of various jewels and gems, and elephants and horses and ornaments of gold, and while slaves and cloths and immense quantity of gold.
- 32 Indeed, Pritha's son, by distributing that untold riches among the invited kings, shore, O king, like Vaishravana, the lord of riches.
- 33. Sammoning next the heroic king Vaphrawanana, Yudhishthira, gave to him various kinds of wealth in profusion and gave him permission to return home.
- 34. The son of Pandu, for pleasing his ster Dusshala, established her infant grandson in his paternal kingdom,
- 35. The Kuru king Yudhishthira, having a nill mastery over his senses, than dismissed the assembled kings all of whom had been preperly classed and honoured by limb.
- 35-37. The illustrious son of Pandu, it it chastier of fees, then duly adoed the great Govinila and Valadeva of great guoses under who thousands in wheet Versing Pradyuma for their first Assisted by its brothers, he then dismissed them for returning to Dwaraka.
- 38 Thus was celebrated that sacrifice of sing Yudi idid for the jist, which was disdinguished by a profusion or flood and scattle and severs and genus, and occans of whose of different hands.
- 39 There were takes whose mire consisted of classified butter and maintains of 1991 Uses were, tho, O chief of Biarata's rice many rivers made of drinks having the x kinds of taste.
- ar Of men employed in making and as in, the assectionests called Khandaya-

- ragas, and of animals killed for food, there was no end.
- 41. I he wast compound was filled with men inchriated with wine, and with young ladies filled with 19. The extensive grounds constantly echoed with the sounds of drums and the blare of conclis. With all these, the sacrifice became highly delightful.
- 42. Let agreeable things be given away, "- Let agreeable food be cated,"—
 I lives were the sounds which were repeatedly heard day and night in that sacrifice. It was like a great festival, full of rejoicing and contented men. People of various kingdoms speak of that sacrifice to this day.
- 43 Having showered wealth in tortents, and warnus objects of desire, and pewis and drinks of various kinds, the foremost one of Bharata's race, purged of all his sits, and his purpose fulfilled, entered his capital.

CHAPTER XC.

(ANUGIIA PARVA)-

Continued.

Janamejaya said:-

I You should tell me of any wonderful incident which took place in the sacrifice of my grandsire.

Vaishampayana said: -

- 2 Hear, O chief of kings, of a most wonderful event which took place, O powering menarch, at the conclusion of that great Horse-Sacustice.
- 3—5. On all the foremest of Brahmanas and all the kinsmen and relatives and friends, and all the poor, the blind, and the heipless ones, being gratified, O clitel of Bharata's race, when the grits made in profusion were being spoken of on all sides, indeed when flowers were rained thron on the lead of king. Yudishshirar the just, a blue syed mungo se, O suiless one, with one saide of his body converted into gold, came there and spoke in a voice that was all loud and deep as thunder.
- 6—7 Repeatedly intering such deep sounds and berely rightening all animals and trick, that proud dweller of a hola, with lark blody spike in a human whole, and said,—'Ve kiner, this great sacrificst not equal to a practice of powdered baffey given away by a literal Brahmana of Kurtkshetra who was obsering the Unchcha vow,

- 8 Hearing these words of the mungoose, Oking, all those foremost of Brahmanas became stricken with wonder.
- Approaching the mungoose, they then asked him, saying, Whence have you come to this sacrifice, this resort of the good and the pious?
 - What is the extent of your power? What your learning? And what your refuge? How should we know you who thus censure this our sacrifice?
 - Without having disregarded any portion of the scriptures, everything that should be done has been done fiere accord. mg to the Iscriptures and according to reason, with the help of various sacrificial

- 12 Those who are deserying of adoration, have been duly adored here according to the way pointed out by the scrip ures I bations have been poured on the eacred fire with the help of proper Mantras which should be given, has been given away wahout pride.
- The twice born class have been pleased with gifts of various kinds Kshatriyas have been pleased with battles fought according to jist methods grandfathers have been pleased with Shraddhas
- The Vaishyas have been pleased by the protection offered to them, and many foremost of women have been pleased by accomplishing their desires have been pleased by kind speeches, and Others with the residue of the profuse wealth collected on the spot
 - Kinsmen and relatives have been pleased by the purity of conduct shown by our king. The celestrals have been pleased by libations of clarified butter and acts of merit, and dependants and followers by protection.
 - 16 That, therefore, which is true, do you truly declare to these Brahmanas Indeed do you declare what is according to the scriptures and to actual experience asked by the Brahmanas who are eager to know. You are
 - Vour words are creditable You have have also, a celestral form 17 You have come into the midst of lears ed You should explain yourself '
 - Brahmanas Thus addressed by those twice born persons, the mungoose, smiling, answered them as follows - Ye twice-born ones the words I have uttered are not false Neither have Lapoken them from pride.
 - You have all heard what I have You foremost of twice born persons,

- this sacrifice is not equal in merit to the gilt of a prastha of powdered barley.
- Forsooth, I should say this, O foremost of Brahmanas Listen to me with rapt attention as I truly describe to joi
 - what took place Wonderful and excellent was the event that happened It was seen by me and its consequences were felt by me incident relates to a liberal Brahmana living in Kurukshetra in the observance of the Uncheha vow.
 - 22. On account of that incident he attained to Heaven, O twice-bors ones alvig with his wife and son and dailghter in-law. And in consequence of what then took place half my body became changed into gold

The Mungoose continued -

- 23. O twice born ones, I shall presently tell you what the excellent fruit was of the gift made by a Brahmana, of a very little measure (of powdered batley) acq ared by fair means.
 - On that rigiteous spot of ground known by the name of Kurukshatra, which is the habitation of many righteous persons, there lived a Brahmana observing the Uncheha vow. I hat mode of living is like that of the prgeon.
 - 25 He lived there with his wife and son and daughter in law and practised penauces Of righteous saul, and with senses completely controlled, he adopted the mode of living which is followed by a pariet.
 - 26-28 Of excellent vows, he used to eat every day at the sixth division there was nothing to eat at the sixth division of the day, that excellent Bral mana would fast for that day and eat the next day at the sixth division On one occasion day at the sixth division Je Brahmanas, there took place la dreadful famine in the Land. During that time there was nothing stored in the abede of that righteous Brahmana The hert's at d plants vere all dried up and the who's kingdom became youl of food stores
 - 29 When the habitual hours came for exting, the Brahmana had nothing to est. this happened day after day members of his family were stricken with hunger but were obliged to pass the days as best they could
 - 32 One day, in the month of Justitha, while the Sun was in the meridian, the Brahmana was engaged in picking up grains of corn -Aff cted by heat and hunger, he was practising this penance.

- 31. Unable to obtain grains of corn, the Brahmana soon became exhausted with hunger and toil. Indeed, with all the members of his family, he had no food to eat.
- 32 That best of Brahmanas passed the days in terrible suffering. One day, after the sixth division came, he succeeded in getting a bratthe of bailey.
- 33—34 I hat barley was then reduced by those ascettes to powder for making what is called Saktis of it. Having finished their silent recitations and other daily rites, and having duly poured libations on the sacred fire, those ascence divided that little quantity of providered barley amongst themselves so that the share of each came up to the measure of Kndaras (twelved double handfuls). As they were about to sit down for eating, there came to their abode a guest.
- 35 Seeing the person who came as a guest, all of them became highly pleased Indeed, seeing him, they saluted him and made the usual enquiries of health and happiness.
- 35. I hey were of pure minds, self-controlled, and gifted with faith and control over the passions. Freed from malice, they I al conquered anger. Possessed of prety, they were never pained at seeing other - people's happiness. Jhey had renewised pride and haugt times and and anger. Indeed, they knew every duty, O foremost of sense born ones! Informing their guest of their own penances and of the race or family a which they belonged, and accetaning from him return those particulars, they caused that hungry guest of theirs to enter their cottage. Addressing han they and,—this is the Arghya for you. This water is for washing your feet. There are scattered some Rusha grass for your seat, U sinday on the say of the say
- 39 Here is some clean Saktu acquired by lawful means, O powerful one! Given by us, O foremost of twice-born persons, do you accept it.
- 40. Thus addressed by them, that Brahmana accepted the Ku Lava (twelve double handful) of powdered barley which was offered to tim and ate it all. But his hunger, O king, was not satisfied with what he are.
- 41. The Brahmana while observing the Uncheha vow, seeing that his guest a hunger was still unsatisfied, began to it ink of what other food he could place before hun for pleasing him.
- 42. Then his mile said to him, Let my you are greatly meakened. Were share be given to hin! Let this freemost lasts, you are very much emacusted.

- of twice-born persons be pleased and let
- 43 Knowing that his chaste wife who said so, was herself stricken with hunger, that best of Brahmanas could not approve of her share of the powdered barley bring given to the guest.
- 44-46 Indeed, that best of Brahmanas endued with learning, knowing from his own state that his aged ton worn, cheerless, and helpless wife was herself afflicted by hunger, and seeing that lady who had been emacated into mere shin and bones, as quivering with weakness, addressed her and said,—'O beautiful one, with even worms and insects, wives are fed and protected, You should not, therefore, say so. I he wife treats her insband with kindness and leeds and protects him.
- 47 Everything connected with refigion, pleasure, and wealth, careful nursing, offspring for perpetualing the race, are all dependent on the wife. Indeed, the ments of a person himself as also of his deceased ancestors depend also on her.
- 43. The wife should know her husband by his deeds. Indeed, that man who fails to protect his wife, earns great infamy here and goes into Hell hereafter. Such a mai falls down from even a position of great fame and never succeeds in acquiring happy regions hereafter.
 - 49 Thus addressed, she answered him, saying, —O twice born one, our religious acts and wealth are united. Do you take a fourth of this barley! Indeed, be pleased with me.
- 51. Fruth, pleasure, religious merit, and II aven, as acquirable by goo 1 qualities, of women, as also all the objects of their desire. O foremost of twice butti ones, depend on the husband.
 - 5t. In the production of children the mother contributes her blood. The father contributes his seed. The husband is the highest detty of the wife. Through the layour of the hisband, women get both pleasure and offspring as the reward.
 - 51. You are my Patt flird) for the protection you give me You are my Bhartit for the means of sustenance you give me. You are, again, boursever to me on account of your baving presented me a son. Do you therefore, take my ahare of the bailey and give it to the goets.
 - 53 Overcome by decreptinde, you are of advanced years. Afficial by lunger, you are greatly weakened. Wern out with lasts you are new much emacused.

- 54. Thus addressed by her, he took her share of the powdered barley and addressing his guest, said.— O twice-born one, O best of men, do you accept this quantity of powdered barley as well.
- 55. The Brahmana, having accepted that quantity, immediately ate it up, but his hunger was not yet satisfied. Seeing him ungratified, the Brahmana in the observance of the Uncheha vow became thought-
- 36 His son then said to him,—'O best of men, taking my share at the barley do you give it to the guest! I consider this set of mine as one of great metit. Therefore, I do it.
- 57 You should be always maintained by me with great care. Maintenance of the father is a duty which the good always cover.
- 58 The maintenance of the father in his old age is the duty faid down for the son. This is the eternal Shruti (audition) current in the three worlds, O learned Rishi,
- 59 By living on bately you are capable of practising penances. The life-breath is the great dety which lives in the bodies of all embodied creatures.

The father said .-

- 60. If you attain to the age of even a a thousand years, you will still seem to me to be only a little cluid. Having begotten a son, the father achieves success through him.
- 61. O powerful one, I know that the hunger of children is very strong I am old I shall somel ow succeed in holding my life breaths. On you, O son, become strong.
- 62 Old and decrepit as 1 am. O son, bunger scarcely afflicts me 1 have, again, for many years, practised penances. I have no fear of death.

The son said '-

63 1 am your offspring. The Shruti declares that one's offspring is called Putra, because one is rescued by him. One's own self, again, takes birth as his son. Do you, therefore, rescue yourself by your own self.

The father said -

- 61 In form you are like me. In conduct and in self-control, also, you are my like You have been examined on various occasions by me. I shall, therefore, accept your share of the barley. U son ?
 - 65. Having said this, that foremost of

- twice-born persons cheerfully took his son's share of the bailey and sinkingly presented it to his twice-born guest.
- 66 Having eaten that barley also, the guest's hunger was not satisfied. The righteous-souled host in the observance of the Hockes work became assumed.
- 67-63. Desirous of doing what was agreeable to him, his chaste daughter-im-law then, bearing her share of the bailey, approached him and said,—Ihrough your son, Oleantel Brahmana, I shall obtain a son Do you, therefore, take my share of the bailey and give it to this guest.
- 69 Through your grace, numero's regions of beautinde will be mine for eternity, I hrough a grandson one obtains those regions going where one has not to suffer any kind of mistery.
- 10. Lake the three fold objects of life beginning with Religion, or the three foll sacred fires, there is a triple aggregate of everlasting Heavens, depending upon the son, the grandson, and the great-grandson.
- 71. The son is called Putra because he frees his ancestor's debt. I hrough sons and grandsons one always enjoys the happiness of those regions which are reserved for the pous and the good.

The father-in-law said '-

72-73 O you of excellent vows and conduct, seeing you wasted by wind and sum, deprived of your very complex in, emacated, and almost destinute of conceousness through hunger, how can I be such a transgressor against the rules of virtue as to take your share of the bailey? U suspecious damsel, you should not any any for the sake of those auspicious results for which every family must try.

- 74 O auspicoust lady, how ean Hold! you at even this, the sixth division of the day abstaining kinn food and observing your? You are gifted with purty and good conduct and penances. Alas, even you have to pass your days in so much misery.
- 75. You are a child, afflicted by hinger, and belong to the softer sex. You should be always protected by me! Alas, I have to see you worn out with fasts, O you who are the delighter of all your kinsmen.

The daughter-in-law said:-

76 You are the senior of my senior, since you are the deity of my deity. You are, indeed, the god of my god. Do you, therefore. O powerful one, take my al are of the barley.

- 77 My body, life breaths, and religious rites, have all one object, vis., the service of my elder. Through your favour, O learned Brahmana, I shall obtain many regious of happiness hereafter.
- 78 I deserve to be looked after by 30; Know, O twice-born one, that I am wholly devoted to you Cherishing also this thought, vis, that my happiness is your concern, you should take this my share of the barley.

The father-in-law said :-

- 79 O chaste lady, on account of such conduct of yours you will for ever shine in glory for endued with yows and steadness in religious rites your eyes are directed to that conduct which should be observed towards elders.
- 80 I herefore O daughter-in law, I shall take your share of the barley You deserve not to be decreved by me, considering all your virtues. You are truly, O blessed damsel, the foremost of all persons observing the duties of righteourness.
- SI Having said so to her, the Brahmana took her share of the barley and gave it to his guest. At this the guest became pleased with that great Brahmana gifted with great piety.
- 83-83 With gratified soul, 'list first of twoce-born persons, endued with great eloquence, who was none else than the dety of Virtue in a human form then addressed that foremost of Brahmanss and and, "O best of twoce born ones, I am highly pleased with this pure gift of jours, this gift of what was acquired by fair means by you, and which you did freely part with, according to the cules of virtue.
- S4 Indeed, this gift of yours is being bruited about in Heaven by the dwellers of that happy region Mark flowers have been rained down from the sky on the Earth.
- 45 The celestial Rishs the desties the Gandi arvas those who walk before the desties and the celestial messengers, are all landing you, struck with wonder at your cit?
- 86 The twice born Rishis who live in the regions of Brahma, seated on their cars, are anxious to see you. O foremost of twice-born persons, go to Heaven.
- 57 The Pitris living in their own recoon, have all been rescued by them Otters, also, who have not attained to the position of Pitris, have equally been rescued by you for countries society.

- 1 88 For your Brahmacharyya, your gifts, your sacrifices your penances, and your acts of piety done with a pure heart, go you to Heaven
- 89 O you of excellent yours, you practise penances with great devation. Your gifts have, therefore, pleased the delites highly. O best of twice born ones.
- go Since you have made this gift, in a season of great difficulty, with a pure heart, you have by this act of yours, conquered the celestral region
- 91 Hunger destroys one's wisdom and drives off one's righteous understanding. One whose intelligence is overwhelmed by hunger renounces all fortitude
- 92 He, therefore, who conquers hunger, coi quers Hrayen, forsooth. One's righteousness is never destroyed as long as he cherishes the inclination of making gifts
- 93 Disregarding filial affection, disregarding the affection one feels for his wife, and reckning virtue as the foremost, you have paid no attention to the cravings of nature
- gt. The acquisition of riches is an act of slight merit. Its gift to a worthy person is fraught with greater merit. Of slik greater merit is the (proper) time. Lastly, devotion is fraught with the lighest merit.
- 95 The door of Heaven is very difficult to see I brough earel-ssness men campt see it. I be bar of Heaven's door has cipidity for its seed. I hat bar is kept fastened by desire and affection. Indeed, Heaven's door is unapproachable.
- 96 Those men who have subdied anger and conquered their passions those Brahm snas who are gifted with penances and who make guts according to the extent of their ability, succeed in seer ig it.
- gj. It has been said that he who gives away i hundred, having a hundred, and he who gives away ten liaving a hundred, and he who gives a handful of water, having no money, are all equal as regards the merit they acquire.
- 98 King Rantideva, when divested of all his rickes, gave a small quantity of water with a pure heart. Through this gift, O learned Brahmana, he went to the celestial region.
- 99 The drity of righteousness is never pleased so much with large gifts of couly things as with gifts of even writhless things, if acquired lawfully and given away with devenion and faith.
- too King Nings had made gifts of thousands of kine to the twice both class.

By giving away only one cow which did not belong to him, he fell into Hell

tot. Ushmara's son Shive of excellent your, by Living away the flesh of life cavit body, is rejucing in the celestral region, having attained to the regions of the pious

Good tos Mere wealth is not merft men acquire ment by exerting to the best of their power and with the fielp of righte-One does not acquire, such merit by means of even various sacrifices as with even a little wealth that has been acquired by fair means.

Through anger, the fruits of gifts are destroyed Through cupidity one fails to go to the celestral region. One converbant with the merits of gift, and leading & just course of conduct, succeeds, through penances, in enjoying the celestial region

The fruit, O Brahmana, of this git made by you (of a prastha of powdered barley) is much greater than what one acquires by many Rajasuya-Sacrifices with profuse gilts or many Horse-Sacufices.

tog With this prastha of powdered barley you have conquered the eternal region of Brahman Go you in happiness, O learned Brahmana, to the house of Brahman who is without the stain of darkness

O foremost of twice-born persons, a celestial car is here for all of you Da you ascend it as you please! O Brahmana I am the delty of Righteonsiless Behold me!

You have rescued your body fame of your achievement will fast in the world With your wife, your son, and your danghter-m law, go now to the telestial region.

108 After the deity of Righteousness had said these words, that Brahmana with lis wife, son daughter in law, proceeded to the celestral region

After that learned Brahmana knowing all duties, had it us ascended to the celestral region with his son, daughter inlaw and wife numbering the fourth, I came out of my hole

There with the scent of that powdered barley, with the mire caused by the water (which the Brahmana had given to his quest) with the contact (of my body) with the celestial flowers which had been tained down, with the particles of the barley powder which that good man had given away and the penances of that Brahmana, my head became gold. See, on account of the gift of that Brahmana who was firm in truth and his penances half of this my ample body has become golden.

113 O twice-born ones, for converting the rest of my body into gold I repeatedly go, with a cheerful heart to the hermitages of ascetics and sacrifices performed by kıngs Hearing of this sacrifice of the Kurn king, gilted with great wisdom, I came here with hopes I have not, however, been made gold O foremost of Brahmanas it was for this that I uttered those words vis that this sacrifice can by no means eo npare with (the gift of) that prastha of powdered barley.

With the grains of that prastha of powdered barley, I was made gold on that occasion this great sacrifice, however, so not equal to those grains, this is my opinion.

117 .Having sald those words to all those foremost of Brahmanas, the mungoose disa appeared from their view Those Brahmanas then returned to their respective homes.

Vaishampayana said:--

O conquerer of hostile towns, I have now told you all shout that wonderful medent which took place in that great Horse-Sacrifice.

You should not, O king, think highly of sacrifice. Mulons of Rish is have ascended to the beleshed teglon with the help of only their penances 120 Abstention from injury to all creacontentment, conduct, sincerity, penances, self control, trathfulness and gifts, are each equal in point of ment to sacrifice.

CHAPLER XCI.

(ANUGIIA PARVA.)-Continued.

Janamejaya said:--

1. O powerful Rishi, kings are attached The great Rishes are attached to sacrifices Learned Brahmanas observe tras quility of mind, peacefulness of conduct to penances and self control.

2. Hence it appears that nothing can be seen in it is would which can compare with the fruits of sacrifices This is my conviction .. That conviction, again, seems to be surely corrects

- 5 Numberless kings, O best of twiceborn persons, having adored the celestials in sacrifices acquired light fame here and obtained the celestial region hereafter.
- 4 Giled with great energy, the power ful king of the denies, virs, Indra of a thousand eyes, obtained the sovereignty over the denies through the many sacrifices he performed with gifts in profusion and attained to the fruition of all his desires
- 5-6 When king Yudhishthira, with Blinia and Arjuna by him, resembled the king of the deites himself in prospertiy and prowess, why then did that mungoose depreciate that great Horse-Sacrifice of the great monarch,

Vaishampayana said:-

- 7. Do you listen to me, O king, as I describe to you duly, O Bharata, the excellent ordinances about sacrifice and the fruits also, O king, that sacrifice yields
- 8 Farmerly, on one occasion Shakra celebrated a particular sacrifice. While the limbs of the sacrifice were spread out, the Ritwipas became busy in performing the various rites ordained in the scriptures.
- 9—10 The pourer of libations, possessed of every quasification, became engaged in pouring libations of clarified butter. The great Rishin were seated around The celestials were summoned one by one by one to contented Brahmanas of great learning intering scriptural Mantras in sweet voices. Those foremost of Adiwaryus, not fatigued with what they did, recried the Mantras of the Yspirveds his soft accents.
- II. The time came for killing the animals. When the animals selected for arcrifice were seized, the great Rishis, Oking, felt mercy for them.
- 12 Seeing that the animals had all become dispirited, those Rishis, gilted with wealth of penances, approached Shakra and with the house of the method of securior, is not asspective.
 - 13 Desirous of winning great ment as you are, this is, indeed, a mark of your ignorance of the rites of sacrifice. O Purandara, animals have not been ordained to be killed in sacrifices.
 - 14. O powerful one, these preparations of yours are destructive of merit. I his sacrifice is not consistent with writte. The destruction of creatures can never be said to be an act of write.
 - 15 If you wish it, let your priests perform your sacrifice according to the Agams. By performing a sacrifice according to the scriptural ordinances, great will be the merit acquired by you.

- 16 Q you of a hundred eyes do you perform the sacrifice with seeds of grain which have been kept for three years. I his, O Shakra, would be fraught with great writee and productive of fruits of high efficacy.
- 17 The delty of a hundred sacrifices, however, move I by pride and overwhelmed by stupefaction, did not accept these words uttered by the Rishis.
- 18 Then O Bharata, a great dispute arose in that sacrifice of Shakra between the ascetics as to how sagrifices should be performed that is, should they be performed, with mobile creatures or with immobile objects
- 19 All of them were exhausted with disputation. The Rishis, then, those beholders of truth, having made a compact with Shakra, asked king Vasu.
- 20 O highly plessed one, what is the Vedic declaration about sacrifices? Is it preferable to perform sacrifices with animals or with seeds and funces
- 21. Hearing the question, king Vasu, without at all judging the ments of the arguments advanced on both sides, at once answered saying —' Sacrifices may be performed with any of the two kinds of objects ready?
- 27 Having answered the question thus, he had to enter the nether regions. Indeed, the powerful king of the Chedis had to undergo that misery for having answered falsely.
- 23. Therefore, when a doubt arises, no person, however wise, should singly decide the matter, unless he be the powerful and self-born Lord lumself of creatures.
- 24 Gifts made by a sinner with an impure heart, for this even when very large, become lost. Such gifts go for nothing.
- 25. By the office made by a person of untighteous conduct,—one, that is, who is of sinful soul and who is a destroyer, just fame is never acquired either in this world or in the next.
- 26 That person of little intelligence, who, from desire of acquiring merit, celebrates sacrifices with wealth acquired by unfair means, never succeeds in acquiring merit.
- 27. That low wretch of sinful soul who hypocretically assuming a garb of victor makes gifts to Brahmars only creates the convetion in men about his own victor.
- 28. That Brahmana of uncontrolled conduct, who acquires mealth by sinful deeds, overwhelmed by passion and stupefaction, attains at last to the goal of the sinful,

- 29. Some one, overwhelmed by cupidity and stupelaction, becomes bent on storing riches. He is seen to persecute all creatures, drged by a sinful and impure inderstanding
- 30. He who, having acquired riches by such means, makes gifts or performs sacrifices therewith, hever enjoys the fruits of those gifts or sacrifices in the other world on account of the wealth having been acquired by unfair means.
- 31. Men having wealth of penances, by gwing away, to the best of their power, frams of corn picked up from the fields or tools or fruits or potherbs or water or leaves, acquire great merit and proceed to the celestral resuch.
- 32-33 Such guits are fraught with vinue and equal to high susterates. Such pilts, as also merch to all creatures, and frailmacharya, truthfiness of speech, and kindness, and fortitude, and forgreness, fort the Eternal foundations of virue which tiself is eternal. We hear of vibawantes and other kings of ancient
- 33-35 Indeed, Vishmvamitta, and Asits, and king Janaka, and Kakshasena and King Sindhidwpa, lites and many other kings, gifted with wealth of penances, having made gift of articles acquired by fairness, have attained to hish surges.
- 36. Those amongst Brahmanas and Rshatrayas, Vaishyas and Shudras, who perform penances, O Bharata, and who purify themselves, by gilts and other deeds of righteousness, proceed to the telestial tegion.

CHAPTER XCIL

[ANUGITA PARVA.)-

Janamejaya said :--

- t. If, O illustrious one, celestial region is the fruit of riches acquired by fair means, do you fully describe it to me. You are well-conversant with the subject and, it is, therefore, proper for you to explain it.
- 2. O twice-born one, you have said to me what the high fruit was that accided to that Brahmana, who fixed according to the Unchcha mede, through his gift of powdered barley. Forsooth, all you have said is true.

3. In what way, however, was the attainment held certain of the highest end in all sacrifices? O foremost of twice-born persons, you should fully expound all this to me.

Vaishamnavana said :-

- 4. Regarding it is cited this old narrative, O chastiser of enemies, of what took place formerly in the great sacrifice of Agastya.
- 5. Formerly, O king, Agastya of great energy, devoted to the well-being of all creatures, entered into a Diksha extending for twelve years.
- 6. In that sacrifice of the great Rushi many Hottrs were engaged who resembled blazing fires in the splendour of their bookes. Among them were men who lived upon routs or fruits, or who used two pieces of stone only for busking their corn, or who were supported by only the rays (of the moon).
- 7. Anong them were also run who never took any lood unless it was placed before them by others desirous of leeding them, and those who never ate anything without having first served the celestisk, the departed Manes, and guests, and those who never washed the food which they took. There were also Yatis and Vikshus among them, O king.
- S. All of them were rien who had obtained a sight of the detty of virtue in his embodied form. They had subjugated anger and acquired a complete mastery over all their senses. Living in the observance of self-control, they were freed from pride and the desire of injuring old ers.
- g. They were always observant of a pure conduct and were never obstructed by their senses. I hose great, Rishis altended that seculice and performed its various rites.
- to. The illustrious Rishi (Agastya) acquired the food which was collected in that sacrifice and that came up to the required quantity, by lawful means according to the best of his ower.
- 11—13 Numerois other ascelles at that time celebrated large secrifices. As Agastya, bowever, was engaged in this tacrifice of his, the thoisand-eyed Indra, O best of the Bharatas, cassed to pour rain (on the Earth) At the intervish, O king, of the Earth) At the intervish, O king, of the property of the control of the property of the control of the property of the control of the
 - 14. The delty of the clouds, however, has ceased to pour rain. How, indeed will food grow? This sperifice of the Rish, 3e Brahmanas, is great and extends for twelve years.

15-20 The delty will not pour rain for these twelve years I hinking on this you should do some favour to this Rishi of penances' WI en these words were said, Agastya of great prowess pleasing all ti ose ascetics by bending his head said -· If Vasava does not pour rain for these twelte years I shall then perform the mental sacrifice I his is the eternal ordi nance If Vasava does not pour tain for these to elve years I shall then perform the Touch Sacrifice. This is the eternal sacri file If Vasava does not pour rain for forth all my exertions make arrangements for other sacrifices characterised by the observa ce of the most difficult and severe It is present sacrifice of mine, with seeds, has been arranged for by me with labour of many years deity po its rain or no downpours come Indeed, if Indra does not of his own will, show any regard for me, I shall, in that case, change miself into Indra and keep all creatures alive Every creature, on whatever food ie has been mourished, will to timue to be mourished on it as before

21 I shall with seeds do much good No obstacle will arise. This my sacrifice is meapable of being baffled.

22-23

It matters little whether the 24 I can even repeatedly create a different order of things. Let gold and whatever else of riches there is, come to this place to day.

25-27 Let all the wealth which is in the tiree worlds come here to day of its own accord? I et all the tribes of eelestial Apparas, all it e Gandharras along with the hinnaras and Vishwavasu, and others there are (of that order) approach the acustice of mine? Let all it e wealth which exists among the Northern flurus come of iter own accord to these sacrifices. Let the the acust of the sacrifices of the theorem of the theorem of the theorem of the theorem of the thome, and Dharma himself, come here?

a8 After the avectic had uttered these wirds everything took place as he desired, by vittue of his penances, for Agastya was gitted with a mind which resembled a burning fire and was possessed of extraodinary eight.

29 The Pist is who were there saw the power of penaices with rejoicing hearts Filled with wonder they their said these words of grave significance,

The Rishis said -

30. We have been highly pleased with words you have uttered We do not, however, wish that your penances should suffer any diminution. I hose sacrifices are approved by us which are performed by far means. Indeed, we wish duly those sacrifices which rest on lawful means.

31. Acquiring our food by lawful means and observant of our respective duties we shall seek to go through sacrificial initiations and the pouring of libations on the sacred fire and the other religious rites

32—33 We should worship the celestials, practiving Brahmachartya by lawful means, Compleving the period of Brahmachartya we have come out of our house, observing lawful methods. That understanding which is freed from the desire of inflicting any kind of influyry on others is approved by us commend such abstention from injury at all sacrifices. We shall then be highly pleased O foremost of twice born ones. After the completion of your secrifice, when dismissed by you, we shall then, leaving this place, go away.

35 As they were saving these words, Purandara, the king of the dettes, gifted with great energy, seeing the power of Agastya's penances poured rain

36 Indeed, O Janamejaya, till the completion of the sacrifice of that Rishi of great prowess, the deity of rain poured rain which met the wishes of men both about quantity and time.

37 Placing Vinhaspati before him the king of the derives came there, O royal sage, and pleased the Rishi Agastya.

38 On the termination of that sacrifice, Agastya, filled with joy, adored all those great Rishis duly and then sent them all away.

Janamejaya said -

39 Who was that mungoese with a golden head, which said all those words in a human voice? Asked by me, do you tell me this.

Vaishampayana said 🛥

40 You did not ask me before and therefore I did not tell you. Hear as I tell you who that mungonse was and why he could assume a hurgan voice desired to perform a Shradaha His-Homa Cow came to him and the Risks milked her himseit.

- which was new, durable, and pure. The fielty Dharma, assuming the form of anger, entered that vessel of milk.
- 43 Indeed, Dharma was desirous of determining what that foremost of Rishis would do when seeing some injury done to him Having thought thus, Dharma shoiled that milk.
 - 44 Knowing that the spoiler of his milk was Anger, the ascelic was not at all entaged with him Anger, then, assuming the form of a Brahmana lady, showed himself to the Risht.
 - 43 Indeed, Anger, finding that he had been vanquished by that foremost one of Bhrigu's race, addressed him, saying - 10 chief of Bhrigu's rate, I have been tong iered by you There is a saying among men that the Bhrigus are very wrathful. I now find that that saying is laise, since I have been subdued by you You are endued with a powerful
 - You are endued with forgiveness I stand here to-day, acknowledging your sway I fear your penances. O righteous one Do you, O powerful Rish, show me favour.

47. I have seen you, O Anger, in your fice of that great king. The mungod embodied form. Go you wherever you like, Jamadagni said '--

- 42 He then placed the milk in a vessel | without any anxiety. You have not done against you.
 - 48 Those for whom I had kept this milk are the highly blessed Pitris. Present yourself before them and ascertain their intentions.
 - Thus addressed, stricken with feat, Anger vanished from the sight of the Rishi. I brough the Eurse of the Pitris he became a mungoose.
 - 50. He then began to please the Pitris in order to bring about an end of his curse. By them he was told these words - By speaking disrespectfully of Dharma you shall attain to the end of your curse
 - 51. Thus addressed by them, he wan-dered over places where sacrifices were performed and over other sacred places, employed in censuring great sactifices It was he who came to the great satrifice of king Yudhlshthira.
 - 52. Disptaising the son of Dharma by a reference to the prastha of powdered barley, Anger became freed from his curse, for Yudhishthira (as Dharma's son) was Dharma's self.
 - 53 This is what took place in the sacrifice of that great king, The mungoose dis-

TINIS ASHWAMEDIIA PARVA.

A PROSE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

OF

THE MAHABHARATA.

(TRANSLATED LITERALLY FROM THE ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT).

ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA. vol. xv.

EDITED & PUBLISHED BY

MANMATHA NATH DUTT, (Shasiri) M.A., M.R.A.S.,

RECTOR. KESHUB ACADEMY:

Author of the English Translations of the Ramayana, Vishnu Puranam, Srimad Bhagavatam, Kamandakiya, Nitisara, Bhagavad Gita, and many other works

40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street, Calcutta.

CALCUTTA:

PRINTED BY H. C DASS, ELYSIUM PRESS, 40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street.

1905.

ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.

==+

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I -The conduct of the Pandavas after regaining their kingdom-p. 1. CHAPTER II - The respectful treatment of the Pandavas towards Dhritarashtra-P. 2. CHAPTER III .- Cruel act of Bhima, the grief of Dhritarashtra and Yudhishthurap. 3. CHAPTER IV .- Vyasa's consolation to Dhenarashtra-p. 6.

CHAPTER V .- Dhritarashtra's advice to Yudhishthira-p. 7. CHAPTER VI.-Royal duties described by

Dhritarashtra-p. 9. CHAPTER VII .- Instructions about war and peace-p. 10. acttics. CHAPTER VIII.—Dhritarashtra about returning into forest-p. 11.

CHAPTER IX .- Dhritarashtra announces his intention and apologizes to the citizens-

CHAPTER X .- The history of the war as p. 12.

described by a Brahmana-p. 13. Chapter XI,-Dhutarashtra distributes

CHAPTER XII .- Arjuna advises Bhima, money-p. 14. to give up his hostile feelings-p. 15.

CHAPTER XIII.—Vidura communicates for Dhritarashtra, Yudhishthira's apology for Bhima's conduct-p. 16.

CHAPTER XIV,-Distribution of gilts-D. 17.

CHAPTER XV .- Dhritarashtra's departure for the forest-p. 17.

CHAPTER XVI -Kunti's determination to follow the blind king-p. 18.

CHAPTER XVII.-Kunti's reply to her sons-p. 19.

CHAPTER XVIII .- The arrival of the party at the forest-p. 20.

CHAPTER XIX,-Arrival at Vyasa's here mitage-p. 21.

CHAPTER XX -The arrival of ascetica to see the king-p. 22.

CHAPTER XXI.-The sorrows of the Pandavas-p. 23.

CHAPTER XXII.—Yudhishthira goes with his party to see the king in the forest-p 24.

CHAPTER XXIII .- The toyal march-CHAPTER XXIV .- The meeting of the p. 25.

Pandavas with their mother and the blind king-p, 26. CHAPTER XXV .- The same continued-

p. 26.

CHAPTER XXVI -Dhritarashtra enquires Yudhishthira of his well-being and the latter's reply-p. 27.

CHAPTER XXVII .- The passing of a day in the forest by Yudhishthira-p. 29.

CHAPTER XXVIII .- The history

CHAPTER XXIX -The conversation of Vidura-p. 30. Vyasa and other ascence-p. 31.

CHAPTER XXX.-The history of Karna described by Kunti-p. 33.

CHAPTERS XXXI-XXXIII.-Gandhari sees her sons-p. 34.

CHAPTER XXXIV -How persons whose bodies have been destroyed re-appear-CHARTER XXXV.-Janamejaya sees his p. 37.

father-p. 38.

CHAPTER XXXVI .- Vyasa consoles Dhritarashira-p. 38.

CHAPTER XXXVII -Narada comes to Yudhishthira and describes the death of Dhritarashtra, Kunti, and others-p. 40. CHAPTER XXXVIII,-Yudhishthira's the lustory of the death-p. 43.

Jamentations-p. 42. describes CHAPTER XXXIX -Narada

THE MAHABHARATA. and,

(IN ENGLISH).

ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.

CHAPTER I.

laving saluted the "breme Desty (Narayana) and the highest of all male beings (Nara) and also the Goddess of Learning (Sarasmal.), let us cry success.

Janamejaya said :—

thèr

- 1. After having gained their kingdom, how did my grandiathers, the great Pandavas treat the high-souled king Dhritarashtra?
- How indeed, did that king who had all his counsellors and sons killed who was without a support, and whose wealth had vanished, behave? How also did the illustrious Gandhari act?
- 3 For how many years did my noble grandfather rule the kingdom? You should tell me all thus.

Vaishampayana said ∽

- Having regained their kingdom, the great Pandavas, their enemies all killed, ruled the earth, placing Diritarashtra at their head.
- Vidura, Sanjaya and the highly inteingent Yuyutsu, who was Dhritarashtra's son by his Vaishya wife, used to wait upon Dheitarashtra.
- 6. The Pandavas used to consult that king in all matters. Indeed, for fifteen years, they did all things under the advice of the old king.
- 7. Those heroes used very often to go to that king and sit beside him, after having adored his feet, according to the wishes of king Yudiushthira the just.
- They did all things under the command of Dhutarashtra who smelt their heads in love The daughter of king Kuntibhoja also obeyed Gandhars in all matters
- 9. Draupadi and Subhadra and the offer ladies of the Pandayas treated the old king and the queen as if they were their own father-in-law and mother in law.

- 10-11. Yudhishthira gave the ling costly beds, dresses and ornaments and food and drink and other enj yable articles, in profusion and of such sipris r kinds as were worthy of royal use likewise Kunti behaved towards Gaudhari as towards a senior.
 - Vidura, Sanjaya, and Yuyutsu, O you of Kuru's race, used to always wait upon the old king whose sons had all been killed.
 - The dear brother-in law of Drong, pis, the very superior Brahmana, Kripa, that powerful bowman, also, attended upon the king.
 - 14. The holy Vyasa also used to often meet with the old king and recite to him the histories of old Rishis and celestial ascetics and Pitris and Rakshasas.
 - 15. Vidura, under the orders of Dhritarashtra, superintended the performance of all religious acts and the administration of the law.
 - Through the excellent policy of Vidura, by the expenditure of very little money, the Pandavas got numerous agrees able services from their feudatories and followers King Dhritarashtra freed prisoners
 - and pardoned those who were condemned to death. King Yudhishthira the just never said anything to this.
 - 18 On those occasions when the son of Amvica went on pleasure trips the helly energetic Kuru king Yudh shilura used to give him every article of enjoyment.
 - 19 Aralikas, and Juce makers and makers of Ragakhandavas waited in sing Dhritarashtra 25 b fore.
 - Pandu's son collected roe ly drases and garlands of various kilds and galy affered them to DI marasi tra 21. Maneya umes, fich ef var co . Lede,
 - a nd sherlets and hor ey, a d yar tus kings c food agreeably prepared by the admixture, of many articles, were caused to be made for the old king as in his prosperous days.

2°. Those kings who came there one after another, all used to wait upon the old Kuru king as before.

- 23—26 Kunt Draupad, and she of the Sattwater are possessed of great fame, and Ulupt the eaughter of the Naga king, and queen Chutra yarda, and it esister of Dhreshaketu, and the duog ter of Jarasandias,—these and many other lades, O king, used to wait 1222 to the daughter of Draula like maids of all work. Yudhush ra always enjoined upon 11s brothers that always enjoined upon 11s brothers that always enjoined upon 14s brothers that always enjoined upon 15s brothers that always enjoined upon 15s brothers that the satisfact of the s
- 27. There was one exception however It was Bhimasena. All that had followed from that match at duce which had been brought about by the wicked understanding of Diritarashtra, did not go away from the heart of that here.

CHAPTER II.

(ASHRAMAVASIKAS PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said .-

- 2. Thus adored by the Pandavas, the royal son of Amvika passed his time happily as before, waited upon and honoured by the Rishis.
- 2 That perpetuater of Kuru's race used to make those foremost of offerings which should be given to the Bral manas. The sayat son of Kuntu always placed those articles at Dhritarashtra's command,
- 3-4 Shorn of malice as king Yudhishthira was, Ie was always affect onto towards 1 is uncle. Addressing his brott era and munisters, the king sad,—King Dhirsta rashira should be lonoured both by myself and you all 1-He indeed, is a well wisher of mine who obeys the commands of Dhrita-Tashira.
- 5-6. He, on the other hand, who treats thus otherwise, is my enemy. Such a man should certainly the punished by one. On tays of performing the rites ordained for the Pitrs, as also in the Shraddhas performed for his sons and all well wasters, the great Kuza king Dintararishtra, gave daya king.

away to Brahmanas, as each deserved immense quantity of wealth after his heart.

- 7. King Yudhishthira the just, and Biuma, and sky mar and the twice desirous of doing what was liked by the d kings, used to execute all his command.
- 8 They always took care \(\) at the old king who was afficied with the destrution of his sons and grandsons,—with that if grief caused by the Pai drugs themselves,—might not die of his grief.
- 9 Indeed, the Pandavas treated him in such a way that that Kuru hero might not be deprived of that happiness and all those articles of enumerate which he had during his sons' himself.
- 10 The five bistiners, vis, the sons of Pandu treated thus Dhritarashtra, living under his command
- 13 Dhritarashtra also, seeing them 50 humble and obedient to his commands and acting towards him as disciples towards preceptors, treated them also like a loving preceptor in return.
- 12 Gandhari by performing the various rites of the Shraddha and making gifts to Brahmanas of various objects of enjoyment, became freed from the debt she owed to her slam children.
- 13 Thus did that foremost of righteous men, 275, king Yudhishtura the 195, endued with great melligence, along with his brothers, adored king Dintarashtra.

Vishampayana said :--

- 14 Endued with great energy, that perpetuater of Kuru's race, vis, the old king Dhritarashtra, could not see any ill-will in Yudhishthira.
- 15. Seeing that the great Pandavas uere in the observance of a wise and righteous conduct, king Dhritarashtra, the son of Amvika, became pleased with them.
- 16 Suvala's daughter, Gandhan, reno mong all sorrow for her (slam) children, began 10 show great love for the Pandavas as if they were her own children,
- 17 Gifted with great energy, the Kuru king Yodinshibira never did anything that was disl ked by the royal son of Vichitraviryy. On the other hand, he always treated him in a highly agreeable way.
- 18-19. Whatever acts grave or hight, were directed by king Dhintarathtra or the helpiess Gandhari to be doise, were all done with respect, O monarch, by that destroyer of hostile heroes, vis., the Pan-

- to. The old king became highly pleased with such conduct of Yudmishthurs. Indeed, he was greeved at the remembrance of his own wicked son.
- 21 Rising every day at early dawn, he punfied himself and went through his recttations, and then blessed the Pandavas by wishing them victory in battle
- Making the usual gifts to the Brahmanas and making them utter benedictions, and pouring libetions on the sacred fire, the o'd king prayed for long life to the
- Pandavas 23 Indeed, the king had never derived that great happiness from his own sons which he always did from the sons of Pandu.
- 24 King Yudhishthura at that time became as agreeable to the Bral manas as to the Kahatriyas, and the various ban is of Vaishyas and Shudras of his kingdom
- 25. King Vudhishthira forgot whatever wrongs were done to him by the sons of Dhritarashtra, and saluted his uncle.
- 26-27: If any man did at y thing that was not liked by the son of Amvika, he became thereby an object of hatred to the intelligent son of Kunti Indeed through fear of Yudhishtlura nobody could talk of the evil deeds of either Duryodhana or Dhritarashtra.
 - Both Gandhars and Vidura also were well pleased with the power which the king having no enemies showed for beating wrongs. They were, however not so pleased O destroyer of foes, with Bhima
 - Dharma's son Yudhishilara, was truly obedient to his uncle Bilms, however on seeing Dhritarasl tra, became very dispirited.
 - 30. That destroyer of enemies, seeing Dharma's son pay his respects to the old king, saluted him outwardly with a very reluctant heart.";

CHAPTER III.57

on the terms (ASHRAMAVASAIKA PARVA.)-. t + ? Continuted.

Vaishampayana said

The people who lived in the Kuru klagdom could not mark any difference in the cordiality which existed between king Yudhishthira and the father of Duryo-

- When the Kuru king recollected his ' wicked son, le then could not but feel unfriendly, in lus heart, towards Bhima.
- 3. Blumas-na also O king, moved by a $ wicked heart, was unable to put up with king Dinitarashira,
 - 4. Vrikodara secretly did many deeds that were disagreeable to the old king. Through decentul servants he caused the commands of his uncle to be disobeyed.
 - 5-7. Recollecting the evil advice of the old king and some deeds of his, Ishima, one day, in the midst of his friends slapped his arinpits, in the hearing of Dhritarashtra and of Gardham The angry Vrikodara. recollecting his enemies Duyrodhana and i Karna and Dusslavana, gave way to a fit of passion, and said these harsh words
 - · The sons of the blind king, capable of fighte ing with various kir Js of weapons, lieve all been despatched by me to the other would with these arms of mme which resemble pair of iron clubs.
 - Indeed these are those two arms of mine, looking like maces of iron, and invin-a cible by encinics, caming within whose clasp the sens of Dhestarashtra have all been killed.
 - These are those two well-developed and round arms of mine resembling a pair of elephantine trunks Coming within their clasp, the foolish sons of Dhritsrashtra have all been killed.
 - 10 'Smeared with sandal-pas'e and deserving of that adornment are those two arms of rune by which Duryodhana has been sent to the other world along with all his sons and kinemen
 - ti Hearing these and many other words, O king, of Vrikodara, which were so many darts, king Dhritarashtra gave way to cheerlessness and sorrow.
 - Q wen Gandharl, however, who was conversant with every duty and endued with great intelligence, and who knew what Lime brings on its course, considered them as untrue. Then, after fifteen years had passed i
 - away, O monarch, king Di ntarashtra, afflicted (constantly) by the wo dy arrows of Bl ma, became stricken with despair and sorrow
 - King Yudhishth ra the son of Kinti. however knew it not, in r Arjana el white horses, ror Kum, rot Draugedi possese sed of great fame, nor the two saw of Madri, knowing every duty and who were always engaged in acting after the wishes of Dhritarashtra.

15 Employed in doing the beliests of the king, the taying never said anything that was disagreeable to the old king. Then Dhritarashtra one day honoured his friends by his confidence Addressing them with tearful eyes, he said these words.

Dhritarashtra said -

- 16 You know how the destruction of Kurus has happened All that was brought about by my fault, though the Kauravas approved of all my counsels.
- 17. Fool that I was, I installed the wicked minded Duryodhana, that enhancer of the terrors of kinsmen, to rule over the
- 18-22 Vasudeva had said to me - 1 Let this sinful wretch of wicked understanding be slam along with all his friends and counsellers '-I did not listen to those words of great significance. All wise men gave me the same beneficial advice Bhishma, Drona, and Kripa said the same thing. The holy and great Vyasa repea-tedly said the same, as also Sanjaya and Gandbare Overwhelmed, however, by filial affection, I could not follow that advice. Bitter repentance is now my lot for my meelect
- 21 I also repent for not having bestowed that blazing prosperny, derived from Bires and granderes on the great Pandavas possessed of every accomplishment
- the eldest brother of Gada foresaw the destruction of all the kings Janarddana, lowever, considered that destruction as highly beneficial.
- 23 So many battalions of troops, belonging to me, have been destroyed Alas my heart is pierced with thousands of darts on account of all these results,
- Of wicked understanding as I am, now after the lapse of fifteen years, I am trying to explate my sing
 - Now at the fourth division of the bay or somet mes at the eighth division, with the regularity of a vow, I eat a little lood for simply satisfying my thirst. Gannhari knows this
 - All my attendants believe that I eat hs usual through fear of Yudi ishthira son of Panda came to know of my yow, he he would feel great pain.
 - Clad in deer-skin I lie down on the Earth, spreading a small quantity of Kusha grass and pass the time in silent recitations The illustrations Gandhari also, passes l'er time in the observance of similar vows
- plone I concealed my deeds, for if the eldest

- lost a hundred sons none of whom ever retreated from battle. I do not, however, grieve for those children of mine. They have all died while performing Kshatriya daties.
- Having said these words, the old king then addressed Yndhishthira in particular and said,—'Blessed be you, O son of the princess of Yadu's race! Listen now to what I say.
- 30 Cherished by you, O son, I have lived these years very happily. I have, twith your help) made large gifts and performed Shraddhas repeatedly.
- 31. I have O son, to the best of my power, acquired merit largely. This Gandhart though destitute of sons, has lived with great fortitude, looking all the while at me.
- 32 They who inflicted great wrongs on Draupadi and robbed you of your affluence -those cruel men-have all left the world, killed in battle according to the practice of their order.
- 33 I have nothing to do for them, O delighter of the Kurus! Killed with their faces towards battle, they have attained to those regions which are reserved for the wielders of weapons.
- 31 I should now, do what is beneficial and meritorious for me as also for Gandhari. O great king, you should grant me permission
- 35. You are the foremost of all righteous persons You are always devoted to virtue. the king is the preceptor of all creatures. It is for this that I say so.
- 36 With your permission, O hero, I shall ret re into the forest, clad in rags and barks, O king, along with this Gandhari
- 37-38 I shall live in the forest, always blessing you It is proper, O son, for the members of our family, to make over sovereignty, when old age comes to children and lead the forest mode of I fe. Living there on air alone, or abstain ng from all food, I shall with this wife of mine, O hero, practise severe austerities.
- You shall be a sharer of those penances, O son for you are the kings Kings are sharers of both auspicious and mauspicious acts done in their kingdom.

لاده شامل ا Yudhishthira said -

40. When you, O king, are thus subject , to grief, savereignty does not please me at all. Fre on me who am of wicked understanding, devoted to the pleasures of 28 Thus do we both act, we who have rule, and absolutely negligent of my true concerns.

- Alas I, with all my brothers, was ignorant of yourself having so long been stricken with grief, emaciated with fasts, abstaining from food, and lying on the naked eartn.
- 42 Alas, foolish that I am, I have been deceived by you who have great intelligence. masmuch as, having filled me with confidence at first you have latterly undergone such grief.
- 43 What need have I of kingdom or of acticles of enjoyment, what need of sacrifices or of happiness, when you, O king, have undergone so much affliction.
- 44 I consider my kingdom as a disease, and myself laiso as afflicted. though I am in sorrow, what, however, is the use of these words that I am addresing you? You are our father, you are our
- mother, you are our foremost of superiers Deprived of your presence, how shall we live. 46 O hest of kings, let Yuyutsu, the son of your loins, be made king, or indeed,
 - anybody else whom you may wish. I shall go into the forest. Do you rule the kingdom. You should not burn me
 - who am already burned by infamy. I am not the king. You are the king I am dependent on your will. How can I dare grant permission to you who are
 - my preceptor ? O sintess one, I cherish no resentment in my heart on account of the wrongs done to us by Suyodhana It was ordained that it should be so Both ourselves and others were stupefied (by fate)
 - 50 We are your children as Duryodhana and others were My conviction is that Gandhars is as much my mother as Kuptı
 - If you, O king of kings, go to the forest leaving me, I shall then follow you. I swear by my soul
 - 57. This Earth, with her belt of seas, so full of riches, will not be a source of joy to me when I am deprived of your presénce
 - All this belongs to you. Bending my head low I make my obessance. We are all dependent on you, O king of kings. Let the lever of your heart be removed
 - I think, O king, that all the that has come upon you is due to destiny. By you and executing your commands obe- which was suspicious and fragrant, and diently, I would rescue you from the fever of your heart.

Dhritarashtra said :--

- O delighter of the Kurus, my mind is fixed, O son, on penances. O powerful one, it is proper for our family that I should retire into the forest.
- I have lived long under your protection, O son. I have for many years been served by you with respect. I am now old. You should, O king, grant me permission.

Vaishampayana said ·--

- Having said these words to 57-58 king Yudhishthira the just, king Dhritarashtra, the son of Amvika, trembling all the while and with hands joined together, further said to the great Sanjaya and the great car-warrior Kripa these words -I wish to solicit the king through you
 - My mind has become dispirited, my mouth has become dry, through the weakness of age and the exertion of speake :
 - 60. Having said so, that perpetuator of Kuru's race, ver , the pious old king, blessed with prosperity, leaned to Gandhan and suddenly looked like one dead,
 - 61. Seeing him thus seated like one shorn of consciousness, that destroyer of hostile heroes, vis , the royal son of Kunti, became penetrated by a piercing grief.

Yudhishthira said —

- 62 Alas, he whose strength was equal, to that of a hundred thousand elephants, alas, that king sits to-day, leaning on a
 - Alas, he by whom the iron mage of woman. Bluma on a former occasion was reduced to pieces, leans to-day on a weak woman.
 - Fie on me who am exceedingly unrighteous. Fie on my understanding on my knowledge of the scriptures Fie on me for whom this king lies to-day in a manner that is not worthy of him.
 - I also shall last even as my precep-65 I also shall fast even a his king and Gandhars of great fame abstaut from food.

Vaishampayana said:--

- 66. Tie Pandava king, knowing every duty, using his own hand, then softly rubbed with cold water the breast and the face of the old king,
 - 67. At the touch of the king's hand on which, were viewels and medicinal herbs, Dhintarashtra regained his consci-

Dhritarashtra said -

65. Do you, again, touch me, O son of Pandu, with your hand, and do you embrace me O you having eyes like latus petals, I am restored to my senses through the auspicious touch of your hand ()

69 10 king, I wish to smell jour head. The class of your arms is highly gratilying to me.

70 This is the eighth division of the's day and therefore, the hour for taking my food. For hid's having taken my food, O scott of Kuru's race, I am so weak that I cannot more

51. Great has been my exertion while soliciting you Rendered cheeriess by it, O son, I had fainted

72 O perpetuator of Kuru's race, I think that receiving the touch of your land, which is lize fuectar in its vivilying effects I have been restored to my senses.

Vaishampayana said:-

73 Thus addressed, O Bharata, by the eldest brother of his father, the son of Kunti, from affection, gently touched every part of his body.

74. Regaining his life, king Dhritarashtra embraced the son of Pandu with tis arms and smelled his head.

75. Vidura and others wept afoud in great sorrow On account, however of the poignancy of their sorrow, they said nothing, to either the old king of the son of Pandu

76 Gandhari, knowing every duty, bore her sorrow, with patience, and loaded as her; heart was, O king, said nothing

77. The other ladies, Kunti among them became greatly afflicted. They wept shed dong reduse tears, and sat surrounding the old king.

78. Then Dhritarashtra once more addressing Yudhishihira said these words on Do you O king, permit merto practise penances. , [] rt] 1 7 1 79 By speaking repeatedly. O son, my mind becomes weakened You should not, O son, affect me after this property of the So. When that foremost one of Kurus race was saying so to Younghilling a loud sound of wailing afose from all the warriors there present a f 3 3 72?

81-82. Seeing his royal father of great aplendour, emaciated and pale, reduced to a atate unworthy of him, worn out with fasts, and looking like a skeleton covered with skin, DI arma's son Yudhishthira shed tears of grief and once more said these words

83. 'O foremost of men, ol do not wish for his and the Earth! O acorcher of enemies, I shall engage myself in doing what is pleasant to you.

81 If I deserve your favour, if I am dear to you, do you eat something. I shall then know what to do.'

$5. Gitted with great energy, Dhutarashina then said to Yudhishthira --- I wish, O son, to take some food, with your permission

86 When Dhritarashtra said these words to Yudhisi thira, Satyavati's son Vyasa came there and said as follows.

CHAPTER IV.

(ASHRAMVASIKA PARVA.)-.

Vyasa said —,, `

t O mights armed Yudhishthira, do unliesitatingly what Dhritarashtra of Kuru & lamly bas said

2 I his king is old the has, again, been made so iless. I think he will not, be able to bear his grief long.

3 The highly blessed Gandhari, endued with great wisdom and hindly speech, beats with tortitude her excessive grief owing to the loss of her son.

4 I also tell you (what the old king says,) !
Do you obey my words Let the old king lave your permission Let hum not die au inglorioùs death at home.

5 Let this king follow the path of royal !
sages of old Indeed, all royal sages, retite !

vaishampayana said '-'

6—7—thus addressed at that Inne by Vyasa of wonderful deeds, king Yudinshthira the just, gitted with might yenergya, said to lie great ascerth these words, 'Your holy self as held by us in great reverence. You above are use preceptor, You alone are the refuge of this our kingdom as also of our family. O

8 I am your son You O holy one, are my factier! You are our king, and you are our preceptor! The son stould, as dictated by every duty, obey the commands of his father.

Vaishampayana said:—

Thus addressed by the king, Vyasa, that foremost of all persons knowmg the Vedas, that foremost of poels gilted with great energy, once more said to Yudhishithira these words, - It , is so, O It is as you say, O mighty armed one! Bharata! This king has reached old age He is now in the last stage of life.

- 11. Permitted both by me and you, let this king do what he wishes. Do not stand as an obstacle in his way.
- 12. This is the highest duty, O Yudhish-They should die thira, of royal sages either in battle or in the forest according to the scriptures.
- Your royal father, Pandu O king of kings, respected this old king as a disciple reveres his preceptor.
- 14. (At that time) he worshipped the celestrals in many great sacrifices with profuse gifts consisting of hills of wealth and jewels, and ruled the Earth and protected his subjects wisely and well
- 15 Having obtained a good number of el ildren and a prosperous kingdom, he enjoyed great riches for thirteen years while you were in exile, and gave away much wealth
 - Yourself also, O king, with your servants, O sinless one, have worst ipped this king and the famous Gandlari with that ready obedience which a disciple pays to his preceptor.
 - Do you grant permission to your The time has come for him to attend to the practice of penances does not therish, O Yudhishthurs even the slightest anger against any of you?

Vaishampayana said --

Having said these words, Vyasa soothed the old king Yudl ishthira, il en, answered him saying - So be it' Tie great assetic then left the palace for pro cceding to the forest

19-21. After the holy Vyasa had departed, the royal son of Pandu softly said these words to his old father, bending himsell in humility - What the boly Vyasa has said, what is your own purpose, what the great bownen Kirpa has said what Vidura has said, and what has been asked for by Yuyutsu and Sanjaya I shall gu ckly do All these deserve my respect, for all of il emlare well wishers of our fam ly

22 This, however, O king, 1 beg of you by bending my head Do you first eat and afterwards go to your ferest retreal.

GHAPTER V.

(JASHRAMVASIKA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said ·--

- 1. Having received the king's permission the highly energetic king Dumarastra, then went to his own palace, followed by Ganhari
- With weakened strength and slow motion that highly intelligent king walked with difficulty, I ke the leader, exhausted with age, of an elephantine berd.
- He was followed by the highly learned Vidura and his charioteer Sanjaya as also that powerful bowman Kripa the son of Sharadwata
- Extering his palace, O king, he performed the morning rites and, after pleasing many foremost of Brahmanas, he took some
- food. 5.1 Gandharl knowing every duty, as also the highly intelligent Kunti adored with offers of various art cles by their daughters in law, then took some food, O

Bharata. After Diritarashtra had eaten, and Vidura also and others had done il e same, the Pandayas, having finished their meals, approached and sat around the old king.

- Then the son of Amyrka, O monarch addressing Kunti s son who was seated near him, and touching his back with his hand, said - You should always, O delighter of the Kurus, act vigilanity about everything connected with your langdom comisting of eight limbs. O foremost of kings and in which the claims of virtue should ever be kept foremost
 - You are O son of Kuntr endued with intell gence and learning Listen to me O king I tell you wild the means are by king I tell you wild the means are by witch, O son of Pandu the kingdom is capaple of heling r ghieously protected. You sho il I always O Y idhishthira,
 - howour those persons who are old in learning You should listen to what they would say, and act accordingly without any scrupte.
 - 11. Rising early in the morning. O king, adore them with due rites, and when the time comes for action you should consult them about your [ntended) acts
 - 12 When, led by the desire of knowing what would be beneficial to you about your measures, you honour them, they will, O son, always declare what is for your believel, O Bharata !
 - 13 You should always keep your senses as you keep your horses. They will then prove beneficial to you, like riches that is not wasted.

- t4. You should employ only those ministers who have passed the tests of honesty, who are hereditary officers of state, possessed of pure conduct, self controlled, expert in the discharge of business, and endued with righteous conduct.
- 15. You should always gather information through spies in various disguises, whose faithfulness have been tested, who are natives of your kingdom, and who should not be known to your enemies.
- 16. Your citadel should be properly protected with strong walls and arched gates. On every side such walls, with watch-towers on them standing close to one another, should be made as will admit six persons walking side by side on their top.
- 17. The gates should all be large and aufficiently strong. Kept in proper places, those gates should be carefully guarded,

 18-10 Les your purposes be accomplish-
- ad through met whore Lamiles and conduct "Ex-well-known. You should always protect your body also with eare in matters connected with your food, O Bharsta a also in the hours of sport and eating and in matters connected with the garland you wear and the beds you lie upon. The lades of your household should be propetly protected, looked over by aged and trusted servitors, of good conduct, well born, and possessed of learning, O Yudinshthira.
- ao. You should make ministers of Brahmanas possessed of learning, endued with humility, well-born, knowing rel gion and profit, and adorned with simplicity of behaviour.
 - 21. You should hold consultations with them. You should not, however, admit many persons into your consultations. On particular occasions you may consult with the whole of your council or with a portion of it.
 - 22. Entering a chamber or spot that is well-protected (from intruders) you should hold your consultations. You may hold your consultation in a forest that is divested of grass. You should never consult at might time.
 - 23 Apes and birds and other animals which can imutate human beings should all be excluded from the council chamber, as also ideots and lame and palsied individuals.
 - duals.

 24. I think that the evils which originate from the divulgence of the counsels of kings are such that they cannot be remedied.

- 25. You should repeatedly refer, in the midst of your counsellors to the evils which arise from the divulgence of counsels, O chastier of enemies, and to the merits which flow from counsels properly kept.
- 26 You should, O Yudhishthira, act in such a manner as to determine the inerits and faults of the inhabitants of your city and the provinces.

 27. Let your laws. O king, be always
- administered by trusted judges placed in charge thereof, who should also be contented and of good conduct. Their acts should also be ascertained by you through spies.
- 23. Let your judicial officers, O Yudhishthira, mete out punishments, according to the law, on offe iders after careful determining the gravity of the offences.
- 29—30 They who take bribes, they who are the volaters of the chasty of other people's wives, they who inflet heavy punnaments they who are flars, they who are excludes, they who are attend by counting, they who are manufactured, they who are flars, they who are divided by the second of the constant of
- 31. In the morning you should see those who are employed in making your disbursements. After that you should look to your toilet and then to your food.
- 32. You should next supervise your arms, pleasing them on every occasion. You should devote your evenings to envoys and spies.
- 33 The latter end of the might should be devoted by you to settle what acts should be done by you in the day. Midnights and middays should be devoted to amusements and sports. At all times, however, you should think of the means for the execution your projects.
- 34 At the proper time, adorning your body, you should sit prepared to make gifts in profusion. The turns for different deeds, O son, ceaselessly revolve like wheels.
- 35 You should do your best to fill your treasuries of various kinds by fair means. You should avoid all unlawful means for that purpose.
- 36. Learning through your stress who your enemies lare into are bent on finding out your shortcoming, you should, through trusted agents, cause them to be destroyed from a distance.

- 37. Examining their conduct, you should, O perpetuater of Kuru's race, appoint your servants. You should cause all your deeds to be accomplished through your servitors whether they are appointed for those acts or not.
- The commandant of your army should be of firm conduct, courageous, tapable of bearing hardships, loyal, and devoted to your well-being.
- 30 Artizans and mechanics, O son of Pandu, living in your provinces, should always do your acts like kine and asses.
- Yudhish. You should always, O thira, be careful to ascertain your own shortcomings as also those of your enemies The shortcomings also of your own men as also of the men of your enemies should equally be known.
 - 41. Those men of your kingdom, who are well-skilled in their respective callings, and are devoted to your good, should be pstromzed by you with adequate means of support.
 - A wise king, O chief of men, should always see that the accompl shiments of his antifects might be kept up They would then be firmly devoted to you, seeing that they did not fall away from their skill.

CHAPTER VI.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)— Continued.

Dhritarashtra said :-

- 1. You should always ascertain the Man lalas which belong to you, to your enemies, to neutrals, and to those who are disposed equally towards you and your enemies, O Bharata.
- 2 The Mandalas also of the four kinds of enemies, of those called Atata) ms and of allies, and the allies of enemies, should be distinguished by you, O trusher of enemies.
- 3. You should see that the ministers of state, the people of the provinces, the gartisens of lorts, and the forces O foremost one of Kuru's race, are not tampered with.
 - 4. The twelve (enumerated above), O son of Kunti, form the principal cincerns of kings. These twelve, as also the sixty, having Ministers for their foremost, should be looked after by the king.
 - Politicians call these by the name of Mandala, Understand, O Vidhishthing, that the six incidents (of peace, war,

- march, halt, sowing dissensions, and conciliation) depend upon these. Growth and diminution should also
- be understood, as also the condition of being stationary. The attributes of the sixfold incidents, O you of mighty arms, as realing on the seventytwo (already enumerated), should also be carefully understood.
- When one's own sie has become strong and the side of the ene ny has become weak, it is then, O son of Kunti, trat the king should fight against the enemy and try to acquire victory.
- 8. When the enemy is strong and one's own side is weak, then the weak king if he has intelligence, should try to make peace with the enemy.
- The king should collect a large quantity of articles (for his commissariat) . When able to march out, he should on no account make a delay, O Bharata.
- 10. Besides, he should on that occasion set his men to cork for which they are fit, without being moved by any other consideration. He should, (when obliged to part with a portion of his territories), give his enemy such land as are not productive of a plentiful harvest.
- 11. (When obliged to pay coins), he should give gold containing much base metal. (When obliged to surrender a portion of his army), Te should give such men as are not noted for strength, One who is skilled in treatles should, when taking land or god or men from the enemy, tage what is possessed of attributes the reverse of thus.
 - 12-13 In making treaties of peace, the son of the king should be demanded 25 a hostage, O citef of the Bharatas A contrary course of conduct would not be wholesame. O son? If a calemny come over the I mg, he should, with knowledge of means and comeels, try to I becate himself from it. The king, O foremost of kings, should maintain the circuless and the destitute among his people. Il meelf protecting lie own kur
 - doin the king, endurd with great might, should direct all his efforts, e ner on. after an ther or simultanent hy agar s h s lle shudd afflit at I dostruct them and seek to drai their treasury
 - The king who desires his own advancement, should never in re t'e sul, ordinate thirls who are under the sady () son of Kinti, you should never try your strength with that king who is desirous of en querry the waste Barth,

- 16-17. You should try to steal a march by producing, with the help your numbers, dissensions among his aristocracy and feudatory chiefs. A powerful lying should never seek to root out weak kings, for these do good to the world by certiling the good and punishing the wicked. O foremost of kings you should live, conducting yourself like a cane
- 18 If a strong king advances against a weak one, the latter should make him desist, by adopting conciliatory and other modes
- 19 If these measures fail, he should, then, with the help of those who are fitterested in his welfare fall upon the enemy for fighting him out. Indeed, with his ministers, tressivy and citizens, he should thus adopt fo ce against the invader.
- 20 If the issue of the battle turns against him, he should then, fall, sacrificing all his resources one after another.
- 20. Renoming his life in this way, he will acquire freedom from all sortow.

CHAPTER VII.

(ASHRAMIAVASIKA PARVA)-

Dhritarashtra said :--

- r. O best of kings you should, also, reflect properly on war and peace. Each is of two kinds. The means are various, and the circumstances also, under which war or peace may be made, are various, O Yudhishtura.
- 2. O you of Kuru's race, you should reh coolers, reflect on the two (viz, thy at ergth and we-kness) with regard to yourself. You should not suddenly march against an enemy who has contented and healthy soldlers, the man her hand, fields with the carefully of the means of defeating him.
 - 3 You should march against an enemy way is not provided with contented and leathly combatants. When everything is favourable the enemy may be beaten After that, however, the victor should re-
 - 4 He should next cause the enemy to be plunged into various calamities, and some dissensions among his allies. He should iffict the enemy and inspire terror in his teart, and, attacking him, weaken his forces.

- 5 The king, conversant with the scriptures, who marches against an enemy, should think of the three kinds of strength, and indeed, reflect on his own strength and the strength of his enemy
- 6 Only that king, O Bharata, who is gifted with alacrity, discipline and strength of counsels should inarch against an enemy. When his position is otherwise, he should avoid offensive works.
- 7 The king should provide himself with power of wealth, power of allies, power of foresters power of paid soldiery, and power of the mechanical and trading classes, O powerful one.
- 8 Among all these, power of allies and power of riches are superior to the rest. The power of classes and that of the standing army are equal.

 9 The power of spies is considered by
- the king as equal in efficacy to either of the above, on many occasions, when the time comes for applying each.

 10 Calamity, O king, with which rulers are overtaken, is of many forms. Listen O
- you of Kuru's race, as to what those varicus lorms are

 11. Indeed, calamities, O son of Pandu, are many You should, always count them, distributions of their forms, O king, and try to meet them-by applying the well-
- known ways of concliation and the rest

 12 The king should, when possessed of a good army, march (out against a loc), O scorcher of enemies He should, also,
 mark the considerations of time and place, while preparing to march, as also the forces he has collected and his own inertis.
- 13 That king who seeks his own growth and advancement should not march unless he has cheerful and healthy warriors. When strong, O son of Pandu, he may march in even an unfayourable season.
- 14. The king should make a river having grivers for its stones, horses and cars for its current, and standards for the trees which cover its banks, and which is mury with fort-soldiers and elephants. Such a river should the king apply for the destruction of his enemy.
- 15 According to the science known to Ushanas arrays called Shakata, Padma, and Vagra, should be formed, O Bharata, for fighting the enemy.
- 16 Knowing every thing about the enemy's strength through spies and extamining his own/strength himself, the king should begin war either within his own territories or within those of his enemy.

- 17 The king should, always, ple se, his army, and hurl all his strongest warriors (against the enemy). First determing the state of his kingdom, he should apply conchiation or the other well-krown means.
- By all means, O king, should the body he protected. One should do what is highly beneficial for one both in this world and in the next.
- The king, O monarch, by acting properly according to these ways attains to Heaven hereafter, after ruling his subjects pio usly in this world.
- 20. O foremost one of Kuru's race, it is thus that you should always seek the wellbeing of your subjects for attaining to both the worlds.
- 21. You have been instructed in all dittes by Brishma, by Krishna, and by Vilura, I should, also, O best of kings, from the affection I bear you, give you these instructions.
- 22. O giver of profitse presents in sacrifices, you should duly do all thus. shall, by acting thus become dear to your sit jects and acquire happiness in the celestial region.
 - That king who worships the celestials in a hundred horse-sacrifices, and he who rules his subjects piously, acquire merit that is equal.

CHAPTER VIII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)— Continued.

Yudhishthira said ---

- t O king, I shall do as you order me O foremost of kings, I should be further instructed by you.
- Blushma has ascended to Heaven. The destroyer of Madhu, has departed (for Dwaraka). Vidura and Sanjaya, also (will become any you to the forest) Who else, accompany you to the forest) therefore, save you, will teach me.
- 3. I shall, certainly, follow those instructions which you have to-day given, desirons of do ne good to me. O lord of Earth, Be you assured of this, O king.

Vaishampayana said:—

4 Thus addressed by the highly in-telligent and jest king Yudhishithira, the royal sage, Ducharashira, O chief of the Bharatas, wished to obtain the king's permission.

- 5 And he sail,-'Cease, O son, I have been tired greatly. Having said these words, the old king entered the appart- . ments of Gandhari
- 6-7. Pious Gandhari knowing the opportune moments, said these timely words to that husband of hers who resembed a second Lord of all creatures, while resting on a seat - You have got the permission of that great Rishi, ors, Vyasa himself. When, however, will you go to the forest, with the permission of Yudhishthura?

Dhritarashtra said :-

- 8 O Gandhars, I have received the permission of my great sire. With the permission of Yudinshithira (next obtained) shall soon retire into the forest.
- I wish however, to give away some riches capable of following the status of Preta, for all those sons of mune who were addicted to calamitous dic. Indeed, I wish to make those gifts, myiting all the people to my palace

Vaishampayana said:—

- Having said so (to Gandharil, Dhritarashtra sent for Yudi ishthira. The latter, ordered by his uncle, brought all the atticles necessary.
- 11. Many Brahmanas living in Kuru-jangala, many Kshatriyas many Vaishyas, and many Shudras also, came to Dhritarashtra's palace, with gratified hearts.
- The old king, coming out of the inner apartments, saw them all as also his subjects collected together.
- 13-15 Seeing all those assembled and citizens and inhabitants of the provinces and t is well wishers also thurste illected together. and the large number of Brahmanas arrived from various kingdoms king Dicitarashira of great intell gence, O monarch sail these words -'I've all and the hurus have hard together for many long trears, well-wishers of each other, and each doing good to the Wat I shall now say in wew of the ntl er.
- epportunity that I as come should be do e by you alleven as disciples accomplish the orders of their preceptors. I have set my leart upon retring
- ento the forest, along with Gandha 1 as my companion. Vyasa has approved of this, also il e son of Kunts.
- 13-19 Let me have your permission too Do not hesitate in this that gold will, which has always existed between 304 and us, is not to be seen I believe, mother kingdoms between the su'ers and the suled.

I am worn out with age on my head. I i am destitute of children.

20. Ye sinless ones, I am emaciated with fasts, along with Gandhari. The kingdom having passed to Yudhishthira, I have enjoyed great happiness.

21. Ye foremost of men, I think that happiness has been greater than what I could expect from Duryodhana's sovereingty What other refuge can I have, old as I am and destitute of children, except the forest? Ye highly blessed ones, you should grant me the permission I sack.

- 22. Hearing these words of his, all the residents of Kurujangala bewaited aloud, O best of the Bharatas, with voices choked by tears.
- 23. Desirons of telling those griefstricken people something more, the highly energetic Dhritarashtra once more addressed them and said as follows.

CHAPTER IX.

(ASIIRAMAVASIKA PARVA)-Continued.

Dhritarashtra said:-

- 1. Shantanu duly roled this Earth Likewise, Vichitraviryja also, protected by Bushma, ruled you, Forsooth, you know all this
- You know also how Pandu, my brother, was dear to me as also to you He also ruled you duly.
- 3. Ye sinless ones I have also served you Whether those services have come up to the ideal or fallen short of it, you should forgive me, for I have attended to my dunes carefully.
- 4. Duryodhana also enjoyed his kingdom nuthout a thorn in his side. Poslish as he was and possessed of wicked understanding, he did not, however, do any wrong to you.
- Ti rough the fault, however, of that prince of wicked understanding, and through his prife, as also through my own impulies, a great destruction of the Isshatrijas has taken glace.
- Whether I have, in if at matter acted tightly or wrongly, I pray you with joined hands to remove all recollections of at from 30 ir hearts
- this one is old, this one last int all ha chillren, this one is stricken with torrion , this one was our king ; this one | time I ke men shorn of consciousness.

- is a descendant of former kings ;--cohsiderations like these should induce you to foreive me
- I his Gandhari, also, is dispirited and She, too, has lost her children and is helpless Stricken with grief for the loss of her hens, she solicits you with me.
- Knowing that both of us are old and afflicted and destriute of children, grant us the permission we seek. Bessed be you, we seek your protection.
- to. This Kura king, Yudhishthira the son of Kunta, should be looked after by you, all, in weal and wee.
- II. He who has, four such brothers of abunant prowess for his counsellors will never fall into distress. All of them are conversant with both Virtue and Profit, and resemble the very guardians of the world.
- Lil e the illustrious Brahman himself, the Lord of the universe with all its creatures, this Yudhishthira of great energy will rule you.
- I hat which should certainly be said is now said by me. I make over to you till Yudhishthira here as a charge. I entrust you, also, to the hands of this hero.
- You should all forget and forgive whatever marry has been done to you by those sons of mine who are no longer alive, or, indeed, by any one else belonging to me.
- is. Ye never cherished any anger against me on any previous occasion. I join my hands before you who are famous for loyal-
- Ye sinless one, I, with Gandhari by my side, beg your pardon now for anything done to you by those sons of mine, of restless understandings, sullied by cupid ty. and ever acting as their desires prompted
- 17. Thus addressed by the old king all those citizens and dwellers of the provinces, filled with tears, said nothing but only looked at one another.

CHAPTER X.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vishampayana said :-

1. Thus addressed, O you of Koru's race, by the old king the cuttens and the inhabitants of the provinces stood some-

- 2-3 King Dhritarashtra, finding them silent, with their throats choked by grief, once more addressed them, saying .- Ye best of men, old as I am, and sonless and through cheerlessness of heart, bewaiting along with this my wedded wife, I have obtained the permission, in the matter of my retirement into the forest, of my sire, the Island born Krishna himself, as also of king Yudhishthira, who knows every duty, ye righteous dwellers of this kingdom.
 - Ye sinless ones 1, with Gandhari repeatedly solicit you with bent heads, You should all grant us permission.

Vaishampayana said.—

- 6 Hearing these pitiable words of the Kuru king, O monarch, the assembled dwellers of Kurujangala all began to weep
- 7. Covering their faces with their hands and upper garments, all those men, burning with grief, wept for a while as lathers and motl ers would weep
- Bearing in their hearts, from which every other tho ights had been removed the sorrow born of Dhritarashitra's desire to leave the world, they looked like men shorn of consciousness Checking that agitation of heart dire
- to the announcement of Duntarashtra's desire of going to the forest it ey gradually were able to address one another, expres ing their wishes
- 10. Settling their words briefly, O king. they charged a certain Brahmana therewith and thus replied to the old king.
- That learned Brahmana, of good conduct, chosen by unanumous consent conversant with all subjects, master of all the Richs, and named Samba, tried to speak.
- Taking the permission of the whole assembly and with its full approbation that learned Brahmana of great intelligence, conscious of his own powers, said these . words to the king.
 - 13 O monarch, the answer of this assembly has been committed to my care I shall speak it out, O hero! Do you receive it, O king.
 - 14 What you say, O king of kings is all true. O powerful one. There is nothing in it that is in even slightly tractured with untruth you are our well-wisher, as, indeed, we are yours
 - Indeed, in this royal family, there never was a king who coming to rule his subjects, became unpopular with them.
 - 16. Ye have ruled us like fathers or

- brothers. King Duryodhana never did us any wrong. 17. Do that, O king, which that righte-
- ous souled ascetic, the son of Satyavall, has said He is, indeed, our foremost of instructors
- Left by you, O king, we shall have to pass our days in grief and sorrow, remembering hundreds of virtues possessed
- We were well protected and ruled by king Duryodhana even as we had been ruled by king Shantanu, or by Chitrangada, or by your father, O monarch who was protected by the prowess of Bhishina, or by Pandu, that ruler of Earth, who was overlooked by you in all his deeds
 - Your son, O manarch, never did us the slightest wrong We lived, depending on that king as trustfully as on our own father.
 - It is known to you how we liv d (under that ruler) Similarly we have enjaged great happiness O king, for thous sands of years, under the rule of Kunn's 5 m of great intelligence and wisdom
 - This righteous-souled king who celebrates sacrifices with profuse gifts, follows the conduct of the royal sages of old belonging to your race, of meritorious deeds, having Kuru and Samvara and others and the highly intelligent Bharata among them
 - There is nothing, O monarch that is even she hilly consurable in the matter of this Yudhishthishta's rule Pr tected and ruled by you, we have all lived in great happiness.
 - 26-27. The slightest omission cannot be lud at your doors and your sons. Regarding what you have said about Diryodhana in the matter of this destruction of kinsmen, I beg you O delighter of the Kurus, (to I sten to me)

The Brahmana continued '--

- The carnage that has overtaken the Rurus was not caused by Duryodhana, It was not brought about by you Nor was it brought about by Karna and Suvala s son
- We know that it was encompassed about by Destiny and that it was in-capable of being counteracted Destiny is not capable of being, resisted by human exection.
- 30-32 Eighteen Akshauhinis of soldiers, O manarch, were collected In eighteen days that army was destroyed by the foremost of Kuru warriors, vie, Bhishma Diretadyumus, and by the four sons of Pandu, that is, Bhima and Arjuna and the twins. This destruction, O king, could not happen without the influence of Desting.

33 Forsooth, by Kishatriyas in particular, should enemies be fulled and death encountries. The state of the property of men.

and Drona and others, and the great Karna, and the heroic Voyudhana and

- 33 Person, by Kindley's in particular, should enemies be killed and death encountered in battle. By those foreinost of men, gifted with science and might of arms, the Earth has been exterminated with her horses and cars and elephants.
- 35 Your son was not the cause of that destruction of great kings. You were not the cause, nor your servants, nor Karna, nor Suvala's son
- 36. The destruction of those formost ones of Kuru's race and of kings by thousands, know, was engendered by Destmy Who can say anything else in this.
- and the master of the whole world We, therefore, in your presence, absolve your righteous-souled son.

 38 Let that king, with all his associates,

You are regarded as the preceptor

- obtain the regions reserved for heroes Permitted by foremost of Brahmanas, let him sport blissfully in the eelestial region. 39 You, also, shall attain to great merit,
- and unswerving steadmess in virtue O you of excellent vows, follow fully the duties laid down in the Vedas.

 40. It is not necessary for either 'you or
- ourselves to look after the Pandavas They are capable of ruling the very Heavens, what need that be said of the Earth?

 41. O you of great intelligence, in weal
- 41. O you of great intelligence, in weal as in woe, the subjects of this kingdom, O foremost one of Kuru's race, will obey the Pandayas who have conduct for their ornament.
- 42. The son of Pandu makes those valuable gifts which are always to be made to foremost of innee-born persons in sacrifices and in obsequial rites, after the manner of all the great kings of yore.
- 43. The great son of Kunti is mild, and self-controlled, and is always "sisposed to spend as if he were a second. Varshrayana, He has great muisters who attend on him.
- 44 He is compassionate to even his enemies Indeed, that foremost one of Bharata's race is of pure conduct. Gilted with great intelligence, he is perfectly straigl florward in his dealings and rules and protects us like a father his children.
- 45. From association with him who is the son of Dharma, O'royal sage, Bhima

- and Arjuna and others will never wrong us in the least, 46 They are mild, O you of Kurn's race, to them that are mild, and fierce like
- race, to their that are mild, and herce like snakes of dreadful poison to them who are fierce. Endued with great energy, those high smiled ones are always devoted to the well being of the people
- 47. Neither Kunti, nor your (daughterin law) Panchali, nor Ulupi, nor the princess of the Sattwata race, will do the least wrong to these people.
- 48. The affection which you have shawn towards us and which in Yudhishthira is seen to exist in a still larger measure, is incapable of being forgotten by the people of the city and the provinces.
- 49 Those powerful car-warriors, vis, the sans of Kunti, themselves devoted to the duties of virtue, will protect and cherish the people even if these happen to be unrighteous.
- 50. D) you, therefore, O king, removing all anxiety of heart on account of Yudhishthira, set yourself to the accomplishment of all meritorious deeds, O foremost of men.

Valshampayana said:-

- 51. Hearing these words, fraight with virtue and merit, of that Brahmana and approving of them every person in that assembly said,—' Excell nt, Excellent' and accepted them as his own.
- 52. Dhrstarashtra, also, repeatedly speaking highly of those words, slowly dismissed that assembly of his subjects.
- 53 Thus honoured by them and looked upon with anspectors looks, the old king, O chief of Bharata's race, juned his hands and honoured them all in return.
 - 54. He, then, entered his own palace with Gandhari Listen now to what he did after that night had passed away,

CHAPTER XI.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-

Vaishampavaur said —

- t. After that night had passed away, Dheitarashira, the son of America, sert Vidura to Yudioshthica's palace.
- 2-3. Gifted with great energy and the foremost of all persons endued with Intelligence, Vidura, Laving served at Yudhish-thira's palace, addressed that foremost of her, that king of undecaying glory, is, the sevords --King Obritarashira has performed the preliminary ries for receiving him in purpose of return grain the forest. He will start for the woods, O king, on the coming day of full moon of the month of Kartikas.

- 4-5 He now solicits from you, O formout of Henris race, some maney Henris to Henris race, some maney the work of the Henris race, as also of Droma and the constant and Valhika of great mellicere and of all his some as a flucture where of his who have been killed and, if you permit it, of that sucked king of the Smidtle.
 - 6 Hearing these words of Vidura, both Vudhishthira, and Pandu's son Arjuna of turly hair, became very glad and applauded them highly.
 - 9-9 Bhima, however, of great energy and an unappeasable anger, and not accept those words of Videra me good sprins recollecting the acts of the videra me good sprins recollecting the acts of the dadam decked the dadam she words and the control of the videral she words and the videral she words of the videral she words of the words of the videral she was a she with the videral she words of the videral she words of the videral she was a she with the videral she words of the videral she was a she with the vid
 - to He wishes to make gifts for advancing the happiness of his killed kinsment and well wishers now in the other would O you of kuru's race, he wishes to give away wealth that belongs to you by to no use.
 - to agasts.

 11—12 Indeed, O michty-sermed onetis for Bhishma and attest that the feld
 it is for Bhishma and attest that the feld
 it is for Bhishma and attest that the feld
 it is for Bhishma and attest that the feld it is for Bhishma and attest the feld you should grant your
 you should grant your how the common the grants, that the reverses truely the good by time.
 It is forest, the should be a feld of and the forest, in shismen and
 the forest, in shismen and while the grants of the grants of the forest, in shismen and
 the forest, in shismen and while the grants of granting the grants of granting the grants of grants of grants of west devisite from granting the premission asked.
 - 14 O melity-seemed one releast, beauties bringing inlamy, will yield demerits. Do you learn your duty in its matter from the king, your eldast brother, who is lord of all.
 - 15 You should give instead of reformer Denicl of Bi arata's sace ! Vibhatsu whe was saying so as applauded by king Yudhusi tina tie jost.
 - to anger Blimssens i wrongs gone to said these words 1-O Phalguns, it is we it ey ture gold that shall make gifts in the matter of Bussima's obseques, as also of king Somadatia and of Sturrishravas, of the 1974 age Valbaka, and of the great Drana, and of all otters One mother Runti shall make such obsequal offerings for Karna. O force most of men, let not Diritarashtra persons those Shraddhas.

19 Ihis is what I think Let not our genemies be kladdened Let Duryodhana and oil ers sin't from a miserable to a more miserable position.

2-11. Alas, it was those vericles of their family who caused the whole Earth of be bettermusted. How have the best perbased on the state of the state of the force of that anxiety of the law perdual our living in deep forest of cognital that was 30 painful to Dangdal? When was Directarableta's Alection for us then I

- 22 Clad in a black deer-skin and directed of all your ornaments, with the Princess of Panchala in your company, did you not follow this king (
- 23 Where were Blushma and Drona then, and where was Sorsadata? You had to live for thirteen years in the forest depending on the products of the widerness.

14-75 Your eldest father did not that look at yo with eyes of parental affection. Have your forgotten, O Parla, that it was this weetel of our jured of Vidura, the match at Cleaning that for the match at Cleaning that for look been won? "Vidulishithing at son of Kuntu, rafted with your total lines have been and to the son of Kuntu, rafted with the stilling nee, studied hum and told hum to be silent,

CHAPTER XII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)

Cantinutae

Arjuma said.

1. O Blums, jour are my effer brother and, therefore, my senior and preceptor. I dare not say anything more than what I dare not say anything more than what I have already said. Ite days sage Diritahave already said.

every way.

2 They who are good, they who are
2 They who are good, they good who yet above it a common level, who break one the distinctions with who break one the distinctions with the characterist the good, remember not the wrongs done to then but only the benefits it by lare gold.

3-5 Hearing these words of the great Phalyma, the subtreous-souled Vidhish-thira the son of Runti, addressed Vidura and said the words — Instructed by me, O Kshaitri do you say to the Ruru king that I shall give lin as much wealth from my treasury as he wishest o give away for the obesid used in sons, and of Bushima and others among his well wishers and benefactors. Let not Bhima be dispirited at his.

Vaishampayana said :--

- 6 Having said these words, king Yudhishthira the just biglily applended Arjuna Meanwhill Bilmasena began to tast angry looks at Dinananaya.
- 7. Then Yudhishthira, gifted with great Intelligence, once more addressed Vidura and said,—King Dhiitarashtra should not be angry with Blumasena.
- 8 I lids Bhima of great intelligence was greatly afficted by cold and rain and heat and by a thousand other griefs while living in the forest. All this you know.
- g Do jou, however, instructed by me, say to the king. O foremost one of Bhatala's family, that he may take from my house whatever articles he wishes and in whatever measure also he likes.
- to You shall also tell the king that he should not suffer his heart to remember this show of pride in which Bhima, deeply afflicted, has indulged
- 11. Whatever wealth I have and whatever Arjuna has in his house, the owner thereof is king Dhritarashtra. This you should tell him.
- 12. Let the king make gifts to Brahmanas! Let him spend as largely as he likes Let him liberate himself from the debt he owes to its sons and well-wishers.
- 13 Let him be told besides,—'O monarch this very body of mine is at your disposal, and all the riches I have! Know this and let there be no doubt in this?

CHAPTER XIII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-

Continuel. Vaishampayana said:-

1-2. Thus addressed by king Yudhish-thira, Vidura, that foremest of intelligent person, victored to Divinizashira and said to lum thesel words of great significance—'I at first reposted your myssage to king Yudhishira. Reflecting on your words,

- Yudhishthira of great splendour spoka highly of them.

 3 The highly energetic Vibhatsu, also, places all his palaces with all the riches
- therein, as also his very life-breaths, at your disposal.

 4 Your son, king Yudhishthira, too.
 - offers you, O royal sage, his kingdom and life breaths and riches and all else which belongs to him.

 5. Bhuna, however, of mighty arms, re-
- collecting all his numberless sorrows has with difficulty given his consent, breathing many heavy sights.

 6 That mighty-armed hero, O monarchi-
- was solicited by the righteous king as also by Vibhatsu, and induced to treat you cordially.

 7-8. King Yudhishthira the first has
- 7—8. King Yudhishthita the just has prayed you not to be displeased for the improper conduct which Bhima has shown at the recollection of former hortitites—
 I his is generally the conduct of Kshatriyas—in battle, O king, and this Vinkodara is devoted to battle and the practices of Kshatriyas.
- 9-to Both myself and Arjura, O king, repeatedly beg you for pardoning Vinkodara Be gracious to us You are out lord O king, you can give way sypoid like whatever money we have You O Bharata, are the master of this kingdom and of all lives in it.
- 11—12. Let the foremost one of the Kuri race give away for their obsequal rises of his sons, all tiose foremost of gifts which should be given to the Brahmanas Indeed, let him make those glits to persons of the twice-born caste, taking away from out palaces lewels, gems, and kine, and slaves both male and female, and goats and sheep. Let gifts be made to also those who are poor or blind or in great districts, selecting the objects of his charity as he likes.
- 13 Let, O Vidura, large pavilions be made, rich with food and drink of various tastes collected in abundance. Let reservoirs of water be made for enabling kind to drink, and let other meritorious works be done.
- 14. These were the words said to me by the king as also by Pritha's son Dhanniana. You should say what should be done next.
- 18. After Vidura had said these words, O Janamejaya, Dheitsvashitea expressed his satisfaction at them and made up his mind for making large presents on the day of full moon in the mouth of Kartika.

CHAPIER XIV.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:—

thus accosted by Vidura, king, Dhritarashtra became highly pleased, O monarch, with the act of Yudhishthira and Ishnu. 2-6. Inviting then, after proper examihation, thousands of worthy Brahmanas and superior Risins, for the sake of Bhielima, as also of his sons and friends and causing a large quantity of food and drink to be prepared, and cars and other vehicles and clothes, and gold and fewels and gems, and slaves both male and female. and goats and sheep, and blankets and tich articles to be collected, and villages and fields, and other hinds of wealth to be kept ready, as also elephants and horses decked with ornaments, and many beautiful maidens who were the best of their sex, list foremost of kings gave them away for the behoof of the dead, naming each of them in due order as the gifts were made. Naming Drona, Bhishma, Somadatta, Valhika, and king Duryodhana, and each one of his other sons, and all his well-Wishers with Jayadratha as the first, those gilts were made in due order.

7. With the approval of Yudhishthira, that Shraddinasacrifice became marked by large gifts of wealth and profuse presents of fewels and gems and other kinds of riches. .

Tellers and scribes on that occasion under the orders of Yudhishthira, traselessly asked the old king, Do you tommand, O king what gifts should be made to these. All il mgs are ready here ! -As soon as the king spoke, they gave away what he directed.

to. A thousand was given to him that was to receive a hundred, and ten thousand was given to him that was to receive a thousand, at the command of the royal son of Kuntl

11. Like the clouds refreshing the crops with their downpours, that engal cloud pleased the Brahmanas by downpours of ticles.

After all those glits had been distributed, the sing. O you of great intelli-gence, then deluged the assembled guests of all the four castes with repeated surges of food and drink of various tastes. Dhritarashtra-

13-14 Indeed, the ocean, swelling high, with Jewels and gems for its waters, such with the villages and fields and other foremost of gifts making its verdant islands, heaps of various kinds of precious articles for its rich caves, elephants and horses for its alligators and whirlpools, the sound of Mridangas for its deep roars, and clothes and wealth and precious stones for its waves, deluged the Karth.

15 ,It was thus, O king, that that monarch made gifts for the behoof fin the other world, of his sons land grandsons and departed manes as also of himself and Gandhars.

At last when he became tired with the work of making such profuse gifts, that great Gift-Sacrifice ended.

17. Hus did that king of Kuru's race celebrate his Gift-Sacrifice mimes continually danced and sang on the occasion and contributed to the pleasure of all the guests Food and drink of various tastes were given away in profusion.

18 Making sitts in this way for ten days, the royal son of Amviks, O chief of Bharata's race, became Inversted from the debts he owed to his sons and grandsons.

I CHAPTER XV.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said —

t. Having settled the hour of his departure for the forest, the royal son of Amvika, vis , Diritarashtra, summoned those heroes, il c Pandavas.

2-3 Endued with great intelligence, the old king, with Gendhart, duly accosted those princes. Having caused the mit of rites to be performed, by Brahmanas knowing the Vedas on that day which was the day of full moon in the month of Kartika, he caused the fire which he adored da y to be taken up Casting off his proper dress he were deer st ns and barks, and accompanied by his daughters-in lar, ic left his palace.

When the royal son of Vichitraviry, a thus started, the Par days and the Kanraya ladics as also other women belong ng to the (Caurava race, began to bewail aloud.

The king adored the palice in which he had I sed with fried pad I; an I excellent flowers of sarrous kinds all his servants with gifts of wealth, and then leaving that house set out on his journey. Ties O son, king Valisitiva, trembling ail over, with words chourd by teats, said these words in a loud voice. tis - O righteous king, where do you go? -and fell down in a swoon

Arjuna, burning with great grief, repeatedly 1 hat foremost of har to per ces telling Yudhishthira that 'e in id not beliave thus stood cheerlessly th heart plunged into distress.

Vrikodara, the heroic Phalgina the to sins of Madri, Vidura, Saniava I' in asl tra s son by his Vaishya wife, he pa and Dhaumys and other Brahas all followed the old king with voices ch had in grief

Lunts walked first, carrying on her . oulders the hand of Gandhari who walked with her bandaged eyes King Dhritarash tra walked confidently behind Gandhari, placing his hand on her shoulder

Drupada's daughter Kushna she of the Sattwata race, Uttara il e daughter is law of the Kauravas who had recently c ne a mother Clitrangada, and other ' les attacled to ile toyal house, all fol-1 wed the old king

The wail they uttered at that time, () king, from sorrow resembled the loud mentations of a swarm of she ospreys n the wives of the citizens-Brahmanas

6 'Ks' atriyas and Vaishyas and Shudras - lo came out into the streets from all

At Dhritarasl tra's departure, O or all the clizens of Hastinapore be me as distressed as they had been O nel when they lad seen the departure

t e Pandavas in former days after their le La tle march at dice

Lad es who had never seen the sun the moon came out into the streets on occasion in great sorrow, when king arashtra proceeded towards the great

CHAPTER XVI

SCHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)-Continued.

Vill ampayana said .—

at was the uproar, at that time both men and women standing races of palaces or on the Earth and with great intelligence the somed hands and trembling passed with difficulty along greet wile was crawle d of toth sexes

He left the city of Hastinapur by the principal gate, and then repeatedly asked that crowd of people to return to their homes

Vidura had made up his mind for going to the forest with the king The Suta Sanjaya also the son of Gavalgani the claf muster of Dhutarashtra was of the same beart

5 King Dhritarashtra however, caused Kupa and the powerful CAT-Watrior Yuyutsu to refram from following him He made them over to Yudhishthira's hands

After the citizens had ceased following the monarch, king Yudhishthira, with the ladies of his house, prepared to stop, at the command of Dhistarashtra.

Seeing that his mother Kunti was desirous of retiring into the forest, the king said to her - I shall follow the old king.

Do you desist You should O queen return to the city accompanied by these your daughters. in law! This king goes to the forest, determined upon practising penances

Ti ough king Yudhishthira said these words to her, with I is eyes bathed in tears, Kusti however, without answering him, co stranged to go catching hold of Gandhati.

Kuntı saıd ~

O king, never neglect Sahadeva He is very much attached to me, O monarch, and to you also always

You should always bear in mind Karna who never retreated from battle I brough my folly that hero has been killed in the field of battle

Surely my son this heart of mine is made of steel since it does not break into a limidred pieces at not seeing that child born of the Sun God.

When such las been the case, O chastiser of enemies what can I now do? I am very much to blame for not having said the truth about the birth of Surya's cl ild

O crusher of enemies, I hope your will with all your brothers, make excellent wifts for the sake of that son of the Sun-God.

15 O mower of enemies you should always do what is agreeable to Draupadi. You should look after Bitmasena and You should look after Bitmasena and Nahula and Sahadeva. The charge of the Kuru race lave now fallen on you, O king

16 I slall live in the forest dhars, besmea body w devoted to the service of my father in law and mother in law.

Vaishampayana said :--

- thus addressed by her, the virtu ous Yudinshthura, with passions under complete restraint, became, with all his brothers, plu iged into great sorrow Gifted with great intelligence, the king said not a
- word. 18 Having thought for a moment, king Yudiuslubira the just, dispirited and plunged in anxiety and sorrow, said to his mother, saying,-
- What, indeed is your object? You slould not do it I can never grant you permission! You should show us mercy.
- Formerly, when we were about to leave flastmapore for the forest, O you of agreeable features, it was you who reciting to us the story of Vidula's instruc tions to her son, stimulated us to exertion You should not leave us now
 - 21. Having killed the kings of Earth, I have acquired sovereignty, guided by your wise words communicated through Vasudeva.
 - 22 Where now is that understanding of yours about which I had heard from Vasudeva? Do you wish now to deviate from those Kshatriya practices about which you had instructed us?
 - 23 Leaving ourselves, this kingdom, and this illustrious daughter-in law of yours, how will you live in the inaccessible forest? Do you relent.
 - Kuntt, with tears in her eyes, heard these words of her son but continued to go her way. Then Bhima addressed her, saving,-
 - 25 When, O Kunti, sovereignty has been acquired, and when the time has come for you to enjoy that sovereignly thus acquired by your children, when the duties of totalty awart discharge by you whence has this desire entered into your mind?
 - 26 Why then did 3on cause us to exterminate the Earth 7 Why would you leave all and wish to take up your residence in the forest?
 - 27. We were born in the forest then did you bring its from the forest while we were children? See, the two sons of Mady are overwhelmed with sorrow and gnet
 - 28 , Relent O mother 1 O you of great fame do not go into the forest now! Do you er jos that prospenty which, acquired

- gaged in the practice of penances and by power, has become Yudhishthira's
 - Firmly resolved to retire into the forest, Kunti disregarded these lamentations of her sons
 - Then Draupadi, with a cheerless face accompanied by Subhadra, followed her weeping mother-11 law who was proceeding on from desire of going into the forest.
 - Highly wise and firmly resolved on retirement from the world, the blessed dame walked on frequently looking at her weeping children.
 - The Pandayas, with all their wives and servitors, continued to follow her. Restraining then her tears, she addressed her children in these words

CHAPIER XVII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)— " Continued.

- Kuntı said -1. What you say, O mighty-armed son of Pandu 15, indeed, true! O kings, formerly, when you were all dispirited, indeed, I excited you all
- Seeing that your kingdom was taken away from you by a match at dice, seeing that you all fell from happiness, seeing that you were governed over by kinsmen, I instilled courage and high thoughts into your mınds.
- 3 O foremost of men, I encouraged you so that the sons of Pandu might not be lost, so that their fame might not be lost.
- You are all equal to Indra prowess resembles that of the very celestials. lacted thus so that you might not live, depending upon others
- I installed courage into your I exits so that you who are the foremost of all righteous persons who are equal to Vasava, might not again go into the forest and live in misery
 - I mistilled courage into your bearts so that this Bi ena who has the stree gib of ten thousand elept at its and whose prowess and manimess are widely known, might not sink into insignificance and juin.
 - I instilled courage into your hearts on that the Vijaya, who was born after Blumasena and who is equal to Visavi lumerli, might not be cheerless

- 13 The great Shatayapa instructed Dhintarast tra in all the rites of the forest mode, at the command of Vyasa
- 14. Thus the great Ulustarashtra set lumself to the practice of pennices, and all lus followers also to the same course of conduct.
- 15. Queen Gandhari also, O monarch, along with Kunti, put on barks of trees and deer-skins, and began to observe the same yows as her husband.
- 16 Restraining their senses in thought, words, and deeds, as well as by eye, they began to perform severe austerities.
- 17. Shorn of all stupefaction of mind king Diratarashtra began to practize yous and penances like a great Rishi, reducing lus body to skin and bones, for his flesh was all dired up, bearing matted locks on head, and his person clad in barks and skins.
- 18 Vidura, conversant with the true interpretations of Victue, and gifted with great intelligence, as also Sanjaya, waited upon the old king with his wife. Both of them with souls under control, Vidura and Sanjaya a size reduced themselves, and wore banks and rage.

CHAPIER XX.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said --

- I those foremost of ascence, wis, Narada, Parvata and Devala of austern penances, came there to see king Dhritarashira.
- Ihe Island-born Vyasa with all his disciples, and other persons glited with great wisdom and crowned with ascetic success, and the royal sage Shatayupa of advanced years and possessed of great merit, also came
- 3 'Kusti adored them with due rites, O king. All those ascelies were highly pleased with the adorations offered to them

 1 hose great Riel is pleased the high-
- 4 Those great Riel is pleased the highsouled king Dhintarashtras with discourses on religion and virtue.
- 5 At the conclusion of their converse, the celestial Rishi Narada, seeing all things as objects of direct perception, said the following words.

Narada said: 1 6 There was at king of the Kekayas, possessed of great prosperity and perfectly soul

- fearless. His name was Sahasrachitya and he was the grandfather of this Shata-
- 7 Resigning his kingdom to his highly virtuous eldest son, the virtuous king Sahasrachitya retired into the forest.
- 8 Reaching the other end of blazing penances, that king, gifted with great splendour, attained to the region of Purandara where he continued to live in his company.
- 9 On many occasions, while visiting the region of Indra O king, I saw that monarch, whose sins had all been consumed by penances, living in Indra's palace
- 10. Similarly, king Shailalaya, the grandfather of Bhagadatta, attained to the region of Indra by the power alone of his penances.
- 11. There was another king, O monarch, of the name of Prishadhra who resembled the holder of the thunder-bolt himself. That king also by his penances proceeded from the barth to the celestial region
- 12 In this very forest, O king, that king, wis, Purukutsa, the son of Mandhatri, acquired great success.
- 13. That foremost of rivers, vis, Narmada, became the consort of that king-Having practised penances in this very forest, that king proceeded to the celestial region.
- 14 There was another king, highly righteous, of the name of Shashaloman, ite, too, performed severe austerities in this forest and then ascended to the celestial region.
- 15 You also, O monarch, having arrived at this forest, shall, through the grace of the Island born attain to a very high end and which is difficult of attainment.
- end and which is difficult of attainment.

 16 You also, O foremost of kings, at the termination of your penances, shall become gifted with great prosperity and accompanied by Gandhari, attain to the end
- reached by those great ones,

 17 Living in the presence of the destroyer of Vala, Pandu thinks of you always.
 He will, O monarch certainly assist you in the attainment of prosperity.
- 18 Ti rough serving you and Gandhari, this daughter in-law of yours possessed of great lame, will attain to residence with her husband in the other world.
- i 19 'She is the mother of Yudiushthira who is the eternal Dharma We see all this, O king, with our spi vision.
- this, O king, with our spi vision.

 20 Vidura will e e highreditation, will ascend from this world into He celestral region.

Vaishampayana said:—

- that great chief of Kuru's race, endued with learning, having, with his wife, leard these words of Narada, praised them and adored Narada with unprecedented honors.
- The assembly of Brahmanas there present became filled with great joy, and desirous of pleasing king Dhritarashtra, O monarch themselves worshipped Narada
- with great respect. 23-24 Those foremost of twice both persons also lauded the words of Narada Hen the royal sage Shatayupa, adiressing Narada, said, Your holy self has is creased the devotion of the Kurn king, of all those people here, and of myself also,
- O you of great splendour. 25 I wish to ask you something Listen to me as I say it It is about king, D intatashtra, O celestial Rishi, that are adored
- of all the worlds 26 You know the truth of every affair. Gilted with celestial vision, you behold, O twice born Rishi, what the various ends are of human beings.
- You have said what the end has been of the kings mentioned by you, vis . association with the king of the celestials. You have not, however, O great Rishi, declared what those regions are wisch will be acquired by this king.
- O powerful one, I wish to hear from you what region will be acquired by the royal Dhritarashtra You should teil me truly the kind of region that will be his and the time when he will attain to it.
- 7) Thus addressed by him, Narada of Calestial vision and endued with austere penances, said in the midst of the assembly these words highly agreeable to the minds ci all.

Narada said :-

- 39 Going at my will to the palace of Siatra, I lave seen Shakra the land of Sachs, and there, O royal sage, I have seen Ling Pandu
- 31. There is a talk arose. O monarch, about this Dhintarashira and those highly a stere penances which he is performing
- 32 There I heard from the lips of Shakra I inself that there are three years Jet of the period of I is of this king.
- 31 After that, king Diretarashera, accompaniel by I a mile Gandhatt, will go to the regions of Kuvera and be highly honored by that king of kings He will go there on a car moving at this will, his body adorned with celestial ornaments.

- He is the son of a Rishi; he is highly blessed; he has exhausted all his sins by his penances Gifted with a righteous soul, he will roam at will through the regions of the celestials, the Gandharvas, I hat about which you and the Rakshasas have enquired is a mystery to the gods Through my affection for you, I have said this high truth
- You all are possessed of the wealth of Shrutis and have burnt all your sins by your penances.

Vaishampayana said —

- Hearing these sweet words of the celestral Rishi, all the persons there assembled, as also king Dhritarashtra, became
- greatly pleased. 38 Having cheeted Dhutarashtra of great wisdom with such talk, they left the place, going away by the path that belongs to those who are crowned with success.

CHAPTER XXI.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said 🗝

- Upon the retirement of the king of the Kurus into the forest, the Pandayas, O king, affi cted besides by grief on account of their mother, became very dispirited !
- The citizens also of Hastinapore were possessed by deep sorrow. The Brahmanas always talked of the old king
- How, indeed, will the king, who has become old, live in the solitary forest? How will the lighly blessed Gandhars, and Pritha, the daughter of Kuntibhops, live there ?
 - The royal sage has always lived in the enjoyment of every comfort. He will certainly be very miserable Arrived in il e deep forest, what is now the cond tam of that personage of royal descent, who is, again bereft of vision?
 - Difficult is the feat that Kunti has performed by separating herself from Ler sons Afas renouncing toyal prospertty, sle chose a lie in the farest.
- What, agan, is the condition of Videra who is always eleveted to the service of his elder brother? How also is

- the intelligent son of Gavalgans who is so faithful to the salt given him by his master ?
- 7. The citizens, including even the tninors meeting together, asked one another
- these questions. Tie Pandavas also, greatly stricken with grief, bewailed for their old mother, and could not live in their city long.
- Thinking also of their old sire, the king, who had lost all his children, and the highly blessed Gandhari, and Vidura of great intelligence, they could not enjoy! peace of mind.
- 10. They had no pleasure in sovereignty, hor in women, hor in the study of the Vedas.
- 11. Despair entered their souls as they thought of the old king and as they repeat edly thought of that terrible destruction of kinsmen.
- truction of the youthful Abhimanyit on the field of battle, of the mighty armed Karna who never retreated from fight, of the sons of Draupadi, and of other friends of theirs, those heroes became highly dispirited. They could not get peace of mind

Indeed, thinking of the des

- upon repeatedly thinking that the Barth had become divested of both her heroes and her riches Draupadi had lost all het children, and the beautiful Subhadra also had be-
- come childless 1 hey, too, were of cheerless hearts and grieved greatly. Seeing, however, the son of Virata's daughter, vis, your sire Patikshit, your grandsites somehow lived.

CHAPTER XXII.

(ASIIRAMAVASIKA PARVA)-

Continued.

- Valshampayana said 🛶
- 1. Those foremost of men the hero c Pandavas,-those del ghters of their mother -became greatly stricken with grief.
- They who had formerly been always engaged in royal offices, did not at that time attend to those deeds at all in their capital.
- 3. Stricken with deep sorrow, they could not find pleasure from anything. If any body asked them, they never honored him with an answer.

- 4. Although tibse irresistible liefoes were grave like the ocean, yet they were now deprived of their knowledge and their very senses by the grief they felt
- Thinking of their mother, the sons of Pandu became anxious as to how their ematiated mother was serving the old
- How, indeed, is that king, whose sons have all been killed and who is without, tefuge, living alone, with only his wife, in the forest haunted by beasts of prey?
- 7. Alas, how does that blobby blessed queen, Gandhari, whose dear ones have all been killed, follow her blind husband in the solitary forest
- 8 | Such was the anxiety shown by the Pandavas when they talked with one another. They then set their hearts upon beholding the king in his forest asylum.
- Then bowing down to the king, Sahas deva said -- I think you wish to see out siće.
- 10. From my respect for you, however, I could not speedily speak on the subject of our journey to the forest. The time for that solourn is now come
- By good luck I shall see Kunti performing penantes with matted locks on her head practising severe austerities and emacrated by sleeping on blades of Rusha and Kasba.
- She was brought up in palaces and nursed in every comfort and futury when shall I see my mother who is now toilworn and plunged into great misery.
- Forsooth, O chief of Bharata's race, the ends of men are exceedingly uncertain, since Kunti, who is a princess by birth, is now living in misery in the forest
- Hearing these words of Sahadevi, queen Draupadi ti at foremost of all women duly honoring the king, said, with proper salutations -
- Alas, when shall I see queen Priths, il, indeed she is alive! I shall consider my life as not passed in va n if I succeed in seeing her once more, O king.
- 16. Let this sort of understanding he ever firm in you I et your mind always take a pleasure in such virtue as is involved; O king of kings in your desire of granting such a ligh boon on us.
- 17. Know O king that all thete flades of your house are staying with aleir feet raised for the fourney, from desire of seeing Kunti father-in-1260

- 18 Thus addressed by queen Draupadi, the king, O chief of Bharata's race, sum moved all the leaders of his army to his presence and told them -
- in 'Cause my army, full of cars and elephants to march out I shall see king Dirstarashtra who is now living in the forest *
- 20 To the officers in charge of the ladies ward the king gave the order,- Let various kilds of conveyances be properly equipt as also all my closed litters counting by
 - 21 Let carriages and granaries and wardrobes, and treasuries, be equipt and ordered out, and let mechanics have the tommand to march out. Let men in charge of treas tries go out on the way leading to the ascetic hermitage of Kurukshetra.
 - Whoever amongst the citizens wishes to see the king, is allowed to do so without any restriction. Let him proceed, properly brutected
 - 23 Let cooks and superintendents of k tchens, and the whole culmary establishment, and various kinds of edibles and via ids be ordered to be borne out on carts and conveyances
 - Let it be proclaimed that we march ont to morrow Indeed, let no delay take blace Let pavilions and resting houses of various kinds be erected on the way
 - These were the commands which the eldest son of Pandu gave with his brothers When mining came, O monarch the king started with a large following of women and old men
 - 26 Going out of his city, king Yudlish. there wanted five days for such cuttens as inght accompany him and then went towards the forest.

CHAPIER XXIII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)— Continued

Vaishampayana said '—

- 1. That feremost one of Bharata's race, then ordered I is troops, which were protects ed by heroes who were headed by Arjuna and who resemble I the very guardians of the universe, to march out.
- Immediately a land clamoit arose tonsisting of the words- I que bqip!bt house men, O Bharala, engaged in equip ing their torses.

- 3 . Some proceeded on carriages and vehicles, some on quick coursing horses, and some on cars made of gold and effulgent like blazing fires.
- 4 Some proceeded on powerful elephants and some on camels, O king. Some proceeded on foot, which belonged to that class of combatants which is armed with tiger like claws.
- The cluzens' and inhabitants of the provinces desirous of beholding Dhritarashtra followed the king on various kinds of conveyances.
- The preceptor Kripa also, of Gotama's race, that great leader of army, staking all the forces with I im, proceeded, at the command of the king, towards the old king's hermitage. 7-3. The Kuru king Yudhishthura, that
- perpetuater of Kuru's race, surrounded by a large number of Brahmana's, his praises lauded by a large band of Sutas and Magadhas and bards, and with a white umbrella held over his head, and surrounded by a large number of cars, started on his fourney. Vrlkodara, the son of the Wind-God,
 - went on an elephant huge as a hill, equipt with strong bow and machines and weapons of attack and defence. The twin sons of Madri vent on two
 - quick-coursing horses, well cased in mail, well protected, and eq upt with banners,
 - 11. Arl ma of great energy, with senses under restraint, proceeded on an excellent car effulgent like the sun to which were soked excellent white horses.
 - 12 The royal ladies headed by Draupait proceeded in closed litters protected by il d supermen lents of women They scattered showers of wealth as they went on.
 - Teening with ears and elephants and horses, and echoing with the blace of trumpets and the music of Vinas the Pairs dava array, O monarth, si ene with hieat beauty.
 - Those thiels of Kurus rice proceeded slowly, remning by deligitial banks of rivers and lakes, O monarch
 - Yazutsu of great cherky, and Dhaumya, the priest, at the com and of Yuff mithia, were engaged in protecti g the tity.
 - 16-17 By slow marches Li , Vellithia thirs, leached Kuraki etts, gaid then, crossing the Yamuna, that Hally sacre! ever, he saw from a d stance the lern age, O you of Kuru's rares of the total sage of Leest windom and of Dientarashira.

18. Then all the men became filled with joy and quickly entered the forest, filling it with loud sounds of joy, O chief of Bharata's race.

CHAPTER XXIV.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:-

- 1. The Pandavas got down at a distance, from their cars and proceeded on foot to the hermitage of the king, bending themselves in humility.
- 2. All the combatants also, and the citizens and the wives of the Kurn chiefs. followed them on foot.
- 3 The Pandavas then reached the sacred hermitage of Dhritarashtra which abounded with herds of deer and which was adorned with plantain plants.
- 4 Many ascetics of rigid vows, filled with curiosity, came there for seeing the Pandavas who had arrived at the hermitage.
- 5. The king, with tears in his eyes, asked them, saying,- Where has my eldest sire the perpetuater of Kuru's race, gone ?
- They answered, O monarch, telling him that he had gone to the Yamuna, for his ablutions, as also for fetching flowers and waters.
- 7. Proceeding quickly on foot along the path pointed out by them, the Pandavas saw all of them from a distance 8. Desirous of meeting with their sire
- they walked rapidly. Then Sahadeva ran quickly towards the spot where Pritha was.
- 9. Touching the feet of his mother, he began to weep aloud With tears running down her cheeks, she saw her darling child.
- Raising her son up and embracing him with her arms, she informed Gandhari of Sahadeva's arrival
- 11. Then seeing the king Bhimasena, Arjuna, and Nakula, Pritha tried to ad vance quickly towards them
- She was walking in advance of the childless old pair, and was dragging them forward. Seeing her, the Pandayas fell down on the earth.
 - The powerful and the great monarch, gifted with great intelligence, recognising [ them by their voices and also by touchcomforted them one after another. 14. Shedding tears, those great princes,

- with due formalities, approached the old king and Gandhari, as also their own mollier.
- 15. Indeed, regaining their senses, and once more consoled by their mather, the Pandavas took away from the king and their aunt and mother the jars full of water which they had been carrying.
- The ladies of those leading men, and all the women of the royal householdas also all the inhabitants of the city and the provinces, then saw the old king.
- King Yudhishthira presented all 17. those individuals one after another to the old king, repeating their names and famihes and then himself adored his eldest sire with respect.
- 18. Surrounded by them all, the old monarch, with eyes bathed in tears of 101, considered himself as once more staying in the midst of the city of Hastinapore.
- Saluted with respect by all his daughters in law headed by Krishna, king Dhritarashtra, gifted with great intelligence, with Gandhari and Kunti became filled with joy.
- He then reached his forest retreat which was highly spoken of by Siddhas and Charanas and that then was filled up with vast crowds of men all desirous of seeing I im like the sky teeming with myriads of stars.

CHAPIER XXV.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)--Continue !.

Vaishampayana said —

- The king, O chief of Blarata's race, with those foremost of men wis his brothers who all had eyes resembling lotuspetals took his seat in the hermitage of his eldest sire.
- There sat around him many highlyblessed ascetics coming from various regions from desire of seeing the sons of that ford of Kurus race, vis , the Pandavas of wide chests
- They said We wish to know who amongst these is Yudhislitlica, who are Bhima and Ariuna wlotle twins; and who is the illustrious Draupadi?

4 Then the Suta, Sanjaya, in answer 10 their queries, pointed out to them the Pandayas, naming each, and Dranpadi too as also the other ladies of the Kururace.

Sanjaya said '-

- 5 This one fair like pure gold, who is endued with a body which looks like that of a full grown lion, who is possessed of a large aquiline nose, and wide and expansive eyes of a coppery hue, is the Kuru
- 6 This one whose tread is like that of an infurrate elephant, whose complexion is as fair as that of heated hold whose frame is of large and expansive proportions, and whose arms are long and stout, is Vrikodara. See him well.
- The powerful bowmen who sits bes des 1 m, of darkish color and southful frame, who resembles the leader of an elephartine herd whose shoulders are as high as those of a hon, who walks like a sporting elephant, and whose eyes are as expansive as the petals of a lotus, is the hero called
 - Arjuna 8. Those two foremost of men, who are sitting beside Kunti are the twins resembling Vishnu and Mahendra In the entire world, they have not it en equals in beauty and strength and excellence of conduct.
 - This lady having eyes expansive as lotus-petals, who seems to have touched the middle age of life, whose complexion resembles that of the blue lotus, and who looks like a goddess, is Krishna, the embodied form of the goddess of prosperity.
 - to. She who sits besides her possessed of the complexion of pure sold, who looks I ke the embodied rays of the moon, in the midst of other ladies, O foremost of twice-born ones, si the sister that unrivalled hero who
 - 11. This other, as fair as pure gold, is the daughter of the Naga king at d wife of the Naga king at d Ary ma This other whose complexion is like that of pure gold or like that of Madhuka flowers, is the princess Chitrangada.
 - 12 This one, whose complexion is like an assemblage of blue lotuses, is the sister of that monarch, that lord of hosis who used to always challenge Krishna. She is the foremost wife of Vrikodara.
 - This is the daughter of the king of Magadha who was known by the name of Jarasandha Possessed of the complexion of an assemblage of Champakas, she is the wife of the youngest son of Midravalt.
 - Passessed of a complexion dark as the blue lotus, she who sits there on the earth, and whose eyes are as expansive as lotus petals, she is the wife of the eldest! son of Madravati.

- This lady whose complexion is as " fair as that of heated gold and who sits with her child on her lap, is the daughter of king Virata She is the wife of that Abhumanyu who while divested of his car, was killed by Drona and others fighting from their cars.
- These ladies, (the hair on whose heads shows not the parted line, and who are clad in white, are the widows of the killed sons of Dhritarashtra. They are the daughters in law of this old king, the wives of his hundred sons, now deprived of both their husbands and children who have been killed by heroic enemies.
 - I have now pointed them out in the order of precedence. On account of their devotion to Brahmanas, their understandings and hearts are divested of every kind of crookedness Possessed of pure souls. they have all been pointed out by men, they have all been pointed out by men, these princesses of the Kaurava line, in answer to your queries.

Vaishampayana said:—

Thus that aged king of Kuru's race, having met with those sons of him that was a celestral among men, enquired about their well being after all the ascetics had departed.

The warriors who had accompanied the Pandavas, leaving the retreat, sat themselves down at a little distance, getting down from their cars and the animals they Indeed, after all the crowd, wis , the ladies the old men and the children, had been seated, the old king duly addressed them after making the usual polite enquiries.

CHAPTER XXVI.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA.)-Continued.

Dhritarashtra said:-

- O Yudhishtlura, are you in prace and happiness, with all your brothers and the dwellers of the city and the provinces?
- 2 Are they who depend on you also happy? Are your ministers, and servitors, and all your seniors and preceptors also, happy ?
 - Are those also who live in your kingdom free from fear? Do you follow the old and traditional conduct of kings?

4. Is your treasury filled without disregarding the restraints imposed by Instice and equity? Do you behave as you should towards foes, neutrals, and allies ?

28 -

- Do you duly look after the Brahmanas, always making them the first gifts? What need I say of the citizens, and your servants, and kinsmen, are your foes, O chief of Bharata's race pleased with your conduct? Do you, O king of kings, adore with devotion the Pitris and the deities?
- Do your adore guests with food and drink, O Bharata? Do the Brahmanas in your kingdom perform the duties of their order, walk along the path of virtue?
- Do the Kshatriyas and Vaishyas and Shudras also within your kinkd im, and all your relatives, perform their respective duties? I hope the women, the children, and the old, among your subjects, do not Rivere (under distress) and not beg (the necessaries of life).
- Are the ladges of your household duly I onoured in your house, O best of men? I hope, O king that this race of royal sages having got you for their king, have not failen away from fame and glory?

Vaishampayana said —

1 to to the old king who said so. Yudhishthira, knowing morality and justice and well-skilled in acts and speech, spoke as follows, putting some questions about his well being.

Yudhishthira said .-

- 21. Does your peace O king, your self control, your tranquillity of heart, grow? Is this my mother able to serve you without fatigue and trouble.
- 12-13 Will, O king, her residence in the forest yield front? I tope this queen who is my eldest mother, who is emaciated with (exposure to cold and wind and the toil of walking and wise, s now given to the practice of severe austernies no longer Jields to grief for her children of great energy, all of whom performing the duties of the Kshatrivas, have been killed on the field of battle
- 14 Does she accuse us sinful wretches. who are responsible for their destruction? Where is Vidura, O king? We do not see him here I hope this Sanjaya, performing penances, is in peace and happiness.

Vaishampayana said —

Thus addressed Dhenarashtra answered king Yudhishthira, saying -O son Vidura is well. He is practising ausabstains from all other food. He is emaciated and his arteries and netves have become visible. Sometimes he is seen in this empty forest by Brahmanas.

17. While Dhritarasi tra was saying this Vidura was seen at a distance. He had matted locks on his head, and gravels in his mouth, and was greatly emaciated. He was perfectly naked. His body was besmeared all over with filth, and with the dust of various wild flowers.

- When Kshattri, was seen from a distance, the fact was communicated to Yudhishthira Vidura suddenly stopped, O king, looking towards the retreat
- Ring Yudiushthma pursued him alone, as he ran and entered it e deep forest, sometimes seen and sometimes not seen by the pursuer. He said aloud -'O Vidura, O
- Vidura I am king Yudhishthira, your favourite'-Exclaiming thus Yudhishthira, with great exertion, followed Vidura 21. Having reached a solitary spot in
- the forest that foremost of intelligent men, vis . Vidura, stood still, leaning against A tree.
- He was greatly emacrated. He tetamed only the shape of a human being. Yudi ishthira of great intelligence recogmised him, nowever
- Standing before him, Yudhishthira addressed hun saving - 1 am Yudlishthira' Indeed adoring Vidora properly, Yudhishthara said these words in the hearing of Videra
- Meanwhile Vidura looked at the king steadlastly Castrig his look thus on the king, he stood motionless in Yoga
- Finduced with great intelligence, he then (by his Yoga power) entered the body of Yudhishilara, limb by limb. He muted his vital airs with those of the king, and his senses with the king's senses. 26 Indeed with the help of Yoga pover,
- Vidura, burning with evergy, thus entered the body of king Yudhishthira the just.
- Meanwhile the body of Vidura continued to lean against the tree, with eyes fixed The king soon saw that life had fled out of it.
- 23-20 At the same time, he felt that he I maself had become stronger than before and that he had ganied many additional virtues and accomplishments. Gifted with great learning and energy, O monarch, Pandus son king Yudhishthus il e fiist. then recollected his own state before I is tere penances, living on air alone, for he birth among men. Possessed of mighty energy, he had heard of Yoga practice from Y

30—11. King Yudinshihira the just, endued with great learning, became dearous of doing the last ries to the body of Vidora, and wished to cremate it duly. An insuble voice was then heard a saying, — ling, this hold which belonged to him called Vidora should not be cremated. In him is your body also the is the eternal duty of Vitue.

- 32 Those happy regions which pass by the name of Santanika will be his, O Bharata He performed the duties of Yaus You should not, O scorcher of enemies, greve for him at all.
 - 33 Thus addressed king Yu lliishthira the just returned from the place, and represented everything to the royal son of Vichitraticyya
 - 34 At this, that effulgent king, all those men, and Blimasena and others, became filled with wonder.
 - 35. Hearing what had taken place, king Dnitarashtra become pleased and their, addressing the son of Dnas said,—D, you accept from me these sits of way and roots and fruits (I has been said took and fruits (I has what ook lang, that one's guest should take what one takes himself.)
 - 36 Thus addressed, Dharma's son answered the king, saying 'So be it!' The mighty-arined king are the fruits and coots which he gave.
 - 37. Then they all spread their beds under a tree and passed that night thus having eaten fruits and roots and drunk the water that the old monarch had given them.

CHAPTER XXVII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA)— Continued.

Vaishampayana said —

- 1 They passed that night which was marked out by auspicious constellations thus, O king, in that hermitage of phous ascetics.
 - 2 The conversation that took place was marked by many reflections on morality and wealth Consisting of delightful and sweet words it was graced with various citations from the Shrutis
- 3 The Pandavas O king, leaving costly he ds, land themselves down, near their in other, on the naked earth.

- 4 Indeed, those herors passed that night, having eaten the food which was the food of the great king Dhritarashira.
- After the night bad passed away, king Yudhishilitra, having performed his morning rites proceeded to survey that hermitage in the company of his brutlers.
- 6 With the royal ladies, the servants, and his priest, the king royed about the hermitage in all directions as he pleased, at the command of Dhritarashtra
- 7. He saw many sacrificial altars with sacred fires burning on them and with many ascetics seated on them, who had performed their oblations and poured libations in honour of the celestials
- 8. Those altars were covered with fruits and roots of the farest, and with heaps flowers The sin ke of classfied butter curled upwards from them Itey were graced, bestdes, with many ascetter posterior of the component of the second of bodies which appeared I ke the embodred Vedas and with many laymen.
- 9 Herds of deer were grazing or resting here and there, shorn of lear. Countless birds also were there engaged in ultering their sweet notes, O king!
- of their sweet notes, O king to the entire forest seemed to resound with the notes of peacocks and Datyuhas and Kokilas and the sweet songs of other
- warblers

 11. Some spots were echood with the tit. Some spots were echood by learned Brahmanas. Some were adarned with large heaps of fruits and roots gathered from the forest.
- 12—13 Kmg Yudhishthra then distrebuted amongst those ascetics golden cocopper Jers which he had brought for them, and many deer-sims and lankets and wooden sacrifical ladels and Kamaudalus and wooden platters, and pots and pans, O Bharatas.
 - 14 Various kinds of vessels made of iron, and smaller vessels and cups of various sizes, were also given away, by the king, the ascelles taking them away, each as many as he liked.
 - 15 Pious king Yudhishthira having thus roved through the forest and seen the startous retreats of ascetics and made many gilts, returned to the place where t is uncle , was.
 - 16 He saw king Dhritarashtra, seated is at ease, with Gandhari besides him, after having finished his morning rites.
 - 17 The righteous souled monarch beheld also his mother, Kunti, seated not much remote from that place, like a disciple with bent head, gifted with humility. He saluted the old king giving his name 'Sit down,' were the words the old king said With Dhritarashira's permission, Yudhishthira sat jumself down on a mat of Kusha grass.

30 MAHABHARATA. 📌 '

Then the other sons of Pandu with Bluma among them, O you of Bharata's race, saluted the king and touched his feet and sat themselves down, with his order,

The old Kuru king, surrounded by them looked highly beautiful, Indeed, he blazed with a Vedic splendour like Vrihaspati in the midst of the celestials.

21. After they had sat themselves down. many great Rishis, vis, Shatayupa, and others, who were inhabitants of Kurukshetra came there.

22. The illustrious and learned Vyasa, gilted with great energy and respected by even the celestral Rishis, showed himself at the head of his numerous disciples to Yudhishthira

Kuru king Dhritarashtra, The Knitt's son Yudinshthira of great energy, and Blumasena and others, stood up and going a few steps, saluted those guests,

24. Approaching near, Vyasa, surrounded by Shatayupa and others, addressed king Dhritrashtra, saying,-'Be seated,' The illustrious Vyasa then took an excellent seat made of Kusha grass placed upon a black deer-skin and covered with a piece of silken cloth. They had reserved that seat for him.

26 After Vyasa had been seated all those foremost of twice-born persons, gifted with profuse energy, sat themselves down, with the permission of Krishna-Dwarpayana,

CHAPTER XXVIII.

(ASHRAMAVASIKA PARVA,)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said ·—

After the noble Pandavas had all been seated, Satyavati's son Vyasa said,-'O Dhritarashtra of mighty-arms, have you been able to achieve penances? Is your mind, O king, pleased with your living in the forest ?

Has your grief begotten of the destruction of your sons in battle, disappeared from your heart? Are all your percep tions, O sinless one, now clear ?

4. Do you practise the ordinances of forest-life after having made your heart firm? Dies my daughter-in-law, Gindhart, suffer herself to be overwhelmed by grief ?

5. She is endued with great wisdom. Endued with intelligence, that queen understands both virtue and profit. She is well conversant with the truths which relate to both prospertty and adversity. Does slie still grieve? Does Kunti, O king, who for her devotion to the service of her seniors, left her children, attend to your wants and serve you with all humility? Have the high-minded and great king Yudhishthura, the son of Dharma, and Bluma and Arjuna, and the twins, been sufficiently comforted ?

Do you feel delight at seeing them? Has your mind become freed from every strain? Has your disposition, O king become pure on account of the increase of your knowledge? These three, O king, are the foremost of all concerns, O Bharata, vis, abstension from minry to any creation, truth, and freedom from anger.

to. Does your forest hie any longer prove painful to you? Are you able to acquire with your own exertions the products of the forest for your food? Do fasts pain you now?

Have you learnt 'O king, how the great Vidura, who was Dharma's self, left this world?

Through the curse of Mandavya, the deity-of Virtue became born as Vidura. He was gifted with great intelligence. Endued with high penances, he was great and high minded

Even Vrihaspati among the celestials, and Shokra among the Asuras, had not intelligence like that foremost of persons

14. The eternal derty of Virtue was stupefied by the Rishi Mandavya with an expenditure of his penances acquired for a long time with great care.

15. At the command of the grandfather and through my own energy, the highly intelligent Vidura was procreated by me upon a soil owned by Vichitraviryya

A desty of desties, and eternal, he was, O king, your brother The learned know him to be Dharma on acc unt of his practices of concentration and abstrac-

He grows with truth, self-contraint, tranquility of heart, mercy, and gilts. He

- is always engaged in penances, and is ternal.
- 18. From that deity of Virtue, through Yoga-Power, the Ruru king Yudhishthira also took his birth. Yudhishthira, therefore, O king, is Dharma of great wisdom and immeasurable intelligence.
- 1) Dharma exists both in this world and in the next, and is like fire or wind or water or earth or space.
- 20. He is, O king of kings, capable of going everywhere and exists, pervading the entire universe. He is capable of being seen by only those who are the foremost of the detires and those who are purged of every sin and crowned with ascetic success.
- 21. He who is Dharma, is Vidura, and he who is Vidura is the (eldest) son of Pandu. That son of Pandu, O king, is capable of being perceived by you. He is before you as your servitor.
- 22 G fied with great Yoga-Power, your high-souled brother, that foremost of intelligent men, seeing the high souled Yudhishithira, the son of Kunti has entered into his body.
- 23 O chief of Bharata's race, I shall note you also with great benefit. Know, O son, that I am come here for removing your doubts
- 24. I shall show you some leat which has never been accomplished before by any of the great Rishis—some wonderful effect of my p-nances.
- 23 What object is that, O king, whose accomplishment you wish from me? Tell me what is that which you wish to see or ask or lear? O sinless one, I shall accomplish it.

CHAPTER XXIX.

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA).

Janamejava said --

- t—3 leff me. O learned Brahman, what that wonderful feat was, which the great Rush Vyasa of great energy accomplished after he had he made promuse to the pid fung, when Ohritarashtra, that foremost one of Kuru's race had taken up his residence in the forest with his wife and with his diaghlters in law Kuru's and eller, indeed, futured that the pid function of the control of the Vadhistithira, and at the time when all the sons of Pandquere lowing 1 in heremitage.
- 4 Fir how many days did the Kuru king Yadashthura of undecaying glors, stay with his men in the forest.

geat Pandavas support themselves with their men, and wives, while they lived in the forest? O sinless one, do you tell me this.

Vaishampayana said :--

- 6-7. With the permission of the Kuru king, the Pandavas, O monarch, with their troops and the ladies of their household, lived on various kinds of food and drived which and passed about a month in great happaness in that forest, I wavetle, the close of that period, O sintess one, Vyasa came there.
- 8. While all those princes sat around Vyasa, engaged in conversation on various topics, other Riship came there,
- 9 They were Narada, Parvata, Devala of austere penances, Vishwavasu, Tumvuru, and Chitrasena. O Bharata.
- to. Gifted with severe prinances, the Kuru king Yudhishthira, with the permission of Dhritarashtra, adored them according to due rites.
- 11. Having got that worship from Yidhishthira, all of them sat down on sacred seats (made of Kusha grass as also on excellent seats made of peacock feathers,
- 12. After they had all been seated, the Burn king of great intelligence took his seat there, surrounded by the sons of Pandu.
- 13 Gandhari Kunti and Draupadi, an I she of the Sattwata race, and other ladi a of the royal household also sat down.
- 14. The conversation which then arose was excellent and had reference to subjects, connected with piety and the Rishis of old, and the celestrals and the Asuras.
- 15-21. At the close of that conversation the highly , energetic Vyasa that foremost of eloquent men that first of all persons knowing the Vedas highly pleased, addressed the blind monarch and once more said .- Burning as you are with grief on account of your children, I know, O king of kings what object is cherished by you in I know the sorrow which always exists in the heart of Gin fhari, that which ex sts in the heart of la inti and that also which is cherished by Draupadi in her heart, and that burning grief, on account of the death of her son, which Krishna's sister Subhadra also cherishes Hearing of this meeting O king of yours with all these princes and princesses of your house, I have come here, O delighter of the Kauriwas, for removing your doubts Let the celestrals and Gandharvas and all these great Rishis, see to day the energy of those penances

Therefore, O king, tell me what wish of yours I shall grant to-day.

22-23 I am powerful enough to grant you a boon. See the fruit of my penances, Hims addressed by Vyasa of great understanding, king Dhritarashtra thought for a moment and then prepared to speak He said,—'I am greatly fortunate. Lucky am I to obtaining your favour. My life is crowned with success to day, -since this meeting has taken place between me and you all of great piety. To day I shall attain to that highly happy end which is reserved for me, since, ye ascetics who have penances for wealth, ye who are equal to Brahm: himself, I have succeeded in obtaining this meeting with you all There is not the least doubt that this sight that I have obtained of you all has purged me of every sln.

26-27. O sinless ones, I have no longer any fear about my end in the next world. Full as I am of love for my children, I always remember them My however, is always pained by the recollection of the various acts of wrong which my wicked son of exceedingly evil understanding perpetrated Having a sinful understanding, he always persecuted the innocent Pandavas. 28-30 Alas, the whole Earth has been devastated by him, with her horses, elephants and men Many great kings, rulers of various kingdoms, came for helping my son and succumbed to death Alis, leaving their beloved father and wives and their very life-breaths, all those heroes have become guests of the king of the dead. What end, O twice-born one, has been attained by those men who have killed, for the sake of their friend, in battle? What end also has attained by my sons and grandsons who have fallen ut the battle? My heart is always pained at the thought of my having brought about the destruc tion of the powerful Bhishma, the son of Shantanu, and of Drona that foremost of Brahmanas, through my foolish and sinful son who was an injurer of his friends.

- Desirous of getting the sovereignty of the Earth, he caused the Kuru race, blazing with prosperity, to be annihilated Thinking of all this, I burn day and night with grief.
- Deeply afflicted with pain and grief, I am unable to get peace of mind O sire thinking of all this, I have no peace of mn'.

Vishampayana said '-35 Hearing these lamentations expres- [ sed in various wass, of that toyal sage th grief, O Janamej iya of Gandhuri, becam

36. The grief, also, of Kunti, of the daughter of Drupada, of Subhadra, and of the other members, male and female, and the daughters-in-law, of the toyal house of Kuru became equally green. 37-39 Q icen Gandliari, with bandas ged eyes, I ming her han is addressed her father-m-law Deeply afflicted with grief on account of the destruction of her sons, she said - O foremost of ascetics, this king has passed sixteen years grieving for the death of his sons and shorn of peace of Afficted with grief on account of the destruction of his children, this king Dhritatashira, always breathes heavily and never sleeps at night, O great Rishi.

Littough the power of your penances ou are competent to create new worlds. What need I say then about showing this king his children who are now in the other world 7

41. This Krishna, the daughter of Drupada, has lost all her kinsmen and children. Therefore, she who is the dearest of my daughters. In law grieves greatly.

the sister of Krishna, vis , Subhas dra of sweet words, burning with the loss of her son, grieves as deeply.

This lady who is respected by all, who is the wife of Bhurishravas, stricken with grief on account of the fate of her husband, always indulges in heart rending lamentations

- Her father-in law was the intelligent Valluka of Kuru's race. Alas, Somadatta also was killed, along with his father, in the great battle.
- 43. Alas, a hundred sons, heroes who never retreated from battle, belonging to this son of yours, this king of great intelligence and great prosperity, has been killed in battle.
- The hundred wives of those sons are all grieving and repeatedly increasing the grief of both the king and myself. O great ascetic, stricken by that great onslaught, they have gathered round m.
- 47. Alas those great heroes, those great car-warriors, my fathers in-law Somadatta and others -alas, what end has been theirs, O powerful one.
- 48. Through your favour, O haly mie, that will take place for which this king, my self and this daughterin law of years, ors Kunti, shall all become freed from our guel.

- 49 After Gandhari had said so, Kunti, whose face had become wasted through observance of many hard vows, began to think of her secret-born son gifted with solar effulgence.
- Vyasa 50. The boon-giving Rishi tapable of both seeing and hearing what took place at a remote distance, saw that the royal mother of Arjuna was afficted with grief.

51. To her Vyasa said,- Tell me, O blessed une, what is in your mind. Tell me What you wish to say.

52. At this, Kunti, bending her head to her-father-in-law, and overcome with bashfulness, said these words to him, retounting the past incidents of her life.

CHAPTER XXX.

(PUTRBDARSHANA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Kunti said —

- 1. O holy one, you are my father-in-law and, therefore, my detty of detties are my god of gods. Hear my words of truth.
- 2-3. A twice-born ascetic named Durvasas, who is full of anger, came to my father's house for begging alms teeded in pleasing him by the purity of my conduct and of my minds as also by refusing to notice the many wrongs he did not yield to anger although there was much in his conduct quite capable of exciting that passion.
- Served with care, the great ascetic became highly pleased with me and disposed to grant me a boon You must ac-tept the boon I shall give, were his words to me.
 - 5-6. Fearing his curse, I answered him saying,—'So be it.' The Rishi once more sald to me.—'O blessed damsel, O you of beautiful face, you will become it e mother of Dharma you will summon will obey you
 - 7. Having said these words, the twiceborn one vanished away from my sight became filled with wonder. The Mantra, however, which the Rishi gave, has lived in my memory at all times.
 - 8. One day, sitting within my chamber 1 saw the sun rising. Desiring to bring the maker of day before me, I recollected the words of the Rishi.

- 9 Without any consciousness of the fault 1 committed, I called the detty from mere childishness. The detty, of a thousand rays, came before me.
- to. He divided himself in two parts. With one portion he was in the sky, and with the other he stood on the Earth before me. With one he heated the worlds and with another he came to me.
- 11. He told me, while I was trembling at his sight, these words - Do you ask a boon of me' Bowing to him with my head I asked him to leave me.
- 12. He replied to me, saying .- 'I tannot bear the idea of coming to you fruitlessly, I shall consume you as also that Brahmana who gave you the Mantra as a
- 13 I wished to protect, from Surya's curse, the Brahmana who had done no evil. I, therefore, said, - Let me have a son like you, O god
- The deity of thousand rays then entered me with his energy and stupefied me completely. He then said to me, You will have a son, and then returned to the firmament.
 - I continued to live in the inner apartments and desirous of saving the honour of my father, I cast into the waters my infant son named Karna who thus came into the world secretly.
 - Forsooth, through the grace of that god, I once more became a virgin, O twiceborn one, even as the Risht Durvasas had said to me.
 - 17. Foolish that I am, although he knew me for his mother when he grew up, yet I did not try to acknowledge him. This burns me, O Rishi, as is well known ta
 - 18. Whether it is sinful or not so, I have told you the truth. You should, O holy one, satisfy the craving I feel for seeing that son of mine. O foremost of ascetics, let this king
 - also, O sinless one, obtain the fruition to-day of that desire of his which he cherishes in his bosom and which has become known to you'
 - 20 Thus addressed by Kunti, Vyasa, that foremost of all persons, said to her in reply, "Blessed be you, all that you have said to me will happen.
 - 21. You are not to blame at all. You were restored to virginity. The deities are possessed of (Yoga) powers They are able enter human bodies.

- There are many denies. They liealso they benet children. These are the five methods
- You belong to the order of humar its You have no fault. Know this, O Knoti ! I et the lever of your heart be removed.
- Everything is becoming for those are mighty. Everything is pure for who are mighty those that are mighty. Everything is meritorious for those that are mighty. Everything is their own for those who are mights.

CHAPLER XXXL

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vyasa said .-

- 1. B'essed be jou, O Gandhari, you shall see your sins and brothers and friends and kinsmen alo g with your sires this ni it I ke men riseo from sleep.
- Kunti also shall see Karna, and she of Yadu's race shall see I er son Abhimanyis Dranpadi shall see her five sons, her fathers and her brothers also
- Even before you had asked me, this was the thought in my mind. I entertained this purpose when I was urged to that effect by the king, by you, O Gandhars, and by Kunti !
- You should not grieve for those foremost of men. They met with death on account of their devotion to the practices of Kshatrijas.
- O faultless one, the w rk of the gods eould not but be done It was for accomplishing that object that those heroes came down on earth. They were all portions of the celestials.
- 6-7. Gandharvas, Apsaras, Pishachas, Guhyakas and Rakshasas, many pure persons many individuals crowned with success (of penances), celestral Rishis, derives and Dinavas, and heavenly Rishis of spotless character, met with death on the baitlefield of Kurukshetra
- It is heard that he who was the intelligent king of the Gandharyas, and named Dhritarashtra, took birth in the world of men as your lord Dhritarashtra
- Know that Pandu of unlading glory and distinguished above all others origi-nated from the Maruts Kshattri and Kshattri and Yudhisi thica are both portions of the deity of Vatue.

- in Know that Dirjothana was Kelli, and Shakuni was Deapara O you of good get (effspring) by thought aline. By word, and Shakum was Deapers. O you of good by sight, by touch, and by sexual union, leatures know that Dashasana and others. were all links asse.
 - it. Blunskens of great power that chastiser of encoures, is from the Martis Know that the Diananjaya, the son of Pentha, is the ancient Rist i Nara
 - Heisloges's is Narayana, and the twins are the Ashams. That I remost of Heat-greing ones, gir, Surys, having divided his body in two parts continued with one portion to give heat to the worlds and with another to live as Karna He who was born as the son of Arjana, that gladdener of all, that heir of the properties of the Pandayas who was killed by six car-warriors (Seliting together) was Sona. He was of born Subbadra Through Yegas nower he had divided himself in two parts.
 - 15 Dhrishtadyu nna who originated with Draupada from the sacrificial fire, was an auspicions portion of the detty of fre-Shikhandin was a Rakshasa
 - 15. Know that Drong was a portion of Vernispeti and that Drong's a reborn of a pation of Rudra Know that Genea's son Blushma was one of the Vasus who became born as a man.
 - 17. Tius, O you of great wisdom, the der ses had taken birth as human beirgs. and after having accomplished their purposes have returned to the celestral region.
 - 18. I shall to day, dispel that serrow which is in the hearts of you all, about the teturn of these to the oti er world.
 - Do you all go towards the Bhagirathi Yo will then see all those who have been killed on the field of britle.

Vaishampayana said :--

- All the persons there present having heard the words of Vyasa, raised a loud leaning shout and then went towards the Bhagtrathi.
- Dhritarashtra with all his ministers and the l'andayas as also with all those firemost of Rishes and Gandharvas who I ad come there, started as directed.
- Arrived at the banks of Ganga, that see of men took up their abode as pleased them
- The king, endued with great intelligence with the Pandavas, took up his abade in a desirable spot, along with the ladies and the aged ones of I is household.
- They presed that day as if it were a whole year, wanting for the approach of the night when they would see the deceased princes,

27. The Sun then reached the sacred common in the west and all those per-2.5 having liathed in the sacred river inshed their executing cites.

CHAPTER NAXII.

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA.) --

Vaishampayana said :-

- t. When night came, all those persons, having fit ished their evening rites, approached Vyasa.
- 2 Dhinarashtra, with purified body and with mind solely directed towards it, sat there with the Pandaras and it e Rishis in his compans.
- 3 The royal ladies eat with Gandhard in a sectioned spot. All the courgs and the inhabitants of the provinces ranged themselves according to their years.
- 4—5 Then the great ascetic, Vyvas, of Frest energy, bathing in the sacred with the fresh the backgraphi, aummented all the deceased warriers size, those who had fought on the side of the Pandavas, those who had longith for the Kurawas, including highly blessed kings belonging to the various kingdoms.
- 6 At this, O Janamejaya, a dealening uproor was heard to arise from within the waters, resemble of the authorities of the Kurus and the Pandawas.
- 7. Then those kings, headed by Blishme and Drona, with all their armies, arose by bloosands from the waters of the Bhabitath.
- 8 There were Virata and Drupada, with their sons and forces. There were the sons of Draugadi and the son of Subhadra, and Raksitasa Ghatotkacha.
- 9 There were Karna, Duryodhana and the powerful care-warette Shakum and the other children, possessed of great strength, of Dhularashira, leaded by Dusshasana
- 10. There were the son of Jarasandha, Bhagadatta, Jarasandha of great energy, Bhurisheavas, Shala Shalya and Vrishasena with his younger brother.
- It There were prince Lakshmana, and the son of Dhrishtadyumna and all the children of Sikhandin, and Dhrishtaketu with his younger brother.
- 12 There were Achala Veishaka, the Raksveta Alajudha, Valhika Somadatta, and the king Chekitana,

- 13 These and innumerable others, appeared at that occasion. All of them case from the natives of the Blagteath, with chining had ex-
- 14 Those kings appeared, each clad in thit deess and equipt with that standard and that schoole which he had while fighting on the field.
- 35. All of there were dressed in celestral sestiments, and all had brilliant earrings. They were free from all animosity and pride and directed of anger and fealousy.
- to Gandharvas sang their praises, and bards waited on them, chaming their deeds. Robed with celestial sauments and waited upon by bands of Apsacas.
- 17. At that time through the power of his penances, the great ascetic, the son of Saty anni, gratified with Dhintaras ra, gave him colestral vision.
- 13. Gifted with colestial knowledge and strength, the illustrione Gundhari beheld all her children as also all those who had been killed in baitle.
- 19 All persons assembled there saw with steadist gaze and hearts filled with wonder that amazing and inconceivale scene which made the bars stand erect.
- 23. It tooked like a high carnival of pleased men and nomen. That windrous some I loked like a picture painted on the canvass.
- 21. Divitarashtra speng all those hernes with their cristial vision of uned through the favour of that rage, became full of joy, O chief of Bharata's race.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA.)-

Vaishampavana said --

- t=2 then those foremost of men, shorn of anger and realons, and purged of every sin met with another according to those high and autocious ordinances which have been laid d) in by regeriate Bish. All of them were lumpy of fearts and looked like celestial moving in culestial regions.
- 7 So s met with father or mother wives with hisban is brother with brother, and friend with friend, O king.
- 4 The Pandavas full of 173, that with the powerful bowman Karna as also with the son of Subhadra, and the children of Desupada.

- 5 With pleased hearts the son of Pandu approached Karna, O king, and became reconciled with him.
- All those warriors, O chief of Bharata's race, meeting with one another through the favour of the great ascetic, became reconciled with one another.
- 7. Renouncing all unfriendliness, they became established on amits and peace. It was thus that all those foremost of men, were, the Kaurawas and other kinsmen of theirs as also with their children. They passed in great happiness the whole of that night.
- 9-12. Indeed, the Kshatriya narriors, on account of the happiness they experienced, considered that place as lleaven uself. There was no grief, no fear, no suspicion, no discontent, no reproach in that region, as those warriors, O king, met with one another on that night. Meeting with their aires and brothers and husbands sons, the ladies renounced all grief and felt great joy. Having sported with one another thus for one night, those heroes and those ladies, embracing one another taking one another's leave, came back to the places they had come from, Indeed, that foremost of ascetics dismissed that collection of warriors.
- 13-15. Within the limiting of an eye that large crowd disappeared in the very aight of all those persons. Those great persons, plunging into the sacred river Bhavaratis, proceeded, with their case and standards to their respective abodes. Some went to the regions of the gods, some to the region of Brahman, some to the region of Varuna, and some to the cepton of Kiwera. Some among those kings went to the region of Surya.
- 16 Amongst the Rakshasas and Pishachas, some proceeded to the country of the Uttara-Kurus Others, moving delightfully, went in the company of the celestials.
- 17-0. Thus did all those great persons disappear with their whiches and animals and with all their followers. After all of them had departed, the great sage, who was standing in the waters of the sacred rivers, evr. V, yaas of great virtue and energy that benefactor of the Kirus, then addressed those Khatraya Badies who had become widows, and said these words—Ich those decisions of all all the same words of the control of

- mission of their father-in-law, and then plunged into the waters of the Bhagicatha.
- 21. Freed from human bodies, those chaste ladies then went, O king, with their liusbands to the regions acquired by the latter.
- 22. Thus, those fladies of various conduct, devoted to their husbands, entering the waters of the Bhagraths, became freed from their mortal bodies and attained to the companionship of their husbands in the regions acquired by them.
- Possessed of celestial forms, and adoined with celestial ornaments, and wearing celestial garments and garlands they proceeded to those regions where their husbands were living.
- 24. Endued with excellent conduct and many virtues, their anxieties all removed, they were seen to ride on excellent cars, and gitted with every accomplishment, they found those regions of felicity which were theirs by right.
- 25 Devoted to the duties of piety, Vyssa, at that time, becoming a giver of boons, granted to all the men there collected the funtion of the desires they respectively cherished.
- 26 People of various kindoms, hearing of this meeting between the hallowed dead and high human beings, became highly pleased.
- 27. That man who duly listens to this discourse meets with everything that is dear to him. Indeed, he obtains all agreeable objects both in this world and in the next.
- 28—29 That man of learning and science that foremost of pous persons, who recites this narrative for the hearing of others win great fame here and an auspicous end hierafter, as also a union with kinsme and all desirable objects. Such a min has not to work hard for his maintenance and merets with all-sorts of anispicous objects in hite. Jines are the rewards respect by a person who gitted with develon to Vedic studies and with penances, centre this narrative in the learning of others.
- 30-31. Those persons who endued with good conduct, devoted to self-control, purged of all sms by the gifts they make, endued with sincertity, having tranquil souls, freed from falsebood and the desire of impuring others, adorned with faith, belief to this scripture, book, surely attain to the highest end breatfer.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

(PUIRADARSHANA PARVA)-

Santi said .--

- I Hearing this story of the reappearance and departure of his forefathers, the lighty ntelligent king Janamejaya became greatly leased
- 2 Filled with joy, he once more asked Vaishampayana on the subject of the reippearance of dead men, saying,— How is 1 possible for persons whose bodies have leen destroyed to reappear in those very orms?
- 3 Thus asked that foremost of twiceform persons, viz, the disciple of Vyasa, hat first of speakers possessed of great dergy, thus answered Janamejaya

Vaishampayana said:-

- 4. This is certain, wiz, that acts are tever destroyed. Bodies O king, are born if acts, so also are features.
- 5. The great primal elements are eternal in account of the union with them of the cord of all beings. They exist with what a eternal. Accordingly, they have no lestruction when the non eternal are destroyed.
- 6 Acts done without exection are true, nd foremost, and yield real fruit. The onl united, however, with such acts as rejure exertion for their performance, enjoys ileasure and pain.
- 7 Though united so yet it is a certain neterince that the soul is never modified by hem, like the reflection of creatures in a pirror. It is never destroyed.
- 8 As long as one's deeds are not exinstucted (by enjoyment or endurance of here fruits good and bad), so long does le ronder the body to be his ownself it he nan, however, whose acts have been exnuited wintout considering body to tell, takes the self to be something otherwise.
- 9 Various existent objects, attaining to a body, become united as one 11 ose very of jects become eternal to men of knowledge who understand the difference
- 10 In the Horse-Sacrifice, this Shrut is heard in the matter of the killing of the horse. The certain possessions of embodied creatures, erg., their vital airs (and the senses etc.) exist eternally even when they are borne to the other world.
- 11. I shall, you what is beneficial if it be agreeable to you, O king You liave,

- while employed in your sacrifices, heard of the celestial paths.
- 12. When preparations were made for any sacrifice of yours the celestials became beneficially inclined to you. When, indeed, the celestials were thus disposed and came to your sacrifice, they were fords in the matter of the passage.
- 13 Therefore, the eternal ones (vis., Juas), by adoring the dentes in sacrifices, succeed in attaining to excellent ends. When the five primal elements are eternal, when the soul also is eternal, he called Purusha is equally so.
- 1.4 When such is the case, he who sees a creature as disposed to take various forms, is considered as having an erroneous inselectanding. He who indulges in too much grief at separation, is, I think, a foolish person.
- 15 He who sees evil in separation should give up union. By standing aloof, no unions are formed, and sorrow is re-nounced for sorrow in the world is born afseparation.
- 16 Only he who understands the distinction between body and self, and not another, becomes freed from the erroneous belief. He who knows the fother our self) attains to the highest understanding and becomes freed from error.
- 17 As regards creatures, they appear from an invisible state, and once more disappear into invisibleness. I do not know him the lalso does not know me. As regards myself, tenunciation is not yet
- 18 He, who is not possessed of power, enjoys or endures the fruits of all I is deeds in those bodies in which he does them.
- 19 If the act be a mental one, its fruits are enjoyed or endured mentally, if it be done with the body its results are to be enjoyed or endured in the body.

CHAPTER XXXV.

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA D.

Vaishampayana said:—

t, sing Dhritarashira had never seen his own sons. Getting eye-ught through the favour of the Rish, he saw for the first time. O perpetuater of Kuru's race, et one children of his who were very like his own self.

- That foremost of men, vis, the Kuru king had learnt all the royal duties as also the Vedas and the Upanishadas, and had acquired certitude of understandtic.
- 3. Highly wise Vidura acquired great success through the power of his penances Doritarashira also acquired great success for having met the ascence Vyasa.

Janamejaya said:-

- 4. If a Vyasa, disposed to grant me a boon, kindly show me my father in that form which he had, clad as he used to be clad, and as old as he was when he left this world, I may then believe all that you have bold me.
- 5 Such a sight will be most agreeable to me Indeed, I shall consider myself crowned with success I sh ifflave gained a certainty of conclusion. Olet my wish be satisfied through the favour of that foremost of Rishis!

Sauti said -

- 6 After king Janamejaya had said these words, the highly energetic and intelligent Vyasa, showed his favour and brought Parikshit.
- 7. King Janamejaya saw his royal lather possessed of great beauty, brought down from the celestial region, in the same form that he had and of the same age as he was (at the time of leaving this world)
- *, 8. The great Shamika also and his son Shringin, were similarly brought there. All the counsellers and ministers of the king saw them.
- 9 King Janamejaya, performing the final bath in his sacrifice became highly pleased. He poured the sacred water on his father even as he caused it to be poured on himself.
- 10—11. Having performed the final battly, the king address cd the twice-born Astika who had originated from the race of the Vajawaras and who was the son of Jaratharu, and sail thiese words O Astika, wonderful feedents, since this my serve las been seen by me, he who has removed all my sprrovs.

Astika said:-

- 12. The performer of that sacrifice in which the ancient Rivil, Dwinpayain Vyasa, that vast receptacle of penances is present, is sure, O foremost one of Kurn's race, to conquer to the the worlds,
- 13 O son of the Pandavas you have heard a wonderful history. The snakes have been reduced into ashes and have followed the footsteps of your father.

14: Through your tenthfulness, O king. Takshal a has with difficulty escaped a painful fate. The Rishis have been all adored. You have seen also the end that has been acquired by your great father.]

15 Having heard this sin cleansing history you have acquired abundant merit. The knots of your heart have been funted through seeing this foremost of persons.

16 They who are the supporters of the wings of Virtue, they who are of good conduct and excellent disposition, they on seeing whom sins disappear, we should all bow to them.

Sauti said :-

- Having heard this from that foremost of twice-born ones, king Janamejaja adored that Rishi, repeatedly honouring him in every way.
- 18 Knowing all duties, he then asked the Rislin Vaishampayana of undecaying glory sahout the sequel, O best of ascetics, of king Dhritarashtra's residence in the forest.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

(PUTRADARSHANA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Janamejaya said :-

t Having seen his sons and grandsons with all their friends and followers what, indeed, did that king, vis., Dhritarashtra, and king Yudhisthira also, do?

Vaishampayana said:--

2 Seeing that highly wonderful spectacle, viz, the re-appearance of his childrent the royal sage, Diritarastra renounced his grief and returned to his hermitage.

- 3 The common people and all the great Rishies sent away by Diritarashtra, came back to the places they respectively wished. 4 The great Pandavas Jaccompanied by their wives and with a small retinue, went
- 4 The great Pandavas faccompanied by their wives and with a small retining, went to the hermitage of the great monarch,

 5—7 Then Satyavatt's son, who was a small other.
- honoured by twice-born Rishis and all offer persons, arrived at the hermitage, addressed Diritarishica, asying,—"O mighty armed Dhritarishica, sying,—"O mighty armed to what I say I. You have heard various discourses from Rishis of great knowledge and sacred deeds, having penances for f wealth and excellence of blood, knowledge of the Vedas and their branches, of piety and years, and of great eloquence.

- 8. Do not set your mind again on sorrow. He who is wise is never moved at ill luck. You have also heard the mysteries of the detties from Narada of celestial
- form. Your children have all attamed, through performance of Kshatriya practices to that auspicious end which is sanctified by weapons. You have seen how the) move about at will in great happiness.
 - Il is Yudhishthira of great intelligence is awaiting your permission with all his brothers and wives and kinsmen.
 - 11. Do you send him away. Let him return to his kingdom and rule it! They have passed more than a month in thus living in the forest.
 - The station of sovereignty should always be well-guarded, O king! O you of Kuru's race, kingdom has many enemies
 - 13-14 Thus addressed by Vyasa of hoomparable energy, the Kuru king, well versed in words summoned Yudhishthura and said to him -'O you having no enemies, blessings on you! Do you listen to me, with all your brothers! Through your grace, O king, grief no longer stands in my way.
 - 15 I am living as happily, O son, with you here as if I were in the city of Hastinapore. With you as my protector, O learned one, I am enjoying all agreed e objects.
 - 16 I have obtained from you all those services which a son renders to his sire I am highly pleased with you I have not the least dissatisfaction with you, O mightyarmed one Go now, O son, without waiting here any longer.
 - 17. Meeting with you, my penances are being slackened. This my body, gifted with penances, I have been able to sustain only on account of my meeting with you.
 - 18. These two mothers of yours, living now upon fallen leaves of trees, and observing yows similar to mine, will not live long.
 - We have seen Duryodhana and others, who have become dwellers of the other wirll, through the power of Vyasa's penances and through (the ment of) this my meeting with you.
 - 20. O sinless one, I have gained the object of my life. I now wish to practise the susterest of penances. You should grant mayermission.

achievements, and the family of our ancestors, now depend upon you entirely, O mighty-armed one, doryou then go either to-morrow or this very day. Do not tarry, () son. O chief of Bharata's race, you have repeatedly heard what the duties are of I do not see what more I can say to I have no longer any necessity with you, O you of great power.

Vaishampayana continued 🚈

- Yudhishthira replied to the (old) king who said so, saying, - O you who know every rule of victure, Iyou should not cast me off in this way. I am guilty of no
- Let all my brothers and followers they like. With steadlast vows t fault. shall wait upon you and upon these two mothers of mine-
- Gandhari then sall to him,-'O son, let it not be so. Listen, the family of Kuru is now dependant on 30 t. obsequial cake also of my father-in-law depends on you Depart then, O son.
- 26 We have been sufficiently honoured and served by you You should do what the king says Indeed, O son you should obey the command of your sire

Vaishampayana continued:--

- Thus addressed by Gandharl, king Vudhishilara, subbing his eyes which were bathed in hears of affection, said these words bewattingly.
- The king is renouncing me, as also the illustrious Gandhari. My heart, however, is bound to you How shall I, stricken as I am with sorrow, leave you.
 - I do not, however, at the same time, venture to obstruct your penances, O rightes our lady! There is nothing higher than penances. It is by penances that one acquires the Supreme.
 - O queen, my heart no longer turns as of old towards kingdom. My mind is wholly set upon penances now.
 - 31. The entire I with to empty how. O auspicions lady, she does not please me any longer! Our kinsmen tiave beeirteduced in number. Our strength is no longer what it was before.
 - The Panchalas have been wholly rooted out. Only nominally they exist. D auspicious lady, I do not see any one who may assist at their re-establishment and growth.
- 23. All of them have been reduced ! 21. The obsequial cake, the fame and ashes by Drona on the field of battle

The remnant were killed by Drona's son at night.

- 34 The Chedis and the Matsyas who were our friends, no long r exist. Only the tribes of the Vrishins are all that reinam, Vasudeva having kept them up
- 35 Seeing only the Vrishins I wish to hive. My desire if life, however, is due to my wish of acquiring merit and not riches or enjoyment. Do you cast anispicious looks upon us all. It will be difficult for us to see you
- 35-37. The king will commence to practice the most austere and unbearable of penances! Hearing these words, that king of battle, the 'mighty-atmed Sahadeva with eyes bathed in tears, addressed Yudhishthira, saying,—' O chief of Bharata race, I dare not leave my mother.
- 33-39 Do you'return to the capital soon. I shall practise penances, O powerful one! Every shall reduce my body by penances one goed in serving the feet of the king and of the goed in serving the feet of the king and of the shall reduce the feet of the king and of the shall reduce the feet of the king and of the shall reduce the feet of the king and of the shall reduce the shall
- 40. Obey my behest! Do all of you go hence. Let peace by yours! Ye sons, let happiness be yours!
- 41. By your stay here, our penances will be impeded. Fettered by the ties of my affection for you, I shall fall off from my shigh penances.
- 42. Therefore, O son, leave us. Short is the period of our existence, O you of great power.
- 43. By these and various other speeches of ¡Kunt, the minds of Sahadeva and king Yudhishthira were composed. Hose foremost ones of [Kinu's race, having received the permission of their mother as also of the (old) monacch, saluted the latter and began to take his feave.

Yudhishthira said .-

- 44 Delighted by auspicious blessings, we shall return to the capital king, it having received your we shall leave this hermitage revery sin.
- 45. Thus addressed by the great king Yudhishthra the just, that royal sage, erg. Dhristarshitra, blessed Yudhishthira and gave him permission
- 46 The king comforted Bhima, that foremost of all persons gifted with great strength. Gifted with great energy and great melligence, Bhima showed his submissiveness to the kerg.

- 47. Embracing Arjuna and clasping those foremost of men viz, the twins also, and blessing them repeatedly, the Kurdking gave them permission to go.
- 48-49 They addred the feet of Gandland and received her blessings also. The remote first their heads, and dissured them. Hey then went round the king blee called when prevented from sucking their dam's indeed they repeatedly walked round him, looking steadlastly at him.
- 50 Then all the ladies of the Kaurava household, headed by Draupadi, adored their father in law according to the rites laid down in the scriptures, and departed.

 51. Gandhari and Kunti embraced each
- of them, and blessing them bade them no. Illeir mothers in law instructed them as to how they should behave themselves. Getting leave, they then, departed, with their littlessand.

 52 Then loud sounds were heard, uttered by the chartoteers that Saud,—Yoke, "as also of camels that granted aloud
- and of horses that neighed briskly

 53 King Yudhishthira, with his wives and troops and all his kinsmen, started for Hastinapora.

CHAPTER XXXVII.

(NARADAGAMANA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said:-

- After two years had passed from the date of the return of the Pandavas (from the retreat of their sire), the celestral Rishly Narada, O king, came to Yudhishithras.
- 2—3 The mighty-atmed Koru kong, that foremost of speakers, via Yudhinhita, having daly adored him, made him take a sent. After the Rish had rested awhich, the king 'asked him [saying,—'It is after a long time that I see jour holy self arrived at my court. Are you in peace and happiness, O learned Bhimasaen,
- 4 What are those countries which you have passed through? What can I do for you? I Do you tell me. You are the foremost of twice born ones, and you are one hughest refuge.

Narada said :--

5 I have not seen you for a long-way. Hence it is that I have come to you from my saylum. I have seen many sacred Raters, and the sacred rivers Ganga, also, fire set in. It began to burn that forest all or ound.

Yudhishthira said :--

- People living on the banks of Ganga report if at the great Dhritarashtra is practising the austerest of penances
- 7. Have you seen him there? Is that perpetuater of Kuru's race, in peace? Are Gandhars and Pritha, and the Suta's son Sanjaya also, in peace?
- .8. How, indeed, is that royal sire of mine doing? I wish to hear this, O holy one if you have seen the king.

Narada said 🕳

- Listen, O king, with calmness to me as I tell you what I have heard and seen in that asylum,
- After vour return from Kuruksbetra. O delighter of the Kurns, your stre, O king, proceeded towards Gangadwara.
- That intelligent king took with him his (sacred) fire Gandhari and his daugliterin law Kunty as also Sanjaya of the Suta caste, and all the Varakas,
- 12. Having penances for wealth, your sire set himself to the practice of severe austernies He held pebbles of stone in his routh and had air alone for his lood, and abstamed altogetl er from speech.
- 13 Engaged in severe benances, he was adored by all the ascetics in the forest In six months the king was reduced to only a skeleton.
- 14 Gandharl lived on water alone while Kunti took a little food at intervals of a month Sanlaya, O Bharata, lived, eating a little every sixth day.
- 15 The sacred fire O monarch, the longing to the Kurd king) was duly adoted by the sacrificing assistants who were with im, with hibstions of clarified bitter poured on it They did this whetler the king saw ti e rite or not.
- 16 The king had no fixed dwelling He became a wanderer through those forests The two queens, as also Sanjaya, followed him
- 17 Sanjaya acted as the Eilde on even and uneven land II e faultless Pruha, O king, became the eye of Gandhars
- 18 One day, that best of kings went to a spot on it e margin of Ganga le then bathed to the sacred river and fi sishing I is ablut one turned him face towards his her-Indage

- When the herds of animals were being burnt all around, as also the snakes
 - which inhabited that region, herds of wild boars began to take themselves to the nearest marshes and waters.
- When that lorest was thus affi cted on all sides and such distress came upon all the hying creatures hving there, the king, who had taken no food, was incapable of moving or exerting blinself at all.
- 22-23. Your two mothers also exceedingly emaciated could not move The king, sceing the fire approach him from all sides, addressed the Suta Saniana, that foremost of skillful characteers, saying, - Go, O Sai jaya, to such a place where the fire may not burn you.
- As regards ourselves, we shall 24. 25 allow our bodies to be destroyed by this fire and attain to the greatest end. Io him, Sanjava, that foremost of scienkers, said -
- Oking this death, brought oh by a fire that is not sacred, will prove calamitous to you I do not, however, see any means by which you can escape from this fire.
- 26-28 That which should next he done should be marked by you This addressed by Sanlaya the king once more said,—' This death cannot be calamitous to us, for we have left our home Water, fire winds of our own accord and labstention from food are laitdable for ascelles. Do you therefore, leave us, O Sanjaya, forthwith Having sail if eso words to Sanjaya, the king concentrated his mind.
- 29 Facing the east lesat down with Gandharr and Kunti See ng him in that attitude Sanjaya walked to ind him
- to Gifted with intelligence Saniava and - Do you concentrate lyour mind, hunself endied with erest windom the king acted as he was told
- Governing all the senses he remained I ke a bost of wood | Detiglily blessed Gandhari and your motter Pritha too, remained in the same attitide
- Then your royal sire was overtaken ly the wild fire Sanjaya lie muister, succeeded in escaping fro it that fire
- 33 I saw him on the banks of Ganga in the midst of asterios. Gitel with great energy and great I telligence. In hade them farewell and then started for el e mountains of ifinhavat
- Thus the great Kura king met wall "The wind rose tigh. A fierce wild I is death, and it was it us it at Gardi are

MAHABHARATA,

42 and Kunti, your two mothers, also met !

35. In course of my wanderings at will, I saw the bodies of that king and those two queens, O Bharata. 14'36 Many ascetics came to that asylum, having heard of the end of king Dhritarashtra. They did not at all grieve for that end of theirs. 37. There, O best of men, I heard all the details of how the king and the two queens, O son of Pandu, had been burnt.

38 O king of kings, you should not gree e for him. The monarch, of his own will, as also Gandhari and your mother, get that contact with fice.

Vaishampayana said 🛏

with death, O monarch.

Hearing of the departure of Dhritarashtra from this world, the great Pandavas all bewailed.

- 40. Loud sounds of wailing were heard within the inner apartments of the palace The cruzens also, hearing of the end of the old king, bewailed aloud. 'O fie,' cried king Yudhishthira în
- great agony, raising his arms aloft. Thinkme of his mother, he wept lize a c'ild All his brothers too, headed by Bhimasena, did the same. ' 42. Hearing that Priths had met with
- such a fate, the reval ladies bewarted aboud in grief 43. All the people grieved upon hearing
- that the old king, who had become child lers had been bornt to death and that the I olpless Gas dharr too had shared his fate
- 44 Wien those sounds of waiting ceased for a write king Yudhishihira the fire et of ig b tears by summomer all his pasten e, said these words,

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

(NARADAGAMANA PARVA)

Continued.

Yudhishthira said :-1-2. When such a fate overtook that great king who was engaged at austere penances despite the fact of his having such hunsmen as a inselves all alive, it seems to me O twice borntone, that the end of human beings is diffi if to guess. Alas, who would lave thought that the son of Vicin-" nearly . . I thus I " been to deat .

- 3. He had a liundred sons each gifted with mighty-arms and possessed of great prosperity! The king himself , had the strength of ten thousand elephants Alas, even he has been burnt to death in a wild fire.
- Alas," he who had formerly been fanned with palm leaves by the fair hands of beautiful women, was fanned by vultures with their wings after he had been burnt to death in a wild fire.
- 5 He was formerly roused from sleep every morning by bands of Sutas and Magadhas had to sleep on the naked earth through the acts of my sinful self.
- I do not grieve for the famous Gandhari who had been deprived of all her children. Observing the same vows as her husband, she has acquired those very regions which have become his.
- I grieve, however, for Pritha who renouncing the blazing prosperity of her sons, became desirous of living in the forest
- Fie on this sovereignty of ours, Pe on our prowess, fie on the practices of Kshatriyas! I hough alive, we are really dead.
- 9. O foremost of superior Brahmanas, the course of Lime is very subtle and difficolt to understand, masmuch as Kunits casting off sovereignty, became desirous of living in the forest,
- to. How is it that she who was the mother of Yudhishthita, of Bluma of Vijaya, was burnt to death like a hepless' creature Thinking of this I become stupelied,
- In van was the god of fire pleased at Khandaya by Aroma ! Ingrate that he is forgetting that service, he has burnt to death the mother of his benefactor.
- Alas how could that deity burn the mother of Assuna ! Putting on the guise of Brahmann he had formerly come to Artuna, for begging a favour! Fie on the deity of fire! The on the celebrated success M Partha'starrows.
- This is another incident, O loly one, which appears to me to be productive of greater misery, for that king, met with death by union with a fire that was not sacred. How could such a death overtake that royal sage of Kurn's family who, after having governed the whole I aith, was engaged in the practice of penances! In that great forest there were fires that had been sanctified with Mantras Alas, my father has made his departure from this world, coming in contact with an unsanctified fire-
- 15. I suppose that Pruba, emaciated and reduced to a form in which all her herves became visible, must have trembled in lear and cried aloud, saying,—O son Yudhishthira!—and awaited the terrible approach of the free.

- 16 She must have also said, -O Bhima, save me from this danger -when she, my mother, was surrounded on all sides by that dreadful fire.
- 17. Among all her sons, Sahadeva was her darling. Alas, that heroic son of Madravati did not rescue her!
- r8. Hearing these bewaitings of the large, all those persons who were present there began to weep, embracing each other. In fact, the five sons of Pandu were so strucken with grief that they resembled luving treatures at the time of the dissolution of the universe.
- 19 The sound of lamentations intered by those weeping heroes, filling the spatious thambers of the palace, escaped therefrom and penetrated the very sky.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

(NARADAGAMANA PARVA)

Narada said :--

- 1. The king has not been burnt to death by an unsantified fire 1 have heard this there 1 tell you. O Bhatata, such has not been the fate of Vaichtraviry 32.
- 2. We have heard that when the old king gifter with great intelligence and dung on air alone entered the forest (after his return from Gangadwara), he caused his accifical fires to be duly gonted. Having performed its sacred rites therewith he abandoned them all
- 3 Then the Yajaka Brahmanas he had with him cast off those fires in a solitary part of the forest and went away as they lked, O forernost one of Bharata's race.
- 4. The fire that cast off grow in the lorest. It il en produced a general conflagration in the forest. I has is what I have heard from the ascetics fiving on the banks of Ganca.
- 5 United with that (sacred) fre of I is own, O chief of the Bharatas, the kn g, as I have aheady said to you, met with death on the banks of Ganga.
- 6 O surless one, this is what the ascetter have told me, those, wis, whom I saw on the banks of sacted Bhagirathit, I O Volding thick.

- 7. Thus, O lord of Earth, king Dhritarashtra coming into contact with his own sacred fire, departed from this world and altained to that high end that has been his.
- 8 Through service rendered by her to her seniors, your mother, O king, has acdured very great success. There is not the shottest doubt of this.
- 9 You should, O king of kings, now perform the rites of water to their honour; with all your brothers Let, therefore, the necessary steps be taken.

Vaishampayana said:~

- 10. Then that lord of Earth, that foremost of rien, that upholder of the burthens of the Pandavas, went out, accompanied by all his brothers as well as the ladies of his household.
- 11. The inhabitants of the city as also those of the provinces, actuated by their loyalty, also went out. They all proceeded towards the banks of Ganga, every one clad in only a single piece of cloth.
- 13. Then all those foremost of men, having plunged into the river, placed Yuyutsu at their head, and began to offer oblasions of water to the great king. And they also gave similar oblations to Ostediari and Pritha, naming each separately and mentioning their fathless.
- 13 Having finished those rices which jurily the lying, they returned but without entering their capital lived outside of it. They also sent a number of tested pole well conversati with the ordinances relating to the tremstom of the dead, to Gairgadwara where the old king had been butnit to death:
- 14. The king, having rewarded those men beforehand, commanded them to perform those rates of cremation which the bodies of Dhritarashtra and Gandharl and Kuntt still awaited.
- 15. On the twellth day, the king, properly purified, duly performed the Shraddhas of his decased relations, which were marked by profuse gifts.
- 16. Referring to Dhruarashtra, Yudhia shil ira made many gilts of gold and silver, of kine and costly beds
- 27. Ustering the names of Gandharr and Pritha, the king, gifted with great energy, made many excellent gifts.
- 18 Every man received what thing he wished and as much of it as he wished, Beds and foods, and cars and conregance, and genels and gens, and other wealth were given away profusely.

- 19 Indeed, the king, referring to his two mothers, gave away cars and conveyances, dresses and towerlets, various kind, of food, and female slaves adorned with various ornaments
- 2d Having this made many kinds of gilt in profits of that king their entered his capital named Hastinapore.
- 21 Those men men who had gone to the banks of Ganga at the bommand of the king having disposed of (hy cremation) the remains of the king and the two queens, teturned to the buy,
- 22 Having dilly honoured il ose remains with garlands and scents of varidus ki ids and disposed of them, they informed Yudi ist thira of the abcomplishment of their task.
 - 23. The great Rishs Narada, having 7

- conforted king Yndhishthirk of rightedus soul went away to where he liked.

 24 Phus did king Dhinarashtra make his departure from this world after having
- passed three years in the forest and filter is years in the city.

 25 Having lost all his children in battle, he had made many gifts is indicate of his
- kinsmen, relatives, and friends, his breiten and own people 26 King Viidhlishthira, after the death of his fincle became very cheerless. De-
- prived of its kinsmen and relatives he somehow bork the burtlen of sovereignty.

 27. One should listen with Attention to it is Ashramavasika. Parvan, and having heard it recited one should feed Brahmana with Habis ya honoviring them with Stell's and ratiabils?

FINIS AHSKANAŠASIKA PARVA.

A PROSE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

OF

THE MAHABHARATA.

TRANSLATED LIFERALLY FROM THE ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT)

MAUSALA PARVA. VOL. XVI.

EDITED & PUBLISHED BY

MANMATHA NATH DUTT, (Shaster) M.A., MR A.S.

RECTOR, KESHUB ACADEMY.

Author of the English Translation of the Ramayana, Vishnu Puranam, Srimad-Bhagavatam, Kamandakiya Nitisara, Bhagavad-Gita, aad many other works.

40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street, Calcutta.

CALCUTTA:

PRINTED BY H. C. DASS, ELYSIUM PRESS, 40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street.

1905.

MAUSALA PARVA.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER 1.—Yudinshihira marks many unusual portents—p. 1.
CHAPTER II —V as a deva orders the Virilius to make a pilgrimage to the sea-coast for bathing in the sacred water of the coast for bathing in the sacred water of the tream-p 2.

CHAPTER III.—The Vershins and the Andhakas start on a pilgrininger and meet

Andhabes state on a posture of Vasudeva— Charter IV.—A.cension of VasudevaCHAPTER V.—Arrival of Arjuna at

Duaraka-p. 6
CHAPTER VI - Arjuna starts to see his maternal uncle-p 7.

CHAPTER VII —Arjuna's departure from Dwaravan and his adventures in the Land of the Live Rivers—p S.

CHAPTER VIII - Aipina sees Vyasa at his leiminage and bemoans lie loss. Vyasa's counse's to Aipina p. 11.

THE MAHABHARATA.

(IN ENGLISH,)

MAUSALA PARVA.

CHAPTER 1.

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of mile beings as also Saraswals the Goddess of Learning, let us cry success.

Vaishampayana said t-

- t When the thirty sixth year (after the battle) arrived the delighter of the Kurus, vis., Yudhishthira, saw many unusual porteins
- 2 Winds, dry and strong, and showering gravels, blew from all sides Hirds began to wheel, making circles from right to left.
- 3 The great rivers ran in opposite burses. The horiz in on every side seemed to be always covered with log. Meteors, showering toals, dropped on the Earth from the sky.
- 4 The Sun's disc, O king, seemed to be always covered with dust. At its rise, it e Sun was shorn of sple idour and seemed to be crossed by headless trunks.
- s terrible circles of light were seen every day around both the bun and the Muon. These circles showed shree colors. Their edges seemed to be black and rough and ashy red in color.
- 6 these and many other omens, forethindowing fear and danger, were seen, O king, and struck the hearts of men with anxiety.
- 7 A little while after the Kuru king Yudhishthira heard of the wholesale destruction of the Vrishnis or account of the fron bolt.
- 8 He son of Pandu, hearing that only Vasudeva and Rama had etc-ped alive, auminimed his brothers and consulted with them as to what they should do
- 9 Meeting with one another, they became greatly stricken with sorrow upon leading that ite Vrishois had met with destruction through the Brahmana's rod of punishinguit.

- 10. Those heroes could not believe the death of Vasud-va, like the drying up of the ocean In fact, they could not believe the destruction of the holder of Sharing
- 11. Informed of the incident about the tron bolt, the Pandavas became stricken with grief and sorrow. In fast, they sat down, utterly cheerless and stricken with blank despair.

Janamejaya said :-

12 Indeed, O holy one, how was it that the Andhakes along with the Vishinis, and those great car-warriors, vis., the Bhojas met with destruction before the very cyes of Vasudeva?

Vaishampayana said :-

13 When the shirty-sixth year arrived (after the great battle) a great calmity overtook the Viribins. Mived by Time, they all met with destruction on account of the tron bots.

Janamejaya said .--

14 Censed by whom did those heroes, 21 the Vishinis, Andinkas and the Bhojas met with destruction? O foremost of twice-born persons, do you fully explain all this to me

Vaishampayana said:-

- 15 Ose day, the Vrishini heroes numbering Sarana amongst them, saw Vishwaamitra and Kaiwa and Narada arrived at Dwaraka
- 16-17 Afflicted by the rod of punishment held by the celeritatil, do not hose causing Shawar to be disguised like a woman, approached thine acceive and said—'This one is the wife of Vabhru of great mergy who in desirous of having a son. Ye litshis to you know for certain what this one will produce?
- 18-19 Hear now, O king, what those ascence, attempted to be thus imposed on, houses.

Shamva, will produce a dreadful tron bolt for the destruction of the Vrishmis and the Andhakas.

- O wicked and cruel ones, intoxicated with pride, through that from bolt viu will become the exterminators of your family with the exception of Rama and Janarddana
- The blessed hero aimed with the plough will enter the ocean, renouncing his body, while a hunter of the name of lara will pierce the great Krishna while lying on the ground,"
- Attempted to be deceived by those wicked ones, those ascenes, with ever red in anger, looked at each other and intered those words Having said so they then went to see Keshava.
- The destroyer of Madhu, informed of what had occurred, summoned all the Vrishnis and told them of it. Gifted with great intelligence and fully acquainted with what the end of his family would be, he simply said that that which was destined would surely take place.
- Hrishikesha having sail so entered his palace. The Lord of the universe did not wish to ordain otherwise
- When the next day came, Shamva actually produced an iron bolt through which all the individuals in the family of the Veishnis and the Andhakas became reduced to ashes.
- 26. Indeed, for the destruction of the Vrishnis and the Andhakas, Shamvas brought forth, through that curse, a dreadful from bolt that looked like a huge messenger of death. The fact was duly reported to the king.
- 27. In great distress of mind, the king (Ugrasena) caused that iron bolt to be reduced into fine powder Men were engaged, O king, to cast that powder into the sea.
- 28-30. At the command of Aluka, of Innardoana, of Rama, and of great Vabling it was, again, proclaimed throughout the city, that from that day, among all the Vrishms and the Andhakas no one should manufacture wines and intoxicating liquors of any kind, and that whoever would secretly manufacture wines and spirits should be impaled alive with all his kinsmen.
- 21. Through fear of the king, and knowing that it was the order of Raina also of unimpeachable deeds, all the citizens bound themselves by a rule and abstained from manufacturing wines and spirits.

CHAPTER II.

(MAUSALA PARVA.)-Continued.

Vaishampavana said :-

- 1. While the Viishois and the An ihakas were thus trying (to avoid the impending calamity), the embodied form of lime (Death) every day wandered about their
- He linked like a man of terrible and firece aspect. Of bald head, he was black and of twany color. Sometimes he was beheld by the Vishins as he peered into their houses.
- The powerful bowmen among the Vrashnia shot introdreds and thousands of arrows at him but note of these succeeded in piercing him, for he was none else than the Destroyer of all creatures.
- Day by day strong winds blew, and many were the evil omens which arose, awin an i foreboding the destruction of the Versburs and the Andhakas
- The streets awarmed with rats and mice Earthen pois showed cracks or broken from no visible cause. At night, the rate and mice ate away the hair and nails of sleeping men.
- Shankas chirped sitting within the houses of the Vitature The noise made by those I tride ceased not for even a short
- while by day or by motit. The Sarashas were heard to mitate the hooting of the owl, and goats imitated the cries, O Bharata, of packals,
- Many birds appeared, moved by Death, which were pale of color, but that had less red of him Piveous were seen to always dispost 'so the houses of the Vrishinis.
- o Asses were born of kine, and elephabts of mules Cats were born of bitches, and mouse of the mungoose.
- 10 The Versions, committing smful deeds, were not seen to feel any shame showed disregard for Brahmanas and the departed manes and the celestials.
- It. They insulted and humiliated their preceptors and elders. Only Rama and Isnarddana acted differently Wives deceived their trusbands, and husbands decerved wives.
- Fires, when ignited, cast their flames towards the left Sometimes they il rew out flames whose color was blue and red.
- The Sun, whether when were or setting over that city, seemed to be sucrounded by headless trunks of human beings,

14 In conk rooms, upon find that was clean and well builed, were seen, when it was served out for eating, innumerable worms of various kinds.

15 When Brahmanas, receiving gilts, lessed the day or the hour fixed for this br that in fertaking) or when great men were engaged in silent recutations, the heavy frend was heard of many men tunning about but no one could be seen to whom the sound of such sound out du be ascerbed.

- 16 Itie constellations were repeatedly seen to be struck by the planets. Nane amongst the Yadavis could, however, see the constellation of his high.
- to When the Panch sjunya was blown in these houses, asses of distonant and awful voice, brayed about from all sides.
- 18 S-eing these signs which showed the perverse course of firm, and seeng that the day of the new moon coincided with the thinteenth (and the fourteenth) hinston, Hispinkesha, summoning the Yadavas, said to them these words:—
- 19 'The fourteenth limition has been made the fifteenth by Rahu once more. Such a day had appeared at the time of the great battle of the Bharatas. It has once more appeared, it seems, for our destruction.'
- 20-21. The destroyer of Keslu, ris, Janarddana, thinking upon the omens that I time showed, understood that the thirty-sixth year had come, and that what Gindratt, burning with greet on account of the death of her sons, and deputied of all her kinsmen, had said was about to take place.
- 22 'the present is exactly similar to that time which Yndhishibira had marked at sight of those dreadful onems which appeared when the two armies were arranged in battle-order.
- 23 Vasudeva, having said so tried to bring about those occurrences which will make G-indiari's words true. I hat clustiser of enemies commanded the Virshins to make a pilgrimage to some sacred water
- 24 His messengers immediately proclaimed at the command of Keshava that the Vrishnis should make a jurney to the sea-coast for bathing in the sacred waters of the ocean.

CHAPTER III.

(MAUSALA PARVA.) Continued.

Vaishampayana said :--

- At that time the Vrishni ladies dream every hight that a woman of black color and white teeth, entering their abodes, langled aloud and ran through Dwaraka, snatching from them the auspicious threads in their wists.
- 2 The men dreamt that dreaded vultures, entering their houses and freechambers, gorged themsives on their bodies.
- 3 Their ornamments and umbrellas and standards and armour were seen to be taken away by dreadful Rakshasas
- 4 Before the very eyes of the Vrishnis, the discus of Krishna, given by Agni, made at ton and having its nave composed of hardest adamant, ascended into the sky.
- 5 In the very sight of Derika, the excellent car of Vasu leva, effulgent here the sun, and propely equipt, was taken away by the horses yoked to it. Thousloremost of horses, numbering four, and feet like the mind, fli-d away, dragging the car after them along the surface of the ocean,
- 6 The two great standards of Krislina's cer and Valadewa's cer, having the emblems of Garada and palmyra, which were reverently adored those two heroer, were taken away by Aparass who, day and might, called upon the Virshins and the Andisskas to start on a pilgimage to some sacred water.
- 7. When these omens were seen and heard those foremost of men, use, the powerful car-warnors of the Vrishins and the Andhakas, became destrous of setting out, with their whole families, on a pilgramage to some sacred water,
- 8 They prepared various kinds of visuals and edibles and various kinds of wines and meat.
- g The troops of the Vrishins and the Andhakas, blazing with beauty and gifted with fierce energy, then set out from the city on cars and lorses and elephants
- to the Yadavas then, with their wives, proceeded to Prabhesa and to ik up their residence there each in the (temporary) habitation which was assigned to him and all laving profise rovisions consisting of educes and drink

- II Hearing that they had taken up their abode on the sea coast, Uddhava, the wisest of men, who was, besides, well versed in Yoga, went there and took their leave (for departing)
- 12 Krishna, with joined hands, saluted Uddhava, and seeing lim bent on departing (from the world) and knowing that the destruction of the Vrishnis was ingli, did not feel any disposition to prevent him.
- 13 The powerful car-warriors among the Vrishnis and the Andhakas, whose hour had come, then saw Uddhava proceed on his great journey, filling the entire sky with his effulgence.
- 14 The Vrishnis, mixing with wine the food that had been cooked for great Brah-manas, gave it away to monkeys and apes.
- 15 Those heroes of fierce energy then began to revel with drink, at Prabhasa The entire field echoed with the blare of hundreds of tumpets and abounded with acturs and dancers.
- 16. In the very sight of Krishna, Rama bekan to drink, with Kritavarmati, Yuyudhana and Gada and Vabhru also did the bame. 17—18. Then Yuyudhana, mebriated
- with wine, derisively laughing at and misuling Kritavarman in the midst of that assembly, said,—'What Kahatriya is there who, armed with weapons, will kill men l'whed in the embraces of steep and, therefore, already dead?' Hence, O son of Hindika, the Yadawas will never tolerate what you have done.'

 19 When Yungdhana had said these
 - 19 When Yujudhana had said these words, Pradyumna, that foremost of carwarriors, applauded them expressing his disregard for the son of Hridika.
 - 20. Greatly enraged at this, Kritavarmin, emphasising t is disregard for Satyaki by poming to him with his left hand, said these words—
 - 21. 'Professing yourself to be a hero, I ow could you so criefly kill if earniess thurstireavas who, on the field of battle, sat fasting.
 - 22. Hearing these words of his, Keshava, that desiroyer of hostile lieroes, giving way to anger, cast an angry look at Kittasarman
 - 23. Then Salyaki informed the destroyer of Madhu as to him Kritavarinan had be-laved towards Satraju for taking away from him the celebrated gem Syamantaka.
 - 24 Hearing the corretive, Satyabhama, group way to anger and tears, approached Red ava, and anting on his lap increated his arger (for histaratmen).

- 25-27 Then using up in anger, Satyaks and,—I swear to join by I tuth that I shall soon cause this one to follow the five sous of Dranpadi, and of Dirishtadyunma and Si Rhandin,—they, yez, who were killed by this simful weetch, while they were asleep with the help of Doing's son. O you of slender was, Kritavarman's period of hie and fame has come to an end.
- 28 Having said these words, Satyaki rushed at Kritavarman and cut off his head with a sword in the very sight of Keshava
- 29. Yuyudhana, having performed this feat, began to strike down others there present. Hristinkesha ran to prevent hun from doing further mischief.

30 At that time, however, O king, the Bhojas and Andhacas moved by the perverseness of the hour that had come upon them, all became as one man and surrounded the son of Shim

- 31 Janarddana of great energy, knowing the character of the hour stood unmoved without giving way to anger, seeing those heroes rushing in anger at Satyaki from every side
- 32 Urged by fate and inebriated with drick, they began to strike Yuyudhana with the puts from which they had been eating.
- 33. When the son of Shim was being thus assaulted, Rusen in son became greatly enraged. He rushed forward for rescuing Satyaki who was engaged with the Bhojas and the Andhakas.
- 34 Gifted with might of arms and wealth of energy, those two heroes acted with great courage. But as the odds were overwhelming both of them were killed before the very eyes of Krishna
- 35 Seeing his own son, and the son of Shin too, killed the delighter of the Vad is took up, in singer, a handful of the Eraka grass which grew there.
- 36 That handful of grass became a terrible bolt of ron gifted with the energy of the thouder-bolt. With it Kishina destroyed all those who came before him-
- 37 Then the Andhakas and the Bhijas, the Shameyas and the Vrishnis, urgod by lime, struck one another in that dicadod 6s.ht.
- 38 Indeed, O king whoever amongst titem took up in anger a few blades of the Eraka grass, these, in his bonds, became soon converted into a thunder-bolis, O powerful one.
- 39 Every blade of grass them.ma. seen

All this, know, O king, was due to the curse imprecated by Brahmanas,

- 40 He who harled a blade of grass saw that it pieced through even such things as were utterly impeneirable. In fact, every blade was seen to become a
- dreaded bott having the force of thunder

 41. Sin killed father, and father killed

 500 O Bl arata! Incorraced with wine, they tushed and fell upon one anotter.
- 42 the Kukuras and the Andhakas met with destruction like misecus rushing at a burning file. As they were thus being destroyed no one among them thought of tecaping by flight.
- 43 Knowing that the hour of destruction had come, the mighty-armed Keshava stood there, seeing everything. Indeed, the destroyer of Madhu stood, raising a bolt of Iron formed of a blade of grass
- 44 Seeing that Shamva was killed, as also Charatesina and Pradymnna and Annuddha, Madhava became filled with anger.
- 45 Seeing Gada lying dead on the ground, his anger necame enhanced. The holder of Sharinga and the discuss and the mace their rooted the Vrishnis and the Andhakas,
- 46 Hear, O king, what that conquerer of hostile towns, was, Vabbru of great energy and Dirette, then said to Krishna, 47 * O holy one, a very large number
- el me i has been killed by you. Turn now to where Rama has gone! We wish to go there where he has gone.

CHAPTER IV.

(MAUSALA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said:-

- 1. Then Daruta, Keshawa and Vabhru leit that place following Rama. They saw that hero of great energy siting thoughtfully, reching this back against a tree, in a solitary place.
- 2. In hing Ra na of great and, Kreshna preferred Datues, saying, "Going to the liveres, inform Partha of this great carnage of the Yados.
- 3 Let Argues come here speedily, hearing of the destruction of the Vadavas through the Bratinanas' curse? Thus addressed Daruka, deprived of his senses by garner, proceeded on a car to the cap calof the kurus.

- 4 After Daruka had departed, Keshava, sering Vabhru wasting on him told him these words:—'Do you go speedly for protecting the ladies. Let not folders do them any myry, tempted by the signes,
- S alhus ordereded by Keshava, Valbrus, Stalbus ordereded by Keshava, Valbrus, still helpless with wine but cheerless at the destruction of this kinsmen, wen-away. He had rested for a while by the side of Keshava, but as soon asple had gone to a distance, the tron-bolt, attached to a maller in the lands of a limiter, suddenly a pag of reself upon that solitary survivor or the Yadava family and killed hun who also had been included in the curse of the Brahmania.
- 6. Seeing Vabbru killed, Reshava of great energy addressed his elder brother and said. The you, O Rama, wan for me bere till 1 put the ladies under the care of kinsmen.
- 7 Entering the city of Dwaravati, Janarddana said these words to his father, Do you protect all the ladies of our house, till Dhananjaya comes.
- 8. At the skirts of the forest Rama is waiting for me. I shall meet him to day. This great destruction of the Yadus has been seen by me even as I beheld before the carnage of those Kabaniyas who were the foremust ones of Kuru's race.
- 9. It is impossible for me to see this city of the Yadavas without the Yadai beside me. Know that going to the forest I shall practise penances with Rama in my company.
- to Having said these words, Krishna touched the feet of his lather with his head, and quekly left him then a loud wait of sortow arose from the ladies and cliffdress of his house.
- 11 Hearing that foud sound of wailing uttered by the weeping Ladies, Keshava returned and said to them—Aspara will come here. That foremost of men will relieve you of your sortow.
 - 12 Proceeding then to the forest, deshava saw Rama sitting in a solitary place He also saw that Rema had see himssell to Yoga and that from out its mouth was issuing a powerful snake.

 13 The color of that snake was witten
 - Leaving the founds body, that great Naga, of a thousand heads and having a form as large as that of a mountain, endued heads and sudes with red eyes proceeded along the way leading to the ocean.
 - 14-26 Ocea : himsell, and many celestial snakes, and many sacred fivers were fiere, for receiving lint with honor, lighty were Kaikotaka, Vasuki, Jaisliaka,

Prubushraves, and Varinos, Kunjera, Justin, Shaukha and Kumili and Puidarika, and the great. Distlateshits, and Heada and Shitikushia of fierer energy, and Chakrama ula and Abinkushia and the foremst of Nigas Called Diemikha, and Amvertshia, and Justina and Markama and American and American and Chakrama and Called Diemikha, and Amvertshia, and American and Mater to weath the first deep harmonic of the property of the property

- 17 After his brother had thus gone from the (hinnan) world, Vasudewa of celestial vision, who was fully acquainted with the end of all things, wandered for sometime in that solitary forest thoughfully. Gifted with great energy he then say down on the taked earth
- 18 He had thought before this of every bring which had been forestundowed by the words intered by Gaudhari in former days. He also recollected the words that Durvas is had spoken at the time his body was smeared by that Rishi with the residue of the Payisa he had eaten.
- 19 The high-souled one, thinking of the destruction of the Virshins and the Andhaxas, as also of the previous destruction of the Kurus, concluded that the host for his own depicture from the wold) had come. He then controlled his senses (in Yoga)
- 23 Knowing the truth of every topic, Vasudeva, though be was the Supreme Duty, wished to die for removing all doubts and establishing a certainty of results, simply for upholding the three worlds and for maxing the words of Atri 5 son true.
- 21 Having controlled all his senses, speech, and mind, Krishna laid himself down in high Yoga. A fierce huster of the name of Jaca then came there, for finding a deer,
- 22 The hunter mistaking Keshava, who was stretched on the earth in high Yoga, for a deer, pieced at him at the heel with an arrow and quickly came to that spot for capturing its prey.
- 23 Coming up Jara saw a man dressed in yellow robes, rapt in Yoga, and gifted with many arms. Considering in uself an offender, and filled with fear, he touched the feet of Keshava.
- 24 The high-souled one comforted him and then ascended upwards, filling the entire sky with splendour.
- 25 When he reached the celestral re-

- Rultra and the Adityas and the Vasus and the Vishwedevas, and Munis and Stidhas and many foremost ones among the Gandhervas, with the Apsaras, advanced to receive him.
- 26 then O king, the illustrious N iratana of dreadful energy, it e Creator and Destroyer of all,—that preceptor of Yoga filling Heaven with his splendour, reached his own inconceivable region.
- 27 Krishna then met the deities and (celestial) Rishis and Charanas, O king-and the foremost ones among the Gindharvas and many beautiful Apsaras and Saidhas and Saidhas and Ilof them bending in humbit, adored him.
- 28 The pelestrals all sainted him, O monarch, and many foremast of acceles and Rishis idored him as the Lord of all, The Gindharvas waited on him singing his praises, and Indra also joyfully praised him.

CHAPIER V.

(MAUpALA PARVA)→ Continued

Vaishampayana said ---

- t. Meanwhile Daruka, going to the Kurus and seeing those powerful car-wartiors, vis. the sons Priths, informed them of how the Vrishnis had killed one another with iron bolts,
 - 2 Hearing that the Vrishnis along with the Boojas and Andhakas and Rusuras had all been killed, the Pandavas, burning with grief, became highly moved.
 - 3 Then the Arjuna, the dear friend of Keshava, bidding them tarewell, started for seeing his maternal uncle, life said that destruction would soon overtake every thing
 - 4 Proceeding to the city of the Vishms with Daruka in his company, O powerful king, that here saw that the city of Dwaraka looked liked a woman relt of her husband.
 - 5 Those ladies who had before this, the very Lord of the universe for their protector, were now loidless. Seeing that Partha, had come for protecting them, they all bewailed about
- 6 Sixteen thousand ladies had been wedded to Vasudeva. Indeed, as soon as they beheld Arjina arrive, they uttered a loud cry of sorrow.
- 7 As soon as the Kuru prince met those beautiful ladies deprived of the protection of Krishna and of their sons as well be was mable to look at them, his vision being obstructed by tears.

the Dwarnka-tiver had the Vishins and the Andhakas for its water, luises for its fist es, cars fur its rafes, the sound of musical instruments and the rattle of cars for its waves, houses and mansions and public squares for its lakes and precious stones were its moss. walls of adamant were the garlands of The streets and flowers that floated on it tuads were the strong currents truming in the great open eddies along its surface squates were tie large lakes in its course. Rama and Krishna were its two mighty I hat agreeable river now seems ed to Arjuna to be the dreadful Vantarant bound up with Time's net-

11. Indeed, the son of Vasava, gifted with great intelligence, beheld the city to look even thus, telt 25 it was of the Vetalint 12. Shorn of beauty, and perfectly cheerbernes.

- less, it presented the aspect of a lotus flower in the season of winter. Seeing the night that Dwaraka presented, and seeing the tumerous wives of Krishna, Arjuna bewalled aloud with eyes bathed in tears and fell down on the earth.
 - Then Satya if e daughter of Satrajit, and Rukhmum too, O king, fell down beside Disaminjaya and bewailed. 14. Raising him then they caused him to be seated on a golden seat. The ladies s it around that great one, giving expression to their feelings.

15. Praising Governda and talking with the ladies, the son of Pandu comforted them and then proceeded to see his maternal uncle.

CHAPIER VI.

(MAUSALA PARVA)-Continued.

Vaishampayana said:--He Knen prince saw the heroic and great Anakadundublu lying on the Lround and burning with grief on account or his

The broad chested and mighty-armed son of Prutha more afflicted than his uncle with his eyes bathed in tears, touched his uncle's feet, O Bharsta. The mighty-armed Anakadunduhhi wished to smell the head of his sister's son bill could not do n. O destroyer of encults.

The of I man of mights arms, desp'y afflicted, embraced Partha with his arms and wept about, remembering his sons, brothers, grandsons, daughter's sons, and filends.

Vasudeva said:--

- Without seeing those heroes, O Atjuna, who had subjugated all the kings of the Earth and the Daityas a hundred times, I am still alive ! I see, that I cans not die !
 - 6. Those two heroes who were the dear disciples of Arfinia, and who were mich respected by hun, slas, O Partha, through their fault, the Vrishiis have been deatro sed.

7-8. Those two who were considered as Attrathas amongst the foremost of the Vishinis, and referring to whom in course of conversation you were wont to indulge in pride, and who, O chief of Kurn's race, were ever dear to Krishna himself, -ales, those two, O D conanjaya, have been the chief causes of the destruction of the Vrishnis.

I do not censure the son of Shini or the son of Hridika, O Arpara! I do not censure Akrura or the sm of Rusmini, No do ibt, the curse (of the Rishing to the sole cause.

10-12. How is it that that fird of the universe, vie , the destroyer of Madhu, wh t had shown his prowers for killing Keshing Ransa, and Chaidya swelling with pride, and Ekalavya the son of the lung of the Nishadas, and the Kalingas and the Magadiras and the Galidharas and the king of Kashi, and many rulers assembled together in the midst of the desert, many heroes belonging to the Best and the South, and many kings of the mountainous regions alas, how could be remain indifferent to such a calamity as the curse denounced by the Rishis ?

- Yoursell, Narada, and the Munis. knew him to be the eternal and sinless Govinda, the Deity of unfading glory.
 - Alas being powerful Vishou linnself. le saw without interfering, the destruction of the knowner! My am must have himself allowed all this to happen.
 - He was the Lord of the universe. He did not however, wish to falsily the words of Gandhart and the Bishis, O destroyer of enemies.
 - Before the very eyes O hero, your grandson, who had been killed by Ashwatthaman, was revived through his energy.

- 17-18 That friend however, of yours dud to twish to protect his Kinstnen Seeing his sons and grandsons and brothers and friends lying dead, he said to me these words, U Bharata's race,—I he destruction of this our family has at last come.
- 19 Vibhatsu will cinfé ti this city, 11s. D vatavati lell him what has taken place us, this great destruction of the Vrishius
- to I have no doubt that as soon as he will hear of the destruction of the Yadus, that hero of mighty energy will come here for thinth.
- 21. Know, O father, that I am Arjuna and Arjuna is myself. That should be done by you which he would say.
- 22 The son of Pandu will do what is best for the women and the children. Even he will perform your funeral rites.
- 23 this city of Uwaravati, after Aryuna's departure will, with its walls and edifices, be speedily swallowed up by the ocean
- 24 As for myself, retiring to some nacred place. I shall pass my time with the intelligent Rama in my company, observing strict vows all the while.
- 25 Having said these words to me, Hrishikesha of meoricewable provess, leaving me with the children, has gone away some where which I do not know.
- 20 thinking of those two great brothers of yours as also of the dreadful destruction of my kinsmen, I have abstained from all food, and am emaciated with grief.
- 27 I shall neither eat, not live. By good luck you meet me, O son of Pandu Do you accomplish all, O Partha, that Krishna has said.
- 28 this kingdom, with all these women, and all the wealth here, is your now, O son of Pritha! As for myself, O destroyer of foes, I shall renounce my life however dear it may be.

CHAPTER VII.

(MAUSALA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said :--

1-2. That scorcher of enemies, nr., Vibiotto, thus addressed by his material uncle, replied, with great checilessness of heart, to Vaudeva who was equally creekerless, saying,—'O uncle, I am unable to look at this Earth when she is ref of the there of Vinhini's race and those my other kinsmeth.

- 3 The king and Bhimasens and Sanadeva and Nakula and Vajnasen, are of the same mind with myself, in this matter.
- 4. The time has come for the departure of the king also. Know this that the hour of our departure too is near. You are the forest set of those who are well conversant with the course of time.
- 5 I shall, however, O chastiser of enemies, first remove to Indrap asthathe women of the Vishing race as also the children and the aged?
- 6 Having Baid so to his direle, Arjuna, next addressed Daruka saying I wish to see forthwith the chief officers of the Vrishin hero-s.
- 7 Having uttered these words, the heroic Arjuna, grazing for those great car-warriors, entered the great hall of the Yadavas, called Sudharina.
- 8 When he had taken his seat there, all the citizens, including the Brahmanas, and all the ministers of state, came and stood surrounding him.
- g Then Partha, niote grieved than they, addressed those grieving and cheerless cutzens and officers who were, more dead than alive, and said these words which were well suited to the occasion.
- to 'I shall take away with me the reminants of the Vrishins and the Andhakas I he sea will soon engulf this city.
- it. Equip all your cars and place of them all your riches. This Vajra will be your king at Shakraprastha.
- 12. On the seventh day from this at surrise, we shall start Make your preparations immediately.
- id Thus addressed by Pritha's sort of pure deeds all of them hastened their preparations with eagerness for securing their salety
- 14 Arjuna passed that fright in the palaces of iKeshava 11- was suddenly overwhelmed with great sorrow and stupe-faction.
- 13 When morning dawned Vasudeva of great energy and prowers attained, through the help of Yoga, to the highest end
- 16 A loud and heart-rendering sound of wailing was heard in Vasudeva's palace, intered by the weeping ladies.
- 17. They were seen with dishevelled half and divested of ornaments and gurlands. Beating their breasts with their hands, they indulged in heart tendering lamentati

- 18 Those foremost of women, was Devaks and Bhadra and Rohmi and Madra if rew themselves on the bodies of their lord
- 10 Then Partha caused the body of his uncle to be carried out on a rich vehicle borne on the shoulders of men
- 20 It was followed by all the citizens of Dwaraka and the pennie of the provinces all of whom greatly stricken with grief, had been well disposed towards the deceased, there
- 21 Before that which were herre the unbrella which had been held over his head at the cond sum of the horse succifice, he had beclarmed while living and also the biroing fires he had daily adored with the priests who had used to attend to them
- 22 The body of the hero was followed by 1 s vives decked in ornaments and surrounded by thousands of women and thousands of their daughters in law
- 23. The last rites were then performed at that spot which he I ked while he was alive
- 24 The four waves of that hero's on of Stars ascended the fineral pare and were consumed with the body of their harband. All of them attained to those happy regions which were his.
- 25. The son of Pandu burnt the body of his uncle together with those lour wives of his using various kinds of acents and perfumed wood.
- 25. As the funeral pure blazed up a loud sound was leard of the hirming wood and other combistible materials along with the clear chadof of Samai a and the famentation of the cuizens and offers who saw the rite.
- 27. After it was all over the hoje of the Vrishins and Andhaka races, headed by Vijra as also the ladies offered oblations of water to the great hero
- 1 gs. Phaleura wild was careful in observing every dity. I string eatited distinct to be performed went. Och et of Bi avata's race, next to the place wiere the Versimis were killed.
- 29 The Kurd prince seeing them fring killed all arband became exceedingly bleecless. He however d d what red red to be done in view of that which had taken place.
- 30 The last cites were performed according to the order of seniority to the bodies of those hereat killed by the tron bolts born by virtue of the cities denoting the Brahmanas, of the blades of Eraka graits

- 31 Searching out the bodies then of Rama and Vasudeva Arjuna caused them to be burnt by expert persons.
- 32 The son of Pandu having next personance duly those rites that are done to the manes of the dead quelity started on the seventh day, mounting on his car.
- 77 The widows of the Vrishin heroes wailing aloud followed the great son of Pandu vis, Dhananjaya on cars drawn by billocks and fulles and camels
- 34 All were in deep sorrow. The servants of the Visinis, their horsenten, and their car wattiors too, followed the procession.
- 35 The citizens and the inhabitants of the country, at the command of Priha's son stated at the same time and proceeded, strounding that cavalcade destitute of heries and numbering only women and the aged and the children.

36. The warriers who fought from the backs of elephants proceeded on elephants as huge as hills. The infanty also set out, together with the reserves.

- 37-18 The children of the Andhika, and the Vision races all followed Argustus and the Vision races all followed from the Hardinana and Kahatriyas and Vashiyas and rich Shudras statted keeping before them the streen the island women who had formed Vasional women who had formed Vasion and Vajra, the grandson of the intelligent Krishna.
- 30 The widows of the other heroes of the Bhofs, the Vrist is and the Andhaka races lardless now that started with Ariuma numbered many millions
- an That lovement of car warriors that conqueror of histile towns vis the son of Priha escorted fits hige process on of Vridinis which it il abouted with wealth, and which looked like a vertable ocean
- 41 After all the people had started the ocean it at lome of sharks and alligators, it indeed Dwaraka which still teemed with riches of every kind, with its waters
- 42 Whatever portion of the ground was passed over ocean immediately fluoded over with his waters
- 43 Seeing this wonder! I speciacle the inlabiants of Dwyrska walked faster and faster, saying Wonderful is the course of fate?
- dt. Dhananjava afterahandoning Dwaraka proceeded by slow marcles cassing the Visil ni women to cert is charmone forcests and mo intains and by the sides of dels, fillid it wers
- 45 Arrived at the country of the five waters, the powerful Dianar raya encamond corn and kine and other animals.

felt a great temptation. .

slaughter.

Pruha's son alone, O Bharata, the robbers Then those sinfai wretches, with Abl was of ill omen, assembled together and hearts possessed by cupidity, vis , those held a consultation. 48. They said,-'Here there is only one bowman, vis . Atjuna. The party consists of cividren and the old. He escorts them, alone. The warriors (of the Vrishnis) are without energy." Then those robbers, numbering by thousands, and armed with clubs, rushed towards the procession of the Vrishnis for looting them. Urged by the perverse course of ture, they fell upon that party, frightening it with loud leonine shouts and desirous of 51-52. The son of Runti, suddenly cras ng to advance along the path, turned, with his follovers, towards the place where the robbers had attacked the party. Smiling the while, that mighty-armed warrior addressed the assailants, saying,-'Ye sinful wretches, step, if ye love your lives? Ye will rue this when I cut your bodies with my arrows and take your lives '

53. Though thus addressed by that hero, they disregarded his words, and though repeatedly dissuaded, they fell Armona. Then Arjuna tried to string his large, indestructible, celestial bow with some effort. He succeeded with great difficulty stronging it, when the battle had become

He then began to think of his elestral meapons but they would not come) his mind. 56 Seeing that furious battle, the loss the might of his arm, and the non-prearance of his celestral weapons, Artuna ecame greatly ashamed. 57. The Vrishni warriors including the ifantity, the elephant-warring, and the failed to rescue those Vrishing 41-men. romen who were being snatched away by ie roblere 55. The concourse was very large. The neters anacked it at different points trjung triel his best to protect it, but ould not succeed.

Before the eyes of all the warriors, tany foremost of ladies were dragged away, dule others went away with the robbers f their own securd.

60. The powerful Ariuna, supported by the servants of the Vrishnis, struck the robbers with acrows shot off Gandiya. 61. Soon, however, O king, his arrows were exhausted. In former days his arrows Now, however, had been mexhaustible. they proved otherwise. 62. Finding his arrows exhausted, he became deeply afflicted with grief. The son of Indra then began to strike the robbers with the horns of his bow.

63 Those Michechas, however, O Jana . mejaya, m the very sight of Paitha, retreated, taking away with them many foremost ladies of the Vrishnis and Ardhakas.

61-65 The powerful Dhananiava considered it all as the work of destiny. Filled with sorrow he breathed heavy sighs at the thought of the non-appearance of his (celestial) weapons, the loss of the might of his arms, the refusal of his bow to obey him: and the exhaustion of his arrows.

Considering it all as the work of destiny, he became greatly cheerless then ceased, O king, to make further efforts, saving, he had not the power which he had before. 67. The high-souled one, taking with him the residue of the Vrishni nomen, and the wealth that was still with them, reached Kurukshetra, Thus bringing with him the remnant of the Vrishnis, he established them at different places.

He established the son of Kritavare man at the city called Marttikavat, with the remnant of the women of the Bhola

70 Fecotting the remainder, with children and old men, and women, the son of Pandit established them, who were reft of herors, in the city of Indraprasths. The dear son of Yuyudhana, with a number of old men and children and women, the righteous-souled Arluna established on the banks of the Saraswati, The rule of Indraprasiba was given to Vala. The widews of Akriira then wished to retire listo the forest, asked them repeatedly to desist, but they did not hear him. 73 Rukmini tle princess of Gandhars.

Slaivya Haimavati, an I queen Jamvarati, ascended the functal pyre.

Salvabhama and the other dear wives of Kind na entered the furest, O king, resolved to practice penances. 75 They began to live on frosts and tasts and pass their time in the contemplation of Hari Going beyond the Himavat, they took up their residence in a place called

Kalapas Those men who had followed Armana 76 from Dwarzvati were divided into groups, and bestowed upon Vaira

77. Having done all these acts suited to the occasion, Arjuna, with eyes bothed in tears, then entered the hermitage of Vyasa. There he saw the Dwarpayana seated at Ins case.

CHAPTER VIII.

(MAUSALA PARVA.)-

Conclude 1.

Vaishampayana said :--As Armos entered the hermitage of

- The truthful Rishi he saw the son of Satya-Vali sealed in a solitary spot Approaching that Redd of high vows
- and gifted with a knowledge of all daties he said -'I am Arjuna' -and then awaited his pleasure Satyavati's son, endued with high
 - penances, answered, saying, -: Velcome 1.
 Of tranquil soul the great ascetic further Said - ' lake your seat Seeing that the son of Pritha was
 - greatly theerless and breathing heavy sight repeatedly and filled with despair Vussa, underessed him saying Have you been sprinkled with water from anyhody's hails or hair or the end of anybody's cloth, or from the mouth of a Jar? Did you know any woman before the cessation of her menses? Have you killed a Brahmana?
 - Have you been defeated in battle? You look like one shorn of prosperty! I do not know that you have been deleated Why tlen, O chiel Bharata's race this exceed uply dejected look. You should O of Pitha tell me all, it, indeed, there be no harm in telling it.

Arjuna said :--

- He whose complexion was like that of a cloud, he whose eyes were like pair if large folius petals, vis. Krishna, has, with Rams, renounced his body and ascended
- 8 At Prabhasa, through iron bolts caused by the curse denounced by Brahinsuas the destruction has taken place of the Vrisini heroes. That destruction has been, nwful and not even a single hero has escaped.

- o. The heroes of the Bhoja, the Andhaka, and the Vrishni races O Brahinana, who were all gifted with high-sonls, great might, and feomine pride, have killed one another m battle. to. Possessed of arms which looked like
- maces of iron, and capable of bearing the strokes of heavy cinbs and darts, alas they have all been killed with blades of Eraka See the perverse course of 1 me. grass tr. Tive hundred thousand mighty-armed
- warriors have thus been killed Encountering one another, they have met with desunction. 12. Thinking repeatedly of this destric-
- tion of the Yadava warriors of immeasure able energy and of the illustrious Krishna, I cannot get peace of mind. The death of the holder of Sharnza
- as meredible as the drying up of the ocean the displacement of a mountain, the falling down of the heaven, or the cooling property of fire. Deprived of the company of the
- Vershm heroes, I wish not to live in this world. Another event has taken place that
- is more paroful than this, O you having penances for wealth Repeatedly thinking of it, my heart is breaking.
- 16 In my very sight, O Brahmana, thousands of Visitin ladies were carried away by the Abhiras of the country of the five waters who attacked us laking up my how, I found myself amequal to even string it. He power that - had existed in my arms seemed to have disappeared on that occasi in. O great ascetic, my weapons of various kinds failed to appear. Soon, again, my arrows became exhausted.
 - That person of immeasurable soul, of four arms, I olding the conch the discus, and the mace clad in yellow robes, dark of complexion and possessing eyes resembling lotus petals is no longer seen by me ! Alas, reft of Govinda, what have I to live for, dragging my life in sorrow?
 - He who used to stalk in advance of my car, that divine form gifted with great splendour and unfading power, consuming as he proceeded all hostile warriors, can n longer be seen by me
- 21-22 No Imper seeing him who by tis energy first bunt all hostile troops whom I afterwards killed with arrows shot eff Gandiva, I am filled with grief and my head swims O best of men! Penetrated with cheerlessness and despair, I cannot get peace of mind.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I —The King leaves the world after lear ng Krishna s departure—p t
CHAPTER II —Shakra comes to ile ik ng and i forus that le will see all lis relat ves princes from the world—p 2.

THE MAHABHARATA:

(IN ENGLISH.)

MAHAPRASTHANIKA PARVA.

CHAPTER I.

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of male beings, as also Saraswati the Goddess of Learning, let us crysuccess.

Janamejaya said :--

1 Having heard of that fighting with iron bolts between the heroes of the Vrishni and the Andhaka races, and having been informed also of Krishna's departure from this world, what did the Pandavas do?

Vaishampayana said:-

2—3 Having heard the particulars of the great destruction of the Vrishins, the Kaurava king was determined on leaving the world. He addressed Arjuna saying,—O you of great intelligence, it is Time which cooks every creature (in his cauldran), to the corrivol I min (with which he bads us all! You should also see it?

4 Thus addressed by his brother, the son of Kinto only repeated the word— 'lime, I'me l'—and fully endorsed the view of his eldest brother endued with great intelligence.

3. Knowing the resolution of Arjuna, Bhimasena and the twins fully endorsed the world vallent of promoder's and in Shakraprastha You should protect him? Never set your heart on sin.'

10-11. Having said these words, king Yudhishthira, the just, along with his brothers, promptly offered oblations of water to Vasudeva of great intelligence, as alta his old maternal incl, and Rama and others. He then duly performed the Straddhas of all those kinsten.

12. The king, in honor of Hari, and naming him rep-atedly, fed the flwappayana Vyasa, and Markandeya thaving penances for wealth, and Yajinavalkya of Bharadwaja race, with many delicious food.

15—15 In honor of Krishna, he also kave away many jewels and gens, and diesses and clothes, and wilages, and horses and cars, and female slaves by hundreds and thousands to foremost of Brahmanas. Calling the cutrens Kripa was installed as the preceptor and Parishit was made over to him as in diseigle. O their of Bibrard's race! Then Yudioshbura once more summoned all his subjects

16-17 The royal sage informed them of his desire. The citizens and the villagers, hearing the king's words became stricken with anxiety and disapproved of them. I this should never be done-said they be the king.

bless them in the accomplishment of their design, those foremost of men renounced their sacred fires to the water. Seeing the princes in that curse the ladies went aloud

23 They seemed to look as they had looked formerly when with Draupads forming the sixth in number they had left the capital after their defeat at dice. All the brothers, however, were infinitely delighted at the prospect of their retirement.

24-25 Ascertaining the desire of Yudinshirar and seeing the destruction of the Visshins no other course of action could satisfy them then. The five brothers, with Draupads forming the sixth, and a dog forming the seventh, satired on their journey. Hus did king Yudinshirar depart, himself heading a party of seven, and the toy of Lestinapur. He otherwise and the royal ladies followed them for some distance.

26 None of them, however, could venture to address the king for persuading him to give up his intention. The crizens then returned.

27. Kripa and others stood around Yuyutsu as their centre. Ulupi the daughter of ite Naga chief, O you of Kurus race, entered the waters of Ganga.

28. The princess Chitrangada started for the capital of Manipur. The other ladies who were the grandmothers of Parikshit gathered around him.

29. Meanwhile the great Pandavas, O you of Kuru's race, and the illustrious Draupadi, having observed the preliminary fast, started with their faces towards the

30. Setting themselves on Yoga, those great ones, resolved to observe the religion of Renunciation, passed through various countries and reached various tivers and seas.

31-32 Yudhushirra proceeded firet Eshima him was Blinna, enext walked Actas after the state of the state of the order of tear built, bel not them all, O foremest one of Bliotesta's race, went Draupadi, that first of women, endued with krest beauty of dark complexion, and lawing eyes like lotus petato.

33 While the Pandayas started for the forest, a dog followed them Proceeding on, those heroes reached the sea of red waters

33. Di ananya a had not thrown off I is celestral how Gondies nor his couple of mexhaustible quiers actuated. O king by the appeals for valuable things.

35 The Pandavas there saw the God of Fire standing before them like a hill. Closing their way, the god stood there in his embodied form.

36. The deity of seven flames then addressed the Pandavas, saying —O heroic sons of Pandu, know me as the God of Fire.

37. O mighty-armed Yudhishthira O

37. O mighty-armed Yudhishthira O Blimasena who are a corcher of enemies, O Arjuna and O twins of great courage, listen to what I say !

38 O foremost ones of Kuru's race, !

am the God of Fire. The forest of Khandava was burnt by me, through the power of Arjuna and of Narayana himself. 39 Let your brother Phalguna proceed to the forest after casting off Gandiva, that great weapon. He has no longer any necessity for it.

40. That precious discus, which was with the great Krishia has disappeared (from the world) When the time again comes, it will return into his hands.

41 The foremost of bows vis, Gandiva, was procured by me from Varuna for the use of Partha Let it be made over to Varuna himself.

42 At this, all the brothers requested

Dhananjaya to do what the god said. He then threw into the waters (of the sca) both the how and the couple of inexhaustible quivers.

43. After this O chief of Dharata's race!

the God of Fire disappeared then and there.
The heroic sons of Pandu, next went on with their faces turned towards the south.

42. Then, by the northern coast of the salt sea, those princes of Bharata's race, went to the south-west.

45 Turning next towards the west, they saw the city of Dwaraka covered by the ocean.

46. Turning next to the north those foremost ones went on Observant of Yoga, they were desirous of going round the whole earth.

CHAPTER II.

(MAHAPRASTHANIKA PARVA)-

Continued.

Vaishampayana said:—

1. Those princes of controlled, soul, and devoted to Yoga, proceeding to the north, saw Himarat, that hige mountains

- Crossing the Himavat, they saw a vast desert of sand They then saw the powerful mountain Meru, the foremost of all highpeaked mountains.
- 3 As those powerful ones were proteeding quickly all rapt in Yoga, Yajinasem, falling off from Yoga, dropped down on the Earth.
- 4-5 Seeing her fallen down, Bhimasena of great strength addressed king Yudiushthira the just, saying,—O scorcher of enemies, this princess never did any slatul deed. Tell us what the cause is for which Kristina has fallen down on the Earth.'

Yudhishthira said:-

6. She had great partiality for Dhanan-Jaya in particular. She obtains the fruit of that conduct to-day, O best of men.

Vaishampayana said:--

7. Having said this, that foremost one of Bharata's race went on. Of righteous soul, that foremost of men, gifted with great intelligence, went on, with mind injent on itself,

8-9 Then the all wise Sahadeva dropped down on the Earth Seeing him drop down, Bhima addressed the king, saying,—1 he who with great humlity used to serve us all, also, why is that son of Madrayatt fallen down on the Earth.

Yudhishthira said :-

to. He never thought anybody this equal in wisdom. It is for that sin that prince has dropped down.

Vaishampayana said :-

11. Having said this, the king proceeded, leaving Sabadeva there. Indeed, Kunti's son Yudhishthira went on, with his brothers and with the dog.

12 Seeing both Krislina and the Pandaya Sahadeva fallen down, the brave Nakula, whose love for kinsinen was very great, fell down himself.

13-14 Upon the falling down of the heror Nakula of great heauty, Bluma once more addressed the king, saying,—'This hrother of ours who was gifted with full righteourness and who always obejed our commands, this Nakula who was peerless for heauty, has fallen down!'

15 Thus addressed by Blumasena, Yudhuhihina said, with respect to Nakula, these words — 'Ite was of regitions su' and it e foremost of all persons suited with mittibenes.

16. He, however, thought that there was nobody who equalled him in personal beauty. Indeed, he considered himself as superior to all in that matter.

. 17 It is for this that Nakula has fallen down Know this, O Vrikodata! That, O hero, which has been ordamed for a person, must have to be borne by him.

18 Seeing Nakula and the others fall down Poudu's son Arjuna of white horses, that destroyer of hostile heroes, fell down in great guief of heart.

10-20. When that foremost of men, who was gifted with the energy of Shakra, had fallen down, undeed, when that reveneble here was on the point of death, Bluma said to the king.—I do not recollect any untruth uttered by this great one Indeed, not even in jest did he say anything false. What then is that for whose evil consequence this one has dropped down on the Earth!

Yudhishthira said:-

21. Arjuna had said that he would con-sume! all our enemies in a single day. Proud of his heroism, he did not, however, do what he had said. Hence has he fallen down.

22. This Phalguna disregarded all wielders of bows. One desirous of prosperty should never entertain such thoughts.

Vaishampayana said:--

23-24 Having said so, the king went on. Then Bhima fell down, Haviling fallen down, Bhima addressed king Yudhishthira the just, saying -O king see! I who am your darling have fallen down! Why have I dropped down? Jell me if you know it."

Yndhishthira said:—

as You were a great eater, and you used to boast of your attenuth. You never did attend, O Partha, to the wants of others while eating. It is for that, O Bhima, that you live fallen diwn.

26 Having said these words, she mighty-armed Yudhishthira went on, with-out looking back. It had only one companion, eas, the dog of which I have repeatedly spoken to you which followed him now.

CHAPTER III.

(MAHAPRASTHANIKA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said :-

 Causing the Heaven and the Earth to be filled by a loud sound, then Shakra came to the son of Pritha on a car and asked him to ascend it.

* 2-3 Seeing his brothers fallen on the Earth, king Yudhishthira the just said to that deity of a thousand eyes these words,—
'My brothers have all dropped down here!
'Hey must go with me Without them by me I do not wish to go to the celestial region, O lord of all the celestials.

4 The delicate princess (Draupadi) deserving of every comfort, O Purandara should go with us 7 You should permit this 7

Shakra said '-

5 You shall behold your brothers in the celestial region. They have reached it before you Indeed you shall see all of them there, with Krishna. Do not give way to grief Ochief of the Bharatas!

6 Having renounced their human bodies they have gone there. O chief of Biarata's race! As for you, it is fordained that you shall go there in this very body of yours,

Yudhishthira said :--

7 This dog, O lord of the Past and the Present, is highly devoted to me. He should go with me. My heart is full of mercy for him.

Shakra said :--

8 You have acquired to-day Immortality and a status equal to mine, O king, prosperity extending in all directions and high success, and all the felicities of heaven Do you cast off this dog. In this there will be no cruelly.

Yudhishthira said .-

9 O you of a thousand eyes, O you, who are of righteous conduct, it is extremely difficult for one that is of righteous conduct to perpetrate an act which is unrighteous I do not wish that union with prosperity for which I shall have to cast off one that is devoted to me.

India said :--

10 There is no place in the celestial region for persons with dogs. Besides the Rrodhavashas take away all the merits of such persons. Thinking of this, act, O king Yudhidah ra the part! Do you abandon this dor. There is not rely in this?

Yudhishthira said :-

II. It has been said that the abandomment of one that is devoted is sinful beyond measure. It is equal to the sin of Brahmincide. Hence, O great Indra, I shall not cast off this dog to-day from desire of my happiness.

12 This is my vow, vis, that I never give up a person that is terrified, nor one that is devoted to me, nor one that seeks my help, saying, that he is destitute, nor one that is afflicted, nor one that has come to me, nor one that is weak in protecting oneself, nor one that begs for life I shall never give up such a one till my own life goes away.

Indra said —

13 Whatever gifts, or sacrifices spread out, or libations poured on the sacred fire, are seen by a dog, are taken away by the Krodhavashas. Do you, therefore, renunce this dog. By frenouncing this dog you vill acquire the region of the celestial.

14 Having abandoned your brothers and Krishna, you have, O hero, acquired a region of happiness by your own deeds. Why are you so stupefied? You have renounced everything Why then do you not renounce this dog?

Yudhishthira said:-

15 This is well known in all the worlds that there is neither frendship nor enunity with the dead. When my brothers and Krishna died, I was unable to revive them. Hence it was that I renounced them I did not however, renounce them as long as they were alive.

16 To frighten one that las sought protection the killing of a woman, the thieft of what belongs to a Brahmana, and injuring a friend each of these four. O Shakra is, I think equal to the abandonment of one that is devoted.

Vaishampayana said -

17 Hearing these words of king Yudinshbira the just, (the dog became transformed into) the deity of Virtue, who well pleased, said words to him in a sweet voice fraught with praise.

Dharma said .--]

18. You are well born, O I mg of kings, and endured with the prelinence and it e good conduct of Pandu. You have never y for all creature O Bharata, of a hitchite is a bright ex mple. I

- to Tormerly, O son, you were once examined by me in the ferest of Dwaits, where your brothers of great proness met with (an appearance of) death.
- 20 Disregarding both your brothers Blinna and Arjuna, you did wish for the revival of Nakula from your desire of doing good to your (step) mother.
- 21. On the present occasion, thinking the dog to be devoted to you, you have renounced the very ear of the celestials instead of renouncing him. Hence, O king, there is no one in Heaven that is equal to you.
- Hence, O Bharata, regions of inexhausible happiness are yours? You have acquired them, O clief of the Bharatas, and yours is a celestial and high end.

Vaishampayana said.—

- 23-24. Then Dharms and Shakra, and the Maruts, and the Ashwins and other deities and the celestial Rishis, causing Yudhishthira to ascend on a car, went to the celestial region. Those beings crowned with success and capable of going everywhere at will, rode their respective cars.
- 25 King Yudhishthira, that perpetuater of Kuru's race, riding on that car, ascended quickly, causing the entire sky to blaze with his effurence
- 26-27 Then Narada, that foremost of peakers, gifted with penances, and conversant with all the worlds, from amidst that concourse of celestials, said these words "All those royal sages who are here have their achievements transcended by hose of Yudhishthira.
- 28 Covering all the worlds by his fame and splendour and by his wealth of conduct,

- he has attained to the celestial region in his own (human) body! None else that the son of Pandu has been heard to achieva this?
- 29-30 Hesting these words of Narada, the righteous-souled king saluting the celestuals and all the royal sages there present, said,—'Happy or miserable, whatever the region be that is now my brothers, I wish to proceed to. I do not wish to go anywhere else.'
- 31-32. Hearing this speech of the king, the chief of the celestails, Purandura, and these words pregnant with noble meaning,—1Do you live in this place. O king of kings, which you have acquired by your meritorious deeds! Why do you still cherish human affections?
- 33 You have acquired great success, the like of which no other man has ever been able to attain Your brothers, O delighter of the Kurus, have succeded in acquiring happy regions.
- 34 Human affections still touch you. This is Heaven. See these celestial Rishis and Siddhas who have attained to the region of the gods.
- 35-36 Endued with great intelligence, Yudhishthira answered the king of the deties once more, saying,—'O conjueror of Daityas, I venture not to live anywhere, separated from them! I wish to go there where my brothers have gone i
- 37. I wish to go there where that foremost of women, Draupadi, of ample proportions and darkish complexion and gilted with great intelligence and righteousness of conduct, has gone!

A PROSE ENGLISH TRANSLATION

OF

THE MAHABHARATA.

ITRANSLATED LITERALLY FROM THE ORIGINAL SANSKRIT TEXT)

SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA. VOL. XVIII.

PR GENELISSE & CETTED BY

MANMATHA NATH DUTT, (Shasiri) M.A., M.R.A.S.

RECTOR, KISHUB ACADEMY

Author of the English Translation of the Ramayara, Vishnu-Purantr, Srimad-Bhaga.atam, Kamandakiya Nitisara, Bhagava l-Gita, and many other works.

40, Nayan Chand Dutt's Street, Calcutta.

₩₩

CALCUTTA

PRINTED AT H. C. DASS, ELYSICH PRESS, 40, Nayan Cland Datts Street.

1905

4# * g! ts reteried]

SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

Chapter I—Arrived at Heaven, king Yudhishthira sees Duryodhana blazing with effulgence and seated on an excellent seat—Dialogue between Yudhishthira and Narada—p 1.

CHAPTER II — Yudhashthara's solicitude for his brothers and kinsmen and the Princess of Panchala—p. 2

CHAPTER III—The advent of the desires, and their adulation of the conduct of Yudinshithira—Yudinshithira plunges in the celestial Ganga and assumes a celestial body—Yudinshithira proceeds, in company with the direct, to share with his brothers and knamen the region which they have accurred for themselves—0. 4.

CHAPTER IV — Vudhishthra sees Govinda in his effulgent Brahma-form as also all his trothers and relations—the Proncess of Pandsials and her sons, his own father and mothers—grandsire and preceptor, uncle and grandsons—the Vrishm and Andhaka heroes—p. 5

Citareza V — Janamejaya's query regarding the period the heroes of Kuruchhero and the selection of the celestial region— Authorizable and the celestial region— Fermina tion. Authorizable and the celestial region— Fermina tion. Authorizable and the celestial region of the celestial free feature, from Lackinshila to his capital after having dismissed the sacrificial presis with profuse gifts.—The ments of the Mahabharata—The Sawitts of the Mahabharata—The Sawitts

CHAPTER VI — Janamelaya's query as to the ordinances relating to the manner of lishening to a recitation of the Bharata and the fruits it yields—Yaishampayana's reply—p 9.

THE MAHABHARATA

(IN ENGLISH.)

SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA.

CHAPTER I.

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of male beings as also Saraswati the Goddess of Learning let us cry success.

Janamejaya said:—

- t. Having attained to Heaven, what regions were respectively attained by my grandsires of old vis, the Pandavas, and the sons of Dhritarashtra?
- 2 I wish to hear this. I think that you know everything, having been taught by the great Rishi Vyasa of wonderful feats.

Vaishampayana said :--

- 3 listen now to what your grandsires, Yadhishthica and others, did after having attimed to Heaven, that plate of the detices
- 4 Arrived at Heaven, king Yudhishthira the just saw Duryodhana gifted with prosperity and seated on an excellent seat,
- 5 He was effulgent like the sun and wore all the signs of heroic glory. And he was in the company of unary celestials of blazing effulgence and of Sadhyas of ripiticous deeds.
- 6 Yadi ishthira, seeing Duryo lhana and his presperity thecame suddenly overpowered with anger and turned back from the hight
- with anger and turned back from the sight 7. He loudly addressed its companions saying,— I do not wish to share regions of bliss with Diryodhana who was stained by bippdily and possessed of little foresight.
- 8 It was for him that friends, kinsmen, over the whole Earth destroyed by its were whom he had greatly afflicted in the deep forest
- 9 It was for him that the virtuous princess of Panchala, Draupadi of fauliless teatures, our wife was dragged into the midst of the courtiers before all our elders
- 10. Ye gods I have no wish to even see Suyothana 1 I wish to go there where my brothers are.

- 11. Narada, smiling, told him, "It should not be so O king of kings! In Heaven, all enmittes cease.
- 12. O mighty-armed Yudhishthira, do not say so about king Duryodhana. Hear my words,
- 13 Here is king Duryodhana He is adored with the celestials by those righteous amen and those foremost of kings, who are now dwellers of Heaven.
- 14 By causing his body to be poured as a libration on the fire of battle, he liag obtained the end which consists in attainment of the region for heroes. You and your brothers, who were vertiable gods on farth, were always persecuted by this one.
- 15 Yet through his observance of Kshatnya practices he has acquired this tegion. This king was not terrified in a dreadful situation.
- 16 O son, you should not bear in mind the wees inflicted on you on account of the match at dice. You should not remember the sufferings of Draupadi.
- 17. You should not remember the other miseries which you suffered for the fleeds of your kinsmen,—the miseries, vis, that were due to battle of to other situations.
- 13-26 Do you meet Duryodiuma now politely. This is fieaven O king? There were the political of the political

THE MAHABHARATA.

(IN ENGLISH.)

SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA.

CHAPTER I.

Having saluted Narayana and Nara the best of male beings as also Saraswali the Godless of Learning, let us cry success.

Janamejaya said:--

- 1. Having attained to Heaven, what regions were respectively attained by my grandsires of old wis, the Pandavas, and the sons of Dhritarashtra?
- I wish to hear this, I think that you know everything, having been taught by the great Rishi Vyasa of wonderful feats.

Vaishampayana said:--

- Listen now to what your grandsires, Yu shishthira and others, did after having attained to Heaven, that place of the
- Arrived at Heaven, king Yudhishdetties thira the Just saw Duryodhana gifted with prosperty and seated on an excellent seat.
- He was effulgent like the sun and word all the signs of heroic glory And he was in the company of many celestials of blazing effulgence and of Sadhyas of righteous deeds
- Yadi ishthira, seeing Duryo lhana and his presperity thecame suddenly overpowered with anger and turned back from the sight
- He loudly addressed his companions. saying,-'I do not wish to share regions of bliss with Duryodhana who was stained by tupidity and possessed of little foresight.
- It was for him that friends, kinsmen. over the whole Larth destroyed by us were whom he had greatly afflicted in the deep
- forest. g It was for him that the virtuous princess of Panchala, Draupadi of faultless features, our wife, was dragged into the midst of the courtiers before all our elders
 - Ve gods, I have no wish to even see Supodi ana 1 aish to go there where my brothers are.

- Narada, smiling, told him,- It should not be so O king of kings In Heaven, all enmities cease.
- O mighty-armed Yudhishthira, do not say so about king Duryodhana. Hear my words.
- Here is king Duryodhana. adored with the celestials by those righteous men and those foremost of kings, who are now dwellers of Heaven.
- By causing his body to be poured as a libation on the fire of battle he has obtained the end which consists in attainment of the region for heroes your brothers, who were veritable gods on Earth, were always persecuted by this one.
- Yet through his observance of Kshatriya practices he has acquired this This king was not terrified in a region dreadful situation.
- 16. O son, you should not bear in mind the woes inflicted on you on account of the You should not rememmatch at dice ber the sufferings of Draupadi.
- 17. You should not remember the other miseries which you suffered for the deeds of your kinsmen, the miseries, vis , that were due to battle of to other situations.
- Do you meet Duryodhana nom 18-26 politely This is Heaven, O king! There can be no enmittee here! - Though thus addressed by Narada, the Kuru king Vudlushil ica, gifted with great intelligence, enquired about his brothers and said -'If il ese eternal regions reserved for heroes be Duryo lhana's, that unrighteeus and sinful wretch, that than who was the destroyer ce friends and of the whole world, that man for whose sake the entire Eart's was devase tated with all her torses and eleptaris and tuman beings, that man for whose sage we were burnt with anger in timking of how best we might remedy our wron, s. I wish to see what regions have been atta red by those great heroes, my brothers of Lat yows, steady achievers of promises, truthful in speech, and distinguished for courage. The great Karna, the son of Kuntt, incapable of being baffled in battle, Dhrishtadyumna, Satyakr, the sons of Dhrishtadyumna and those other Kshatriyas who met with death in the observance of Kshairija duties, where are those lings, O Brahmana? I do not see them here. O Narada I wish to see, O Narada, Virata and Drupada and the other great Kshatriyas headed by Dhrishtaketu, as also Shikhandin, the Panchala prince, the sons of Draupadi, and Abhimanyu, irresistible In battle.

CHAPTER IL.

I SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA.)-

Continued.

Yudhishthira said :--

'Ye defties. I do not see he're Radha's son of incomparable prowers, as also my large-hearted brothers, and Yudhamanyti and Uttamaujas, those great car-wartiors who poured their bodies (as libations) on the fire of battle, those kings and princes

- who thet with death for my sake in battle. 3. Where are those great car-warrlors who possessed of the prowess of tigers? Have those foremost of men gamed this region ?
- 4. If those great car-warriors have obtained these regions, then only do you I now, O gods, that I shall live here with those great ones.
- 5. If this auspicious and elernal region has not been gained by those kings, then, know, O gods, that without those brothers and kinsmen of mine, I shall not live here.
- At the time of celebrating the Water tites (after the battle), I heard my mother say, -- 1)o you offer oblations of water to Karna! I'rom the time of hearing those words of my mother, I am burning with graci.
- 7-8. I griere also continually at this, O gods, that when I marked the resemb'ance between the feet of my mother and those of Karna of Light soul, I did not Intinediately place myself under the orders of that destroyer of hostile ranks ! Ourselved joined with Karna, Shakra himself would have been unable to defeat in battle.
- o. Wherever may that child of the Sun be, I wish to see him. Alas, not knowing his relationship with out, I caused him to be Ail to by Asjuna.

10-11. Bhima also of dreadful profess and dearer to me than my life. Arima too, resembling Indra himself, the twins also who resembled the Destroyer himself in prowess, I wish to see I Wish to see the princess of Panchala, of good conduct; I wish not to stay here. I tell you the truth.

O foremost of the delues, What is Heaven to me if I am separated from my brothers? That is lieaven where those brothers of mine are. This, it my opinion, Is hot Heaven.

The derties said:-

13 'If you wish to be there, go then, O son, forthwith. At the command of the king of the celestials, we are teady to do what you like.

Vaishampayana said:-

14-15 Having said so, the relestials then ordered the celestral messenger, O destroyer of enemies, saying-'Do you show to Yudhishthira his hiends and kinsmen'-Then the royal son of Kunts and the celestlal messenger went together, O foremost of kings, to that place where those chiefs of men were.

- The celestral messenger went first, followed by the king. The path was difflcult and trodden by men of sinful deeds.
- It was covered with thick darkitess, and covered with hair and moss forming its grassy vesture. Polluted with the smell of sumers, and miry with flesh and blood, it was filled with gad flies and stinging bees and ghats and was endangered by the inroads of grisly beard. Rotting corbses lay liete and thete.
- 19 Overspread with bones and hair, it was noisesome with worms and insects. It was bounded all along with a burning fire. do. It was infested by crows and other
- Birds and vultures, all having beaks of iron. as also by tent spirits with long mouths pointed like needles. And it was filled with maccessible fastnesses like the Vindhya mountains.
- di. Human corpses were scaftered over it, smeared with fat and blood, with arms and thighs cut off, or wall entrails torn out and legs severed.
- 22. Along that path so disagreeable with the stenth of torpses and awful with eine f incidents, the righteous-souled king went filed with various though's.
- 23. He saw a rever full of boiling water and, thefelore, difficult to cross, as also & forest of trees whose feaves were ditte shords and rarats.

- 21 There were plains full of fine white sand highly heated, and rocks and stones made of iron. There were many parso tron all around, with boiling oil in them.
- 25. Many a Ruta-shalmalika was there, with sharp thorns, and therefore, greatly painful to the touch. The son of Kunti saw also the fortures inflicted upon sinful men.
- 26. Seeing that manspictous region full of every sort of foulness, Yudhishthura asked the celestial messenger, saying,— "How far shall we go along a path like this?"
- 27. You should tell me where those brothers of mme are. I wish also to know what region is this of the celestials."
- 28 Hearing these words of king Yudhishthira theljust, the celestial messenger stopped in his course and replied, saying,—1 hus far is your way.
- 29. The dwollers of the celestral region ordered me that having come thus far, I am to stop! If you are tired, O king of kings, you may return with me.
- 30. Yudhishthura, however, was sorely disconsolate and stupefied by the fool atench. Resolved to return, O Bharata, he tetraced his steps.
- 31 Stricken with sorrow and grief, the righteous souled king turned back. Directly then he heard piece is cries all around.
- 32. 'O son of Dharma, O royal sage, O you of holy buth, O son of Pandu, do you stay a moment for favouring Ls.
- 33 At your approach, O invincible one, a delightful breeze has begun to blow, bearing, the sweet smell of your body. We have been greatly telieved at this.
- 34 O foremost of kings, seeing you, O hist of men, we have been inghly pleased O son of Pritha, let that happiness fast larger through your stay here for a few moments more.
- 35 Do you remain here, O Bharata, for even a short time! As long as you are here, O you of Kurus race, tortures cease to affect us."
- 36 the king heard there these and many similar words, attered picously by persons in distress, reaching his ears from all sides.
- 37 Hearing those words of beings in distress, Yadhishihira of compassionate heart exclaimed aloud Alas, how pain ful! and the king stood still.
- 3D. The words of those woe-begone and affirted spersons seemed to the son of Pandu to be uttered in voices that I what

- heard before although he could not, then, recognise them.
- 30. Unable to recognise the voices, Dharma's son, Yudhishihira, enquired, saying,—'Who are you? Why also do you stay here?'
- 40 Thus addressed they answered han from all sides, saying,—! I am Karna!'—' I am Arjuna!'
- 41. 'I am Nakula'—'I am Sabadeva.!'
 I am Dirishtadyumna!—'I am Drawpadi!'—'We are the sons of Draupadi!'
 —thus O king, did those voices speak.
- 42 Hearing those cries, O king, uttered in voices of pain suitable to that place the royal Yudhishthira asked himself—' What perverse destiny is this?
- 43-44. What are those sufful deeds which were committed by those ereat henge, our, Karna and the sons of Draupad and the slonder-wasted princess of Fanchal, so that they have been compelled to live un this region, of logid smell and great distress. I am not aware of any suit late can be attributed to these persons of auspicious deeds
- 45 What is that deed by doing which Diritarashtra's son, king Suyodhana, with all his sinful followers, has acquired such prosperity?
- 46. Gifted with prosperity like that of the great Indra himself, he is reverently worshipped. What is that deed for which these (high souled ones) have fallen into Hell?
- 47. All of them knew duty, were heroes, were devoted to truth and the Veday; were observant of Kshatriva practices, were right teous in their deeds, were performers of sacrifices, and givers of large presents to brahmanas.
 - 49 Am I askeep or awake? Am I conscious or unconscious? Or, is all this an aherration of the intellect?
- 49. Overwhelmed by sorrow and grief, and with his senses ruffled by anxiety, king Yudhishthira indulged in such thoughts for a long time.
- 50. The royal son of Dharma was, then filed with ri, theous indigatio. Indeed, Yudhishthira then censured the celestials as also Dharma humsell.
- St. Afficted by the very foul smell, he addressed the celestral messenger, saying Return to the presence of those whose messenger you are.
- 52 Tell them that I shall not return here, since, on account of my companionship, these afflicted brothers of mine have become comforted.

- 53 Thus addressed by the intelligent son of Pandu, the celestial messenger returned to the place where the king of the celestials was, vis, he of a hundred sacrifices.
- 51. He represented to him the acts of Yudhishthira Indeed, O king, he inform ed Indra of all that Dharma's son had said.

CHAPTER III.

(SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA.)-

Vaishampayana said:-

- t. King Yudhishthira the just, the son of Pritha, had not waited there for more than a moment when, O you of Kuru's race, all the celestials headed by Indra came there
- 2. The God of Righteousness, in his gibbodied form, also came to that place where the Kuru king was for seeing that monarch.
- 3 Upon the coming of those celestrals of resplandent bodies and sanctified and noble deeds the darkness that had covered that region immediately disappeared
- 4—5. The tortures undergone by beings of similal deeds were no longer seen. The civer Vastaram, the thorny Shalmali, the iron jars, and the boulders of rock terrible to look at, also vanished from sight. The various repulsive corpose also, which the Kuru king had seen, disappeared at the same time.
- Then a breeze, delicious and fraught with pleasant smell, pefectly pure, and delightfully cool, O Bharata, began to blow on that spot ou account of the presence of the celestrals.
- 7-8 The Maruts, with Indra, the Vasus with the twin Ashwins, the Dadhyas, the Ridras, the Adhyas, and the other dwellers of Heaven, as also the Siddhas, and the great Rishins, all came there where Dharma's royal son of great energy was.
- 9-10 Then Shakra, the lord of the telestals, afted with blazing prosperity, addressed Yudhishthira and consoling bun, said,—'O Yudhishthira of mighty arms, come, come, O king.' These allusions have ended, O powerful one.
- Par You have acquired success O toughty-armed one, and have attained to

- eternal happy regions. You should not give way to anger. Listen to these words of mine.
- 12 Hell, O son, should, forsooth be seen by every king. There is enough of good and bad, O king.
- 13 He who enjoys first the fruits of his good deeds must afterwards suffer Hell. He, on the lother hand, who first endures Hell, must afterwards enjoy the celestral region.
- 14 He whose siniul deeds are many, enjoys the celestial region first. It is for this, O king, that desirous of doing you good, I caused you to be sent for having a view of Hell.
- 15 You had by a pretence, deceived Drona about his son You have, therefore, been shown Hell by an act of deception.
- 16 Like yourself, Bhinia and Arjuna and Draupadi, have all been shown the place of sunners by an act of deception.
- 17 Come, O king, all of them have been purged of their sins
- 18 All those kings who had sided you and who have been killed in battle, have all acquired the celestral region. Come and see them, O foremost one of Bharata's race,
- Karna, the powerful bowman, that foremost of all wielders of weapons for whom you are grieving, has also acquired high success,
- 20 See, O powerful one, that foremast of men, tis, the sun of the Sun He is in that place which is his own, O mightyarmed one Kill this grief of yours, O king.
- 21. Look at your 'brother, and others, those kings, that is, who had taken your side. Hey have all attained to their tespective places Let the fever of your heart be removed.
- 22 Having suffered a little misery first, from this time, O son of Kuru's race, do you sport with me in happiness, shorn of grief and all ailments.
- 23. O mighty-armed one, do you now enjoy, O king, the rewards of all your virtuous deeds, of those regions which you have acquired yourself by your penances, and of all your offs.
- 24. Let celestrals and Gandharvas, and celestral Aparts, diessed in pure robes and beautiful ornaments, wast upon and serve you for your liappiness.
- 25 Do you, O inighty-armed one, enjoy now those happy rections which you have acquired through the Rajasiya-Dacticito pesturmed by you and whose triggines have been increased by the sacrifical scinutar

- employed by you. May you enjoy the great fruit of your penances.
- 26 Your regions, O Yudhishthira, are above, far above, those of kings. They are equal to those of Harishchandra, O son of Priha Come, and sport there in bliss?
- 27 Sharing the blissful region acquired by the royal sage Mandhatri, king Bhagiratha, Dushmania's son Bharata, you will sport there in bliss.
- 28 Here is the celestial river, sacred and sanitying the three worlds. It is called celestial Gauga Plunging into it, you will go to your own regions.
- 29 Having bathed in this river, you will be divested of your human nature. Indeed, your grief dispelled, your allments conquerled, you will be freed from all enmittees.
- 30-31. While, O Kuru kmg, the chief of the celestials was saying so to Yudinshird, the god of Righteousness, in his embodied form, then addressed his own son and said,—

 'O king, I am highly pleased, O you of great wisdom, with you, O son, by your devotion to me, by your truthfulness of speech, and forgiveness, and self control.
- 32 Ihis, indeed, is the third test, Q king, to which I put you. You are incapable, O son of Priths, of being swerved from your nature or reason.
- 33 Before this, I had examined you in the Dwatta forest by my questions, when you had come to that lake for recovering a couple of fire-sticks. You stood it well.
- 34 Assuming the shape of a dog, I examined you once more. O son when your brothers with Draupadi had fallen down.
- 35 This has been your third test, you have expressed your wish to stay at field for the sake of your brathers. You have become cleansed, O highly blessed one. Purified of sin, be you happy.
- 36 O san of Pritha, your bothers, O king, were not such as to deserve Hell. All this has been an illusion created by the king of the celestrals.
 - 37 Forsooth, all kings, O son, must once see Hell. Hence have you for a little while been subjected to this great murow,

 38 O king, neither Arjuna, nor Blums,
 - nor any of those foremost of men, yes, the twins, nor harns, ever thruthful in speech and endued with great course, could be deserving of Hell for a long time.
- 39. He princess Krishna too, O Yadhithra, could not be deserving of that place of sinners. Come, come, O fortmost of ite Bi years see Ganga, who spreads her cuttuit oftr it ethice worlds.

- 40 I have addressed, the royal sage zir, your grandsire proceeded with Dhatma and all the other celestrals.
- 41. Having bathed in the celestral river Ganga, sacred and purilying and ever worseshipped by the Rishis, he renounced his human body.
- 42 Assuming then a celestral form, king a Yudiushthira the just, on account of that bath, became divested of all his entities and grief.
- 43. Surrounded by the celesials, the Kurn king Yudhishthira then went away from that place. He was accompanied by Dharma, and the great Rishis uttered his praises.
- 44. Indeed, he reached that place where those foremost of men those heroes, vis, the Pandawas and the Dhartarashtras freed from (human) wrath, were enjoying each his respective position.

CHAPTER IV.

(SWARGAROHANIKA PARVA)-

Vaishampayana said —

- King Yudhishhua, thus honored by the celestrals, the Martits and the Riches, went to that plate where those foremost ones of Ruru's race were.
- 2 He saw Govinda gifted with his Brahma form It took after that form of his which had been seen before and which, therefore, helped the recognition
- 3 Shining in that form of his he was adorned with celestial weapons such as the dreadful and discus and others in their respective embodied forms.
- 4 He was being worshipped by the heroic Phalguna, who also was gulted with a blazing effulgence the son of Kuiti saw the destroyer of Madhu in also his own form.
 - 5 Phose two foremost of Beings worshipped by all the celestials, seeing Yu lhishthira, received bin with proper himours
- 6 In another place, the delighter of the Kurus saw Karna, that foremost one among all holders of weapons, sesembling a dizen Suns in splendour.
- 7. In another part he saw Blumasena of great power, sitting in the midst of Maruts, and gifted with a blazing form.
- S He was sitting by the side of the god of wind in his embodied form. Index I be was then in a colestial form gifted with Krishna, a milion sins, numbering such grave ones as Brahmanicide and the rest, are washed off.

- 41. The departed manes of that man who recites even a small portion of this history at a Shraddha, obtain mexhadstible food and drink.
- 42 This sins that one commits during the day by one's senses or the mind are all washed off before evening by recting a portion of the Mahabharata.
- 43 Whatever sins a Brahmana may tonimit at hight in the midst of women, are all washed off before dawn by retiting a portion of the Mahabhatata.
- 41. The great rate of the Bharatas is its topic. Hence it is called Bharata And because of its grave meaning as also of the Bharatas being its topic, it is talled Mahabharata.
- of this great work becomes purged of every sin Such a man lives in virtue, profit and pleasure, and acquires Liberation also, O thief of Bharala's race. 46, That which is in this is elsewhere,

He who is versed in Interpretations

- 46. That which is in this is elsewhere, that which does not occur here occurs indwhere else. This history is known by the hame of Jaja. It should be heard by every one desirous of Liberation.
- 47: It should be read by Brahmanas, by killgs, and by women big with children. He who desires Heaven attains to Heaven; and he who desires victory achieves it.
- 48. The woman big with child gets either a son or a daughter highly blessed, The powerful Island-born Krishna, who will not have to come back, and who is Liberation incarnate, made an abstract of the Bharata, moved by the desire of helping the cause of virtue.
- 49. He made another compilation consisting of sixty lakhs of verses.
- 50 lhirty lakhs of these were placed in the region of the celestials. In the region of the Pitris, fifteen lakhs, it should be known are current; while in that of the Yakshas fourteen lakhs are current.
- 51-52. One lakh is current among humin hempis, Narada secited the Mahahiurata to the gods; Auta-Drvala to the Points, Shuka to the Rashhasa and the Yaksitas; and Vashampayana to human beings. I list history is sacred, and of deep significance, and considered as equal to the Vedax.
- 53. That man, O Shaunaka, who hears this history, placing a Brahmana before him, acquires both fame and the fruition of all his desires.

- 51-55 He who, with ferrid devotion, sistens to a recitation of the Mahabhara, attains (hereafter) to great success on account of the merit that becomes his through understanding event a very small part thereof. All the suns of that man who recites to this history with devotion are washed off
- 56 Formerly, the great Rishi Vyasa, having composed this work, caused his son Shuka to read it with him, along with these four verses.
- 57. I housends of mothers, and fathers, and hundreds of sons and wives arise in the world and depart from it. Others will arise and similarly go away.
- 58 There are thousands of occasions for joy and hundreds of occasions for fear. These affect only him who is ignorant but hever him that is wise.
- 59 With uplifted arms I am crying aloud but nobody hears me from Virtue? originale Profit and Pleasure 10t Virtue, therefore, be sought?
- Go For the sake neither of pleastre, nor of lear, nor of tupnishy should any one re-nounce Virtue. Indeed, for the sake of even life, one should not renounce Virtue. Virtue is electual Pleasure and Pam are not setmal Jus is eternal. The cause, however, of Jus's being covered with a body is not so.
- 61. That man who, rising early in the morning, reads this Savitiri of the Bharata, acquires all the rewards attached to a recitation of this bistory and ultimately attains to the highest Brahma.
 - 62. As the Sacred Ocean, as the Himavat mountain, are both considered as nines of precious gents, so is this Bharata.
- 63 The learned man, by reciting to others this Veda or Agama composed by the Island-born) Krishina, acquires wealth. There is no doubt in this that he who, with rapit attention, recites this history called Bharata, acquires great success.
- 64. What need has that man of a sprinking of the waters of Pushkara who attentively listens to this Bharata, while it is recited to him? It represents the necess that dropped from the lips of the Island but. It is limineasurable, sacred, sanctifying, surcleansing, and auspicious

CHAPTER VI.

(SWARGAROHANHKA PARVA.)

Janamejaya said :-

- 1. O holy one, according to what rites should the learned laten to the Bharata? What are the fruits? What defines are to be adored during the several Paranas?
- 2. What should be the gifts that one should make, O holy one, at every Parva or sacred day (during the continuance of the recitation)? What should be the qualifications of the reciter to be engaged? Tell me all the

Vaishampayana said :-

- 3 Hear, O king, what that procedure is, and what the fruits, O Bharata, are which will originate from one's listening fto a rectation of the Bharata). This, O king of kings, is what you ask me.
- 4. The delites, O king, came to this world for sport. Having achieved their task, they ascended once more to the celestial region.
- 5. Listen to what I tell you briefly is the Mahabharata is to be found the births of Rishis and defties on the Earth.
- In this work, called Bharata, O foremost one of Bharata's race, are to be seen in one place the eternal Rudras, the Saddlivas, and the Vishwedevas; the Adityas, the two deities named the Ashwins. the regents of the World, the great Rishes, the Gubyakas, the Gandharvas, the Nagas, the Vidyadharas, the Siddhas, the diverse deities, the Self-born visible in a body, with many ascence; the Hills and Mountams, Oceans and Seas, and Rivers; the various tribes of Apsaras; the Planets, the Years, the Half-Years, and the Seasons: and the whole universe of mobile and immobile objects, with all the celestrals and Asuras
- 7n. Treating their celebrity, and on account of a recitation of their names and achievements, a man, who has committed even terrible sins, will be cleaned.
- 11-44 Having, with a concentrated and and purified body, head this listory doly, from the beginning, and leaving reached its end one-should make Shraddharderings. O Bharate, to them (of whom one tax liberal) to the Brahmann also, O that the state of the Brahmann also, O that are the state of the state of the Brahmann also, O that are the state of th ornament, and possessed of every accomplishment suited to the enjoyment, as also various kinds of conveyances, beautiful palaces, plots of land and cloths,

- 15. Animals also should be given, such as houses and elephants, and beds, and covered conveyances harne on the shoulders of men, and well-decked cars.
- 16. Whatever objects are in the house, of the foremost kind, whatever wealth of great value is in it, should be given away to Brahmanas. Indeed, one should give away one's ownself, wives and children.
- 17 One desirous of hearing the Bharata, should hear it without a doubting tears, with theerialness and juy; and as he goes on intening to its recutation, he should, according to the extent of his power, make gifts with great devotion.
- 18. Hear how a person who is devoted to truth and sincertly, who is self-controlled, pure (in mind), and observant of those deeds which lead to purity of body, that is endued with faith, and that has subjugated anger, acquires success.
- 19—20. He should appoint as recites one who is pure (of body), who is endued with good and puous conduct, who should he rabed in white, who should have a complete mastery over his passions, who is cleanted of all offences who is conversant with every brauch of learning, who is endued with facil, who is liree from malice, who is possessed of landsome featurer, who is possessed of landsome featurer, who is according to the control of all for the gifts he makes and the honors of which he is the possesson in the honors of which he is the possesson.
- 2)—23. The rector, wasted at his case, free form all hadder complaints, and with the particular and the part
- 23 Salming Narayana, and to Nara, that foremost male-benges, as also to the goddess Saraswats, should the word Joya be uttered.
- 24 Listening to the Sharata, O king, when recited O you of Bharata's race, by a reader of this kind, the listener, observant of your life while and purified by purificatory rites, acquires valuable fruits.
 - 23 When the first Parana is reached, great beauty, and had acquired with lughest

 In the place belonging to the Ash wins, the delighter of the Kirus saw Nakula and Shahadeva, each blazing with his own effulgence to He also saw the princess of Panchala, decked in garlands of louses. Having acquired the celestial region, she was sitting tiere, gifted with a furm effulgent like the Done.

11—12. King Yudinshinra suddenly winded to question her. Then the illustrious fluta, the king of the celevitals, apoxe to him,—I has one is goddess or prosperity lesself. It was for your sake that she took the sake that she took to have a superior to be a superior to the sake that she took the sake that she took the sake that she took the sake that she sake that sake the sake that sake the sake that sake the sake that sake the sake the sake that sake the sak

13. For your satisfaction she was created by the wielder of the trident. She was born in the race of Drupada and was empoyed by you all.

14. These are highly blessed Gandharvas gifted with the effurgence of hie, and endued with great energy, were, U king, me sons of braupadi and yourself.

15 Look at Dhritarashtra, the king of the Gandharvas, endued with great wisdom. Know that this one was the eldest brother of your tainer,

16. This one is your eldest brother, the son of Kunn, gitted with the effulgence of tire. The son of Surya, your eldest brother the foremost of men, even this one was known as the son of Radha

17-18 He moves in the company of the Sun God, Behold this forement of Beings! Among the tribes of the Shaddhyas, the celestrals, the Vishwedevas, and its Martis, see, O king of kings, the mighty cartwartors of the Vishnis and the Andhakas, yiz, those heroes having Saty-shi for their first, and those poweful unes among the Bloque

19 Look at the son of Subhadra, inynciole in battle, now staying with Sorna. He is the powerful bownian Abbimanyu, now gifted with the gentle effulgence of the Mioon.

20 Here is the powerful bowman Pandu, now united with Kuntt and Madri. Your father frequently comes to me on his excellent car.

21 Look at the royal Bhishma, the son of Shantanu, now in the midst of the Vasus Know that this one by the side of Vrishaspati is your preceptor Drona.

22. These and other kings, O son of Pandu, was find longlit on your hehalf new walk with the Gambharyas or Vakshas or other sacred beness.

as Some have attained to the dignity of Gubyakas, O king. Having renounced their bodies, they have conquered the celestial region by the merit they had acquired through word, thought, and deed.

CHAPTER V.

(SWARG IROHANIKA PARVA.)--Continued.

Janamejaya said :-

Statismergays statut—

1—4 Binshima and Drona, those two great persons, king Diritarashtra, and Virata and Drupada, and Shankha and Uttara, Dirishtaketti and Jayatsena, and king Settyati, the sons of Duryodhana, and Shatkin the son of Suvala, Karna's some of great prowess, king Jayadratha, Ghalote kacha and others whom you have not mentoned, the other heroig kings of shinning forms,—tell me for what period they remained in the celestial region.

5 O best of twice-borns, did they her in Heaven for ever? What was the end acquired by those best of men when their acts terminated.

6. I wish to hear this, O foremost of twice-born persons, and, therefore, have I asked you. By virtue of your blazing penvances you see all things.

Sauti said:-

7 I has accosted, that I twice born Rishing receiving the permission of the great Vysar, began to answer the question of the hing.

Vaishampayana said :-

8 Every one, O king, is not capable of returning to his own nature at the end of his deeds. Whether this is so or not, is, undoubtedly, a good question asked by you.

g—to Hear, O kong, this which is a ntytery of the celestate O chief of Bhrastatery of the celestate O chief of Bhrastarace! It was explained (to us) by Jyane of great energy, celestal vision, and great provess, that auceust accetic. O Kauravya, who is the sooi of Paraslara and winalways practises light own, who had not always practises light own, who had not cent, and who, therefore, knows the end of all deeds.

11. Blushma of great energy and great, effulgence acquired the digmity of the Vasus I fight Vasus, O chief of Bharata's it race, are now seen.

Dhritarashtra

11 Drona entered into Vrihaspati, that defends one of Angurasa's descendants Hridika's son Britavarman emered the Haruis.

13 Pradyumna entered Sanathumara whence he had come

- obtained the regions so difficult of acquisation, belonging to Kuvera.

 14 The fathous Gandharl gained the same fregions with her husband Ohritarashita With his two wives, Paindu with to the abode of the gridal Indra.
 - 15—17. Both Virata ånd Drupadå, and knyg Diristhakeiti, as also Nishatia, Aktuta, Shamva, Bhanukaripa, and Viduratha, and Bhurushrava and Shana and knyg Buuri, and Kapsa, and Ugrasena, and Vasudeva, and Uttara, that Joremost of men, with his brother Shankita,—all liese formost of persons enteletd the etler-
 - 18. Soria's son of great profess, named Varchas of mighty energy, became Abhinanyu, the son of Phalguna, iliat foremost of men
 - ith Having lought, abtording to Ikshatinya practices, with brakery sitch as non-tise had ever tient able to those,—that mighly armed and ri, libeods-sould being entered Sona Killed on the field of hattle, O foremost of men, Karita entered the Sun Stakum entered the the Uwapara, and
 - Direshtady unma into the God of Fire.

 21. The sons of Dirliterasitiva were all Rakshasa's of great power. Sanctified by death caused by treapons, those great beings of great prospenity all succeeded in Equating the celestical regient.
 - 22 Both Reshattel and Ring Yodhishlitted eliteted into the God of Virtue The holy and illicitiolis Ruanta (who had taken butti as Yaharana) went to the legical influence Ratth
 - ad Intodelt the continued of the Grandsire, ite, libbed by his Yoga poster, supported the Earth Vashdeva was a part of that eternal god of gods called Narayana Accordingly, he entered into Narayana.
 - 24 Sixteen thousand women had been married to Vasudeva as his wives. When the time teame, O Janamelaya, they plunged mo the Sarawath
 - 25 Renouncing their (human) bodies there they re-ascended to the chestial real in framformed into Apsaras, they approached it e presence of Vasudeva.
 - 26 Inose heroic and powerful carwarrous the, Ghatotkacha and others, who were killed in the great battle, attained to the status, some of criestials and some of Yakahas,

- 27 Those who had lought on the side of Duryodhana are said to have been Rakshasas Gradually, O king, they have all attained to excellent regions of happiness.
- 28. Those forefirst of men lide gone, some to the abode of indra, some to that of highly intelligent Kuvera of great intelligence, and some to that of Vardna.
- 29 I have now told you, O you of great splendour, everything about the acts, O Bharata, of Both ite Kurus aild the Pauldayas.

Sauti said .-

- 30 Hearing this, O foremost of Iwiceborn ones, at the intervals of sacrificial rines, Ring Janameya became filled with wonder.
- 31. The sacrificial priests then finished the rites which remained to go through. Astika, having rescried the snakes (from a fiery death) became filled with joy.
- 34 King Janameja, a then pleased all the Brahmanas with profuse presents, thus adored by the king, they teturned to their respective abodes.
- 33 Having demissed those learned Branmanas, king Janamere, a returned from lakshalihila to Hastmapur.
- 3; I have now told you everything that Vaishampayana described, at the command of Vyand, to the king at his snake factifice,
- 35 Called a history, it is sacred purilying and excellent. It has been composed by the ascetic Krishilal O Brahmana, of truthful speech
- 35-32, le st cimbischeht, totiversant witt all ordinances; endued with a know-ledge of all dutles, filted with piktys, capable of perceiving what is beyond the perceptured of the serves, pure, having a soul punified by pensince, possessed of the soul punified by pensince, possessed of the year of the servest of the serv
- 33 He has done this, desiring to spread the fame, throughout the world, of the great Pandavas as also of other Kshatriyas' endued with profuse energy.
- 39 That learned man who recrees this listory on sacred days in the midst of an attentive audience becomes purged of every sin, conquers the celestial region, and attains to the status of Brahma.
- 40. Of that man who listens with rape attention to the recitation of the whole of the Yeda composed by the Island-born) the hearer should satisfy Brahmanas with presents of all desirable objects.

- 25 By doing this, one acquires the Iruits of the Agnishtoma sacrifice.
- 26 He acquires a large (celestial) car full of various orders of Apsaras. With a glad heart and with the celestials in his company, he proceeds to the celestial region, his heart rapt (in felicity).
- 27 When the second Parana is reached, the hearer acquees the futts of the Attratra vow Indeed, he ascends a celestial car made entirely of costly gems
- 28 Wearing celestial garlands and dresses, and decked with celestial inquents and always shedding a celestial fragrance around, he receives great honours in the celestial region.
- 29 When the third Parana is reached, he acquires the fruits of the Dwadashaka vow? Indeed, he lives in the celestral region for myrads of years, like a god.
- 30-31. At the fourth Parama he accounts the fruits of the Vajapea sacrificated At the fifth, he acquires twice those fruits of Ascending a celestial car which resemble the rising sun or a blazing fire, and within the dettes for its companions, he goal the celestial region and soorts lapping for myriads of years in the about of India.
- nyriags of years in the abode of Indra. 32—34. At the sixth Perana, he acquires Ivice, and at the seventh, thrice those fruits Ascending a celestial cor which resembles the summit of the Kailasa mountains (in heauty), which is equity with an alter made of stones of lapir lazufi and other precious gens that it surrounded by beautiful vipects of various kinds, that is decked with thems and crads, that moves at the will of the state of the state
- 35 He ascends a car as beautiful as the rising moon, and to winch are yoked horses. white as the rays of the moon and fleet like thought.
- 36 He is served by most beautiful women whose faces are more charming than ite moon. He lears the music of the parlands that encucle their waists and the Nupuror encucling their ankles.
 - 37. Sleeping with his head resting on the laps of women of great beauty, he awates greatly refreshed. At the mith Parana he acquies, O Bharata, the fruits of that forement of sacrifices, vis, the Horee-Sacrifice.
 - 28. Ascending on a car equipt with a chamber consisting of a top supported by columns of gold furnished with a seat made of stones of lapsis lazuli, with windows on all sides made of pure gold, and full of Apsaras and Gandharvas and other celestals. he blazes forth in splendour.

39-40 Wearing celestial garlands and dresses, and decked with celestial impients, he sports happilly, with dettes for his companions to the celestial region, like a second detty himself.

47—43 Reaching the tenth Parana and pleasing Brahmania, he acq inter a car which tinkles with innumerable bells, which is decked with flags and hanners, which is decked with flags and hanners, which is acq including a present of a precious gent, which lass a net-work of gold all round, which has a net-work of gold all round, which has turrents made of corals which is adorted with Gandharvas and Aprana expert in singuing, and which is fit for the residence of the Righteous

45-15. Crowned with a diadem of the complexion of fire, decked with ornancial complexion of fired, decked with ornancial of geld, his body smeared with celestial sandalpaste, garnished with celestial series, lands he passes through all celeutal argums, enjoying all celestial objects of enjoyinent, and grifted with great splendour, through the grace of the detties.

46-49. This accourted, he receives great hon Jurs in the celestral region for many long years fulfix Gandharvand years for the Gandharvand years he sports in this about 10 miles with Indra himself in the abode of ludes. He rowes at pleasure every day through the various celestrategrons, rading on celestral cars and convergences, and surrounded by celestral danceds of great beauty. He is able to go to be abode of the Sun, of the Moon and of Shiwa O king Indeed, he succeeds in himself. It is even so, O monarch. There is no doubt at this

50 A person listening with faith becomes even so. My preceptor has said this 10 the reciter should be given all such objects as he may wish

- 51-52 Elephants and horses and cars and conveyances, especially animals and the vehicles they draw, a bracelet of gold a pair of ear-tings, sacred (breads, beautiful dresses, and perfumes in especial (should be Liven. By adoring him, as a detty one
- stren. By adoring him as a deity one acquires the regions of Vishnu, 53-54 After this I shall declare what should be given away, as each Parvan is reached of the Bharata in course of its recitation, to Brahmanas after ascertaint ig their bith country, truthfulness, and greatness,

- O chief of Bharata's race, as also their inchnation for piety, and to Kshatriyas too, O king, after ascertainment of similar details.
- Causing the Brahmanas to otter benedictions, the business of recitation When a Parvan is should be begun finished, the Brahmanas should be adored to the best of one's power.
- At first, the reciter, clad in good dresses, and smeared with perlumed paste, should Oking, be duly fed with honey and frumenty of the best kind
- When the Astika Parva is being recited, Brahmanas should be entertained with fruits and roots, and frumenty, and loney and clarified butter, and rice boiled with raw sugar. When the Sabha Parva is being
- recited, Brahmanas should be fed with Habishya along with Apupas and Pupas and Modakas, O king.
- When the Aranyaka Parva is being recited great Brahmanas should be fed When the Aram with fruits and roots Parva is reached, water pots full of water al ould be distributed.
 - Many superior kinds of sweet food. also rice and fruits and roots and good food, should be presented to the Brahmanas
 - 61-66 During the recitation of the Virata Parva, various kinds of dresses should be given away; and during that of the Udjoga Parva, O chief if the Bharatas the twice born ones, after being decked with perfumes and garlands, should be entertained with good food. During the recitation of the Bhishma Parva, O king of kmis after giving them excellent cars and conveyances, food should be given which is pure and well cooked and possessed of every desirable quality During the Dions Parva food of every superior kind should be Liven to learned Brahmanas as also beds () monarch, and bows and good swirds During the recitation of the Karna Parva, food of the foremost kind, which is besides pure and well cooked, shoul i be presented to the Brahmanas by the householder with papt mind During the recitation of the Shalva Parva, O king of kings food with Conflectioner) and rice Loiled with raw sugar, as also cakes of wheat and soothing and nutritive articles of food, and drick should be presented. During the recusation of the Gada Parva, Brain anas should be treated with food mixed with Mudga
 - 67-63 During the recitation of the Stree Parva 1 remost of Brahn ar as should be served with Lems and precion stores and during the recitation of the Aislika Barva, the boiled in clarified butter should a sacrifice.

- first be given, and then food pure and wellcooked, and possessed of every desirable attribute, should be presented During the recitation of the Shanti Parva, the Brahmanas should be led with Habishya.
 - When the Ashwamedluka Parva is reached, agreeable food should be served and when the Ashramavasika is reached. Brahmanas should be Iserved with Habis shva.
 - When the Mausala is reached, scents and garlands should be given away.
 - During the Mahaprasthamira, similar presents should be made, possessed of every good quality. When the Swarga Parva is reached,
 - the Brat manas should be fed with Habi-Upon the conclusion of the Harivansha, a thousand Brahmanas should be fed 72 To each of them should be presented a cow accompanied with a piece of gold,
 - Half of this should be presented to each poor man, O king. Upon the conclusion of all the Parvas, the wise housel older should give to the reciter a copy of the Mahabharata with
 - a piece of kold When the Harivansha Parva is being recited, Brahmanas shuld be fed with frumenty at each successive Parana, O king.
 - 75-76 Having finished all the Parvas, one versed in the scriptures, dressing 1 imself in white, wearing garlands, decked with ornaments and properly purified, should place a copy of the Mahabharata on an auspicious spot and cover it with a piece of siken clath and adore it according to due rites, with scents and garlands, offering each at a time
 - Indeed O king the several volumes I this work stould be adore I by one with devotion and tapt mind Offerings should Le made to them of various kinds of food and garlands and drinks and various auspicious articles of enjoyment.
 - Gild and other precious metals should be given as Dakshina The names should tien be taken of all the celestrals as also of Nara and Narayana Then, worshipping the persons of
 - some foremost of Brahmanas with scents a digatlands they should be satisfied with various kinds of gifts of enjoyable and very superior or coally articles.
 - So By doing this, one acquires the metits of the Attratra sacrifice Indeed, at each successive Parva he acquires if e merns which belong to the performance of

- 8: The reciter, O chief of the Bharatas, should be endued with learning and endued with a good voice and a clear utterance about both letters and words. Such a man should, O chief of the Bharatas, recite the Bharatas.
- B2 After entertaining a number of foremost Brahmanas, presents should be made to them according to the ordinances. The reciter also O chief of the Bharatas should be decked with ornaments and fed sumptiously.
- B3 The reciter being satisfied, the house holder acquiring an excellent and auspicious contentment. If the Brahmanas are satisfied all the deties are praified
- 81 After this O chief of the Bharatag Brahmanas should be duly served with various kinds of enjoyable articles and superior things
- 85 I have thus indicated the ordinances O foremost of men, (about the manner of recting these scriptures) in response to your enquiries You should observe them with faith
- 86 In listening to a recitation of the Bi arata and at each Parana O best of k 195, one who desires to acquire to the high est good should listen with the great est care and attention
- 87 One should listen to the Bharata every day One should proclaim it le merits of the Bharata every day One who has the Bharata in his house, has in his hands all those ceriptures which are known by the name of Jaya.
- 88 If e Bharata is purifying and sacred In the Bharata are various topics. The Bharata is adored by the very gods. The Bharata is it e highest end.
- 89 The Bharata, O cluef of the Bharatas is the foremost of all scriptures One acquires Liberation through the Bharata This that I tell you is certain truth
- go One who proclaims the merits of it is listory called the Mai abharata of it e Lauth of the cow of Saraswau (the goddess of speed) of Brah nanas and of Keshava, has never to languish.
- 9: In the Veda to the Ramavana and in the sac ed Bharata O chief of Bharata's sacr Hatt is sing to the beginning, the middle, and the end
- 92 If at in which occurs excellent discourse about Vishuu and the eternal Strutts should be 1stered to by mendestrous of acquiring the lighest end

- 93 This treatise is purifying. This is the highest indicator as regards duties, this is endued with every merit. One desirous of prosperity should listen to it.
- body, by means of words and by means of the mind, are all dissipated (through listening to the Bharala) as Darkness at sunrise.
- 95 One devoted to Vishnu acquires (through this) that merit which is acquired by listening to the eighteen Puranas There is no doubt in this.
- on their and women (by insterning to this) would certainly acquire the status of Vishnu Women desirous of children should certainly I sten to this which proclaims the fame of Vishnu
- wi ch belong to a recutation of the Bharata should according to one's power give unto the reciter Dakshina as also an honorarium in gold.

 93 One desirous of one's own behoof
- should give to the reciter a Kapila cow with horis cased in gold and accompanied by her call, covered with a cloth. 90 Ornaments, O chief of Bharata's
- race, for the arms, as also those for the ears, should be given Besides these, other kinds of riches should be presented
- 100 To the reciter, O king of men, gift of land should be made. No gift like that of land could ever be or will be.
- for The man who listens (to the Bharata) or that recites it to other people, becomes purged of all his sins and acquires at last the status of Vishnu
- 102 Such a man rescues he ancestors to the eleventh degree as also h meelf with his wives and sons O clief of Blarata's race. After concluding a recitation of the Bharata one should O king, perform a Homa with all its ten parts.
- tog I have thus O king, told every-
- 104. He who listens with devotion to this Bharata from the beginning becomes purged of every sin even if he ba guilty of Brahmanucche or the wil atto of his preceptor's bed or even if he be a drinker of alcol of or a robber of other people's goods, or even if he be born in the Clandala order.
- 105 Destroying all I s sins like the maker of day destroying darkness such a nan forsooth sports I apply in the region of Vishnu like Vishnu himself.